Charity Ball Slated For 9 Tonight

We Also Admire--

(The following is a letter which was printed in the March 4 edition of the Dakota Student, Grand Forks, in regard to an article which appeared in the "Lily", an annual humor publication of the University of North Dakota. The author is a former NDAC student and resident of Fargo. We feel, with Mr. Hanna, that a man should not be subjected to a "smear" attempt for having the guts to stick to his convictions and ideas).

SHELLEY HANNA

The Editor,
The Dakota Student.
Dear Madam:

I am rather undecided as whether to dignify the type of journalism as exemplified by the recent publication of the "Lily" with a letter to the editor of the Student. However, the references to Otto Otteson and "the Co-op boys" were in such particularly bad taste, and so completely inaccurate that I feel that "it" should not be allowed to go unchallenged.

In the recent campaign, Mr. Otteson and myself differed on a number of issues but at no time did the idea ever present itself to me that Otto was not motivated by the highest type of "Americanism" as I understand the term. I recall telling Otto on several occasions that his position as a Progressive whatever his motives, would serve only to get him thoroughly smeared as a "red."

Otto's reply on all those occasions was that he believed Mr. Wallace stood for peace and progress for this country, and therefore the only decent way left open for him was to support Mr. Wallace openly, and to the best of his ability. Whether Mr. Wallace stood for peace and progress is questionable to me. However, with Otto's decision to stand by his convictions regardless of the outcome, I had then and have now only admiration.

I will not attempt to interpret the reasoning behind the publication of this particular article in the "Lily." Perhaps it represents merely the adolescent budding journalism of a future race of Mary Haworths, or,

Ann Stegner, Amidon, and Jo-Anne Zimmerman, Fargo, and their guests will be the leaders of the Grand march for the annual all-college ball, which will be held tonight at the Crystal ballroom.

Dancing, music for which will be provided by Frank Scott, and his orchestra, will begin at 9 and the Grand march is scheduled for 10.

Attending with Miss Stegner will be Henry Meyers, Ayr, and Blair Smallwood, Minot, will be Miss Zimmerman's guest.

Tickets for the dance, which is a girls-expense affair, are $2.40.

Lettermen's Club To Sponsor Movies At 3:30 Today

Colored pictures of the rose bowl game and Tournament of Roses parade will be shown today at 3:30 in the Field house under the sponsorship of the NDAC Lettermen's club.

A 10c charge will be made for the pictures, which will be shown by Waldo Fisher, former Fargo high school athletic great and presently chief scout of the Northwestern football team.

THETA CHI, ISA WIN

Theta Chi fraternity defeated the Lettermen's club, 46-25, to cop the intramural basketball title and the Independent Student's association topped the Kappa Sigs, 39-37, to win the volleyball crown in games played last night.

Wally Anderson Resigns As Spectrum Editor

Wallace Anderson, editor of the Spectrum since the fall of 1948, this week announced his resignation to the Board of Publications.

Anderson, who will enter the Veteran's hospital for a minor operation in the near future, will not enroll for the Spring term.

Don Wischow, president of the Board of Publications, said that applications for the position should be in the Board of Publications office no later than Friday.

Wischow said that the appointment would be for the extent of the Spring term.

World Government Advocate To Speak At Emerson Smith

Set Registration March 27, 29

Registration dates for the Spring term were announced this week by A. H. Parrott, director of admissions and records.

Seniors will register Monday morning, March 28; Juniors will register in the afternoon.

Tuesday morning, March 29, will be registration for Sophomores; Freshmen will register in the afternoon.

Classes will commence March 30.

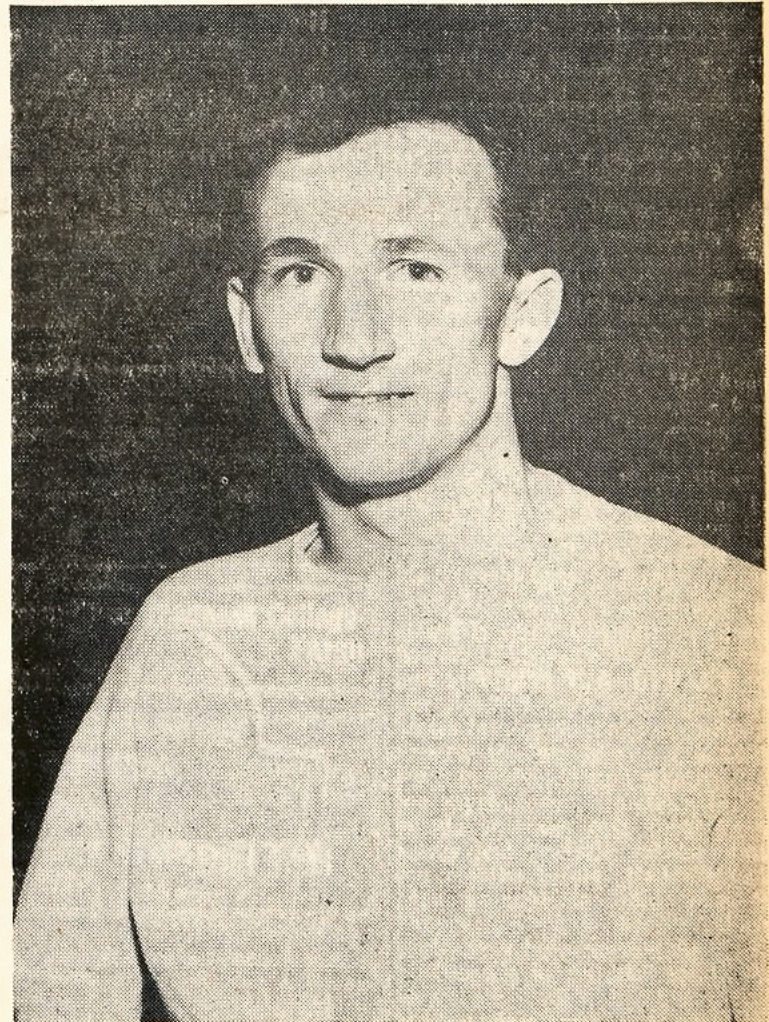

Dr. Vernon Nash, proponent of world government and vice-president of the United World Federalists, Inc., will speak at the Emerson Smith High school Thursday evening at 8.

