Lawrence Tibbett, Opera Star, On Lyceum Wednesday

Lawrence Tibbett, baritone star of grand opera, radio and motion pictures, headlines the spring term Lyceum series when he appears Wednesday, April 8, at 8:15 p. m. in Festival hall.

"America's own" is a term often applied to Tibbett. A native of California, he began his career as a wandering minstrel in Los Angeles. Tibbett was twenty-five when he left the west coast for New York where he studied singing on borrowed money.

Six months after his arrival in the "melting-pot" he auditioned for and received a contract with the Metropolitan Opera. Though it was only for minor roles, he soon sang the role of Ford in "Falstaff". His operatic debut was made in the characterization of Valentine in "Faust." From that time on Tibbett has been front page, headline copy for newspapers all over the world.

Among the roles he has played are the title part in Verdi's "Rigoletto", Iago in "Othello", the lead in "Simon Boccanegra" and Amonasro in Verdi's "Aida."

Tibbett is not new to NDAC audiences. In 1939 he played to one of the largest audiences in the history of the Lyceum series.

● get ready now

The blitzkrieg in the Far East has proved that we have been attacked by a country that was better prepared than America. Not necessarily better prepared from a military machine viewpoint but from the personal physical angle.

Pound for pound, the Japanese soldier is superior to any other soldier in modern times. He has all the qualities which make up the ideal soldier. He has courage, endurance, physical strength.

The Japanese are tough because they have been subjected to strenuous physical training. In their estimation, the army is the highest of Utopian dreams. The youth prepares for his military service by subjecting himself to hard work, long hours, suffering and privation. This training has produced rugged soldiers.

In order to match this threat, America must prepare physically. The first important requisite of preparedness should be a physical fitness program—a program of training that will make America strong.

American people can prepare their bodies to a high degree of physical excellence. NDAC has the facilities for such training. The students and faculty members of this campus owe it to themselves and to the nation to become healthy Americans.

Gamma Phi Beta To Initiate Six Tonight

Gamma Phi Beta week began Monday night for the pledges. Jean Hoeft and Ruth Gunvaldsen are co-chairmen of the preliminary proceeding. Tuesday night the pledges entertained the actives at a potluck supper in the Gamma Phi apartment.

Wednesday night found the pledges serving and entertaining at the traditional dinner at the Theta Chi house.

Initiation will climax the events tonight. Patricia Scheel and Rosalie Larson are in charge of the initiation services. Those being initiated are Bernette Isaac, Jane Gilbert, Mary Tilden, Kay Spohn, Virginia Solberg and Mary Cummins.

Deadbeat Street

A gal who is clever and deft
Is the Gamma Phi's own Jeanie Hoeft;
Her scruples are high,
Please don't ask us why—
But there ain't many gals like that left!

* * * *

We'll not say a word against Crockett,
Or the yearbook—we're not gonna knock it;
But we like to suppose,
That if we saw his nose,
We'd take a big club and we'd sock it.

* * * *

There was a young Sig named Fick
Who played a torrid black stick.
Some Joe cut his hair,
Now his noggin is bare—
This is not a commercial for Schick.

* * * *

A job to make anyone cuss,
Or at least so it now seems to us,
Is the one Betty Lou
Pannebaker must do
In trying to cater to Gus.

* * * *

There was a young man named Page
In Detroit Lakes he was always the rage
He's just as batty
As he is a fatty
Why doesn't he act his age?

* * * *

Shed a tear for our hero poor Bill,
Whose miserable job is to tend
All the work on the docket
That's thought up by Crockett;
Bill—give him the works in the end!

* * * *

Efficient's the word for our Wells—
She talks, she walks and she spells;
She's going away
To Denver they say—
Can I help if this stuff smells?

* * * *

He's working his way through school
This Landeck is surely a jewel.
He's handsome and wise
With flashy brown eyes
Thank the lord that's the end. APRIL FOOL!

I'm Working My Way Thru College

Today's interview concerns a little known but highly interesting student, Holmer Q. Snivelhammer. Holmer is registered in poultry and plant-watering.

His career in obtaining an education really makes the teachers smile and feel their efforts to raise the general standards of college students worthwhile. Ever since he registered he has maintained a 5.4 average.

EDUCATION A MUST

Holmer was determined to get a college education. He has logged logs in a logging camp, washed dishes, sold shoes, peddled peanuts, picked pockets, hammered horseshoes, and tripped the light fantastic from Zanzibar to Xanadu. In fact Holmer has held some 199.9 different jobs during his search for knowledge.

At present he is working as a combination dumb-waiter and toothpick holder at a local restaurant.

NON-FRILLY NATURE

He hasn't much time for any of the frills most students find a necessary part of college life, but prefers to sample his little brown jug in quiet solitude. He doesn't think he can afford to join a fraternity, but no fraternity ever wanted him, so everybody's happy.

When asked why he was so determined to finish school, Hol-

mer replied, "It has been my lifelong dream to some day be the proud proprietor of the finest establishment in North Dakota, The Snivelhammer Poultry Farm and Co., Inc."

BOO-HOO

As to whether he found it hard to get jobs, he explained, "Well, sometimes. For instance, I had a job lined up once to teach women how to use the cheaper cuts of meat and make them taste like T-bone steaks, but when they found out I hadn't had two years of woodworking, I was out. Silly, isn't it, when you think of it?"

BIG DUMMY

When asked which was more difficult, working or going to school, he just scratched his head

Solberg Seeks New Trackmen For AC Squad

Track Coach Charlie Solberg is still looking for more candidates for the Bison track squad which is scheduled to take part in its first meet of the season on April 24, when the Herd goes into South Dakota for the annual Aberdeen Relays.

