Commission Backs Free All-College Dance This Friday

NDAC students will have no ticket prices to worry about Friday night as they dance to the music of George Schoen's orchestra at the first all-college dance of the spring term sponsored by the Student Commission. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 in the Fieldhouse with one student activity ticket per couple the price of admission.

Doris Oliver, in charge of publicity, announces that although placards advertising the dance state that it will be held in Festival hall, the all-college event has been shifted to the Fieldhouse.

Student commissioners serving on the arrangements committee include Ardis Swensen, checking and chaperons, and Shirley Hulebak, orchestra.

Registration Total

Registration for NDAC's 1946 spring term hit a total of 1,170 students yesterday according to figures released by the office of Registrar A. H. Parrott.

This compares with a 461 total at the same time last year and a winter quarter total of 1,087 in the college plus 33 in the farm school short course.

Registrar Parrott's office indicated that the present total will definitely be increased since more students are registering each day.

Smith Seeks ROTC Men

All returned servicemen eligible for advanced ROTC training are urged to contact Capt. Irving L. Smith, head of the NDAC military department who will explain the benefits derived from enrollment in the two-year course.

Commissioned officers are not eligible for the advanced training but all enlisted men, regardless of the branch of service they were in, can receive up to 18 credit hours toward their college degree if they have completed at least one year in uniform. In addition, reserve commissions are granted successful students and certain subsistence fees are paid by the government.

All veterans who have returned to school may gain certain hours of college credit by presenting their service records at the military department office.

Complete Plans For Annual Prom Event

Plans for the annual Junior-Senior Prom, one of the main events on the campus social calendar for the spring term and the entire school year, are underway. Scheduled for May 24, the semi-formal dance held in the Fieldhouse will be highlighted by a grand march.

All juniors and seniors will attend the dance free of charge, but underclassmen will be charged admission.

Campus Voice

The polls in the office of the Registrar will be open soon, April 18 to be exact, in order that the student body may elect five new student commissioners and two new members to the Board of Publications Control.

But even before considering who to vote for it would behoove each one of us to mentally nominate himself for one or more of the vacancies which exist in these governing bodies.

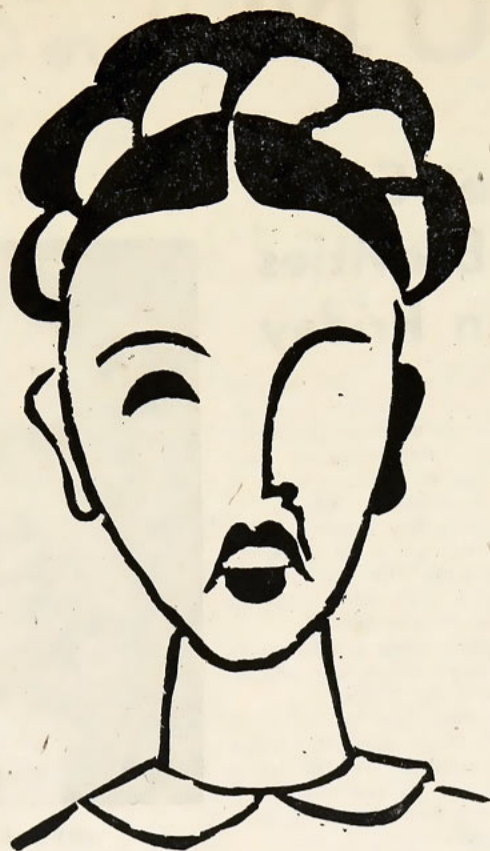

In former years huge, and rather well-organized political parties battled about the campus, emplaced and tore down placards advertising the various candidates, and in general made the college elections gala as well as thoroughly satisfying affairs.

By the people whom we place in the Student Commission we show our interest and ability to govern this institution. There are more students with worldly experience and ability on our campus this spring than there ever have been before.

With this edition we revive a pre-war department called "Campus Characters." The purpose of this department is to exploit humor by lampooning some of the more pronounced characters on the campus.

