Military Ball Underway Tonight At Nine

Queen of the Ball

Miss Marion Paris, sophomore in home economics from Fargo, will be crowned Queen of Company F-2, NDAC Chapter of the National Honorary Society of Pershing Rifles at the Military Ball tonight. Selected from among seven candidates representing all sororities and the Independent Student association, she will be entered in the nation-wide Pershing Rifle Sweetheart contest to be held early next spring. Miss Paris is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Christmas Convocation Set Tuesday At Festival Hall

The annual Christmas Convocation will be held at Festival hall Tuesday morning featuring the NDAC Chorus, Band and Men's Glee Club in a program of Christmas music.

The convo will start at 9:40 a.m. with the singing of carols led by Chorus director Ernest Van Vlissingen.

The Festival hall stage has been built up for this year's performance to highlight the different groups; special lighting effects will be used in conjunction with the program.

A great deal of work goes into the preparation of the Christmas convo and a large student turnout for the affair will be appreciated, say officials in charge of the event.

YM, YW To Host Needy Children

Underprivileged children in Fargo will be invited to the annual Kiddie's Christmas Party sponsored by the YM and YW on December 8 from 5:30 to 7 in the YMCA building.

A picnic supper of hot dogs, baked beans, milk and ice cream will be served in the Fireside room.

The children will participate in organized games and relays. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs will be dramatized by the YW, and Santa Claus will give each of the children a gift.

Co-chairmen in charge of the party are Marcia Erickson, Pelican Rapids, Minn., for the YW and Walt Matson, Fargo, for the YM.

Committees are: Food; Shirley Holcomb, Luverne, Dorothy Sand, Emerado (G.I.) and Twila Waterud, Esmond. Entertainment; Irene Vogel, Granville, and Norma Seefeldt, Grand Rapids. Buying and wrapping presents; LaVonne Sommers, Mhd. Joan Hauge, Leith and two men from the YM. Clean-up; Junette Hill, Fargo and Katherine Kloster, Sharon. Asking children and transportation; Pat Kennedy, Fargo, Winona Anderson, Fargo, and two YM members.

Victor Borge To Appear At Festival Tuesday, Wednesday

Victor Borge, internationally famous Danish concert pianist and monologist, will appear Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 8 on the stage of Festival Hall.

Only holders of student activity tickets will be admitted Tuesday night. The performance Wednesday evening will be open to the general public and lyceum patrons will be admitted upon season course tickets.

Since his arrival in this country in 1941, 'the inimitable' Borge has given America something new in entertainment. The Borge paradox is a virtuoso pianist and one of the funniest comedians of modern times.

He is a product of Denmark where he was born in Copenhagen. His father was an eminent violinist and had played under Richard Wagner. His mother was gifted pianist and music teacher.

Borge early demonstrated a child's virtuosity at the piano. He studied at the Royal Opera of Copenhagen, won scholarships to the Music Conservatory of Copenhagen and University of Berlin. He studied under the famed music teachers, Victor Schioler, Frederich Lamond and Egon Petri.

Borge gained a reputation as one of the foremost young artists on the European concert stage. But he could never take the concert classicism with dead seriousness. He satirized the concert manner off stage and then brought his devastating humor to his concert audience.

Mr. Borge left Europe in 1941 when Hitler invaded Denmark. He was starring in a revue in Sweden at the time of the invasion and he left for the United States with his American wife on the last ship out.

Arrived in the United States, he spent a hilarious year learning the English language and being a celebrity, the Danish Noel Coward. Then, on the West Coast, he was discovered by Rudy Vallee who introduced him to Bing Crosby. Crosby enjoyed the Dane so much he put him on the air for fifty-four performances. American listeners got further acquainted when Borge became the summer replacement for Fibber McGee and Molly.

He has been greeted in the concert hall as the fine artist he is when he returned to the classics, leavening his programs always with the scintillating monologues that have enchanted audiences throughout Europe and the United States. He may, for example, pause before brilliantly playing Stravinsky to talk about his boyhood. The time, perhaps, when his father found the reflective little boy sitting in front of a roaring fire in the living room and scolded him roundly, "because, you see, we had no fireplace."

Formal Hop Takes Place At Festival

Featuring the music of Amby Meyer and his orchestra, the strictly formal Military Ball will get under way tonight at 9 in the Field house.

The ball, generally considered to Cook Tenneson be the highlight of NDAC's social season, will be climaxed by the grand march, which will be led by Robert Tenneson and his guest, Patricia Cook. Mr. Tenneson is president of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military organization on campus.

Mrs. William D. Toussaint, president of Guidon, auxiliary of Scabbard and Blade, and her husband will be second in line. Vice-president of Guidon, Joyce McCaul, and her escort will be in the third position.

Presentation of the ranks of honorary colonel and honorary major will be made to Mrs. Toussaint and Miss McCaul, respectively, during the evening.

Several members of NDAC's faculty and administration, as well as Gov. and Mrs. Fred G. Aandahl, will be honored guests at the event.

Registration Starts January 3

Because January 2, 1950, is a legal holiday, registration for the winter quarter will begin on Tuesday, January 3. It will be completed in two days instead of the usual three days.

A. H. Parrott announced this registration schedule last week. Seniors will register in the morning of January 3; juniors, in the afternoon. The morning and afternoon of January 4 will be used for the sophomores and freshmen respectively. Regular classes will begin Thursday, January 5.

Walster To Speak

Dean H. L. Walster will speak on the topic, "Food and Land" at the Agricultural Economic Seminar Thursday at 4:00 p.m. in Room 215 Morrill Hall.

$10 REWARD

$10.00 reward for return of ring probably lost between library and Engineering building. Ring is Gold and Silver, an heirloom and has coat of arms on top. Contact Jose R. Iranzo or Spectrum office.

Be' at Festival Tuesday morning for the Christmas convocation.