Well-known as an author and a lecturer, Dr. Nash will explain the functions of a student chapter of United World Federalists as well as functions of adult chapters.

The United World Federalists, consisting of groups of adult and student organizations, believe "that war is not inevitable, that peace is not merely the absence of war, but the presence of justice, of law, or order—in short, of government—world government."

A recent book by Dr. Nash, "The World Must be Governed," will soon be released by Harper's.

We Admire

Jim Minette, because he has given hours of his time to the service of the school and has had little recompense in the way of recognition.

Minette has served as head cheer leader and was captain of the gym squad, both services which require much time in conditioning and training.

Several observers have opined that Minette is probably the best gymnast in this part of the country. Agreeing to that, we also add that Minette is also one of the most unassuming athletes in this part of the country and certainly to be admired.

National Students Association Congress Meets In Illinois

The University of Illinois was recently selected by the staff of the second annual Student Congress.

Dates of the Congress are August 24 to September 2.

It is expected that more than

Parrott To Head Local Office Of Fulbright Program

A. H. Parrott, director of admissions and records at NDAC, has been appointed local representative of the Fulbright Educational program, according to President Hultz.

Parrott will represent the conference board of the associated research councils, which is administering the international student exchange program for the State department.

According to Parrott, the United States is accruing large credits in foreign countries. "The Fulbright Act makes these credits available for two purposes—to pay for transportation of foreign students who desire to study in the U. S. and to pay transportation and other expenses for U. S. teachers and research workers who desire to extend their studies in foreign countries," Parrott said.

Opportunities are now open to Americans in China, Burma, Greece and the Philippines. Later openings will be announced for Austria, Australia, Egypt, India, Iran, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Pakistan and Turkey.

40 EE Students To Inspect Plants At Minneapolis

Forty NDAC electrical engineering students will visit Minneapolis plants during an inspection trip which has been set between April 17-21.

The students will visit Minneapolis Honeywell, KSTP Television studios, Northern Pump Co., and Western Electric.

Student papers from students at the Universities of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and NDAC will be presented and judged at the University of Minnesota.

The winners will receive cash awards and an opportunity to present their papers at the University of Michigan.

Tenneson Heads Scabbard and Blade

Robert Tenneson of Fargo was elected President of the NDAC chapter of Scabbard and Blade at the regular weekly meeting held at the Graver Hotel last Sunday. Other officers selected were Jack Enger, Oakes, Vice - President; Charles Engle, Thief River Falls, Minn., Secretary; and John Hesse, Fargo, Treasurer.

Lloyd Flynn of Fargo was chosen to head the 1949 Military Ball Committee.

The Spring Bivouac will be handled by John Berky of Moorhead and Ted Olson of Fargo while Ronald Moir, Kent, Minn., and Lester Collis of Bismarck are in charge of the Spring Hop.

LOST

Pair black rubber stadium boots. Gray fur cuff. Left at Festival hall March 3. Return to Eleanor Schoen at Dakota hall.

Tau Delta Pi Initiates 28

Twenty-eight juniors and seniors were recently elected to membership in Tau Delta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity.

Announce New Examinations For Civil Service Positions

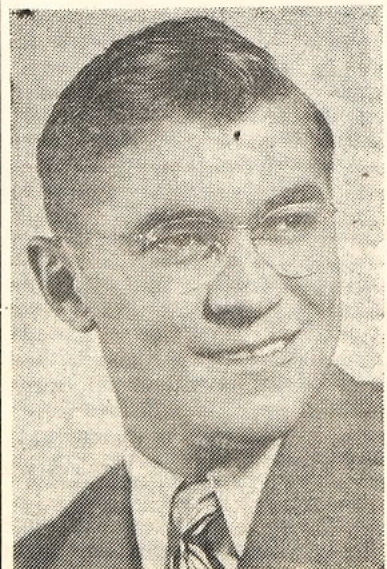

College students with academic background in Range Improvement, Agronomy, Soils, or other closely related agricultural sciences are urged to compete in a U. S. Civil Service examination for Soil Conservationist (Trainee), Dean C. A. Sevrinson, liaison officer for the U. S. Civil Service Commission at NDAC announced today.

This examination which is being conducted by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Lincoln, Nebraska, will be used to fill expected Soil Scientist vacancies in Federal Agricultural work in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

A considerable number of vacancies occur in the States of North and South Dakota and the appointments will be of a permanent nature.

Their duties will include both on-the-job training during the summer months with a Federal agency, and scholastic training in an appropriate subject matter field during the regular session at a college or university designated by the Federal agency. While they are attending the college or university, they will not receive a salary and they will be required to pay their own expenses. (Veterans may exercise their rights to educational benefits under Public Laws 16 and 346 to defray tuition and subsistence expenses.)

Brown Selected Kappa Psi Prexy

Glenn Brown, Halstad, Minn., was elected president of Kappa Psi at a recent election.

Others elected and their respective positions were Wayne Wolf, vice-president, Bob Moe, secretary; Richard Bieber, treasurer-house manager; Dick Lant, historian; Don Krueger, athletic director; Glenn Dehlin, social chairman; Don Legrid, chaplain; and Harold Zweber, pledge trainer.

Appointees may be furloughed for the purpose of continuing their undergraduate studies. When they have completed their academic training, they may be recalled and promoted to grade P-1 on the basis of their records of service.

Application forms may be obtained at any first-or second-class post office and should be sent to the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 301 Rudge and Guenzel Building, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Students in their sophomore and junior years are eligible for positions paying $2284.00 per year, while senior students are eligible for positions paying $2724.00 per year in the various fields listed above.

A written test will be conducted soon after the closing date for receipt of applications 17 March 1949.

This week Sevrinson also announced examinations for Zone Deputy Collector. Positions are permanent and pay $2974 per year.

