5 Lyceum Numbers Scheduled

Seeming to realize the need to hold on to our cultural interests more than ever now, A. G. Arvold has secured five elegant numbers for the thirty-second annual lyceum series. No finer array of outstanding attractions has ever been congregated in one season for the benefit of students, faculty and Fargo residents.

Carmen Amaya and her company of Gypsy Dancers and musicians with Antonio Triana, famous Flamenco Dancer and Sabicas, guitarist will open the course in Festival Hall on Wednesday evening, October 21.

Miss Amaya comes well recommended as the "Human Vesuvius" who packed Carnegie Hall with a record breaking crowd.

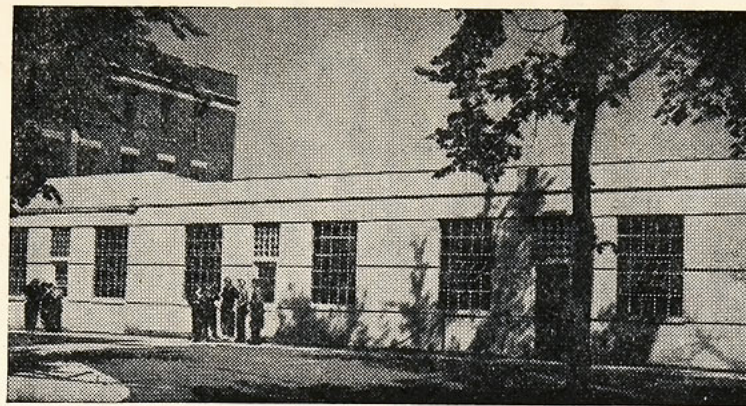

Scheduled for Tuesday evening, November 10, is the Nine O'Clock Opera company's presentation of "The Marriage of Figaro". Costumed in modern dress, this masterpiece of Mozart is given in English. It is a new type of opera sung and acted by a brilliant group of American singers. John Tyers will play the title role.

The third number on the series presents Paul Draper, the world's supreme tap dancer and Larry Adler, the world's greatest harmonica virtuoso, on Thursday evening, December 3.

Gladys Swarthout, one of the most winning artists of the American concert stage will give a recital on Tuesday, February 16. A Metropolitan opera star, Miss Swarthout has also participated in the Chicago and St. Louis opera seasons.

The last number on the 1942-43 series will be Nelson Eddy, American baritone, who will appear Monday, April 12. Eddy has brought music to millions.

Engineers Go Modern

This is the new Engineering building completed this summer. It will house an aeronautics and internal combustion engine laboratory, the college machine shop and a testing laboratory. (Story on page 4)

Fargo-Moorhead Open Forum Discussions Today

Under the local sponsorship of the Fargo-Moorhead Open Forum and through the auspices of several national organizations interested in the study of peace, the Fargo Institute on International Relations convened this morning at the Emerson H. Smith school and will continue through Saturday noon.

The conference, one of a series being held in the middlewest has as its theme "Win the War to Win the Peace". Its objective is to bring together leaders who can build public opinion that will help win the war and win the peace.

The conference is essentially in the field of action rather than study and the discussions at the round tables and in the general sessions will be in the field of what these agencies and organizations and their leaders can contribute to building such a public opinion.

Lutheran Students Invite Sevrinson As Guest Speaker

Oxford Club To See 'Upon The Horizon'

"Upon The Horizon", a one act drama, will be presented at the Sunday evening meeting of the Oxford club. The production shows in dramatic form the world's need for educated young people with Christian ideals. It has been prepared by Alpha Kappa, local chapter of the National Society of Wesley Players, Methodist student drama group.

The Oxford club's fall "Kick-off Party" has been postponed until Saturday evening, October 10.

Panthers Favored Over Bison In AC Conference Debut

Twice conference champs and well on their way to another title, the Panthers of Iowa State Teacher's College of Cedar Falls, Iowa, invade Dakotah Field tonight as top-heavy favorites over the Bison, making their 1942 North Central Conference debut. Game time is set for eight p. m.

The Herd with one tie and a loss in two games are not looking forward to the Iowa State game with much confidence, according to Bob Lowe, NDAC mentor. Lowe stated, "In view of the fact that we have only four regulars and two reserve lettermen of the 1941 team back, and only four starters of last year's freshman squad, it doesn't look like we'll have much of a chance. Then, too, late arrival of players and inclement weather conditions have hampered our practice schedule, while the Teachers have been practicing for three weeks."

