How can the Arts influence each other through their interaction with Architecture?

Through this design, different disciplines are given the opportunity to interact, grow and respond to each other. Much of what has been lost in the beauty of any design is the inspiration in which it was generated. This building exposes just that. In creating an IENSEMBLE with any and all of the Arts.

SOUTH ELEVATION

Each of the structures have an ease to the circulation, creating an effortless cohesion. With open spaces in plan and elevation. It is nearly impossible to escape the abundance of virtuosity.

Racliating sound, energy and passion from the each of the theatres encourages the curvature in the structure as well as the landscape design.

Studio/Gallery Space

Connecting both of the Theatres together, this social space provides a place for the Artists to store, clisplay and work on their art. As an open forum, it allows for the artists to collaborate and cliscuss their pieces. With views to both of the theatres, performing studios and the outdoors, the opportunity for inspiration is infinite.