College Directory Now Available

The 1949-50 college directory is now available at the registrar's office says A. H. Parrott, director of admissions and records.

Made up according to standard form, the directory contains the names and addresses of all staff members and students with the addition of the officers of the campus organizations.

Pershing Rifles To Crown Queen

For the first time in military ball history a queen will be crowned tomorrow night following the grand march and presentation of honorary commissions. The Pershing Rifles Squad, in charge of the beauty contest, will select the queen from photographs submitted by various organizations on campus.

Strictly a formal affair, men are requested to wear tuxedos or their military uniforms for the dance which will be held from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

In charge of arrangements is Lloyd Flynn. In charge of other committees are Alfred Barbee, concessions; Jane Greenshields, invitations; Laurel Geiszler, ceremony; Virgil Holden, tickets,

SAI To Meet At Tarbell Residence

Members of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary musical sorority, will entertain next Wednesday, at a Contemporary American musicale in the home of Mrs. W. P. Tarbell.

On the program for the evening will be Mary Dullea, Virginia Borderud, Jacqueline Slough, and Mary Ranney. A two piano number will be played by Olivia Tarbell and Betty Marks.

Maxine Sill and Grace Wold will represent the active chapter at the musicale, while Mrs. Dorothy Walters and Mrs. Alma Blegen will be alumnae hostesses.

Paint Dept. Gets Circulars

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer association of Washington, D. C., has contributed to the NDAC paint department ten bound volumes which include circulars and abstract reviews about paint.

Approximately 500 additional circulars dating back to November, 1912, have also been sent. Some of these circulars have been received, while the others will be here in the near future.

At the convention of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer association at Atlantic City in November of this year, Dr. Wouter Bosch, chairman of the NDAC paint and varnish department, expressed the need for these circulars and abstracts and requested that they be sent.

From now on, the paint department will receive all the association's circulars and abstracts. According to Bosch, these circulars will be of great value to the paint department as almost no publications older than 1947 are present in the chemistry library.

20 Initiated In Alpha Zeta

NDAC Dacotah Chapter of Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, held their initiation banquet in the English Room of Graver Hotel Tuesday evening, November 15th.

About 45 alumni, actives and initiates were present. Chancellor George Pratt introduced guest speaker Jack Pyle, manager of Armour & Co., West Fargo, who gave an interesting talk on the by-products of the packing industry and their utilization for the betterment of man-kind.

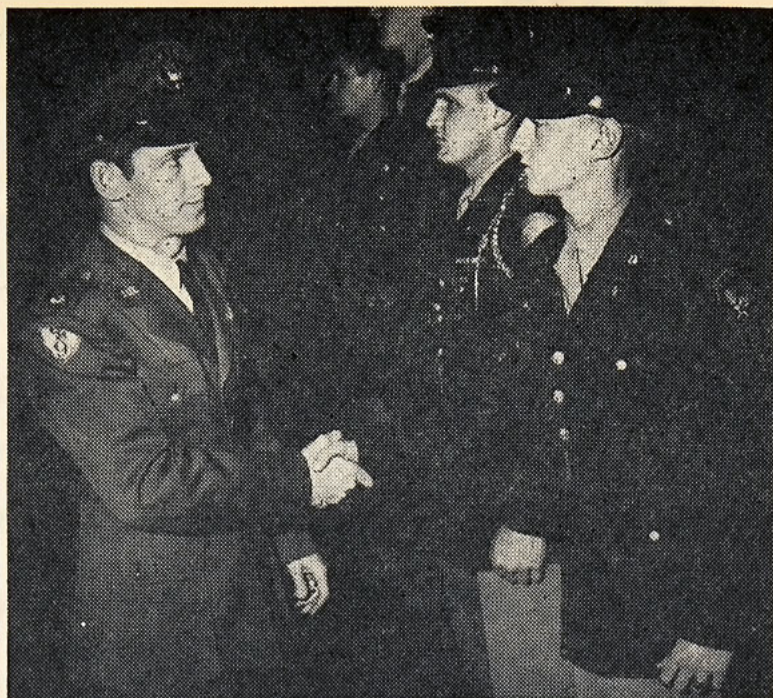

New members initiated were: Wallace Aanderud, Carl Ekstrom, Julius Anderson, Norman McCalley, John Kaspari, William Drummond, Robert Askew, Vernon Danielson, Robert Kitterman, Alfred Bye, Victor Horne, Richard Maetzold, Osborne Arlien, John Lambie, Rolf Berg, William Best, Harold Blume, Donald Flatau, Russell Lorenz, and Marvin Jensen.

Science Club Seeks New Members

Officials of the NDAC Natural Science club have announced their desire to enroll more members in the organization. The club recently toured the Moorhead Crystal Sugar Beet plant with fifty members.

Films were shown at a meeting of the group November 3.

According to club officials, the only requirement for membership is interest enough to attend; dues are 50c a year. Lunch is featured at each meeting.

Mandt Heads Newly Formed Arnold Society For Cadets

Sherman Mandt, junior in Agriculture, was recently elected commanding officer of NDAC's newly formed Arnold Society for Air Cadets. The society is the Air ROTC counterpart to the ROTC

IAS Sends Five On St. Paul Tour

Five members of the NDAC student branch of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences accompanied by R. K. Wattson, honorary chairman of the branch, went to Holman Field at St. Paul on Friday, Nov. 25 for an inspection trip through the Northwest Airlines overhaul factory.

The group viewed maintenance processes being carried out on Martin 202 and Douglas DC-6 airplanes and heavy aircraft engines, instruments and accessories.

The tour was conducted under the supervision of L. E. Geror, director of Mechanicals Operations for Northwest Airlines.

Diederich Heads Beaux Arts Ball

Warren Diederich, a senior in Architecture, has been elected chairman of the revived Beaux Arts Ball to be held in the winter quarter.

Committees for decorations, entertainment etc. were also appointed at the meeting held last week.