The examination will be used to fill vacancies in Federal tax work in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

A written test will be conducted soon after the closing date for receipt of applications, April 5, 1949.

Other positions open at present in the U.S. Civil Service are those of Historian, Intelligence Specialist, Foreign Affairs Officer, and Social Science Analyst.

The positions are located in the vicinity of Washington, D.C., and pay salaries of $3,727, $4,479, $5,232 and $6,235 a year.

No written test is required of competitors for these positions; to qualify they must have had education or experience or a combination of education and experience appropriate for the positions for which they apply.

Applications deadline for these positions is March 15, 1949.

To Open Library Bids March 15

March 15 has been set as the date of advertisement for bids on construction of NDAC's new library.

The bids will be advertised for three weeks.

Primary excavations will begin as soon as weather and ground conditions permit.

Angels of Mercy, Ethiopian Style

Only a hundred doctors and a few dozen nurses were available until recently to care for Ethiopia's total population of some 12,000,000. Now, with the aid of the U.N. World Health Organization (WHO), training programs in all parts of the country are turning out the necessary help to relieve the critical shortage of medical personnel.

ME Students Begin Efficiency Tests On New College Boiler

NDAC mechanical engineering students recently began efficiency tests on a new boiler which was installed in the college power plant.

The boilers in the power plant supply steam heat to thirty building on the campus and the steam laboratory in the engineering building.

The tests are under the direction of professor A. W. Anderson, chairman of the mechanical engineering. John H. Mickelson, power plant superintendent, will assist in the tests.

Replacing old Franklin boilers, the new boiler is a Bros bent-tube boiler and is rated at 450 horsepower. The new unit features water-back and water-walls that absorb heat ordinarily lost and which also maintain a lower wall temperature on the boiler.

The first power plant building was erected at NDAC in 1904, consisting of two hand-fired Kewanee fire-tube boilers. In 1907 the first of two Franklin water-tube boilers was installed, the second being added in 1911.

When the old state capitol building burned, NDAC received the stoker equipment that had been used at the capitol.

In 1922 a small 200 horsepower capacity Bodenhausen boiler was added, and is still used for standby and peak load service.

Funke Addresses LSA Members

Reverend Alex Funke, traveling secretary for the German Christian Movement, will speak to NDAC Lutheran students on Sunday at 5 in the college Y.

Rev. Funke is the son of a missionary and was born along the Gold Coast in Africa. He received his education in the universities at Halle, Berlin, Jená and Tubingen. He was taken prisoner by American troops in Africa in 1942. During his imprisonment in the United States he was a P. W. chaplain.

During the past two years he has traveled throughout Germany teaching and preaching to German students and has formed student Christian groups in Germany.

Paul Hansen, national LSA action director and student at South Dakota State will also speak on the needs of LSA action.

Supper and fellowship hour will follow.

Schedule Fashion Show March 29

Twenty models will be chosen from the School of Home Economics for a fashion show to be presented at the Little Country Theatre on March 29, by Miss Olive C. Berry, college fashion advisor sponsored by the Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc. of New York City.

Miss Berry is on a tour of forty colleges in twelve states and will present a showing of spring fashions for vacation and travel at each institution.

While here, Miss Berry will also speak to Home Economics students on careers, and will take part in a radio program at 10:45 in the morning.

Carlson, Enander Are YW Nominees

Carlson Enander

Jean Carlson and Inez Enander, juniors in the school of home economics, are YWCA nominees for president. The election will be held April 6.

Nominees for secretary of the organization are Connie Westmark and June Carroll; for treasurer: Ardyn Thurn, Zoe Nelson; for program chairman: Ruby Anderson, Lois Cunningham.

Voting will be held Wednesday, April 6, in the YWCA lounge. Members will send post cards which will be used as ballots. These must be presented at the Y office.

Minnesota Highway Department Offers Summer Employment Opportunities

Summer employment opportunities for teachers and students are being offered by the Minnesota Highway departments, according to John F. Colman, director of a highway department survey.

Jobs in the Fargo-Moorhead O.D. Survey are open extending from approximately June 15 until Sept. 1.

"The work consists of interviewing people," explained Colman, "and all persons will be trained before beginning." Because of the students and teachers background and education, they are considered the most satisfactory personnel. There are no age limitations although persons between the ages of 20 and 45 are preferred."

The primary purpose of the survey is to secure factual data as to travel habits of people in this vicinity. Future road and street improvement will be planned on this basis.

Salaries range from $165 to $200. More information can be secured from the highway departments or Dean Sevrinson. Personal or written applications should be made at the earliest possible date.

Plan 2nd Annual Ag Chemical Meet

Plans for a second annual statewide conference on the use of chemicals in agriculture were worked out at a meeting held at the office of GNDA January 18.

The conference will be held at Devils Lake, N. D., March 29 and 30.

NDAC agricultural officials said that thousands of acres of land were treated with 2-4-D and other chemicals the past season. They said that Herbicides and fungicides were used, some with great success.

Of major interest to U.N. and the world during 1947 was the demand of this Indonesian delegation that The Netherlands be prevented from reoccupying its East Indian colonies. U.N. appointed a mission to supervise the Dutch-Indonesian armistice.

Experiment Station Directors Hear Hultz

President Fred Hultz addressed a meeting of the North Dakota Experiment Station Directors which was held March 2-3 at NDAC.

In his talk Hultz stressed the importance of the branch stations and the main station at NDAC.

Hultz pointed out that there should be more co-operation between the experiment stations, the Extension department and the affiliated branches of the State college.

"This will be important if we are to be able to cope with the new developments which are to be a part of North Dakota's future in Agriculture," stated Dr. Hultz.

Hultz further stated that each experiment station director in the state should be ready to encourage young men and women to attend NDAC, "which will help them play an important part in developing our state and its resources."

more accurate, female counterparts of Westbrook Pegler and other Hearst "trained seals."

Nor will I discuss the naive bandying about of such terms as "daily workers," "hammer and sickle," etc. which strike me as a somewhat ludicrous when used by authoresses who have implied that Otto is addicted to catchwords and cliches.

