NDAC Drivers Face Revised Traffic Laws

Students and faculty members who bring automobiles on the campus this year are governed by a new set of traffic regulations issued by the NDAC campus committee.

These rules are necessary, President Fred Hultz has pointed out, because the building program and the temporary housing on the campus has created a serious traffic problem.

For the benefit of the students who do not drive on the campus and those who no longer have their copy of the regulations, the following is a synopsis of the eleven rules set up by the committee. Observance of the speed limit and compliance with the other rules do not relieve any driver of responsibility in case of accidents.

1. Vehicles concerned must meet safety requirements of the North Dakota Motor Vehicle department. Vehicles must be registered at the business office. Fee 25 cents.

2. Vehicles must be parked in designated parking areas only.

3. Speed limit is 15 miles per hour at all times.

4. Vehicles must come to a complete stop at stop signs.

5. No parking at crosswalks or fire hydrants.

6. Double parking or blocking the exit of a properly parked car is prohibited.

7. Parking or driving on grass or walks is prohibited.

8. Pedestrians have the right-of-way at crosswalks only.

9. Regulations are in effect from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

10. The college assumes no responsibility for care or protection of any vehicle or its contents while on the campus.

11. Violations by students or staff members will subject them to a fine payable at the Business office. First violation penalty is $1.00. Second is $2.00. Third $3.00.

Written suggestions to promote safety on the campus may be sent to the office of the buildings and grounds department.

(Although everyone will not agree that these regulations are needed, there is only one way to find out if they will work. If those concerned will have the decency to cooperate, and there will be those who won't, the situation can be studied and any necessary corrections can then be made.

The only logical complaint that can be made is what it will do to the parking lot during the spring thaw.

Regardless of what may appear elsewhere in this paper the Spectrum endorses the plan until, if and when, it proves to be more of a hindrance than a help.—Ed.)

Gustafson, Freeh Grid Co-Captains

Neil Gustafson, senior fullback from Adams, N.D., and LaVerne Freeh, senior guard from Harvey, N.D., were elected 1949 NDAC football co-captains as the Bison grid squad prepared to entrain for Milwaukee where the Herd will meet Marquette Saturday night.

President Hultz and . . .

Greetings to the Class of '53:

The door of opportunity has swung open for you. You have embarked on your career in higher education at the college of your choice, and you are sincerely welcome here.

Fifty classes have graduated from this institution you now are privileged to call alma mater. The members of these classes are now scattered throughout the world making enviable records for themselves and for us. They are working, earning and enjoying life the more, because of their college experiences here.

Your time on this campus can be as fruitful as you make it. The crops you will harvest may include lifelong friendships, the confidence which comes from participation in college activities, and a training for your chosen vocation which is second to none anywhere. We counsel you to remember these opportunities and to make the most of them.

Good luck and success to each of you.

Fred S. Hultz
President

Freshmen To Receive College Creed At Induction Ceremonies Monday

Freshmen induction will be held Monday morning between 8 and 8:30 with Roy Johnson acting as master of ceremonies.

Vocal selections will be given by Douglas Payne accompanied by Miss Jean Pratt.

Rev. Stafford Studer will give the invocation followed by the main address by Carl Schmidt, director of personnel.

After the address all freshmen will repeat in unison the newly adopted creed and student obligation.

Home Ec Faculty In Graduate Work

Miss Leita Davy, dean of the school of home economics, pursued post doctorate work at Columbia university this summer while attending workshops in home economics administration at Columbia and at Pennsylvania State college.

Other home economics instructors studying graduate programs were Miss Mildred Hawkins, clothing, at Ames, Iowa; Miss Emily Reynolds, clothing, at the University of Tennessee; Miss Jean Stange, related art, at Columbia university; and Miss Carolyn Vosburg, related art, at Cranbrook Academy of Art, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

The creed was adopted from the Oregon state college creed and is as follows:

I believe in North Dakota Agricultural College,
Builder of loyal men and women,

Seeker after truth,
Organized for the service of great commonwealth.

I believe in her traditions,
A heritage from the deeds and dreams of yesterday;

In her sportsmanship and in her honor,
A reality with the students of today;

In her sincere aspirations and ideals,
The assurance of a magnificent tomorrow.

I believe in her democracy
And her far-reaching bond of Bison brotherhood;

And I realize that since she has accepted me as a Bison,
I too am a guardian of the Bison spirit;

If I degrade myself I degrade her;

As I honor myself I honor her.
I therefore pledge to her my Alma Mater

My loyalty, my love and my devotion.

It is hoped that in the future a creed can be originated especially for NDAC by some of her own students.

NSA Active In Summer

URBANA, Ill.—More than a million students swapped ideas for the improvement of their academic lives at the Second Annual congress of the National Student association, here in August.

Through their representatives—from more than 300 colleges and universities—they spent ten intensive days and nights trading ideas, learning about situations other students face, and beginning to understand each other.

They met in small, informal 15-man "round tables" to talk about particular problems—like discrimination evident in college enrollments.

They convened in larger "commissions" to attack phases of student interest — like international problems and foreign travel.

And they united in "plenary sessions" to take up the entire scope of student life.

The first step taken was that of acquainting themselves with the problem areas, by hearing notable "resource" speakers.

