GPB Sponsor Bond Drive

In connection with the Seventh War Loan Drive, the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority will sponsor a War Bond Drive on the campus on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week. June Isaak is in charge of the drive.

With the purchase of War Bonds and stamps, a queen will be chosen from candidates of five sororities and the Independents. Candidates are: Phi Omega Pi, Kathy Riley; Kappa Delta, Gwen Host; Alpha Gamma Delta, Marjorie Peterson; Phi Mu, Dorine Grenier; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Jean Johnson; and Independents, Beth Cochran.

A booth will be placed in front of Old Main where stamps may be purchased between the hours of 11 and 1:30 on Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday. Each ten cent purchase will entitle a person to one vote for a candidate. With the purchase of a bond, the person will be entitled to a number of votes. The candidate with the greatest number of votes will be honored on Honors Day, Thursday, May 24. She will be presented with a cup.

Ceres Hall Gives Party

On Monday night, May 14, a brightly decorated Corridor Club 21 had a successful opening night. This unique club was the theme of a corridor party sponsored by the twenty-one girls of main and single corridors in the girls' dormitory. Situated on the fourth floor of Ceres, Club 21 featured music, dancing, games, a floorshow, and refreshments.

Dance music was furnished by Mrs. Manning and Lucille, who formed a smooth piano and clarinet combination. Under the supervision of Allison Hartz, Chief Bartender, lime punch and cookies were served to guests at the "bar" and at tables arranged along the edges of the floor.

The floorshow, consisted of talent from the two hostess corridors, featured music, dancing, and skits. Included in the program were the following: The Syncopated Morons, (vocal trio), Gwen Aakason, Sue Naaden, Naomi Schuricht; Lucille Manning, clarinet solo; Mary Jane Shurr, vocal solo in the Lena Horrie style; Laura Pollman, imitation of Frank Sinatra; Manning and Shurr, novelty dance team; Marge Paul, fortune teller; Carolyn Bohrer and Eileen Herges, tap dancing; Peg Pavlik, Phyl Westra, De Lores Akason, Dorine Smith, Colleen Keck, Carol Stover, Ruth Twete, Dolores Geiger, "Chorus ala Club 21"; girls from single corridor, "Sketches from Single." Other guest presentations were as follows: Gloria Seidel, vocal solo; Nancy Headsten, "Gwendolyn and the Rabbit" (song and dance); Pat Pushor, graceful receipt of acknowledged accomplishment on her part.

Skillfully interspersing the numbers with suitable bits of mirth and madness was Mary Grommesh, official M. C. A Conga led by Alice Hanson concluded the program, after which couple dancing was resumed. The evening was climaxed by single corridor's tuneless but touching rendition of "Good Night, Ladies", after which the gaily costumed group returned to their respective rooms.

Panhellenic To Hold Scholarship Service

On Monday, May 21, at 8 o'clock the College Panhellenic Association will present its seventeenth Annual Scholarship Recognition Service, in the Little Country Theater. Dorothy Allen, incoming president of the Panhellenic Council will be the presiding officer. The presentation of awards will be made by Dorothy Myhra, retiring president of the Council. Dean Dinan will be the speaker for the occasion.

Honors Day On May 23

Senior Staff and Blue Key, honorary service fraternities on the campus will sponsor the annual Honors Day Convocation on Wednesday, May 23, at 11 o'clock at which time new members of the two organizations will be "called" and scholarship awards will be made for the school year 1945-46. Members of Phi Kappa Phi will be presented to the student body and ranking scholarship students in the freshman, sophomore and junior classes will be announced.

In charge of arrangements are Dorothy Myhra, president of Senior Staff, and Gordon Odney, president of Blue Key, Dean Severson, member of Blue Key, will be master of ceremonies, and President Eversull will announce the awards.

Weather permitting an out-of-door convocation will be held to the East of the Library, otherwise it will take place in LCT. The band will be out and caps and gowns will make their first appearance on the campus for the present senior class.

Thompson and Hill Honored

Mr. Glenn Hill and Miss Matilda Thompson of the Mathematics Department at the North Dakota Agricultural College have been invited by the State Department of Education to serve on a state committee to write a syllabus for mathematics to be used in the secondary schools of North Dakota.

