MacNea Named ISSAC Prexy

Elected as president of the state-wide Intra - State Student Action Committee at the convention held last week at the University of North Dakota was Milton MacNea of Minot State Teachers college. Other officers are Andy Anderson of Ellendale Normal, vice president; Lorraine King of NDAC, secretary; Adeline Larson of Wahpeton Science, treasurer; and Shelley Hanna of UND, publicity director.

Proposals submitted by the AC delegation were incorporated in a plan for increased publicity through newspapers, radio, and pamphlets stressing the value of North Dakota's colleges to the state. Students for the colleges will also appear at the various community clubs and organizations as an additional feature of the plan.

The NDAC representation including Ames Skolness, Grace Swigart, Lorraine King and Fred Saefke will outline the new project to an open meeting of AC students at the college Y today at 4:15 p.m.

Barn Dance Date Set For May 9

Again letting tradition reign, the Saddle and Sirloin club will sponsor the annual Barn dance in the Field house on May 9. According to Ray Erwin, manager of the Barn dance, this will be the most colorful as well as the largest Barn dance sponsored for many years.

The Field house, gaily decorated with green hay, simulated barns and farm equipment, will resound with the sweet, soft music from the "famed" Statesmen attired in jeans, bandans, and tattered straw hats. Dancing will begin at 9:30 with a "hayloft" queen selected from coeds from the various organizations on the campus. Each ticket is one vote with tickets priced at 75c.

Alpha Phi Omega Names Judges For Spring Sing

Ken Kennedy, WDAY program director, and Eddie Kraus, manager of the Fargo theater, will be two of the judges who will decide the winner of the Alpha Phi Omega vocal sweepstakes, slated for Festival hall Wednesday at 7:30.

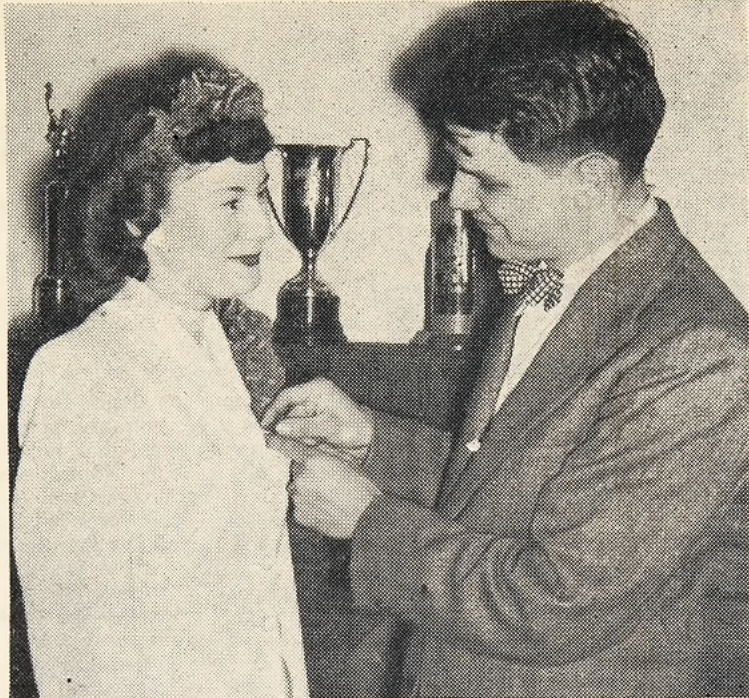

The Spring Sing, a revival of a pre-war product, will bring together the best in vocal talent from the various campus fraternities and sororities.

Two permanent trophies, one to the top fraternity sing combination and the other to the best of sororities, will be awarded.

Defending champions from pre-kahki days are the ATO's and the POP's (now KAT's), who won the laurels in 1943 when Jim Kyser, present president of Alpha Phi Omega, was chairman of the event. This year Rudy Froeschle is serving as chairman.

Alpha Phi Omega, a national scouting service fraternity, has issued an invitation to the general public and has announced that admission to the sing will be free.

Careful Crosby!

Harold Crosby, Jr., president of Beta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, pins the SAE Dream Girl pin on Lois Dickson of Hunter, in a ceremony held in the chapter house Wednesday. Miss Dickson succeeds Joyce Gunvaldsen of Fargo.

