To Present Ten Awards

Ten awards will be made this year during Homecoming festivities, according to the Student commission.

A loving cup will be awarded the Homecoming Queen, a cup will be presented to the organization winning the ticket sales contest for the Big Dance, and first and second place trophies will be given to the winning float and house decoration entries.

This year women's organizations will not compete against men's organizations in either the float contest or the house decoration contest. A separate first and second place trophy will go to each group.

The commission wishes to remind all organizations that there is a $40 limit on float expenses, and that all floats are to be registered with Bob Tenneson, parade marshal, by 9 o'clock Saturday, October 29. At that time the order of line of march in the parade will be announced.

House decorations must be completed by 6 p.m. on Friday October 28 to be eligible for the contest. At that time the judges will make their inspection.

The four winning floats and four representatives from the winning house decorations entries should be at the NW gate of the stadium at game half-time to receive their prizes.

All-College "Sweater" Dance Slated Tonite

An all-college sweater dance will be held in Festival hall tonite following the game with SDU.

Ralph Mutchler's Combo will provide music for the event which is sponsored by the college YMCA.

Admission will be fifty cents per person, said Russ Iverson, chairman.

Queen Selection By All-College Vote October 19

The following girls have met the qualifications for Homecoming Queen candidates as set up by the Board of Campus Affairs:

- Kathryn Skerik—Alpha Gamma Delta
- Eunice Toussaint—Gamma Phi Beta
- Gail Nelson—Kappa Alpha Theta
- Rosemary Sullivan—Kappa Kappa Gamma
- Doris Holzman—Phi Mu
- Inez Enander—Ceres Hall Dormitory

The reason for the abrupt reverse in the method of selecting a queen is that the method used recently did little to create student interest in the selection. The applicants, when their pictures were sent to John Robert Powers, could only be judged on photogenic potentialities.

The system on trial this year will leave the selection to the student body in an all college election to be held on October 19, from 9-4.

Majority Observing New Campus Traffic Rules

The NDAC Campus Traffic committee, announced this week that the majority of students have complied with regulations set up governing campus traffic, but that a few have taken uncooperative attitudes.

Committee members emphasized the fact that complete uniformity of observance of the regulations would be sought after since it is so incidental to the success of the plan.

The parking ordinances and regulations were established this year to cope with an increasingly difficult traffic problem. Members of the NDAC Campus Traffic committee have pointed out that the following advantages have been gained in whole or in part from the new regulations:

- ★ Better Fire Prevention—fire trucks would have been unable to get through clogged traffic roads last year.
- ★ Safety for Pedestrians—re-routing of traffic has made it easier and safer for pedestrians.
- ★ Less Dents in Fenders—parking restrictions have made it safer for motorist's fenders and nerves.

These and other reasons are why the traffic regulations have been set up and why they shall be enforced, say Traffic officials.

In line with traffic control, Erling Thorson, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, announced that graveling of the parking lot had started this week. Thorson said that every effort would be made this winter to insure the lot being kept free of snow and passable.

Rise Stevens To Appear At Festival Hall Tuesday Night Set Ticket Contest For Homecoming

Rise Stevens, star of the Metropolitan Opera, will appear in concert on the stage of Festival hall Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m.

This is an adult lyceum number and is not included in the student lyceum series. Tickets may be secured at the Little Country Theater.

Miss Stevens made her operatic debut in 1937 at the Prague Opera House in the title role of "Mignon." Following this she sang opera in Vienna, Egypt and at the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires.

Miss Stevens has also appeared in several motion pictures. She began her movie career in "The Chocolate Soldier." Subsequently she appeared opposite Bing Crosby in the Academy Award winning picture, "Going My Way." Her most recent film is "Carnegie Hall."

Numerous recordings, radio appearances and concert tours have made the name Rise Stevens a familiar one throughout the United States and Canada.

Miss Stevens was born in New York City of Norwegian and American parents, educated at Newtown High in Long Island and she has been singing ever since she appeared as a ten year old prima donna on a local radio program.

At seventeen she was the leading lady with the Opera Comique at Heckscher Theater in New York where she was heard by the famous Mme. Anna Schoen-Rene. She began private study with Mme. Schoen-Rene and also studied at the Juilliard School of Music.

In 1936 she went abroad for further training and study. After her debut in Prague she sang leading roles at the Vienna State Opera House.

Her rise to the top has been continuous since her American debut in 1937 and for three consecutive years she was chosen America's No. 1 Female Vocalist.

When Miss Stevens appears here Tuesday evening she will be assisted by Brooks Smith at the piano.

