

Marian Anderson, America's High Priestess Of Song, To Give Concert Here Wednesday

Marian Anderson, America's first lady of song, will be heard in concert on the stage of Festival hall Wednesday at 8:00 p.m.

This program is a special attraction and tickets must be purchased at the Little Country Theater.

Since her dramatic return to the United States in December 1935 Miss Anderson has appeared in more than 700 concerts before nearly four million listeners in 289 cities. Today, unrivalled in her art, she will present her stirring interpretations of classic compositions, opera arias and simple spirituals which have earned her the deep admiration and love of her country men.

Before her fame spread to her native land, Miss Anderson was "discovered" in Europe as was customary with American artists up to the time of the recent war. In a small Parisian recital hall, Impresario Hurok first heard her sing and instantly signed her. Her climactic career during the ensuing thirteen years has made her one of the world's most honored artists. Governments, universities, musical societies and her own city, Philadelphia, have paid top tribute in awards and degrees to this modest woman who has been titled "The high-priestess of song."

In addition to her concerts, Miss Anderson records most of her selections for RCA-Victor, and is heard regularly on the air, notably on the Telephone Hour for which she was named radio's foremost woman singer for the fifth consecutive season in the Musical America poll of 600 music editors in the U.S. and Canada.

Her program Wednesday evening will be as follows:

Franz Rupp at the Piano

I

The Land of Dreams, G. F. Handel; O What Pleasure, G. F. Handel; Come to Me Soothing Sleep, G. F. Handel; The Trumpet Is Calling, G. F. Handel.

II

chen, Franz Schubert, Liebesboot-schaft, Franz Schubert; Der Erlkonig, Franz Schubert.

III

Aria: Madre, pietosa Vergine, from "La Forza del Destino", Giuseppe Verdi.

INTERMISSION

IV

Nocturne, Samuel Barber; O Take Me to Your Breathing Heart, Samuel A. Zimbalist; The Negro Speaks of Rivers, Howard Swanson; By a Lonely Forest Pathway, Charles F. Griffes; We'll to the Woods and Gather May, Charles F. Griffes.

Negro Spirituals

At the Feet of Jesus, Arr. Hall Johnson; He's Got the Whole World in His Hands, Arr. Hamilton Forrest; (from the collection of Marion Kerby)—Oh, Lord Have Mercy on Me, Arr. Hall Johnson; Plenty Good Room, Arr. Edward Boatner; Rise and Shine, Arr. Edward Boatner.

Annual Bromo Bowl Now Set For Thursday

By JOHN PAULSEN

Local oddsmakers have installed Alpha Tau Omega as slight favorites to cop the 3rd Annual Bromo Bowl football contest from Gamma Phi Beta. The contest, expected to be played before a capacity crowd, is scheduled for Dacotah Field, Thursday, January 26, at 4:30.

Gamma Phi won the initial contest, with the result of last year's tilt a matter of general dispute.

GPB coach Neil (Gus) Gustafson was undecided regarding possible starting lineup. The Beast tutor said daily practices would be held at his home, beginning each evening as 9:30.

Janet (Bi-lateral) Berdahl and Betty (Stonewall) Stotler are likely Beast end nominees, with Kathleen (Mighty Mouse) McNeese and Joan (Hairy) Legg at the tackles and Mavis (Crush-em) Kirby and Beverly (Lateral) Litzinger at the guards. Maxine (Paddlefoot) Pladson is expected to be at center for the Beasts. Arlene (Revolting) Viker will quarterback the GPB's, with Ione (Hold 'em) Holly, Eileen (Antelope) Anderson and Mary Carol (Twip 'em) Twetton at other Beast backfield positions.

Other Gamma Phi Squad members are Beverly (Walooping) Woods, Kay (Swivel-hips) Scheel, Donna (Mash 'em) Martin, Joyce (Joltin') Johnson, Marilyn (Hunchback) Hunter, Ramona (Fumbol-in') Fortune, Mary Jo (Crazy

"March Of Dimes" To Start At NDAC Monday Morning

Monday will mark the opening day of the 1950 March of Dimes Drive at NDAC. As in the past years, Alpha Phi Omega will be in charge of raising funds for the fight against Infantile Paralysis.

Max Larson, who has been named chairman of the 1950 campus drive, reports that everything is in readiness to make this one of the greatest. Already the Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils have been solicited and their contributions are expected to furnish a sizable portion of the funds for the March of Dimes.

Everything possible will be done to contact all students. Present plans include a thorough canvassing of the Men's Residence hall, Dakota hall and Ceres hall. George Rott will be in charge of collections at the Men's Residence, while the solicitors for the women's residences are yet to be named by the chairman.

Containers, in the shape of miniature iron lungs, will be conveniently located throughout the campus as a final effort to encourage everyone to join the March of Dimes.

Frosh Receives Staff Scholarship

Miss Delores Boen of Mahnomens, Minn., was recently awarded a $25 scholarship by Senior Staff, senior women's honorary at the North Dakota Agricultural College.

Miss Boen, freshman in home economics, was awarded the scholarship on the basis of her high scholastic achievement and promise of success in her chosen field. During her first quarter at NDAC, Miss Boen, received a 2.58 grade average.

Girls chosen to receive the senior staff scholarship must possess qualities of leadership, maintain high scholarship, give service to the institution, and show promise of success in her major field. Mildred Bedner of Lidgerwood, a December graduate in home economics, held the Senior Staff scholarship last term.

NDAC Receives Radio Equipment From WDAY

A professor's trained mind solved a WDAY Tello-Test problem with NDAC as the winner.

Twenty-five thousand dollars worth of outmoded radio broadcasting equipment—tremendously valuable, however, for classroom instruction—was awarded to the NDAC department of electrical engineering Monday. Prof. Robert N. Faiman, acting head of the department, quickly solved the Tello-Test question that the electric vote recorder was the first patent invention of Thomas A. Edison, and NDAC benefited with a gift of a 500-watt transmitter from WDAY.

Formal presentation of the transmitter was made to President Fred S. Hultz of NDAC by Station Manager Jack Dunn during a broadcast Tuesday morning from the NDAC campus. Also appearing on the program were program Director Ken Kennedy, technical Director Julius Hetland of WDAY and Faiman.

Edwin Booth Club To Give "Candida"

"Candida," a three act comedy by George Bernard Shaw, will be presented Feb. 28 and Mar. 2 and 3 by the Edwin Booth club.

