'Out Of Frying Pan' Proves Hilarious To Capacity Crowd

By FRANK RANDICH

"A swell cast in a perfect play," was the general comment of the near capacity audience that witnessed the LCT production of Francis Swann's, "Out of the Frying Pan."

Ably coached by Jack Knapp, the cast delivered their lines with professional ease and smoothness. George Truesdell, a natural in a comedy role, held a slight edge in acting honors; however, the characters created by Charles Martin and Jean Baillie were exceptionally effective.

In the difficult roles of a secretly married couple, Margery Fjeld and Jewel Roningen added much to the production. In roles that easily could have been ridiculous, the two, acting with restraint, turned in convincing performances.

Dorothy Monson and Winston Hewitt as normal human beings proved a welcome relief from the screw-ball antics of their companions. It was their matter-of-fact conversation that set the stage for much of the rapid fire patter that constituted most of the play.

Some of the best scenes were provided by the supporting cast. Adele Glasson won the hearts of the audience with her performance of a good-natured but badly bewildered landlady. Thrust brutally into the crazy life of show people, Jane Cumming as a refined Boston girl, wandered disconsolately from one situation to another much to the amusement of the audience. A Broadway producer by trade, but a chef at heart, Gene Bolger held the fate of the actors dangling while he tested a new recipe for making

Little International To Again Feature Canine Exhibition

A dog show will again be a feature division of the Little International livestock show sponsored by the Saddle and Siroloin club. The event is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the Fieldhouse.

Another highlight of the Exposition will be the co-ed milking contest. Each sorority, Ceres hall, and the ISA are represented in the contest. The co-ed who can entice the most milk in a required time is awarded a traveling trophy and crowned the Milking Queen.

Entries in the student showmanship and fitting contest are working daily on their exhibits. Students wishing to enter the contest are urged to select exhibits immediately if they wish to have a good animal to work with.

To determine whether a crime had been committed or not was the job of Mel Fritzvold and Harvey Millang, two flatfeet with slightly thickened skulls, who proved adept foils for Charles Martin in the second act.

It is very rare that a reviewer can't find fault with a production but in Tuesday night's performance, the faults were few and far between. A noticeable lag occurred in the second act, but the tempo was quickly picked up and the play resumed its fast pace.

U.S. Navy, Marines Want College Men For Reserve Corps

A representative of the navy will be on the campus Tuesday to interview juniors and seniors interested in securing commissions in the navy.

Those selected will be appointed cadets in the naval air reserve or midshipmen in the regular navy. Seniors will be allowed to graduate. For some commissions, juniors will be allowed to graduate, and for others, they will be allowed to complete this school year.

These interviews in no way obligate the student. Those interested should leave their names with Dr. Otto Beyers before Tuesday.

Dr. Beyers also has information pertaining to marine corps officers' training. NDAC has been assigned a quota of 10 seniors, 7 juniors and 1 sophomore by the marines. These selected will be allowed to finish their education, unless the emergency becomes too great.

Annual Engineers' Scheduled Friday In Crystal Ballroom

Sponsored by the Engineers' club, NDAC's thirty-first annual Engineers' ball is scheduled for Friday in the Crystal ballroom.

First in line in the grand march will be Don C. Berg, a senior in electrical engineering, ball manager, and his guest, Dorothe Sanders. They will be followed by Dwight Woodley, senior in mechanical engineering, assistant ball manager, and his partner, Elizabeth Covert.

The ball will be semi-formal with music by Don Coleburn and His Commanders. The featured vocalist is Eileen Ingalls who formerly sang with Anson Weeks' NBC orchestra.

Dancing will be from 9 to 1 with the grand march beginning at 10.

Decorations will be limited to conserve for national defense.

Proceeds of the ball are to go to the Red Cross.

On committees planning the affair are John Hohncke and Ralph Hawkins, decoration; Bill Hope, finance; Orlo Holman, programs; Kermit Davison, floor manager; John Calhoun, guests; Lloyd Cadwell, ticket sales, and Frank Smylie, publicity.

Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Doerr and W. L. Sallie and his guest.