Martin Hall To Speak At 9:40 Convo Thursday

A veteran of the anti-Hitler German underground will talk to AC students at convocation, next Thursday at 9:40 in Festival hall. He is Martin Hall, a speaker so good and so successful in this area in the spring of 1948 that the University of Minnesota has arranged this engagement for him.

Born in Germany, Mr. Hall has behind him 12 years of experience and travel all over Europe and the Soviet Union, besides education at the universities of Marburg, Munich, and Berlin. Before the war he covered the continent as foreign correspondent for the famous "Manchester Guardian" and other newspapers in England, France, and Germany.

He escaped from the Nazis in 1936 and came to the United States, where he became a naturalized citizen. In 1947 he returned to Europe, to bring back an eyewitness report of the effects on Europe of our current foreign policy.

Lecturing on "Democratic Goals for Europe," he should combine a forceful presentation with a thoughtful appraisal of the confusing trends apparent on that divided continent, according to F. G. Schoff, of the Convocation Committee.

Mr. Hall's current tour, covering Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, western Wisconsin, and northern Iowa, has been arranged by Minnesota's Concert & Lecture Service.

MARTIN HALL

Martin Hall, speaker at convocation next Thursday, is scheduled to appear also at the Agricultural Economics seminar at four that afternoon in Morrill hall, room 215 according to Rainer W. Schickele, head of the department.

There his topic is announced as "America's Responsibility for World Leadership." Interested students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Scott Of Denver Joins Staff Here To Teach Physics

Robert Eugene Scott of Denver, Colorado, has joined the college staff as a physics instructor to replace Howard E. Olson, now obtaining his doctorate degree in geography at the University of Chicago. Mr. Scott is assigned to instruct all of the 204 physics classes which deal with mechanics, and expects to be teaching the home economics household physics classes during the spring quarter.

After receiving his bachelor of science degree at the University of Colorado in 1944, he entered the navy for a period of 26 months. In 1948 he obtained his master of arts degree in physical science at the Colorado State College of Education in Greeley, Colorado.

As an electronics technician in the navy, he was stationed at Eniwetok Island in the Marshalls, which was an airbase for the first Bikini atom bomb test. Here, Mr. Scott helped install teletype machinery for inter-island communication in preparation for the atom bomb tests held shortly after he left.

I. W. Smith To Speak At Mathematics Meet

Miss West said she will welcome all newcomers who are willing to help with make-up, properties, costuming, or any other phase of play production. Those who are interested may see Miss West at the Little Country theater.

"House Of Magic" Feature At October 21st Show In Festival

The famed "House of Magic" will be presented October 21 at 8 o'clock in Festival hall. The show is being brought to our campus by the Red River Valley division of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the college.

Robert E. Humphreys, representing the General Electric company, will show a toy electric train which obeys voice commands, paper which will explode, how to light an electric light with a match and other striking scientific phenomena.

Mr. Humphreys will be able to shake hands with his own shadow, leave it behind or put it in a box or any of the other things you might often have wished you could do. A phosphorescent screen enables him to do these things with his shadow.

Admission is absolutely free. The public will be invited but students will be given first seats.

General Electric first presented these wonders of science in 1933 at the Chicago Worlds Fair. Since then it has been shown at every major world's fair. It is estimated that over 12 million people have seen it.

Floyd Gibbons, author, lecturer, and foreign correspondent, first gave the name "House of Magic" to the entire General Electric research laboratory. During a visit to their plant he was so amazed at what can be done with science he thought there must be something magical about it.

Robert E. Humphreys of General Electric's "House of Magic" demonstrating how a rapidly spinning "gear" under stroboscopic light appears to stand still, allowing engineers to study its action so they can design safer and better running machines.

Soph Women Meet Today

An organization meeting of the Ski club will be held on Nov. 3, in the college YMCA at 7:15 p.m. The meeting will include the election of new officers. All students interested in skiing are invited to attend.

A down hill race was the topic for discussion at the last meeting of the Ski club. The events of the previously season were discussed. Last year the club enjoyed trips to Detroit Lakes, Walker, Bemidji, and Dalton, Minn. The climax of the season was the full week trip to West Yellowstone, Montana. The club is planning another trip to West Yellowstone this year.

NDAC Receives Shell Chem Ten-Year $1200 Fellowship

NDAC has been presented the Shell Chemical corporation fellowship of $1200 per year, to be given for probably a ten year period.

Marian G. Folsum, manager of the corporation's Eastern Division at New York, and Dr. D. S. Herr, in charge of their Technical Service laboratory, Union, N. Y., presented the fellowship to the college upon their trip to Fargo September 30.