The freshmen students have given the "Black Cat" the new look with a new coat of paint.

Mr. Kurke, prominent Fargo Architect, will speak to the members of A. C. N. Mr. Kurke will discuss the plans and the building of our new campus library.

Brown To Address IRC Banquet

Dr. J. N. Brown, president of Concordia college, will address the International Relations club at a banquet meeting on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the English room at the Graver hotel.

Reservations must be made in advance with any one of the officers by 6:00 p.m. Tuesday. $1.25 per plate will be collected at the banquet.

Scabbard and Blade organization.

Other officers elected are: William Shenko, executive officer; Laurel Geiszler, operations officer; Fred Buelow, secretary; and Richard Thompson, adjutant.

The society held an organizational banquet last Wednesday evening in the Colonial room of the Gardner hotel. Carl H. Schmidt, director of personnel was the guest speaker.

Entertainment was provided by Mayo Kucera, the one man band, and Ernest Van Vlissingen who led the group in a number of songs. Prof. R. K. Wattson accompanied the group at the piano.

W. J. Swenson and Jerry Thurman were in charge of the program. Gene LaMuro took charge of decorations and Russ Parsons made the banquet arrangements.

Civil Service Sets New Exam

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Physical Science Aid to fill positions paying from $2,200 to $3,100 in various Federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

The optional branches covered by this examination are chemistry, physics, metallurgy, geology, mathematics, and other branches of physical science except meteorology.

To qualify for these positions, all applicants will be required to take a written test. In addition, for positions paying $2,450 and above, they must have had from 1 to 4 years of appropriate experience in the physical sciences.

For the higher grades, part of this experience must have been in a specific branch of physical science, depending upon the position for which application is made. Pertinent education may be substituted for the required experience.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from most first- and second-class post offices, from civil services regional offices, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must be received in the Commission's Washington office not later than December 13, 1949.

Take in the Christmas Convo Tuesday. It's in the morning at Festival hall, 9:40 sharp.

Army Seeking To Enlist Graduates In Women's Corps

Women who are now in their senior year in college or who have been graduated from college now have the opportunity to become commissioned officers in the Women's Army Corps, Regular Army, according to communications received here recently.

The Army, which is seeking a high caliber of women on which to build its corps of the future, wants women who have demonstrated qualities of leadership and have achieved good academic records.

The report stated, however, that owing to the limited number that may be appointed annually, only the best qualified will be selected.

To be eligible to apply, the individual must be a college graduate or a prospective graduate in her senior year; have attained her 21st birthday, but not have passed her 27th birthday on the date of appointment; be a citizen of the United States, unmarried; have no dependents under 18 years of age; be of good moral character; not be or have been a member of a subversive organization; and be physically fit.

Applications and further information can be obtained at the military department.

Selection will be competitive and will be determined in the Department of the Army after a thorough screening procedure which includes investigations and interviews.

Homemakers Meet Dec. 6-8

The State Homemakers council will be meeting on the NDAC campus next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to recommend and discuss projects for the 1950-51 Homemakers clubs program.

Meetings begin at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday in the "Y" auditorium with Mrs. L. R. Maust of Cando presiding. Fifty two delegates representing fifty-three counties will be present. The meetings are open to the public.

The delegates will attend the Christmas convocation Tuesday morning in a body. On Thursday the council members will be taken on a tour of the campus.

Debate Team Has Selected Members

Miss Harding, head of the NDAC Debate team, has announced names of those selected for the organization.

Members named are John Lambie, Ernest Solberg, Bob Runice, Richard McMahon, Rhoda Israelson, James Price, and Rowland Bemis.

The Debate team will participate in a tournament at the University of North Dakota on January 14, on the topic: "Resolved that the U. S. should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries."

The group will also attend the Red River Valley tournament at Concordia college in February and will enter another meet at Missoula, Montana in April.

Camera Club Meets Wednesday

A meeting of the NDAC Camera Club will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 in room 22, Engineering building. Next week has been designated beginners week for the club.

The club will hear a lecture by Mr. Kirkpatrick of the Physics department. Refreshments will follow the meeting.

Dairy Group Meets Thursday

All students interested in the dairy field are urged to meet next Thursday evening in the Dairy building at 7:30.

Primarily a get together meeting, refreshments will be served.

Tryota Meet Set December 6

The NDAC Tryota Club will hold its annual Ellen H. Richards meeting December 6 at 6:15 p.m. in Ceres hall.

Girls who were unable to attend the November initiation will be initiated at this meeting.

Arlene Greuel is social chairman for the meeting; a dessert supper will precede the affair. Tickets for the supper are 25c and must be purchased in advance.

An entertainment skit has been prepared by Patricia Kennedy, social chairman.

The parts of Ellen H. Richards and other home economics pioneers will be taken by Irene Vogel, Beverly Litzinger, Carol Jean Smith, Lois Fitzloff and Maxine Pladson.

The project for this meeting will be for each member to bring a small gift for a Home Economics department in Germany.

Radio Students Adapting Scripts

Students in Miss West's radio labs have been working on commercials and dialogues from various scripts.

They are going to do two or three scripts before the end of the quarter. One of their projects will include dramatizing some of the scenes from "East Lynne."

The tape machine is now being used in the labs to play back character sketches so that the students can hear their own mistakes.

Examination Schedule

A. H. Parrott, director of admissions and records, has released the following final examination schedule for the close of the 1949 autumn quarter.

Tuesday,	December 13—8:00-12:00...	All regular 11:00 classes
		1:15- 5:15... All regular 1:15 classes
Wednesday,	December 14—8:00-12:00...	All regular 8:00 classes

		1:15- 3:15... All classes not indicated above.

All courses of four credits or more and all classes meeting on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, will use the first half of the examination period. Courses held on Tuesday and Thursday will use the last half of that same period.

