Number 28

79 To Receive Degrees On Monday

Board Names Sevrinson As Acting Head

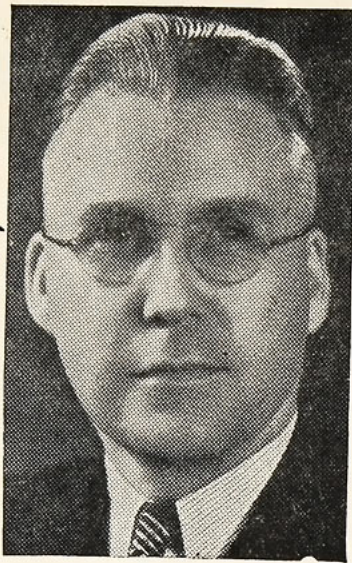

With the acceptance of the resignation of Dr. Frank L. Eversull, president of NDAC, the State Board of Higher Education meeting at Grand Forks Tuesday, named C. A. Sevrinson, dean of men and assistant to the president, acting president, to serve until a successor is appointed.

Dr. Eversull, whose resignation is effective September 1, was granted an interim leave of absence, effective immediately, announced A. F. Arnason, board commissioner.

Dean Sevrinson has been at NDAC since 1928. He has been dean of men and assistant to the president since 1938. He received his master of science degree from the University of North Dakota and is a graduate of Mayville State Teachers college. Dean Sevrinson, a native of Reynolds, N. D., was superintendent of schools at Glenburn and principal of Williston junior high school before joining the NDAC staff.

In a statement to the Spectrum yesterday, Dean Sevrinson said, "With the cooperation of all members of the staff and the student body, we expect to do everything possible that will contribute to a better NDAC. I, personally, deem it a pleasure and trust that I shall be able to do the job satisfactorily."

A committee has been named by the board to meet with the college advisory committee to select candidates from among which the new successor to Dr. Eversull will be named. Serving on the committee are Roy Johnson of Casselton, Howard Henry of Westhope and Arnason.

Initiate New Senior Staff

New members of Senior Staff, honorary service fraternity for women, announced last week at the 11th annual Honors Day convocation, were initiated June 6 at 5 p.m., in the lounge of Old Main. New staff members are:

- Jeanne Hendrickson
- Inez Carlson
- June Carlson
- Janice Bergeson
- Carolyn Bohrer
- Adelaide Dinwoodie
- Edith Gelder
- Mary Kraemer
- Melba Maston
- Lillian Nydahl
- Norma Jean Steinmeyer

The initiation banquet at the Graver hotel at 6:30 p.m., had Mrs. Frank L. Eversull as a special guest.

FFA Meets On Campus Next Week

The Victory convention of the North Dakota Association of Future Farmers of America to be held at NDAC in Fargo June 19-21 will be dedicated to members who served their country during World War II, either in the armed forces or on the farms, according to Richard Unkenholz of Mandan, state president.

Speakers during the convention will include the national FFA president, J. Glyndon Stuff of Dixon, Ill.; H. J. Gramlich of Chicago, general agricultural agent for the Chicago and North Western railway system; Claude O. Ebling, editor and publisher of Stock and Dairy Farmer, Duluth; Rev. Roland G. Hohn, Dr. F. L. Eversull, Dr. H. L. Walster, and C. A. Sevrinson of Fargo and Unkelholz.

A feature of the convention will be the state FFA band made up of members from local FFA chapters throughout North Dakota and directed by Prof. E. J. Schroepfer of NDAC. Ernst Van Vlissingen of NDAC will direct group singing. Local chapters will provide other entertainment.

Activities of the convention will include election of State Farmers, the highest degree conferred by the state association, selection of the state Star Farmer, election of new state officers and formulation of a program of work for the coming year, public speaking contest, chapter meeting and recreation demonstrations, and announcement of winners of individual and chapter awards. A banquet will be held Friday evening, June 21.

The Future Farmer's of America is a national organization of farm boys who are enrolled in vocational agriculture in public schools.

Officers of the North Dakota Association, in addition to Unkenholz, are Harvey Nelsen, Kenmare, vice president; Ray Halvorson, Rugby, secretary; Charles Palmberg, Velva, treasurer; Clinton Beard, Williston, reporter; Harry Bruhn, Elgin, Clifford Haro, LaMoure, and Merle Daley, Park River, officers-at-large. Palmberg is now serving with the army in Japan.

