Longwell Heads Group Of Post War Planners; Legislature Gives Money

New Spectrum Staff Elected

At a meeting held before the end of the past year, the Board of Publication named Nathan Crosby, a senior in the School of Applied Arts and Science, as editor-in-chief of the newly organized Spectrum, official publication of the North Dakota State College. Darlene Jones, a sophomore and also in Arts and Science, was selected as Business Manager.

This is the first appearance of the Spectrum on the NDAC campus since May 21, 1943, at which time it was discontinued because of prevailing war condition. Thursday has been made the distribution date of the new Spectrum which will be made available to students and faculty in much the same way as has been the Spec in the past.

An open invitation is extended to all students wishing to work on The Spectrum staff and they should contact either the editor or the assistants as soon as possible.

Women's Senate Leads AC March Of Dimes

January 14-13 are the dates set by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to raise funds for the fight against infantile paralysis. A part of the fund raising campaign is popularly known as the March of Dimes. If you want to know what 5,000,000 dimes d'd in the summer of 1944 in just one locality to stem the tide of a polio epidemic read "The Miracle of Hickory," a twenty page illustrated leaflet available at the desk in the college library.

In previous years college girls have given their services down town during the campaign. This year the Women's Senate is going to sponsor an active drive for dimes on the campus. Marjorie Peterson, president of the senate, announces that plans were made at the meeting of the senate on Wednesday for the drive to open on Tuesday, January 23 and to close by five o'clock that day if possible; and it will be possible if everyone makes his or her contribution that day.

Dinan Makes Suggestion

In the meantime Dean Dinan suggests that we read "The Miracle of Hickory." It is the story of the fight in North Carolina, only one of the states aided by the Foundation in 1944 when the United States suffered its second worst epidemic in the history of infantile paralysis. It's a story which will make you proud of the ingenuity and unselfishness of fellow Americans. It's the story of what would be done for your own state under similar circumstances. But better than that, the foundation has expended almost $7,000,000 for grants in research and in education to prevent polio epidemics and to rehabilitate those who have been afflicted with infantile paralysis. When our March of Dimes is launched, be sure you have a dime. Marjorie Anderson, Phi Mu representative to the senate, will be general chairman of the drive. With almost 500 students the AC should, with faculty dimes included, be able to collect between fifty and sixty dollars on the campus.

Personalities In The Week's News

During the month of September, there was submitted for approval to the faculty of the NDAC the report of the Committee of Post War Plans which was headed by J. H. Longwell, pictured to the left. The report of this committee has brought nation wide notice to our campus. For in its content is the recommendation for post-war building, curriculum and revamping of present accommodations. Upon its acceptance, immediate action was undertaken resulting in the appropriations by the State Legislature for new buildings on our campus.

New Plans Divided.

The new plans are divided into a three point program. First point — accommodations for the regular college student. Second point — short course curriculum for the returning war workers. Third point — education for the returned veterans.

The second point is concerned with the strengthening of the Department of Adult Education. Already steps have been made in this direction by offering a short course in dairy work. It is expected that another course in the Tractor School will also be offered.

Bills Affect Plans

The third point will be handled in two sections which were made by the Congressional Legislations, Rehabilitation Act and the G. I. Bill Of Rights. The Rehabilitation Act affords the privilege of school to the physically disabled veteran. His curriculum will be planned for him by the government in such a way that within a certain length of time he will be equipped to hold a position and prepared for the post war world. This act will not necessarily call for new courses, but it will require new patterns for the present curriculum. The G. I. Bill Of Rights will give honorably discharged veterans of sixty days at least a four year education. His expenses are provided up to a year for tuition and books, plus living expenses of $50 a month if single and no dependents and $75 if he has dependents. This bill will necessitate a strengthening of the Summer School so sol-

Registration Drops In Winter Quarter

Four hundred and sixty five students are now registered at the NDAC. This is a drop of 37 students from the Fall registration. The noticeable decrease was felt in the School of Applied Arts and Sciences. There are 215 freshmen, 101 Sophomores, 73 Juniors, 74 Seniors, and 2 graduate students. The ratio of women to men in each class is Freshmen, 2-1; Sophomores, 5-1; Juniors, 4-1, and Seniors, 4-1; Graduate Students, 1-1. We predicate a marriage in the near future.

