To Discuss Activity Fee Distribution

The apportionment of the student activities fee will be the principal subject of discussion at an open meeting of the student commission Thursday at 4:30 in the East room of the college YMCA.

Clark Heggeness, commission president, says that the purpose of the meeting will not be to decide anything definitely, but rather an attempt to determine student attitudes toward the use of the money.

At present each student pays a $5 activity fee each term. This money is divided among various campus activities as follows: Athletics, interscholastic, $2; Bison yearbook, $1.22; class dues, 14 cents; lyceum series, 68¢ cents; Spectrum weekly, 48 cents; Women's Senate, 4 cents; Student commission, 13¼ cents, and the student reserve fund, 30 cents. This student reserve fund is used as an emergency fund to aid organizations without sufficient income in activities that will benefit the student body as a whole.

Picture Schedule

The schedule for group pictures for the 1942 Bison next week is as follows. All pictures, unless designated otherwise, will be taken in the YMCA.

Monday, March 2

4:30, Band (Festival hall); 5, Bison editorial staff (Bison office); 5:15, Spectrum editorial staff (Spectrum office).

Tuesday, March 3

4:10, Freshman class officers; 4:30, Sophomore class officers; 5, Junior class officers; 5:30, Student commission.

Chemical Warfare Blackout Scheduled For Friday, March 27

To be informal or not to be? That is the question that is currently bothering members of the Chemist's club.

Making plans for their first annual Chemical Warfare Blackout which will be held on March 27, the chemists are undecided as to whether the dance will be semi-formal or informal. Emmanuel Wilk, program chairman for the affair, asks that students who are interested contact the club and state their preference.

Details of the dance are being kept secret. Included in this mystery, which will soon be revealed, are facts concerning the event's decorations and theme.

General manager of the dance is Leonard Kirk. He is aided by Dick Fernbaugh, assistant manager, and the following committee chairman: Roy Gordon, tickets; Clinton Taylor, decorations; Steve Olson, refreshments; George Rulon, publicity, and Wilk, program.

Tickets for the affair will go on sale soon, and all men who are enlisted in the United States armed forces will be admitted free. So join the army and dance at the Chemist's ball, for nothing!

Furrows Staff Head Election Scheduled For Tuesday, March 10

Herd Unbeaten On Home Court In Three Years

By LEE LAWRENCE

The NDAC Bison basketball team winds up its current campaign tonight and tomorrow night as the Herd travels to Grand Forks for the final games of the Bison-Sioux classic.

Last Saturday night Swede Johnson and company put on a championship performance at the Fieldhouse to clinch their third successive North Central conference championship as they defeated the Sioux, 37-21. This victory, coupled with their 51-46 win Friday night, gave the Herd a sweep of the Fargo end of the series and also preserved the NDAC success of remaining unbeaten for the last three seasons on the Bison home court.

Friday night's game was a thriller and the stubborn Sioux failed to live up to this writer's predictions as to the score. Instead of the 49-33 licking they were supposed to suffer, the Nodaks came within 5 points of upsetting the dope bucket. They were in the game down to the end and didn't crack until the final minutes when the Bison put the game on ice.

Saturday night, though, the Sioux were throttled—but definitely. The Herd was convincing.

YM Plans Activities For Rest Of Year, Broschat Announces

Spring term activities of the college YMCA were announced by Morris Broschat, president, following a meeting of the senior cabinet Tuesday evening.

The annual election of officers will be Wednesday, April 1. On April 24 and 25 the State YM and YW conference will meet at Valley City.

Special worship services will be held every morning during the week prior to Easter.

Plans will be made for a joint YW and YM picnic to be held sometime in May. The tentative date for the recognition banquet has been set for May 16.

A retreat of the junior and senior cabinets will be held Saturday and Sunday May 9 and 10.

The Y cabinets are also planning to cooperate with the college in the activities of the May Festival.

During the latter part of the term the senior cabinet hopes to sponsor several "spring sings" outdoors on the campus lawns.

"A campus work program was also discussed," said Broschat. "We hope to find some possible job that needs to be done on the campus that requires physical labor and which at the same time will be of service to the college," he said.

Regular weekly worship services will be held every Friday morning at 7:15.

Stamp Collection Project Termed 'Racket'

(Editor's Note: The Spectrum does not wish in any way to belittle Tryota or any of its projects by the use of the following article, but merely to present the students with the facts as they are received by the staff. The editors of the Spectrum do not doubt the sincerity of Tryota and its members in sponsoring their stamp collecting project.)