Panhellenic Issues Bulletin

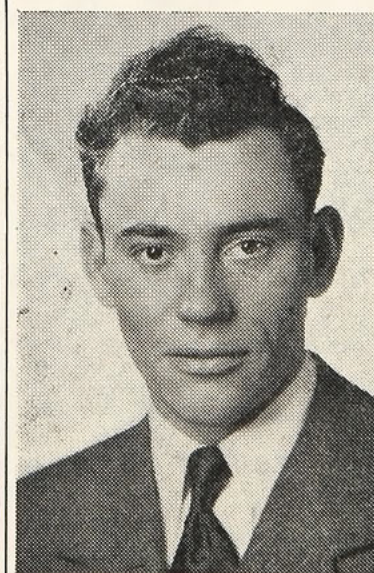

Pictures, news of sorority activities and members will introduce one phase of NDAC social activity to prospective college enrollees, according to Helen Crews, instigator of the initial issue of the Panhellenic Bulletin.

Each of the six campus sororities has a page to explain its social, scholastic and philanthropic accomplishments, as well as to pictorially introduce sorority sisters.

Dean Pearl Dinan, Panhellenic advisor, penned the foreword of welcome. Miss Crews composed the Panhellenic page on which she pictures the Council, explains sorority fees and the quota system.

"We want the girls who are entering college in the fall to realize the social and intellectual benefits and enjoyment derived from sorority membership," Miss Crews emphasized.

The bulletin will be sent out during the summer to all those who have signified an interest or desire to attend NDAC.

War Department Announces ROTC Post War Program

Increased subsistence rates for advanced students and the inclusion of elementary students in subsistence payments may be included in changes to be effected next fall in the ROTC program, the NDAC military department announces.

A revised program designed to spur interest in the Reserve Officers Training corps has been announced by the war department, it was revealed.

The new plan, to be put in effect throughout the United States next fall, will make a number of improvements upon the former set-up. NDAC, as a land-grant college, may continue to require students to complete two years of either military science or physical education, but the new setup will require that students both in the elementary and advanced courses meet certain requirements. The War department is seeking legislation to raise the pay of men in the advanced course from 25 cents to $1.91 per day and to obtain emoluments of 66 cents a day for men in the elementary course. Advanced students, however, would be required to purchase their own uniforms.

The new ROTC program, as outlined, will include instruction both on the high school and college level. The high school course, known as the junior program, may be offered in schools authorized by the War department as a preparation for the college course. Three years of junior ROTC will count as one year of the senior course.

Students in the elementary college course will be required to study general military science three hours a week for two years.

The advanced course, comprising five hours a week for two years, will prepare students for reserve commissions in specific branches of the service. Although the policy in the past has been for a six-week camp to be attended by students in their junior year, an effort is being made to increase the duration of the camp to eight weeks.

Minimum requirements for a reserve commission will include the successful completion of four years of academic instruction and completion of the senior ROTC course. Candidates seeking commissions in professional branches, such as the medical corps, must first receive their professional degrees.

Bison Announcement

Some 1946 Bison yearbooks will be available Monday for out of town students, announces Doris Oliver, editor, after final conferences with printers of the book.

All summer school students, Fargoans and anyone else wanting to purchase this year's book may do so June 24 from 10 to 6 in the Bison office, room 123, Science hall, Miss Oliver also stated.

Yearbooks will be available during the summer at the office of the registrar.

Price of the 1946 book is $4.05 or $1.35 per term.

Iowa College President Main Speaker

One chemical technology student will be a candidate for a master of science degree and 78 other students in NDAC's six schools and department of education will be candidates for bachelor of science degrees at the 52nd annual spring term commencement exercises to be held Monday in Festival hall at 10 a.m.

Dr. Charles E. Friley, president of Iowa State college, will deliver the commencement address on the subject: Science and Human Values.

Dr. Friley has been president of Iowa State since March 18, 1936, coming to the Iowa school's campus originally as dean of the division of science in 1932.

A native of Texas, Dr. Friley received his bachelor's degree at Texas A. & M. in 1919 and was granted the degree of master of arts by Columbia university in 1923 and the degree of doctor of laws at Simmons university in 1929.