The members of the committee are Mr. K. W. Hammer, Jamestown, chairman; Sister Chryssatom, Jamestown; A. Glenn Hill, N. D. A. C.; Woodrow McBride, Wahpeton; John Thompson, State Teachers College, Dickinson; Matilda B. Thompson, N. D. A. C., Fargo.

Mr. Hammer, chairman, says: "The purpose of this committee is to plan and write a syllabus for mathematics to be published by the State Department of Public Instruction. It will be distributed to the high schools of the state as an instrument of unification for the mathematics program."

The need for mathematics training in the secondary school has been revealed by the testing programs of the armed forces and the importance of mathematics in the curriculum has been re-established. An up to date syllabus should improve the mathematics courses now offered and promote courses now offered and promote increased opportunity for mathematical training in the high schools of the state of North Dakota.

The committee members have been working on various assignments for some time. The first meeting of the entire committee is to be held in Jamestown High School on Saturday, May 19. A final meeting of the committee will be held the first part of June.

Varied Program Set For Lilac Day Festival

Tonight at eight o'clock in the Little Country Theater, Marian Stemma, NDAC senior, will be crowned Queen of Lilac Day by John Slingsby, President of the Student Commission. The Queen's immediate attendants will be Marian

Open Forum

This week's contributions to the Open Forum come to you from two students who express their feeling in the nature of poems.

Thank God I'm Not a Gene— By Shirley Wagner

Thank God I'm not a little gene! How monotonous it would be To live a whole, long, weary life Only being me!

If I were to be a brown-eyed gene All the whole years through, I'd make a brown-eyed girl or boy, But suppose I didn't want to? How hateful to spend the years With never any choice Of how to color all the eyes Of cherubic little boys.

A gene is such a dreary thing; It has no imagination; It seldom goes on a spree to upset The generis situation.

I'm Glad, I Tell You, Glad!— Dedicated to my Botany Teacher

I'm glad I'm not an algae And have to live in a swamp; I'd just be colored blue-green And unable to wear what I want.

I'm glad I'm big and human And not just 18 microns wide For I desire to be seen— Not just on a "slide."

I like to eat ice cream and cake And the foodstuffs that I ought'er But if I was an algae I'd only drink water, water, water!! (Scream)

And so—I'm glad I'm not an algae And I realize it more each day— The life of an algae some may like, But I would much rather ride a bike. —Anonymous.

Spring Is Here

Series FROM Ceres

LOVELY . . .

The tiny bit of black lace-trimmed lingerie received by Jeannette Gaebe from roommate Gloria Behrbaum and Phyllis Nickeson . . . there was undoubtedly a hidden motive in their gift . . . but it's too well hidden to be easily discovered . . .

INTO THE DRINK . . .

Went good-natured Ardyce Nelson one night . . . leading her on by promising to show her a funny sight, they (names censored) tossed her into the tubfull of chilly water, completely clothed . . . it's a little too early for swimming . . . and it's a good thing for you and you (names censored) that she is good-natured . . .

IN THE SPRING . . .

A young woman's fancy turns to thoughts of love . . . but who is she going to set her fancy to when all the teachers are either married or have decided to spend their lives in unmarried bliss . . . but there will probably be more studying and better marks because of it . . . and after all, who wants love when they can have straight A's . . .

IT'S LON . . .

Says Marge Cormack . . . as she strolls down the hall with a picture of Wanda Neines' friend Bob under her arm . . . she thinks its Lon McAllister . . . don't anyone disillusion her . . . she's happy in her ignorance . . .

CONGRATULATIONS . . .

To the single corridor kids . . . their behavior for the past few weeks has been just what the behavior in a dormitory should be . . . except for a few blood-curdling screams at infrequent intervals, and a few shoes flying out into East Corridor, the silence has been wonderful . . . only bad part of it is that you can expect an eruption at any moment . . . this is for your benefit . . . Marge and Mary . . .

PLANS . . .

Are already being made, this last month of school, for getting together this summer . . . a setting other than Ceres Hall will seem strange at first, but it will be fun to see what the kids look like when they're away from that background . . .

POST-WAR . . .

