New Tree Added To Landscape

Pres. Fred S. Hultz and Vern Freeh shake hands after planting the Alaskan birch tree recently sent to NDAC by the Associated Students of the University of Alaska. Assisting in the project were Roy Johnson, left, retiring president of Blue Key fraternity; Ralph Christensen, member of the Student Commission, and Kenneth Olson, right, retiring president of the Student Commission.

An Alaskan birch tree was planted during a ceremony which followed the annual Honors Day convocation May 18. The tree was sent as a token of friendship to students at NDAC by the Associated Students of the University of Alaska.

Recently, retiring Student Commission President Kenneth Olson of Plaza received a letter from the president of the Alaskan student body, Louis Reeb, saying that they would like to send the gift.

Reeb stated: "This birch tree is a sapling growing in sight of Mt. McKinley, highest mountain on the North American continent. If planted in a fairly moist place, without too much burning sunshine, the tree will grow very well. In 20 years it should be about 30 feet high and 8 to 10 inches in diameter."

The birch tree has been planted at the southeast corner of the NDAC campus by the president's home. Assisting in the ceremony were Olson, Pres. Fred S. Hultz, La Vern Freeh of Harvey, president of the Student Commission; and Roy Johnson of Casselton, retiring president of Blue Key fraternity.

Arvold To Receive Honorary Degree From University

Alfred G. Arvold, founder of the Little Country Theater at NDAC, will receive an honorary degree from the University of North Dakota at commencement exercises May 31. He will receive the degree of Doctor of Humanities.

Noted throughout the United States for founding the Little Country Theater movement, Arvold came to NDAC in 1907. Active in Masonry, he was imperial potentate of the Shrine in 1944-45.

Born in Whitewater, Wisconsin, he became interested in the theater as a small boy while selling peanuts and popcorn in the local opera house. During his high school days he was considered the greatest high school football tackle in his home state.

He attended the University of Wisconsin where he further developed his dramatic interests. He has traveled abroad extensively and spent some time with George Bernard Shaw while in England. He is a close friend and confidant of many world famous artists and takes great pride in his collection of autographed photos of famous people. The Pageant Master, as Arvold is called, is also well known to many outstanding dignitaries in the government.

At the present time Mr. Arvold is launching a new project. He is building the Launfall Outdoor Theater in his birthplace to which he plans to devote full time upon his retirement from NDAC.

Fifty-Five Ag Graduates Placed In State Schools

Fifty-five agricultural instructors have been placed in vocational agriculture and on farm veterans training programs in North Dakota schools since Jan. 1, reports Ernest DeAlton, state supervisor of Agricultural education. Sixty-four schools are now conducting either vocational agriculture or on farm training courses, with a staff of 123 agriculture instructors, he said.

Twenty-six of the 55 instructors have been placed to start work on or about July 1. Additional placements are anticipated, as 30 or more qualified men are needed to meet the demand.

"Every effort is being made to locate instructors for the on farm training for veterans," according to DeAlton. "To be eligible for this position, individuals must be an agricultural graduate of an agricultural college, have a satisfactory background of farm experience in the type of agriculture practiced in North Dakota and other qualities ordinarily expected in an agricultural instructor."

At the present time in North Dakota schools, 43 instructors are working on regular vocational agriculture program and 80 are in veterans on the farm training. Three schools will open regular vocational agricultural departments July 1 — Bowman, Beulah, and Washburn. Instructors at these new departments will be Harry Bruhn, Bowman; Clem Brigl, Beulah; and Ken Griswold, Washburn.

Two NDAC graduates have accepted vocational agriculture positions outside of the state—Gordon Ferguson at Battle Lake, Minn. and Jerome Specht at Hitterdahl, Minn.

No money will be required to get your Bison annual this year. All you must do is present your activity cards for the past nineteen years, the top off an old convertible, and your left ear with the business manager. Bison will be distributed starting at one o'clock today.

Aeronautical Engineers Are Utilizing National Guard Airplanes For Study

Students in the Aeronautical engineering option of the mechanical engineering department are becoming familiar with modern aircraft construction through the use of Air National Guard airplanes, according to Prof. R. K. Wattson, option head.