Registration by Schools is as follows:

Agriculture	30
Applied Arts and Sciences	121
Chemical Technology	20
Education	8
Engineering	34
Home Economics	220
Pharmacy	32
Total	465

Also stationed on the campus is a unit of the ASTR. Their enrollment is 135, which brings the total enrollment of the school to 600.

Student Commission Alters Budget

At the March 3 meeting 1944, the Student Commission lowered the activity fee from $5.00 to $3.50 with the following distribution:

Lyceum	$ 1.00
Bison	1.75
Student Reserve	.75
Total	$ 3.50

The Student Commission empowered the Student Reserve Fund to administer 75 cents with the provision that budgets be submitted by each organization before any money be allotted that organization.

Since the Board of Publications made it known that it would cost $1.25 per student per term for a printed Spectrum the idea was abandoned. There was such dissatisfaction with the mimeographed paper that at the fall election it was voted to raise the fee one dollar in order to have a printed Spectrum once again. The vote was 227 yes, 82 no. Thus the fee was raised to $4.50 a term.

Since there was no part of the fee allotted to the athletic department it was deemed necessary to assess students 25 cents plus their activity ticket. This is still a reduction for those without activity tickets are charged the regular price.

Call Board

Today there will be a coffee hour for students and faculty in the Lounge of Old Main. Dean Dinan will be in charge with the Gamma Phi Betas acting as assistant hostesses. The hour is set at 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. A silver offering is to be taken as usual to defray the cost of the coffee hour.

There will be a Student Reserve meeting in the Main Lounge, Saturday morning, January 20, from 10 to 12 to consider budgetary requests. All organizations that wish to make requests for funds from the Student Reserve must have their applications in by Friday. It is very necessary that these should be in on time. This will be the final consideration given for the matter.

Schroepfer Seeks New Members For The Band

Announcement is made from the Department of Music by band director E. J. Schroepfer, that one credit is now being offered to students enrolled and participating in the activities of the college band. More students are wanted to fill vacancies still existing in the band and it is still not too late to get into the band. There is especially a need for clarinet players Mr. Schroepfer states.

Organizations Asked To Make Plans Early

Before changing meeting dates, college organizations, in order to avoid confusion, are requested to consult the calendar of scheduled meetings in Miss Dinan's office. All regularly scheduled meetings are placed on the weekly calendar published through the Dean of Men's office.

Organizations planning parties must secure their dates and their permits before any publicity is given for the party. This is done in the Dean of Men's office.

Arrangements for chaperons must be made well in advance of the party and the chaperons approved at least two days before the party in the Dean of Women's office. The college regulations state that preferably the chaperons should be faculty members. Certainly the chaperons should be approved before they are invited to act. If faculty members are asked sufficiently in advance, most of them will try to make arrangements.

Guidon Initiates

On January 23, 1945, at the college YMCA Guidon will initiate Miss Dorothy Allen, Irene Gundalson, Kathleen Hunley, Gwen Host. The president of Guidon, Miss Marjorie Peterson, is in charge.

Citation To Be Made At NDAC

The Silver Star Medal has been awarded, by the War Department, posthumously to Private 1st Class Wendell H. Bood, Infantry, United States Army, whose parents reside at Park Rapids, Minnesota. The presentation will be made by Major Glen E. Hafte, Commandant of the Military Department at NDAC, to Andrew Bood, father of Wendell H. Bood. Whether the presentation will be formal or private will be decided by Mr. and Mrs. Bood and will be announced later, together with the date of the award.

CITATION

"For gallantry in action, March 9, 1944. He displayed a tenacious devotion to duty and indomitable fighting spirit during the counter attack to retake Japanese position on Hill 700. With another soldier, he laid such devastating machine-gun fire that the enemy was unable to reinforce his positions on the high ground. When the other man was wounded, Private Bood moved his weapon to within thirty yards of a hostile pillbox and, seemingly oblivious of the intense sniper action, poured a steady stream of bullets into the Japanese strong-point. When his machine-gun was hit by a bullet, he hastily repaired it and resumed his fire in time to break up a reinforcing party, causing a number of casualties. Private Bood was finally killed by a burst of enemy machine-gun fire. His gallant deeds were an inspiration to his comrades."

ASTR Reports

Three students from the ASTR unit here at the NDAC will report shortly for active duty. They are Privates Leon D. Honeck, Richard E. Wing and Donald J. Klier. The three, who are home on furlough now, will report to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, on January 26.