Winter Term Ends March 16; Formal Exams Abolished

Dr. Frank L. Eversull announced today in 9 o'clock convocation that NDAC is recognizing the national emergency by immediately assuming a war-time schedule.

Announcement was also made of the proposed formation of a college war council to be composed of 21 students and faculty members.

Serving on the council will be two members of the student commission, and one member from each of the following groups: the YMCA cabinet, Men's Residence hall, Interfraternity council, Independent Student's association, YWCA cabinet, Ceres hall, Panhellenic council and Dakota hall.

Among the 11 faculty council members will be the president, six deans, two faculty members, the dean of men and the dean of women.

Two co-chairmen of the council will be chosen, one from the students and the other from the faculty.

Each of the above mentioned groups will elect its own delegate. Representatives should have at least a C average, recognized leadership ability, a willingness to devote a great deal of time and energy to the duties of the council, should be representative of the group, articulate, and if possible, should not be a graduating senior.

In accordance with the accelerated educational program, the winter term will close March 14. Commencement exercises will be held March 13.

Instead of allotting a special week for examinations, the tests will be given during the latter class periods at the discretion of the instructors.

There will be no vacation period between terms. All registration for the spring quarter must be completed by 8 a. m., March 16.

As in industry, all holidays will be curtailed. In the spring term, Good Friday, which falls on April 3, will be the only holiday observed on the campus.

May 23 will mark the end of the spring quarter, with Baccalaureate May 24, and Commencement the day following.

The summer quarter begins June 1 and closes July 31. Commencement will also be held on July 31.

DARLING NAMED TO NDEA COMMISSION ON POLICIES

Dr. Elmer C. Darling has been appointed to the North Dakota education policies commission by Adeline Stevenson, president of the North Dakota Education association.

Planning the program of the association by a policies commission was initiated two years ago at the Bismarck state meeting. Dr. Eversull has served as a member of the committee during the past two years.

Campus Religious Week Starts Monday

"Applying Christianity to Everyday Student Problems", will be the theme of the Religious Emphasis week to be held on the campus beginning Monday. It is in collaboration with the visit of the National Christian mission to the Fargo-Moorhead area during the same week and is being arranged by a committee composed of YMCA, YWCA, and Danforth Foundation representatives.

Its purpose is: to provide opportunities for the students to deepen and enlarge their own religious faith through worship, discussion, and personal contact; to focus the emphasis and program of the Christian faith and heritage and the problems of our time; to stimulate united action toward the realization of a Christian society.

Rev. James C. Flint of the university of Wisconsin will be the Mission speaker assigned to the MSTC and NDAC campuses. He will speak at a convocation on Monday at 10 in Festival hall.

Rev. Flint is a graduate of Bowdoin college and of Union Theological Seminary, and was for 2 years a worker in the Church of All Nations Settlement House in New York's East Side. After a year of youth work he became director of Congregational student activities at the university of Wisconsin in 1936. He was a delegate to the World Christian Youth Conference, held in Amsterdam, Holland, during the summer of 1939.

He is a regular broadcaster for Radio Station WHA, and twice winner of national awards for educational broadcasting in the field of youth problems. He is the author of a pamphlet, "Youth—One-half of America", based on his travels through this country and Europe with portable recording apparatus, making radio transcriptions of interviews with youth on the subjects of war and peace, employment, government, race, leisure time, etc.

Outlined below are the activities arranged especially for faculty, students, and youth groups which are to be held on the NDAC campus:

Worship services will be held every morning at 7:30 in the college Y. Following this on Monday at 10 a. m. there will be a convocation in Festival hall, with Rev. Flint as speaker. At noon Rev. Flint speaks at a faculty luncheon in Ceres hall.

Rev. Joseph Sittler, Jr., pastor of the Messiah Lutheran church of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, speaks at a forum to be held in the Fireside room of the college Y at 4 p. m. on Monday. Discussion of the topic presented will follow his talk. At 8 p. m. Bishop William C. Martin of the Omaha area of the Methodist church will address a mass meeting in Festival hall, with the NDAC mixed chorus providing music.