ISTC DOWNS RABBITS 38-0

The Panthers opened the season last Saturday with a 38-0 win over South Dakota State. The Jackrabbits were unable to stop them at any time from any point on the field. Last year the Teachers routed the Bison 51-6 and North Dakota University 32-10.

ISTC boasts an all-veteran backfield headed by all-conference Gene Goodwillie, 155 pound half-back. Guard Aaron Linn and tackle Don Barnhart, also named to the 1941 all-conference team are standout performers in the line which averages 193 pounds to the man. Norm White, 195 pound sophomore center sensation, replaces Don Hunt, another all-conference man in the 1941 championship chase.

THREE FROSH TO START

Three freshmen, Joe Frezon and Charles Rafferty, ends, and Bob O'Neil, a guard, have cinched berths in the Bison starting line-up for tonight's game. A fourth yearling, Neil Wilder, a member of Jamestown's state champs last year, will get the call at fullback should Captain Harry Treglawney play quarterback in place of Ed Rolle.

Other conference games on tap for this week end are Morning-side at North Dakota University tonight, and South Dakota University at Augustanna and Omaha at South Dakota State on Saturday.

Tentative starting line-ups:

| NDAC | | ISTC |

Senior Staff Sponsors Hop On Saturday

Jack Gillig and his ten piece band are scheduled to play at the first all-college dance of the year tomorrow (Saturday) night. The dance will begin at 9:30 to 12:30 in the field house. Fifty cents will admit one couple.

A large date bureau for soldiers only has been set up. Soldiers wishing dates for the dance will register with Capt. Charles A. Fleming as soon as possible, giving their name, height and age. The staff will get them dates with college and other city girls.

Charlotte Bahe heads the Senior Staff committees as general chairman of the dance; she is assisted by Dona Thompson.

Elaine Wigdahl and Jean Hoeft are managing ticket sales, while Mildred Strong and Marjory Lindemann comprise the chaperone committee. Betty Lynne and Annabelle Donavan are in charge of publicity.

Eversull Addresses First Weekly Convo In Fall Term Series

In the first of a series of Thursday convocations President Frank L. Eversull pointed out that in a college during war time there is a need for a body building program and that the greatest patriotic duty of college students until they are called for service is to remain in school.

President Eversull went on to say that despite a student's dislike of mathematics and the sciences they are important studies now and should receive priority over language and other cultural courses.

"College students have the same faces as last year but their outlook has changed," stated Dr. Eversull.

"Young men and women are entering college with a new spirit and a concentrated effort towards keeping up morale," he said.

"The college was gratified beyond words" in the enrollment figures of 1270 with an expectation of 1400 students in the near future.

Schaetzel Urges Students To Enlist In Service Reserves

All NDAC men who desire to continue their education in colleges are urged by Murray Schaetzel, Student Personnel Director, to consider enlistment in an armed service reserve program sometime in the near future.

Deferments from selective service for those in the draft age are very uncertain at the present and it is anticipated that in a short time regulations will make no provisions for allowing men to remain in college, says Schaetzel.

At the present no deferments are granted to freshmen and sophomores, while some have been given juniors and seniors, according to the liberality of their local selective service boards.

The trend of late has been to deny deferments to juniors and seniors also, with the exception of those who are enrolled in technical courses such as engineering and chemistry, Schaetzel states.

Programs have been installed by the Army, Army Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps in order to insure each with a continuous supply of competent candidates for officer's training.

These men are allowed to stay in college as long as their scholarship and school attitude remain above average. Since these men are actually enlisted in the armed forces, they are subject to call to active duty at any time deemed necessary, but they are assured that they will be allowed to remain in school as long as possible and that every effort will be made in order to enable them to secure their degrees.

No special course of study is required for those students but it is recommended that all such students acquire an adequate knowledge of mathematics, physics and (Continued on Page 6)

A recently announced patriotic proposal has been the idea of an early morning calisthenics class for NDAC students to be held before regularly scheduled classes. Such a setup would be for the physical benefit of especially those students now training for technical war activities in the accelerated academic program.

Without a doubt the majority of students reacted in a similar manner—shuddering at the very idea of such an uncivilized maneuver. And naturally one must think of one's sleep, especially that last half hour when the previous evening was so strenuous.

However, it is possible to see such a setup in a better light when thinking in a more serious vein. Government programs for the betterment of the nation's health have long been in full swing to better prepare America's men and women for the strenuous hours of war. So far this college has been lacking in cooperation in such projects.