At the NDAC Paint Chemist's meeting at Chicago, Ill., November, 1948, Dr. Wouter Bosch, chairman of the paint and varnish department, gave a pep talk stressing the necessity for fellowships. Mr. Folsum, NDAC Class of '31, promised to discuss the matter with his company. Folsum has proved that NDAC alumni stay loyal to their Alma Mater and keep their promises.

While in Fargo, Folsum visited many of his old friends, including William Euren.

$3,000 Given To Research Here In Chem Technology

An additional grant of $3,000 for chemical research has been made to the school of chemical technology by the Research Corporation of New York. The announcement was made following a visit to the campus last week by the regional director of the research corporation, Walter Thwaite.

The funds have been allotted to the school of chemistry under the joint direction of Dr. Ray Wendland, professor of chemistry, and Dr. R. E. Dunbar, dean of the school of chemistry. These funds will be used to further investigations on the purification of amino acids derived from proteins. This grant is a continuation of one for the same amount which was made in October, 1948.

Since that time Charles H. Smith of Page, Robert H. Peterson, Trailer City, and Miss Yun San Ko of Shanghai, China, have worked actively on the problem as part of their program for master of science degrees.

Pins seem to claim the spotlight this week and with no more adieu congratulations are hereby extended to the following fellows and gals. Doug Payne and Marve Dagget who lead the list by pinning "Dreamline Girl" Jackie Slough and Arlene Gruel are followed by Chuck Johnson and All Driesner who bestowed their pins upon June Ford and Jeanine Bell. Glen Moen and Dick Pushor are responsible for the passing of sweets to the gals who live on the corner of 13th and 11th with Joan Ross and Pat Sitteaur doing the honors.

Three new actives are proudly sitting in on those important Monday evening sessions at the same address and answering roll call to the names of Jeanine Bell, Marion Paris and Carol Sether. Not to be outdone the S. A. E.'s pledged three new men recently. They are Herman Brunsmann, Don Nudel and Dick Tryhus.

New officers for the coming year of Dakota hall were elected at a recent business meeting. The officers are; President, Annabelle Schmidt; Vice president, Margie Egerstrom; Secretary, JoAnne Eyclfson; and treasurer, Cloteal Kling. Each class is represented by one cofifer. Mrs. Manning, the social director, released the new rules and regulations regarding the dormitory and it's occupants.

Leading the list of entertainments the past week was the Independent Student Association who had a bangup meeting and social hour Monday evening in the fire-side room of the "Y". The Theta entertained the Sigma Chi's at a typical K.A.T. good-time picnic during the past week and special mention goes to the A.T.O. pledges who went over in a big way by entertaining the various pledge classes at a combination party and dance recently.

October 11th is the date of the Theta entertainment for the Kappa Sigma Chi fraternity and the Gamma Phi's will be the guests of honor at a Theata Chi party this coming week. With all this entertainment going on it's beyond me how any one is ahead on studies.

Record partys seem to be quite the vogue this weekend. Theta Chi and Gamma Phi will entertain their guests right after the game Saturday so get set for the latest Billy Eckstein recording's.

In the ring department this week we find Joan Nydahl and Kay Heribison each with added trinkets, courtesy of Jim Naves and Roel Grignon. Vernon Skogen did things up right by placing a diamond on the third finger, left hand of Dorothy Jane Ludwig this past weekend and placing cigars in the hands of about sixty Theta Chis.

If record partys are in vogue this weekend, slumber partys certainly had their heyday recently when both the Theta and Kappa Deltas got together with their pledges and showed them how to stay awake all night long in one easy lesson. Speaking of pledges, the Kappa Kappa Gamma gals entertained their actives and alumnae at a Founders day banquet last night at the Powers hotel.

The big scoop of the week is the forthcoming game of softball between the powerful Kappa Alpha Theta's and those fast rolling Alpha Gamma Rhos. Anything could happen and it is rumored that the A.G.R.'s are carrying mighty heavy accident insurance.

"Hair Styling and Skin Care" will be the main topic of the beauty specialist who will speak to YWCA members October 19th. The charm school will be in the Fireside room in the Y at 7:30 and all YWCA members who are interested in learning about good grooming for a better personal appearance are welcome. Lois Cunningham is the advisor. Why not show the results at the Theta coffee hour on Wednesday from four to five thirty.

Don't forget to start working on those homecoming floats early.