That charitable collections of used postage stamps, such as is sponsored on this campus by Tryota, do not live up to the claims they put forth is the consensus of three articles appearing in recent editions of two stamp collectors' magazines, Linn's Weekly Stamp News and the Western Stamp Collector.

Linn's Feb. 7 issue says, "There is a new racket being worked by someone. I have as yet failed to find out just who or what is behind it, but the story is that people are asked to save their old postage stamps and give them to someone for the purpose of destroying them and reclaiming the dye from the color in the stamp. Certainly this is about the loudest excuse that anyone could think of for asking people to save stamps. Whoever gets these stamps to salvage the dye will merely sell them to collectors as missions mixtures after salvaging all the good stamps from the lots received."

In its issue of Feb. 18 the Western Stamp Collector has an article by William M. Stuart which says, "Many organizations, patriotic and otherwise, schools, clubs, and other war-time activities are acquiring the stamps in every possible way. One fantastic story in the present period of collecting is that the dye and ink on the old stamps will be removed and the financial results from this recovery will be large indeed."

A letter from the U. S. bureau of standards in reply to an inquiry sent them by Stuart says, "Water alone will not take it (the dye) out because it is purposely made in an insoluble form and, besides, it is entrapped in the oil in the ink. The chemical solutions alluded to might destroy the dye, and if they did not, the dye would be mixed with various other substances from which it could not be separated in usable form."

"As you know, stamps are printed in sheets of 400. On 1,000 sheets, or 400,000 stamps, there is about 5 pounds of ink, of which only 2 to 6 percent by weight is dye. At most, 0.30 pound of dye could be removed from 5 pounds of ink. At this rate, it would take more than 1,300,000 stamps to yield 1 pound of recovered dye. New dye, uncontaminated with canceling ink and other impurities which can not be removed in any practical way, costs about $1.10 a pound.

"Much of our information was obtained from the bureau of engraving and printing with permission to use it in this way."

A communication from Third Assistant Postmaster General Ramsey S. Black says, "So far as known, there is no basis of fact in the claim that the ink or dye can be extracted from canceled postage for reuse."

Another edition of Linn's, that of Feb. 21, has this to say—"We have had several letters from readers on this subject, and it is stated that the stamps are finally sold in England at 37 cents per pound and then that the dye is reclaimed from the stamps. This fact more than anything else exposes the gathering of these stamps as a racket.

"We acknowledge that the stamps are gathered for a good cause, since we understand that the DAR and probably the Red Cross, if information is correct, are behind the movement.

"It is stated that they are sold for 37 cents per pound. Why not save cost of shipping to England, or are they shipped to England? There are probably dozens of dealers in this country who would take a few thousand pounds of such material at 37 cents per pound since such material is usually sold by dealers at from $1.00 to $1.50 per pound."

IS THIS THE CHATTANOOGA CHOO-CHOO?

Why, sure, and it's chugging straight for the famous Powers, where you'll find the smart crowd of NDAC and Fargo this weekend.

Bull Bison's Gags, Cartoons, Pot-Shots Exhilarate Campus

Proving that collitch comedy is not a drug on the market at NDAC, the surprisingly refreshingly "Bull Bison" made a strong initial appearance on the campus.

While the variety of campus pot shots, cartoons and standard lampooned faculty members, there seems to be some doubt as to the appearance of another issue.

In answer to charges that the attempted to round up what on the "ris-gay" side, we have attempted to round of what should be a fair cross section of campus comment.

Of course the staff was well pleased with the reception of their effort. Business manager Al Flaten was happy because 925 copies were sold and editor George Rulon was equally happy because he wasn't sold down the river by the "feds."

John Abbott interrupted his coarse guffaws long enough to chuckle reminiscently, "Sleep walkers . . . Haw! Haw! Haw!"

Betty Myrbo, prominent co-ed-about-campus, giggled, "Of course I thought it was good . . . and funny too."

BMOC Clark Heggeness was also pleased with the new publication. "It even beats the student commission constitution for laughs," he declared.

Dick Crockett, who edits a small scandal sheet on this campus, was amusedly tolerant. "If those guys had a little time, they might even be able to put out a Bison," he mused apprehensively.

Ed Rolle, the more discerning and conservative type of reader, admitted a partiality for the art work. He astutely avoided any specific mention of what cartoon he liked the best and merely muttered, "I'm still taking a course from him. Don't quote me."