My main interest in the article was that it represented a type of heavy-footed, smear technique, commonly associated with J. Parnell Thomas of "kickback" fame and other fearless patriots of his ilk.

Perhaps I still suffer from a weakness of the stomach in not being able to simply ignore the stuff.

I am regrettably unenlightened as to the high level of patriotic fervor that dominates the editors of the "Lily" so that I may make an accurate comparison between them and Mr. Otteson. I am, on the other hand, acquainted with the fact that Otto fought on the Siegfried Line as an armored infantryman, is a veteran of the "bulge," and starved for eight months with the slave laborers as a prisoner of the Nazis.

Otto Otteson also happens to possess among his decorations a Purple Heart and Combat Infantryman's Badge. I am uninformed as to the records in the war of the staff of the "Lily" who have chosen to censure Otto, suffice to say, if their activities reached beyond the areas of scrap collections and paper drives, I will be pleasantly surprised.

As to the accusation of "red activity" against members of the Co-op House this is too ridiculous to merit comment. I could only say I know of no racial or religious restrictions existing in the charter of the Co-op House which is apparently a bit more than can be said for certain other male and female organizations on this campus to which I am inclined to believe, Alas, several members of the "Lily" staff belong.

Sincerely,
SHELLEY HANNA,
Publicity Chairman,

Reflection on Haste--

Three things only are well done in haste: flying from the plague, escaping quarrels, and catching fleas.

H. G. Bohn: Handbook of Proverbs, 1855

Americans are notorious for the making of haste. Anyone who has scanned an average scene at a downtown street corner has found the usual manifestations of this national malady. There you see pedestrians dashing heedlessly in front of leaping automobiles in the frantic endeavor to avoid a one minute wait for the next green light. Short-tempered drivers fill the air with blue exhaust and verbal smoke when the man ahead doesn't effect a jet-assisted take-off at the changing of the light.

During the summer months this propensity is highlighted in the actions of the average American tourist. They surge into the bus and train depots and groom their own conveyances with one grim thought in mind; that of covering the greatest possible ground in a given time. They are only content when the scenery is whizzing by at 60 per or more. Those who are fortunate and flush enough to ride the airlines revel in the fact that they are conveniently removed from all possible cultural intercourse with the territory over which they are traveling and are further pleased that their ground speed is nearly 200 miles per hour.

Unfortunately, this worship of haste is not confined to just mobile actions. The great American production line of automobiles and thoughts has robbed us of more reflective satisfaction than we can hope to recover. As a people, we nibble, but do not digest. Half-thoughts and half-truths are the evidences and the embarrassment of our statesmen.

But this mania for speed has not been without its benefits. Our super-high standard of living is the result of mass production. Peak efficiency in scientific methods, and other research triumphs have their roots in rapidity.

But the cost has been too great. "Six inches from starvation" is S. O. P. for describing our remaining topsoil. To this date, conservation organizations are in mortal combat to save our remaining forest and mineral resources. We critically need to call time and take stock of the situation.

Let us not delude ourselves with the notion that our civilization is immortal. The Roman Empire, virile, tough and intelligent, took the slow count. Many historians are today busily tracing a parallel between that civilization and ours—and are indicating that we have passed the peak.

We won't be forfeiting the race if we should abandon haste for a look around. And we may be like that wise long-distance runner who husbands his energy for a greater final victory.

Book Review

By W. KLUNDT

"No Place to Hide", David Bradley; Little, Brown and company, New York.

David Bradley boarded his ship on May 29, 1946. At 9 a.m. the ship lifted its moorings, left San Francisco, and headed for Bikini. Bradley was on his way to a rendezvous with a Geiger counter. On June 6, he recorded in his log, "The Geiger counter becomes the sixth sense, a prerequisite to survival in an atomic age."

"No Place to Hide" is the story of Bikini. David Bradley was a "radiological monitor" whose task was to see that no one was hurt in the atomic tests. Dr. Bradley tells simply and concisely what happens. We see through his eyes the first bomb go off, and the mushroom rise and disappear. And then we see most of the ships still floating. Many observers were surprised at this fact; there was a bit of elation that maybe the bomb was not as big as had been publicized.

The ships stood peacefully in the Bikini lagoon, but the peacefulness did not last long. Soon the men with the Geiger counters began to hear the ominous "click, click" of their black instruments. And as the investigation became more intense, the monitors no longer heard "clicks" but heard a terrifying buzzzzzz. Bikini was transposed into a huge scientific laboratory. The beaches, ships, water, food, goats, and planes were investigated for radioactivity. Sand brought up from the ocean floor was found radioactive; the fish from the bays were so radioactive that when a fish was exposed to a film, the resulting pictures showed the fish and its inside organs and structures. No light was needed to take the photograph; the light came from inside of the fish. And the cockroaches still scrambled across the bottoms of the ships, but they, too, were radioactive.

Dr. Bradley tells his story vividly and scientifically. He is not telling us what could or might happen—he tells us what DID happen. He does not describe a future was and its horrors; he does not shock us—he lets US imagine the future. And therein lies the success of his book. Bradley could easily have moralized about our dilemma, but he presents, only the cold unemotional facts, and these facts speak for themselves—they make us imagine the realities and the possibilities. Few readers will leave this book without Bradley's conclusion that there is "No Place to Hide".

Lindstrom Heads DP Arrangements

Kermit Lindstrom has been named arrangements chairman for the Displaced Persons co-ordinating council.

Lindstrom will be in charge of readying the campus for receipt of students who will arrive next fall.

To date, several fraternities have pledged free room to DP's and one frat has offered to supply one student with books for one year.

Students coming to the campus must have at least an elementary knowledge of English and must pass entrance exams before being admitted.

Organizations wishing to make a contribution to the drive should contact Lindstrom.

Torson Is Good Showman As Well As Good Player

By JOHN HESSE

Quite a number of things have been said about the playing of Dave Torson this season, almost all of them good. But there is one thing about him that has not been mentioned to any great extent. That is his showmanship.