Took on a new and real meaning after the conference . . . it aroused the interest of the Ceres girls for several reasons . . . some will be benefited by the plans themselves while others have brothers and friends who will benefit . . .

WITH THE WIND . . .

And the rain and the snow and the dust in your hair . . . no this is not griping, but doesn't North Dakota have the queerest weather?

LET'S HAVE . . .

A game of cards say Jeanne and Ardyce, so they scare up a third and if successful a fourth and have a game of cards . . . some of the best whist in the world has been played in that room . . .

THE BLUE ROOM . . .

Not the song but the smoker . . . it's a mighty blue and a mighty crowded place . . . it's not a very clean habit, but as long as so many people have it, why not have accommodations for it?

SAY . . .

Marian and Betty . . .

COULD IT BE?

Seems like last week I overheard a conversation in which one girl said she wouldn't go out with that navy Lieutenant because his friend didn't want to go out, but she wanted his friend to go with her friend, but neither friend would so she wouldn't either . . . maybe I'm crazy, maybe she's crazy, but I'm very sure someone is crazy . . . all of us, huh?

CONGRATULATIONS . . .

To the second floor and single corridor girls for the bang-up party they sponsored Monday night. Mrs. Manning and Lucille provided music for dancing . . . the girls offered a clean floor show . . . the gym was decorated with crepe paper and a bar. Mary Grommesh acted as MC . . . thanks for the publicity, Mary!

Odds

And

Ends

ODD: They say that women are fickle. Must be so or else the OPA has reissued June's "C" stamp. She and the boy she is courting certainly baffle me.

&: Mary Cummins baffles me too. Very entertaining watching her wander from booth to booth during the noon hour trying to decide which she likes better—Darlene Jones' small boy or "I'm hard to get, just ask me" Walters.

END: Jerry Smith came through with the story of the week. He broke his watch band and hurt his arm but can't remember how he did it. Suzy Holwell is toting a few bruises around that might offer an explanation.

ODD: If something isn't done about the man shortage soon, I fear for the unsuspecting males who wander into view around here. The way Spring clothes and company manners appeared last Monday was amazing. Looked good (both the clothes and the inspirations). Statistics show that Phyllis Roden and Audrey Harth were the only females with claws long enough to obtain results.

&: Jim Snyder and Jean Cosgriff, two ex-students, were back in the fold this week. Very entertaining to find two minds uninhibited by Pseudocillage standards.

END: The afore mentioned man shortage was emphasized last week-end by the Theta Chis spending their money on themselves at the Petite. Down right unfair, I call it.

ODD: Patty Beckstrom not knowing what to do with Lud Grande last week-end at the lake, when he began to walk on his knees. She had to ask Bessie Lauder. The latter looked at her and uttered her now famous statement—"Give him another!"

&: The Fargo Forum omitted the fact that NDAC's claim to fame, Jerry Morrow, attended this institution. So, just to keep the records straight, I now make the statement.

END: The north side booths at the Hasty are the most favorite spots for free entertainment these days. Due to the aforesaid man shortage. For further information ask Doris (If you don't see me, you'll hear me) Oliver.

ODD: Betty Mickelson and Vern Hall. Even before the curfew was lifted they managed never to get in before the milk was delivered. And the milk comes to the Theta Chi house about noon!

&: Lilac Day is tonight (Doesn't make sense. Just thought I'd mention it.)

END: Field Day — FIELD DAY! I admit that it's a track meet but it does make one think that the afore said man shortage has been solved.

Seasonable Stuff . . .

BY UNCLE LOUIE'S NIECE

I am tired; I am weary; I ache; I have just come from a grueling match of tortuous tennis. Picking up balls really wears one out, and I am the one.

I am now enjoying a refreshing pause and a coke. As I feel the dark brown stuff trickle leisurely down my throat, I listen to the many accomplished musicians about me. They are skillfully playing the nickelodian. One of these versatile musicians has just played "Sentimental Journey," and now I find myself off on one. As I look at the mountains of cracked ice in my coke glass, I am reminded of Uncle Louie. Once Uncle Louie flew over the Rocky Mountains in his Piper Cub. He said the thing he noticed most was the rugged situation below. Uncle Louie says it really is fun to be up in a plane looking down at people, but it must be awful to be a bug and look up at people.