College students so far have been cooperative in their participation in war activities and the accelerated program. Now might be a good time for NDAC students to launch their participation in a health program with an eye to the rigorous training necessary for combat.

Our suggestion is that such a calisthenics class be held at seven a. m. or shortly thereafter, closing early enough to allow students to relax and have breakfast before regular morning classes. Such an arrangement would eliminate the necessity of entering into strenuous activity after enjoying breakfast.

A good suggestion might be serious consideration of early morning calisthenics for those students thoroughly interested in seeing America, with the allied nations, build a strong machine based on a foundation of strong people which will come out on top at the end of the war. We admit this may sound idealistic but think about it, will you? We are.

Shurr And Begorra Besides Irish Taters Army Has O'Leary

By BOB OWENS

Sure and it's the luck of the Irish. And that's no lie, believe me. No doubt you all know about the recent arrival of the Officer Candidates. Well among this hoard of "date snatchers" there lurks the tall, lanky figure of a cavalry man. "He wears a pair of silver spurs." When I say he's tall I'm not kiddin'. This Kansas lad stands fully six feet three inches above terra firma.

As to the name of this Appollo he is called O'Leary by his friends, but to those who don't sleep with him he is known as Arthur.

When I was given this assignment I thought I would have all I could do to meet him to say nothing of interviewing him. But was I fooled. All I did was to mention the name O'Leary and I was practically deafened by the reply, "Do you mean Art?" You could of knocked me over with a trench mortar. Fellows who you would think knew the least about soldiers even had his room number memorized. Which by the way is 323 Co. A. Men's Dorm.

Some of the boys have even been out with him. Which brings me to another phase of O'Leary's accomplishments which I had better not go into until I kind of know him a little better. But to say in the least he is really a man. The "Campus Cuties" also had a few reveries which they very dreamily related about this Khaki Klad Kansan. From what they tell me he can handle those spur speckled feet of his pretty well on a dance floor. As to the intermissions I couldn't find out much about that.

Maybe you would like to know the reason for this lengthy account of the Irish?

Well, we're really going to hear a lot from this fellow because he has consented to write a feature for the paper and, so that you would know what kind of a fellow he really is, I'm telling you. He's one of the best. So don't forget to take a look at the feature page next issue and find out what he's got to say. I'll guarantee it will be something worth reading.

Fraternities Glorified To Unknowing Frosh

Astonishing, isn't it, that the first week of mental torture (commonly called school) has come to such a pleasant end—and so soon, too! With fall in the air, rheumatism in our bones, and typewriter in hand, we attempt to paint a word-picture of those two new students, Alvin Nochips and Cecil Moroni in their first week of school.

Alvin and Cecil moved into the dorm

They thought it was oke—besides it was warm.

The situation had them a little confused

When they learned that for students, 'twas no longer used.