To Schedule Parties Today

James O'Toole, Commissioner of Campus Affairs, requests that all organizations planning parties for the winter and spring terms have a representative attend a meeting in the Green room of Old Main at 4:00 today to schedule the parties on the winter and spring term calendars.

Hall To Head Music Club

Leo Hall was elected president of the NDAC Staff and Notes club at an election held November 17.

Other officers elected were Donna Hartman, vice-president; Carol Thibodo, recording secretary; Arland Iverson, corresponding secretary; Raymond Wagner, treasurer; Dwain Belcher, publicity chairman; Patricia Brockmeier, social chairman; Jane Remboldt, membership chairman; Barbara Belcher, program chairman; and Mrs. Kay Wendland, club counselor.

Phi Up Holds Apron Sale

Phi Upsilon Omicron, National Honorary Home Economics Fraternity, will hold an apron sale, Wednesday, December 7, in the lounge of the Dean of Women's office in Old Main at NDAC. All aprons are made by present Phi U. members.

LSA Sets Party

An LSA term party in the form of an old-fashioned hay ride will be held tomorrow night, at 7:30.

The LSA Center has been chosen as the meeting place from where transportation will be provided out to the country where hay-filled wagons will be waiting.

Music in the form of an accordion, lunch, recreation and folk games in a "little one room school-house" in the country will finish the evenings program.

LOST

Letter to the Editor . . .

In comment on a recent Spectrum in regard to High School emblems and sweaters we would like to say this:

We wonder if it ever occurred to you that some of us came to this college to receive an education. Many athletes who would undoubtedly improve the athletic teams of this school are spending their spare time engaged in part-time jobs.

Furthermore it has been noticed in previous years that members of athletic teams are almost exclusively composed of fraternity members. And in order to be a member of a fraternity a person needs financial resources.

In conclusion we would like to say that there are probably better athletes and gentlemen behind the high school letters and awards than behind the Green and Yellow. We hold absolutely nothing against our alma-mater in fact we like our school and we are not ashamed of the high school we attended either.

Editorial

A current battle that we would do well to keep in view is one being waged on the eastern seaboard in regard to a freedom that we take pretty much for granted.

Commuters in Washington, D.C., are now protesting the installation of radio speakers in inter-city buses. The speakers pour the concerted slush and drivel of contemporary radio into the helpless ears of the passengers who cannot turn them off.

And, in New York the New Yorker Magazine has taken up cudgels against a local railway station which has performed the same feat with the depot, passengers, workers, transients et al being bombarded by broadcast programs.

The conflict seems to be clear cut: either the air is free or it is not.

The New Yorker magazine points out a significant difference between visual and auditory reception: you do not have to look at things that you wish not to; but the ear, indiscriminate organ that it is, hearkens to whatever initial signal is sent its way. You give the same amount of initial attention to the boob yelling "Rinso White" as you do to the first few words of Deems Taylor announcing the afternoon concert.

Since we are unable to segregate the sounds that are cast about us, it seems highly logical that we should take a concerted stand over the comparative freedom that goes with it. If this last rampart is given up we may find ourselves suddenly brought up short without a shred of personal liberty remaining.—W.R.A.

The Score

By PAT O'LEARY

Some of the Sigs' dates really thought that Sigma Chi had a live wire-party two weeks ago. And that's strictly off the record.

By the way, Joyce and Eunice are both getting honorary commissions from Guidon. I can hear Bill now: Yes Sir! No Sir! Yes Sir!

Why not glass in the top floor of the new library, ala Fredrick Martin, and make a big dance floor? It's not conducive to school work, but neither is the MGR—and it's so far!

That picture in Sunday's Fargo Forum, showing the leaders of the Military Ball was a little confusing, to say the least. The question is: will Joyce McCall escort Eunice Toussaint, or will Mrs. Toussaint escort Miss McCall? And where is Bill Toussaint?

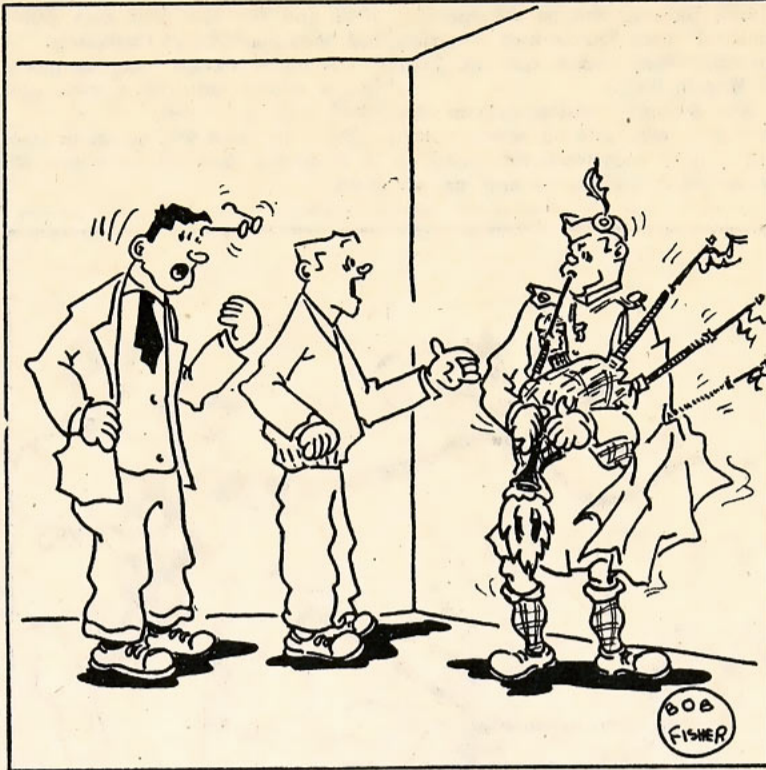

It wasn't published in the police bulletin, but some dirty desperados (rumored to be a horde of hungry amazons from Dakota hall) absconded with all the coffee and cupcakes that the Civil Engineers had scrimped and saved for their big bi-monthly pow-wow.