Also among the non-offended, were the fun-loving professors who came in for their share of good-natured pictorial pot-shots. In every case they accepted their ribbing in a very jolly manner, but also did not care to be quoted.

As a result of our poll we find no opposition; so if there is no pressure from the Board of Publications or other executive offices, the "Bull" should make another roughshod canter over the campus sometime during the spring term.

Twenty-two Coeds Initiated By Art Club Tuesday

Initiation for the 22 new members of the Art club and installation for the club's new officers were held at a joint supper and meeting in the art department last Tuesday evening.

With decorations carrying out a green and yellow color scheme, the initiates were presented with corsages following their induction into the club.

Installed as officers were Betty Lynne, president; Beth Ann Piers, vice president; Annabelle Donovan, secretary; Mildred Strong, treasurer; Tillie Rudd and Beatrice Brandes, exhibit chairman, and Elaine Wigdahl, publicity.

YM Concludes Term Coffee Forum Series

"Civil Liberties in War Time" will be the topic of the last coffee forum in the winter term series to be held Wednesday at 4 in the Fireside room of the Y," announced Robert Hunsaker, chairman of the coffee forum committee.

"Four students, Henry Richardson, Karsten Hellebust, Marvin Tullman and Ray Bastow, will make up the panel which will discuss the forum's subject for 20 minutes. Following this, the meeting will be open for audience participation," said Hunsaker.

Phantasmagoria

By BILL SNYDER

Once upon a time, when I was a green freshman chasing girls in hoop skirts around our fair campus, it was the duty of the freshman class to break up classes on the days when the University boys played here. But, alas! Times have changed and the frosh are getting weaker and weaker and the "esprit de corps" is getting lousier and lousier.

If you don't believe me, just look back at that fiasco the boys pulled last Friday. I've never seen such a puny attempt to break 'em up. When they did get going, they marched around the halls yelling one organized yell. They paraded around the hallowed halls of Science and into one class. By the time they reached this room they were going full blast yelling for all they were worth.

Have you ever heard a balloon go flat? Well, thirty seconds after they hit the classroom the wind left their sails. And that was the extent of the "No class movement" last week. It was a far step from the old days of taking the hinges off doors and breaking into class rooms to remove the occupants.

HERE WE COME

Everybody's been telling me that if we go to Grand Forks this weekend we should take along chaperons to see that we conduct ourselves like young ladies and gentlemen. I think that's a lot of hooley because I've never gone any place with a chaperon, whose duty it was to keep me a good boy, when I didn't wind up taking care of the chaperon.

However, if you must bring one, remember that the ideal chaperon was a guy with good intentions and a weak will power.

Grand Forks has some surprising features, so the Atlas tells me. Among them are its two important industries—the state mill takes wheat and grinds it into flour and the University takes hay-seeds and grinds them into knowledge containers. In other words, the state mill makes the flour and the University furnishes the bags.

SUITABLE, YES?

The University, known in better circles as Up-State Normal, has the only basketball team sanctioned by the Office of Production Unity, so now the kids down here can refer to the team from up there as the North Dakota University basketball team, OPU.

SCENIC EFFECT

A while back I read an editorial in this paper that the snow fences all over the campus are to keep the students from crossing the lawns. Evidently it didn't do one lick of good, because I noticed a few more up the other day. The pay-off is the pair shaped like a V (not for victory) right in front of Ceres hall. Take a look at them—they're cute!

If you don't like them, let's start a campaign to make everybody walk on the sidewalks so that the Buildings and Ground men will take them down. So the next time you see some joker cutting across the lawns, remind him to please stay off . . .

ISA Swings Out At Party Tonight

First In Series Of

I'm Working My Way Thru College

A number of years ago the Yacht Club boys made the song "Working My Way Through College" famous. Although the song was done in a jesting tone, the majority of college students are working their way through college to get a lot of knowledge which will do them good. The jobs of NDAC students range from the time-honored task of dish washing, to highly skilled operations such as radio operators. Beginning with this issue, one of a series of interviews with such students will be printed each week.

Because he maintains he is a corporation by himself, Frank Randich, junior in arts and science, was chosen for the first interview. His work includes pushing a mop around Arthur's, Dotty Dunn, Northern School Supply and the Dacotah Paper company. While many would consider janitor work distasteful, Frank points out that he has been out of work only five weeks in seven years and that his treasurer's report shows a definite profit each week.

MONOTONOUS AT TIMES

"Naturally," he said, "janitor work is monotonous, but it has its advantages for a college student. I go to work any time I please and am more or less my own boss. The only draw-back lies in the regularity—I mean I can't take a vacation to see a basketball game or take in a dance."