Tryouts begin this afternoon at the Little Country Theater, and will continue afternoons next week.

Students who have not worked in the LCT are especially welcome as some new characters are being sought.

Ball Set Tonight At Moorhead Armory

NOTICE

The Co-op house Open House set for this Sunday has been cancelled.

Little International Show Is Scheduled For February 11

Plans are well underway for this year's Little International Livestock Exposition which will be held February 11 in the NDAC field house.

Manager for the 1950 Little International will be Victor Horne, a senior in agriculture from Penn. Assistant manager is John Myrdal, a junior in agriculture from Edinburg. Horne was assistant manager of the 1949 Little International.

Patricia Kennedy, home economics sophomore, will be Mistress of Awards and Little International Queen. She was elected at the annual joint meeting of the Tryota,

Bosch Plans Next Paint Short Course

Encouraged by the response to the first paint short course given during the summer of 1949, Dr. Wouter Bosch, professor of industrial chemistry and chairman of the department of paints and varnishes, will repeat the course beginning February 7 and continuing every Tuesday and Thursday evening for 10 consecutive weeks.

Anyone who has the desire to learn something about paints, what goes into them, how they are made, and how they are tested and applied, may enroll. A knowledge of chemistry is not required nor is any previous education in protective coatings. Examinations will not be given. An industrial paint film will be shown each Tuesday evening between lectures.

Registration, limited to 25, closes February 1. A $25 fee covering laboratory fees and mimeographed lecture and laboratory notes must be paid in advance.

NDAC Coed to Get $50 Scholarship

An outstanding NDAC co-ed will receive a $50 scholarship at this year's Charty Ball to be held Feb. 10. Sponsored by the Panhellenic council, the ball is one of that organization's philanthropy projects.

With the proceeds of the affair, the 23rd of its kind, the council plans to institute a new service project.

The Panhellenic council is composed of two members from each of the six Greek-letter sororities on the campus. Heading the group this year is Joyce Cunningham of Minot.

home economics club and the Saddle and Sirloin, agriculture club. Kennedy, who is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, is from Fargo. Beverly Widdifield and Audrey Seefeldt were elected as the Queen's attendants. Widdifield is a sophomore from Fargo and a member of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Seefeldt is a senior from Finley and a member of the Phi Mu sorority. Both are students in Home Economics.

This, the 24th Little International Livestock Exposition, will feature a showmanship contest, machinery show, booth exhibits, grain exhibits, a style revue and several special acts.

Two new features that are being added to this year's International are the machinery show, sponsored by the agricultural engineers, and the style revue, sponsored by the Tryota club and the school of home economics.

Superintendents for the show are: Donald Calderwood of Cray, dairy; Russel Calderwood of Cray, beef; Victor Legler of Jamestown, sheep; Vernal Anderson of Gwinner, swine; Wallace Aanderud of Fargo, poultry; George Walstad of Hoople, horticulture; and William Bast of Steele, agronomy.

Those students working on the various divisions are: Ken Griswold of Langdon, publicity; Melvin Bork of Edgeley, advertising; Rolf Berg of Maddock, co-ed milking contest; Gordon McLean of Fargo, co-ed hog race; Roy Johnson of Fargo, Home Economics style revue; Arnold Dordahl of Hanks, tickets; Bennett Nesheim of Van Hook, and Steve Reimers of Carrington, booths; Harry Bruhn of Elgin, catalog; Robert Schnell of Dickinson, entertainment.

Contrary to previous statements—the Little International will be held one day only—February 11.

IRC Plans Party Tonight In "Y"

International Relations club members and their friends are holding a party in the Fireside room of the College "Y" tonight at 7:30.

The international flavor will be there in the form of Argentine gin rummy (that's canasta you know) and Don Legrid will be on hand to call the square dances.

In charge of arrangements are Ragnar Kristjanson, Jack Challey, Rose Marie Grommesh and Patricia Anderson.

NDAC Society Initiates 17 Tuesday Night

The NDAC Arnold Society of Air Cadets held a formal initiation for 17 candidates Tuesday, Jan. 17, at the Gardner Hotel. The ceremony was followed by a banquet at which H. B. Kennelly of Fargo, a major in the USAF reserve, spoke on "Radiological Defense."

Initiated into the society were Walter J. Biggs, Lawrence J. Bjornstad, Louis J. Borcuk, Robert A. Johnson, Louis J. Redmann, and Gerald S. Thurnau, all of Fargo; Gene T. LaMuro of Brooklyn, N.Y., Donald L. Cook, Detroit Lakes, Minn.; William P. Drechsel, Fergus Falls, Minn.; Eugene R. Engen, Glen Ullin, Minn.; Leo W. Hall, Cass Lake, Minn.; Paul Kukla, Killdeer; Robert W. Myrdal, Edinburg; Joe N. Pfliger, Stanton; Harold I. Speers, Moorhead; Byron N. Whitford, Carrington; and Wallace J. Swenson of Columbus.

Special guests at the initiation were Dr. Fred S. Hultz, president of NDAC; R. N. Faiman, 1st Lt. USAF reserve and assistant professor of mechanical engineering; Maj. Robert E. Phillips, professor of air science and tactics, and Maj. Kennelly.

The Arnold Society of Air Cadets was organized and installed at NDAC during the fall term. The national society, which has chapters on 54 campuses, was organized in 1947 at the University of Cincinnati and named in honor of the late Gen. H. H. "Hap" Arnold retired general of the Air Force. Eligibility for membership in the society is limited to students in advanced air ROTC.

Officers of the NDAC society are Sherman M. and t of McIntosh, Minn., commanding officer; William E. Shenko of Beach, executive officer; Laurel I. Geiszler of Ash-1 epoyetairoOE SHRD SHRD H ley, operations officer; Fred Buelow of Drake, secretary; and Richard Thompson of Fargo, adjutant.

YMCA Membership Drive Officially Over Jan. 24

The YMCA Membership Drive will officially close at 8 o'clock January 24. At that time there will be a Recognition Meeting for all new members of the Y. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. Harold A. Mullen, associate secretary of the North Central Area Student Council in Minneapolis, will address the group. Mr. Mullen has had long and broad experience in YMCA work and will be able to answer any questions you may have concerning the YMCA.

Other plans for the program according to Lester Stine and Johnny Kirk, Co-Chairmen of the meeting, will be musical numbers by the YMCA Quartet, pictures to be taken of the entire group, the awarding of tickets to the Little International Show and YMCA "T" shirts to the cabinet member selling the most memberships and to the individual having the lucky membership card number, and the awarding of chenille emblems to the cabinet members.