Not that Torson is a show-off or a grandstander. On the contrary, he is modest and unassuming. But Dave does put on a good show for the crowd, and they love every minute of it.

Whether NDAC won or lost, whether they were playing at the Field house or on their opponent's court, the crowd left with the feeling that they had had their money's worth, from just watching the little Bison guard perform

It seems as though Dave has an unconscious knack for making sensational plays look simple. He is constantly on the move, whether on offense or defense. He is not only a fine shot, but his dribbling, passing and ball passing are a wonder to see.

These things make Li'l David a colorful sight to behold on the hardwood. And color is one thing that people like to see, no matter what type of entertainment they lean toward.

Jack Garrett displays quite a sense of showmanship, which shows up in his shooting of certain mighty rough shots, which, somehow or another seem to drop in the basket with the greatest of ease.

Jim Johnston and Marv Evans have a virtue, beloved by sports fans everywhere. Those two have all the fight in the world, and give every play that "old college try."

And while you're speaking about colorful ballplayers, you can't overlook Bob Geston. Bob is the type of player who looks good because he's smart. If any convincing is needed on this point, take a look at his beautiful play in the third game against NDU. Bob faked a hook shot and passed off to Torson, thus faking the whole Sioux squad as well as the on-lookers. That shows brains and good basketball.

All these boys, and others who could be mentioned on this year's Bison team, possess all of these qualities to some extent. But take them all to the Nth degree and wrap them into a six foot frame, you'll have Mr. Dave Torson.

This sense of showmanship, unconscious though it may be, not only makes Dave Torson a good ballplayer on any man's team but also a favorite of the crowd.

Sioux Win In Tourney

North Dakota University earned a berth in the NAIB tournament last week at Aberdeen, by topping South Dakota State and Valley City State Teachers college.

NDU, North Dakota's representative from the North Central conference dropped the Jackrabbits of South Dakota State, NCC entry from South Dakota, 54-41, on Wednesday.

The Sioux jumped into an early lead which they never relinquished, thus avenging two losses to the Bunnies during regular conference play. They held period advantages of 15-12, 28-19, and 40-25.

Ed Weber led the scoring for the Nodak with twelve points. Jerry Ansett was runner-up for the evening with fifteen points.

Thursday, the Sioux tripped Valley City State Teachers college, 59-51.

The Vikings who were representing the North Dakota Intercollegiate conference, won a place in the finals by virtue of a 48-46 victory over Huron college of the South Dakota Intercollegiate loop.

Again the Sioux took the lead early in the game and held it all the way. The Peds managed to narrow the gap several times, but couldn't seem to go ahead of the Nodaks.

NDU's defense seemed to render the Vikings scoring duo of Bob Price and Bill Galloway rather impotent during the whole contest.

The Norsemen, on the other hand, seemed unable to cope with the Sioux's well balanced scoring barrage. Ed Weber led his teammates again with fourteen points, closely followed by Don Meredith with thirteen and Jerry Ansett with twelve.

Big gun in the Viking scoring department was Eddie Otto with a total of thirteen points for the evening.

From the pages of the "Lawrence Tech News" we find this startling statement. Lawrence Tech boasts the only man known on any campus who can divest himself of his pants in 3 seconds flat.

The fasty's name is Ray Healy. It seems that Ray drenched his pants with acid during a Chem Lab and did a Dixie Lee in record time. He's still burned up about it.

Ray's cute, blonde, assistant says he has nice legs but they are a little bony around the knees.

Lawrence Tech also give out with this typewriter version of what every young girl should know:

1. Girls who take cod liver oil have legs like this! !
2. Girls who ride horses have legs like this ( )
3. Girls who frequent bars have legs like this ) (
4. Girls who use good judgement have legs like this X

The Public Relations Club of the Colorado School of Mines interviewed Dasche Sikka, an Indian student recently. He made some rather pointed statements as to what he thought of Americans in terms of one who has just come from India.

Mr. Sikka stated, "We come here not only for an education and to make friends, but to understand this civilization and offer our culture here".

"Americans do not seem to accept any other people's way of living but think theirs is the only important culture", began Mr. Sikka.

He further said that if Americans would only open their eyes to other civilizations, they could learn much from each.

"Politeness is best taught by the Chinese and Indian," continued Mr. Sikka, "and in this regard I find the American college girl most retarded". Mr. Sikka thought our girls were the rudest of any country he has yet visited.

The interview was concluded by a movie on Indian culture and ancient Hindu dances that are still preserved today.

His closing thought was that we should be more tolerant of foreign civilizations if we are to understand the problems of today's changing world.

Hollywood talent scouts want a list of twelve colleges that have the most beautiful freshman girls.

The editor of "The Capaha Arrow" (Southeast Missouri State College) has been chosen as one of the judges of the various school's studied.

20th Century Fox is backing this survey to publicize their new film, "Mother is a Freshman", which co-stars Loretta Young and Van Johnson.

At the close of the contest, twelve lucky girls chosen from all over the United States will be re-judged and a single one will be chosen and crowned "All American Freshman Girl". Her prize will be an expense-free trip to Hollywood as the guest of 20th Century Fox with a shot at a screen test.

Necessary qualifications include, beauty, student body activities, scholastic average, and talent in general.

The world premiere of the movie, "Mother is a Freshman" will be released simultaneously in the twelve college towns from which the girls are chosen.

This will take place early this month.

Torson All-Conference, Heads Herd Scorers

Kaiser Says Track Prospects Favorable

Garrett, Evans Also Place On Forum All-City Team

Dave Torson, wily Bison guard performer, this week mopped up awards for a season of brilliant play for NDAC.

Torson, who transferred from Moorhead State Teachers college this year, was named to the Fargo Forum mythical all-North Central conference team and also placed on the Forum all-city team along with two other Herd players.

In addition, statistics compiled this week show that Torson led all NDAC scorers for the season with 252 points. In the North Central conference, Torson finished with 114 points for 11th in the loop.

