NDAC To Graduate 189 In Exercises June 16

The Reverend Thomas Hendrickson of the NDAC school of religious education and Dr. Laurence M. Gould, president of Carleton college, Northfield, will be main speakers at baccalaureate and commencement exercises, respectively, for 189 NDAC seniors, largest graduating class in the state.

Baccalaureate exercises will take place at 3 p.m., Sunday, June 15, with commencement scheduled for 10 a.m., Monday, June 16. Both ceremonies will take place in Festival hall.

Baccalaureate prayer will be given by Rev. Stafford S. Studer, head of the school of religious education. Edith Sherwood Cleveland will play the processional and the college choir will sing. Immediately following completion of the service, Dr. John H. Longwell will be host at a reception for the immediate family and friends of the graduating class in Ceres hall.

Dr. Gould's commencement topic will be Science in the Education of Free Men.

Baccus Takes Over Duties On July 1st

As announced earlier this week, an office of Public Relations for NDAC has been created, and will begin operation July first, according to President Longwell.

Personnel in the newly-created office will also handle affairs of the Alumni and Former Students Association, combining both positions, with the college and the alumni group contributing equally to the budget.

Appointed to the double-barrelled position is an alumnus of NDAC, James Baccus, who was graduated from the school of arts and science in 1937. Baccus said he had not as yet chosen an office assistant.

The Fargoan was prominent in campus journalistic circles during his career, being a staff member of the Spectrum. He is a past-president of Blue Key and participated in four productions of the Bison Brevities, either as a writer, cast member or director.

Baccus was a member of the Gold Star Band, a charter member of the local chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi, and also managed a campus dance band during his college career. He played in a number of Little Country Theater productions including "Winterset" and "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Following his graduation, he wrote for west coast newspapers and radio transcription companies, entering the army in 1942. His army service consisted of camp newspaper editing for the Army Air Forces, and script work for the Armed Forces Radio Service.

Discharged early in 1946, Baccus served as WDAY news editor until resigning this week.

Considering alumni activities, Baccus said he planned a complete overhaul of the group's records, and a drive to locate old grads and former students. Publication of the quarterly Alumni Review will be continued, and an effort made to correlate the direction of the 9-man Alumni Board of Directors.

Office Offers Employment Aid

The North Dakota State Employment service encourages students who are interested in employment during their summer vacation to register at the local employment office. All those who desire work in the Fargo area may make application at the office 630 First Avenue North and those who plan to return to their homes, may register at the nearest office in this locality.

Because most students plan to return to school in the fall and thus the type of work sought will be of temporary nature, officials suggest employment in the construction field where little experience is required and high wages are paid.

GUIDON PLEDGING TODAY

Pledging for Guidon, Scabbard and Blade auxiliary, will be held at 5 o'clock today. Pledges are Gloria Aas, Jeanne Wallerius, Donna Jean Nellermo, Joyce Gackle, Dorothy Wicklander, Dolores Larson and Doris Mae Thompson.