It will be a big night for YMCA members. Below are additional names of new members:

F. A. Siewert, Lt. Col. Lovnes, Major Davis, Sgt. Carlson, Ralph Leet, H. A. Jones, Cpl. Brown, Sgt. R. J. Nanco, W. W. Norris.

Dr. Munro, Dr. R. Post, Dr. Dinunson, S. Owens, Curtis Norenberg, Dr. Thom, H. Dean Stallings, Robert A. Johnson, Glenn Dehlin.

Dr. Bosch, F. H. Sands, Dr. Fleetwood, Vaughn Thorfinson, Allen Temanson, Ray Knoll, M. Tuntland, Dr. Schickele, Dr. Nelson, D. W. Bolin, Wm. Promersberger, R. L. Witz, N. Evans, C. Haver, M. Rubin.

Maurice Anderson, Lester Walters, Carl Schmidt, F. F. Skinner, A. G. Arvold, H. A. Graves, W. J. Lawrence, Harry Riling.

Select Theme For Beaux Art Ball

Something new in social events at North Dakota State College will occur soon when Atlier Chat Noir (Studio of the Black Cat) presents the first Beaux Art Ball in a decade.

The Architect's have selected a Twenty-fifth Century setting for the affair and everyone will be required to come in costume and masked. Some of the themes in the past have been "A Moroccan Street Scene," "A Chinese Waterfront," "In Old Mexico," "The Bowery," "Surrealism," and "A Nite With Robin Hood."

Festival hall, scene of the party, will be decorated with stage scenery to give the intended atmosphere for the ball. A false ceiling will represent an evening sky and unique lighting will complete the setting.

Warren B. Diederich, Fargo, is general chairman of the 1950 Beaux Art Ball with the following assistants: Gus Pavcsik, Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, decorations, Mike Holt, Fargo, music; George Noonan, Los Angeles, California, tickets; Ken Maetzold, Cray, N. Dak., advertising; and Fred Kegel, Fargo, publicity.

Contrasts In Music To Be Given At Festival Hall

"Contrasts in Music," the concert to be presented by Ralph Mutchler and his orchestra this Sunday in Festival hall will begin at 3:30 instead of 3 p.m. as previously stated.

The program will afford a pleasing ninety minutes of music both to bop fans and to those who would rather see "bop" buried. The latter will be taken care of with a number Mutchler calls Bop O'Flop, a tune which will furnish a musical end to the atomic rhythm.

Popular ballads, dixieland, and some popular classics including works of Debussy and Gershwin, will be played.

A special vocalist has been secured for this concert who will add greatly to the group as will several fine musicians who have consented to play on Sunday.

Something that has never before been tried by another dance band on the campus, the entertainment is free and open to the public.

Shown here is part of Ralph Mutchler's orchestra which will give the concert in Festival hall this coming Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

WSSF Drive Totals $709; Ken Olson Lauds Groups

Over 340 braved real Friday the 13th weather last week to attend the WSSF Carnival and Dance in Festival hall.

Harry Gilbertson of Blue Key, chairman of the WSSF drive announced this week that the faculty basketball game, auction, carnival, and dance had grossed $709. Broken down the proceeds from the various sources are as follows: Basketball game, $104; auction, $120; Admission to dance, $169;

Carnival tickets, $256; Concessions, $45 and $15 was received in the coat checking room.

After deducting expenses NDAC's contribution to the World Service Fund will amount to $528. Last year's total amounted to about $500.

These funds will be used to provide relief aid to students in Europe and Asia without regard to politics, religion, or race.

Gilbertson this week issued a statement thanking all NDAC organizations and students for giving such complete support to the WSSF activities. He also expressed the hope that next year's drive will be even bigger and more successful.

Organizations participating in the drive besides Blue Key were Inter-religious council, Methodist Student foundation, International Relations club, LSA, Newman club, ISA, Interfraternity council, Panhellenic council, YMCA, and Alpha Phi Omega.

Ken Olson, president of the student commission had the following to say about the campaign:

"Never in my college career have I seen such a display of cooperation between faculty, students and campus organizations as took place last week in the WSSF Drive. It was particularly impressive because of the fact that it was not for individual or organizational gain. All the proceeds were donated to help foreign students.

"The great success of the drive illustrates the fact that we do have students and staff members on the NDAC campus who agree that what we do for young men and women who are growing up to assume the responsibilities of the world of tomorrow is more important than what we do for ourselves.

"I'm sure that each one who had a part in the drive has a feeling of accomplishment and satisfaction which can be duplicated only by more of the same type of work. Let's keep it up. It's good for you, for the school, and for the world."

FOUND

A fountain pen found in Morrill hall has been turned in at the Spectrum office. Owner may claim it upon proper identification.

ISA Sponsored Hop Scheduled Jan. 27

The NDAC Independent's Student association will sponsor the annual "Hobo Hop" in Festival hall Friday, January 27.

The hard-time affair will follow a game with South Dakota State college and, will feature music by Ralph Mutchler and his orchestra.

"Be A Hobo For a Night," is the theme of the all-college dance. Dancers are expected to come looking like hobos.

Game night will be the feature of the regular social meeting of ISA next Monday at 6:30.

YWCA To Present Religion Series

This quarter the YWCA, as their monthly all association meetings, is presenting a series of two meetings on "Know Your Religion."

The purpose is to acquaint students with not only their own religion, but also those others to which they do not belong and are consequently not familiar. The meetings will be instructive, the speakers covering the unfamiliar parts of their church histories, doctrines or traditions.

The two meetings will feature speakers from the Jewish, Mormon, Catholic, and Protestant faith.

The first meeting of this series will be held in the Fireside room of the YMCA Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m. Speakers at this time will be from the Catholic and Mormon churches in Fargo.

Clothing Drive Reaps Big Harvest

Viewing some of the 3000 pounds of clothing gathered during the LSA drive the past two weeks are Evelyn Tuff, Rev. John Shultz, Rev. Paul Bierstedt and Grant Nelson. Bierstedt, secretary of the Student Service division of the National Lutheran Council is in Fargo for a conference.

Ag Students Begin Showing Livestock

An unusually large number of fitting and showing demonstrations for the various Little International divisions this year have given the students a start on working on their projects for the show. Demonstrations of how to fit and show have been given in the beef, sheep, dairy and grain divisions during the past two weeks.