Others named to the Forum all-city team are Marv Evans, a transfer student from Spearfish teachers, and Jack Garrett, an-

Bison Name Johnston

Jim Johnston, NDAC senior from Forest River, has been named to represent the Bison cage squad on the North Dakota all-star team which will play the Bismarck Phantoms at Bismarck on March 16.

Johnston, who has just completed his third year of service with the Bison, will begin practicing with the squad on March 13. Harry Weinberger, Dickinson Teachers college mentor, will head the all-star squad for the game, which is sponsored by the Bismarck Quarterback club.

During the recent NDU series, Johnston opened up with a 27-point barrage in the first game and went on to be one of the stars of the series for NDAC.

other transfer from MSTC.

Garrett finished second in team scoring with 192 points and Evans compiled 168 points for third place.

Jim Johnston and Art Bredahl, lettermen from the 1948 squad, finished fourth and fifth in the scoring with 136 and 134 points respectively.

Johnston, however, was top Bison player in the free throw department. Johnston converted 42 shots. Torson had 109 field goals to take a wide lead in that specialty.

NDAC players scored 1264 points to 1310 for the opposition and finished the season with a record of 10 wins and 14 losses. In the North Central conference, the Bison finished in the rumble seat. The Bison won 3 and lost 7 for a .300 record.

Besides Torson, who placed 11th in North Central conference scoring, other players who finished among the leading conference scorers are Evans with 106 points, Garrett with 84 and Johnston with 61.

Also named to the Forum NCC team are Lloyd Dobratz of Augustana, leading NCC scorer; Don Meredith of NDU; Don Mohlenhoff of South Dakota State; Dick Wiedenfeld of Morningside; Norm Jespersion and Walt Kochnoff of Iowa Teachers; and Johnny Diefendorf of SDU.

On the all-city team with Evans, Torson and Garrett are Curt McCamy, former NDAC player and now at MSTC; Jim Gotta, MSTC star, who twice played a big role in Bison defeats; Otto Klug, big MSTC player; and Carl Zander and the capable Elwood Bohn of Concordia.

55 Candidates Report To 1st Grid Workout

Fifty-five men reported to the first spring meeting of NDAC football prospects last week and Coach Howard Bliss, grid mentor, said men will still be accepted for the squad.

The turnout was one of the largest in years. Last year 23 men participated in the spring workout.

Included in the turnout were 17 men from the 1948 varsity squad, 17 men from the 1948 reserve squad and 21 new men. Other members of the varsity and reserve squad have indicated that they will report.

Bliss has already begun indoor workouts with the squad. Stressed in the indoor workouts are fundamentals, conditioning, and the setting up of a signal system.

Films will also be used to assist in the training of the squad.

Assistants working with the squad will be Chalky Reed, assistant coach; Ted Barnick and Dennis Drews, varsity gridmen last year; and Jerry Mulready, Bison fullback in 1946.

Minette Tops Gym Scorers

Word from officials of the recent Northwest gym meet at Minneapolis, have announced that Jim Minette, NDAC Bison team captain, led scoring in Class B of the event.

Minette scored 540 points and the NDAC squad scored 1536 to place second in the meet.

Garrett, Torson, McLarnan Hemphill New Herd Thin-clads

E. E. Kaiser, NDAC track coach, said this week that all men interested in track should meet with him next Monday at the Field house.

The meeting had previously been erroneously announced for March 20 but Kaiser said that the meeting would be definitely held this week.

Kaiser has eight returning lettermen and indications are that prospects "are bright on paper, at least."

Lettermen who return are Vern Albertson, miler who may switch to the dashes; Norris Johnson, pole-vaulter; Jerry Johnson, dashman who was injured last year; Rufe Nascinski and Dick Hanson on the weights; Jim Colliton, a half-miler; Bill Toussaint, two-miler and Bob Rinde, dashes.

Other bright prospects include transfers Dave Torson and Jack Garrett of MSTC and freshmen Wayne Hemphill and Jack McLarnan.

Garrett, a hurdler and high jumper, and Torson, a dashman, high jumper and broad jumper, won track letters at MSTC. Garrett set the Minnesota Teachers college conference high jump record in 1947.

Hemphill is a former Fargo high school star and will be participating in his first college competition. Jack McLarnan, a football letterman, will be making his first attempt at track.

Field House Site For Tourney; Sioux Get New Grid Mentor

By DAN CHAPMAN

All eyes will be on the NDAC Field house floor tonight and tomorrow night when the North Dakota state high school tournament will be held.

Included in the event will be some of the best available high school basketball material in the state and you can also bet that spectators will include many college coaches interested in snaring college basketball talent.

Unfortunately, one of the best prospects in the state, Don Fougner, Williston high school star, was eliminated from the Fargo event when the unpredictable St. Mary's Saints ousted the Coyotes last week at the division tournament in Bismarck.

Fougner, who incidentally is a brother of Bob Fougner, an NDAC student, was rated by a Williston observer as the equal of Ev Faunce of Minnesota in Football. And he's about as good in basketball.

However, among the performers who will play here this week are Chuck Wolfe, who led the state in scoring for the Minot Magicians, big Wallie Varberg and Bill McGinley, both of Minot; Don Wilhem and Bill Grabar of St. Mary's; Roger and Rodney Fercho and Maynard Toussaint of Fargo, and Bob Bartholomay, Billy Kimm and Bruce Fischer of Wahpeton.

The Fercho twins, who have played for the Fargo high school squad for the past three years, are small but they are tricky and could make up for their size in college.

Grabar and Varberg are both tall and apparently are very capable performers. Wilhelm, an all-stater last year and a likely repeater this year, will be among the top players in the classic.

Dave Torson, who plays his basketball for the NDAC Bison, has received much attention lately their way into this week's meet. Cichy, a coaching comer if there ever was one, attracted himself much attention with his fine showing.

for his obvious basketball skill. But last week, he received the acme of praise when the Dakota Student, a weekly newspaper in one of the state's less important colleges, admitted that Torson could play basketball.

Gene Swartz, Student sports-writer, pictures Torson as the "spectacular Bison guard" and later as "potential all-conference guard."