Activities for the graduating seniors, their families and guests will begin Sunday afternoon. Baccalaureate services will be held in Festival hall at 3 p.m., with Rev. Roland Gilbert Hohn delivering the sermon. Rev. Emerson J. Sanderson will pronounce the invocation and the benediction. Music will be furnished by Ernst Van Vlissingen and Edyth Sherwood Cleveland.

Acting president C. A. Sevrinson will confer the degrees upon Monday's graduates after they have been presented to him by their respective deans.

NDAC's Gold Star band under the direction of Prof. E. J. Schroepfer will furnish music for the exercises with Rev. Thomas Hendrickson offering the invocation and benediction.

Last event of the two-day program for graduates will be the senior luncheon given by the Student Commission for graduates and their guests in Ceres hall at noon Monday.

Single candidate for a master of science degree is Archie N. Bolstad of Fleetwood, Minn., in the school of chemical technology.

Candidates for bachelor of science degrees include:

Agriculture—Allan Henry Burman, Russell Clarence Christianson, John A. Coles, Ludvik Grande, Floyd Robert Groethe, Raymond George Harens, Daniel Sander Lee, LeRoy Milton Naves, Neil Andrew Skaar and Arnold C. Toftgruben.

Applied Arts and Sciences—Reo Norton Carr, Helen Charlotte Fowler, David Herbert Fredin, Kathryn Marie Householder, Kathrine Hegland Knutsson, Alice Lorraine Kibler, Cathryn Casselman Lawrence, Elizabeth Louise Payne, Jacqueline Aldene Pushor, George William Rulon, Robert Allen Shaw, John B. Slingsby, Cecil Owen Sturgeon, and Harris L. Vowles.

The Other Side

Slavery is unconstitutional in this "best of all possible worlds" that we call the United States, yet I believe the majority of the people in this country would condone this condition which exists in ethical violation of our stated principles.

A certain class of humanity in this country is using its only weapon to fight this condition and they are being denounced for doing so. Human nature almost drives us to make conclusions from the facts we have at hand and very seldom does it require us to doubt our facts or our source of information from which we derive these conclusions.

We go off half-cocked every time we hear of some situation that apparently might do us harm but no good. I daresay the author is as guilty as anyone. To my way of thinking labor is fighting against being trampled to the point where they are just slaves in actuality but not name. They are fighting against the proposition that money is the actuating influence of the universe. They are fighting for a life for the worker. They are fighting to raise the worker from a hand to mouth existence to a reasonably secure and happy life. I believe they ought to have this privilege. As long as one is a detached observer and is not greatly affected by either economic necessity or pressure he is almost sure to take the side of capital. Why—brings up the second point.

Capital—what does the word mean? Winston says "4. Pol. Econ. the actual goods purchased by invested money, especially such goods as are used for the production of further wealth, as machinery, buildings, or railroad equipment."

To my notion, this definitely includes almost every newspaper in the country! Where do we get our information on what is going on in the world? We get it from these very newspapers which are examples of capitalism in themselves. Isn't it logical that they should wear slightly colored glasses when purveying the facts to the public? I imagine that the reader has seen paid advertisements of the management side of the question for it is good business for a newspaper to know where its bread is buttered and actually it is bound to be sympathetic because it is a labor-hiring unionized business itself. The question is, have you ever seen an advertisement giving labor's viewpoint? The answer will undoubtedly be no. It simply wouldn't be good business.

Remember, half-truths are the basis of propaganda. It is quite possible that labor may be right.
—C.D.

Campus Characters

If there be observable proof of theories in regard to reincarnation on the NDAC campus, there is no better verification than in the person of this human hairbrush. A Greek misogynist if there ever was one, this lad whose name sounds like sour pickles models himself after the ancient Greeks, particularly Euripides, who was known to scribble verse on the walls of Greek campus restaurants.

Equipped with hot and cold running water, this virile young ex-Mustang pilot divides his talents between composing classic-type verse, writing musical compositions, playing admirals in campus operettas, discussing the relationship of the atomic theory to feminine ankles, and glad-handing brother SAE's.

No gamut is too long for this boy to run. While a misogynist, he finds it not at all inconsistent to chase unprotected coeds across college campuses at night or to expound vociferously in public places on the literary style of Giovanni Boccaccio. He's an affable fellow and a great guy to talk with—particularly if you have nothing to say.