Miss Dickson, a junior in home economics, is a member of Kappa Delta, Tryota, girls' glee club, mixed chorus and is assistant commissioner of finance on the student commission.

1947 Bison Brevities Show Adjudged Complete Success

By PAT O'LEARY

The Bison Brevities production of Gershwin's "Of Thee I Sing" succeeded wholeheartedly in its main endeavor: to provide an evening of good entertainment and to make money. The show ran for almost three not-the-least-bit dull hours to a house which wasn't as crowded as it might have been only because so much of the student body had been recruited into it that there weren't too many left to sit with the audience.

The Pulitzer prize winner was sure fire to begin with, but through the handling of Alfred Hitchcock Viets (who, like that master movie tactician, stuck himself into a small role and did all right) the fire burned brightly and evenly. There wasn't as much smut as had been expected, either.

One thing was a little hard to figure out, though; whether Betty Lewis was supposed to be a Penny Singleton or an Alice Walla. But it didn't matter, because she was good, and well chosen no matter how you looked at it. In fact, the whole cast was very well chosen. Kenneth Sorvik also did a good job with the male lead, carrying a part that demanded both quick action and a good voice.

The supporting cast was carried out equally well by Robert Schreiner, Owens, and Smoot; by Chuck and Fred Dickens, Marvin Garske and Dorothy Webb. Also in there pitching: dancer Jack Askew, vocalist Carolyn Allen, "chorographer" Audrey Remme; scores of others too numerous to mention.

Also worthy of comment: Sorvik's noteworthy burp, not part of the script but a gay pre-climax brought on by quick consumption of labeled bottles of anonymous psuedo-spirits.

The chorus, which was under the direction of Ernst Van Vlissingen, gave an excellent background to the whole thing. So did the orchestra, although it did weaken once—by treating Gershwin's rhythms in the last part of the overture with metronome precision. It seemed flat that way.

Another viewpoint was presented by an authoritative bysitter. When asked what she thought of the whole thing she replied: "but even at baseball games they sell pillows!"

Gryde Gets Scholarship

Otis M. Gryde, sophomore in the school of agriculture from Edinburg, has learned from the Institute of International Education that he has been chosen for a free scholarship at the University of Oslo this summer.

Gryde will leave for Norway in the middle of June and will return to NDAC next fall after two months study at Oslo university.

Presently Gryde is vice president of the Camera club, and is a member of ISA, LSA, Saddle and Sirloin, student co-op and Farmer's Union.

Junior-Senior Prom Committees Picked

Committee chairmen for the Junior-Senior prom, scheduled for Saturday, May 24, in the Field house, have been selected and plans are underway for what is traditionally the biggest social event of the spring quarter.

Dance chairmen include decorations, Jeanne Altendorf; orchestra, Tom Challoner; chaperones and invitations, Betty Lewis; programs, Joyce Hudson; tickets, Dave Haibeck; publicity, Mary Burfening.

The Statesmen will play for the prom, given by the junior class in honor of the seniors.

Inspection Set Monday For NDAC ROTC Unit

Colonel John P. Crehan, representing the United States War department, and a group of three other officers from the Army Ground Forces and the Army Air Forces, will conduct the annual formal federal inspection of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps Unit, at NDAC, Monday and Tuesday, according to Lt. Col. Frank T. Balke, professor of military science and tactics.

Colonel Crehan, a veteran of World Wars I and II, served with Battery A, 105th Field Artillery in 1917 and 1918, and later that year, with the 8th Field Artillery. In World War II, he saw service in the Southwest Pacific Area, and participated in the New Guinea and Papua campaigns.

This will be the first formal annual inspection of the ROTC since before World War II. The inspection here will be part of the program of the Fifth U. S. Army, the area of which comprises the nine mid-west and northwest states west of the Mississippi.

On Monday afternoon, as a part of the inspection, the corps, under the command of Hugo Littig, cadet Lieutenant Colonel, will participate in a formal inspection in ranks, a battalion parade, calisthenics and company, platoon and squad drills. These events will be open to the public, and, weather permitting, will be held in the NDAC stadium, starting at 2:15. In case of inclement weather, the activities will be transferred to the Field house.