Mrs. C. W. Longman of University City, Mo., will be the guest of the YW sophomore commission at a luncheon Tuesday noon in the Y Dugout. At 4 p. m. Rev. Flint will be the forum speaker in the Fireside room of the Y. Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. Rev. Flint will address a Student meeting in the auditorium of the college Y.

The second convocation of the week will be addressed by Judge Norris C. Bakke, associate justice of the supreme court of Colorado, at 11 a. m. Wednesday in Festival hall. Rev. Flint again speaks at the forum in the Fireside room of the college Y at 4 p. m. Wednesday evening while Bishop Martin is addressing a mass meeting at Festival hall, Rev. Flint will be speaking before the Faculty Mens' club meeting in the Fireside room of the college Y.

Thursday the forum will be addressed by Judge Bakke in the Fireside room of the Y at 4 p. m.

A panel discussion will be the feature of the evening with Mrs. Longman, Judge Bakke and Dr. Roy Helfenstein, pastor of the First Congregational church of Mason City, Iowa, as members of the panel, speaking on "Men and Women's Relations", before a student meeting in the auditorium of the college Y.

Friday Rev. Sittler is to be the guest at a faculty luncheon in Ceres hall. Closing the program of activities on the campus will be a mass meeting in Festival hall, addressed by Judge Martin, with music by the Fargo-Moorhead chorus.

Rev. Flint will also speak at a convocation at MSTC on Monday at 11 a. m. A mass meeting will be held in the Moorhead junior high school, led by Bishop Martin, and with music provided by the Moorhead senior high school chorus, on Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Wednesday evening Dr. Helfenstein will address a Youth mass meeting at the Methodist church, in Fargo. The Fargo high school capella choir and the Moorhead stringed choir will provide the music.

College groups wishing to entertain speakers during the evening dinner hour are invited to contact Edwin Lokken, chairman of the organization committee.

● emphasis week

Next week NDAC is having another Religious Emphasis week under the sponsorship of the YMCA.

Many students now in school remember a similar effort put forth two years ago when more than 15 nationally known religious leaders visited the campus. These same students will never forget the impact with which the event hit the campus.

The week this year is modeled after the original one, but on a much more conservative scale.

Yet the benefits will be as great as before for those who avail themselves of the opportunities given them. There will be the same chance to discuss your problems relating to religion and to life, in public and in private, with recognized leaders.

For those who think this event is strictly for the pious, "church-going" type, let it be said that considerable blushing has been done at discussions of this sort.

Yes, he is a true sportsman. Doesn't he always help his opponent to his feet after wiping the basketball court with him? (Of course, he only does this when Holzer's looking.)

Yes, he is a man-about-town; that is, of course, if you can consider the Hasty-Tasty a town.

'Jive For A Cause' Before SDU Game In Festival Today

Wax your heels and help provide oil for students lamps of China. Dine and dance to the music of Kay Kyser and Benny Goodman emanating from the smoothest sounding nicklodeon in Fargo at the Continental Frolic to be held in Festival hall from 4:30 to 7 today before the SDS basketball game.

The 'jive for a cause' session is being sponsored by the YM and YW cabinets with proceeds going to the World Students Service fund, where it will be used to aid impoverished Chinese students in China in securing an education.

Your admission fee of 25 cents per person will be a salute to the valor of Chinese college men and women who are striving under a much greater handicap than the draft to achieve an education which they need to help solve the problems of the future.

So help promote international solidarity and good-will and at the same time get for yourself some companionable relaxation. The dinner will be excellent and the music incomparable.

Phantasmagoria

By BILL SNYDER

About all there is to write about is the weather and shortages. If it hadn't been for a shortage of fifteen hours there wouldn't have been me to write about either, either.

Maybe I'll get in trouble with the government for mentioning the weather, but I feel I must mention this unusual weather; in fact if it gets any more unusual, I'll bet they move the airplane factories and movie studios up here.

SHORTAGES

I see by the paper that they're not going to cut out making cuspidor mats and pencil erasers due to the shortage of rubber. In other words they're going to fix it so that a fellow can't make any mistakes anymore.