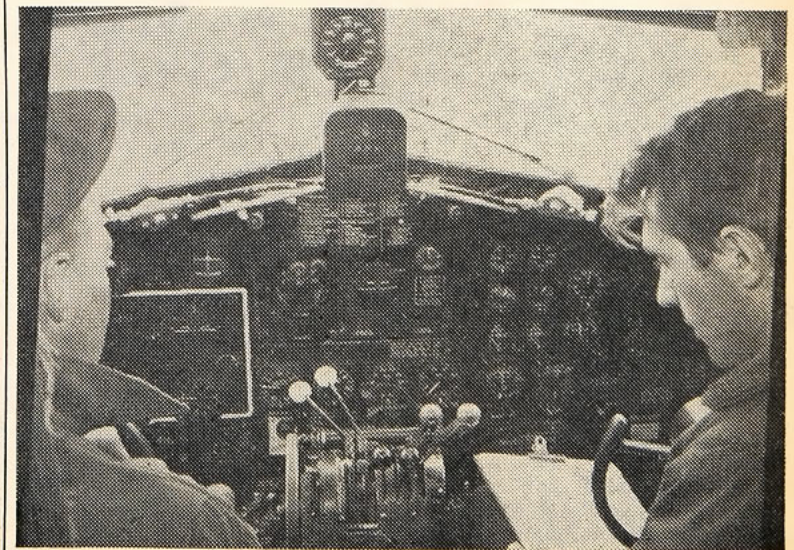

Students utilize the aircraft of the 178th Fighter Squadron at Hector Field to learn details of airframe, engine, and equipment construction and installation of modern transport and training planes.

Mr. S. D. Coward, aeronautics laboratory instructor, makes a practice of fitting the students' work into the routine of the maintenance personnel of the squadron, so as to cause a minimum of disruption. Coward says that it is not necessary for the students to be fliers themselves, since all the work is carried on under the careful supervision of both college and guard personnel. No actual flying is involved.

World Plant Catalogue in the Making

Plant breeders now can learn about any variety of wheat or rice through the World Catalogue of Genetic Stocks, developed by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), at Washington. The Catalogue, set up to aid breeders develop new varieties of plants, consists of information stored on punched cards, from which data can be furnished to growers. Here FAO staff members inspect machine which handles the cards of the Catalogue.

Naval Air Force Recruiter To Interview Candidates

Applicants interested in a Naval Aviation career will have an opportunity to discuss their interests with an expert.

Lieutenant Commander Robert Feiten from the Naval Air Station in Minneapolis will be in the secretary's office of the YMCA after 10:00 o'clock Thursday, June 1st. He will interview men interested in becoming pilots in the U. S. Navy.

Candidates for the "NavCad Program" must be between the ages of 18 and 27, have at least two years of college. They must be single and in good physical condition.

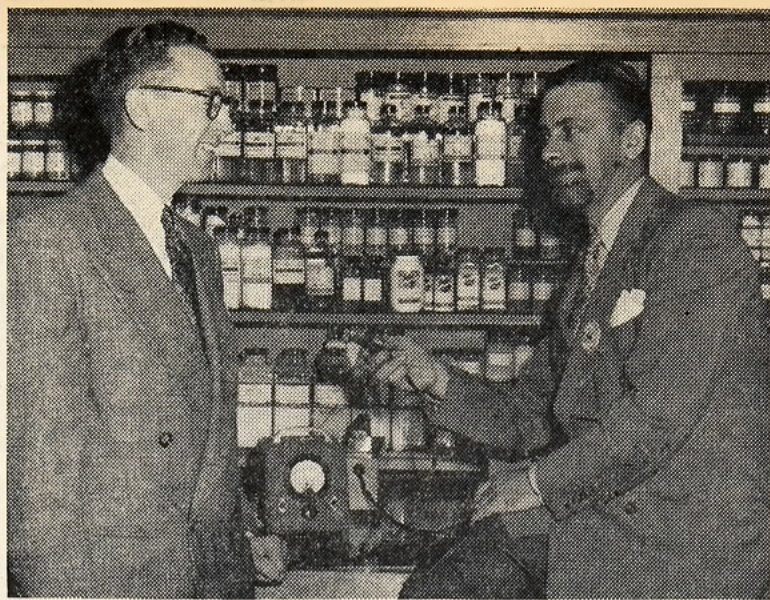

In addition to the finest technical and professional training in the forward-looking field of aviation, the NavCad Program offers you other lifetime values—the prestige of being an officer in the United States Naval Reserve, the silent pride of being among a select few, the admiration and respect of your fellow men and women.

