Outstanding Seniors Named To Honor Position In Bison By Faculty, Student Group

Six outstanding seniors will grace the pages of this year's Bison yearbook, Dick Crockett, editor, announced. The representative seniors were chosen on the recommendation of a committee of juniors and faculty members.

Chosen were:

Dick Crockett
John Emo
Clark Heggeness
Allagene Jefferis
Betty Lou Pannebaker
John Snowberg

The committee's recommendations were based on scholarship, campus activity and general attitude.

Crockett's activities include college 4-H club president, Spectrum editor, Bison editor, Alpha Gamma Rho president, sophomore class president, Interfraternity council, board of publications control and national award for the outstanding undergraduate Alpha Gamma Rho.

Emo is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho, treasurer of Blue Key, president of Alpha Zeta, a member of Scabbard and Blade, secretary and treasurer of Edwin Booth dramatic society, president and vice president of the college 4-H club, business manager of the Bison Furrows and a member of Saddle and Siroin.

Miss Jefferis is president of Phi Upsilon Omicron, a member of Senior Staff, president and vice president of Art club, treasurer and a member of the advisory council of Tryota, a member of the women's rifle team, Women's Senate member and a member of the YWCA council.

Miss Pannebaker is secretary of Kappa Kappa Gamma, a member of the Spectrum editorial staff, a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Senior Staff president, president of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club, president of the YWCA sophomore commission, senior class secretary and a member of the board of publications.

Snowberg is a player on the football varsity, secretary of Blue Key, a member of the American Society for Civil Engineers, Engineer's club, Lettermen's club, president of Tau Delta Pi, a member of Phi Kappa Phi and a participant in intramural sports.

A new innovation in this year's yearbook, Crockett announced, is the addition of a campus personality section which will feature pictures of other outstanding seniors as well as prominent undergraduates.

Blackout Tickets To Go On Sale

ARP Warden Roy Gordon announces that tickets for the Chemist's club's Chemical Warfare Blackout party will go on sale the middle of next week.

A limited number of ducats will be available to the general student body, he said.

Nearly all chemistry majors will have tickets for sale.

Usual Indifference Marks Election Of Ball Managers

By LORAN LADWIG

Uninspired and significant only in the general lack of interest, were the junior and senior class elections in which Alice Larson, Bohn Lindemann and Herbert Glaser were squeezed into the offices of junior and senior ball managers and junior class athlete.

Although there was no interest prior to Thursday afternoon, developments at the last minute caused considerable concern for the complacent Coalition party managers. For the first time in three years the 'party' felt strain due to the reluctance of the independents to support the two Greek entries.

SCORES EASY WIN

Bohn Lindemann, elected senior ball manager, had an easier time than his running mate, polling a crushing total of 25 votes compared to Kenny Crahan's 16.

Alice Larson, first woman junior ball manager in the history of the affair, was hard pressed by her opponent, Al Sandmark, but came out with a 22 to 20 decision.

ELECTION UNANIMOUS

Indicative of the prevailing peace and harmony of the class meeting was the unanimous election of Glaser as class athlete.

It was not only the Independents who failed to show for the election. Their apathy seemed to be shared by the rest of the student body. Of the 650 juniors and seniors registered, only 85, or 13 percent of the total, were on hand on show an interest in their government.

Norbert Lange has been named by manager Larson to the position of assistant ball manager. Margery Fjeld will assist Lindemann with the senior arrangements.

Hocking, Former AC Student, Dies In Bomber Crash

Another former NDAC student died while serving his country Thursday, when Second Lieut.

Lieut. Ronald C. Hocking was killed in the crash of an army bomber near Yoakum, Texas. Five other army men died in the same accident. Hocking, whose home is in Abqaraka in Cass county, was a member of North Dakota Beta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Dunbar Will Give Address To Seniors

"Science, Youth and Reconstruction" is the topic for the winter quarter commencement address by Dr. Ralph E. Dunbar.

Twenty-two candidates will be presented for bachelor of science degree today at 3 p. m. Following the formal graduation ceremonies, a reception will be held for graduates, parents and friends.

