

NDAC Will Continue Despite Government Action

THE SPECTRUM

Vol. LVII Z 545a State College Station, North Dakota, Friday, December 18, 1942 Number 11

Dr. Longwell Addresses 21 Graduates

Dr. J. H. Longwell, chief of the Division of Animal Industry, will address 21 candidates for bachelor of science degrees at the fall term commencement exercises to be held this afternoon at 3 in Festival Hall. His topic will be, "Is It Worth The Cost?"

Degrees will be conferred by President Frank L. Eversull. Lt.-Col. Charles H. Hart, Jr., ROTC commandant, will present commissions to two seniors.

With final grades still to be reported to the office of Registrar A. H. Parrott, the following candidates were approved this week by the College Council.

EIGHT AGS

Students from the School of Agriculture are most numerous among this fall's graduates with eight candidates to be presented. They are David Askegaard, Orville Block, Lelan Good, Daniel Gust, Arley Hovland, Christian Naaden, Lester Markusen and Harold Solberg.

Seven seniors who will receive degrees from the School of Engineering include William Ackerman, Melvin Anderson, Arnold Besserud, Carroll Eian, Vernon Peterson, Carl Ekholm and Francis Smylie.

AA&S HAS FOUR

Kenneth Christenson, Charles Cadieux, Walter Maddock and Rolfe Tainter will be the candidates from the School of Applied Arts and Sciences while one senior, Marion Schmitt, will graduate from the Division of Education.

Florence Mickelson is the only candidate from the School of Home Economics.

Col. Hart will present commissions as second lieutenants in the Army of the United States to Askegaard and Naaden.

Three Cadets Get ROTC Rankings At Tuesday Parade

Three ROTC seniors received their commissions in the NDAC cadet regiment at the fall term graduation parade held Tuesday afternoon in the Fieldhouse.

Commissioned by President Frank L. Eversull were Cadet Lt.-Col. Kenneth Stamus, Cadet Maj. David Askegaard and Cadet Capt. Christian Naaden. Lt.-Col. Charles H. Hart, Jr., professor of military science and tactics, presented the trio with crossed rifles and gold bars.

Askegaard and Naaden will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Army of the United States at commencement exercises this afternoon while Stamus will receive his army commission after completing an officer candidate course.

WE APOLOGIZE

Beverly Halbeisen's name was unintentionally omitted from the list of Edwin Booth initiates in last week's Spectrum.

Board Action Cancels 1943 Bison Yearbook

There will be no 1943 Bison yearbook. Action to this effect was swiftly taken Thursday afternoon at a special meeting of the Board of Publications Control.

Uncertainty as to the size of the enrollment of students at NDAC during the winter and spring quarters prompted the action by the board.

Advertising contracts and other business transactions will be cleaned up as soon as possible, announces Business Manager Vincent Mayoue. Glenn Gullickson was editor of the now cancelled publication.

January issues of the Bison Furrows and North Dakota State Engineer will be published with action on future issues to be taken following the holiday recess.

Spectrum publication is not effected by the board action and will continue.

Lovsness Goes To Army Duty In Arkansas

Maj. Neal W. Lovsness, instructor in military science and tactics at NDAC since September, 1940, has been ordered to active duty at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Little Rock, Ark., announces Lt.-Col. Charles H. Hart, Jr., ROTC commandant.

Major Lovsness, a graduate of NDAC, will report to his new post January 15 and will be replaced here by Second Lieutenant Howard C. Olson of the 77th Division, Fort Jackson, S. C. Lt. Olson also is a graduate of NDAC.

Tryota Club Tackles Man-size Work In Silk Salvage Job

It's a man-sized job, this gathering of silk and nylon stockings to be turned over to the government for use as powder bags by the army.

But—the women are doing it! Yes, sir. The Tryota Club, with Lillian McDowall as chairman of the drive, is asking all NDAC co-eds to bring old, clean silk and nylon hose to Ceres Hall where facilities for collection have been arranged.