Henry's Here

BY MORGEN HENRY

Now that the national scene has cleared itself of baseball paraphernalia, the last umpire has been sufficiently cursed, and the final peanut sack has been exploded in the gallery it is perhaps time to turn our attentions to that grand old sport of sports — football.

Henry
 However, our focus of attention this week is not so much

The Score

BY PAT O'LEARY

The ducks aren't all that're moving lately—there's been a definite migration to the West of a more domestic species which can be found concealed in the marshes of the parking lot from Tuesday to Thursday this time of the year: the hunter. This bird doesn't have to worry about an occasional cut, however, because of a technicality in classification. It seems that in that case, he isn't cutting a class, he's ducking it.

Once again we come to homecoming and find that we have another "deathly" theme. Every year somebody is dying! Why can't the opposition merely be annihilated instead of decapitated one by one. It's getting so that all campus organizations are procuring their own coffins and holding them from year to year to have in their floats and house decorations.

Could it be that a local casket dealer has been bringing some high campus officials to help boost sales?

I can see it next year: "A Sioux Slaughter, Is What We Ought-ter" and the year after that: "An Augustana Strangle, We will Wangle."

One of the new students assigned to NDAC's own YWCA, Dakota hall, caused just a little confusion when school opened this fall. Willing as he might have been, Carol Drablos was given the tactful boot by Mrs. Manning before he even had time to get his baggage in the place. He was then transferred to the Field house which he found both less luxurious and less conspicuous.

Rumor has it that the Venice Gardens is enjoying a current college boom. One reason is the large capacity of both the joint itself and the parking lot in front. Another reason might be the current band at the Merry-Go-Round, which is loud enough to be picked up on the atom bomb detector, and vigorous enough to force these who chose to dance to reach that point where dancing ends and calisthenics begins.

Jean Moll has a very unusual talent, which would prove her invaluable to any automotive agency in Fargo. She claims that she can determine whether anything is wrong or not in a car by mere sense of smell. There's no telling what else this remarkable nasal ability will enable her to do.

Question of the week: "Will Miss Moll ever replace the geiger counter?"

with the game itself as it is with the many enjoyments of the sport per se that people keep missing.

A statistical inquiry instigated last year by Dr. Samuel D. Schmalhausen, D.D., revealed that 50% of the spectators at football games were getting only 1/2 as much fun as the upper percentile group obtained by 32% of the whole.

This, as you can see, is not good. So, we feel that it is our duty to outline some of the subsidiary sports and incidental games that may also be partaken of while the larger conflict rages.

KILL THE ROOTER

This is a cheerful little game that usually gets under way when a rooter for Phlegm Abnormal turns up smack in the ranks of fervid Rutebega Teachers college fans. The game starts when the Phlegm rooter inadvertently sticks his pennant in the eye of a Rutebega adherent who has leaned over to mix a drink. The rules of the game are:

- (1) No clipping in the stadium ramp
- (2) Knives under six (6) inches not permitted
- (3) Tar and Feathers can not be thrown from the end zone.

FLAP THE BLANKET

This is a sport that has come into real popularity. The players (about 10 or 15) all try to get under a blanket that is the size of your Aunt Tillie's snood. Then, at the cry of "snow" everybody grabs to see who ran corner the most of the covering. Rules are:

- (1) No meat hooks permitted
- (2) Sapping the other players is poor sportsmanship
- (3) Walking off and saying to heck with it illegal.

BURN THE SPECTATOR

This pastime has regained some of the popularity it lost when the five-gallon jug went out of usage. The participants line up with thermoses full of good, steamy hot coffee and, under the guise of pouring it into paper cups, slosh torrents down the necks of the people directly in front. A counter-game which sometimes gets started here called PUNCH THE NOSE should be forestalled since it generally only confuses the first game which is confusing enough as it is. Rules are:

- (1) Molten lead is all right.
- (2) Sugar and cream optional
- (3) Use Mountain Grown coffee (courtesy Finglebaum's grocery store)

DISTRACT THE OFFICIALS

This is a comparatively new game but one that shows promise. It may be played in several ways. Some of the players can dress up like officials and wander out on the field, dropping a flag from time to time and tooting horns as they like. The rest of the team sit in the stands and yell "so's your old man" at anyone and everyone. Rules are:

- (1) Nasty words not condoned
- (2) Tackling hot dog vendors null and void.
- (3) Tackling hot dogs even worse.

Well, we'll want to see everyone at all the games from now on and there should be lots of that "old get up and go" in force. Get in there, give it all you've got and we'll see you at Finglebaum's grocery store.