The proper selection and showing of grain, grass, and legume weeds was explained and demonstrated by Dr. O. O. Churchill, professor of agronomy, at the regular NDAC Agronomy club meeting. Here also T. E. Stoa, agronomist, discussed the International Hay and Grain Show and pointed out what constitutes a good show sample. Through the NDAC Agronomy club, a grain cleaner and working space is being made available in Butler hall for the use of those showing grain samples in the Little International.

At the dairy fitting and showing demonstration, Fred Hoff, dairy herdsman, lectured on the correct methods of caring for the animal in fitting it for the show.

Two sheep demonstrations were given last week—one by Merle Light, animal husbandry instructor, and one by Dr. Klosterman, associate professor of animal husbandry. They explained and demonstrated the fitting and showing of various breeds of sheep.

Music to Be Theme Of YW Social Hour

This Sunday the YWCA is sponsoring the worship service and social hour that is held each week at the Fargo YWCA.

The service is planned around a theme of music with instrumental and vocal solos as well as musical readings.

Committee chairman for the program is June Carroll. Other students participating are Georgia Hansen, Zoe Nelson, Nola Westman, Jean Carlson, and Mrs. Margaret Ink, YWCA secretary.

Make-up Time Set For Spelling Test

The English department will give tests during the fourth week of the present term—beginning next Monday, January 23—to all students with incompletes for spelling. Students not presently enrolled in Freshman English are asked to come to the department's office today or Monday morning to make arrangements for taking the test. The tests will be given a second time during the quarter in the tenth week, beginning March 6.

Letter to the Editor . . .

Dear Sir:

I dislike semi-formal parties. The darn things give me an inferiority complex. You go to pick up your date who is draped in an expensive floor length gown and looking quite unlike the girl you see every day in class. Maybe she's not a vision of loveliness, that depends on the girl, but if she's ever going to look good it's when she is dressed formally.

Now here is where the semi comes in—The poor male, is standing there, gaping, in the same old, tired suit, doomed to an evening of self conscious embarrassment. That is, if he has any sensibilities at all.

Now, I'll admit that might be putting it a little strongly, but you get the idea.

I see no reason why a man can't buy one tuxedo during his college career. It will last all through college and many years after, till middle age spread sets in. Most girls have three or more formals and unless she can make magic with a sewing machine, everyone of them costs nearly as much as a tux. Incidentally a tuxedo doesn't cost anymore than the average suit.

Before I go any further, I'd like to say that I am not writing this for any women's organization nor do I work for a men's clothing store.

Those of you who have worn a tux know that there is something different about it. It's not like an ordinary suit, it makes you feel like a 'sharp cookie' as well as look like one. My contention isn't that a tux will make a "Prince Charming" out of a schmoe but it will help a hell of a lot. Ask your girl if she doesn't think the black tie ensemble does something for the man and the party—go ahead, ask any girl.

As I see it, the big argument against buying a tux is that we have only one formal party a year, the Military Ball. It's a perfectly good argument and I agree whole heartedly; but we have two semi-formal affairs coming up that should be formal—the Interfraternity Ball tonight, and the Charity Ball next month. Then in the spring comes the Junior-Senior Prom and even that, the traditional big time of college life, was semi-formal last year.

Now if all four of those affairs were formal, a man could well afford to buy a tux. Even if you went to only one formal party a year the rental you pay in four years would nearly buy one and it would fit. You wouldn't have to look like the re-incarnation of Sad Sack.

Here is the crux of the matter: either make these affairs completely formal or informal, none of this half-way semi-formal stuff. I would like to see the day when a man going to one of these balls, could saunter up to his date, polish his fingernails on his satin lapels, look his fraulien on the bare shoulder and say, "swoon baby, you got nothing on me."

Sincerely,
Walt Christensen

Henry's Here

By MORGEN HENRY

In a recent lyceum program cartoonist Bob Gordon demonstrated how to read character at a glance by sketching the salient features of individuals. He has also given rules for the amateur character analyst.

Henry

Although Gordon's method seems somewhat convincing, his analysis seems to hinge primarily on the appearance of the individual, on the impressions that come to eye.

We admit that surly people generally tend to look surly, and, the benificent Scattergood Baines type usually get rosy-cheeked and ponderous in the region of the belt, but, a more thorough delineation of character, in our opinion, should come from the actual acts of the individual rather than from the appearance of same.

Therefore, we present this week, a short course in analyzing character by observing the actions of the subject under study.

READING CHARACTER BY ACTIONS

Part I

Watch the Hands! A quick way to judge character is by studying carefully the hands of the person under observation. If the hands are noticed to be in other people's pockets and are found removing objects from dime-store counters it may be reasonably presumed that the subject is of an untrustworthy nature.

Hands that are found holding books, paper and pencil are generally found to be those of people of an eccentric and unstable nature.

Part II

The Eyes are Important! The eyes are of prime importance in judging character. Eyes that are blackened connote a character of a garrulous and belligerent nature.

Eyes that are rolled back into the top of the head usually indicate that the subject is unconscious. Get a glass of water.

Eyes that are bloodshot may be concluded to be the property of a person who is genial, magnanimous and of a hearty nature.

Part III

Notice the Voice! Listen to the intonation of the voice for a real clue to the person's character. A voice that is rough and scratchy shows that the person is afflicted with Cigarette Hangover.

A voice that is soft, dulcet and languishly amorous will generally prove to belong to a person of extreme Puritanical views. Hang up and call someone else.

Voices that are thick and that are heard to say, "Make it a double this time, Louie," belong to people who are genial and of a magnanimous nature.

Part IV

The Feet! Keep an eye on the footsies. If the feet are found to be in running motion the person belonging to them is ambitious, alert, aggressive and probably trying to catch No. 5.

Feet that remain rooted in one spot for a long time generally indicate that the person affixed to them is of a phlegmatic nature, loves leisure, prefers brunettes and two-door Chevrolets and is possibly dead.

Feet that skitter back and forth as if seeking for balance belong to people who are drunk.

The Score

By PAT O'LEARY

Old A-Mess Teachers College (an Eastern School—one of the old Poison Ivy League) played a good game Monday night with their seven man team—five with red suits and two with black and white stripes. And those stripes would have looked better on a zebra.

As one observer put it: "Those refs sure missed a good game!"