YOU LEAD A PLEASANT LIFE—As a NavCad and as an officer you will enjoy all of the attractive social opportunities and friendships which are outstanding in the Navy. At Naval Air Stations and Fleet bases, here and throughout the world, the life is agreeable, stimulating, rewarding. The recreational facilities in the Navy are famous. Officers' quarters are clean, spacious and comfortable. In addition, naval officers are entitled to 30 days' vacation each year with pay which may be accumulated up to 60 days.

YOU LEAD A HEALTHFUL LIFE—Statistics gathered during the war at Pensacola show that at the end of Pre-Flight the average officer candidate is taller by a quarter of an inch, five and a half pounds heavier, with an inch and a half more chest expansion and a waistline smaller by the same distance. The Navy's physical training program may be credited with this marked improvement. Even after you have finished your NavCad training there are all sorts of athletic opportunities open to you.

YOU ARE WELL PAID—As a Naval Aviation Cadet you will receive $10 monthly plus lodging, board and full medical and dental care. In addition, the premiums on $10,000 worth of government life insurance will be paid by the Navy during your period of flight training. Minimum pay and allowances of an Ensign or 2nd Lieutenant aviator amounts to $355.75 per month without dependents, $430.75 with dependents.

Dr. T. L. Canniff, American Can company representative and former Fargoan, is shown with Dr. Wouter Bosch during his recent visit here.

Canniff, Former Fargoan Interviews Students Here

Dr. T. L. Canniff, American Can company representative, spent several days here last week interviewing senior and graduate students and renewing old acquaintances.

Dr. Canniff was born and raised in Fargo and graduated from NDAC, with a bachelors degree, in 1926. After acquiring his masters degree in 1928 he went to Michigan state and received his Ph. D. He joined the American Can company in 1943 and has been with them since then.

Canniff travels out of Maywood, Ill. Research laboratories and is associated with protective and decorative coatings in all types of tin cans. He inspected the paint chemistry department equipment during his visit here and rated them comparable to best he has seen. He commented on Dr. Wouter Bosch's paint department as being one of the few in the country not being subsidized by companies and where graduate students can acquire the basic ideas dealing with paint and other related subjects.

As a tip to cooks and prospective housewives he added that tin can do not harm food left in them after opening except for a normal spoilage in warm places that would occur in a glass container as well. The handling of all canned foods is under the strict supervision of the government's pure foods department which makes them entirely reliable.

Balloon Cards Are Returned

Reports are coming in on the hydrogen filled balloons, about 400 of them, that were released by chemistry department personnel and guests during open house here two weeks ago.

Cards attached to the balloons were addressed to persons here and had a printed questionnaire on them which asked that the finders mail back information on the final resting place of the balloons.

Several have been received as of now. The record flight goes to Dick Brey's (Ph. Sr.) balloon. It turned up in Luxemborg, Wisconsin, a city in southern Wisconsin. It was found four days after it left here and had travelled several hundred miles.

Two other balloons have been reported found; one at Hankinson, N. Dak. and one about sixty miles southeast of here at Elbow Lake, Minn.

AC Student Takes Actuarial Exams

Robert Wachal, Soph-AAS, has started taking a series of eight examinations given by the Society of Actuaries. Mr. Wachal took two of these exams, one in English and one in algebra, trigonometry, analytic geometry, and calculus, on May 21, in Fargo. Remaining tests cover different phases of insurance mathematics. These tests will lead to a fellowship in the Society of Actuaries.

"Youth On The March" Has Meet On Wednesday Night

Wednesday night at 7:30 the interdenominational "Youth on the March" meeting will be held in the Moorhead armory. Main speaker of the evening will be Dr. Oscar E. Sandin, dean of the college of liberal arts of Northwestern Schools of Minneapolis.

One of the nation's top collegiate basketball players, Jim was chosen All-American center by the Associated Press. Youth workers Fred Sommars and Art Grimstad and John Hermanson, college youth organizer, will also take part in the program.

Gov. Luther Youngdahl of

Dr. SANDIN

Minnesota, named Minnesota's Lutheran man of 1949, in referring to this coming meeting said, "I hope you have an inspirational rally in 'Youth on the March.'"

Annual Traffic Report

The Campus Traffic committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank the student body, the faculty, and the staff for their cooperation during the past year regarding the traffic problem.