Solberg is especially anxious to uncover some dash men to be used in building a relay team capable of strong competition in the meets set for the Bison squad this spring.

One more man reported for conditioning workouts this week when Lester Markusen, Bison lineman, indicated to Solberg that he would be available to try his hand at the weight events.

After the Aberdeen Relays the last week in April, the Bison will take part in the Dragon Relays on May 2. Valley City will play host to the annual North Dakota Intercollegiate meet on the following Saturday, May 9.

Last meet on the Herd's schedule so far is the conference meet to be held May 16 at Brookings, South Dakota.

Sigma Xi, scientific research society, has granted a charter for establishment of a chapter at Louisiana State university.

Walhood Tops Mates With 89.6 Percent Of Possible Scores

Second to Walhood, making 88.6 percent of his scores, was Paul Middaugh. Leonard Kirk was third while Paynee Lysnee finished fourth and Harold Rohde completed the top five.

Walhood and Rohde are sophomores while the other three marksmen completed their last year on the rifle team this season.

Others awarded letters in addition to the five named above are John Berg, Royal Berstler, Jack Kingzett, and Peder Week.

Rifleman	Pct.
Vilas Walhood	89.6
Paul Middaugh	88.6

WOMEN'S SPORTS

By FLORENCE POTTER

Approximately 15 girls attended the first meeting of the badminton club. Starting at 7 every Tuesday night, the group is open to any girl on the campus wearing gym shoes. Tournament games start next week.

MOUNTAINEERS WIN

The girls at the University of Kentucky can outshoot those from the prairies of Dakota, judging by the results of a postal match conducted with the Lexington team. The score was 977-971 in their favor.

TOPS AT TEN PINS

Doris Marie Larson walked off with bowling honors Saturday with a score of 138. Also bowling high were Aileen Thompson, 136; Phyllis Lane, 118, and Martha Melby, 115.

GETTING TOUGH

A new year—new officers—and a new system prevails. WAA points for unsupervised sports should be turned in the last week of every term and will not be accepted afterwards. Points for the winter term must be in by Wednesday. The recorder will be in the physical education office Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 to check points.

Important Items Up For Consideration At NCI Meetings

Athletic Director Johnny Smith and Dr. O. O. Churchill, faculty member of the athletic board of control, will represent NDAC at the North Central conference's annual spring meeting opening Saturday in Minneapolis.

Important matters to be considered and acted on at the meeting this weekend include next season's basketball schedules, the use of freshmen on varsity squads, action on Omaha's petition to be released from the conference, and a consideration of the possibility of establishing boxing as a conference sport in line with the recommendation of the Army and the Navy.

Herd's Average Score Best In Competition

NDAC's Bison basketball team averaged more points per game than any other Fargo-Moorhead cage squad entered in the Glenn L. Woods Trophy competition.

MSTC scored more tallies than the Bison, but the Herd's average was 43.5 to 43.4 for the Dragon quintet.

Sacred Heart academy barely nosed out the Moorhead high school Spuds for the Woods trophy, presented to the F-M school outscoring its opponents by the greatest percentage of points during the past cage campaign.

Activities Of College War Council

By A Council Member

"We should take it upon ourselves to be informed of the faults of a failing social order which results in continuous wars . . . plan now, that after the war we may know what to do when the time for reconstruction arrives . . . I would like to know more of the power advertisers and moneyed interests have over the press in light of the recent attempt to smear labor organizations in spite of President Roosevelt's statement of faith in the working man."

Statements like these were made after the NDAC's War Conference and reflect the thoughts of students. We must take it upon ourselves to attend forums and discussions, go to the Key Center of Information and read the material gathered. The Key Center is open from 9 to 12 every day and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. We can be more informed, we can discuss these problems and obstacles and we must plan and equip ourselves for the crucial times that will follow.

Others said, "We are not slackers but we do believe sincerely that more can be done for our country with an education than without it . . . people say it is our duty to stay in college but in most cases we are not allowed to finish the course or use that training."

Be that true or not, this is not the time to quit. Trained leadership will be at a premium when the war is over. The recent V-1, V-5 and V-7 programs have alleviated this condition a great deal.

Many expressed the hope that the different organizations on the campus would realize their own potentialities. To help—"we don't have to be soldiers to fight this war."

Recognizing the fact that many mistakes have been made, we must be critical of ourselves. I illustrate by an analogy from Colliers—"Britain's famous old-school-tie boys who cluttered up her government until Churchill began weeding them out, and the equally famous Col. Blimps who still clutter up her army to some extent, have no doubt been responsible for a lot of Britain's griefs. There is no objection that we can see to well aimed gibes at these gentry . . . But we have a few Col. Blimps of our own, to say nothing of a few Admiral Tubbaguts and a selection of all but incredible stuffed shirts in high government circles. For all our vaunted flexibility and mental agility we didn't pigeon-hole enough of these characters in time to avoid the Normandie disaster."

Success in growing vanilla plants from seed, which had been considered virtually impossible, has been reported at Cornell university.

Instruction In Use Of Farm Machines Offered By NDAC

Any man or woman, including high school and college students, interested in learning how to operate and properly maintain farm tractors and machinery so that he may take an active part in the production of food for defense, is eligible for the course in farm machinery maintenance and operation to be offered by the AC, announces Dr. Elmer C. Darling, director of adult extension work.

H. E. White of the agricultural engineering department will be the instructor. There will be no tuition fee for the course, and no college or high school credit will be given.

An organization meeting will be Thursday evening, April 9, at 7:30 p. m. in Room 210, Morrill hall, and the class schedule will be set up, according to the wish of the group. Those interested should be present at this meeting. The class will meet for two hours a day, two days a week, either in the late afternoon or evening. It will continue for six weeks.