NDAC's mixed chorus under the direction of Ernst Van Vlissingen will present several musical numbers.

EIGHT IN AG

Candidates from the school of agriculture, eight in all, make up the largest group of graduates this term. They are Gordon D. Anderson, Nelson C. Anderson, Ronald E. Anderson, Orville C. Engebretson, Magnus S. Johnson, William J. Lawrence, Edward G. Parizek, and Larry Iverson.

Four candidates are listed from the school of applied arts and sciences. They include Laura Ball, Graydon F. Fredrikson, Melford P. Fritsvold and Melvin L. Wisheart.

TWO IN EDUCATION

Julia B. Brophy and Fred Burkhardt will graduate from the division of education.

From the school of engineering, five candidates are presented for degrees. They are Frederick G. Cook, Glen A. Waller, Henry Neverman, Earl McMahon and Charles C. Wattam.

Three women students will be graduated from the school of home economics. They include Rilla O. Hoffman, Ella M. Silliman and Esther E. Schulz.

Eversull To Deliver Baccalaureate At Chicago University

Dr. Frank L. Eversull, NDAC president, leaves today for Chicago where he will give the baccalaureate address Sunday for graduating seniors at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Eversull will speak in the large chapel on the university campus, one of the most famous college chapels in the United States.

More than a year ago Dr. Eversull was asked to make the address at the University, where he received his bachelor of philosophy and master of arts degrees.

It is a tradition at Chicago that the March baccalaureate be given by a college president. Dr. Eversull has been preceded by such famous men as Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of Chicago; Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar, and the late L. D. Coffman, president of Minnesota.

Students Included In Conference

Students will be included in a scholastic war adjustment conference for the first time in the history of the United States when NDAC's war conference gets underway March 23. The sessions will continue through March 24.

The theme of the campus conference will be "What Schools Can Do To Meet the War Needs of Our Government." All students and faculty members are welcome at all meetings.

With Roy Johnson, a member of the state board of higher education, as chairman, Monday's session gets underway with registration at 9 a. m. At 9:30 the college mixed chorus will sing a concert under the direction of Ernst Van Vlissingen. The invocation will be by Rev. Thomas Hendrickson.

Morning discussion topics include "The Schools and National Defense," "The Schools and Morale" and "The Schools and Education."

Five separate conferences are scheduled Monday afternoon—for County Superintendents and School Officers, for School Administrators, for Teachers, for the Public and for In School Youth.

Of particular interest to students are the sessions for in-school youth. A joint session from 1:30 to 3 will be led by Dr. Otto Beyers, and from 3 to 5 separate meetings are scheduled for men and women with Dr. Beyers leading the men's discussion and Mrs. Frank L. Eversull leading the women's meeting.

A dinner at 6 will be followed by a tour of defense projects on the campus.

At 8 p. m. a public forum is scheduled on "What Schools Must Do to Win the War."

At 9:30 Tuesday, Rev. Clarence E. Parr will give the invocation which will be followed by an address by Dr. Frank L. Eversull on "The Victory Program for Schools."

From 10:30 to 12 conferences are scheduled on School Finance, Opportunities in Government Service and Armed Forces for Youth, Post War Planning, Essential New Areas of Training, What the Schools Can and Should Teach and Teacher Recruiting and Training.

A luncheon will be followed by the last meeting at 1:30 at which reports of the conference will be read.

200 Attend FU Banquet

More than 200 persons, students and guests from Fargo-Moorhead and surrounding territory, assembled in Ceres hall Saturday, heard C. E. Huff, former national president of the Farmers Union, speak on "The Place of Agriculture and of Farm Youth in the Present World Crisis." The occasion was the sixth annual banquet of the college Farmers Union local.

Francis Daniel, president of the local, was toastmaster.

Huff emphasized that the farmer is not holding out in this hour of need and that he is producing and will produce abundantly to feed this nation and to help win the war.

The farmer does ask and has a right to ask, Huff said, that our national government take precautions now in order that surpluses that may be built up between now and the end of the war be distributed to a hungry people and that farmers be not asked to destroy any good foodstuffs in an attempt to effect artificial security.