There they were, all set to compute the snow load of the frosting upon the cupcakes and the amount of reinforcing needed in the coffee; but they ended up computing the reactions due to the tension caused by the stress and strain of hunger pangs.

The next day, some people didn't think that the Oldest Engineering building would be able to take the increased wind load.

EDUCATION?

Sully Sez

The revival of stadium boots to slush through the newly fallen snow, the sparkling Xmas tree at the end of Broadway, and the posting of the final exam schedule are just a few of the many reminders that vacation time is not very far away.

However the real proof of our glorious exam season's approach is the gala military ball which will be held tonight in the field house at NDAC. Promising to be the biggest hit in the history of Scabard and Blade, these boys have worked hard and long to make tonight an evening long to remember.

The ball tonight seems to put the lid on one of the busiest weeks of social visiting, according to the report of entertainment handed in to the Spec office. The Thetas and the Phi Mus started the week off by having an exchange pot-luck. You know that's when so many Thetas go to the Phi Mu house and so many Phi Mus go to the Theta house and . . . oh well, you must get the drift by now.

Getting off the subject of drifting people, the Theta Chis and the Sigma Chis followed suit by entertaining the Alpha Gams and the Thetas respectively. The Alpha Gams had such a good time at their first entertainment that they decided to do a turn-about and had the A.G.R.'s over for an afternoon of fun.

Hobo parties had their hey-day this week too with both the Kappas and the Gamma Phis donning their best looking jeans and entertaining the S.A.E.'s at the Kappa house and the Sigma Phi Deltas at the G. Phi abode. To put the frosting on the cake, meaning the pledges that is, the Sig pledges entertained at the Sig house for the new gals of Gamma Phi. Holding their own at the Kappa Delta house, the pledges of that sorority entertained both the S.A.E. and Sigma Phi Delt pledges.

The Kappa Psi's drifted over to the Phi Mu house and since I am just drifting along trying to end a paragraph, with no further adieu, we will leave the entertainment field.

Sunday will be a big day on the calender for the Kappas when they entertain at their annual orphans party. Complete with a visit from Santa Claus, the little ones should have a bang-up good time. Kappa Jean Hoverson is now wearing a lovely engagement ring as of Thanksgiving week complements of Doug Schnell, Sigma Chi. Also acquiring a diamond is another Kappa, Annette Martin who received her ring from A.T.O. Ellsworth Hendrickson. Marlys McGauvran and Faye Reed are the new owners of those classy fraternity pins seen frequently on campus. Marlys is wearing Bob Strandemo's Theta Chi pin and Pete Olson's white cross is Faye's added bit of jewelry.

Alph Gams are boasting a new pledge this week and have added the name of Margaret Beaver to their roll call. Carol Busch and Janice Bohn are taking their turns at washing dishes in the Theta kitchen with multi help from their sister pledges.

The A.T.O.'s came through beautifully this week by not just entertaining one sorority, but combined all of them by inviting two girls from each organization over to dinner Monday evening. The Sigs likewise invited several of their favorite damsels over for a bite to eat, and from the comments received our loss is going to be their gain.

That's about all this week fellow students. The A.T.O.'s and the Phi Mus are going to put candles on the frosting and have their term parties on Saturday. The Newman club is even starting next week off by having a sleigh ride party on Sunday and so if I were you, I would spend the time it takes to read this column to nap a bit and rest up for a really tremendous weekend.

Before signing off, I would like to sincerely thank Morgen Henry for taking over for me several weeks ago. If at any time Morgen, you are not able to get your scintillating column written, I shall be glad to incorporate your news with the social angle. Perhaps we could call the column "Henry Sez" Seriously, it is the sort of attitude that Morgen Henry took when his fellow columnist was loafing on the job which makes one think that the fellow who said, "the age of chivalry is dead" was a little off the beaten path.

Henry's Here

By MORGEN HENRY

That big old buffoon Santa Claus will be wheezing down our chimneys pretty soon and I think it is high time to get the business of the Santa Claus myth ironed out for once and for all.

With this goal in mind we sent out form letters to an average, disinterested, unlettered, and somewhat preoccupied group of people to determine what the general opinion is of the question: "IS THERE OR IS THERE NOT A SANTA CLAUS?"

The letters that follow have been unedited, cleaned up and chosen at random:

Dear M. H.

I am seven years old and I don't believe in Santa Claus because last year I peeked and saw Daddy putting on a beard and a red suit with white trimming.

Mary Jane

A: How can you be sure that Daddy isn't Santa Claus?

Dear Mr. Henry,

I don't believe in Santa Claus at all as I asked for a Gilbert "Super-Engineer" set last year and he brought a bicycle, $4,000 in cash and a Hispano-Suiza which uses oil.

Philbert Van Fuff

A: Buck up Philbert, maybe he'll do better this year.

Dear Mister Morgen,

I believe in Santa Claus because I am 11 years old and last year Santa got stuck half way down the chimney and I got a long stick and poked him and poured water on him. He got mad. I think he is still in there.

Joey

A: The old man been around lately?

Dear Mr. H.

I'm eighty-five years old this year and I've always believed in Santa Claus because every year, right smack on Christmas morning I hear harness jingling, the sound of hooves and a jolly old man in white leaves something on the porch.

Helmer Perkins

A: That's the milk man.

Dear Mister Henry:

I hope you will excuse the writin as I don't write so well. I had a hard time with your letter as I don't read so well either. But if it's about the election I voted for Dewey.

Clem

A: It's quite obvious that you believe in Santa Claus.

Dear Mr. Henry,

I am afraid I shall have to regard your letter as being beside the point inasmuch as I AM Santa Claus and I've got Nina, Pinta and Santa Maria here to prove it.