Those convocation speakers miss the old boat every time. They'd have much bigger crowds if they perched on top of Nick's Beerador (a deceiving title—hasn't held anything stronger than buttermilk in years) in that essential portion of our more liberal education: the Hosty. In spite of the smaller size of that place, it draws bigger crowds every time.

Things were so bad Monday, that eight people squirmed into one booth. This feat was possible largely through the precarious cantalvering of a beautiful Foods Major on the edge of the seat. No kidding, an Engineering feat like that is pretty good for a Home Ec. girl.

Let's hope the Thetas haven't been carried away by the kissing booth that they had at the WSSF Carnival. It'd be downright grim to hear a cash register ring everytime you took one of them to her door, and in a moment of extravagance, kissed her good night.

Don't forget to show your appreciation of Muchler's band by showing up at his Concert in Festival hall, Sunday afternoon. Anyway, you'll be sure to appreciate it when you hear it.

Getting back to the Hasty—where did they ever find Doloris? She actually smiles!

Traffic Court Finds Ten Guilty Of Violations

(The following story appeared in the Jan. 13 issue of The Miami Student, the official publication of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. It is printed as an interesting sidelight showing how the traffic problem is handled on another campus.)

Addition of $81 to the Memorial Student Union fund has resulted from the last two meetings of the Men's Traffic Court, which considered 18 cases and found 10 guilty of violating the car rule.

Presence of a family car in Oxford at any time without permission and without either parent is to be considered prima facie evidence of a violation of the car rule, the Ad-Interim committee of the Senate interpreted last spring. Six of the above decisions were based on this interpretation.

The Court acquitted four men of the charges and four more were found guilty of traffic or parking violations and fined. One man was fined $10 for driving the wrong way at an excessive rate of speed in Veterans' Village.

Temporary permission for use of a car which would otherwise be in violation of the car rule may be obtained from Mr. H. H. Stephenson in room 106 Benton hall, the Court advises students who may wish to use a car for a special purpose. Mr. Stephenson should always be consulted before a car is brought into Oxford without permission, the Court points out.

Marian Anderson will appear in Festival hall on January 25. Students who wish to purchase general admission tickets should call the Little Country theater without delay.

And then there are some who think I get paid for this. They feel someone should get some good from it.

Here is what some of the students were doing while waiting for the lyceum to begin, according to my assistant Scooper—Janet Kiefer, Pat Cook, and Jane Remboldt were knitting; Burton (Buzz) Barr was playing a radio; June Carroll and Nola Westman were playing poker (for bus tokens); Joan Hauge, Jane Sand, Virginia Lidstrom, and Corral Jaster were studyning; Glenn Edin and Gordon Ferguson were matching pennies.

Faculty To Dance Tomorrow Night

The NDAC Faculty Dancing club will have its second dance of the season tomorrow night, at the college YMCA. Season tickets for the club's dances are still available and may be purchased from Prof. J. W. Broberg of the chemistry department.

Ballroom and some old-time dances will be featured at the informal affair. Music will be by Willard Tripp and his orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Evans will be in charge of the refreshments for the dance, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Wattson will be in charge of decorations.

transmitter . . .

The transmitter, which has been installed in the electronics laboratory in the NDAC engineering building, was designed by Hetland in 1932. During its 18 years of use, it has operated about 100,000 hours bringing entertainment, news and education to listeners throughout the northwest. In presenting the transmitter to NDAC, Dunn told Dr. Hultz that WDAY is "pasturing it out at the AC to continue its use in educational value." Dr. Hultz expressed appreciation for the gift to the college and told WDAY men that their "baby" would receive good treatment at NDAC and be a service through the years to electrical engineering students.

Engineer Hetland pointed out that the transmitter, since its installation, has used approximately $50,000 worth of tubes and has been in operation about two and one-half million kilowatt hours. One of the special features of the transmitter tubes is the intricate water cooling insulation system installed to alleviate intense heat created by the apparatus. Hetland also pointed out that the plant voltage on the water cooled tubes carried 1,200 volts—six times the amount used in an electric chair.

The future of the transmitter at NDAC will be in its use in laboratory tests and instruction, Faïman said. It will be kept in its present form, and although it will not be operated as a whole, the individual parts will be studied by students.

The electrical engineering head pointed out how pleased he is to have the valuable apparatus—"something very few larger institutions have among their laboratory facilities." "Our new transmitter gift has one of the most impressive arrays of dials and meters I have ever seen in an electrical engineering laboratory in any school," Faïman added.

Nestoss To Speak

A. R. Nestoss, executive director of the committee on school district reorganization, will speak at the next agricultural economics seminar Thursday Jan. 26.

His topic will be, "Progress and Problems in North Dakota School District Reorganization."

The seminar will be held at 4 p.m. in Morrill hall, room 215.

Leave Of Absence Granted To Dixon

Harry S. Dixon, chairman of the NDAC electrical engineering department, has been granted a leave of absence for the winter, spring and summer terms to complete study for his doctorate in electrical engineering at Purdue University.

Dixon will complete residence work and write his dissertation while on leave. He anticipates receiving his doctor's degree this summer. He has his A.M. degree in electrical engineering from Stanford University in 1931 and his Degree of Engineer also from Stanford in 1936.

He has been professor and chairman of electrical engineering at NDAC since 1945. Previous to that he taught at the University of California and Purdue. In his absence, Robert N. Faïman, assistant professor of electrical engineering, will be acting chairman of the department.

Know Your Law

Q. When an heir is a minor, how are his rights protected?

A. Males under twenty-one years of age, and females under eighteen years of age, are minors, and when probate proceedings are commenced, a special guardian is appointed by the court to represent their interests, if they have no general guardian. Such special guardian can receive no money or property belonging to the minor.

Q. How is distribution of an estate made to a minor?

A. The share of a minor is not paid directly to him, but to his general guardian, who gives a receipt to the administrator or executor. The guardian then takes charge of the property and money, if any, until the minor becomes of age.

Q. Can any person be guardian of the minor's property without court appointment?

A. No. No person, whether a parent or otherwise, has any power as a guardian of property except by appointment as provided by law.

Q. How is this appointment made?

A. A petition is filed in County Court, usually by a parent or relative, setting forth certain jurisdictional facts and asking the appointment of himself or another as guardian of the person or estate, or both, of the minor. The guardian is usually a parent, and if none, a close relative. After hearing, an order is made appointing a guardian, and after such person posts suitable bond, Letters of Guardianship are issued to him. He then has full right to act for the minor. Each year until the minor becomes of age the guardian must make a full accounting of the guardianship to the court, who examines the same carefully before making an order of allowance. Guardianships are separate proceedings in the County Court, which continue until the minor becomes of age and the guardian is discharged. The expense of such proceedings comes out of the minor's estate.