DELAMETER TO ENTERTAIN AT BLUE MONDAY TEA

Verla Delameter will entertain at next week's Blue Monday tea from 4 to 5 in the Fireside room of the college Y.

Silhouettes in rhythm by NDAC's own Lloyd Collins are presented nightly at the famous downtown rendezvous of NDAC students, the smart Powers Coffee Shop. Lloyd plays 6-8 and 9-11:30 Monday through Thursday; 6-7:30 and 10-1 a. m. Friday; 6-7:30 and 10-1:30 a. m. Saturday; and 6-9 Sunday.

Coeds Feel Brunt Of War

The college girl and her sweater-skirt ensemble is fast becoming as traditionally American as the cowboy, his boots and saddles, DESIGN FOR LIVING'S CBI (campus bureau of investigation) agents report.

College women spend 75 percent of their waking hours in a sweater-skirt outfit, they further elaborated. Cardigan or slipover, long or short sleeves, "V" or crew necklines, one rule is steadfast—sweaters must be plain.

CO-ED QUIZ

Querying co-eds at Cornell, Temple, University of Syracuse, Bryn Mawr, Texas university, Smith, University of Vermont, Oregon State, Michigan State, Iowa State, University of Colorado, Kansas State, Iowa university, and Barnard, CBI agents discovered that Miss Average College Girl spends $240.33 a year on clothes. Texas beauties, however, have the fattest pocket-books—they spend $768.

Campus feet are the same as ever in saddle shoes. But moccasins are owned by 40 percent of the girls. Saddles, pumps and the cinderella "evening" slipper complete a collegian's shoe shelf.

LEGS GO BARE

The stocking shortage or the troublesome "nick" in nylons, is no concern of DFLS Young Moderns. They cut stocking bills in half by barring legs in ankle socks early despite wintry blasts. A good number of the girls call time out from patriotic "bundling" to knit their socks.

Dickeys are definitely "in", but big hats collect dust on closet shelves. Bandanas, beanies, hoods, baseball skullies, calots, stocking caps, pill boxes, baby bonnets, berets and ear muffs are "in the know", CBI agents reported.

They noted, in addition, that southern lassies are all for the effeminate formal, while eastern and northwestern college gals rate the dinner gown and evening skirt-sweater combine, "super duper."

quizzes or tests thru-out the term.

2. Revert to the former system. Nobody learned anything additional in regular class sessions during the past week; therefore would it be a disadvantage to set aside the last week in an already shortened term for exams as has been the practice previous to this term?

3. Combine the two. A system could be devised whereby regular class sessions would be held on Monday and Tuesday and an examination program set up for the remaining three days.

We aren't supermen; neither are the faculty. Such a chaotic week as has just been witnessed is indeed fruitless—from every angle. Cannot something be done?

Hearts And Flowers, Ham And Eggs Seen At Faculty Fun Fest

After Tuesday night's Fun for Faculty clambake, NDAC pedagogues and their fraus are convinced that when Francis G. Schoff criticizes drama, he's on well-understood ground.

SINISTER VILLAIN

His portrayal of the villain in the "Hearts and Flowers" drama was portrayed with exciting realism, sinister sneers, the usual quota of mustachio twirling, and lots and lots of vivacious vibrato—by and large.

J. R. Dice, usually cast as a heavy, stole the show with his comic antics. Dice was unusually well-supported by comedienne Muriel Sweitzer.

The Tom Longs were more than adequate in the lead, reaping a bountiful harvest of 'bravos' and 'huzzahs'.

SWING QUARTETTE

In addition to the legitimate theatre effort, vaudeville had its fling. Appearing on the program was the Johe-Goodearl-Seaman-Reinhart quartet. After hearing the swing quartet, the audience agreed that they should.

Again the Ed Mayo magic act fooled everybody.

COSTUMES HILARIOUS

Carmen Miranda and Bing Crosby portrayals by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Sibbitt won the award of first man and first woman in a stiff masquerade competition.

Second man and lady of the evening were the George P. Good-earls as Pierrot and Pierrette.

In addition to the ham served up by the cast, hot dogs, coffee and ice cream were enjoyed by all.