The inspections on Monday morning and on Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon, will consist of theoretical and tactical work, in the Field house, and in nearby parks.

Participating in the ceremonial portion of the inspection will be the NDAC Chapter, National Guidon society, a girls' auxiliary, of which Peggy O'Brien is the president. A luncheon for the inspecting party will be given in Ceres hall Monday noon, under the auspices of the NDAC chapter of Scabbard and Blade National Fraternity, Jack Rilling, president.

Tuesday, also in Ceres hall, at noon, Dr. John H. Longwell and the administrative heads of the College, the deans of the schools, the heads of the independent departments and the faculty committee on military affairs will be the guests of the department of military and air science at an informal luncheon, to meet the visiting officers.

Army Officers To Speak Here

Two officers representing the United States War Department, one from the Army Ground Forces, and the other from the Army Air Forces, will be the speakers at a meeting to be held in Festival hall, Thursday, May 8, at 4:15 p.m., according to Dr. John H. Longwell, NDAC president. They will speak on the subject "The Regular Army as a Career for College Graduates."

Following the addresses, the officials will interview former commissioned officers of the Army who may be interested in Regular Army commissions upon graduation, and other students who desire information as to the procedure now under consideration in the War Department for obtaining Regular Army commissions through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The speakers will be followed by a board of examiners who will be in Fargo, May 12, for the purpose of selecting applicants for Regular Army commissions in connection with the Regular Army Integration program.

Although the meeting on May 8 is primarily for NDAC student ex-officers, a cordial invitation has been extended to others in the Fargo-Moorhead area, interested in the Integration Program, to attend. Further details of the meeting and of the subsequent examining board interviews may be obtained from the NDAC department of military and air science.

Accept Applications

Applications for positions on the student commission, election for which will be held Thursday, May 15, are still open, according to Mary Burfening, commissioner of elections. Time for filing has been extended to 4 p.m., Tuesday, in order to enable all prospective entrants to apply.

Positions open include one junior, one freshman on the athletic board; one freshman, one sophomore, one junior on the board of publications; one junior on the board of public programs; two juniors, one sophomore, one freshman on the board of music, finance and campus affairs; one commission president, who must now be in the last half of his junior year; and one commissioner of military affairs, who must be enrolled in advanced ROTC.

Applicants for the boards of publications, athletics and public programs should apply directly to the boards. Others should bring applications to Dean Sevrinson's office.

Scabbard & Blade Initiates Six, Elects Officers

Initiation for six pledges of the NDAC chapter of Scabbard and Blade and election of officers were held Sunday in the Military department.

New members are:

- Glenn F. Fleck
- John E. Korsmo
- Hugo F. Littig
- Martin B. Ness
- Robert G. Schmitt
- Robert A. Swanson

Elected to head the group was Swanson, Fargo. Other officers are Ness, Fargo, vice president; Schmitt, Sykeston, treasurer; and Littig, Fargo, secretary.

Members of the reorganization group conducting the ceremony were Dick Carley, Casselton; Ellsworth Moe, Abercrombie; and James Kyser and Jack Rilling, Fargo.

Drama Club Reception

The Edwin Booth Dramatic club will hold its annual spring reception Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Little Country Theatre. All NDAC students who are interested in the theatre as well as students from MSTC, Concordia, and Fargo and Moorhead high schools are invited.

this election

One of the biggest events of the college year, the spring elections comes up in another two weeks.

Last weeks turnout for the constitution vote was pitiful; perhaps it was almost a foregone conclusion that it would be adopted, but it is doubtful that any more than ten per cent of the student body even now know anything about the document.

Some students are as yet unaware of the fact that a student commission is in existence; the great majority have lost sight of the fact that it exists for the students benefit.

In two weeks we elect our student governing body for another year. The present commission has done a fine job this year despite the fact that the NDAC student body knows little and cares less about how they are governed.

During the war the administration took over much of the commission's power. It had been slow in relinquishing it, due largely to the fact that the student body didn't care whether it did or not.