Santa Claus

A: It's Blitzen, Spitzen, Donder, etc., and watch out for the boys in the white jackets.

Well, all in all, we do seem to have proven that Santa Claus does exist (heh, heh). Little Morgen Henry has been a good boy all year, hasn't cursed in print more than once or twice and is looking for a new convertible with white side-wall tires and a beige steering wheel. Now old Santa isn't going to be a slob and forget to bring it, is he? 'Cause if Santa does he's going to get his jolly old foot in Morgen's bear trap—ho, ho. ho. ho. . .

(Morgen Henry's nomination for the big event of next week is the Christmas convo Tuesday morning which he (M.H. that is) personally guarantees to be an extremely satisfying experience for all who attend.)

"The Egyptian," Mika Waltari
An era which historical novelists have heretofore overlooked is colorfully depicted in Mika Waltari's novel of Egypt 1400 years before Christ. The setting is fresh and alive, but the European touch adds little more than this to the familiar pattern of the racy historical novel.

"The Egyptian" is the self-told tale of Sinuhe, a legendary Egyptian hero placed in the declining years of the Eighteenth Dynasty. Of a mysterious origin, Sinuhe grows up in a doctor's family in Thebes, and follows his step-father's profession to become skull surgeon to the royal house of Egypt. His education under the priests of Ammon—the most powerful of Egyptian deities—is completed by travel about the whole of the then civilized world. Sinuhe travels to the child-ruled kingdom of Babylon; to corrupt and teeming Syria; to the land of the Hittites, forgers of the new metal—iron; to Crete, the care-free land of seamen where youth is sacrificed to the sacred bulls.

On his return to Egypt Sinuhe finds the country on the verge of a civil war. The Pharaoh Akhnaton has dethroned Ammon and established Aton—a monotheistic deity much like the Hebrew Jehovah and close to a Christian god. Akhnaton dreams of a world of peace and justice ruled by his god of love while his colonies revolt and his generals clamor for war. Torn between his belief that Egypt is not ready for this change and his faith in the new deity, Sinuhe becomes involved in the political intrigue, wars, and assassinations which eventually lead to Ammon's restoration and his own exile.

Written by the best known of Finnish authors, "The Egyptian," as a history for the masses is authentic, detailed, interesting. As a serious novel it falls far short of the possibilities present in the main theme—man's rejection of a true saint. Mr. Waltari's vast descriptive power is wasted on too many incidents and intrigues which gain no credibility in the transposition from use in modern times to the ancient Egyptian setting.

U.N.D. troubles — Upstate fraternities seem to be having troubles these days. First, the UND fraternities are having a scholastic average which is not high—and second, the little U fraternity boys don't seem to know how to act when they're out with a lady. In fact the Dean of women upstate has been heard to pound her fist and tell the little fraternity boys 'to leave her girls alone.'

A suggestion — Send down a couple U fraternity boys and we'll show them how AC men are gentlemen.

The 1948 "College Eye," Iowa State Teacher's College paper, won an All-American rating for the 12th consecutive year. The award was made by the Associated Collegiate Press of the University of Minnesota.

The "College Eye" rated excellent in three departments, news values and sources, news writing, editing and headlines, typography and makeup.

Improvements on the campus of the South Dakota State College at Brookings, South Dakota were approved by the last session of the state legislature and are now well under way. Plans include steam tunnel repairs, Ag Hall, the new $800,000 home of the agricultural department, and a $250,000 Printing and Rural Journalism building.

The 80 piece Moorhead State Teacher's College choir, under the direction of Dr. H. Duane Harmon, has begun work on the oratorio "Elijah." The oratorio will be presented sometime before the Christmas holidays.

Tests taken last spring in the library at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota, showed that illumination on the tables was insufficient for concentrated study. New lamps have been installed recently which are located down the center of each table, arc of an incandescent variety and come in a design especially prepared for the St. Olaf library.

Prizes ranging from pen and pencil set to $150 are being offered in the annual English composition contests to be held in the spring at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. The contests are open to all undergraduates without regard to curriculum.

A success was scored by a street dance and block party held by several fraternities at Miami University. An unpaid attendance of over 1500 people was recorded. The street was decorated with balloons and colored lights. The fraternity houses along the street were illuminated with giant replicas of their respective pins and set off in the glare of spotlights.

1949 Bison Grid Squad

Herd Meets Dragons In Local Opener

By JOHN HESSE

The local college basketball season will open this weekend when the Bison meet MSTC on the Moorhead school's home court tomorrow night. The game is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. with a preliminary game between the freshman teams of the two schools slated to begin at 7.

The Dragons are always a tough opponent for the Herd, especially in the first game of the season. The Dragons won the first game last year, and went on to top the Bison most of the time the rest of the year.

The most potent scoring threat for the Dragons is big Curt McCamy, six foot seven inch center. McCamy was an all-stater from West Fargo in his high school days, and played his freshman ball at the University of Minnesota. In 1947 he transferred to NDAC where he understudied Red Brostrom in the Bison pivot spot. However, it wasn't until McCamy transferred to MSTC that he found himself and began to use his height to a greater advantage. The last two years he has been leading the Dragon scorers and has become one of the top players in the Minnesota Teachers College conference.

On the other side of the ledger, the top hand in the Bison aggregation is one of the smallest men on the floor. Dave Torson stands barely six feet tall, but his one handed set shots from out in the court have established him as one of the most dangerous men in the North Central conference. Last season Dave was placed on the all-conference quintet, but not on his scoring ability alone. Although he is usually the smallest man in the ball game, he can rebound with the best of them, and his defensive work is some of the finest. Torson also is an expert passer and dribbler.

Other Bison who should see plenty of action in the Dragon contest are Bob Geston, a flashy guard, centers Clayton (Sonny) Sondag and Dick Hansen, and forwards, Marv Evans, Art Bredahl, Marv (Packy) Schafer, and Dave (Whitie) Turner.