Q. Mention has been made that distribution of an estate is made by a final decree of distribution. Where an heir receives a tract of land, or an interest in land, is he not entitled to receive a deed or some paper to show his title?

A. When a final decree of distribution is filed in the County Court assigning to the heirs their respective shares in land, a certified copy of the decree is filed for record with the Register of Deeds in the county or counties where the property is situated. This is all that is necessary and the title then legally stands in the name of the heirs. The decree itself is their evidence of title, and they will then be acknowledged as the owners.

Q. Where the estate is of small value does the law allow any short cuts in probate?

A. Yes, where the value of the whole estate does not exceed the sum of $1500, and there is a surviving husband or wife, or minor child or children, the court will assign the whole estate to the surviving husband or wife, or to the minor child or children of the deceased, if there is no surviving husband or wife. In such cases no administrator is appointed and the proceedings are relatively simple and inexpensive. Such proceedings are called summary administration.

Q. In summary administration what are the rights of creditors?

A. The estate assigned is subject to whatever mortgages, liens, or encumbrances that may be in effect upon the estate at the time of decedent's death, and to the payment of the expenses of the last illness of decedent, funeral expenses, and expenses of administration. No other creditors have any claim upon the estate.

Q. When a person dies, his heirs are naturally concerned about inheritance taxes. What is an inheritance tax and how is it determined?

A. According to North Dakota laws a tax is imposed upon the transfer of the net estate of every decedent, whether in trust or otherwise, under the conditions and subject to the exceptions and limitations there in prescribed. Correctly speaking, the tax is an estate tax, not an inheritance tax, for the tax is payable by the entire estate and not by the heir or heirs.

Paulsen's Pencil - -

By JOHN PAULSEN

There Are Four

items of note connected with athletics at NDAC this week. They are: 1) The status—past, present, and future—of Chuck Bentson's varsity cagers 2) The continuing search being made for a new football coach at NDAC 3) The ability of Coach Norm Evans' freshman basketball team, and 4) Wednesday's 3rd Annual Quarterback's Banquet. This, in sentiments short and sweet, is the News:

Varsity Basketball: Chuck Bentson's men played good ball Saturday night against ISTC. But for the extra class which Hon Nordly's men had, the Herd might have won the game. Monday night, the Herd played their most disappointing game of the season. They wilted under a last half MSTC offensive and continued their season-long lethargic shooting habits. The only consolation that comes from losing to the Dragons comes in losing to Roy Domek—probably the pleasantest individual to coach in Fargo-Moorhead for some time.

Warning: It's extremely possible the Bison will have lost six straight games when they return to the Fieldhouse next week. Bentson's men will have to pick up if they expect to do much against ISTC, Morningside, or SDU.

The Hunt: Still continuing is the byword of the college's fortunes in this little game of capture the flag. The field, at one time numbering about seventy, has apparently been cut down to around five and athletic director Casey Finnegan seems content to look around a lot before buying.

The Freshman Team: Norm Evans' freshman club has got 'em, and got 'em in no uncertain terms. It's always a gamble to try and predict how a freshman group will react to varsity competition, but Evans' performers—ably handled by the Yearling tutor—seem to have the class to make the grade. If his men perform, at any rate, with the same efficiency against conference foes next year as they are rumored to have had in practice sessions with the Bison varsity this season, Charley Bentson might have reason to smile in the face of this: a tougher season than was expected for the Herd this year.

The Quarterbacks Banquet: Wednesday night the Quarterbacks Club staged their most lavish gaudy attraction. They brought in Mr. Frank Leahy, Ph. C. (Doctor of Coaches), to speak to their third Annual Football banquet. As usual, they pleased the local schools by inviting full squads of all Fargo-Moorhead high schools and colleges to be their guests. (NDAC made a big hit with its freshman players by espousing them to the attraction as athletic department guests.) They had Leahy shake the hand of the various MVP's on the local squads. (Verne Freeh got the Bison award, and rightly so.) And, considering Mr. Leahy's standing in the coaching business, such is more than an empty honor.

Leahy, as a public speaker, is more in demand than any other coach in the business. (His team was 1949 national champions, and Notre Dame teams have been unbeaten in four seasons.) He comes attached with a rather fancy price figure, and its doubtful if Ralph Rothrock and his Quarterback Club co-workers quite made the grade, financially speaking. All the more reason, I say, for doffing a hat of admiration and appreciation to Rothrock and his club members for a difficult job, well done.

Mr. Leahy made several points during his stay in Fargo which from time to time might be well worth repeating. They will be.

Bison Lose To ISTC, 57-48, Saturday; Wilt Under Dragon Attack, 73-64, Monday

By John Hesse and John Mashek

The NDAC hoopsters dropped two more contests last week, losing to Iowa State Teachers college, 57-48 and dropping the last of a three game series to Moorhead State Teachers college, 73-63. In previous games the Bison took the first 48-45 and the Dragons came back to cop the second, 61-58.

The Panthers didn't take the lead in their contest until the last moments of the first half. Up until that time the Bison had managed to keep pace with the defending champions. However as the first half came to an end, the Herd was trailing 26-20.

In the opening moments of the second half the Bison again came to life and tied the score at 26-26. However the Bentsonmen were not able to cope with the torrid shooting of Walt Kochneff and Norm Jespersion.

During the first half, Jespersion, who has been pacing the Panthers had been held to four points, all of them coming on free throws. But the second half was a different story as he added eight more.

In the waning minutes of the game, the Bison again staged a rally, but the two minute foul rule went into effect and the fouling of the Bison caused the surge to halt.

Panther mentor, Hon Nordly used the same five players throughout the contest substituting only in the last few minutes of the game when Charlie Riek went out on fouls. The Herd lost two men along the foul route, but Bentson employed nine men in his efforts.

The Bison had the same trouble that has been bothering them since Christmas, in that their shots were falling in the basket, rimming and spinning out, or just not dropping. However, at times they displayed the early season form but then dropped back into the old rut of not hitting.

Leading the offense for the Panthers was Walt Kochneff who hooped seventeen points with Jespersion runner-up with twelve. Big Jack Garrett was top-hand in the Bison scoring column with an aggregate of thirteen points. White Turner hooped nine for second place scoring honors for the Herd.