Discussion and decisions on National Student Association policy centered on discrimination and segregation, academic freedom, international affairs, and Federal aid to education.

On minority group bias, representatives realized that "character and academic standing are the only two qualifications necessary for admission to educational institutions."

They called for legislation against schools refusing admission to students because of race, religion, sex, national origin, political beliefs and economic circumstances. They will also work through legislative and legal action for the removal of laws which perpetuate discriminatory clauses.

Taking a stand on the eventual elimination of discrimination which was called "neither right nor left" the NSA adopted the "Michigan Plan" used at the University of Michigan. It calls for banning of any new campus organization with discriminatory clauses in its constitution or charter and for the education of present groups with discriminatory clauses.

Set All-College Mixer Tomorrow

The annual all-college Mixer will be held tomorrow night from 9-12 in the Field house.

George Schoen and his orchestra will provide the music at the affair which is sponsored by the Student commission, Senior staff and Blue Key.

Medical Exams Set October, January

The American Medical College aptitude tests will be given this year at Concordia college in Moorhead, and at NDAC, according to Carl H. Schmidt, director of personnel at NDAC.

The tests will be given at Concordia on October 22, and at NDAC on January 16. Registration blanks may be obtained in the Personnel office, Room 109, Old Main. Candidates must register early for this examination, Mr. Schmidt stated.

Registration for the October exam must be completed before October 8, and before December 16 for the January examination, at NDAC.

Students are accepted into Medical colleges on the basis of these tests plus their marks earned in pre-med school. These colleges make up their 1950 rosters soon after the results of the last test are known.

Work is progressing on the presidents new home, which will be finished in the future.

NDAC Offers Advanced Air ROTC Course

The selection of NDAC as one of eight colleges and universities in the country to offer specialized study in the field of air installations as part of its AiROTC program was announced recently by Pres. Fred S. Hultz.

The course, designed to develop Air Force reserve officers with technical qualifications for assignment in the field of air installations with a minimum of additional training, includes classes in runway and hangar construction, buildings and structures, fire fighting and crash control techniques, electrical and power plant facilities, handling of fuels, and heating and ventilation.

Enrollment in the program is intended primarily for students in the school of engineering who are juniors or have two years of academic work remaining to obtain a degree.

The Air Force has allocated a quota of 50 students to NDAC. Selection of these students will be under the supervision of R. M. Dolve, dean of the school of engineering and Maj. Robert E. Phillips, professor of air science and tactics.

Students selected will wear the blue Air Force uniform. They will receive $27 per month during the two years training and will attend a six-week camp at an Air Force base for practical work in their specialty during the summer preceding their senior year in college.

Walters Named Alumni Director

NDAC Honorary Groups Are Additional Frosh Interests

Besides any one of the national social sororities and fraternities to which freshmen may belong, there are numerous national and local honoraries that may be set up as a goal for freshmen to achieve. These honorary organizations recognize students' abilities and activity in any one of a number of scholastic and extra-curricular fields on the campus at NDAC.

Alpha Phi Gamma recognizes achievement in the field of journalism. Membership in this fraternity is open to upperclassmen who have had at least one year of experience on the Spectrum or on the Bison yearbook. The members must have a high scholarship and a desire for service, as well as ability for writing.

The annual Spring Sing is sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting service fraternity. The main goal of the fraternity is to serve the school and to promote the idea of good sportsmanship and fair play.

National agricultural fraternity is Alpha Zeta, whose aim it is to promote agriculture and to encourage high standards of scholarship, personality, and character among the students studying for an agricultural profession.

Art Club is a local honorary organization whose purpose it is to promote a greater appreciation of art in the students on the campus. Members are chosen according to their art ability and voted on by the other members. A feature of the organization is the annual Bohemian Dinner, which is held every spring.

Outstanding qualities of scholarship, citizenship, leadership, and service in junior and senior men are recognized by Blue Key, national service fraternity. The annual production of Bison Brevities is under the direction of this fraternity.

National honorary military society on campus is Scabbard and Blade, whose members must excel in military science. Guidon is the national auxiliary to this society. Together, the men of Scabbard and Blade and the Guidon girls, sponsor the annual Military Ball.

Kappa Delta Pi honors achievement in the field of education. Membership in this national organization is open to juniors and seniors in the school of education.

Women in pharmacy strive to become members of Kappa Epsilon, another national honorary. Its purpose is the stimulation of higher scholarship, the fostering of professional consciousness, and the promotion of pharmacy in general. Rho Chi, with membership open to both men and women outstanding in the field, is another pharmacy honorary. Points for membership in this organization are based on leadership, scholastic average, and personality.

Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity for men, strives to improve the band on our campus and to create good fellowship with other musical organizations. Together with their feminine counterparts who belong to Beta Sigma, the members of Kappa Kappa Psi participate in the annual Band Dance.

Another national musical organization on campus is Sigma Alpha Iota, whose membership is limited to girls who excel in musical ability.

Phi Kappa Phi recognizes and encourages superior scholarship in all fields of college study. Members are selected from the upper ten per cent of the senior class on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and character.

The promotion of home economics is the purpose of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics fraternity. Senior, junior, and third-term sophomore girls are eligible for membership on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and professional attitude.

Corresponding to the national honor society for senior girls. Mortar Board is Senior Staff, an honor society for senior girls. Members sponsor the annual Spinster Skip and various other activities throughout the year.