Conference Plans Crystallize For Intrastate Student Meeting

Final plans are being made this week for the two-day intrastate student conference to be held on the NDAC campus by student action groups from North Dakota's schools of higher learning for the purpose of formulating plans to get more appropriations from the legislature for the colleges of the state.

Daly King, chairman of NDAC's four-student delegation, said last night that only Dickinson State Teachers college and Ellendale's State Normal and Industrial college had not been heard from concerning the meeting. Boffineau State School of Forestry previously had announced it would not send student representatives to the session.

Valley City State Teachers college is sending two student representatives while the remaining schools of higher learning in North Dakota are being represented by four delegates each.

First meeting of the group will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m., with other sessions slated for 9 and 2 on Wednesday.

Faculty Will Honor Eversulls Saturday

NDAC staff members will honor Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Eversull at an informal farewell reception in the Lincoln Log cabin Saturday evening. Hours will be from 8:30 to 10.

Guests will include members of the board of administration and the executive board of the NDAC alumni association.

A musical program will be given by a string trio including Mrs. Ernst Van Vlissingen, Mrs. W. P. Tarbell and Mrs. E. J. Schroepfer, with vocal solos by Mr. Van Vlissingen.

Miss Matilda Thompson is general chairman of the reception assisted by Misses Pearl Dinan and Lucille Horton and Messrs. C. A. Sevrinson, A. Glenn Hill and Elliott Hardaway.

In charge of the refreshment table will be Misses Constance Leeb, Minnie Anderson, Mary Rankin and Mrs. Jane Dobervich.

Edwin Booth Club Initiates Quartet

Four were initiated into the Edwin Booth Dramatic society on the stage of the Little Country Theatre June 12 at 4 p.m. with president Edith Gelder officiating assisted by Adelaide Dinwoodie, Marilyn Collette and June Carlson.

New initiates are:
Howard Mohlar
Ruth Wilhan
Alex MacGibbon
Don Viets

Viets, on the East coast at present, will become an active member when he returns next fall.

Following the initiation, the group picnicked at advisor A. G. Arvold's home. Alumnae Eunice Walster and Beverly Halbeisen were honored guests.

ADELAIDE DINWOODIE, junior in applied arts and sciences, heads the new roster of Edwin Booth Dramatic club officers. Her associates are Marilyn Collette, vice president, June Carlson, secretary-treasurer, Alex MacGibbon, keeper of the chest.

Miss Collette and Miss Carlson are sophomore and senior home economics students, respectively; MacGibbon is a sophomore in applied arts and sciences.

EDITH GELDER, junior in applied arts and sciences, was elected president of Senior Staff, honorary women's fraternity, recently.

Other officers are Melba Maston, vice president, Lillian Nydahl, secretary, and Adelaide Dinwoodie, treasurer.

Miss Maston and Miss Nydahl are juniors in home economics; Miss Dinwoodie is a junior in applied arts and sciences.

Four NDAC Sororities Send Delegates To National Summer Conventions

Delegates from four of the six campus sororities will attend national conventions during the summer, for the first time since the beginning of World War II.

Gamma Phi Betas will convene at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire, from July 2-7. Joyce Gundvaldsen is official delegate. Edith Gelder, president, Jocelyn Birch, state rushing chairman and alumnae advisor, and Mrs. Russell Sands, national province director, will accompany her.

Shirley Hulebak, official delegate, and Miss Pauline Reynolds, national treasurer, will attend the Kappa Delta convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, June 27-30.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will celebrate its 75th anniversary at Mackinac Island in Lake Michigan July 1-6. Jean Altendorf, official delegate, Martha Dahl and Dolores Shanks will board the special convention train.

Mary Burfening, Phi Mu official delegate, will journey to Mackinac Island July 12-17. She will be accompanied by Helen Crews, convention secretary, Virginia Hill, Deloris Fischbein and Dolores Fankhanel.

DELORES MARTINSON GLORIA ASKER DEAN DAVY

Ingenuity abounded at the Art Club's annual Bohemian dinner June 4 in the Art Attic when faculty guests and Art Club members turned to hat designing.

Gloria Asker's shirt collar hat with colored ties for trim took the award for most original headpiece.

True to home economics, Dean Davy, appeared in a paper plate complete with a nutritious meal, and she departed with the award for the hat most suited to her personality.

An overturned basket decked with purple flowers won Delores Martinson the trophy for the most beautiful chapeau.