The new constitution gives us a fine chance to show that students have good administrative qualities. It shows that there were at least eight students who had the interests of the NDAC students at heart.

For a timely example of student interest, one only had to attend Tuesday's commission meeting. It was brought out there that, so far as the commission could learn, only one person had applied for any of the dozen positions open in the May 15 elections.

The Spectrum believes it is time for NDAC to shake off the apathy which has gripped the campus since October.

It believes that a good old-fashioned, politicking, no-holds-barred election would inject some fire into a group which is a sad excuse for a wide-awake American college body.

If we can't lead ourselves, it's time to give up the ghost. R.G.B.

the spectator

By BOB BUTTERWICK

We see that the Paris correspondent of The Spectator was challenged by a woman the other day for allegedly libelous remarks.

Fame follows Dick Olson, our erstwhile editor, like a magnet. Crowning achievement came last week when he gave the graduation address to the senior class of Abercrombie high school.

We understand that Sandy MacGibbon could have had the job, but he has been afraid of the country ever since he went down to Lisbon to get his teeth fixed and came back married.

Most confusing performance of the current year could have been obtained last week by calling 6396, the Kappa asylum. Chapman made the mistake and wound up with the train and bus schedules, temperature, wind velocity, weather forecast for the next three days, the probably starting pitchers for all the major league games and a recipe for a sugarless cake as a pledge dutifully did her part of Hell week.

Why go to college when you can be a bricklayer? We noticed in a paper the other day that 50 bricklayers were needed at Father Flanagan's Boys' Town. Rates were $2.10 per hour for 53 hours, double time for everything over 40 hours.

Happy memories of another year will soon be here. The Spectre is returning!

Campus drivers who have to get out here at seven o'clock in order to find a parking space are hoping against hope that all the dirt being hauled in west of Science will eventually become a parking lot, but best bet seems to be that it will be just another garden plot for those eager ag men.

We think a revival of the traditional All-College day sometime this month would help put a little life in campus activities. Pre-war students remember that school adjourned at 2:30 on the day in question and was marked by the Alpha Phi Gamma turtle race, faculty-student softball games and tug-of-war, dancing in the library and distribution of the Bull Bison.

Despite a few disadvantages, NDAC students can be glad that the school is in Fargo. It was one of the few places in the country that came out with GI subsistence checks this month.

Camera Club Holds First Print Exhibition

A first print exhibition was held Thursday by the members of the NDAC "Y" Camera club at their regularly scheduled meeting in the College Y.

Miss Frances Kapuscinski, professor of art, presented a critical analysis on each of the prints, and gave a lecture on the good and bad points of each print.

Displaying prints in the exhibition were Don Anderson, R. L. Schultz, R. M. Erwin, Otis Gryde, Roy Spiller, Anne Stegner, and Delbert and Darrell Sand.

Poisonalities

IN THE NOOSE

By PAT O'LEARY

So far this term we've heard nothing about a KD dinner. Why not? The food is great, and the waitresses . . . well, they wouldn't even have to bother with food.

finds you, though, and the first thing you know, you're out on the dance floor, dancing.

After a while, the radio-phonograph breaks down and everybody moves out into the main arena where chow is being served. As you sit down, a card table is set in your lap, and in three more laps, and a dripping candle is set on the table so that you might be able to determine whether or not the object across you is human or not.

By this time the dance floor is so crowded that you are pushed out into the kitchen, and presto! Instead of someone in clinging black, you're holding a wet dish clad in a soggy dishtowel, wiping dishes—good maneuvering there. At 7:59 p. m., the curfew is sounded, your coat is thrown at you, and you are thrown at the door.

After last week's edition came out, those treacherous Thetas revealed that they had sneaked the POP sign off their house about three weeks before and not said a word about it.

I think that I had also better say that the 14 Gamma Phi now junior actives rank among the 14 most beautiful coeds in the world, or something, even when they're spitting at me.

According to the latest rumor from the direction of the Department of Internal Revenue, a certain Mr. Nemzek from Moorhead is having difficulty in trying to claim dependency for one Nick Ginakes. True, Nick is partially dependent upon Mr. Nemzek (indirectly, of course), but he is also over 21, which invalidates the claim.