As the first year of enforced rules and regulations comes to a close it is found that 215 fines have been paid totaling $339.00, with fines ranging from $1.00 to $7.00. The money thus accumulated has been placed in a separate fund and will be used for matters concerning the immediate problem only. It should be stated that persons who have received tickets during the adverse spring weather have been dealt with leniently.

It is noteworthy that no accidents have occurred on the campus in the past; and it is hoped that with continued enforcement of the regulations, particularly the speed limit of 15 mph, that none will occur in the future.

Appropriations are being requested to pave the roads and to put black-top on the parking areas. Roadways have been divided into sections and are to be paved according to importance. More parking areas have been drawn into the campus improvement plans which will eventually facilitate parking for all drivers.

The present windshield stickers are now being replaced with decal transfers on staff and faculty autos and will be issued to students next fall. Less trouble is anticipated with the new permits.

Sly Droolings

This past week, the new Engineer's Council constitution was officially accepted. They can now take their place as an integral unit of the recognized campus organizations, although they have been functioning as a group since March, 1950. Last fall, due to the lack of interest in the Engineer's Club, it was decided to form a new organization with fixed representation from all the Engineering Societies on the campus. The purpose was to coordinate the interests and activities of the engineers through complete representation and cooperation. It has been shown that these aims can be accomplished by the Engineering Council, they were the guiding light, for the most part, behind this year's Open House, which was such a success. The present members, at the time of writing, are: Robert Zehren and Irvin Holman, Atelier Chat Noir; Robert Miller and Knut Wefald, AIEE; Kenneth Ward and Fred Buelow, ASAE; Willis Demke and Edgar Gutnecht, ASCE; Kermit Olgaard and Orin Stenehjelm, ASME; Jerry Haibeck and Ronald W. Nelson, Tau Beta Pi; Robert Brun and Phil Akin, IAS. The officers are: Holman, Chairman; Nelson, Vice-Chairman; Treasurer, Buelow; Secretary, Akin; Faculty sponsor, Edward G. Hosted, Asst. Prof. M. E. A new group of members is in the process of being elected and will be announced next week. Let's really get behind them, and show the state and colleg what we can do.

ASME is holding its picnic at 4:00 today, let's see you ME's back up your outfit and be there.

It's still not too late to get a date for the Prom tonight, it ought to be as much fun as the Barn Dance. I wonder what's going on Saturday, another quiet week-end I suppose.

Sure has been a quiet week, not much to talk about, and I'm late for Welding class. See you around.

EDUCATION?

....by FISHER

"Did someone mention a picnic?"

Sully Sez

By Rosemary Sullivan

Ah sure and the world is good isn't it? Who could ask for more than such a lovely day as this with only a little more than a week away from graduation. What a wonderful time for music, flowers, perfume, dinner jackets, dancing . . . anyway the prom is this evening, and so for the love of Mike, and the sake of the junior class, attend this evening and have a good time.

Tonight is also the date of the Kappa Psi term party. Last week the Spectrum claimed the KDs as being the first organization to have their term party in the Frederick Martin, but due to conventions the party was transferred. The Kappa Psis want it known that the most tremendous party ever to be held will take place semi-formally in the Tree Top room tonight.

Saturday evening will see the first of the would-be Phi Mu carnation balls on this campus when the Phi Mu term party is held at the Gardner hotel in Town Hall.

Picnics this week like mad . . . all twelve of them. Beginning the week on Monday were the Kappa Psis who after burning the mortgage at 5:30 proceeded out to the Tourist park with the Thetas to celebrate their good luck. More picnics on Tuesday, the Kappas entertained the AGRs, the ATOs were entertained by the Alpha Gams and the Chemistry club entertained themselves out at Lindenwood. Spring Sing Day was a busy one without picnics but the Gamma Phis and the SAEs managed to have a supper at the SAE house before the shindig.

What a blow five organizations got Thursday when they arrived at the tourist park for scheduled picnics. Someone must have arrived at the shelter first and what the five remaining organizations did is purely imaginative. The Gamma Phis entertained the Sigs, the Kappas honored the Kappa Sigs, the SAEs were guests of the Phi Mus, all on Thursday and all out at the tourist park. Keeping them company was the AC choir who got away from the hot dog-potato salad routine and had themselves a steak fry. Also ending a prosperous year on Thursday was the Military department when the ROTC and Guidon units trotted out to the country club for a fling.