Mr. Hardaway's bar with miniature liquor bottles, the monkey and playing music box worn by Miss Rankin, Mrs. Dobervich's lighted lighthouse and Inez Carlson's paper fan and carnival headband merited honorable mention according to Miss Constance Leeb and Dr. Bruno Vassel, judges.

Chairmen of committees were Art Club president Marilyn Collette, general chairman; Delores Martinson, decorations; Delores Shanks, food; Lillian Nydahl, hostesses; June Carlson, awards; Ruth Wilhan, entertainment; Loreen Leeb, invitations; Gloria Asker, clean up; Gwen Lee, waitresses; Jeanne Wallerius, publicity.

Blue Key To Give Award For Student Show Script

Seeking to make the 1947 Bison Brevities an all-student show, Blue Key Service fraternity announced plans this week for a play-writing contest which will offer a $50 prize to the NDAC student whose play is selected as the show's vehicle.

Mel Miller, Blue Key president, said it is the desire of the fraternity to return to a show in which professional writing talent plays no part. The last production of the campus talent type was in 1940, when Roy Pedersen's show, The Blue Key Turns, was presented. Since that time professional operettas, including Too Many Girls, Sweethearts and HMS Pinafore, have been featured.

No assurance is given contestants, however, Miller said, that the best script submitted will be given the award. Should there be no script meeting the satisfaction of the judges, no award will be given.

Comprising the committee of judges will be a member of the college English department a member of Blue Key and Ernst Van Vlissingen chairman.

Honors Day Convo Gives Recognition For Scholarship

Awards totaling approximately $2,000 were received by NDAC students in the Honors Day convocation June 6.

Winner of the $100 Norman B. Black scholarship, offered by the Fargo Rotary club, was Nancy Headsten, junior in pharmacy.

Three Grads Serve Cornell

Three graduates of NDAC's school of agriculture are now members of the faculty of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell university.

Donald W. Bates, a 1943 graduate, served in the navy and has just recently joined the Cornell faculty.

Marlin G. Cline entered Cornell after graduating from NDAC in 1935 and with a doctor's degree went to the soils faculty.

Neal F. Jensen graduated from NDAC in 1939 and secured his doctor's degree at Cornell and is now specializing in oat breeding.

C. C. Volderking, class of 1938, who received his doctor's degree at the Cornell agriculture school, now in the navy. C. Vinton Plath, class of 1937, is completing doctor's requirements at Cornell while Andrew Vanvig, 1942 graduate, held a faculty post at the New York school in 1942,43 and will return there in the fall.

Heard About The Herd

By Kenneth Sachs

are in order for Theta Chi this week for its intramural championship softball team. Favored from the beginning, this club had every opportunity to crack up under the pressure, but they seemed to get better with every game. Monday's 11-1 win over the ATOs climaxed a successful season.

The softball victory was the second intramural win for Theta Chi this year. Their other title came in the golf tournament. The other I-M titles went to the ATOs in basketball, the Vets in volleyball.

In addition, the Bison intramural golf team won the Georgia Tainter trophy by downing Concordia.

NEXT YEAR

intramural director, Ernie Kaiser, plans an even more extensive program with leagues scheduled for touch or flash ball, basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton, golf and softball. There is a possibility of one or two more being added next fall. Indications are that next year's program will be the best in history.

TWO COURSES

are being offered by the athletic department for the summer session. They are physical education 104, elementary golf, and physical education 204, technique and skills in badminton. Both these classes must be set up by arrangement with Coach Ernie Kaiser in the Fieldhouse. Students must furnish their own clubs and balls for golf.

ANOTHER

sports calendar is folded up and put away for this year, and Bison fans look forward to next year with high hopes in the first real post-war season. We hope to see you all next fall when the Bison gridders make their bid for the North Central football title.

And how about our Fargo-Moorhead Twins? As of yesterday they were in second place, only a half game out of first with a crucial series coming up at Superior with the league-leading Blues.

Theta Chi Takes I-M Crown Whipping ATO Team, 11-1

Theta Chi took advantage of nine ATO errors and combined them with some timely hitting to blast out an 11-1 decision over its fraternity rival in the championship game of the 1946 intramural softball league.

Charlie Stephenson hurled three-hit ball for the winners in racking up his fifth straight win. Jake Stappler was charged with the loss.