To Begin Moving Stadium Nov. 1

The moving of the football stadium to its new location has been delayed until Nov. 1, according to Mr. E. Thorson, superintendent of building and grounds.

Originally the plans were to have been completed by the beginning of the football season, however, Mr. Thorson believed that with the amount of moisture received here this year, it would be doubtful whether the sod would stand up under the annual attack of football cleats.

Work is already under way to ready the new site for stands and fences. Approaches have been installed off thirteenth street at both 16th and 17th avenues, grading has been done on the parking areas and the field has been seeded down.

The new location is west of thirteenth street and just north of the North Court housing unit.

The Homecoming game Oct. 29 will be the last game the Bison will play in the present location.

CHURCH NEWS

Sunday evenings are planned for NDAC students by the various religious organizations on campus which are designed to provide for the spiritual, intellectual, and social welfare of their members.

The Canterbury Club is the organization of the Episcopal students on campus. Meetings are held in the club rooms of the Episcopal church every other Sunday night. Annual sleigh rides are features of the social calendar. The Very Reverend Arthur C. Barnhart is director of the club.

Congregational students will attend meetings of the John Robinson Club, which are held every Sunday night at the Plymouth Congregational church. Refreshments and social activity are part of every meeting.

An inter-school organization is Gamma Delta, which is sponsored by the Student Service Commission of the Missouri Lutheran Synod. Students from NDAC, MSTC, Concordia, and the Fargo Business colleges are eligible for membership in this organization whose meetings are held in the Grace Lutheran church on the first and third Sunday of each month.

Each Sunday evening Westminster Fellowship holds a meeting in the First Presbyterian church with a discussion and worship program followed by a supper and recreation hour. Rev. Karl H. Ernst is advisor for the group.

LSA, Lutheran Students Association on campus, is directed by Rev. John Schultz. The program of the organization's activities includes daily Bible studies, Sunday morning Bible study and breakfast, Thursday noon "Chow Chats," Tuesday evening poster parties, alternate Friday night parties, and Sunday evening devotional programs.

Library Adds Over 6,000 Volumes

The NDAC library added 6,444 volumes to its shelves during a summer of ordering, cataloging and filing.

Necessary changes were also made because of the increase in books. Newly built shelves in the basement now hold all books in the 200 (religion), 400 (languages) and 825-899 (foreign literature) sections.

Miss Rae Olson has filled the position of order librarian, left vacant by the marriage of Miss Helen Strasser.

Miss Margurite Sullivan has returned after a years leave of absence during which she finished her library course at St. Catherines college, in St. Paul, Minn., and will assume the position of assistant reference librarian.

Miss Gloria Karamonas will be reserve librarian.

Magazine subscriptions now total 1888. Of these, 126 were added the past year. There are 14 daily and 57 state newspapers.

Circulation for the past year totaled 15,399 two week books as compared to 8,200 a year ago.

Bibelheimer Joins Health Center Staff

Miss Esther Bibelheimer RN, a graduate of the Bismarck Evangelical hospital, is now a member of the Health center nursing staff.

Previously at Lakeview hospital in Stillwater, Minn., she is the sister of Paul Bibelheimer, NDAC '49, from Linton, North Dakota.

HELP!!!!

This edition of the Spectrum was put out by six members of the staff. Needless to say we didn't have enough help.

A knowledge of journalism is not required of all the jobs open so long as a person can read and follow printed instructions.

Copy readers and proof readers need only know how to read and write. A librarian is needed who not only must read and write but must know how to use a scissors. A slight knowledge of a filing system would be of help.

Those who yearn to be reporters are needed, too. If you think you can write or are willing to learn, we want you. If you can't write, there is still a job for you. Many persons who don't have the knack for writing a news story are good at digging up the facts for that story. Conversely, many who can't get the facts can turn out good copy at a moments notice.

So-o-o, now you know where we stand. We want to know where you stand. All students interested in the Spectrum should be at the Spectrum office Wednesday at 4 p.m. Room 120 Science hall.

Scholar of Old School Gives Advice To Frosh

BY MORGAN HENRY

When freshmen first hie in at campus, ivy encrusted and silhouetted against bronze plaques of founders, they are apt to ask themselves questions. They might ask, "What am I here for?" Or, they could ask, "What is my destiny in college?" (If they stand around asking themselves these questions very long they will be off to a bad start).

College, for the uninitiated, may seem to be confusing. It is only when they have contacted the initiated that they realize how confusing it really is. Several students I know still think they are doing fine at the Hansen Auto School although they are majoring in plant biology.

To really make a hit at College, frosh must fling themselves into the business with gay abandon; they must get a firm grip on the thing and hold with tenacity. Or they could go home and sign up for I.C.S.

Freshmen, in any event, are faced with a dilemma that is peculiar to their group. They are starting their first year of college while the rest of the students are starting their second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth—

I can still remember the furor when I first left for college eighteen years ago. Mom was there with her bottle of gin. Dad and the boys from the AA were all on hand. The warden gave brother George a special leave so he could see me off and when all the hand-shaking and bussing and sobbing was over I climbed, slowly and solemnly onto the rods under an exquisite coach called "General Lucifer B. Tecumseh" and was on my way.