Three cheers for the engineering department who took off for the day on Wednesday and really had a blowout. No classes, no instructor-student levels, just fun for a day. Just a suggestion for the rest of the departments.

Almost forgot the Theta Chis and AGRs who were also at the tourist park on Thursday. The Theta Chis brought the food as a result of losing the semi-final basketball game. Give you three guesses which organization got out to the grounds and reserved the shelter first. About the only good derived from writing this column is that once in a great while you receive info that suggest immediate precautions. So what if Clarke did have to sit out there for twelve hours beforehand.

The Theta Chis were at it bright and early yesterday morning. They had their breakfast party with flapjacks a la carte, and at 6 a.m. yet.

Attention: For the biggest, coldest attraction since last year at this time, the Kappas will hold their ice cream social on the lawn of the Kappa House from three until five on Thursday. Only twenty-five cents for a huge piece of cake and lots of ice cream so be sure to come and relax a bit.

Last Sunday the Kappas and the Alpha Gams seniors were guests at a senior breakfast given by their respective groups. Gifts were presented and no speeches given.

Wanted: One housemother as understanding and as fine as Mrs. Reed of Buckingham Palace who is leaving this year. You can bet your last dollar that they are asking the impossible for Mrs. Reed is a hard woman to beat. Speaking of leaving, that is precisely what the Theta Chis are doing on Monday. Dud Sorley is entertaining his Theta Chi fraternity brothers at Spruce Grove resort just on the other side of Detroit Lakes.

Almost forgot the engaged people this week. Sincere best wishes and congratulations go to Iona Bolton who received a ring from Nick Vujovich and also to Patsy Herbison and Mary Lou Shaffer who received rings from Mickey Jones and Lloyd Rafferty respectively.

Just a word of caution about the weekend. Memorial day is one of America's greatest fatality times. Most of us will be either heading for home or for the vacation land down at the lakes. Why not remember to be just a bit more careful in driving so that we are not only heading for home but for the garage in our own little backyard. Have fun.

The Ballpoint

By BOB JOHNSON

Three cheers for Wally Klundt!! He dood it! The Annual will be distributed beginning this afternoon. Neither hell nor high water could stop our boy.

A sneak preview of the big book has proved that this year everyone will be surprised, well almost everyone, at least someone should be surprised. It's a fine book.

After reading about the riot that occurred at Miami University at a recent election eve rally, NDAC ought to be thankful that its students are pretty good after all. It seems that some of the boys almost tore the women's dorm apart to the tune of $600.

As a result, 190 in fines and at least 23 weeks of suspensions were meted out by the disciplinary board. Must have been fun!

Next week we would like to name as "Be Good to Your Newspaper Week." Because of the holiday on TUESDAY, we foresee much trouble in getting enough news to fill the paper. With that fact in mind and also the fact that the new editor (we feel) should take on some responsibility to gain experience for his ordeal next year, we have hereby turned over the last issue to him and his staff. (What staff?)

Columns like this one, Sully's and O'Leary's and no doubt something by Willie Best, possibly a poem, will of necessity adorn their regular places on this page. You poor students may even have to fight this one all next year unless Ed can find someone else who can type with four fingers and doesn't care what might happen to him.

What we started to say two paragraphs up was this. What with vacation on Tuesday, we anticipate a frightening lack of copy.

Therefore anyone who will have a story to go in next week's paper is asked, on bended knee, to have their copy in the Spectrum office by Monday. At least call and make arrangements to have it in the Spectrum office on Tuesday. Absolutely no copy will be accepted on Wednesday unless it is of utmost importance. This has been said before to no avail, but this time it goes.

Just out of curiosity, I'm wondering how many students do not intend to come back to school on Monday. Regardless of the threats and pleas sounded by the faculty and people concerned, it's a sure bet that all classrooms will look like (a) the plague hit town, (b) too many students had hangovers and couldn't make it, (c) a snowstorm blew into North Dakota, or (d) students decided that so long as they haven't studied all year, cutting class on Monday could do them no great harm.

The Staff of the 1950 Bison Annual was made up of three penguins a plumber, a strip tease dancer, thirty-six beautiful girls, a Kodiak bear, and Waldemore Klundt. Bisons distributed today.

Eunice Toussaint and John Paulsen tied for first place for the person with his picture in the Bison the most times. Can you top them? Bisons are being distributed this afternoon.