Students Approve AC Union, 821-89

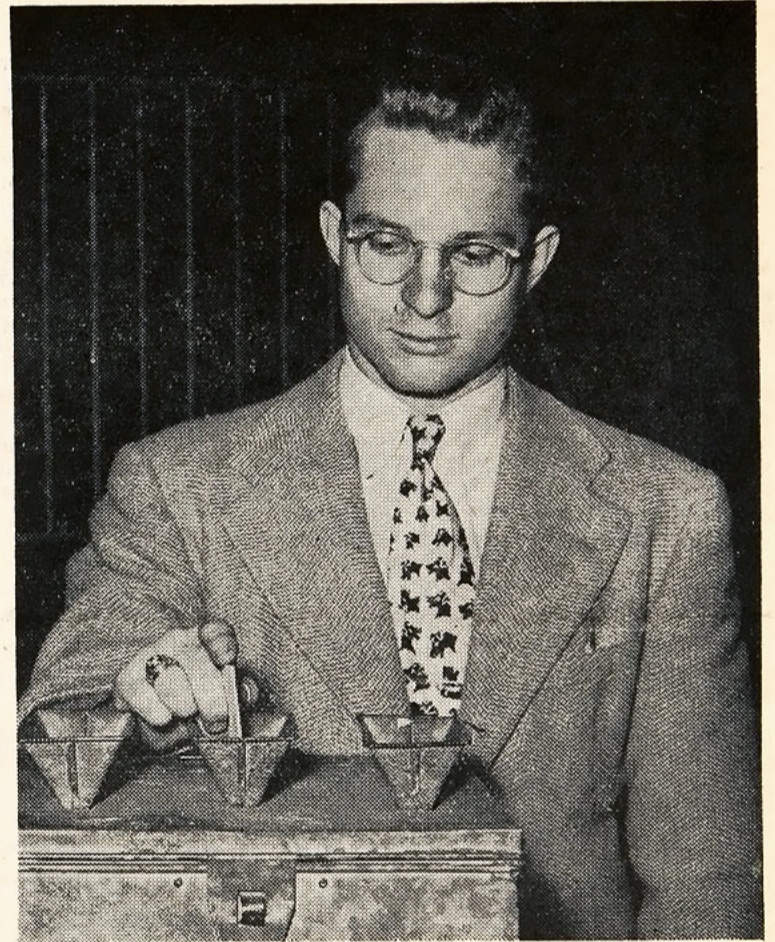

NDAC students Thursday put their overwhelming stamp of approval on a Student Union building by voting 821-89 in favor of a proposal asking the state board of higher education to add five dollars per student per term to the activity fee, such fee to go into a Student Union fund.

An amendment to the constitution seeking to give the student commission power to set up more polling places was approved by a 838-69 vote.

Yesterday's voting was the heaviest of the entire year, with 912 students going to the polls. This compares with some 167 who voted on the new constitution and 669 votes cast in the commission election.

The increase in fees, if approved by the college council and the state board of higher education, will go into effect in the fall term.

Bob Butterwick, Spectrum columnist and managing editor, casts the first ballot in the overwhelming victory for the student union at Thursday's election.

Schuricht, Mistress Of Ceremonies For Ceres Hall Banquet Saturday

Naomi Schuricht, junior in the school of home economics from Hillsboro, will be the mistress of ceremonies at the annual Ceres hall banquet set for 6:30 Saturday in the Graver hotel.

Headlining the program for the evening will be a short address by Mrs. J. H. Longwell. Addresses will also be given by honored guests, Miss Alice P. Dinan, Mrs. Mildred Kirst and Mrs. Caroline Spring. A series of variety numbers by Ceres hall residents will round out the program.

Plans for the event are in charge of the Ceres hall council with Mrs. Kirst acting as advisor. Committee chairmen include: decorations, Jane Sheldon and Naomi Schuricht; finance, Shirley Schultz; and publicity, Naomi Schuricht.

PUBLICATIONS TO MEET

A special meeting of the board of publications has been set for 5 o'clock Monday according to Ellen Johnson, newly designated Board of Publications president.

ISA Sets Up Three Awards

The Independent Student association has approved the foundation of three $25 scholarships to be awarded for the first time next year to students not affiliated with Greek social organizations.

The ISA scholarships will be awarded on the basis of the contribution of the student to the student body; the contribution of the student to the Independent Student association; scholastic standing; contributions to social activities on the campus; and character of the student.

Winners of the scholarships will be selected from a group of outstanding candidates by a committee consisting of the Independent Student association advisors and several active members of ISA.

ISA's Cop Playoff Opener As Rain Delays Series

Ole man weather intervened Thursday to force a postponement in the two-out-of-three playoff series between ISA and Theta Chi fraternity for the intramural softball championship. It marked the second day in a row that activities had to be halted for Wednesday's game was also called off after a late afternoon thundershower.

Games will be resumed tonight if weather conditions permits with officials anxious to complete the matches as early as possible.

ISA, needing only one more win to cop the coveted crown, will be in the favorite's chair when play is resumed after coping the all important first game 9-8. Theta Chi must win both games to annex the crown.

Leading 8-2 going into the seventh inning of Tuesday's first game, the Independents suddenly found the game tied up 8-all after a seventh inning Theta Chi rally. However, Bob Love drove Whitey Turner home from second after two were out in the ISA seventh with the winning marker.

Gordon Potter was on the hill for the victorious Independents while Warren Opperman did the hurling for Theta Chi.

All games in the series are being played on the ball field north of the Field house with the softball tilts being played on the southeast diamond.

Mulready Sets Discus Mark

Unleashing a brilliant heave of 151-7½, Jerry Mulready, star NDAC weightman, established a new meet record in the discus throw at the annual running of the Aberdeen Relays last weekend.

Norris Johnson, the only other Bison performer to compete at the meet, also picked up points. Johnson gained a tie for fourth in the high jump and wrapped up fourth place in the pole vault.

Mulready's great toss far surpassed the record set by John Hall of Augustana in 1934. Hall flung the sphere 136-11 for a record that stood for thirteen years, but the Augustana performer's heave seems slight in comparison to the lengthy ride accorded the discus by Mulready.

For Mulready, the record breaking performance brought to an end an intercollegiate athletic career of note. The Bison flash is also noted for his football wizardry and was accorded a spot on the NCI all-conference eleven last year as fullback. He also performed for Bob Lowe's Bison cagers in 1945-46.