Book Review

BY MARVIN JONES

Opus 21, By Philip Wylie

In his twenty-first literary effort, Philip Wylie dispenses liberal amounts of his brand of psychology linked together with a barely adequate plot. The novel is written in the first person, and follows the author through one hectic week-end.

Ostensibly in New York to discover whether or not he is a dying man, the author finds time to straighten out his physicist-nephew's love life, persuade a young society wife to return to her husband, and rewrite his latest magazine serial. The serial remains unsold and the doctors return a favorable verdict.

Although this thin and sometimes melodramatic plot might qualify the book as a very bad novel, it serves the purpose of illustrating Mr. Wylie's eristic views. In a series of dialogs and dreams which paint a demoralizing picture of life today, Mr. Wylie attempts to shock the public into a realization that man is heading for oblivion. His denunciation of mankind is repeated from different angles, but is essentially complete in this form. "For psychology . . . has already put a period to orthodox religion. . . whether it takes the people a generation or a thousand years to find it out. . . a smug people cannot even find the motive for asking if a science of psychology exists, let alone what it has learned. And we Americans are probably the most self-satisfied people who ever appeared. It will take generations of disaster to crack the hull of such preposterous self-satisfaction. Only through despair and amidst ruin, in all likelihood, will we discover that humility which may lead to the honest assessment of man's vanities, his insane traditions, pompous faiths, patriotisms, and excesses."

Mr. Wylie bases such views on the premise that man is basically an animal with not only instincts, but with some degree of consciousness as well. And by using his consciousness to maintain and enhance the liason between his ego and the forces that drive him, Wylie points out the means man must use to avert destruction.

By using a more conventional form, Mr. Wylie could have convinced more people of the validity of his views, since jeremiad and "ribald contumely" have never swayed the multitudes. Nevertheless, he has produced a compelling book in his own unorthodox style.

The Dodo became extinct when two sailors, Ole Johnson and Selmar Bjornson, clubbed the last one with an oar off Newfoundland in 1924. The oar may be seen in the Trondheim museum.

Seven Scheduled Events, Diversified Program Featured In Convo Schedule

BY ARDYN THURN

What is a convo? Webster defines convocation as a Latin word meaning the act of calling together an assembly. No one seems to know exactly when convos began at NDAC. It is assumed that they originated with the college some forty years ago.

Just what is the theory behind convos? In reply to this question,

Prof. Schoff said "The purpose is to offer the student a chance to hear thoughtful appraisals of the problems of our time, and access to events in arts that are exciting in their own right. While at the same time they are planned to give him the broadest possible background for future reference."

Who sets up the convocation schedule? The convocation board does the selecting, and they are responsible to the president of the college. The present committee was set up after the war, it includes Prof. F. G. Schoff, Dean Pearl Dinan, Dean C. Sevrinson, and Dr. R. W. Schickele. They start their contact work early in January for the following year.

What events are in store for us this year? It is a diversified program with seven scheduled events. In an effort to introduce the students to the world affairs, speakers on the "race and democracy problem" have been selected. Musical events are varied with a concert violinist, a classic saxophonist, and a modern contemporary pianist.

Although the Bob-O-Link says "Bob-O-Link" and the Whip-poor-will calls "Whip-poor-will," the Ruffled Brash (Dooley's Runner) never says anything but *.@X.@ *@%* and seems to get along all right.

Coach Howard

Bliss' touchdown vulnerable NDAC football team is back home tonight still looking for a first victory that many people feel will never come.

Bliss' bombers came to life for more points in the final period of last weekend's contest with Morningside than they've scored in their first three games combined, and still they managed to lose the ball game by three touchdowns.

The Bison, who show tendencies to be most liberal with touchdowns are, statistically at least, terrible. In four tilts, the Herd has given up 173 points while countering 32 of it's own. Twenty-six of the Bison markers came in the fourth quarter of Saturday's contest—after NDAC had fallen behind 39-0.

Thanks, though, to that brief offensive flourish, the Bison have an eight point per game average. The opposition's per game record is a paltry 43.

Some football teams pass a great deal regardless of the circumstances and almost all losing football teams out of necessity have to throw. North Dakota State, which loses almost all the time, has had to throw a lot of passes.

Fortunately, the Bison can be thankful that their passing attack is probably the squad's strongest talking point. Dick Keeley is an effective tosser, and Eino Martino, who got his first real duty against Iowa State Teachers College, has shown surprising skill. Jack McLarnan and Ray Curtis give the Herd at least four capable throwers to go with Dick Sander, Bill Toussaint, and particularly Dom Gentile—a trio of efficient receivers.