When asked whether his job was difficult, he replied that it wasn't as simple as most people thought. A complete knowledge of cleaners, waxes and different types of floors are the most important requirements, but a working knowledge of machinery, electrical appliances and furniture-fixing is necessary too—in short, he should be a jack-of-all-trades. He also mentioned that a day-by-day knowledge of janitor supply prices was helpful in keeping expenses down and in keeping your job.

As to preference of jobs he has had, Frank replied, "Well, the most fun I had was working as grill man in a hamburger cafe in Chicago. I remember we fried 3,000 hamburgers every night shift."

HIGH AMBITIONS?

Regarding ambitions for the future, Randich said, "I'd like to major in journalism, but since my draft number has been called and since I don't know how important cub reporters are to national defense, I'm afraid the newspapers will have to wait for a while—not that it should bother them."

In reply to the question about any interesting incidents in connection with his work he said, "I guess the most exciting thing happened during the big fire we had. My boss and I were trying to get the stores' records out. The smoke was heavy and it was still quite dark so I was fumbling around and getting nowhere fast. I wasn't much help either; all I managed to rescue was one badly smoked and soaked hat."

● quit griping

Wednesday evening at 7:30 a group of our best instructors were assembled in the east room of the college Y. They had come to help students learn how to study.

Apparently only about 30 students out of the whole college enrollment were interested. Were you there? Do you know how to study?

Your instructors don't think so. They say the greatest fault of the average student is that he is unable to discipline himself.

They believe the cause of low grades lies more with the student than the instructor.

If you do not believe this to be true, why weren't you there to defend your position? Perhaps the teachers have more faults than they are ready to admit. Perhaps our marking system is not efficient and fair.

Why weren't you there to express views on the subject?

Not until the students of this college will take an active interest in such problems, which are too often their own personal gripes, will they be solved.

● feminine angle

"I gotta run!" she exclaims. And another NDAC co-ed views a ruined nylon with disgust. Probably ripped beyond repair, such torn stockings usually result when girls meet chairs—that is the rough, ragged chairs found in many of the classrooms on this campus.

Ironically, many of these accidents occur in the home economics department where these days the clothing teachers' pet theme is conservation of wearing apparel—we must preserve for defense when there's a war on, you know!

Couldn't something be done about this splintered condition of the furniture in our classrooms? It seems that with a bit of sandpaper and elbow grease the school janitors could do much to improve these snag traps and smooth things out all around. After all, it isn't much fun to catch and ruin one's stockings daily—it's hard on a school girl's budget and her disposition, too!

Dame Fashion Frowns On Shorts, Slacks, Dean Avers

"May Good Dame Fashion and Better Dame Good Sense preserve us from shorts for campus wear," replied Miss Pearl Dinan, dean of women, to the question, "What effect will the government and war supplies have on clothes for college women?"

Miss Dinan said she was no authority on clothes but she did have some personal opinions. She likes the skirt and sweater idea and advises college girls to guard their present sweaters as they will not be able to replace them with the soft wool ones they have now.

In speaking of the shorts, she said she was tempted to say as much for slacks. College girls see attractive pictures of movie stars and fashion models in slacks, and, she fears, when they attire themselves in the inexpensive imitation which the average girl can afford, they imagine they look the same. In the average case they do not. Slacks are smart for sports and for home informalities; but they are bad for the average street and school wear.

Miss Dinan hopes that the new hosiery will be attractive enough and priced so college girls will buy and wear them. She likes anklets but with hosiery.

The magazines and the stores are showing attractive fashions for college girls and Miss Dinan hopes NDAC girls will gear their purchases, whether ready-made garments or of materials for making their own clothes, so that they may be considered what every college girl wants to be considered—really well dressed.

New Machine Will Add Enjoyment To Record Concerts

With a big twin speaker Magnavox replacing the table model used at first, NDAC's Concerts-on-Records series swung into stride with its second program Thursday night at 7:30 in the lounge of Old Main, and simultaneously announced next week's program. An unexpectedly large opening night crowd swallowed up the volume of the small machine first used, say the program's sponsors, and forced the change; last night's concert showed the difference.

The next concert, according to F. G. Schoff, program commentator, features musical recreation of colorful Russian folk superstition and fairy-tale in Moussorgsky's Night on Bare Mountain and Stravinsky's The Firebird. Contrast will come from Beethoven's short 8th symphony, famed for its gaiety and good humor.