The Aberdeen meet marked the fifth time the Bison ace has thrown the discus in competition this year, and the fifth time he has come out first.

Vets' Return And AC Superiority Over UND Highlights Athletic Year

By JOHN PAULSEN

North Dakota State College resumed full scale athletic operations this year under athletic director C. C. Finnegan in a campaign highlighted not by NDAC annexation of a conference championship but by the invincible supremacy of the Bison over their arch rivals from Grand Forks—the University of North Dakota.

Back as head football coach after a hitch as a United States Naval officer was Stan Kostka. The Bison finished creditably in the loop race, finishing second to Iowa Teachers college for the title.

The Bison, re-entering Big Nine competition after a long lapse, visited the University of Iowa in their opening game of the season, losing to the Hawkeyes 39-0 in a game which marked the illustrious return of pre-war center ace Cliff Rothrock.

The Herd then went on to whip Concordia, Morningside, and SDSC before journeying to Grand Forks to meet the University. Playing at a time when both were undefeated in loop play, the game, played before an overflow throng, was expected to be close and bitterly fought. However, NDAC, rallying behind star back Charley Basch rapidly turned the tilt into a rout and led 31-0 when final whistle sounded.

After routing Augustana in the rain at Fargo, the Bison met Iowa Teachers for the championship, losing 21-0.

Rothrock, besides being named to the loop all-conference team, was selected as center on the little all-American eleven and given honorable mention on the AP all-America. Bill Dietz, a tackle, and fullback Jerry Mulready were also named to the loop all-conference team while Basch, guard Steve Vujocich, and halfback Dennis Drews were given honorable mention.

Drews and Paul Moores were named 1947 co-captains.

The Bison basketball team, rated highly in pre-season prognostications, proved bitterly disappointing throughout early season play. Playing under a new coach, Chalky Reed, the Herd couldn't seem to click and the Bison soon found themselves mired in the conference basement.

However, after returning home from a disastrous road trip in February, the Bison suddenly caught fire and the AC whipped Augustana, Concordia, power laden SDSC, and MSTC in preparation for their historic series with the University who found themselves in a position to annex the loop crown by beating the Bison in the annual foray between the two schools.

However, center Paul Brostrom who finished second in loop scoring with 131 points in 10 games, sparked a rejuvenated Bison five to three wins in the annual four game series.

All previous disappointments were soon forgotten as the Herd, playing inspired ball, literally swept the up-state contenders off their feet.

Brostrom was placed on the loop all-conference team while Nick Vujovich, a So. St. Paul guard, was elected to succeed Brostrom to the Bison captaincy.

Full scale track competition was resumed also as weightman Jerry Mulready lead the Bison to a rousing win in their opening meet, a quadrangular affair at MSTC.

After finishing second behind MSTC, but ahead of UND, in a meet at Grand Forks, the Bison found themselves hopelessly out-classed at the conference meet, with one notable exception in Mulready who captured the discus throw.

However, warmer weather and th experience gained in earlier meets finally paid off as the Bison closed their campaign by edging out favored Jamestown college for the North Dakota intercollegiate crown.

In winning the Bison could point with special pride to Mulready who bettered the existing North Dakota discus mark with a heave of 141-9½.

Intercollegiate baseball, with Kostka at the helm, was also revived. The Bison, after starting slowly, gathered momentum and performed brilliantly near the end of the campaign. Sparkplugs of the Herd attack were infielders Bill Gallagher and Bob Roy, pitcher Harvey McMullen, and outfielder Edsel Boe.

In golf too, the Bison were active. NDAC recaptured the Georgia Tainter trophy from MSTC and Concordia with Carl Ekern, long prominent in local golfing circles, leading the way.

Tennis, too, was replaced on the AC sports agenda with the tennis team playing almost weekly during the spring.

The most expansive intramural program in the history of the school was undertaken and competition in softball, golf and tennis is still underway as the last Spectrum goes to press.

ATO fraternity captured the football crown while the Privateers won the cage title. Sigma Chi fraternity captured the volleyball championship and a team from the Men's Dormitory had little opposition as they romped to the intramural bowling crown.

An added highlight of the athletic year was a football game between ATO fraternity and a women's team from Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The game, played in the snow at Dacotah field, ended in a 6-6 tie with accounts of the game being reported in several prominent eastern newspapers.

Highlight of the spring intramural program came this week as ISA and Theta Chi met in a two out-of-three playoff series for the intramural softball championship. This scene shows some of the action as the two teams met Tuesday in the opening game. ISA won 9-8.