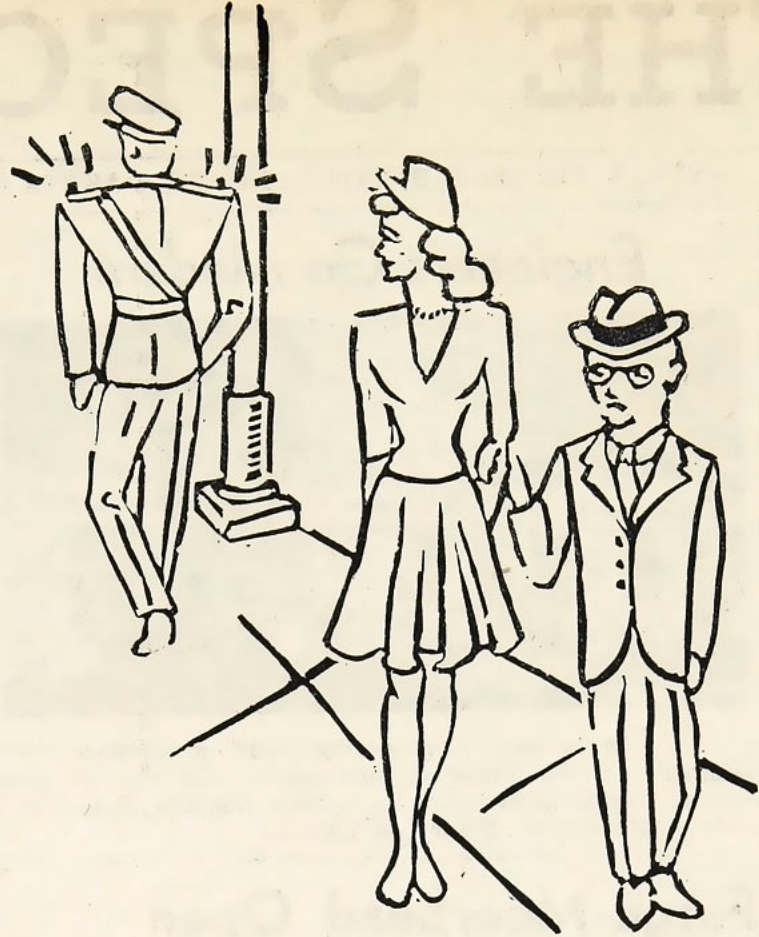

The poor boys really had no answer to that

'Til a wise upperclassman said, "Boys, join a 'frat'.

You'll meet guys with talent, wealth and good looks,

You can live at our house, eat our food, read our books."

Because of obvious reasons, among which is rushing, this epic must be continued next week. But then, alas, it will be too late!

"After all, it's only a uniform."

Campus Observer Believes Bicycle Rushing Should Cease

By WILDER WYLIE

I am a tolerant man. I seldom lose my temper. I never speak harshly to my elders and I don't even speak to my juniors. I try conscientiously to get along with my fellow men. I say grace before each meal and am careful to wipe my chin off at the end. Today, however, I am a saddened man. Ordinarily I am not bothered much by rushing tactics and dirty politics but when someone stoops so low as to hide their connivings behind the mask of national defense, I must speak out in fervent criticism.

I do not so much blame President Eversull. He is probably innocent of the whole hateful plot, but I do feel that he should take steps to remedy the situation immediately. I am speaking, as you of course realize, concerning the President's edict that no cars shall be driven faster than ten miles an hour on the campus. I do think it's rather silly that just because Prexy wants to go slowly and take his time looking over the freshman women that we all have to virtually park our cars, but then after all it is a human trait.

The point I am criticizing is the fact that this plot hatched up in a secret meeting of the Sigma Chi chapter is in violation of every rule of legitimate rushing. It was only yesterday that I first saw the plot in action and I must confess I was startled by the devilish ingenuity of the plan.

It happened in front of old Main. A group of fraternity men were standing chatting about prospects. Then three freshmen, all wearing shoes, appeared around the corner coming in the gate. Immediately there was a mad rush for cars. In a moment the place was deserted except for one lone figure. Although his back was turned to me it was plain to see from his loose fitting sweater and tight fitting corduroys that it was no one else but George Rulon. Pulling from the folds of his sweater a pair of binoculars he studied the three freshmen. With the uncanny awareness of a rushing chairman he murmured, "Hmhmhmhmhm."

With this decision he leaped on his bicycle and headed for the rushees. He beat the closest car, which was doing every bit of the ten miles an hour allowed him, by three lengths. By the time the first representative of any other fraternity had reached the spot he had two of the men pledged and a signed power of attorney from the third. This is only one example. The dire portents of such activities cannot be ignored.

On behalf of the Inter-fraternity council I ask that something be done immediately. I do not agree with some that to even up competition Rulon be required to amputate one leg just below the knee. This has not been the college's policy in matters of this kind in the past. I do suggest, however, that until this situation can be taken up at the next meeting of the Student Council that Rulon be required to ride no handed. This, it seems to me is more than fair.

President Eversull, it's up to you!

Neglected Men Folk Seek Recognition

To supplement the BOSN organization on the campus, certain male students whose feelings were slighted because they were not included in the group, have inaugurated a new idea, which no doubt will take the country by storm. It is the BOSWAACs (Braw Organized to Serve the WAACs). The purpose of this already popular club is to carry on correspondence with women in the armed forces and to send them news about pa and the kids at home. Eligible males wishing to apply must be free to travel, handsome, personable, rich, friendly and are you kidding?

Formal Teas Begin As Anxious Rushees Await Final Verdict

"What is your course?" "Where are you from?" These questions reign as the yearly struggle known as "rushing" began last Wednesday. Smiles blossomed and froze on the faces of sorority sisters and potential pledges meeting for the first time. The spotless houses and apartments had been cleaned and scrubbed by hordes of hopeful actives and alums. The resulting shiny noses, smudged faces and weary muscles were coated by a veneer of fresh makeup, amiable smiles and the latest campus clothes at four p. m., September 30.

