HISTORY

Tri-College University (TCU) is a consortium of three institutions of higher education in the Fargo (North Dakota) – Moorhead (Minnesota) metropolitan area: Concordia College, Minnesota State University Moorhead (previously Moorhead State University), and North Dakota State University. The primary purpose of TCU is to maximize opportunities for Tri-College students, faculty, and the community.

In the late 1960s Concordia College, Minnesota State University Moorhead, and North Dakota State University came together to form Tri-College University. The consortium was created to allow students from one university to attend classes at the other two with no additional tuition or fees. Through TCU, the three institutions offer a variety of programs, courses, and services that no single school could offer, or offer as well, by itself.
SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Tri-College University records are divided into three series: Center for Environmental Studies (1972-1995), Educational Administration Program (1970-2001), and General Subject Files (1969-2005). Each series is divided by subject.