If the brevities have drawn the crowds that they had at the rehearsals they should really make money. Not that the pre-viewers wouldn't pay money to see it again, either—that sort of thing is good night after night.

Gus Pavacik and Dave Le Bau, those New Jersey aliens, have been putting in a lot of lab time lately. Well, they're just a couple Jersey sweaters.

Have you ever seen red-foiled Bob Smoot decked out in his lavender bow tie and horn-rimmed glasses? Well, don't if you can help it.

Ranking high among "things we would like to hear" is Jerry Mulready speaking at a high school commencement.

This week has had the kind of weather that Wallerius always falls for. She'll probably comment on the wonderful spring, and it will probably be raining pitchforks today (I can't think of a more suitable named college to be deluged by raining pitchforks, either).

Placement Test Set

The college personnel office has announced dates for placement tests for all freshmen and transfer students entering NDAC this term. Tests for new students will be held beginning at 8:30 on the morning of May 3 in room 204 of the Chemistry building.

Socially Yours

Tonight is the last night for the Brevities and is a must for those who have not ambled Festival-hall way. The cast has sacrificed studies, other activities and amusements; it shows. The music, cast and dialogue adds up to a worthwhile evening.

Well, now that we're out on a limb, let's swing on to social doings.

WE TOO

Last week we patted NDU on the back (and this IS the Spectrum) . . . This week we raise the flag at home. Coeds have been helping with the X-ray drive on campus and Gamma Phi have volunteered their services for the downtown X-ray activities on Saturday.

CUPS AND SUCH

KKG broke through with some news this week . . . Dolores Shanks tucked a silver scholarship cup under her arm at the formal banquet Saturday for the highest average this year; Jean Bjorklund, active, snapped on the bracelet for raising her average the most and Margaret Clarke, pledge, pocketed a cash award for the highest average. Dorothy Naves raised her average the most in the pledge class.

Don Hinz was selected as the outstanding member of Gamma Tau chapter of Sigma Chi and as such will be eligible for the Balfour award given to the most outstanding undergraduate Sigma Chi in the country.

A WIDER CIRCLE

Phi Mus number has been increased by two . . . pledges Carol Thielvoldt and Audrey Seefeld. Thetas welcomed Mrs. J. W. Duncan and Audrey Hoyum to their group at pledging Friday.

KENNY AND NEIL

President Wintergreen, alias Kenny Sorvik, is one up on Neil Bergquist when it comes to parenthood, but we're putting our money with Neil when it comes to authenticity . . . he has a son.

SPRING

Sigs and Thetas will frolick on the Theta lawn from 5-7 today. Gamma Phis will go a-picnicking Saturday at local picnic grounds beginning with M.

STILL EATING

And there is still company coming. For instance, Arlys Jenson who is back from Virginia for a short visit, Allen Carstens, Bonnie Martin and Jane Skinner ate at the KD house; Gerry Garland and Dewey Schonberg potlucked with the Thetas; Ruth Watson juggled a tray at in the Kappa abode and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Christison, Dean Dinan, Mrs. Eli Dobervich, Phyllis Probstfield, Dean Amsden, Ralph Hanson, Bob Benno, Dave Maston, Bob Brackley, Dan McGuigan, Bob Frank and Paul Sinner gathered at the Phi Mu house.

SECRETS

Sigs are in a huddle over some momentous undertaking. The news will be out soon they say!

Book Review

By BOB TRUBEY

America and Britain have produced few great writers and fewer significant novels in the last decade. Attracted by the easy money guaranteed by commercial publishers and the movies, writers have restricted themselves to occasional 'bits' for the "quality" magazines, and the short story has come to be 'the' artistic medium.

The revival of interest in 19th century authors was inevitable. The "Pocketbook" and "Penguin" series, together with the "Modern Library" catalogue, have made phenomenal advances, bringing Hawthorne, Melville and Hardy to prominence. Readers find Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" sharing the shelf with current "Ambers".

Standing as they do at the extremes of an era, these authors gulf the bridge between the eighteenth century and the modern day.

"Moby Dick", examined in the light of our century, reveals to the atomic-age reader the changeless, unending fears and ignorance of man, the perpetual combat of high moral purpose and reality. And Melville's earlier "Typee", though essentially an autobiographical romance of Tahiti, is not mere escapist stuff.