To go with a defense that gives up around forty points a contest, a quarterback needs a pretty limber offense. Passes would seem to me to be quarterback Keeley's most effective weapon as he ponders the almost insurmountable problem of how to begin getting his ball club in football games.

If nothing else, it was nice to note that reports on last week's Morningside game indicated that McLarnan had found the range. Jack had run hard in both NDAC home games, but could never seem to get loose.

cue from the example of Eugene Fitzgerald that the way to be able to judge baseball (or football) is to watch the experts play it, I decided to try it. (at personal expense, unfortunately).

Fitzgerald seems to think that Northern leaguers would do better in the World Series than the New York Yankees. As for myself, I have some doubt that the North Central Conference has anything to match Bernie Bierman's bombing boys. It looked to me as if Minnesota really had 'em.

The Gophers didn't appear to have as much backfield stuff as the Michigan team I watech beat them a year ago, but Dick Gregory and George Hudak run well, Bill Bye looks tough if healthy, and the line, for all practical purposes, is impregnable. Minneapolis observers wonder if the team can handle Ohio State, and although they could easily be beaten by the Buckeyes, it looked to me like the Gophers were pretty solid.

Some People

complain that the few paltry jobs which some of the Bison have to pick up a few needed bucks are improper.

Well, one national magazine reports that Charley Justice, North Carolina's razz-a-mah-tazz half-back is picking up $15,000.00 a year in cash and honorariums from enthusiastic alumni.

Says Dr. William Carmicheal, President of North Carolina University: It ain't so. "I know for a fact that Choo-Choo isn't getting a dime over $13,500.00 a year."

I should live so long.

To Close With

a short and sweet moral about the college and it's poor football team, Merle Nott's letter to the editor concerning the situation, which appeared in last week's Spectrum, wasn't written just for the fun of it.

NDAC officials were pretty concerned about school spirit during the gloomy game with Concordia, and a lot of people went to work doing a lot of emergency things to bolster it up. Fortunately, the student body pitched in and things were a little better during the ISTC game.

Although I don't believe in the "do or die for dear old state" and the "rah-rah-rah" routines, and although it's hard to find excuses for the mediocre way things have been going this fall, it is true, as Nott points out, that in the interim (and it's been one heck of a long one) while things are being straightened out, the team could use all the support it can get.

Maroons Humble Herd 39-20 As NDAC Loses Fourth Straight Game

Sioux City—Scoring 39 points in the first three periods while holding NDAC scoreless, Morningside coasted to an easy 39-20 victory over the Bison at Sioux City, Saturday evening, October 8.

It was the third conference win for George Allen's Maroons. Morningside had beaten North Dakota University 12-0, and Augustana 26-7, while losing to South Dakota State 27-20.

For Howard Bliss' winless NDAC eleven, it was the second straight North Central Conference shellacking. Iowa State Teachers college had drubbed the Herd 27-6 earlier in a loop game played at Fargo.

Connie Callahan two-time Morningside all-conference halfback, sparked Maroon backfield men, while right guard Ken Bengford, who scored a Morningside touchdown after picking up a blocked Bison punt, was Allen's outstanding front wall performer.

End Dom Gentile who scored the third Bison touchdown with less than a minute of the game remaining, and Verna Freeh were outstanding in the NDAC line, while Jack McLarnan, Dick Keeley, and Eino Martino were Bliss' best backfield performers.

Late in the first period a short Bison punt went out of bounds, and Morningside moved to it's first touchdown. Two first downs, with Callahan and fullback Oscar Jones doing the brunt of the ball-carrying, carried to the NDAC 7 from where Al McDonough scored. Len Styczynski added the conversion for a 7-0 Morningside first quarter advantage.

BASKETBALL

Chuck Bentson, NDAC basketball coach, announced Thursday that a Freshman basketball organization meeting will be held Monday at 7 o'clock in Room 204 of the Fieldhouse.

Bentson emphasized that all Freshmen interested in participating should attend, and said the meeting would be for organization purposes only.

Intra-Mural Play Started This Week

BY JOHN SULLIVAN

One of the major matters which came up for discussion at the third weekly business meeting of the local Intra-Mural association was a slight revision of the touch football schedule. Three new games were posted, and as it now stands, each team will have played six games at the end of the season. This was made so that every team will have an equal chance, with no team playing more or less games than the other.

The new flag method of tagging, described in last week's Spectrum, was given a brief trial during last week's games. Although it did have its points, the new method proved to make a little rougher game, and therefore will not be used this season. However, the flag method will get a better trial next year and perhaps will prove more satisfactory.