DEAN DINAN IMPROVED

Dean Pearl Dinan, in a Fargo hospital since last Thursday, is reported considerably improved. She has been suffering from a severe attack of laryngitis.

Watch The Things Go By We've Done It Again

By Jim Ford

Another term will end in a blaze of glory tonight, but the flames will be shortlived, for three factors that are omnipresent will strike NDAC's revelers a mighty blow.

So as you pause in the college year tonight and tomorrow night to refresh yourself for the next 10-week grind, forget not to consider these factors:

First, all tuition is due and must be paid by Monday at 8 a. m. This alone should slow down many merrymakers, but there are always those who let tomorrow take care of itself. However, remember that in the past you've had a week between terms in which to bolster weakening financial conditions. Now, you've only two days.

Second, classes begin at 8 a. m. (we do mean a. m.) Monday. Cuts will naturally start at that time also. Big heads are incongruous with clear eyes and bright brains, so beware!

Third, grades will be out soon. You know what that means. Out of town students are lucky. They don't have to go home between terms. Fargo students pack up at this time, three times a year, and disappear from their firesides for about two weeks. This is probably the most crippling of the blows to most of the celebrators.

DON'T YOU CARE?

Another stinky campus election has gone by. Attendance at the junior and senior class meetings Thursday to elect Junior-Senior ball managers and a junior class athlete, as usual, was negligible. Forty-two persons cast ballots for the junior managership, and only 41 showed up at the senior meeting. Another example of the complete indifference of students in matters of this sort was the absence of a Modern frame candidate for the post of junior class athlete leaving Herb Glaser, Coalitionist, unopposed.

The only cures we can see for the apparent indifference are an entirely new alignment of the political parties on the campus or, much easier, an election by ballot for the classes, the same as for general campus elections. Under the system advocated above, those students who feel they haven't the time to attend a class meeting or are busy at the hour for which the meeting was called could visit the polls, which would be kept open all day, at any time.

SPRING TONIC

Last week's essay on picnics seemed a bit premature as it snowed heavily the very next day. Now, we feel confident that picnic season is indeed here. The grass is rapidly approaching the grab-and-a-half-high stage advocated by true lovers of the picnic. Need more be said?

To students who expect a return on laboratory breakage cards—You'll get used to it, FRESHMEN.

WAA Will Initiate 21 On Wednesday

Women's Athletic association will hold initiation services Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Ceres hall for 21 new members. Genevieve Olson, president of the organization, will conduct the ceremony.

Freshmen elected to membership are Donna Carter, Margaret Johnson, Jean Christenson, Verle Delameter, Evelyn Hemple, Doris Towle, Martha Melby, Mary Margaret Vail, Elaine Nelson and Pat Wirtenberger.

Included in the sophomore group are Ruth Adams, Elgene Armstrong, Joan Barickman, De-lores Huether, Lillian McDowell, Betty Provan, Emma Skarpnsno and Esther Sorenson.

Juniors to be initiated are Lorraine Brevik, Francis Lahlum and Eidell Thompson.

Third In Series Of

I'm Working My Way Thru College

"My ambition is to own a chain of amusement houses across the country," stated Don Landeck, business manager of "Sweethearts."

He has been associated with show business since a junior in high school in Sioux City, Iowa, when he dramatized a story. With this backing, it is easy to see why, as he says, "Sweethearts' campaign is rolling along nicely."

Don is unique in that he has been able to combine his love of the theater with a paying business. He is the sole owner of the Northwest Theatrical agency which books acts, shows, or anything you want—with or without Don in the cast. Don started this agency to years ago and in his words it pulled him out of some bad situations. Some of his best shows have been the Standard Oil and the Savings and Loans conventions.

BROADWAY BACKED OUT

His worst failure came in the summer of 1940 when he organized a stock company to tour North Dakota towns. In explaining, he said, "Times were really bady, and although we did make expenses, we were not invited to bring the show to Broadway."