They handed me a pencil and told me to write an editorial explaining what??? Oh, a number of things but mainly the following:

You wanted a Spectrum. You voted in favor of the printed page, and we're here to give it to you. We're willing but new at the job. Therefore, we need several things from you.

First of all we need understanding and patience and plenty of it. "We can't all be perfect," everyone was saying after last term examinations. Please remember that now. If a headline looks queer, your name looks slightly irregular, or we forget a little of our hard won grammar, just shrug your shoulders and say, "Practice Makes Perfect."

Next thing on our list, and definitely the most important of all our needs, is the desire for suggestions and criticisms—helpful ones, of course. We realize only too clearly our faults and our failings. It takes the whole student body to make our paper a success. Back us, keep us tuned in on activities and news we may miss and tell us when we're wrong.

Give us what we need and we'll give you the best Spectrum that a few hard working people can put out.

Library Is In The Groove!

There are libraries. There are many kinds of libraries. There are libraries where one goes to read books one's parents do not allow in the home. These are rental libraries. There are libraries where one goes to read books which one's teacher requires but doesn't have. These are reserve libraries. There are libraries where one goes to get out of the cold. These are public libraries. Then we have the school library. The main feature of the school library used to be that when one wanted to discuss something with someone he used mental telepathy. It was that quiet. Cat calling, whistling and singing is as yet not appreciated, but the improvements are really great. Browsing rooms, coke machines and smoking lounges have not as yet been established but only because of the wartime conditions. That's what they tell us. In fact, we'll say we like the school library. All you pledges with all your library hours should try it there sometime.

View Of NDAC Life

Series FROM Ceres

Delicious odors come wafting through my transom and lead my thoughts away from my work as I sit pounding away at my trusty Underwood. My nose wiggling like a little white bunny's, I follow the aroma to the room on second floor where, through the keyhole I can see, sitting Indian fashion in the middle of the rug, two pajama-clad girls—a box of chocolate cupcakes between them, a pan of steaming cocoa at their side, they are busily pursuing a branch of knowledge their mothers never thought of when they packed them off to school with admonitions to be "a good girl."

Wandering further in my futile seekings, I tripped over the long and lanky Rhoda Johnson, who was draped against the wall, muttering mild exclamations into the telephone. After picking myself up and licking my wounds, I opened my eyes to the brightest red-plaid nightgown yet seen in the long and illustrious history of Nightgowns in Ceres Hall. Lovely, Rhoda, lovely. Reminds me of the one Gramps used to wear back on the farm—it had the purtiest red and yellow stripes!

The most wonderful girl in Ceres Hall in these times of all-out war is the one who, lacking a boyfriend, a Sigma Chi pin, and teacher-gripes, can still hold her own in a midnight conversation.

The proudest girl in Ceres Hall is Pat Johnson—returning from Christmas vacation, she wore a beauty of a diamond third finger, left hand, and the happiest look you ever saw on her glowing face.

O, Lady of the upswept hair, of the high-heeled shoes, of the two-thread hose,

Lady of the spotless dress, with seams so straight and all those clothes!

O, Lady of the neat fur coat, lipstick straight, and powdered nose, how to heck can you live here and still look like that???

Wanted: Information as to what happened to the four-armed critter who suddenly disappeared, never to return.

Ladies and Gentlemen: For one week only we are offering at the special price of $1 for a two-gallon jug, Uncle Louie's Reliable Spot Remover—guaranteed to remove all varieties of spots. Will do wonders for those pink elephants so prevalent after the weekend.

There is something about the pepper-and-salt hair of Lt. Smith that causes the head of every romantic co-ed to turn her head and follow him (with her eyes) from one end of the mess to the other—hall, we mean, of course.

Do you want to become famous? Would you like to see your name in lights and your life history in a book? Then begin your literary career now! This column needs your contributions. (And we're not being mercenary).

To get down to brass tacks (we notice there's no dangerous shortage of brass as yet), this column is to be a column of the students, by the students, and for the students, (due apologies to Mr. Lincoln), and we hope it will not perish from lack of contributors. Any student of NDAC is allowed and encouraged to compose a section of this column.

As for subject matter, it is handed to you on a silver printer's plate. You may write on one of two very broad subjects: "Something to Gripe About" or "Something to Gloat About" on the NDAC campus. For instance, if you boys are getting gray hair and sprained ankles trying to dodge some of the whistling campus coeds, just write down your gripe and send it in. Or maybe you girls really like the way the boys don't whistle at you. Then do tell us about it.