Concerts will continue in the lounge of Old Main as long as possible, according to Dr. O. J. Beyers, chairman of the faculty and student committee heading the project, because of the pleasant atmosphere. But suggestions will be welcomed for a larger room or hall, which he says will apparently soon be needed.

Murphy Reading Will Brighten Monday Tea

A ray of sunshine at the Blue Monday tea will be Ann Murphy, presenting musical readings. The tea will be in the Fireside room of the college Y from 3:30 to 5:30 on Monday.

Doris Bjorklund is the accompanist. All college women are invited to attend.

The average first-year college girl spends $108 for room decorations and $120 for clothes, a check-up indicated.

New Religion Course Set Next Quarter

A new religion course entitled the Christian Roots of Democracy in America will be given during the spring quarter by the Rev. C. E. Parr. This course is concerned with the religious foundations of democracy.

Father Hendrickson will again give his course which is entitled The Story of Catholicism. This course is designed to appeal to all Catholic students and also to all non-Catholic students who desire to have a correct knowledge of these teachings.

Among the courses given by Dr. Airheart will be the one in Science and Religion. The aim will be to show that both religious faith and scientific knowledge may work harmoniously to effect an organization of all one's personal powers and interests toward a cooperative social adjustment and an appropriation of all material and spiritual resources in relation to a supreme purpose found in God.

Phi Mu Founders Day Observance Set For Wednesday

National Founders' day of Phi Mu will be observed by Zeta Iota chapter Wednesday at a banquet at the Graver hotel and ritualistic services at the chapter house.

A birthday cake theme will be carried out in invitations and programs. Featured on the banquet program will be a talk by Miss Jessie Phillips, piano selections by Shirley Rodewald and Betty Lou Thompson, a reading by Merry Buchanan and a vocal solo by Dorothy Carroll. Announcement of newly elected officers for the coming year will be made to alumnae and pledges.

In charge of the 90th anniversary celebration are Lucille Grenier, general arrangements; Elaine Tvette, banquet; Phyllis Probstfield, alumnae; Mary Matze, entertainment, and Phyllis Carlson, publicity.

Bison Clinch Third Title By Downing Sioux In Two Straight Cage Encounters

Lowemen Win 51-46, 37-21 From UND

NDAC's Bison basketball team merely took things in stride as they whipped the University of North Dakota Sioux twice in the first two contests of the annual four-game series between the two schools. The double win Friday and Saturday gave the Herd its third straight conference title regardless of how the remaining games to be played in Grand Forks tonight and tomorrow turn out.

After the Bison took the opener Friday night, 51-46, they came back Saturday to definitely prove their superiority with a 37-21 triumph. The quintet coached by Clem Letich played its heart out in the first game in a futile attempt to stop the Herd's march to the title and then just didn't have the "stuff" for the second game as the Bison, led by co-captain Arnold (Swede) Johnson, nearly doubled the final score of the Sioux.

Johnson easily was the stand-out performer in both games. In the opener the Big Herd center scored 26 points before leaving the game in the final quarter on personals. Saturday night Johnson proved that he wasn't just "hot" the night before as he found the nets for 16 counters. In addition to his scoring attempts the Bison pivotman ended his career on the home floor with two fine defensive shows. His great under-the-basket play was a big help to the Herd in controlling the ball and many of Johnson's two-pointers came on tip-ins.

Jim Fletcher, last year's series' star, played well both nights, getting 10 points in the first game and eight counters in the second contest. Fletcher's floor play along with the aggressiveness of Gene Marquart, sophomore forward, were outstanding factors in the Bison double triumph. The Herd's two veteran guards, Johnny Abbott and Cliff Nygard, were not among the leaders in the scoring column but the Sioux know that the Bison have the finest

TOP RIFLERS

Evangeline Schwartz of the distinguished expert division shared riflery honors with experts Gladys Welken and Janice Nelson, all three making scores of 99.

Second highest for the distinguished experts was Tillie Ruud, 98; and, for the experts, Phyllis Lane, 97.

Katherine Spohn led the sharpshooters with 98 points, second places going to Beverly Halbeisen and Helen Larson for their scores of 95.

The marksmen's high score of 94 was made by Pat Reimers. Clarice Smedstad shot 91 for second place.

Ruth Nye was tops in the novice group with a score of 89.