At that time the first rushees were ushered in, signed up and seated; conversation generally centering about such interesting topics as relations, courses and mutual friends. Dainty little cups of tea, dainty little cookies, dainty little nuts and candies were then served to the starving freshmen. These new students flourished beneath the friendliness in sorority sanctums then, but later they shrank from the Pan-Hell imposed cold shoulders on the campus.

While the rigidly restricted sorority socials took place, envious eyes viewed the fraternity tactics. There were no tea servings or excessive courtesies as the "brothers" moved new boys into their respective houses, snatched desired rushees from their competitors, and literally pushed them against a wall to bombard them with proposals, pleas and threats.

Seven p. m. found excited gatherings in sorority living rooms, confusedly trying to discuss the separate qualities of each of the 90 girls who had been presented. One name was acclaimed, one crossed off, one hope partially realized, another shattered.

Thus the hallowed institution of "rushing" will progress through next week with Greeks madly trying to fill quotas, rushees equally madly trying to decide what organization is best. Teas and dinners will keep both groups on their toes till the relief or chagrin bearing invitations are issued Oct. 11.

Lange Heads College YM 42 Program

Headed by Norbert Lange as program secretary, the college YMCA began its program of activities last week with a stag party for freshmen on Thursday, an explanation of organization meeting on Friday and a Freshman Breakfast on Sunday morning.

Lange, a senior student in Applied Arts and Science, will be in charge of cabinet affairs and program planning.

Mrs. Richard Sweitzer, wife of the former executive secretary will fill a new position as office secretary.

The Friday night meeting to explain campus organizations to freshmen brought eight campus leaders before the group. These men represented various clubs and honorary groups at the college.

The men taking part were Walter Chase, Vernon Hathaway, Leonard King, Carroll Eian, Lawrence Becker, Kenny Jones, George Rulon and Norbert Lange.

Operating under that handicap at the OCS has priority on all rooms in the Y building, the Y cabinets will attempt to formulate a program along the lines of those presented in former years.

Activities that have been proposed for the year so far include office forums, "How to Study" and "For Men Only" series, hobby show, worship services, informal religious discussions, dancing classes, athletic competition, ping-pong tournaments, recognition dinner, YMCA quartet, kiddies Christmas party, dime dances, and several frolics.

4-H Show and Sale Scheduled as Usual

Four-H club members at AC and in North Dakota looking forward to the state livestock show and sale of market classes and to the annual meeting of the Achievement Institute at NDAC will continue to plan on these events being held as usual, according to an announcement by Extension Service 4-H department. Arrangements for both are being forwarded, says H. E. Rilling, club leader.

Dates are as follows: livestock show and sale, Oct. 30 to Nov. 2; Achievement Institute, Nov. 3 to 5.

Some of the usual facilities open to the club members for their programs at NDAC will be occupied by the officer candidate training school beginning this fall. However, other space will be utilized.

Unless something unforeseen in the war situation arises to alter present plans, both the stock show and the institute can be held, Rilling declares.

Council Meeting Set

Inter-fraternity council will hold a meeting Sunday afternoon 5 in the Sigma Phi Delta house, announces Roland Johnson, president of the group. Any rushing problems will be taken up at that time.

Fraternities Begin Formal Rush Week

Formal rush week for NDAC's eight fraternities opens today and will continue until Oct. 11. Sunday and October 11 will be closed dates with no rushing allowed. Formal pledging for the various groups will be held after Oct. 11.

Leading off the parade of parties planned for the next eight evenings, the Theta Chis entertain their rushees tonight. Tomorrow evening is open to all groups, but the Alpha Tau Omegas have preference over all other Greek letter societies for their formal rushing party Monday.

Tuesday, the three professional fraternities will hold their parties on the same evening. No conflicts are expected to appear among the rushees of the three groups and so the Alpha Gamma Rhos, Sigma Phi Deltas and Kappa Psis are all scheduled for Tuesday.

Sigma Chi fraternity will entertain Wednesday evening. With the Kappa Sigma Chis and Sigma Alpha Epsilons finishing the week on Thursday and Friday respectively.

Groups may have dinner dates with rushees on a night reserved for another fraternity's party, but the dinner date automatically ends at 8 p. m. and the rushee must be out of the house so that he may attend the party of that evening if so invited.