The MSTC contest was a rough and tumble affair with 57 personals called, 36 of them on the Bison. Accuracy from the charity line eventually gave the game to the Dragons, as they hit on 31 of 41, while the home team converted 21 out of 30 for an all around phenomenal night on the free tosses.

Captain Curt McCamy, elongated Dragon pivot man, topped the scoring with 20 points, but the play of Lowell Anderson in the second half was what turned the trick for the Moorhead five. Anderson accounted for 15 important points, all of them coming in the visitor's surging drive in the last half.

Jim Gotta, Kenny Johnson, and Otto Klug all hit the double figures mainly on free tosses as they scored 13, 13, and 11, respectively. Dave Torson, smooth man again in the Herd attack, hit for 16 and Dave Turner netted 13 for the losing cause. The play of Clayton Sondag was also a shining light in defeat.

North Dakota State jumped into an early lead with Jack Garrett, Bob Geston, and Torson finding the range in the early stages. The Bison lead forged to 20-13, as Roy Domek's quint had to be content with the free throw route to stay close.

Kenny Johnson's pair of fielders, combined with one each by Gotta and Lyle Hedstrom was all the Red and White could muster in the first half, which ended 32-27 for Charley Bentson's crew. The defense of the Herd appeared airtight for the Teachers to penetrate.

That set the stage for the second half scoring rampage. The Dragons finally knotted the count at 41 at 5:15 after the halftime rest. Successive buckets by Johnson, Anderson, and Klug put the Dragons on the long end for the first time, 50-45.

The Bison were unable to close the gap to cause any danger from there on in. Whitey Turner's one handers from way out were the only retaliations the Bentsonmen made. The last six minutes were long, hectic ones with the Dragons holding the ball, waiting for sure shots from close. Packy Schafer, Sondag, Torson, and McCamy all were banished from the contest via the foul route.

Bentson gave his reserves a chance in game action, as it was apparent the game was lost. It was just a matter of the final score which read 73-63, giving the Herd the third straight loss on the home floor.

The Bison Yearlings added two more victories to their record last week by knocking off Haggart's Service, 77-49 in a scrimmage contest preliminary to the NDAC-ISTC clash, and knocking off the MSTC frosh in an opener to the Bison-Dragon contest by a 63-48 score.

Student Commission To Inaugurate New Cheerleading Policy Now

Working in conjunction with the Athletic Department and the Rahjajs, it was decided at the last Student Commission meeting that henceforth letters and sweaters would be awarded to cheerleaders. These awards are to be awarded at the annual Honor's Day Convocation by the Athletic Department.

The following set of rules were adopted as regards the new policy:

1. A call for tryouts will be announced in the Spectrum at an early date each year.
2. The committee choosing the cheerleaders will be made up of:
  - a. Commissioner of Athletics
  - b. President of Rahjajs
  - c. President of Student Commission
  - d. Director of Physical Education
3. Participation
  - a. Must be cheerleaders for 2 successive quarters
  - b. Must show initiative, spirit and drive at all times.
  - c. Make a conscientious effort to attend all home scheduled games.
  - d. It will be the group's responsibility to choose their own cheer captain.
  - e. Work in close conjunction with the Rahjajs on editing and planning of cheering patterns, working out details of pep convocations and rallies, and, in general, act as leaders at all times in the promotion of school spirit.

- f. Group will be limited to four at any one time.
4. Recognition
  - a. Athletic Department will award a sweater and letter at Honor's Day Convocation.
  - b. Only one letter and sweater will be awarded per individual during his or her college career. It will be awarded at the conclusion of 2 successive quarters of cheerleading.

All women and men interested in cheerleading are asked to meet in the lobby of the field house Tuesday, January 24, 1950 at 4:15 p.m.

By JOHN HESSE

Chalk up two more defeats for the Bison since last week. The Herd still hasn't snapped out of the doldrums that have plagued the NDAC offense since the Christmas layoff. The ISTC victory over the Green and Yellow followed the same pattern that has been prevalent since Christmas. They played good ball up until the waning moments of the first half and then dropped behind.

For a few minutes in the second half, it looked like the Herd had snapped out of it and were finally going to go, when they tied the score at twenty six, but the Panthers took matters into hand and ran away with the game. Then in the last few minutes of the game, again the Herd sprang to life, but the rally fell rather short.

FIRST HALF GOOD

Then Monday night, the Bentonmen looked like they had really regained their old form. Throughout the first half, the Bison defense was almost impenetrable for the Moorhead team. The offense was clicking, but the Dragons were hanging tight, all because of the fouling of the Herd. As near as can be seen, the game was won for the Dragons from the foul line.

Thirty six times the officials called fouls on the NDAC quintet. Forty one times the Domekmen shot the gift tosses. Thirty one times the charity toss went in the hoop. That makes a percentage of 75.5 for the Dragons from the free throw line.

Of course, when it came to shooting free throws, the Herd was not too far behind. They dropped in twenty one out of thirty attempts for a percentage of 70. That is good shooting in any league. The only trouble was that the Bison didn't get as many chances.

Another welcomed event in the MSTC tussle was the return to form of Dave Torson's shooting eye. The diminutive guard had been having a little trouble from the field with his shots, but Monday he began to hit again. Torson lead the offense for NDAC with sixteen points, and of course contributed a good floor game. That was one thing that didn't suffer during the scoring slump. He still was able to get way off his feet and drag the rebounds away from much taller men.

Paulsen To Hold Tryouts To Select Sports Announcer

John Paulsen, NDAC Public Address Announcer, said this week that tryouts to select an announcer for the 1950-51 school year would be held soon.

He asked interested men to contact him in Room 109 of Science hall, or Athletic Director C. C. Finnegan in the Fieldhouse.

Tryouts, under the direction of Finnegan and Paulsen, will be given soon. Paulsen said acceptance of the position would necessitate availability at all football and basketball games. He reported that the athletic department does not wish to have different announcers for football and basketball, but desires to obtain a full-time man to handle both sports.

THREE LEFT UNBEATEN

Around the nation we can find only three major college teams left in the undefeated ranks. Holy Cross has a good enough club so most observers think that they could conceivably go through the season without blemishing their perfect record. Also in the limelight is Duequense. They have a strong club, but nothing that equals the red-hot Crusaders.

Rounding out the select trio is Army, who have played an easy schedule. Most sports writers in the east believe that the Cadets will fade before any real competition. Then right up there is St. John's of Brooklyn. They were the first place team in the nation-wide poll for the first two weeks. They are a team with five forwards on offense and five guards on defense.