Harry's "Mayor of Casterbridge" offers a brilliant study of a man, victimized by circumstances. The mayor, mastered by his own impulsive nature and ignorant of the environmental forces which surrounded him, might well be the prototype of today's bewildered world-citizen.

Hawthorne writing in the waning days of Puritanism, lends understanding to the problems of hypocrisy, pride and avarice, problems which beset "Ambers" of all ages.

The lull

in athletic activity which seems to occur every year between the end of the basketball season and the beginning of the track campaign is at an end at NDAC this week, and track isn't the only sport which begins activities over the weekend.

For tomorrow afternoon when Stan Kostka, first Bison baseball tutor in a number of years, sends his charges into action, the AC will launch on one of the most extensive spring athletic programs in the school's history.

Baseball

should have a successful revival here this spring. Judging from early workouts, it would seem that Stan has a wealth of material from which to mould a winning club.

The Bison

tutor conducted a pair of intra-squad games late last week, and potentially at least, the Bison looked tough. The Herd looked especially good behind the plate and around the infield. Behind the plate Bob Heer, Bob Jepson, and Max Alberts give Kostka three capable backstops. Daley King, an old Bison footballer, poked the longest drive of the intra-squad series, a long liner into centerfield that was good for three bases.

Nick Soulis,

evidently sore at the athletic department for something, decided that the logical place to strike revenge was at the top. The Jamestown dad, batting in Saturday's tilt, caught an inside pitch and lined it sharply foul down the first base line where the ball made a bee-line for Casey Finnegan's head. Casey couldn't quite get out of the way in time and the pill struck him flush behind the ear. Finnegan was down but not out. In fact, by the time Stan Kostka could gallop over to render assistance the "silver fox" was up smiling but resolved to watch proceedings from a little more distant vantage point. The blow, which could have been serious, left the AC athletic director with nothing more than a tender spot behind the ear and a suit-cleaning bill the next day.

Speaking of Casey Finnegan, the Bison director is looking for qualified baseball umpires to work games during the spring. Casey would like any interested candidates who aren't out for some spring sport to drop around and see him in the physical education building.

When

the student body votes at the all-campus election May 15, an extra ballot will be handed them. On it they will be invited to place the name of the athlete on the campus who best epitomizes these characteristics: enthusiasm, good sportsmanship, team spirit and cooperation, athletic ability, and accomplishments. The award, sponsored by the Adam Hat Company, consists of a trophy to be awarded to the winner.

NDAC

will follow the lead of some 400 American colleges and universities who are already taking part in the program, designed to increase sports participation.

AC Baseball Team Plays Tomorrow

Intercollegiate baseball, abandoned here in recent years, gets a lusty post-war revival tomorrow afternoon as Coach Stan Kostka's NDAC Bison meet MSTC in the opening game of the Herd's 1947 diamond campaign. The tilt is slated for 3:30 at MSTC.

The MSTC tilt is the first of an eight game slate that has been lined up by athletic director C. C. Finnegan, and the Bison director has announced that other games with independent teams will be added to the schedule during the spring.

PLAY CONCORDIA

Monday the Herd encounters its second foe, moving to Moorhead for a game with Concordia's Cobbers.

The Bison home slate opens May 9 when the Herd plays host to Wahpeton Science.

The AC will play a home-and-home series with Mayville State Teachers College, meeting the Mayville school at Mayville on May 13, and playing a return engagement in Fargo on May 16.

PLAY WOPS AGAIN

Kostka's crew will journey to Wahpeton on May 20 for their second tussle with the science school, and will return to Fargo on the twenty-third to play Concordia here.

The Herd schedule will close May 27, when the Bison play host to MSTC.

A squad of some 50 candidates has been working out with Kostka and assistant coach Bob Heer on an improvised diamond at the south end of the Bison practice field. With Kostka occupied with a football scrimmage against Concordia, Heer will handle the squad in its first tilt with MSTC.

LINEUP UNCERTAIN

The Bison coaches would make no definite commitments regarding a possible starting lineup for tomorrow's tilt. However, it appears likely that John Maher will open at the initial sack with Maynard Larson or Bob Roy at second base.