Do it today, gals! It all goes for a worthy cause.

Eversull Declares College Possibly Among Schools Named For Military Setup

"There will always be an AC, ROTC and an OCS."

With these words NDAC's president, Dr. Frank L. Eversull, bluntly stated the circumstances under which the college will function following the Washington announcement Thursday of a joint program by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard for the utilization of this country's collegiate educational facilities.

Speaking at a special convocation called in Festival hall Thursday at 4, Dr. Eversull stressed the importance of students returning for the winter term if at all possible. Regardless of what action is finally taken by the armed services in utilizing NDAC facilities, Dr. Eversull declared that college classes would continue for women students and those men students not effected by the new regulations.

COLLABORATED PROGRAM

Thursday's announcement from Washington is the publicizing of a program which was first considered last October and which military and educational leaders have been collaborating on since that time.

Members of the armed services, including draftees of the 18- and 19-year-old age group and students now in college will be eligible for the new training program.

MUST BE EQUIPPED

Dr. Eversull declared that screening tests will be given to the newly enrolled soldier to determine whether he is "intellectually, temperamentally, physiologically and educationally equipped to withstand the rigid requirements needed to complete the planned courses." A four-year college course will be scheduled in a period of two calendar years.

Those found qualified during their basic training period will be sent to college for specialized training but will be returned to combat units as soon as it is found that they are not maintaining the proper scholastic standards.

ARMY RESERVES CALL

All members of the Army Enlisted Reserve will be called to active duty after the first of the year and may then be returned to college to continue work in specialized fields. Senior ROTC men will complete their work at NDAC before attending their service branch school and receiving their commissions.

Students enrolled in the Navy's reserve programs, according to the present schedule, will have a fine chance of completing their college training uninterrupted although they may be placed in an active status before such training is finished.

Senior Staff Sets All-College Dance

Members of Senior Staff announce the second all-college dance of the school year sponsored by that group to be held Jan. 10 in the Fieldhouse. President Jean Hoeft says that as yet a band has not been signed for the party.

Charlotte Bahe is in charge of musical arrangements with Betty Lynne and Mildred Strong handling ticket sales. Annabelle Donovan and Marjorie Nees Lindemann are on the chaperon committee.

Blue Belles To Be Vogue At All-College

Who will be the first Belle of the Blue Key Ball?

This question will be high in the minds of NDAC students during Christmas vacation.

The belle will be elected at the Blue Key annual all-college dance to be held in Festival Hall during the winter quarter.

All sororities, Ceres Hall, and the ISA will nominate 2 candidates for the honor.

Blue Key will then select one candidate to represent each aggregation.

These girls will be rated upon by the student body at the dance.

During the dance the University Blue Key chapter will formally return the traveling nickel trophy to NDAC.

This trophy goes to the school winning the annual University-AC football contest.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Nighthawks Delight
At 10 Monday Nite

By CHARLES VAN HOOFF

Rah, rah college kids cut campus capers casually causing treble tavern troubles during blackout.

Mary Cummins, campus wit and lover of China berries, leaves light on in bedroom to see what the air raid warden would do—HE DID IT! I held some woman's hand for three blocks; and when the lights went on I found it was the police matron's. They put me in a cell next to Mary Cummins'. I tried to get my lawyer on the phone, but he was too heavy. They wanted to sue me for carrying yeast—a concealed weapon. They said it was kind of a razor—ten dollars or ten days. I took the ten dollars and Mary and I went fishing.

Campus catch-phrase: "Don't sit by Regan in a blackout." Really a story behind it—ask Georgie Kline.

The beardless, beaming, barack-bound Clinton Spear, the "Gamma Phi Smile", is out to prove the folly of stag parties which apparently has become popular on this campus. Maybe a date bureau at the Chem. Bldg?

Who doesn't envy Kappa's sweetheart? I understand the vote was unanimous. It all started when George wanted to convoy her home, but she said he was being nautical or something like that.