"One night stands in a stock show are among the toughest jobs and the most common to any actor. I get burned up when I hear people say that actors have a soft life. For every star on Broadway or Hollywood, there are thousands who won't get beyond the stock company," Don paused for breath and control before continuing, "and further more, those same stars spent many years in practicing before they got their rating of stars."

"In my own case, I've found that out. I played juvenile leads in the WOW radio stock show for one summer and for the last year with the WDAY Hayloft Jamboree and I defy anyone to say I have a cushioned life. Of course, the fun and experience is well worth the work."

In addition to all this, Don also works at the National Tea company as a clerk on Saturdays and holidays.

POTENTIAL LAW MAKER

After graduating from NDAC, Don plans to attend Duke university for a degree in law. He intends to be a political writer as a hobby and at the present is writing a book on social reform.

Don insists that he will never forget one performance of the "Family Upstairs" in a little town in Nebraska. It seems that the company was giving a local dance hall terrific competition and the night of the performance the manager of the hall gave out free tickets to the dance and free beer. At 8:30 only 120 people had come—starting time was eight o'clock—so they decided to give the show if only to make expenses. Don was the first on the stage with a singing number. He had no more started than something whizzed by him and splattered against the wall. "I didn't know my singing was that bad but at the end of the number, a barrage of green apples was showered at me. We finished the first act and quit when one of the girls was hit on the cheek," Don continued. "We found out later that the dance hall manager had hired some men to sit in the back row and heave the apples."

WEEKEND MERRY-MAKING

Ending a hard week of pressing their noses to the grindstone, the Phi Mus, Gamma Phis and Sigs will relax and have fun at their respective winter term parties this weekend.

Friday night the Phi Mus will dance at the college Y, chaperoned by Sergeant and Mrs. L. L. Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Henning. Myrtle Dale and Dorothy Nelson are in general charge.

The Sigs will also trip the light fantastic on Friday night. The party will be held at Festival hall. Chairman is Don Crothers.

Patty O'Laughlin is in charge of the Gamma Phi party Saturday night. Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kostka and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Metzinger.

ATO's are having an overall and slack party at the house Friday night. Don Swenson, Dick Hunsaker, Earl Shaw, and Homer Goebel are in general charge.

FOUNDERS DAY BANQUET

Next Monday night the ATO's will celebrate their annual founders day banquet at the house at 6:30. Guest speakers are Paul Sandell, province chief, and Frank Webb, UND. The banquet includes alums as well as actives.

WINTER SHOW VISITORS

KANGAROO COURT

Kangaroo court was held by the Kappa Psis last Wednesday night. In other words, they had an active-pledge meeting followed by a general bull session.

SPEAKERS, VISITORS

Guest at the Phi Mu house Monday night was Miss Matilda Thompson. Miss Thompson spoke on the topic, "The Place of the Sorority Girl in the World Today".

Harry Johnson, Gamma Rho alum, was a weekend visitor at the house. He is at home waiting to be called into the naval reserve.

Co-op alums, Agnar Hellebust, Murray Warner and Carl Moeller, were weekend guests at the house.

Alum Kermit Hummel was a guest at the Kappa Sig house last weekend.

Radio Training Course At AC Underway

Under government supervision, a radio technicians' course is being offered at the AC. Started Feb. 16, the training will continue until June 5 at which time the course may be repeated and advance material also given. Under the direction of C. L. Swisher, Irving Gooze, Kurt Rothschild, E. L. Kirkpatrick and M. L. Redman, the class meets three hours five nights a week.

Specializing mainly in electric current and vacuum tube work, the purpose of the course is to prepare citizens for defense jobs not for technical radio work alone. Among the 60 people registered in the course, many are to be drafted and desire jobs in the signal corps or some other specialized division where this training will be of use.

Although there are five women in the class now, Dr. Swisher said many more should register and disabled men are needed too. No college credit is given for the subject.

Group From NDAC LSA Will Attend Training School

Arthur Walen, retiring regional LSA president, announces that on Saturday a staff of officers and other interested LSA members will attend the LSA workers conference in Mayville.

The conference will be a short term training school in LSA work for the officers who will serve during the coming year.

Hortense Hage, national LSA advisor, will make her last appearance, as she is to leave her position.