Bill Gallagher is set at shortstop, and Don Mickelson will probably get the call at third.

Bruce Warner and Edsel Boe appear set for two outfield slots, with the third settling down to a scrap between Daley King and Howard Evam.

Heer, Max Alberts and Bob Jepson, three capable backstops, give the AC plenty of protection behind the plate.

Neither Heer nor Kostka would give an indication as to who would take the mound in Friday's tussle.

ROTC Rifle Team Beats U Of Hawaii

Defeating the University of Hawaii in a postal rifle match by 21 total points, the NDAC ROTC rifle team closed out the year's firing with a record of 6 wins and 6 losses.

The ROTC squad also placed 21st of 36 teams in the William Randolph Hearst rifle matches for 5th Army area intercollegiate ROTC units. Winner in the 5th Army matches was the University of Illinois.

Gallagher Takes A Cut

Taking a few cuts in batting practice is Bison shortstopper Bill Gallagher as Max Alberts does the backstopping. This pair of South St. Paul performers will see plenty of action as Stan Kostka's Bison diamond crew prepares for its 1947 season.

Bison Scrimmage Cobbers Tomorrow In Practice Tilt

Bison coaches Stan Kostka and Chalky Reed, after conducting numerous spring football experiments, will give their charges the acid test tomorrow afternoon when the Bison take on Jake Christensen's Concordia Cobbers in a scrimmage game. The tilt, slated for the AC practice field, is scheduled for 4.

The two Bison mentors, and center coach Cliff Rothrock, have been devoting much attention to last year's B squad members and men out for football for the first time during recent drills, and all eyes will be on their performances in tomorrow's tussle.

With warmer weather at hand, the Bison hope to continue extensive outdoor drills, and Kostka is planning further scrimmages to test his club.

The Bison mentor did not announce a definite starting lineup, but is expected to reply on Paul Moores and Jack Barner at the ends, Steve Vujovich and Maynard Huisman at the tackles, Vern Strandemo and Walt Bakke at the guards, and Earl Sibley at center.

A veteran quartet: Alvie Lund, Dennis Drews, Charley Miller, and Bert Level is expected to go to the post in the backfield.

Tracksters At MSTC Saturday

Coach Ervin Kaiser's NDAC track team will make a belated debut Saturday when the Bison cinder squad takes on MSTC, Wahpeton Science, and Concordia in a quadrangular meet at MSTC.

The Bison, snowed out in their scheduled opener at Aberdeen last week, were slated to play host to the four-way setto, but Kaiser announced early in the week that the meet would be run on the MSTC track.

STARTS AT 1

Kaiser also announced that the affair would get under way at 1, with field events slated for that hour.

The AC mentor said that races would get under way at 1:30.

Kaiser is guaranteed ample protection in the short distances with Vern Pepple, Stan Jaeger, Bud Lannoye, Jim Noonan, and newly-acquired Charley Miller all entered in either the 100, 220, 440 yard dashes.

John Bjorneby and Vern Albertson are on tap for the middle distances with Ken Lawson the lone Bison entry in the mile run.

George Horner has been entered in the broad jump and the veteran AC performer will also run the 100 yard dash.

POLE VAULTERS ABUNDANT

Norris Johnson, Dick Hilden, and A. K. Dolyniuk give Kaiser three experienced pole vaulters. Dolyniuk will also compete in the 220 yard dash while Johnson will be entered in the high jump and broad jump.

Jerry Mulready is again on hand to bulwark the shot put and discus throw, while Bob Rinde, a former North Dakota high school champion will be a Herd entry in the hurdles.

The meet marks the beginning of a heavy track slate that has the Bison in action every weekend until May 24.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All men interested in representing NDAC as members of the inter-collegiate tennis team must report to a meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Field house, announces tennis coach E. E. Kaiser.

DONALD HORNE, senior in agriculture from Devils Lake, was elected president of Epsilon Delta chapter of Alpha Tau Omega last week, succeeding Bruce Borman.

Horne, a veteran, is a member of Saddle and Siroloin and on the business staff of the Bison Furrows.