I was but a gay butterfly in my college days. I was one of the first to have a curved hip flask. A small boy with a club followed me to stun the raccoons in my coat when they stirred. I had the flappest flapper on the campus and for a plaything I dashed around in a Mercedes-Benz. I had a car, too.

College, in those days was nothing like it is today. At a moments notice we might break up classes wholesale. Sometimes we broke up the instructors. I'll never forget the time we broke up General Lucifer B. Tecumseh, my military instructor. Those were the days.

I am sure you freshmen will understand that it is hard for me to convey my message to you when I am so stifled with the nostalgia of the past. If only you could have been on hand when Charles A. Beard graduated summa cum gravis from my college. Of course this was not THE Charles A. Beard and he was really a scholarly slob from way back, but the ceremony, the

The Score

BY PAT O'LEARY

Welcome, Freshmen, and believe me you are welcome. The old college needs some new blood and a transfusion is in order. Yup, that hemorrhage at graduation last spring was kind of severe. Lost quite a few wheels that will have to be replaced before things can get rolling again.

You're lucky in a way, to be new arrivals in this coming era of prosperity for old NDAC. Big new things are underway here. Some of the more obvious are the new library, that very large hole just west of the existing library; the presidents new house just across from the old Reed cleaners (no it's not the new Reed cleaners) and a new road effectively sliced between Old Main and the engineering building.

There is just one thing about the presidents new house that is a little discordant. It seems that back in '99 the part of the campus on which it sits was dedicated as a memorial grove to the 23 students who enlisted in the Spanish-American war. It's not that they are turning over in their graves, though. They probably must think that it's the fanciest memorial since Grant's tomb.

A new note of interest and anguish has been added this year in the form of parking restrictions. It's not so much the restrictions, though, as the fact that they're going to enforce them by sending a deputy about on a silly velocipede to hand out tickets.

But even that's not so bad compared to where all off-campus students will have to park—in that old quagmire west of Science hall. Just watch the hip boot sales rise in Fargo.

There's been a wild rumor running around, but just a supposition, that the Gamma Phi's are likely to have their charter revoked for blaspheming the sorority flower by wallpapering it all over the (ah-h-h) powder room.

By the way, if the KD house next door looks vaguely familiar, pay no attention. You've just had too many.

pomp, the punch — there was a SOMETHING about that ceremony that sticks with me even today.

Then there was the night we drowned Studs O'Malley. Of course we didn't really drown him, it was concussion that done him in, the coroner said. Studs was going to take the wheel off our car (we were doing 40 m.p.h.) when he got his foot

Book Review

BY WALLY KLUNDT

"The Father of the Bride," by Edward Streeter.

Time was when a man took a look at his future wife, grabbed her by the hair, and hauled her into his cave. Henceforth they were married.

Unfortunately things have changed during the milleniums between the Neanderthals and today's so-called civilizations, and that which was once an act of simplicity has turned into a profusion of confusion.

Look, for example, at Mr. Stanley Banks, Anytown, U. S. A.; and father of the bride. He led an average life—average, that is, till his daughter Kay confessed that she was going to marry some-unheard-of Buckley Dunstan.

Mr. Streeter shows us with unique zest how the sane life of Mr. Banks turned into one great big mess. Yes, the father of the bride was in the limelight, but it felt more like the searchlight of a marital gestapo. Daily new tortures were created to plague the hapless Mr. Banks.

There was, for instance, the problem of champagne, an item which involved no little expense; for Stanley Banks finally bought ten cases at $45 a piece. No wonder he offered his daughter $1500 to elope.

Then too there was the problem of the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Banks and daughter decided that no more than 150 guests were to be entertained. The guest list was to be made accordingly, unknown to the three enthusiasts, brother Satan was doing a dandy job, and 572 guests were placed on the list. This was not all, for the bridegroom also submitted a list. The total: 697.

Mr. Banks finally found some joy—the wedding gifts began to arrive. The joy was soon bitter. Each succeeding gift was less wanted than the previous one. After the gifts, came the fleets of tugboat shaped females. Here, Mr. Streeter astutely reaches the top of his funful book. The present gazers were there for one of possibly four purposes:

1. to see how their present stacked up with those of their competitors;
2. to find out if it was being given a favorable display position;
3. to judge if Kay was faring better in either quality or quantity than their recently married daughter;
4. to pick up ideas for cheap presents that look expensive.

Mr. Streeter has a grand time making fun of one of society's oldest institutions. He is aided aptly by the crisp cartoons of Gluyas Williams. As a team Mr. Streeter and Mr. Williams are almost unbeatable; their book shows it. Read it!

Frosh Placement Exams Continue Next Week

Freshman placement examinations will be continued next week from Monday through Saturday noon for those who were unable to take them at the previous time.

Students concerned should report to Old Main, Room 109, announced Mr. Carl Schmidt, director of personnel.

Before I leave, though I should like to strike at least one sober note. I should like to leave with you a feeling that college is not all fun, that it is not all pretzels and raspberries, that it is not all one big joyous free-for-all—but somehow I can't.

Adequate Part Time Work Available For NDAC Students

Miss Pearl Dinan, chairman of the Student Employment committee has announced the committee has had excellent cooperation in finding part time work for students.

Cooperating agencies have been the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the North Dakota Employment service.