LSA members from schools in North Dakota and northern Minnesota will be present.

New officers of the NDAC unit are Janette Peterson, president; Everett Markwardt, vice president; Blanche Carlson, secretary; Frank Bauman, treasurer; Edith Heer, librarian; Gladys Welkin, mission secretary, and W. L. Ettesvold, advisor.

Slacks Controversy Rages On Despite Violent Protests

The talk of the campus this week concerns slacks for campus wear resulting from two events of last week. Miss Pearl Dinan, dean of women, in an article in the Spectrum stated that slacks were bad for street and campus wear. Another incident was the wearing of pajama tops by the Sigma Chi fraternity in protest to the co-eds wearing slacks.

A survey made to the question, "What do you think of slacks for campus wear?" brought the following comments:

Dorothy Nelson, Phi Mu: "I like them. They're warm and comfortable and look just as nice as skirts and sweaters."

Betty Mybro, Kappa Kappa Gamma: "I don't like slacks for school wear. I think they are out of place on the campus."

Margie Hoiland, news editor for the Spectrum, thought that "the slacks are all right for cold weather but no need of slopping around in them all the time. The slacks spoil the looks of the nice coats."

Kay Spohn, freshman in arts and science: "Gee, they're warm and sooth comfortable."

Pat Reimers, Gamma Phi Beta: "Well, I wore the slacks first and I think they are keen."

Elaine Wigdahl, who lives at the Pop house, thinks they are the sensible thing to wear in extremely cold weather but that sweater and skirts are the ideal school garb.

Dr. Ray Called For Active Duty As Medical Corps Lieutenant

Called for extended active duty as first lieutenant in the medical reserve corps of the U. S. Army, Dr. O. M. Ray, assistant professor of zoology and physiology, left Tuesday with Mrs. Ray for Minneapolis where he will have a re-check on his physical examination. From there he expects to go to Kelly Field in Texas where he will enter the service actively.

Dr. Ray has served as assistant professor in the zoology department at NDAC since the beginning of the 1941-42 school year. Previously, since 1938, he was an instructor in that department. In these capacities he has taught zoology to home economics students, physiology to pharmacists, and certain zoology laboratory sections.

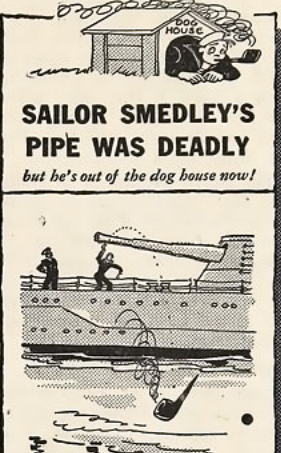

Tentatively his classes will be taken over by Dr. A. D. Whedon and Dr. M. E. Griffith of the department of zoology and physiology.

Dr. Ray came here from the University of Iowa where he was a research assistant in physiology in the zoology department. He had completed his undergraduate education at Drake University in Des Moines, and then obtained his doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Iowa.

Before leaving, Dr. and Mrs. Ray were entertained by various faculty members and student groups. On Tuesday noon, they were the guests of the quantitative cookery class at a luncheon in the class room at Ceres hall. In appreciation of his work with them, the members of Dr. Ray's home economics zoology class presented him with a pen and pencil set at their last class meeting.

Regarding Dr. Ray's departure, Dr. Whedon says, "Speaking for the zoology department, I wish to say that we are very sorry to lose Dr. Ray. We liked him very much and I am applying for a leave of absence for him so there will be a possibility of his returning."

BOWLING RECORDS

Winding up the term's bowling activities at Kossick's last week, eight girls gained places on the honor list. Coming into the spotlight again was Jean Christenson with a score of 159. Agnes Lawler's score of 143 placed her on the list of high scorers for the first time this term. Bowling 139 for third place was Mary Matze.

Five other girls that also know how to handle the ball are Ruth Bauer, 138; Betty Provan, 137; Solveig Strand, 130; Rita Kessler, 129 and Mary McCannel, 120.