Girls Prepare For War Jobs Here . . .

Girls from 16 North Dakota counties are enrolled in an NYA project at NDAC where they are receiving training which soon will make them technical workers in Uncle Sam's many war industries.

In the NYA engineering laboratories here, the young women work side by side with men, learning the fundamentals of machine shop and welding work. The NYA project has been underway at NDAC for two years, but until this spring it was strictly a man's affair. With the war came an increased demand for women workers in industry, so the project went "co-educational" about the middle of April.

Girls are not trained to become skilled workers, but rather are given thorough background in shop practices and are thoroughly familiarized with handling shop machinery. Half of the group is enrolled in machine shop training and the other half in welding. There is no beginning nor end to the course. When a girl has sufficient training to receive the recommendation of the instructors, she "graduates." This maintains a continuous flow of workers to war industries.

During the last two years about 300 men have received the instruction under the program. Last July the first group of girls—six of them—were transferred to an NYA residential training project at Seattle, Washington. After a few week's additional training there, they will be given jobs in industry—probably at Boeing Aircraft plant. The placement of workers is handled by the United States Employment Service.

Twenty-four girls comprise the residential project. They spend 40 hours a week on the project—halftime on productive work and halftime on related training. The productive work of the project is to turn out chairs, tables, machinery and other equipment for state institutions. Six Fargo girls are also taking the project, but not as a residential program.

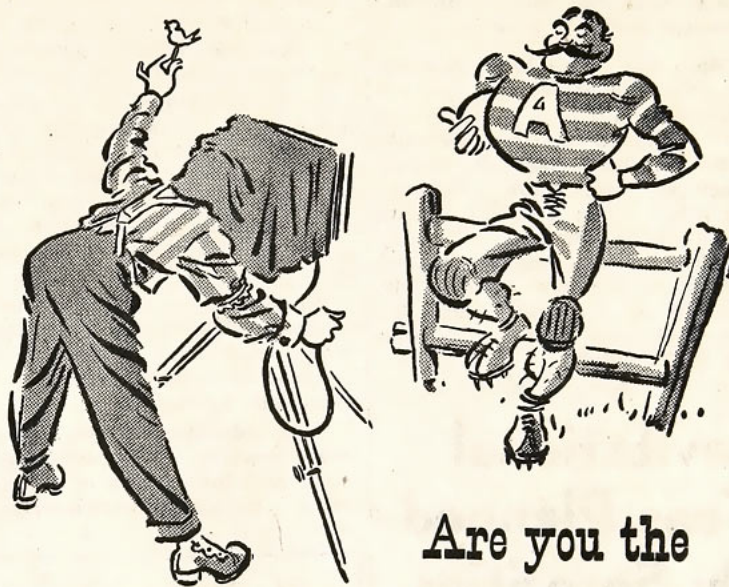

NOTICE

All girls who were given "Ask Me" buttons during the orientation program are requested to return them to the Dean of Women's office. This is important because the college cannot get any more.

Cadet Colonel To Be Named In November

This year's cadet colonel, regimental staff, battalion personnel and company officers in the ROTC cadet regiment will not be announced until a week or ten days before the Military Ball scheduled for Dec. 5, announces Lt.-Col. Charles H. Hart, Jr., ROTC commandant at NDAC.

Col. Hart stated that the delay in making the selection of ranking officers for the coming school year would give the entire senior class a chance to once more "do their stuff" in general assembly periods.

More and more basic military students are registering in the military department each day and staff members feel that the final cadet enrollment will very nearly reach the record 576 total that comprised the regiment during fall term of last year. Tuesday afternoon at the first general assembly of the new quarter, 408 students of all classifications had indicated their intentions of taking ROTC work.

The schedule follows: Afternoon teas—Monday, 3:30 to 5 Gamma Phi Beta and 5 to 6:30 Kappa Delta; Tuesday, 3:30 to 5 Alpha Gamma Delta and 5 to 6:30 Kappa Kappa Gamma; Wednesday, 3:30 to 5 Phi Mu and 5 to 6:30 Gamma Phi Beta; Thursday, 3:30 to 5 Phi Omega Pi and 5 to 6:30 Alpha Gamma Delta; Friday, 3:30 to 5 Kappa Delta and 5 to 6:30 Phi Mu; Saturday, 3:30 to 5 Kappa Kappa Gamma and 5 to 6:30 Phi Omega Pi.