Students may make application for work, after they have registered and know what hours they will have available, either at the Dean of Students' or the Dean of Women's office.

Mr. Oscar Gjernes of the State Employment service will be on the campus next week to confer with students and faculty about both part time jobs for students and full time employment for graduates of the college. His office will be in connection with the Alumni and Public Relations offices in Old Main.

Bison Open At Marquette Saturday Night

Paulsen's Pencil - -

BY JOHN PAULSEN

an Ignoramus: At the conclusion of our little three month parole it is genuinely satisfying to be able to report that the state of world affairs is good. My favorite baseball team, the St. Louis Cardinals, are still (although I'm inclined to worry about them) thick in the fight for the National league pennant. I had, during the summer, the unexpected thrill of watching Sam Snead, long my favorite golfer, win the Western Open championship. One of my favorite motion picture actors scored a smash in "Champion," a picture I earnestly recommend as being well worth the buck, twenty, it'll cost you to see it. And if times are really tough I can still get a laugh out of reading about my favorite comic book characters—the Fargo Moorhead

Over at the NDAC fieldhouse things have changed since we went on probation last June. Chalky Reed has departed after three turbulent years as basketball coach and Chuck Bentson, handpicked by Dr. Fred Hultz for the job, is on hand in his place. I've been taught to expect the worst from all coaches, but Bentson surprisingly enough, appears to be downright likeable. At first glance I might be inclined to opine that happy days are really here again. It's about time.

Sol Kampf, more or less a fugitive from North Dakota University, has taken over the line coaching duties with considerable vitality and a rather fabulous reputation as a publicity man. Any opinion I might render as to Kampf's football coaching abilities would be strictly heresy, but I am looking forward with great anticipation to personal demonstrations in the days to come. His reputation for public relations, I might add, seems well founded.

About one thing I am spectacularly happy. The athletic department some years ago began hiring a recently departed star to cement relations between coaches and players and do some tutoring on a part-time basis. The practice has been rather discouraging, but this year, I hope, the department has come up with a sleeper.

Dennis Drews, who took his walking papers from the Board of Education last June, is going to help coach the backs, for which I'm very glad. You see, I'm an old Drews fan. I make no pretense of impartiality when reporting the antics of the Detroit Lakes kid. Perhaps it's because I think that the sorry excuses the AC fielded the past few years for football teams would still be chasing opposing runners had it not been for Drews, and maybe it's because I still remember the picking-on he took from the department a couple of falls ago. Anyway, I'll sure be happy if he makes good.

Tomorrow, Bliss

and his Bombers are down at Milwaukee for a game with Marquette. And although I'd be delighted to be proven wrong, I'm inclined to fear that it's going to be a rather bloody affair, with most of the blood having been North Dakota raised. The Bison have a long ways to come, and while it's sporting of them to serve as a T-formation tune-up for Marquette, the results I fear had best be passed over quickly.

Next Friday, the homefolks get their first look at what the new regime is promoting as a football team. Their opposition will be Concordia, and although ten years ago Concordia's fitness as an NDAC rival might have been chuckled at, and although their past uniforms often invoked laughter, I doubt if Bliss and his boys will be laughing.

Concordia doesn't have much depth, and they have very few really top-flight players, yet it is my un-expert opinion that they'll give NDAC one heck of a run for it's money with, primarily, Jake Christiansen's coaching, a tricky offense, a top-par quarterback, and, Charley Basch, who is one of the greatest players—married or single, bad knee or not—ever to perform on Dacotah field.

Many of the returning Bison are better than they were a year ago. Some capable newcomers appear to be on hand. Bliss ought to be able to make good use of a year's experience with his squad. Nevertheless, it's going to be a long, hard struggle. It's to be hoped that this week's Marquette encounter doesn't ruin the Herd, not only for Concordia, but for the squad's eight other opponents as well.

The new coaches at NDAC appear at first glance to get along much better with themselves and their players than did their predecessors. At this early stage of the game, one might be inclined to feel that they are just what the doctor ordered a couple years ago, but never got. We hope so anyway.

Sophomores To Carry Load At Marquette

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Sophomores already are making their presence felt in Marquette university's football workouts, and the prospects are that several of them will be given the opportunity to play starring roles when the Hilltoppers open their 1949 season against North Dakota State college here, Saturday night, Sept. 17.

Coach Frank J. Murray, starting his nineteenth season at Marquette, has had his squad in training since Aug. 25. Sixty-three candidates for the team have been working twice a day.

There are 22 varsity lettermen in the Hilltop camp, but Murray has made no secret of the fact he is looking for the sophomores to bolster his team this fall. In fact, he scheduled the early game with North Dakota State so that the many newcomers might get the "feel of things" before Marquette's intrastate classic with Wisconsin at Madison, Sept. 24.

Sophomores especially are expected to help in the backfield. Among the better ones are Quarterbacks Don Leahy, Omaha, Nebr., and Ron Chernick, Chicago; Halfbacks Norman Rohter and Stan Wojcik, Chicago, Art Lastofke, West Allis, Wis., Jim O'Brien, Whitefish Bay, Wis., Bob Pribyl, Cudahy, Wis., Leon Geiger, Neenah, Wis., and Larry Wilkinson, Oconomowoc, Wis., and Fullbacks Frank Kopenski, Iron River, Mich., Bob Maxwell, Shorewood, Wis., and Len Richter, Boscobel, Wis.