I wonder where Uncle Louie is now. The last I heard, the housing situation was giving him a little trouble. The house he was renting in town was sold from under him, and he had almost decided to store his family and move his furniture out to the farm. He wasn't too keen on moving onto the farm, though. He's afraid he'll get drafted.

Speaking of getting drafted, I caught an awful cold that way once. That's about all I ever seem to be able to catch—a cold. Not that I try to catch anything else. But you know how some girls are. They should be in college to pursue learning, but what most of them really do is learn pursuing. Personally, I govern my actions by that ancient maxim: "Everything comes to him who waits." But then again, they say that a man isn't everything, so there you are.

Well, only two more weeks, and then tests. Then all I have to do is drag out my little printing press, run off a few dozen blank grade sheets for friends of mine, and make enough money to get home on. Ah, home! Next to jail, that's the cheapest place to live. WHAT am I SAYING?! This college life is making a mercenary out of me. And to think that I used to be a sweet, innocent child with never a cross word for anyone. Of course, that was several years ago, when I was about three months old. I'm afraid I've changed now. I talk about my friends; I shout at bus drivers; I even yell at ball games. What college won't do for a person! But that's life, I guess. As a prominent man I know said the other day: "Live and learn! I live." And, after all, the more you study the more you learn, but the less time you have to live. So—draw your own conclusions, you Sherlock Holmes, you!

Well, the grass is growing, and the trees are towering, and the janitors are jacking up the screens. For it's spring, the time when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of baseball. This spring weather is balmy, if you ask me. It looks innocent, but it's really quite dangerous. Between the pistils every flower carries and the dandy-lions that infest those blades of grass, I'm almost afraid to venture out into the open. But I do come out every day, just like the other insects, and we all buzz around a while. Speaking of insects, we do appreciate having an active Zoology Department on the campus, but we wish they wouldn't import those man-eating mosquitos from Minnesota, and then let them loose over here. (They must be from Minnesota; they sneak up on you. North Dakota mosquitos at least have the decency to make a noise like a divebomber, thereby giving one a fighting chance to make it into Old Main.)

Sigma Chi And Theta Chi Tie In Soft Ball Tourney

Sigma Chi assured itself of a tie for first place and the right to meet Theta Chi in the play-off series for the softball championship as they rallied to bring across four runs in the last of the fifth and defeat SAE by a 9-8 score.

SAE scored in every inning except the second, getting two in the first and third, three in the fourth, and one in the fifth. Sigma Chi bunched their runs, gaining four in the second and fifth and one in the first.

John Dady was the winning pitcher, while Marvin Alberts was on the mound for SAE.

In the hitting department, Sigma Chi showed a balanced power with Taylor, Hofmeister, Slingsby, and Bengston collecting two hits each. Clayton Holwell again came through for three on the SAE side of the ledger.

Standings Given For Intramural Games

Sigma Chi fraternity will battle Theta Chi in a two out of three game series starting next week to determine the championship in the NDAC intramural softball tourney. Both teams ended with two wins to their credit and one loss chalked up against them, while SAE was eliminated from the running with one win and three losses.

It was unnecessary to play the one remaining game between the top teams because, regardless of the outcome, both teams would be eligible for the play-off games.

Sigma Chi	2	1	.667
Theta Chi	2	1	.667
SAE	1	3	.250

Murphy Leads In Batting Average

After the completion of the regular schedule of games in the softball tourney, ten players had a batting average above the .400 mark. Ed Murphy of Theta Chi heads the group with a fat .667.

Listed below are those making up the top ten in batting averages:

Last Thursday Stan Simons pitched one-hit ball for Sigma Alpha Epsilon as his team avenged an earlier defeat by downing Theta Chi 3-1.

The winners collected seven hits off the offering of Gene Warner, and both teams played errorless ball.

Ed Murphy was the lone Theta Chi obtaining a hit, coming through with a triple in the second inning to score his team's only run. Jerry Reinan of SAE was the only man obtaining more than one hit, and he had two for three.

SAE scored one run in the first, and added their remaining two in the second for their three counters.