The choice for our initial torpedo at society was thoughtfully considered and the present candidate was chosen as the most likely to succeed in the launching of this ship of sedition.

This angora-haired Belinda, this 20th century Lady Godiva, usually conceals her tresses in fear after having been ruthlessly exposed in high school to a work of Alexander Pope's called "The Rape of the Lock." It is rumored that she is the inspiration for a current Dick Tracy songstress.

Dunbar Assists In Editing Chem Series

BY MEL MILLER

Ralph E. Dunbar, Ph. D., dean of the school of chemistry at NDAC, is wearing a big smile these days and for a reason. The Encyclopedia of Chemical Reactions, a five-volume series, was recently published by the Reinhold Publishing company of New York.

There is nothing like this Encyclopedia anywhere in the world. Dr. Dunbar and other chemists have systematically abstracted the chemical literature of the world for all known chemical reactions of the 92 known chemical elements.

To draw a simple comparison, the average college text contains not more than 12 reactions for aluminum. Dr. Dunbar states that this publication contains 659 for aluminum.

Dr. Dunbar came to NDAC in the fall of 1937 from the staff of Iowa State college. Serving as professor of chemistry at that time, he became dean of the school of chemistry in 1943.

He received his bachelor's degree at Dakota Wesleyan; his master's degree at Columbia; and his Ph. D. from Wisconsin.

Vittles By Viets

The way the "ice" is showing up it won't be long before NDAC will become a Mr. and Mrs. institution. (All single men and women apply for the fall term at the front gate of the University of North Dakota.)

NDAC And You

North Dakota is a great state in a great country. The Northwest is the section of the future in these United States, and our state is located in the heart of this region.

In the future, as in the past, our school must and will, continue to play its share in the development of our state. But that future of the school depends on you, the student.

Our traditions of the past have been built firmly on the character, integrity and leadership of our students and faculty. Our traditions of the future must be built on these same qualities of citizenship.

We have here a school of which we can be proud, but no school can long survive on its past record. It is the duty of every student to maintain and improve this record. It is not a duty enforced by law, but rather a duty that should be self imposed.

This is our school. Its future and ours depend on the qualities of interest, spirit and co-operation we develop.

basketball team was well represented during the recent all-city tournament. Dick Hilden and Dan Polis were members of the winning Red River Hardware team, Marvel Deike and Bubby Drews were on the NDAC Campus Barber Shop quint and Jerry Mulready was dropping them in for the Grand Recreation five. Other familiar faces in the various line-ups included Wally Solien, former Moorhead high school great now a student at NDAC, Carl Zander, Elwood Bohn, Fin Grinaker, Aub Johnson, Augie Hoeger and Charlie Melberg from Concordia and Curls Nelson of MSTC.

NORTH DAKOTA'S SIOUX

and the Bemidji State Teachers college football teams are planning a practice game during the spring season. Sioux coach, Red Jarrett, is busy welcoming back a host of players from his 1940 and 1941 elevens and is trying to schedule a game with the powerful Winnipeg Bombers. Incidentally the Sioux will show the fans in this area a new type of formation next season when they come out with the 'A' which has been used successfully by the University of West Virginia. Unlike the 'T', it uses either a direct or indirect pass from center which will give even more power to the Nodak attack.

SEVERAL NCI LOOP

schools, as well as other colleges in this area, are planning spring baseball programs. NDAC is notable only by its continued absence from the sport. There has been considerable agitation on the campus for some sort of baseball program but it looks now as if softball will take its place for another year. An intramural program is planned after the completion of the volleyball schedule.

There is also a possibility of several other meets which haven't been set as yet.

UND Plans Baseball For Summer Season

North Dakota University is considering a resumption of baseball on its spring sports calendar. As a result of student agitation the athletic department is working on a plan which would run the baseball season into the summer session which usually is lacking in sports competition. There is a possibility of regular loop games being played on Sundays if several other schools in the area adopt the same plan.

As an added incentive, Kostka is planning several scrimmages with Concordia, MSTC and possibly the Winnipeg Bombers.

Uniforms will be issued Monday with loosening up work to begin Tuesday.