RECORD BREAKERS

Topping her last week's score by 32 points, Rita Kessler bowled 164 to head Saturday's bowling class for the second consecutive time. Edith Westad, another top scorer at Kossick's, again claimed honors with a score of 157. Also doing their share of knocking down ten pins were Noreen Wiig, 138; Ruth Bauer, 134; and Betty Provan, 130.

defensive guards in the loop when they start totaling the number of points made by their forward performers. The Nodak forwards were able to contribute only 21 counters to the Sioux tally sheet for the two games. Nicky Schneider caused the Bison backcourt men the most trouble as he slipped through for five scores each evening.

Bruce Stevenson, Sioux center and captain, made the best showing for the Nodaks even though he was forced early from the second game on four fouls. Stevenson kept the Sioux in the ball game throughout the first contest as he poured 19 points into the nets in a little more than three quarters of play.

Morningside Loss Clears Way For AC NCI Championship

Sweeping the first two games of the annual four-game series with the Sioux from the University of North Dakota last weekend, Coach Bob Lowe's Bison basketball quintet captured its third straight North Central intercollegiate conference cage crown.

Friday night the Herd went into the first game against the Sioux needing a split in the series to assure the title for the Lowemen. Not wanting to take a chance of having to win a game in the small armory at Grand Forks this weekend, the Bison stepped out and took the opening games with 51-46 and 37-21 scores.

These two victories were all that the Herd needed after the Maroons from Morningside lost their third conference game of the season Friday night when the Jackrabbits of South Dakota State defeated the Methodists at Brookings, 40-37. The victory was the first in seven conference games for the Bunnies who were favored in pre-season predictions to take the title away from the Bison.

Conference games this week will end the loop season for most NCI teams although the Sioux must meet the Jackrabbits in a postponed game at Brookings next week. Morningside faces Iowa Teachers tomorrow night and closes its season against South Dakota Tuesday night. The two South Dakota schools tangle in the second game of their home-and-home series at Brookings in the last contest for the Bunnies.

Heard About The Herd

By GEORGE RULON

THIS WEEK'S TRIP TO GRAND FORKS

for the final two games of the annual Bison-Sioux series will be just an added attraction after the way the Herd was so rude to Coach Clem Letich and his Nodak "hopeful" champions. This does not mean that the Herd will have its own way as far as naming the winner of those two concluding contests, but it does seem rather superfluous after last week's games.

If there was any doubt in the minds of those who saw the first game Friday as to which school had the better team, this doubt was very ably cleared up by Coach Bob Lowe's charges the following night as they took the Sioux apart to see what kept them at the top of the conference standings all season. When the Herd started pouring the ball through the hoop there was no reason to believe that the Sioux should still have a chance to win the loop title in the games set for tonight and tomorrow night.

THE DISMAL SHOWING MADE BY THE SIOUX

against the Herd here last weekend can not take any glory away from their captain and great natural ball player, Bruce Stevenson. The big Nodak center proved once again that he is one of the finest cage performers to ever put on the University of North Dakota uniform. His scoring in the first game was the only offensive work on the Sioux squad that kept the Nodaks anywhere near the Bison.

Herd followers had several anxious moments during the closing minutes of the first contest as the Sioux, paced by Stevenson, started to rapidly close the gap that was between the two clubs.

Saturday night the showing of the Sioux star was just the opposite as he was unable to get going at the basket before being banished from the game on personals. His withdrawal after getting a single field goal undoubtedly had a profound bearing on the result of the second game which found the Bison nearly doubling the score of the Nodaks as the Herd moved to its third straight conference title.

ARNOLD (SWEDE) JOHNSON AGAIN SHOWED

University fans some of his seemingly impossible hookshots which he has been dropping through the nets for the past three seasons. Gasps of awe and unbelief rose from the Sioux supporters as Johnson kept sinking shots that NDAC followers have come to take as a matter of course. After three years of varsity competition which has seen the Bison center making counters from all angles, hookshots of the "Swede's" type are considered standard equipment as far as the Herd's scoring punch is concerned.

Johnson's 26 points against the Sioux on Friday night moved the big Bison center within five points of the leading scorer, Dick Seidler, Iowa Teacher's towering forward. Each of the two players have single games left that will bear on the conference scoring race and the Herd's all-conference pivotman has a good chance to overtake Seidler and cop the third straight individual scoring crown in three years.

Even if Johnson is unable to score enough points in the game tonight, the only game that counts in the scoring race, to overcome the Panther star's lead, the Bison co-captain will have the satisfaction of having held Seidler to a total of four free throws during the second meeting of the two teams here on Feb. 14. Earlier Seidler scored 26 points against the Bison at Cedar Falls but the Herd's defense in the second game practically removed his scoring threat. In that second game Johnson left the game in the final quarter and up until that time Seidler had not connected from the field for a two-pointer.