New actives at the OX house are Warren Jacobsen, Sharon; Bob Bergan, Fergus Falls, Minn.; Paul Brostrom, Washburn; Don Schaezel, Davenport; John McNutt, Napoleon and Don Loder, Cooperstown.

U. S. Civil Service Commission Seeks Game Managers And Conservationists

Aids are needed to do practical work on Federal game refuges in the Fish and Wildlife service of the Department of the Interior.

The United States Civil Service commission is seeking qualified persons to fill these positions. Entrance salary is $1,440 a year. Applications must be filed with the Commission's Washington, D. C., office not later than October 19.

Three years of study in a recognized college with not less than six semester hours in game management or wildlife conservation will admit applicants.

Such education is not necessary, however. Applicants may have had three years of experience in the aggregate as a forest,

Several Campus Changes Greet Returning Students

Students returning to NDAC this fall are finding that numerous improvements have been made to the buildings and grounds during the summer months.

Most noticeable is the new engineering laboratory, which has been completed and landscaped in the past few weeks. Divided into three units of 30 by 90 feet, the new building will house an aeronautics and internal combustion engine laboratory, the college machine shop and a testing laboratory.

Brightening the north side of the campus are the freshly-painted farm buildings. The livestock barns now present a more pleasing picture in their white and green paint.

Other improvements made at NDAC this summer include several new sidewalks and crossings, new roofs on four buildings, new equipment in the women's gymnasium and plantings of more grass, shrubbery and flowers. Under the supervision of Erling Thorson, superintendent of buildings and grounds, the campus is judged to be in the finest condition in years.

Wallace Chase Chosen Greek Group Treasurer

Wallace (Bud) Chase, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was elected treasurer of the Inter-fraternity council at a meeting of that organization held Tuesday afternoon.

Chase, a senior in agriculture, succeeds Richard Fernbaugh, Sigma Phi Delta, who did not return to school this fall because of enlistment in the army air corps as an aviation cadet.

New Physical Program Set For Early Date

A Physical Build-Up program for students and faculty alike sponsored by the Physical Education department has been announced by Coach E. E. Kaiser and is to get underway soon. Kaiser has not set a date for the program's start, but will wait to see how many sign up.

Because the program is completely voluntary, and up to those participating to carry out, there will be no credit given for the course.

The program will start with warm up exercises such as chinning, push ups, body lifts, etc then will advance to more difficult and rigid exercises. Modified games such as touch ball will be played, and a barricade and steeple chase will be used if the equipment is available.

Forty or fifty fellows are needed to start the program, so sign up as soon as possible with Kaiser in the athletic department office.

Cichy, Heer On Seahawks

Bison football fans will have more than a passing interest in the University of Minnesota-Iowa Seahawk game at Minneapolis tomorrow. Sid Cichy and Bob Heer, members of last year's NDAC freshman team, are on the roster of Bernie Bierman's charges.

Cichy is playing third string quarterback behind Forest Evashevski, former Michigan great, and Bill Osmanski, of Holy Cross and professional fame. Heer, a halfback, has received favorable publicity in reports from Iowa City.

King Scores Once To Give NDAC Tie

A touchdown by Daly King in the fourth quarter gave the Bison a 6-6 tie with the Wahpeton Navy Machinists Mates football team at Wahpeton Monday night.

The Mates' single counter came in the second period when Harold Masuhr intercepted a Bison pass and raced 90 yards to score. Wahpeton failed to convert.

A pass, King to Jim Gorman, late in the final period put the AC on the Mates' four-yard line. King plunged over on the next play. The try for extra point failed.

First downs favored the Herd ten to three. Twice in the first half and once in the finale the Bison threatened from inside the twenty-yard line.

King and Gorman were standouts in the Bison backfield with O'Neil and Rothrock performing best in the forward wall. Jackson, Masuhr, and Brady played stellar ball for the Mates.

"Sed" Hartman, coach of the University of Omaha Redskins, need not look far for talent. Every player on his thirty-man squad lists Omaha as his home town.

Intra-murals Begin Soon Under Kaiser

The intra-mural sports program is expected to get underway next week with touch football as the main fall feature. As in the past any organization, either a social fraternity or independent group may enter a team. Groups from all schools on the campus are eligible to submit entries.

It is urged that as many students as possible take part in these intra-mural programs because of the great need of physical fitness today.

Sigma Chi won last year's title with a 12-7 victory over the previously unbeaten Alpha Gamma Rho entry.