The only high mark I got this term is a cut on my forehead. Life's an aquatic meet—some swim, some dive, some back-water, some float and the rest—sink! Believe me, I'm sunk. Exam week! Now with fond adieu and sad farewell, I bid you Aloha.

• • Deanie's Diggin's • •

By ALDEANE HOGAN

Because critic Georgie Klein remarked that this column carries nothing whatsoever of interest to anyone, and because everybody always believes what Georgie says, we are complying with his wishes and digging some dirt. As a result, all complaints may be filed at the SAE house.

Of course we could tell who reserved a booth at the Powers for the blackout, but that would not be nice.

We could tell why, for the first time in her life, Marjorie Nees Lindemann is speechless, but everybody knows that.

We could warn all freshmen girls of a certain Theta Chi Warren who will only "Love 'em and leave 'em", but then he'd have a hard time getting dates.

Campus Feminine Attire Makes Males Retire

By DON NORMAN

Having wandered around the campus for several months now, this young freshman intellectual (I have my BD degree, Doctor of Bullslinging, from the Royal Academy of the Fine Art of Procrastinating and Bullslinging) has come to the conclusion that there is a preponderant lack of beauty in the feminine ranks of the junior and senior classes. Even though this statement may bring down upon my ears the angry howls of countless girls of the junior and senior classes, I will stick to what I have said.

It is clear that it is no ones fault but the girls themselves. If they didn't bury their presumably pretty faces under such great quantities of cheap-appearing cosmetics—as any brand thereof will appear if it is used to extremes—and if they didn't wear slacks to mimic us fellows, there would be no need for this comment.

SLACKS NOT SO SLICK

This authority (?) on women believes that the opposite sex should be more effeminate in appearance. To us fellows there is nothing lovelier than a pretty girl in FEMININE attire. It must be jealousy or shame of their customary dress that makes college girls—mainly juniors and seniors—to attempt to appear like a member of the stronger sex. Blue denim overalls may be all right for war factories, but they look like h - - l on the campus. Patriotism is no excuse for the lack of skirts around the campus, for slacks obviously use up more material. Nowadays we "gentlemen" of the college do not know whether we have made a date with a beautiful babe or just another "Future Farmer." It seems, however, according to "Wolf" Davis, the officer candidates aren't so particular on the matter of slacks.

BUS DRIVER BEHEADS

Another thing which I wish to bring up at this time is the superior attitude that the junior and senior girls have toward the sophomore and freshmen boys. Maybe it is just that they haven't grown up yet. Yea Gods, they too, were once befuddled and bewildered freshmen! Maltreating us younger fellows and refusing us dates—under the supposition that we are just too damn young—only build up our resentment toward the upperclass femmes. This situation could be remedied by a more amicable relationship between the two groups. Now I believe it's 'nuff sed.

My apologies only to that glamorous yet not haughty, stuck up, or what-have-you group of junior and senior girls.

BLACKOUT ADVICE

The other night during the blackout tall, lanky, Dale Hart was bending his head down to step out of the door of a bus when the driver slammed the door shut, catching Hart's neck between the doors. He was so surprised that he half-swallowed the ten-for-a-dime cigar he had been pretending to smoke—goes to show you that bus drivers like their fun too.

BOLDNESS COUNTS

How to be a wolf in five easy lessons, by Professor Don Norman, W. D. (Doctor of Wolfology).

1. Be bold. A true wolf is never subtle in his approach. He just ambles up to a girl and says, "May I hold your hand—Bag?"
2. Make sure the babe has a car along with a "C" card—nothing less! What's a girl without a car nowadays?
3. Always speak first and loudly. Never be ashamed of being a wolf, or we men will be fighting a losing battle for the title of "The Stronger Sex."

4. Never pay the check. A real wolf is always "polite" enough to let the girl speak up for it first.
5. Finally — Remember the Golden Rule of Wolfing—"It is better to receive than to give."