The Theta Chi ten jumped into a 3-0 lead in the last half of the first inning on Ed Leach's single and three ATO errors. They added 4 more in the third on four miscues followed by Lowry Cullen's first double and a solo smash by Daly King.

The ATOs got their only run in the fourth on a double by Bob Cook and two infield outs.

The champions came back with a tally in the last half of that frame when Nelson led off with a double and came across on a pair of infield outs.

Jerry Flashe opened the fifth for Theta Chi with a single. An error moved him to second and Cullen's second double brought him in. King followed with another two-bagger which sent Cullen across. King then concluded the scoring by racing home on the ninth ATO bobble.

This win gave the Theta Chi club an undefeated record, the champs having previously won three games during the regular season and one in the playoffs. The ATOs finished with 3 wins and 2 losses.

YMCA Plans Program For Next School Year

Plans for the 1946-47 YMCA program were drawn up by members of the Y cabinet at a retreat at Professor Ottersen's lake home recently.

Expansion of the Christian educational and recreational program was discussed, and plans were formulated for an extensive orientation program for all new NDAC students.

Those attending the retreat were Bill Provance, Luverne Hall, Harold Stegner, Lloyd Sparks, Dick Broschat, Vern Hathaway, Mr. Elliott Hardaway and Professor Ottersen.

NORTH DAKOTA

Wallerius, Nydahl Win Danforth Trip

Lillian Nydahl and Jeanne Wallerius have been named by a committee of faculty and Tryota club members to receive the annual Danforth scholarship awards.

The Sam Dobervich Memorial award, made this year for the second time in memory of the first NDAC student to receive a Danforth scholarship was given to Jo Ann Zimmerman.

The three award winners were announced last week by Dean of Women Pearl Dinan at the 11th annual Honors Day convocation.

Miss Nydahl, a senior in home economics, will be a guest of the Ralston-Perina Co., at St. Louis, Mo., for two weeks beginning July 14. From July 30 until August 12, she will be at Camp Minawanca, near Shelby, Mich.

Miss Wallerius' and Miss Zimmerman's awards entitle them to the same two-week stay at the Michigan camp.

Five Represent NDAC At Geneva Confab

Bill Provance, Luverne Hall, Dick Broschat, Frank Wodnik and Maurice Anderson will represent NDAC at the first post-war annual YMCA-YWCA Lake Geneva conference at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, June 15-22.

The conference will deal with Christian problems confronting college and university students.

Methodists Send Two For Weeks' Training

Gloria Bachman, local worship chairman for the college group of the Methodist church, and Wanda Roberts, state secretary, have left for a week's training period at the Youth Fellowship school in Indiana.

Miss Bachman is a freshman in applied arts and sciences, while Miss Roberts is enrolled in home economics.

Approximately 100 delegates from 33 districts in the United States will attend.

Howard J. Gramlich, general agricultural agent, Chicago and North Western railroad system, will address the Future Farmers of America on the occasion of their Victory convention at NDAC at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, June 19, on the topic: "The Romance of Agriculture".

Gramlich has a career of more than 30 years in the agricultural field. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, he served for a short time upon completing his college education, with the farm management department of the Department of agriculture, returning to the university to accept a teaching position in its department of agricultural extension.

In 1913 and 1914 he served as assistant director of the department, then joined the university's department of animal husbandry. He was a member of the staff of this department for 24 years, the last 22 of which he was chairman of the department.

In 1938 he left the university to become secretary of the American Shorthorn Breeders association in Chicago, where he remained for four years, leaving there to become general agricultural agent of the North Western in 1942.

As the railroad's chief agricultural representative he traveled extensively throughout the country, inspecting regional agricultural situations and discussing with farmers their individual and common problems. His travels have taken him out of the country into Canada, Mexico, Great Britain, Holland, Belgium and France.

RICHARD L. WHITE, a member of the NDAC economics department since 1940, terminates his teaching career this spring to enter private business. Mr. White was on leave of absence for three years while serving in the U.S. army and returned to the faculty last fall.

Expect Nearly 200

Nearly 190 seniors and their guests and faculty members will be present at the Student Commission sponsored buffet luncheon in Ceres hall following commencement exercises Monday, according to Miss Pearl Dinan, dean of women, who is in charge of arrangements.

New commission members will serve as hosts at the affair.

NOTICE

Any women students interested in being camp counselors may see Dean Pearl Dinan about opportunities in Girl Scout camps located in Oregon.