Leahy was on the Hilltop squad last fall but was injured after three minutes of play in the opening game and lost for the season. Thus, he retains his sophomore ranking.

Veteran ends may have to carry the brunt, but three of the sophomore wingmen have shown promise. They are Gil Krueger and Roy Vogeler, Milwaukee, and Joe Oreshoski, Menominee, Mich.

Other incoming linemen who already are scaling the varsity ladder include: Centers Jim Craine, Watertown, Wis., and Dan Makowski, Milwaukee; Guards John Backman, Ramsay, Mich., and Bernie Berigan, Omaha, Nebr., and Tackles Pat Flanagan, Kaukauna, Wis., Joe Masnaghetti, Bessemer, Mich., and Bob Lowe, Milwaukee.

Murray thus far has made no move toward naming a possible starting lineup for the Sept. 17 opener with North Dakota State. He has declared every position on his varsity wide open, a fact which has led to the keenest sort of competition in the Hilltoppers' practice drills on McCormick field.

Veterans, of course, will yield their old positions with reluctance. Not a one of them has sewed up his job for this fall but the entire group of 22 naturally constitutes the nucleus around which Murray is building, particularly for the early games. Thirteen of them, through relaxed wartime eligibility rules, are in their fourth season on the squad.

3 Gridders Injured

Three more NDAC football players received injuries in late practice sessions this week. Tom Gagnon, a sophomore speedster from Cohasset, Minnesota suffered a bruised heel in last Saturday's scrimmage.

Also on the Bison's inactive list are Bill McGuishin, a center from Chicago and Bob Severin, a boy who has been seeing action at guard, tackle and end, as well as doing most of the punting chores.

All-Veteran Lineup Likely To Start For Bison Gridders

BY JOHN PAULSON

Thirty-three NDAC football players and four coaches entrained for Milwaukee where the Bison open their 1949 football campaign tomorrow against Marquette university.

Tomorrow night's contest, expected to be played before a capacity throng on Marquette's McCormick field, will be the initial contest for both teams. The visitors inter-city affair with Concordia, while Marquette meets its top down-state rival, Wisconsin, at Madison.

Coach Howard Bliss made no starting nominations before leaving for the first contest ever to be played between the two schools, but observers at pre-season practice sessions believed the Herd men return to Fargo next Friday for an all-letterman line-up against the Hilltoppers. Bill Toussaint and Dick Sander are likely end nominees, with Al Keating, Maynard Huisman, and Vern Strandemo on tap at the tackles. Dave Olwin and Vern Freech appear likely to open at the guards with Clarence McGeary slated for the pivot position.

Dick Keeley, a Chicago veteran, is scheduled to open as Bliss' first T-formation quarterback, with Jack McLarnan, John Richards, and Tom Gagnon set for the three running positions.

Frank J. Murray, nineteen years head coach at Marquette, also was expected to field a veteran team, although Marquette was openly looking for sophomores to bolster its attack for the Wisconsin game.

Assistants Sol Kampf and Chuck Bentson, and athletic director C. C. Finnegan were on hand to assist Bliss.

Tomorrow's contest will be the first Bison gridders have played before television cameras. Milwaukee stations are to televise the entire affair.

Bison Line Heaviest Since War

If Coach Howard Bliss of North Dakota State college decides to place his heaviest line on the field for any game this fall fans better hold on to their seats because the stadium might start shaking.

For the first time in several years there are four men on the Bison football squad who top the 240 pound mark.

Leading the group is Tiny Huisman, 260 pounder from Mott, N.D. Clet Roulou, mammoth tackle from Virginia, Minnesota stands 6-4 and tips the beams at a mere 255 pounds. Dick Johnston of Nashwauk, Minn., another tackle, goes 242 pounds. At the pivot position the Bison boast of Clink McGeary, four year veteran from White Bear Lake, Minn. who stands 6-5 and weighs 247.

Bliss has been pleased with the attitude and work of the big fellows who usually take a bit longer to get in shape than the average athletes. As for McGeary who has been shifted from end to center it must be said that the Minnesota griddier is making great progress and looks for his last year to be his best. Huisman was at State in 1946 and recently returned to school after being out for two years while Johnston and Roulou are junior college transfers.

Panthers Favored To Repeat As Champs

Sport Spotlight

BY JOHN HESSE

Football season is here again, and the competition looks like it will be tough this year, especially in the North Central conference. Iowa Teachers look like the number one team again this year, by virtue of the fact that Paul DeVan, their flashy colored halfback will be on hand again. DeVan was feared, formerly as a passing threat, a role in which he was used almost exclusively in his first years of college competition.

Last year Peerless Paul showed the folks that he knew how to run with the football too, which is just exactly what he did. In ten games last year he scored eleven touchdowns to lead the North Central conference in scoring. Down at Cedar Falls they expect great things of DeVan again this year, and barring injury, Paul means to see they aren't disappointed.

Of course, if the Panthers fall by the wayside, there will be other teams breathing down their necks, ready to take over the first spot in the loop standings. South Dakota university are seeded by many to give ISTC a tough battle for the championship. They also have a back of no small ability in Hefty Howie Blumhardt. This human battering ram ended second in the conference scoring race last year scoring seven touchdowns and one extra point in conference play.