The shortage of girdles has all the co-eds slimming down with fancy diets and stuff. I have discovered a real system of getting thin and as you may be able to use it, I'll give it you. The method is this:

Cut out eating everything for the next thirty days. Then at the end of this time you should be ready for the slimness test. This test is very simple—all you have to do is to swallow a jar of olives. If you look like a string of beads, you're pretty skinny.

Mary had a little car,
It was destroyed one day by fire
So Mary walks around all night
'Cause it's impossible to retire.

NO RED INK

There is nothing to this rumor that the Internal Revenue department is giving away a bottle of red ink free with every income tax return filed. The truth is that you can't even get a bottle of the red juice without a priority number because the government needs every bit of it in order to keep books.

Girls, if you can't get silk stockings,
Though you try just as hard as you can,
You'd better get used to net cotton,
'Cause we're going to wipe out those worms in Japan.

SQUIRT, SQUIRT

Well, it's nearly time for the Little International and its co-ed milking contest—you know, that contest where they pick the head squirt. Last year, the Gamma Phi's entry would have won—if one of the Gamma Rhos hadn't given her a bum steer.—And the Kappa's entry was afraid to get close enough to the cow to turn the faucet on. If she had, she probably wouldn't have known which one to turn on anyway.

Herd Meets Jackrabbits In Second Engagement

Seeking its second win of the season over the quintet that was picked in pre-season predictions to finish second to NDAC's Bison in the NCI basketball race, Coach Bob Lowe's Herd meets the Jackrabbits of South Dakota State on the fieldhouse floor tonight at 8 p. m.

During the Christmas holidays the Bison defeated the Bunnies in the final game of the MSTC invitational tourney.

The contest will mark the return of the South Dakota five to the league race after an absence of nearly a month. Since the Bunnies lost their NCI opener to Iowa State Teachers, games with North Dakota and Omaha have been postponed until later dates.

BILLINGTON IS STAR

Johnny Billington, all-conference guard for the Bunnies, was forced from the lineup after the December game with the Bison and since that time the Brookings team has played rather spotty basketball. Billington's return against the Herd will make the State five a much better agree-gation than the one that has lost to Yankton and Augustana colleges.

Another Jackrabbit performer that will call for some attention from the Bison guards is Don Holm. The lanky forward holds the best scoring average in the league after he counted 18 points against the Iowa Peds in the only Bunnie league engagement.

MARQUART MAY START

Lowe was able to get a good line on the capabilities of his reserves last week against Concordia's hapless Cobbers but it is doubtful whether he will take a chance on a shifted starting five. When the Bison coach floors his starting quint, Co-captains Arnold Johnson and Johnny Abbott should be at their familiar center and guard posts respectively. Veterans Cliff Nygard will no doubt team with Abbott while Jim Fletcher and Gene Marquart may be at the forward positions.

Marquart caused State's Billington no little trouble with his aggressive play when the Bunnie ace did considerable dribbling in the Dragon meet in December.

Gulped Breakfasts Order Of Day For Monday, Feb. 9

All students having 8 o'clocks on Monday, Feb. 9, had better eat breakfast before going to bed or go without. All profs who made New Year's resolutions to be on time at first hour classes are going to be bleary-eyed. The cows in the dairy barns will have to be primed, and the chicken herders will have to "egg on" the hens. Circles under the eyes, yawns and groans will not mean the morning after a big party, but rather that everyone has lost an hour of sleep not to be regained until the war is over.

Dr. Frank L. Eversull announced that daylight saving time goes into effect on the campus along with the rest of the nation on Feb. 9. Clocks will be set ahead one hour on retiring Sunday evening and at 2 a. m. a new Central Standard time goes into effect, according to a law passed by Congress and signed by President Roosevelt.

The result hoped to be gained by this new U. S. time is a tremendous saving in electrical power, mainly in the industrial centers. It has been estimated that the amount of electricity consumed between 5 and 7 p. m. in factories and offices is enough to produce over 70,000,000 pounds of aluminum.