Here's wishing every future American fighting man a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year killing Japs and Germans—this greeting also goes to all you students.

Post To Post . . . by Candidate Davis, Sir

GOOD NEWS:

Dance at Crystal Ballroom by Class III for the members of Class II, Sunday, Dec. 27, 2 'till 5:30 p.m. Yeah, we'll be there!

NOTE:

Don't phone me with info—especially gossip! Hate the stuff. Have to study—besides, I have my own sources . . . We were not concerned with the school elections 'cause this column is about as political as a pair of socks—neither right nor left—just a guy with a memory and a tongue hung in the middle of it.

POETRY:

(Bored as hell this week, but here goes):

I hate the changing, changeless moon
The iteration of the sun,
The regularity of the noon
And systems that like clockwork run

I would leap and clap for joy
If morn would for once enter late.
Day's empire, like a careless boy
And make expectant twilight wait.

And I would dance and shout,
If the sun bartered gold for green
Or if the moon would swing about
The silver side I have never seen.

REMARKS:

If they have one more hike Class III will have to meet on the second floor of the Vet's Hospital . . . If Candidate Hurst would just stop worrying about Theda our room would be a lot happier . . . If only Peg were not angry at me!

NOVELLETE:

She was very blond and a bit high. She strolled over and said, "Don't I know you? Have one on me!" Then when I met her in the Mess hall where she works she said, "Did you see me any where? If so, puleeze don't print it."

THINGS I LIKE ABOUT AC AND OCS:

The smiles of the Co-eds . . . The "hi-ya" of the men about the campus . . . The sight of it returning from a hike . . . The warmth of any building on these cold morns . . . The many that say they like this stuff I write . . . The right guys among the OCS studes . . . The Christmas tree in Ceres hall.

THINGS I DISLIKE ABOUT AC AND OCS:

The way rumors travel—for instance, when Larry Johnson went to Minneapolis . . . The unnecessary wearing of slacks by the gals . . . The distance from the Field House to Science Hall at 7:30 a.m. . . . The wrong guys among the Officer Candidates . . . The gals from town that think they're better than the gals that live here on the campus . . . The greek letter guys and gals looking down on ordinary people . . . The silly caps we have to wear . . . The below zero weather . . . The "no" in the smile you get in the Mess hall when you ask for the fourth piece of pie . . . The waiting in the "Tasty" . . . Lights out in the middle of my favorite tune . . . Static created by electric razors during the morning recordings.

ANOTHER REASON FOR GOING TO THE PX:

"Mildred!"

HEARD:

"Gee, Kid, you should have been there. We had a new second lieutenant for dinner." Candidate Stewart's quip: "How did he taste?"

TO THE GUYS AND GALS OF AC:

Truth is stranger than fiction and might even be more interesting if it were as well told.

TO AC CO-EDS:

Love is characterized by a sinking feeling. Begins by sinking in a man's arms and ends by you sinking your hands in a man's sink.

TO OFFICER CANDIDATES:

Give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt and maybe he will do the same for you some day.

FLASH:

Regardless of the weather we still average three men per day making reville minus trousers.

Dacotah Hall Sees Old Use

Dacotah Hall was built in 1917 to serve as a barracks for the Student Army Training Corps in World War I.

It remained unused and was considered a "white elephant" until a few years ago, when, under Dean Walster's guidance it was revamped to house the Farm Folks School. Later it was important as the NYA center where students working on the new engineering building lived.

The hall reverted to its former military use a month ago when the army of World War No. II took it over. It is again being remodeled and will be occupied by 300 officer candidates in two weeks.

Sigs, Kappa Psis, College Y, Rammy Chis Win I-M Games

Pre-Christmas play in intramural basketball leagues ended last night as the Kappa Psi quint downed the Alpha Gamma Rho aggregation 19-17.

With Walter Johnson showing the way with 10 points, the Kappa Psis led 10-9 at halftime.