There is always North Dakota university. The Sioux have a well balanced squad this year, with a big line and a hard running backfield. The Nodaks also boast a large number of experienced reserves, a fact that enhances their possibilities for one of the top spots in the standings.

Now for the "I told you so" department. Last spring there was an echo from the north which stated that the New York Yankees would end up fourth in the American league this season. Well the Yankees are engaged in a tough fight for the pennant, and they may fall prey to the big bats of the Red Sox from up Boston way, but something is going to have to happen, and it is going to have to be drastic, if those Yanks are going to drop into fourth place this year.

The baseball club that seems to have had the whole world fooled this year are the St. Louis Cardinals. Nobody seemed to think that the aging Cards had two whoops and a holler for chances of taking the pennant in the National league this year. But there they are, the nine old men, engaging in one of their famous stretch battles with the Brooklyn Dodgers. It looks like the Cards were fooling everybody but themselves.

At the beginning of the year even the big bat of Stan Musial was more or less impotent. But now The Man has come back and is hitting like the old Musial. However, one man seems to be the reason that the St. Louis club is back on top. Before the season opened, the sport scribes all agreed that Enos Slaughter was all through in major league baseball. At thirty three, the Country Boy seemed too old to keep up with the younger competition up there. Yet it was Country Slaughter who led the Card batsmen, and is even now pushing Jackie Robinson for the National league batting crown.

The Dodgers seem to have a corner on nearly all the statistics this year. Robinson is leading the league in hitting and in runs batted in, and trailing only Pee Wee Reese, another Dodger, in runs scored. The Brooklyn pitching staff, sparked by Don Newcombe and Preacher Row, have been seeing back and forth on the top of the pitcher's record pile. All in all, it seems that we are going to have a close finish in both of the major leagues this year.

Out here at NDAC the '49 Bison footballers have been going through some mighty heavy drills in preparation for their opener against Marquette on September 17. The Bison coaches did away with the traditional opening week schedule of loosening up and dummy drills. The line started out with live blocking and a scrimmage was held the third day of practice.

The opinion was expressed by many of the on-lookers that such a practice might lead to some serious injuries. However, most of the players looked to be in good shape upon reporting for practice, and the constant heavy workouts have resulted in only a few minor injuries. The end result might prove to be, that the Bison will be tough when their first encounter comes up this week. Such hard conditioning as the NDAC coaches have been giving the boys could be just the thing the Bison need to be a top notch football team this fall.

Intramural Meeting Set for Monday

Physical education director E. E. Kaiser announced late Thursday that an intramural organization meeting would be held, Monday, September 19th. Kaiser emphasized that all organizations intending to participate in intramural athletics during the fall quarter must send representatives to attend.

The meeting will be held at 4:15 o'clock in room 204 of the fieldhouse.

Kaiser reported that intramural play would begin Monday, September 26, and that the early starting date necessitated complete attendance at Monday's organizational affair.

White At Home After Operation

Richard T. White, business manager of the NDAC athletic department, is at home recuperating from a recent operation.

White was formerly sergeant major of the NDAC military department. In 1947 he was retired from the army at which time he took over the business post with the athletic office.

NOTICE

Howard Bliss, NDAC football coach, announced that freshmen football candidates will draw equipment this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the NDAC fieldhouse.

Bliss said all freshmen intending to participate in intercollegiate football should report as first practice drills will begin tomorrow.

17 Lettermen Out For First Gridiron Drills

BY JOHN HESSE

The NDAC football team opened fall practice sessions last week with thirty nine candidates reporting for early drills. Among these are seventeen lettermen.

Coach Howard Bliss has been directing the opening sessions, assisted by Sol Kampf, in charge of the linemen. Chuck Benton, NDAC's new basketball coach has been helping Kampf, and Dennis Drews, all-conference fullback last season, is assistant backfield coach.

The early drills, consisting of two workouts a day and a chalk talk every evening were heavy, with the line beginning live blocking the first day out. However, most of the Bison gridders reported in good physical shape, making the usual conditioning drills unnecessary. A scrimmage was held the third day of practice and another last Saturday, when moving pictures were taken. Later in the week the pictures were shown to the players and mistakes were pointed out.

Bliss reports that he expects the power of the team to lie in the line. A switch has changed Clink McGeary, an end last season, to center where the big boy is expected to be able to use his weight to better advantage. Another switch has moved Bob Severin to offensive guard. Severin, who saw action as a tackle last season is used at either end or tackle this year, and will probably do much of the punting. Vern Strandemo, a guard by trade, has also seen action at the tackle and center spots in early practices.

Other lettermen bolstering the big line are ends Dick Sander and Bill Toussaint, both of whom are rugged defensively and able pass receivers. The guard spots have LaVern Freeh and Dave Olwin, both slated to see plenty of action. The tackles, an undermanned position last year, could be filled by lettermen Milt Resvick and Bill Seals. Bill McGuishan should see some action in the center spot, this year.