Looking back over the term's record, we find Ruth Bauer holding the highest average score of 107.5, and Rita Kessler runner-up with a score of 107. Also bowling high were Jean Christenson, 104; Lois Johnson, 101, and Noreen Wiig, 100.8.

The class average this term was 89.4 which is higher than last fall's median of 84 but lower than the record of 1941 spring term bowlers who averaged 89.9. The highest record ever made in an AC girls' bowling class was 185 scored by Lois Arason last spring term.

RIFLERY HONORS

Four girls—Betty Greenshields and Evangeline Schwartz, distinguished experts; Genevieve Lindemann, expert, and Kay Spohn, sharpshooter, shared top riflery honors last week with scores of 99.

Bringing in targets of 98 were distinguished experts, Dorothy Freeman and Delight Whempner; experts, Dorothy Chase, Alice Freeman, Janice Nelson and Shirley Soliah, and sharpshooter, Lois Skadeland.

Shooting high for the marksman were Luella Nystul, 93, and Dorothy Huset, 91.

Joann Barickman led the novice's scoring with a score of 87.

Physical Education? You'll Get One From Draft Board

By FRANK RANDICH

Inasmuch as I have gone through the draft physical, I have been drafted to tell all future prospects how to serve their country.

Some day you will receive a card telling you to report for a physical. Don't worry. If you have two arms and legs you're A-1. If you're like me, you will go home feeling rather smug, singing "I'm in the army now!" Ha, ha! All you passed is the screening test.

For the next three weeks everyone you know will stop you and regale you with rumors a back fence gossip club would blush at repeating. One day some one will swear that the doctors are passing the selectees so fast that a guy with a wooden leg got all the way to Clayborne before they found out and the next day the same person will tell you they're flunking three out of every five that apply. So you wait until a letter with a government return address comes.

Promptly at six a. m. you present yourself at the draft board office. Of course you aren't awake and you don't know if it's breakfast you're eating or the results of too much the night before. Then you're put in a bus and shipped to Moorhead—that is after they take an X-ray of the lungs.

This being a special day, you are probably all dressed up in your Sunday-go-to-meeting suit—too bad. The first thing they tell you to do is strip and you stay stripped until they are through with you. I remained in this state for six hours while they punched and poked me until I was sure I was expected to be Joe Louis' newest punching bag. And the things they find out.

With due solemnity I was told that one of my feet was one degree flattened but they didn't think it would exempt me.

One doctor had a rare sense of humor. When he was examining one fellow he said, "Now I want you to tell me if I hurt you, but not unless it hurts so much you can't stand it." I hollered before he got to me.

Well, it's about four o'clock and you're finally allowed to dress again. The clothes feel strange and you wonder if you passed; well, I'll let you in on a secret. If you have no red marks on your paper and if they drew half of your blood, then you're A-1. If they didn't, then wait a week and Uncle Sam will send you a little note.

All joking aside, it's a grand feeling to go through the mill because you see the men who will form the cocky hard-hitting Yanks who have never lost a good fight and don't intend starting with the little men of the falling sun.

Two Bison Gridmen Drop From School To Enter Service

Two Bison athletes heeded the call of their country this week as they left school to enlist in the armed forces of the United States.

Adam Bender of Mandan and Lawrence McCabe of Larimore, members of NDAC's football team, are the pair who enlisted. Bender expects to see ground duty with the air corps, while McCabe will enter the navy.

Both men were sophomores and enrolled in the school of agriculture. They played halfback and end respectively on the Bison grid squad last season.

Three members of the original freshman class of Queens college that was graduated in June have returned to the campus as members of the faculty.

KSC Beats Rammies To Enter I-M Playoff

Kappa Sigma Chi's defending intramural basketball championship quintet moved into the final playoffs against the Sigma Chi five with a 20-14 triumph over the Rammies. The win was the ninth victory of the year for the KSC team and placed them at the top of Division B.

The Rammies' loss to the defending champs, coupled with a 15-13 Co-op victory over the Dorm, tied these two clubs for third place in the bracket standings. The Dorm finished second in the six-team division.