One of the sub-headlines merely states, "Torson Terrific."

He just has to be good after that.

Speaking of Backwash Tech, we also note that Don Meredith has been named most valuable player on the NDU squad. Jim Gustafson was named honorary captain. And Fritz Engel?

Already track and football have taken over first place in sports attention at NDAC. Howard Bliss, one of the hardest working coaches we've seen, already is working with his footballers in the Field house.

He gleaned 55 men through his high-powered campaign and more are expected.

In track E. E. Kaiser has already held one meeting and another is planned next Monday.

Jack McLarnan, one of the fleet fleet of backs that Bliss fielded last year, is going to take a swing at track this year. He'll be participating in the earlier football sessions and later will devote his full time to track.

McLarnan graduated from Detroit high school with Harry Szulborski, who went on to play football at Purdue. Last year Szulborski, who was captain of the Michigan all-state team while at Pershing high in Detroit, led the Boilermaker attack and was named to the all-Big Nine team.

Dick Miller has been named head football coach at North Dakota university to succeed Red Jarrett, who previously had been "promoted" to athletic director.

Miller's appointment is the first move in the Sioux athletic shakeup which also recently saw the resignation of Harold (continued on page 7)

Paulsen's Pencil - -

by JOHN PAULSEN

With Chalky Reed's NDAC basketballers having made their final appearance of the present campaign, interscholastic activities moved into high gear, with more in sight than meets the eye. For it is an old and well established axiom that the inter-collegiate basketball and football coach who isn't on hand at the annual high school cage affairs to take a preliminary look at the neighboring prep talent is guilty of malfeasance in office.

Last weekend, with the eastern divisional North Dakota playoffs on, no exception prevailed, and the calibre of performers made consensus of opinion feel that those unfortunates who figured they had not had every right to look with considerable envy at those privileged few who figured they had.

Wednesday's Minnesota District 23 finals, and the climactic big show which comes to town tonight and tomorrow have given and will give the local and surrounding mentors plenty of chance to pick a likely prospect.

North Dakota Agricultural college students who were led to believe last spring that all would be different this year, unfortunately got led astray, for while there was improvement in the statistical whereabouts of NDAC athletic outfits-they hadn't strayed so far that they couldn't still be associated with the cellar, and the considerable number of NDAC students on hand for the recent high school gatherings frequently expressed the justifiable hope that AC officials would come up with a fair share of the higher quality material.

The NDAC

Fieldhouse will be taxed to the limits of its capacity again this weekend, only lending fire to the recently lighted, but already hot situation surrounding the suggestions of Jim Baccus, NDAC Public Relations chief, that the fieldhouse seating arrangement be changed in order to enlarge both seating capacity and useable facilities of the building.

Baccus's suggestions, accentuated by recent legislative study concerning Fieldhouse acoustics, have stirred up a lot of comment. There are a lot of factors, I think, to be kept in mind while considering a change that would do far more than merely change the direction in which spectator's seats face, but which very well might altogether change conditions and activities connected with athletic and non-athletic activities in the building.

Erv Kaiser's gymmen, among the few really successful athletic organizations the school has had the past couple of years, and who performed so brilliantly in Minneapolis two week's ago, when they were only eleven points off the pace at the Northwest Gym meet, are scheduled to perform before the capacity crowds which are expected to tax the Field house tonight and tomorrow for the state tourney.

Spring, it seems, is when colleges, and for that matter high schools, too, often become infected with that common affliction called changeoachitis, and among the participating collegiate and high school coaches are likely to be several who might very well be doing their duty next year for a dear old-but different-alma mater.

Many eyes are likely to be on Bill Osman, the eminently successful Valley City Teachers mentor, considered a top nominee for Harold Cunningham's NDU job.

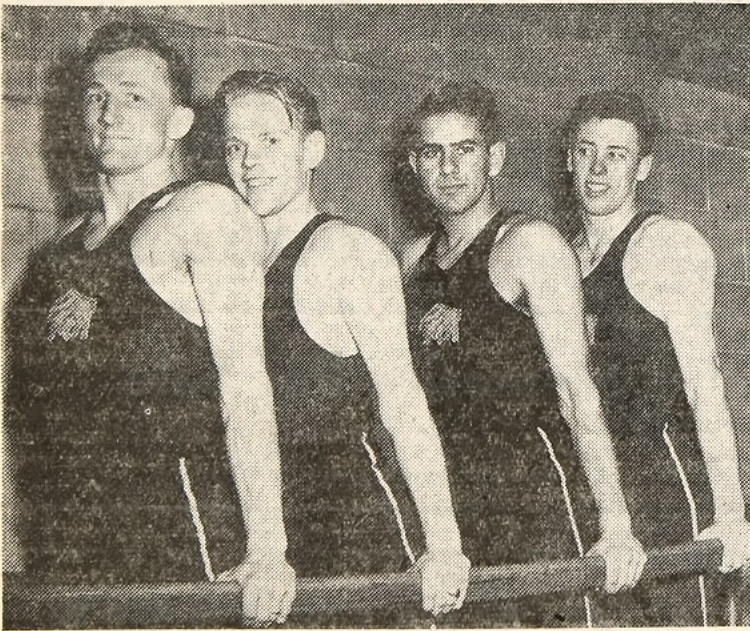

Ed Roy, rudely jolted out of the state tournament last week when St. Mary's rocked his Williston Coyotes, is also slated to be on hand, and the young Williston chief is considered a capable and likely nominee for a promotion.

Visitors at last week's eastern affair had acquisitive eyes cast in the direction of Sid Cichy, whose Sacred Heart five just about upset

Cobbers Beat Pershing Rifle NDAC Skiers Drillers Lose

The Concordia Ski Club out-pointed the NDAC Ski Club at a meet held at the Dalton Ski Run near Fergus Falls, Minn., last Sunday.

The Dalton Ski Club played host to the two clubs and furnished equipment necessary for a competitive meet.

NDAC students who received placings in the events are Lois Cunningham who won first in the Women's Downhill Race and the Women's Cross Country Race with a fourth place in the Slalom Race.