After learning that the republicans have hired Shiley Brua, the Democrats hurriedly signed up Jack Schwere to make sure that their party stays alive

They tell us that the ladies' lounge in Science Hall (just a cover up for the room beyond) is becoming such a valuable news-center that the Associated Press has installed wires leading directly from said room to the Fargo Forum. H. V. Kaltenborn, Walter Winchell, and Louella Parsons are bickering for exclusive rights.

I'm not saying how the AGR's paid off their mortgage, but they've been using glasswax instead of French Dressing for some time now.

Quite a few of the KDs got soused Tuesday evening on their front lawn—but only as a result of a water fight with the Theta Chis.

The highlight of the big Engineer's Day was Charlotte Schmidt, lone girl student of Engineering. What really makes her unique is that she's actually interested in Engineering itself, what with an almost A average and all.

This is real picnic weather—the usual kind anyway, where the whole evening is spent under the shelters of the tourist park to keep out of the rain. It doesn't keep some people from getting wet, though.

They say that some of the newly commissioned Brass over at Soldierland in the Field House are planning a big party at the lakes, sans the new brass

Where Is Our Wandering Boy Tonight????

Dear Morg,

Well, it looks like spring has finally come to North Dakota. You can tell it because all the beer cans that were tucked neatly away in snow drifts around the campus are now beginning to rear their rusty heads. You can tell it's spring now because all the couples are sitting on the lawn around the various buildings whispering and laughing, and making general fools out of themselves.

Another way that you can tell that it has arrived is that there are picnics all over the place. Picnic is an old word meaning: "Hold my hotdog, honey, while I open another can of beer."

At picnics people get hotdogs, potato salad, pickles, beer, ice cream and hyperindigestion. A bunch of grown up people go out to one of the local parks, wearing the oldest clothes that they can lay their hands on, eat food that they would otherwise consider unfit for human consumption, and then gambol about madly.

After every picnic there is always a song fest. Some yuk gets a brilliant idea and lights a bonfire and everybody sits around there and sings "You Are My Sunshine." Of course, what song comes next depends on how much spirituous liquid has been consumed. But no matter what they always start with either "I've Been Working On the Railroad" or "You Are My Sunshine." Why these two, I'll never know. They might just as well open with the Peasants and Poet's Overature, or maybe Beethoven's Fourth, or perhaps in some cases they do start with somebody's fifth.

I hear tell that the Bison will be coming out next week. Usually they have so many Bisons left over that they don't know what to do with them, so they just stand in one corner of the room and snarl at you. I advanced an idea the other day that they should take all the annuals that are left over and pile them in the geographic center of the football stadium and burn the editor in effigy. But I guess that some smart guy would want to toast marshmallows and hotdogs and sing "You Are My Sunshine," so I think that I'll cancel the whole thing. Frankly though, there should be something constructive done with all the old year-books in the place. All that paper going to waste when . . . forget it.

Somebody told me the other day that the lakes were open. Truthfully, I had not been aware that they were ever closed. Anyhow, each weekend the pilgrimage is being made to Detroit Lakes and near-by points. You load an unbelievable amount of people into your car and take off along the forty-five miles of beer cans and Think signs and rush down to the lakes, and spend the rest of the evening sitting in one spot, hanging on to a bottle of brew for dear life.

The other day, I did run into one chap that said he did go down to the lakes to fish and swim. I thought that perhaps he was old enough to be let in on the secret, but instead I beat him on the head with the nearest blunt instrument that turned out to be a Spectrum reporter.

Things are still pretty much the same around here. The usual amount of pinnings, engagements, murders and lynchings. Sullie, Johnson, and O'Leary send their love. Gotta rush now, because I'm going to a picnic.

You are my sunshine, my only sunshine,
You make me happy when skies are grey.
You'll never know, dear, how much I love you
Please don't take my sunshine away.
Love and kisses from all,
Willie

The Facts Of Life

By BOB WACHAL

We sat in the kitchen drinking "Real-Lemon" The time came for me to catch the last bus. We got up from the table and walked into the dining room. She began to look at some mail advertising on the dining room table. "Why is she delaying?" I thought. "Is she waiting for me to kiss her?" I started to put my arm around her, but withdrew it changing my mind. My heart was pounding violently. It actually seemed to me that she, with her back towards me, could surely notice my thumping heart. "How silly—", I thought. Yet, I felt the damned thing would rip loose from its moorings and flop over my double-breasted at any instant. I could endure the tension no longer, and I walked into the hall leading outside.