Play will start immediately upon the release of the schedule next week.

A New Record?

Lowe Is Fourth Bison Grid Mentor In Year And A Half

The Bison Athletic Department has taken one blow on the chin after another as three head football coaches have joined the armed forces of our country during the past year and a half.

During the winter of 1941 athletic director and head football coach C. C. (Casey) Finnegan was called into active service as a colonel in the army. Stan Kostka, former all-American fullback for Minnesota, was called from Chisholm, Minn., to be head coach of the Bison.

KOSTKA COMMISSIONED

Kostka had just inaugurated his system here when he received a commission in the navy, leaving the AC again without a coach. Johnny Smith, athletic director and head coach after Kostka left, was also called into the army in August, leaving Bob Lowe, basketball coach to take over the reins as grid mentor, too.

Lowe is assisted by E. E. Kaiser, former physical education instructor of Agassiz Junior high school in Fargo. Kaiser will handle men's physical education classes for the duration. He will also head the intra-mural program which will be expanded should intercollegiate athletics fold up.

PRESENTING!!

CAPTAIN HARRY TREGLAWNEY will lead the Bison into battle tonight from either fullback or quarterback, with the last-minute decision to be made by Coach Bob Lowe. Treglawney is a senior in Arts & Science.

Heard About The Herd

By OWEN LANGEN

Although Bob Lowe, Bison grid mentor, sees no possible chance for an AC win tonight, he does look for an improved squad later in the season. New players, mostly freshmen, have been reporting this week and several of them show promise of developing into varsity material. Lowe also feels that with better weather conditions allowing regular practice sessions, the squad will present formidable opposition for opponents later in the season.

And then there is the story about the halfback playing under "Doc" Spears at Minnesota in the late '20's. This player had been dividing his time between strenuous football practices and an equally strenuous night-life schedule, thinking "Doc" knew nothing of the evening escapades.

After the final game of the season, our alcoholic athlete approached Spears and said, "Well coach, I think I'll go out and break training tonight." To which the good Doctor replied, "What are you going to do, take dope?"

sciences and that they keep themselves as physically fit as possible by participating in physical education and college sports. Armed service representations report that approximately 20% of the officer candidates are denied commissions because of inadequate educational and physical training.

Under these programs enlisted students are sent into officer's training upon graduation or call to active duty. This training lasts from three to six months and upon successful completion of the training, candidates receive commissions as officers.

It is expected that all students will be permitted to enlist at any time this year except in the Navy V-7 program which closes on November 1, 1942. After the current year, however, present plans are that only incoming freshman students will be permitted to enlist in such programs.

To enable all students to secure complete information on these programs, a joint presentation board composed of an Army Air Force, Navy, Navy Air Force, and a Marine Corps officer will visit NDAC for two days on October 12 and 13. After an all-men convocation on Monday morning, these officers will discuss individual problems with interested students. While they will not actually enlist students in the service, they will probably interview and make arrangements for the enlistment of students in the respective branches of service. All students are invited to participate in this two day program.

NOTICE

Students driving cars on the campus must limit their speed to 10-15 miles per hour. The campus is now an army reservation with the OVS group here and strict regulations will be enforced.

AC Co-op. Group Opens New House

NDAC Co-operative house has increased this year from its original 25 members to a total of 55 members.

Because of an active membership drive and the college housing situation, the Co-ops have leased another house located at 1235-11 1/2 St. North, and both houses are now open to inspection by anyone interested in Co-operatives.

Following past procedure, the boys do all the work at the two houses except the cooking with the boarding department at house No. 1 having been increased to accommodate all of the members.

YM Program For '42 Starts

On September 27 Dakota Hall was the scene of the YWCA annual freshmen breakfast in honor of the new women students and their campus sisters. Toast mistress Annabelle Donovan welcomed the freshmen, then introduced the YWCA Cabinet members. After a talk by Rev. C. E. Parr, cars from the various churches in the city were waiting to take the girls to church.

Outlining the YWCA program for the year in a meeting October 1 were Doris Bjorklund, Marian Nelson, Shirley Soliah, Dorothy Monson, Gladys Drager, Annabelle Donovan and Mrs. J. E. Bennison, group adviser.

Norbert Lange, YMCA president is planning a joint meeting of the two "Y" groups Wednesday.

Concordia college has served notice on the other members of the Minnesota state conference that it means business this year after winning from the Bison 7-6 and MSTC 19-0.