GLASER OUTSTANDING

Herb Glaser was by far the outstanding player on the floor in Monday night's deciding contest. The senior performer on the Kappa Sig outfit led his mates with 12 points in the scoring column and contributed one of the best floor games of the intramural campaign.

The victors got off to a 6-0 lead at the end of the first period but the Rammies came back to tie the count at half time, 8-8. The Kappa Sigs led 17-14 at the end of the third quarter and then held the Rammies scoreless throughout the final period.

Harry Treglawney was the best Rammie performer as he netted eight tallies for the losers.

Tuesday night the final contests in Division A were played after the Sigma Chis had taken the bracket title a week ago. Final games found the Alpha Gamma Rhos coming from behind to stop the ATOs, 31-27, while the Theta Chis trounced the SAE quintet, 29-14.

Theta Chi's win placed them two games behind the Sigs in the final standings while the Gamma Rhos finished one game back of the OX quint in third place.

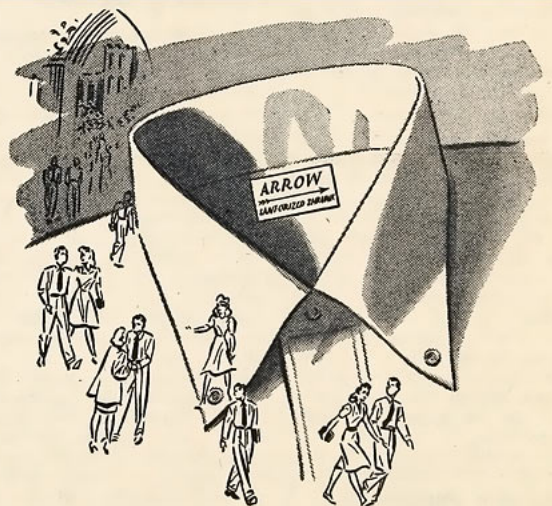

RICE LEADS ATTACK

Duane Rice led the Theta Chi team with 13 counters on six field goals and a single free throw. Ronald Anstrom and By Jackson were the only others on the winning club able to connect more than once. Each dropped in two shots from the floor.

The winners held a 15-8 advantage at the half after the first period closed with the count knotted at 6-all. The third quarter ended with the Theta Chis out in front, 24-12.

SCHULER GETS 13

Art Schuler was the main cog in the Gamma Rho late drive which overcame an ATO lead to win, 31-27. The big center scored 11 points in the second half after getting a single basket in the opening two periods. Royal Berstler also aided the winning cause with eight points.

Two Victories Crown Sigs I-M Winner

Last night's 26-15 triumph over the Kappa Sigma Chi five gave the Sigma Chi team the intramural cage title for 1942. Wednesday night the Sigs won the opening game, 33-24.

The defeat at the hands of the Sigma Chi quint took the I-M court title away from the KSC outfit after they had held the crown for four straight years. Since the ATOs won in 1937, the Kappa Sigs have dominated I-M basketball playoffs.

Sigma Chi's slight advantage in height was a big factor in the outcome of the two playoff contests. Roy (Sonny) Olson used his height under the basket to control rebounds and in tipping in Sig counters. The Sig squad as a whole was taller than the KSC five.

Whereas Wednesday's tilt was close during the first half, last night's battle found the Sigs moving to an early lead and never being seriously threatened. The Kappa Sigs failed to hit the basket from the floor last night until Bob McKay scored a two-pointer after 15 minutes of play.

Olson and Paulie Paulson were outstanding for the victors in both contests. The lanky Sig center scored 22 points in the games while Paulson added 20 tallies in addition to playing a fine floor game.

Herb Glaser stood out for the Kappa Sigs with his defensive ability and 10 point total. McKay scored 10 points, six of them last night to tie Glaser's scoring effort.

I-M Basketball Finalists

TWO STRAIGHT VICTORIES over the Kappa Sigma Chis this week in the intramural basketball championship playoffs gave the Sigma Chi quintet the 1942 I-M cage title. The Kappa Sig defeat in the finals marks the first time in five campaigns that the Purple and Gold cagers haven't taken the title trophy. Since the ATOs won in 1937, the KSC outfit has reigned supreme over intramural basketball.