She followed and turned on the hall light. I blinked; for the dining room had been dimly lit.

"Shall I turn off the light?" Before I had a chance to say yes she turned it off. "If I had known it would have been so boring, we needn't have gone. I'm sorry it was such a lousy program."

"Oh, I enjoyed it. It was quite different."

"Well, I'm glad you got some enjoyment out of it."

"Yes, thanks a lot."

"Well I suppose I'd better catch the bus—Oh, do you want to go to a show tomorrow night?"

"Yes, I suppose so . . . well, yes, that would be fine."

"Shall I pick you up at eight?"

"Yes, that's all right."

"Well I . . . c'mere—!"

We kissed, rather violently — embraced, somewhat strongly — and parted, with facial expressions approximating passion.

"G'night."

"G'night."

"Thanks again."

As I walked to the bus stop, I felt highly elated. After one unsuccessful attempt and weeks of waiting, I finally successfully kissed her goodnight . . . but do I really love her? Does she love me? She'll be going away in two days. This poses many new problems. Oh well, a kiss is just a kiss. But does she feel that way about it? Do I? I wonder —? Oh hell, if she had only refused me, things would be so much simpler!

Kandas, Greb Win Trophies In Y Pool, Ping Pong Tilt

Trophies were recently presented at the YMCA to William Kandas of Minot, and Walter Greb of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., who won the pool and ping pong tournaments which were held at the Y during the winter term.

The winners are both sophomores in the School of Pharmacy and members of the Y.

Vaughn Thorfinson, treasurer of the Y, made the presentations to Kandas, who captured the pool honors and Greb, who battled his way through the finals of the ping pong tourney.

The contest was open to any student wishing to enter, and the winners found competition keen, with over a score of contestants entered in each tournament.

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN

With the belated arrival of spring weather, (how I love that hot, stifling sunshine) the surviving spring sports have come out of their cocoons for a never-say-die attempt at competition.

Encouraged by the recent warm temperatures, the Intra-Mural softball tournament, although a simple, single-elimination affair, got off to a good start last week and play will continue on into next week with the finals probably coming off next Tuesday. Although this is a far cry from the propitious plans laid out six weeks ago by the board for a Fifty-game regular season play and a double-elimination tournament to follow, it does show that Intra-Mural sports are very much alive here at NDAC and that if it is at all humanly possible the I-M board will get some kind of sports competition going for the AC students.

Congratulations are in order for this year's Intra-Mural Board, headed by President Jerry Johnson, for a job well done.

Golf is the only sport at NDAC this term which will have any kind of Inter-Collegiate competition. On Thursday of this week five AC students competed against similar quintets from Concordia and MSTC with the Grace Tainter trophy in the offing. (Results of the tournament were not known until after the paper went to press.)

For three years in succession now, the Bison golfers have secured the cup. This achievement alone should indicate the superlative type of work being done by Coach

Erv Kaiser, but he doesn't stop there. The two most recent trophies acquired by NDAC in sports competition are the above-mentioned Tainter cup and the State Collegiate Track Trophy secured by the 1947 thinclads, another NDAC sport which is under the capable tutelage of Coach Kaiser.

Besides holding down the post of Physical Education director, track coach and golfing instructor, Kaiser is also in charge of the gymnastic department and is the faculty advisor for the Intra-Mural board. Quite a list of jobs for one man and his record speaks for itself.

Although there is no actual competition, spring football could be typed as a spring sport and the way things are going it may be the most successful. There has been a large turnout of students for spring practice and with all the material to work with Coaches Wenskunas and Kreuger will have a hard time just getting acquainted with the boys. The shortened spring practice session will end tomorrow and so the football coaches have been rushed a little in introducing their new plays and such. This will probably have some effect on the Bison's first few games next fall but I believe the new coaches will come through with flying colors and NDAC's disheartening losing streak will be broken early in the season. Although the first season under a new coach is never expected to be too remarkable, just breaking that eight-game losing streak will make Wenskunas's first year at the helm a success.

Bison Golfers Retain Trophy For Third Time

The NDAC golf team, under the direction of Erv Kaiser, competed against MSTC and Concordia in an intra-city tournament at the Fargo Country Club for possession of the Grace Tainter trophy.

Each year the winning team takes possession of the traveling trophy. The Bison golfers have taken it for the past three years in succession, and should they retain it again this year, which seems quite probable, the traveling trophy may stop traveling.