Scores for last week's games are as follows: AGR's over SAE's, 13 to 12; Kappa Sigs over the Co-op's, 30 to 0; the Sig's over SPD's, 6 to 0; ATO's over the SAE's, 12 to 0; Theta Chi over the Dorm Midgets, 18 to 0; and the AGR's over the Co-op's, 36 to 0.

Games scheduled for next week include: ATO vs. Co-op, Sigs vs. SAE, both on Tuesday; on Wednesday it's Dorm vs. SPD and Kappa Sigs vs. Theat Chi; for Thursday it'll be AGR vs. ATO and the Sigs vs. Dorm. Also on tap for this week are the three new aforementioned games. These are: Monday the 17th, it'll be Theata Chi vs. SPD at 5:00; on Tuesday the 18th, the AGR's meet the Kappa Sigs at 5:00 and on Wednesday the 19th, the Co-op's vs. the SAE's also at 5:00.

Coyotes Favorites In NCC Game Tonight

Sport Spotlight

BY JOHN HESSE

Well, the nation's sports fans can sit back and relax for a few days now. The Worlds Series is over, and the Yankees are again the champions of the diamond. This is the twelfth time that the Bombers have come through to take the series. They took it in five games this time, which isn't bad for a ball club that was predicted to end up fourth in the American league.

Many on-lookers were expecting a much better showing from the Dodgers than they got. The first two games were little less than spectacular, with the Yanks almost as impotent at the bat as were the Bums, but the difference between the clubs was the relief pitching. Joe Page and Allie Reynolds did yeomanlike work on the mound in relief roles. The relieving of the Dodger's mound staff wasn't what it should have been for a team in the series. The Dodger bull-pen staff just couldn't seem to put out the fire as did Page and Reynolds.

In fact, the whole Dodger team was a disappointment. Their bigger bats were silent most of the way through, and when they did come through, it wasn't when a base hit was needed to bring around that all important winning or tying run. Jackie Robinson, National league batting champ wasn't hitting at his regular season clip. To tell the truth, the only Dodger who played and hit as he did on the season was Pee Wee Reese, the diminutive shortstop.

Duke Snider, a rookie center fielder for the Bums had had a big freshman year in the majors, but as he hit the series, he seemed to choke up. In the last game he finally hit his stride, but the first four were a big disappointment to all who had watched the big rookie go during the season. But the final game was enough to endear him to the hearts of all the Brooklyn fans, as he finally got two base knocks and played a stellar defensive game, robbing Joe DiMaggio of two hits. The general opinion around those who saw the lad play in the series is, that the Duke will become one of the greatest center fielders in the history of the National league. Already he has broken one record. That of the most strike outs for a five game series. He broke the record of eight set by none other than the great Babe Ruth.

The Coyotes from South Dakota university are coming over to call on the Bison at Dacotah field this evening. The Coyotes are still looking for their first win of the current season. That sounds rather bad for a team who were runner-up in the conference standings for last year, and slated to repeat near the top of the heap for this year. But look at the teams that they have been playing. They lost to Montana State for their opener, dropped the next contest to a big Nebraska eleven, dropped another to undefeated Drake and then fell to a bit of ignominy by tying with North Dakota university.

You can never tell about the Bison. Any week now they may explode and start playing the type of ball that they are capable of. But it doesn't look like this is the week that the Bison will come into their own and take their first win. The Coyotes have a potent pass offense, a department wherein the Bison haven't displayed too much ability at defense. The big Bison line may be able to stop big Howie Blumhardt. Jack VanArsdale may not make too much yardage either, but when Van Arsdale begins to pass, the Bison may not be able to cope with the situation.

But they say the best defense is a good offense, and if the Bliss men play the type of offensive ball that they displayed in the last period of the Morningside game, they needn't worry. Perhaps the Bison have at last found themselves. They may start to show the type of play which makes a winning ball team.

If the Bison don't explode this weekend they just may do it in two weeks against South Dakota State. But the Jackrabbits have taken on the role of the giant-killers of the conference. So far they've knocked off Morningside and Iowa State Teachers college. They are really doing all right for a team that were cellar dwellers last year. But the Bison are just about ripe to explode, and they are just liable to hawl-off and do it against the Bunnies, if they don't take South Dakota U tonight.

Giant Killing SDS Defeats Panthers, 14-13

BY DON LOVELAND

South Dakota State college took on the role of a giant killer by upsetting the defending champion Iowa State Teachers college, 14-13, last Saturday. The defeat snapped ISTC conference winning streak at thirty one games.