The Sigma Chi II team threw a scare into the strong Rammy Chi five before bowing 34-32, Monday, in Independent League play. After a deadlocked first half, 15-15, the Rammy Chis went into a game-clinching lead in the third period, and from there were never headed.

Sigma Chi I copped its second straight game in the Fraternity League on Tuesday, with a convincing 40-18 win over SAE. The Sig Alpha quint tied the score midway in the third period, but after the Sig scoring machine hit high gear, the game was a Sig show. Duane Aune, with 15 points, and Gordy Monson, with 12, paced the Sig attack. George Klein topped SAE point-getters with 10 points, six of them on free throws.

The College Y club, after losing to Rammy Chis 37-8, came back on Wednesday to down Sigma Chi III, 30-22. The Y team led 13-6 at halftime.

Although no basketball schedule has been drawn up for next term, E. E. Kaiser, intramural director, is planning a new system whereby six games may be played each week. Nothing, however, is definite as yet.

Under this setup, games would be played on Monday and Wednesday nights, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons and Saturday afternoons.

Heard About The Herd

By OWEN LANGEN

Well, fellow buck privates, it's one down, one to go—to the army.

Looks like we'll be around for another quarter. So what!

MUSINGS: Minnesota should beat the Bison, or had you thought differently? Valley City should fall. We're not so sure about Jamestown. According to Sternfield of the STUDENT, the Jimmies stink. But, then, he's been known to be wrong and out of line.

QUESTION OF THE DAY: Why did everyone laugh at yesterday's convo when the president said there'd be no cribbing on exams after the government stepped in?

Merry Christmas.

Social Notes Of The Week

By CONNIE WILLIAMS and JEANNE McQUADE

The Hasty is deserted, the library is filled to seating capacity, and social 'doin's' are nil! You've guessed it, exams are here. Seeing as how there aren't any social notes, we've resorted to a dirt column this week.

If you see an AC co-ed sporting a Blue Key pin, don't get excited 'cuz she isn't a member. It's playing "sub" for Leonard King's fraternity pin. That Hamilton woman has lived up to all expectations and now has Ed Kibler's pin. Bob Earhart has hung his on a Minneapolis lassie and there are rumors that a miss from Page has made quite a hit with Barney Bennisson.

The Gamma Rhos aren't faring so well—in fact, they are suffering from heart burn. Hear tell suckers were passed at their house a couple of times this week.

Top ranker in the consecutive low average bracket is L. K. Stein who says he "sheer" does need a haircut.

'HONKIN' AT THE SAVOY

We hear via the grapevine that Pat Sherley was really "honkin'" last week end, to quote one of his brothers.

"Snooze with Gooze and you will never loose" seems to be the slogan of the sophomore physics class.

Light of Charlie Page's life is coming home next week so even a little thing like exams don't "Hector" him.

Pet gripe of the fellows on the campus—the Officer Candidates taking over the snooker lab. Understand, the boys don't mind you candidates takin' over the campus and monopolizing the co-eds, but when it comes to snooker—well!

SIGS INITIATE

Formal initiation Monday will wind up pre-initiation week for Sigs. I suppose about Sunday the theme song for their pledges after going that far is "I am Getting so Tired I can Sleep."

Christmas festivities highlight the coming week with the Sigs and the SAEs holding Yuletide parties. Speaking of Christmas, we wish all you kids "Season's Greetings" and all stuff like that there.

Gillig Is Appointed To West Point

Roy Gillig, a sophomore in the School of Engineering, has been named as a principal appointee for the military academy at West Point, N. Y., by Senator William Langer of North Dakota.

Gillig, a graduate of Fargo high school, is the son of Mrs. E. M. Gillig, 1119 Thirteenth Street North.

The mid-winter term at the Interstate Business College opens Monday, January 4. Start the new year right by taking a course in business training, then help some business man carry on his business or help the government in handling the vast amount of office work required by its war effort. This is your chance to do your bit. If interested, call at the office, phone 2-2477 or write for particulars.