But seriously, the object of this column is to find out the campus likes and dislikes of you, the students. So when the spirit moves you, don't hesitate.

Odds

And

Ends

ODD: George Dius. Personally, and I will admit that I am odd too, I think George is one fine character. What I can't understand is why George doesn't go out with a fine girl instead of odd witches.

END: Poor John! First Eunice gets married and then Mary gets a diamond. But I imagine it's good political pressure for the president of Sigma Chi to go with the Sweetheart of the organization.

ODD: Willie Christianson courting Bessie Lauder. They are both good eggs. Don't get me wrong, but isn't Vern supposed to be a buddy of yours, Willie?

Joyce Smith has a Sig Chi pin—as if that is news! Oh! to be a freshman. Seems that all upper class women get are V-mail letters.

ODD: Along the same train of thought, Gloria Ludemann—another freshman—went to see her guy and came home with a diamond. Lorraine Kibbler, a junior, went to see her guy and came home with a hang-over. Odd.

Neither odd nor end is Mr. Moberg's attitude toward students. That guy is marvelous! He is human! He will go out of his way to speak to students in the halls. He goes to basketball games (one of the few faculty members to do so) and sits in the midst of the AST boys. Too bad more instructors won't mix with the student body. We're not such a bad bunch.

ODD: How with a small amount of imagination you can see the diamondless girls screwing their jeweler's magnifying glass in their eyes when gasping over the lucky girl's diamond.

ODD: John Dady was fishing the other night and brightly informed me later that he had caught a new species of fish—a HANGOVER! Then he had the nerve to wonder if Doctor Whelen would be interested.

ODD: A man on campus who can afford to buy 12 records at once and still eat. Jerry Smith. Darn cute kid, too. MOST odd.

END: The only incentive upper class women have for struggling toward the week-end is that ferrying pilots might come in. Besides, the Petite Lounge is sooo chummy. Don't take my word for it, see Virginia Hill for the sordid details.

Have You Heard?

Or have you ever seen the accomplishment of the Pharmacy Department?

You haven't? Well then you should have. Oh, I forgot, you don't know what I'm talking about! Why, it's the Pharmacy Paper, "Papyrus Ebers." The first copy rolled off the press during final week last term.

Maybe some of you other students saw it. Maybe some of you even read it—we hope!

Copies are being mailed to each of the Pharmacy grads, to students in the armed forces, and to the high schools and drug stores of North Dakota. (Anybody got a by-line they want to get home? We guarantee good publicity off the campus!)

Now just a by-line for us—we hope to put out a professionally printed copy this term. So watch for us. We'll be around in about four or five weeks.

If you know of anyone who would like to receive one of our papers, just drop over to the Pharmacy Office and leave us a note.

Report From The ASTR's

Don't Fence Me In

REVIEW BY ART

I feel that the student body as a whole, may not understand the A. S. T.....R. Our quarters, Men's Residence Hall, is the former men's dormitory. I will describe its interior for those who have probably not been in it—the freshmen and sophomores.

It is a three story building with similar floor plans placed simultaneously upon each other. There are 37 rooms on each floor with two types of rooms predominating. Those that are too large with too small closets, and those that are too small with too large closets. Some of us sleep in our closets. We have a great variety of furniture tinted in three shades—mahogany cast-iron, beige cash-iron, and walnut cast-iron. However, due to rough treatment, some rooms have furniture in cast-iron-cast-iron. Each closet contains a washbowl which is used for infinite purposes. Also in the closet is a shelf which serves no earthly good; we can't place anything on it, except to give us demerits when we do put anything on it. Also each room contains two chairs and a wastebasket.

The wastebasket is another one of those things because it must always be clean—obviously a paradox, for who has ever heard of a clean wastebasket? Each room contains a bed, which must be made each day. We do not like to make beds. We would rather make calls, or other things. There are also lights in each room. Also dirt.

We study. Let us consider the thought and content of the preceding paragraph. As it stands, the above paragraph is a maze of hidden and ambiguous meaning. In simplifying it, we would say: dah. Which, as you know, is short for bdah.

The new general order at M.R. H. is that the building is too full of spirit. In fact, in the future, the spirited ones will suffer dire punishment if found spirited up. I may add that it is threatened that those who are found thus, may be spirited away in quick order.