Jim Gotta, who beat the Bison with his one handed push shots on one occasion last year will probably be set to go for the Dragons on Saturday. Forwards Keith Woods and Jim Bagne are also expected to be in the game for the Dragons.

Yearlings To Play Opener Saturday

By JOHN MASHEK

Coach Norm Evans of the baby Bison is rapidly whipping his freshman squad in shape for the first freshman game, December 3. The game will be a preliminary affair with the MSTC B squad at 7 o'clock. More games are being scheduled for the team to act as curtain raisers for the North Central Conference games of the varsity.

A working squad of 15 men is practicing daily to prepare for the coming hardwood season. The frosh have been scrimmaging with Coach Bentson's cagers using various offensive and defensive patterns under game conditions.

Those surviving Evan's cuts are Jim O'Connor, Jerry Geisler, Art Bunker, Dale Peppel, Duane Anderson, Rodney Fercho, Roger Fercho, Tommy Hool, Dick Welk, Roger Huizenga, and Ozzie Twedt. The starting line-up is still wide open and competition for the five berths is keen.

Paulsen's Pencil - -

By JOHN PAULSEN

The Home Folks,

or leastwise those who want to shell out for the privilege, get their first opportunity tomorrow night to look at Charley Bentson's first offering as head cage coach at NDAC.

One promising development, on the basis of limited observation at pre-season practice sessions, seems to be that Bentson's men—the same performers who though rarely far out of any ball game last winter seemed to repeatedly fall just short—are showing increased aptitude. Bentson himself has said he felt his men were discovering talents they didn't even know they possessed. One would be immediately inclined to opine that this increased effectiveness plus some expected help from a few transferees and some former Bison who weren't on last year's squad should boost the Herd well above last year's status.

There are, however, equalizing factors. Bentson was certainly correct when he said his squad would suffer a distinct height advantage against a really big club. Bob Grant and Clayton Sondag, both reserve centers in past years, will be NDAC's chief height contributors until after the Christmas holidays when Jack Garrett's return to eligibility will help out.

Bentson's acid test is yet to come, but in his pre-season methods, the new Herd tutor has earned wide commendation. Bentson seems to proceed in orderly fashion, knows where he wants to go and how he expects to get there. As far as I know his charges are well pleased with their treatment at his hands. Says one: "Tough but fair." His greatest attribute, in my opinion, is his confidence in his men. From the first, the new tutor boosted his men and acclaimed his belief in their ability. He seems to have laid a pretty solid foundation upon which to proceed.

What happens from now on is likely to depend upon several factors. Among them are how well his men adapt to a new system, how much help is forthcoming from men like Sondag, Dick Hilden, and Dave Turner, all of whom have been away from competition for a year or so, how well Bentson and his men adapt to actual game conditions, how well the Herd can offset rather decided height disadvantages, how lucky NDAC is in avoiding injuries to key men like Dave Torson, and how lucky they are, period. The Bison are as far or further after Tuesday's success along now as could reasonably be expected. Where they will go from here is pure, but hopefully pleasant, speculation.

Several Bison

footballers got consideration for the Fargo Forum's all-North Dakota and all-NCC conference teams. The two squads, largely selections of sports editor Eugene Fitzgerald, gave consideration to end Dom Gentile, guard LaVerne Freeh, and back Dick Keeley in picking both squads, while center Clink Mc-

Geary captured a first-team center spot on the paper's all-loop aggregation. McGeary also got heavy consideration for the all-state team center berth which went to Art Lee of Minot.

The same quartet—Freeh, Gentile, McGeary, and Keeley — got consideration for the Forum's all-city team. This time it was Freeh who nailed down a first team guard spot.

Congratulations are in order.

Expected Back

this week with a first hand report on Arnold Galiffa, great Army quarterback, who, after the Navy game was called the top football player of his generation by one midwestern sports writer, is athletic director C. C. Finnegan. Mr. and Mrs. Finnegan were in Philadelphia for the Army-Navy game and visited in Georgia. Both Finnegan and football coach Howard Bliss, who has also been out of town are expected in Minneapolis on Monday for the annual North Central conference meetings.

Tickets

E. E. Kaiser, Director of Physical Education, announced that student admission tickets to Saturday's MSTC-NDAC game may be purchased in the NDAC athletic department ticket office or the bookstore today.

Kaiser said these tickets may be purchased for fifty cents, plus an NDAC activity ticket.

Sport Spotlight

By JOHN HESSE

FOOTBALL STILL REIGNS

Although it's basketball season at NDAC, across the nation football is still the top game right now. A couple of really fine games are still slated for this weekend and then there are always the bowl games for New Years Day.

What might have been the game of the year will more than likely follow the same pattern that most Notre Dame tussles have when the Irish take the long haul down the Dallas, Texas to meet the Mustangs of SMU. Somehow or other, the Mustangs have failed to live up to the predictions of the sport scribes who had them touted as one of the top teams in the nation. Indeed, they have their great All-American, Doak Walker and Kyle Rote, another stellar back, but the line hasn't been able to hold the other teams with any great success. The Mustangs have lost to Rice and Baylor to mention two, but they can boast wins over Texas and powerful Kentucky.

The Irish should make this quite a walk-away. They have their two great backs, All-American Red Sitko, and potential All-American Bob Williams. But in addition they have one of the strongest lines in the country. If the Mustangs can snap the long Irish winning streak with Walker on the injured list, they will have to pull a miracle out of coach Matty Bell's hat. But they did it against Kentucky with Walker in the hospital, and maybe they can repeat it "for Doak," but it is really doubtful if any team on the college gridiron today can stop the mighty onslaught of the Fighting Irish.