The Bunnies, winners in an upset game over Morningside last weekend, are now at the top of the conference standings with two wins against no defeats. The Jackrabbits first took the lead in the third quarter with two touchdowns. The Panthers retaliated in the final frame on Bob Lee's six pointer. Bud Rainbow shared the scoring honors with Lee, scoring the first ISTC counter.

Bill Gibbons and Darrell Zimmerman led the South Dakota State offense each scoring one touchdown. But it was the educated toe of Erling Anderson that spelled the difference for the Bunnies as he converted twice, to once for Dick Skain of the Panthers.

North Dakota university put on an all out effort in their offense to score all of its points in the first half of the game and then succeeded in holding off the hard trying Augustana in the last two periods to triumph, 21-0, in their first conference victory last Friday.

First blood was drawn in the second period when the Sioux's Al Thogerson caught Nancy Halpin's pass from the sixteen. Mark Foss then made the first of his three successful place-kicks. Two plays later Merb Claffly intercepted one of the many aerial tries of the Vikings. Cy Ducharme then took the ball over on a reverse play. The Sioux scored again on another attempt later in the second period.

Although the Vikings succeeded in getting into the Sioux territory they lacked the finishing drive to carry them over. The best Augustana attempt came in the fourth period when they got as far as the North Dakota universities' ninth but the Sioux forward wall dug in and held out for downs.

Drake remained undefeated as it downed South Dakota university, 48-6, in the Coyotes own backyard.

The Coyotes were out-run and out-passed as Drake scored upon them in every period of the game.

Bison Still Seeking First Conference Win of Season

South Dakota university, looking for their first win of the current season, are favored over the Bison when they meet at Dacotah field at eight o'clock tonight.

So far this year, the Coyotes have lost games to Montana State, Nebraska, who surprised powerful Minnesota with a bit of stiff opposition, undefeated Drake, and tied with North Dakota university. However, the Sodaks have been favored by many sport scribes to be high up in the North Central conference standings at the end of this season.

The main reason for this high regard for the Coyotes seems to be big Howie Blumhardt, all-conference fullback for the past two seasons. In conference play last season, Blumhardt scored seven touchdowns and one point after touchdown for an aggregate of forty three points to end second in the individual scoring race, just behind Paul DeVan, Iowa State Teachers college halfback.

The Coyotes are two deep in good left halfbacks, with Jack Van Arsdale, a former all-conference threat, leading the way. Van Arsdale was injured for a time last season which cut down on his efficiency considerably. Ronnie Brown is also expected to see some action in the left half spot, as he has done so far this season.

On the flank for the boys from Vermillion will be big Jim Harvey who took all-conference laurels last year as an offensive wing-man.

Up to now the Coyotes have been featuring an aerial offensive with Van Arsdale heaving to such receivers as Harvey, Jim Bowden, Jerry Ashmore, and Harvey Hanson.

The Bison have been showing steady improvement since their first two more or less humiliating defeats this season. The NDAC gridgers showed flashes of very good play against Iowa State Teachers college, and ran their offense into high gear in the last period of the Morningside game last week, scoring all twenty of their points in the last frame.

The physical status of two of the Bison regulars is still in doubt for the SDU contest. Dick Sander, who broke his hand in the ISTC tussle two weeks ago, may not be ready to assume his starting position at end. Haynard (Tiny) Huisman, 260 pound tackle has been troubled with a knee injury, and will probably see little action against the Coyotes.

The probable starting line-up for the Bison tonight will be Dom Gentile and Bill Toussaint at ends, in the event that Sander is unable to go. Al Keating and Dick Jonston are the likely tackles to get the starting nod, with co-captain LaVern Freeh and Milt Resvirk at guards. Clink McGeary is the likely nominee in the pivot spot. The backfield will include Dick Keeley at quarter back, Tom Gagnon at left half back, co-captain Neil Gustafson at right half back and Jack McLarnan at fullback. Kermit Olgaard and Ken Hansen are likely to see much action in the defensive backfield.

Six New Foreign Students At NDAC

The 1949-50 foreign student enrollment of 15 is one less than that of last year says A. H. Parrot, director of admissions and records.

Of the 15 students now enrolled, 6 are new to the NDAC campus. Newly established in the School of Chemistry are Yen-Sheng Chin, Shanghai, China, and Jaime Ghisays, Cartagena, Columbia; in the School of Engineering are Santiago Roduques, Yauco, Puerto Rico and, Ilmar Luik, Estonia.