In my humble opinion the school can boast of the best group of cheer-leaders in the country. This quiet, unassuming group would be sure to remain in the background, as they do at the games, were it not for I. I feel it only fair to make a slight mention of them here.

A clever person, or even a not so clever person, would make some witty remark here, and then would scam. I will only do half of the above. I will only scam. (What does that make me?)

to see the Spectrum resume publication. We'll also be glad to have you as our guests in our coffee shop when you eat out, or in our Blue Room for group social affairs.

Army Plans Hit The Bison

Basketball on the NDAC campus has taken on a peculiar stance during the present 1944-45 war time season. The situation at present is that the ASTR boys who have made up the regular version of the Bison team this year are not allowed to compete in games outside of the Fargo-Moorhead area, thereby making it necessary to have an all-civilian team representing the NDAC in out-of-town games. If civilians are to play on the same team as the ASTR, they must function as a complete and separate unit by themselves, due to army regulations which prohibit army and civilian personnel from playing together. This new system was tried out by Coach Lowe in last Monday's game against the Moorhead State Teachers College and proved to be quite successful for a new venture.

To date the ASTR Bison (and otherwise) hold double victories over Moorhead Teachers and the University of North Dakota, while possessing single wins over Valley City State Teachers and Concordia. Mayville Teachers and a professional Air Tech team are the only quintets to come out on the long end of the score in games against the Bison.

Bison Schedule

Jan. 19—Jamestown College (there)
Feb. 1—Wahpeton Science (there)
Feb. 3—UND (there)

Bison To Jamestown

An all-civilian aggregation of Bison basketball hopefuls will journey to Jamestown tomorrow night to meet the Jamestown College Jimmies in the first of a two game home and home series. The Jimmies also are an all-civilian quintet and are coached by Al Cassal. So far this season they have been having a hard time of it, facing teams of superior strength, due to them being manned by military personnel.

diers may finish in a minimum length of time.

It is expected that the enrollment of our school will be increased by 1,200 above the usual because of these two bills. Two years after the war has ceased the enrollment of our college will probably be 3,500. This will be the largest enrollment in NDAC's history.

N. D. A. C. Accredited

The NDAC will, by that time, have a new library given to us by the state legislature of North Dakota. (Watch for story in next Spectrum) Because of this new building the criticism of the North Central Educational Association and the A. A. U. probably will be removed. This will restore the A. C. to the accredited list and most likely Mortar Board and AAUW will be established. Also if Greek and Latin were offered, we would be in a line to have Phi Beta Kappa chartered on our campus.

Also added because of the post-war plans will be a strengthened program of guidance, new department of Visual Aids, and a greatly improved school of Animal Industry. Next year courses in pre-nursing, medical and dental technology will be offered if the demand is great enough.

Mr. Longwell was assisted with these plans by Miss Elvira Smith, Dr. Bruno Vassel, Dr. E. A. Helgeson, and P. J. Iverson. President Frank L. Eversull, made the recommendation that started the functioning of the committee.

Banquet Planned For Pharmacy Meeting

Dr. C. I. Nelson of the bacteriology department spoke on "Parasitic Diseases" at a meeting of the Pharmacy club held January 10. The club decided to hold weekly meetings in addition to their regular monthly meetings. Guests were Mrs. C. I. Nelson and Dr. Bruno Vassel. Channis Faye Ware, Claire Ward, Mary Jane Shaw, Lucille Manning and Grace Olson were on the refreshment committee.

At the next monthly meeting the annual Pharmacy banquet will be held. Those on the committee for organization are Elaine Nelson, Harriet Bartz, Jeanne Brownman, Nancy Headsten and Pearl Mark.

Any member of the student body or faculty is invited to attend these meetings.

Reviews Continued

The second series of book review afternoons at NDAC is now in full swing, according to Elliott Hardaway, librarian, who is in charge. Scheduled for alternate months, the reviews will be given from three to four p.m. Tuesdays in the seminar room, administration building. They are open to the general public.

Dean H. L. Walster opened the January series with a review of E. H. Graham's "Natural Principles of Land Use" on January 2. On January 9, Dean Leita Davy reviewed "6,000 Years of Bread" by H. E. Jacob. Last Tuesday Dr. C. I. Nelson discussed H. E. Sigerest's "Civilization and Disease." Next week's review will be by Dr. Bruno Vassel on B. H. Weil's "Plastic Horizons."