BOWL FEVER

Come New Years there will be quite an epidemic of Bowl Fever all around the country. Ohio State, Big Ten Champs will be out in Pasadena to try and stop Lynn Waldorf's Golden Bears of Berkeley. California is undefeated this year, and Ohio State lost to Minnesota and tied mighty Michigan. But the Big Ten representatives have yet to get a taste of defeat in the New Year classic. Perhaps after this five year contract is over, the Pacific Coast conference will be loath to renew the contract with the Western conference. They hate to see their teams go down to defeat in the Rose Bowl year after year, but if they are looking for, as they say they are, the best team in the nation, they won't be disappointed when the Big Ten champions comes over to pay them their yearly visit on January 1 or 2, as it is this year.

Down in Dallas it will be a little strange for the Texas fans when SMU won't be there to put on the show. But in their place will be the Owls from Rice Institute. It was announced last week that the North Carolina Tarheels will furnish the competition. Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice will make his last collegiate appearance at that time.

How about the Sugar Bowl? That will probably feature Oklahoma against either Kentucky or Tulane. The Sooners are plenty strong this year and should be able to make it tough for either the Wildcats or the Green Wave. Tulane was knocked off for the second time last Saturday by Louisiana State. Watch that team. The Bayou Bengals are a sophomore team who beat such southeastern powers as North Carolina, Vanderbilt, and Tulane, dropping contests to Kentucky and Georgia. In the Vanderbilt game, the Commodores gained four yards from scrimmage in the first half. These lads should be in a major bowl, if not next year, the year after.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

But in North Dakota and the surrounding territory, the cage sport is the big thing. Last year around this time, the sport writers were predicting dire things for the Bison. Well, for the most part, those stories were the truth, but there was one bright spot in the Bison cage darkness. More typewriter ribbon was worn out in the Spectrum sport department yelling about a small fellow from Moorhead by the name of Dave Torson. Well, if you have something to yell about you might just as well do it. Dave is good, and the only guy in the world who doesn't know it is Dave himself. Well you'll pardon us, please if we repeat our raptures about the Moorhead Mite again this year, but we still believe that you should give credit where credit is due, and credit is certainly due to Dave.

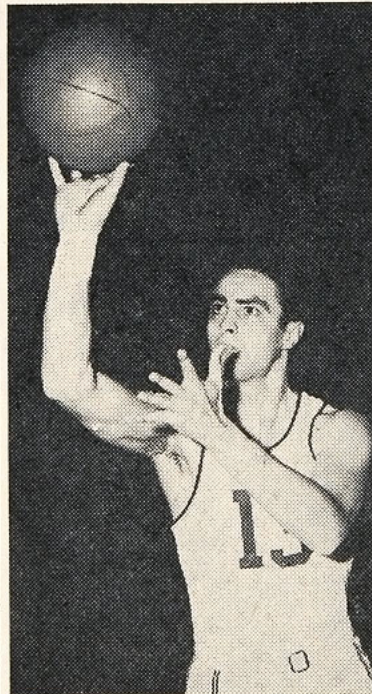

Just from watching the team practice, it looks as though Chuck Bentson is determined not to let the Bison continue their losing ways again this year. But things that work in practice, might never work out under actual game conditions. But this may be the end of the long win famine here at NDAC. But let's not make any rash predictions. We'll just sit back and give the boys a chance to really show their stuff.

Montevideo, Minn., — NDAC jumped off to an early lead and was headed only once in registering a decisive opening-game victory over Gustavus Adolphus at Montevideo on Tuesday. The score of the tilt, season opener for both teams, was 56-42. The game was a charity affair.

The game inaugurated new coaching careers for Bison mentor Chuck Bentson and Gusty coach Gus Young, both of whom were in their first contests.

A pair of Bison guards, Dave Torson and Bob Geston, led scorers on both teams and the two Herd veterans displayed outstanding floor performances. Torson had 20 points while Geston tallied 12.

However, Bentson got effective jobs from a host of Bison. Dave Turner, out of action last winter, had eight points, and Marv Shafer, who joined Geston, Torson, and Bob Grant in capable rebound work for NDAC, had nine.

Veteran Andy Papke led Gusty floor performers while guard Rod Rehwalt paced Gustavus scorers with eight points.

NDAC yielded a height advantage to the losers, but the Bison offset their disadvantage with mid-season rebounding ability.

The victors displayed a smooth-functioning offense that performed at sometimes mid-season efficiency.

NDAC led at the half, 25-24.

Women's Sports Underway

Badminton tournaments are the highlights of the Women's Athletic association at present. Joy Aaser and Ruby Anderson won the first game in doubles in the tournament while Elaine Lichtsinn won the first game in singles.

The tournament is played in a round robin which means that each team in doubles and each individual in singles will play everyone entered in the contest.

Bowling teams are still hard at work over at Kossick's in Moorhead. At the last meeting Shirley Arneson had a high score of 157, Betty Talmo score of 145, and Elinor Carlson a score of 139 for the three lines bowled. Betty Talmo leads in NDAC women's bowling with an average score of 131. Doris Tallackson is second with an average score of 120 and Lois Johnson is third with an average of 113.

Intramural Board Announces Rule, Schedule Revisions

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN

Rule changes were the main topic of discussion at the Intramural business meeting Monday. A new rule pertaining to the last two minutes of the game was made. Hereafter the team attempting a free throw in the final two minutes will keep possession of the ball after the try, regardless of the accuracy of the toss. The timing method was also changed. The game time will consist of two halves with each team allowed one time out a half. The clock will be stopped for free throws and time outs only.

A change has been made in next week's basketball schedule. Tuesday's games will go off as scheduled but all Wednesday games will be held on Monday, December 5. Then on Wednesday the three 8:00 games previously scheduled for Thursday will be played with the first one starting at 7:00, the next at 8:00 and the last at 9:00. Then on Thursday the three regularly scheduled 9:00 games will be held, starting at 7, 8 and 9:00 respectively. On Monday the 12th the three 7:00 games scheduled for Thursday will be held starting at 7, 8 and 9:00.
