

Margaret (Aman) & Robert Freeman Publication Fund

of the Glückstal Colonies Research Association

GCRA has established a publication fund in honor of Margaret (Aman) and Robert Freeman in recognition of their significant role in the founding of GCRA in 1987, and their many years of support for all of its efforts. The Fund will exist as a special account at the Germans from Russia Heritage Collection at North Dakota State University Libraries in Fargo, and will be utilized only to provide financial support for future publications of GCRA.

"The enormous dedication Margaret & Bob have had in reestablishing the heritage of all Glückstal descendants is reflected in their freely sharing information at their disposal – with myself, and multiplied by the hundreds with others."

–James D. Klein

"As a founder of GCRA, Margaret Aman Freeman, with the able support of her husband Robert, has been a constant force of encouragement to the descendants of the colonists of the Glückstal Colonies to carry out their genealogical research. It is fitting that this Publication Fund has been established in their names."

–Tom & Janice (Huber) Stangl

"I first met Margaret and Bob Freeman in 1996 at the Hague, ND cemetery. Through the years, I saw their constant quest for knowledge and their willingness to share the history of Germans from Russia with everyone, everywhere. I can think of no couple more deserving to have a publication fund named after them than Margaret and Bob Freeman."

“The home of Margaret and Bob Freeman has served as the GCRA headquarters, housed the significant file collection and library and was used to host many events and individuals on behalf of GCRA. They served as constant promoters and representatives of GCRA, and it is particularly appropriate that the Publication Fund is named in their honor.”