Not to be outdone by the other AC spring sports, golfing has also suffered somewhat. The five man team, therefore had to be chosen according to the best score cards turned in to Coach Kaiser by last Tuesday.

The above-mentioned trophy was donated by the Fargo Country club and named in honor of Miss Grace Tainter. Miss Tainter was a nationally known amateur once affiliated with the local club. Since NDAC has copped the cup three years in a row, it will most likely become the AC's permanent property if they come through with a victory again this year.

Practice Is Open For WAA Softball

Fifteen women have attended the W.A.A. softball practices. Last Thursday the practice was forced to stop because of the rain. Practices will continue as scheduled to the end of the quarter and if necessary a double hour will be held one evening.

Kathryn Kloster has the leadership of this unit.

Four women are practicing officiating for rating tests. They are Eunice Fevig, Ulen, Minn.; Beverly Ingwalson, Buxton; Kathryn Kloster, Sharon; and Shirley Turner, Bismarck.

Sport Spotlight

By JOHN HESSE

Last week, Chuck Bentson finally gave up. Things were so bad that he cancelled the whole tentative baseball schedule. It was because... well why go into it. Suffice it to say that Bentson finally said there would be no baseball for the Bison this spring.

You certainly have to pity the coaches here at NDAC because of the inclement weather. Mac Wenskunas and Bernie Krueger must have one fine impression of North Dakota. These two have spent most of their time where the springs don't come too late, are more than likely a little disgusted at the way that spring football has had to be operated this year, and you can't exactly blame them. By this time most of the other schools in the conference, and in the whole country for that matter, are through with spring football. One exception may be the university of Alaska.

I-M PROGRAM STARTS

It looks like Intra-Mural finally has started. Of course, the program got under way so late that all teams are now in a single elimination softball tournament. The late spring also threw a curve at E. E. Kaiser and his intra-mural board, and then the incessant rain didn't help. But Kaiser and his men have finally come through and given the students some sort of an athletic program, and though it is limited, I think that it is worth some credit to the people who organized it for having any at all, what with all the difficulties that they have encountered.

Baseball has made its debut in the Fargo-Moorhead area. The F-M Twins have opened their home season and the sport has made initial bow around here. The Twins aren't the team that the local newsmen had predicted, but they show the early season signs of being a pretty fair to middling ball club. The team is pretty well set with veteran players, but some of the rookies that have appeared look to be an improvement over some of those that they displaced. The Twins aren't a first place team, or maybe even a first division club, but they are better than the seventh place club that Art Doll handled last year.

So to the majors where at the moment the things are going as predicted in the National league with Brooklyn out in front, but being stoutly pursued by the Philadelphia Phillies. Another club that is living up to their advanced notices is the St. Louis Cardinals. In the senior circuit there could very well be a four team photo finish with the Dodgers, Phillies, Cardinals and Boston Braves right up at the top.

Over in the American league we find the New York Yankees up on top again with Detroit pushing them. The team that has been the surprise so far are the Washington Senators who were picked for second division by most observers. But the Nats are still holding their own in the top four. How long Bucky Harris' club can stay there is another story. As the year progresses however, Washington should fade, especially if they sell their ace righthander Ray Scarborough. Both the Yankees and the Red Sox have been mentioned as possible recipients of the Nats' number one chucker, and the club that does get him should be almost a cinch to take the pennant.

DETROIT CAN WIN

The Detroit Tigers have a fine ball club, but they are perhaps another year away from a pennant. Of course that could be if Hal Newhouser can last another season. Prince Hal has had trouble with a sore arm the first part of the year, but since he has come back to the active roster, he has reported that his soupbone is okay. He lacks the speed of the old Newhouser, but it is reported that his curve is as good as ever.

This summer there will be a lot of students participating in some of the rather unorganized sports around the state. Golf, tennis and swimming are three of these. In almost every local golf tourney you can see the name of some NDAC student or grad. Ed Boerth, a Bison freshman, has participated in tennis tournaments in the past year, and perhaps would be an asset to an NDAC tennis team, if there were one.

In swimming, the school is represented by Bob Smoot, who formerly attended the university of Minnesota, and was on the swimming team there. But taking it all in all, whether they compete in tournaments, just go out and hit the ball around the course or over the net, or even if they just jump into the lake to cool off, there will be some NDAC people in sports this summer.