Dave Evanson placed first in the Men's Slalom Race and Men's Jumping Contest, while receiving second in the Men's Downhill Race. Earling Strand, a Norwegian transfer student placed second in the Men's Jumping Contest and fourth in the Men's Downhill Race.

NDAC had four firsts out of a possible six, but Concordia, with a better balanced team won the meet by earning more placings in each event.

A traveling trophy was awarded to the winning team and individual medals were given to the winners of the various events. The two Ski Clubs sponsored the trophies and awarded them at a joint meeting Thursday night.

The NDAC-Concordia ski meet concluded the weekly skiing parties which have been sponsored by the two season old club. Dick Hansen, president of the club said, "no other skiing trips are planned unless we have a late snow facilitating a Sunday's trip."

The NDAC ROTC Pershing Rifles under the command of Cadet Captain Vernon D. Albertson dropped a close 83½ to 82¼ decision to the drill team representing Company B, 164th Infantry, North Dakota National Guard, in a competitive drill held at the National Guard Armory on March 3.

The judging was done by Lt. Col. Milton W. Webber, Lt. Col. J. T. Culp, and Lt. Col. Frank T. Balke on the basis of excellence and precision in the manual of arms, regulation squad drill and fancy drill.

By virtue of their victory, the National Guard team was awarded, for one year, the Fargo Drill Trophy, which will be presented annually to the outstanding drill team in the Fargo-Moorhead area.

Bredahl Heads Pi Tau Sigma

Art Bredahl was named president of Pi Tau Sigma, honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, at a recent election of that group.

Other offices were filled and six men were initiated at the same meet.

Other officers elected were Willard Arnquist, vice-president; Richard Broschat, recording secretary; James Eaton, corresponding secretary; and William Nelson, treasurer.

Those initiated were Lambert Vogel, Arthur Bredahl, Willard Arnquist, William Nelson, Lloyd Hillier, and James Eaton.

(Cookie) Cunningham as basketball coach.

Cunningham was featured in Hugh Fullerton's national sports column for the Associated Press. Fullerton quoted Cunningham as saying that North Dakota winters were too cold for him.

Last week Cunningham accepted a post with a Grand Forks business firm. You'd be surprised at how much warmer it is in downtown Grand Forks. ***

Jack Garrett, who is one of the top Bison cage performers and who will probably be one of the same for the track squad, was the subject of a bit in last Sunday's column by Chuck Johnson in the Fargo Forum.

Garrett, it seems, crashed the gate of the Eastern Division high school tourney here last week with a hammer and a saw. See Garrett about renting out the hammer and saw, because that's about the only way you'll be able to get into tonight's SRO game.

Special Convo Monday First Appearance of Hultz

A special all-college convocation to inform the staff and student body at NDAC of results for the college of the work of the 1949 state legislature will be held next Monday, Dr. Fred S. Hultz has announced.

The convocation will be held in Festival Hall at 9:40 a. m. with Governor Fred Aandahl, legislators, and members of the board of higher education invited as special guests.

Invitations have been sent to the chairmen of the Senate and House appropriations committees, ninth district legislators and House and Senate speakers.

Hultz said the AC campus was deeply interested in the results of the recent session and in an explanation of the program for using the money provided.

"We desire to thank in a formal way the state of North Dakota for its support and the legislative bodies for their careful work and consideration of NDAC needs," Hultz said.

It will be the first time that the AC staff and student body has heard formally from its new president.

The NDAC Gold Star band under the direction of Bill Euren will play. The program will be carried direct by KFGO at 9:45.

In addition to the board of higher education, invitations have been sent to Governor Aandahl; Lt. Governor C. P. Dahl; speaker of the house Palmer Levin; chairman of the Senate appropriations committee Riley Morgan; Arlan Stair, chairman of the house appropriations committee; and Senators W. H. Shure, Kenneth Pyle, and Joseph Spiekermeier.

House members invited include K. A. Fitch, A. C. Johnson, C. T. Yirchott, John I. Brady, Clair Brickner, A. J. Anderson, Carl G. Simenson, Arthur E. Laske, and Harry Wadson.

Plan to Mail Spectrums

The Board of Publications hopes to give NDAC public relations a boost by mailing the Spectrum to high schools and weekly newspapers throughout the state. The board is now considering the costs and means of covering them.

Although the Bison Furrows now goes out to a sizeable list, the Spectrum has small distribution off the campus. In contrast, many colleges and universities, NDU and MSTC for example, make wide use of their student papers as a means of informing the public of their activities.

The use of the Spectrum for NDAC publicity, as contemplated, would increase its circulation by 20 per cent, and these new readers would affect both editorial policy and advertising possibilities.

Consequently the student publications course in the spring quarter will include a discussion of the public relations feature of student journalism.

Harry Bruhn Heads AGR

Harry Bruhn, junior in agriculture from Elgin, was elected president of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity at a recent election.

Other officers elected were Dick Hansen, vice noble ruler; John Myrdahl, secretary; Lenart Almen, house manager-treasurer; Bob Geston, social chairman; Mike Resvick, pledge trainer; Gordon Hansen, reporter; Herb Thornberg, chaplain; Roy Johnson, usher; Alvin Dorahl, assistant house manager.

'Engineer' Goes On Sale Tuesday

Paul Kornberg, Fargo, editor of the State Engineer, publication of the NDAC engineering department, has announced that the quarterly issue of the magazine will go on sale next Tuesday.

New Farm Manager Replaces Don Sholts

Malcolm Anderson assumed duties as Farm Manager of the NDAC farm last month, replacing Donald Sholts who has held the position during the past year. Sholts is now a Veterans Training Instructor at Barnesville, Minn.

Anderson, a senior in Animal Husbandry, is from Center, N. Dak., is married, and has one daughter; they are living at the NDAC Farm House. Anderson will continue his studies here until graduation while managing the NDAC Farm.

Commission To Meet

The regular meeting of the NDAC Student commission will be held this afternoon at 4 in the Little Country theater.