SATURDAY'S VICTORY OVER THE SIOUX

ended the third home season for the Bison that has seen the Herd undefeated in games played on the floor of the fieldhouse. Since the three seniors now on the squad first made their varsity appearance the Bison have waded through competition of all calibers to keep their home-game slate clean. Besides winning all conference games scheduled at home during that three-year period, the Bison have taken victories over their rivals from across the river and also defeated Montana university, Idaho university and the Bismarck Phantoms, strong independent quintet.

Kappa Sigs Defeated, 17-13

Defending Champs Lose First Game To Dorm

Kappa Sigma Chi's defending intramural basketball championship quintet suffered its first defeat of the season last night as the Dorm five scored a 17-13 triumph over the Purple and Gold cagers.

Extended to the utmost last week to defeat the Rammies, 24-23, the champions just didn't have what it took last night to win from a quint that was out for all there was to be had. The losers led 7-6 at the half but failed to score in the third period and the Dorm moved ahead to win.

Don Downey was outstanding for the winners, getting two baskets and playing a fine floor game throughout the contest. Herb Glaser led the Kappa Sig scoring with two counters from the floor.

Last night's result left the Kappa Sigs still in first place in the "B" division but moved the Dorm up within one game of the top position.

Sigma Chi continued to lead the upper bracket after its 17-16 triumph over the SAE team Wednesday night. Theta Chi rests one game in the rear of the Sigs and will seek to top the leaders in their second game of the season set for Thursday night.

Riflers Beat U Marksmen By 3 Points

NDAC's men's rifle team helped the Bison sweep the sports program last weekend against the University of North Dakota Sioux as the marksmen firing for the Yellow and the Green nosed out the Nodak rifle team 870-767 in a shoulder-to-shoulder match Saturday afternoon.

MIDDAUGH POSTS 181

Paul Middaugh was high scorer for the victorious Bison with a total of 181 points. Vilas Walhood took runnerup honors on the Herd squad with targets totaling 178. Adams, shooting for the University team, tied Middaugh for top placement with 181 while Scouton, with 180, was second for the Sioux.

Both the "A" and "B" squads of the Bison rifle team have completed the four phases of the Seventh corps area match and results are expected from the area headquarters soon.

WALHOOD TOPS MARKSMEN

Walhood led the Herd marksmen in the final stage of the match, getting a 83 target in the standing position. Leonard Kirk was second with an 82. Walhood and Kirk posted the best total scores on the four phases of the area match with 368 and 361 points respectively.

3581 was the total score posted by the "A" squad in the area match while the "B" group finished the four stages with a 3411-point total.

Bison Yearlings Hand Sioux Papooses First Loss Of Season

Coach Charlie Solberg's Baby Bison basketball team handed the University frosh quintet its first defeat of the season Saturday afternoon as the Herd freshmen won a 26-21 victory in the first of two games to be played between the two teams. The second contest is set for the Armory floor tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m.

Paul Brostrom, lanky Baby Bison pivotman, and Bill Sturlaugson, Bison guard, led the scoring for both teams with six points each. Sturlaugson also turned in the best defensive performance of the afternoon as he repeatedly broke up the passing attack of the Papooses with timely interceptions.

Neither team was able to find the basket with any great success during the first half and the intermission found the Sioux Yearlings on the short end of an 9-8 score. The highly-touted University team which hadn't lost a game this season up until Saturday's clash came back in the final quarter to move ahead for the first time after Herd scores had given the Baby Bison an 18-12 margin at the end of the third period.

Bob Furber, Warren Schue, and Fred Halpin were the only Sioux of the eleven used by Coach Red Jarrett able to tally more than once from the floor. Each of the three counted twice from the court.

For the first time in recent history of Louisiana State university (data on conditions during the Civil war not being available), women far outnumber men.

Men Nose Out Women Shots In Challenge

Winning from the girls' rifle team by a 2-point margin, the men's team totalled 954 against 952 for the girls in a shoulder-to-shoulder match fired Tuesday.

Polly Carter, Dorothy Freeman, Tillie Ruud and Gladys Welken each had 98 for honors in the girls' team. Shooting high for the boys was Peder Week with a score of 98.

The scores of the 10 best marksmen were taken as the team score in each group.