Army Show Visits NDAC

A crowd of approximately 5,000 witnessed a spectacular show at the NDAC Stadium last Monday evening, May 14, when newly returned infantrymen from overseas re-enacted an actual attack on a Jap pillbox. Spectators saw how rifles, machine-guns, automatic rifles, mortars, flame-throwers, and many other instruments of war were used in actual combat. There were many people who were frightened by the realization of the horrors of war when blank cartridges, tracers, dynamite charges, and smoke grenades added to the concept of the battle.

Preceding the show, Gov. Fred G. Aandahl of North Dakota made an address in regard to the Seventh War Loan Drive, in which he urged North Dakota to continue their fine record of bond purchases.

In conjunction with the show, an exhibit of Infantry equipment was shown in the NDAC Field-house with veterans of all war theaters acting as guides to the interested spectators.

This unit of infantrymen is one of the 28 units of 39 men now touring the states of North and South Dakota.

Service Notes

1st Lt. Henry S. Vogel of Fargo has been awarded the Air Medal with one Silver and four Bronze Oak Leaf Clusters, for distinguished service to his country. Lt. Vogel is being held in Germany, and the awards were presented to his father, S. O. Vogel. The medal and clusters were presented by Lt. Lyle W. West, adjutant of the Fourth ferrying service station, Municipal airport, Fargo.

Lt. Vogel's plane was shot down during an air raid on Munich, Dec. 19, 1943. He is a graduate of Fargo High School and a former NDAC student.

Maj. Theodore W. Peterson of Fargo is stationed in Germany with a signal corps headquarters group; he recently received his promotion to major.

A 1935 graduate of NDAC, Maj. Peterson was with Northwestern Bell Telephone Company before entering service in February, 1942. Overseas 33 months, he was four months in England, and has since been in North Africa and Germany.

Curtis Newcomb of Portland, N. D., is now stationed in New Guinea. He is a 1941 graduate of Beulah, N. D., high school and former NDAC student; he joined a paratrooper unit when he entered service about two years ago. He went to New Guinea in May, 1944, later transferring to the military police, then returning to the glider unit.

Lt. Cmdr. Karl V. Kaess of Fargo, navy medical corps, has been detached from the naval training center at Farragut, Idaho, and is assigned at the naval training and distribution center, San Francisco, Calif. He went to Farragut in 1943 after two years at Pearl Harbor where he received a citation from Adm. Nimitz. Before entering the navy, he was house surgeon at the Wabash Railroad Hospital, Decatur, Illinois. He attended UND, NDAC, and Rush Medical College, Chicago.

Ensign Gordon Hanson (third mate), Fargo, has been spending leave at home after receiving his merchant marine rating at San Pedro, Calif., May 4. He left a few days ago for a west coast port where he resumes sea duty. Veteran of two round-the-world trips, Ensign Hanson entered the merchant marine in October, 1942, after study in Hollywood and the Pasadena Playhouse. He trained three months at San Mateo, California, then went aboard a Liberty ship at Los Angeles.

In August, 1944, he received coastwise duty on a Liberty ship and later on a Swan island tanker. Before attending the San Pedro navigation and coast guard convoy schools, he made a trip to Southwest Pacific ports. Ensign Hanson is a graduate of Fargo High School and attended NDAC where he is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Victor B. and Irvin A. Fischer of Fargo are now captains in the army, and both are meteorologists assigned to the air corps.

Victor, commanding officer at the air base in Edmonton, Alta., Canada, was promoted to captain in March, 1945. A graduate of Fargo high school and NDAC, he received his meteorologist training at the University of Chicago. Prior to entering service, he was with the United States Department of Agriculture in Rockhill, S. C.

Irvin was promoted to captain in September, 1944. Now with the Ninth air force, he was recently awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque for service in connection with tactical operations in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, and Germany from Jan. 1, 1944, to July 1, 1944. Irvin, also a graduate of Fargo High School and NDAC, received his training at the University of New York.

Lt. Clarence F. Becker of Dazey, N. D., is a member of the European division of the air transport command. A graduate of NDAC, he serves at the ATC main air base near Paris where he is assigned to the Becker traffic control section.