Coach Bliss is also well stocked with monogram winners in the backfield. At the halfback positions he could use young Tom Gagnon, a boy who showed up well toward the end of last season, and seatbacks Jack McLarnan and Kermit Olgaard, both of whom make up in speed what they lack in weight. Two hard running fullbacks should take good care of the line plunging duties. Johnny Richards performed creditably last year while Drews was injured, and is back for another crack at the job, while Neil Gustafson, who has been plagued with injuries in former seasons, will also be in there fighting for the starting nod. Quarterbacking the Bison T will be Dick Keeley, a youthful speedster from Chicago.

The Bison will be further aided by the addition of five transfer students from junior colleges. Dom Gentile, a glue fingered end, and halfback Eino Martino have reported from Gogebic junior college in Ironwood, Michigan. Another end Pat Marcella, and Chet Rouleau, a giant 255 pound tackle, come to NDAC from Virginia junior college with Dick Johnston, a 235 pounder from Itasca junior

Coyotes, Sioux Other Strong Conference Grid Contenders

BY JOHN HESSE

The North Central conference football season will get underway this week with all but one of the loop teams seeing action. One conference game is on the schedule for this weekend.

Iowa State Teachers college is enjoying an open date this weekend, and will open their season September 24 against Western Michigan. Morningside opens against Buena Vista and goes on to face North Dakota university in a conference tilt this weekend. Four more non-conference games are on the slate for Saturday. They are South Dakota university at Montana university, Augustana at Gustavus Adolphus, South Dakota State entertains St. Cloud Teachers college, and NDAC against a powerful Marquette eleven.

Down at Cedar Rapids, the champion Iowa State Teachers college team looks like a strong contender for the top spot in the Polar loop. The Panthers are boasting fifteen lettermen, led by Paul DeVan, the conference's top scorer last season. They will miss the services of Jason Loving, an all-conference selection at tackle for three years, but they can fill every position with a letterman or an experienced reserve from last year's championship squad.

South Dakota university, last year's runner-up will boast another strong eleven built around two all-conference selectees. Bruisin' Howie Blumhardt, top fullback in the conference for the last two years, will be on hand to keep the Coyotes foes worried, and Jim Harvey, who was selected as an all-conference offensive end last year, will also be in the line up.

Up at Grand Forks, the fighting college, trying out for a tackle berth.

Bliss reports he is very pleased with the showing of Maynard (Tiny) Huisman, a 260 pound tackle. Huisman, in addition to his weight, has plenty of speed, and Bliss indicated that he would see considerable action. Huisman played at NDAC in 1946, his freshman year, but left school shortly after the end of spring football training to help on his farm at Mott, North Dakota.

Bliss is counting upon the development of his reserves from last season and some promising boys up from last year's freshman eleven to give his team the needed depth. Those slated to see action with the Bison this year are quarterbacks Ray Curtis and Ken Hansen, Bill Simpson, a halfback, ends Landes Jensen and Louis Boreuk, tackles John Duginski and Vaughn Thorfinson, and guards John Swenson and Ed Zybotosky.

So far this season the Bison have been plagued with minor injuries which have held down the progress of some of the players. Neil Gustafson has been sidelined, but Bliss said that he would probably be back before the opening game against Marquette. Two of the ends, Bill Toussaint and Landes Jensen suffered rib injuries, but both were in uniform and participating in light drills. Bliss reported that other injuries had occurred, but none of the boys had missed too many practice sessions.

Sioux will be opening their first season under the tutorship of their coaching duo, Dick Miller and Frank Zazula. The Sioux have twenty six lettermen led by co-captains Ken Von Reuden, a tackle, and Don Juelke, a guard. In addition the Redmen have all-conference end Mark Foss, who ended fourth in the individual scoring race last year. Vern Huber, a passer of some note, will also be on hand to aid the NDU cause.

South Dakota State's cellar dwellers of last year have twenty nine monogram winners back for duty with the Jackrabbit eleven. Among them are Tom Tabor, selected on some all-conference teams last year, and big Bill Cook, a pass snagging end of high repute. Coach Wally Johnson is at least two deep in lettermen in the line, with the center position well supplied with five big boys, led by co-captain Fritz Schumacher.

Morningside, who ended up in a tie for fifth place in the final standings, will face the breaks of a tough schedule. They will meet South Dakota and Iowa Teachers on successive weekends. A bright spot in the Maroon outlook is the return of all-conference halfback Bob Hooks. Hooks was the loop's third scorer last year. As well as being a dangerous ball carrier, Hooks also does the place kicking for the Maroons.

Augustana, who ended in the fifth place tie with Morningside will have two all-conference performers in their line up this season. Chuck Madsager, who made both the offensive and defensive all-star squad last year will be back to mix it up in the Viking line. On the flank, the Norsemen will have Harlan Johnson, who was on the defensive all-loop team. With these two back, the Vikings promise to produce a strong line.

The competition in the North Central conference looks as though it will be tough this season. All the teams, with one exception, will have all-conference performers on the roster. All are well stocked with lettermen and strong on reserves.

The National Interfraternity council and the National Panhellenic conference were urged to eliminate discriminatory clauses within member social sorority and fraternity groups.

On Federal aid to education, students were for Federal scholarships and fellowship grants, but didn't forget limitations they thought it should have.

Aid should not be discriminatory, and "where segregation exists in the primary and secondary levels of education in a state, scholarships in higher education should first be divided in proportion to racial groups within the population."

Merits and needs, determined according to an objective examination, should be the criterion—not "loyalty checks." And students should be able to choose where they want to study.