HERD ON ROAD TRIP

The Bison will be leaving on a road trip this week that can spell either disaster or good times to come for Chuck Bentson's crew. Before they return, the Herd will meet Iowa Teachers, South Dakota university, and Morningside. Of course, the NDAC quint had already lost to ISTC and Morningside this season, but if they can get by these two powerful fives and the Coyotes they could be back on the road to success.

The Coyotes are sharing the conference cellar with the Bison, but they would like to get out of there as soon as they can. Those sentiments are the same for the Bentonmen. If they can pull any or all of the games out of the fire, it would make the homefolks a lot happier, and Bentson's first season at NDAC a much more successful time. And besides, the Bison themselves would like to get back in the role that they held in the earlier part of the year, that of a winning team. A team doesn't like to lose, and a bunch of boys with the spirit of the green and yellow clad warriors really want to win, and win every game.

Requirements Set For Letterwinners

Athletic Department officials re-emphasized this week that inter-collegiate athletic award winners must successfully pass three-fourths of a normal load in order to receive their award.

C. C. Finnegan, NDAC athletic director, said that 1949 football letter winners who did not pass sufficient hours to receive awards at last week's ceremonies could immediately pick up their letters upon satisfying the requirements during the winter quarter.

The Kohler Ape experiment was conducted with a chimpanzee named Sultan. Professor Kohler gave Sultan two sticks that could be fitted together, and when so fitted together it would reach a banana that the hungry Sultan wanted. Sultan seemed puzzled for a time but finally he put the sticks together and beat Professor Kohler with it until he gave Sultan the banana.

AGR, LMC, DAM Top I-M B-B Standings

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN

As the regular Intra-Mural basketball season approaches its conclusion, the race for playoff berths in the post-season tournament is still wide open. The two top teams of each bracket will be the lucky ones to try for this year's I-M Championship and monogram sweaters.

Leading Bracket A with a record of seven wins and no losses are the Dorm Aggie Midgets who appear to be a cinch for a play-off berth. The DAM will also be a top-heavy favorite to annex this year's championship. Fighting it out for second place are the SAE 2's and the Kappa Sigs 1, with the SAE's showing a slight edge as they have previously beaten the K Sigs.

In the B Bracket the strong Lettermen's Club have showed their supremacy and almost assured of a play-off berth as they have beaten their closest opponents by wide margins. The LMC are also expected to give the DAM a run for their money in the tournament. Fighting it out for second place in this Bracket are Theta Chi 2 and Student Body 2 with the former possibly having the better chance.

In Bracket C, AGR 3's have clinched a playoff berth with second place still to be decided. Student Body 1 appears to have the better chance but the hot and cold Fieldhouse team and the strong ATO 2's may pull an upset and capture one of the coveted berths.

The complete standings are posted below:

Bison Meet ITC; Morningside; SDU In Conference Road Trip

By JOHN MASHEK

Coach Charley Bentson's NDAC Bison have their work cut out for them this weekend as they make a three day swing eastward to meet high ranking conference opposition. Tonight will find the University of South Dakota playing host at Vermillion. The Herd moves on to Sioux City, to play the Morningside Maroons in a Saturday contest. The road trip will be concluded with a game with the defending champions, Iowa State Teachers on Monday, Jan. 23.

The victory hungry Coyotes of SDU are on the bottom of the conference heap with the Bison, both having dropped a pair of games. Coach George DeKlotz's five have seven lettermen back from last year's squad, including Johnny Diefendorf, all-conference forward. Tough early season competition have given the Coyotes a losing record but good game experience. The Vermillion quint has dropped their two North Central games to the same fives that took the measure of the Bison, Morningside and ISTC.

Morningside, the conference dark-horse, will furnish the competition for the touring Bison, to attempt to hand them their second straight defeat on Saturday. The Maroons defeated NDAC, 57-47 in a game played here in Fargo two weeks ago. Coach Al Buckingham has developed the fast break with his Maroon cagers, and the Sioux City five have come up with a high scoring unit. South Dakota and the Herd have been the victims of the onslaught, while North Dakota's league leading Sioux hold the only victory over the Morningside squad.

Hon Nordly's smooth working Iowa State Teachers Panthers will oppose the Bentonmen in a Monday night setto at Cedar Falls. The defending champion Tutors have already dropped two contests to the NDU Sioux, but cannot be counted out as definite threats for the North Central crown. The Panthers weren't on their game when they dealt the Bison a 57-48 licking here, but the Herd weren't hitting either and this match is one the Green and Yellow would like to capture.

CHURCH NEWS

LSA
 Sunday, Jan. 22, has been set as Lutheran World Action day for the NDAC LSA. The program will be held at 4:30 in the college "Y" auditorium.

Arnie Sovik of Concordia college, Moorhead, will be the guest speaker. The second of a series of three speakers from the Religion department at Concordia, he will speak on "Personal Commitment to Christ." Mr. Sovik was brought up in China by his missionary parents. Recent attempts to return have been discouraged because of China's internal situation.

Hi-Noon Focus will be held Monday through Friday at 12 o'clock, Monday's "C. B. Lewis Says," readings of the author's works, is followed by a Chapel service on Tuesday. Wednesday's "Views and Interviews" brings us Rev. Art Becker of the Lutheran Welfare Society of North Dakota. He will show slides of his work which has taken him all over the state. Thursday's "Campus Comments" guest is Rev. Robert Rumer, the new Presbyterian minister to students in the Fargo-Moorhead area. Friday's discussion on "Sects and Denominations" completes the schedule.

The Sunday morning Bible study breakfast will be held under the direction of Jim Onstad at 9 o'clock.

WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP

The Presbyterian college group will meet next Sunday evening in the fireside room of the college "Y".

Students are urged to come and meet Rev. Robert Rumer, the new minister to students. The meeting will start with supper at 6:30 with discussion, and social hour to follow.

NEWMAN CLUB

Members of the NDAC Newman club who are studying at NDAC and the St. John's School of Nursing will entertain at the club meeting this Sunday, at 8 p.m. in the college Y auditorium.

A choral group of some 20 members will sing several selections and piano numbers will be given by Patricia Dempsey and Shirley Stangler.

Refreshments will be served after the program.

METHODIST STUDENT FOUNDATION

The regular MSF meeting will be held Sunday at 5:30. There will be a worship program following the dinner hour.