Firing for the girls were Polly Carter, 98; Jane Cumming, 94; Rachael Elznic, 89; Dorothy Freeman, 98; Jean Hoef, 90; Inez Jacobson, 92; Betty Myrbo, 92; Janice Nelson, 94; Tillie Ruud, 98; Evangeline Schwartz, 92; Gladys Welken, 98, and Delight Whempner, 96.

On the men's team were John Berg, 93; Royal Berstler, 94; Ralph Hawkins, 93; Jack Johnson, 97; John Kingzett, 94; Leonard Kirk, 90; Payne Lysne, 97; Paul Middaugh, 97; Charles Martin, 97; Harold Rohde, 94; Vilas Walhood, 93, and Peder Week, 98.

 in its triumph and left no doubt as to its mastery.

Swede Johnson has lived up to expectations. His 42 points in the two games were important factors and the 26 points Friday night shoved him nearer to his third successive scoring crown.

The race for scoring honors is between the big Bison center and Dick Seidler, ISTD's sophomore star, and by Saturday night the race will be over. Morningside goes to Sioux City on Saturday to round out ISTD's season and this game, together with tonight's game at Grand Forks, will decide the scoring champion.

This writer picks Swede to score 35 points up at Grand Forks with 20 of them coming tonight. This will give Seidler a mark to shoot at and by a flip of a coin, it has been decided that he'll fall short of Swede's total by a scant 2 points.

Tonight, the Bison will win by the score advanced last week, 38-32. This score still stands even though the predictions were a trifle off last week. However, the final game has now been definitely picked as belonging to the Herd. The reason for this change is because of the scare the Sioux gave this writer last Friday. A score of 41-29 will suffice and thus the Bison will put a fitting climax to another successful season.

Activities Of College War Council

(Editor's note: Activities of the college war council will appear in this position in the Spectrum each week.)

A meeting of the college war council was held Wednesday afternoon, led by co-chairmen C. A. Sevrinson, dean of men, and Charlotte Bahe.

NDAC has been designated as a key center of information and will, in cooperation with the U. S. office of education, have a repository in which all material about the war and peace aims shall be gathered.

A room in Festival hall has been secured and two honorary fraternities, Pi Gamma Mu and Phi Kappa Phi, will be asked to cooperate with the war council to make the center of information an effective service. All material collected is to be made available to any individual or group interested.

To make this repository complete all students, faculty members and the public are asked to contribute books, pamphlets, clippings and maps which will relate to the topic of War and Peace.

Suggestions were made as to the future duties of the council and the following committees have been set up: service for service men, funds and student finance, publicity, forum and speakers bureau, information center, war work, concerts on records, selective service, war courses of study, physical defense and conservation, student morale, student recruitment, sale of bonds and stamps, civil air patrol, physical education and health, and clipping service.

More committees will be set up and an announcement of all committee members will be made at a later date.

Students appointed are Jim Ford, Bob Pile, Francis Daniel, Frank Smylie, Jean Hoeft and Annabelle Donovan.

Knowledge Of How To Study Lacking

"Too many students come to college inadequately prepared." "Few students know how to discipline themselves to acquire good study habits."

These were some of the comments that came out of the How to Study meeting held at the Y Wednesday evening when Miss Ruby Grimes of the mathematics department, Dr. Ralph E. Dunbar of the chemistry department, Dr. Earl A. Helgeson of the botany department and Prof. Leon H. Hartwell of the English department made up a "panel of experts" to discuss with and help students who had study problems.

Also brought out was the fact that many students on the campus believe that some of the instructors are either just too old or that they use a poor teaching technique.

Some students feel that our present marking system is outmoded and that one which did not rely on "studying for a test" should be inaugurated.

Where's Hedy? At The Faculty Party Tuesday Night

The men will be on the lookout for Hedy Lamarr and the ladies waiting for the arrival of Clark Gable or Charles Boyer at the faculty and staff Theatrical Jam-boree next Tuesday at eight in Festival hall.

In the cast will be Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Long, Miss Ruby Grimes, Mrs. R. E. Sweitzer, F. G. Schoff and J. R. Dice.

Other program numbers include tricks of magic by E. L. Mayo and songs by a faculty quartet composed of Ernst van Vlissingen, R. C. Reinhart, George Goodearl and Jerry Seaman.

Dancing and a lunch will close the evening's activities. Arrangements for the party were made by the faculty social committee. Members of the committee are Seaman, chairman, Miss Mavis McCain, Miss Kay Odney, Dr. E. A. Helgeson, Norman Johnson and Knapp.
