'Out Of Frying Pan' Set For Production In LCT Tuesday

Termed "one of the surprises of the current theatrical season—one of the merriest Broadway events" by the New York Post, Out of the Frying Pan will be presented in the Little Country theater Tuesday at 8 p. m., A. G. Arvold, the general director, announced.

Replete with well-paced comedy and gay situations, the play is now touring army camps under sponsorship of the USO.

The local cast will include George Truesdell, Charles Martin, Adele Glasson, Jewel Roningen, Jane Cumming, Dorothy Monson, Margery Fjeld, Jean Baillie, Winston Hewitt, Gene Bolger, Mel Fritzvold and Harvey Millang.

On the production staff are Jack Stuart Knapp, coach; La-Rayne Thompson, script girl; Mason Arvold, set designer; Carl Thompson, set painter, and Lorraine Westlund and Marion Challoner, properties.

The story deals with the antics of six young would-be stars who rent an apartment and set up housekeeping. Directly below lives a big-time producer whose weakness is cooking. The youngsters lure him upstairs through this medium and re-enact a murder scene so realistic the place is invaded by the police.

Little International Scheduled Feb. 10, Baldwin Announces

NDAC's 20th annual Little International livestock show is Feb. 10, Elton Baldwin, show manager, announces.

Baldwin's assistant is Don Bahl.

As has been the custom, the college livestock will be shown competitively by the students in the school of agriculture.

The large number of entries promises to make this year's show better than those of the past, Baldwin says. Winning exhibitors will be awarded trophies.

Advance ticket sales, being pushed by members of sororities, exceed those of any past year. A representative of the sorority selling the greatest number of tickets will be named mistress of awards at the show. Orville Block is chairman of the drive.

Loran Ladwig, entertainment chairman for the event, promises a "hepped-up" program including the Prairie Partners from radio station WDAY, a German band led by Warren Duntley, the Y quartet and Curly Parsons. Bill Dean, WDAY announcer, is to be the master of ceremonies.

Sorority Girls To Hear Turner Today At 4

The Panhellenic association, which includes all campus sorority women, will meet in the Little Country theater this afternoon at 4 to hear Dr. Fred Turner, dean of men at the University of Illinois, who is on the campus for Fraternity week.

AC Girls Do Bit In March Of Dimes To Kill Paralysis

One hundred NDAC girls are doing their bit toward giving the annual March of Dimes a lift.

Starting yesterday and continuing through Wednesday, the girls are working in pairs in the downtown theaters collecting the dimes which are turned over to the campaign against infantile paralysis.

The March of Dimes is conducted annually in connection with President Roosevelt's birthday celebration.

Starting at noon the college girls work till late in the afternoon when they are relieved by girls from Fargo high school.

Plan Student Participation In Jack Frost

Though plans are still in the first stages of development, Friday, Feb. 6 has been set by the Student Commission as the day for NDAC participation in the Jack Frost Winter Carnival. Working in collaboration with the commission is the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which will award trophies to the winners of various events.

A feature of the Carnival will be a snow-modeling contest open to all campus organizations. Trophies will be awarded to the winners by the JCC. All entries must be finished by Feb. 5 at 1 p. m. to be eligible in the judging.

Clark Heggeness, in charge of an inter-fraternity hockey contest, announces that elimination games are scheduled for Feb. 2, 3 and 4 from 4:30 to 5:30. The final game is set for Feb. 5 from 4:30-5:30. The winning team will receive a trophy, awarded by the JCC.

Contests between women's organizations will be directed by Evangeline Schwartz. Included in the program will be ski, toboggan and relay races. The toboggan races will feature girls being pulled by more girls to reveal the campus "speed queens."

Francis Daniels is in charge of the contests between men's organized groups. A ski race, toboggan, belly-flop and relay races are scheduled and will be run off with barrel staves as the sliding factors and the belly-flop race will decide who best remembers the art of using a small sled as a means of transportation. Winding up the contest schedule will be a tug o' war between classes, with Ed Lokken in charge of the event.

Following the scheduled events will be a program in the college Y auditorium from 6 to 7 p. m.

In tune with the nation's war preparations, the Student Commission announces that it will award $25 defense bonds to the men's and women's organizations compiling the largest total score in the various races.

Convocation Second Event On NDAC's First Annual Fraternity Week; Dean Fred Turner Speaker

Constitution Submitted For Approval

Pending final approval by the College Council is the new constitution of NDAC students, revised by the Student Commission in a special meeting Tuesday. Important changes from the one adopted last spring are the addition of by-laws, a provision for recall of officers, a Student Reserve Fund committee and an established name.

The new constitution was written by a board consisting of Ann Murphy, chairman, Wayne Rowe, Audrey Jacobson, Russell Heine, Irwin Mindt and Jim Fine. Revisions were made by the Student Commission members.

Assisting in formulating the document were Dean Pearl Dinan, Dr. C. E. Swisher, Dean C. A. Sevrinson and Registrar A. H. Parrott.

Chemical Warfare Hits College Dance

The Chemists club is formulating plans for a semi-formal all-school, everything-for-defense dance.

All net proceeds will be used to buy defense bonds. Those attending will be requested to send their girls defense stamps for corsages.

Further details of the Chemical Warfare assault will be carried in a later issue of The Spectrum.

If so, Ernst Van Vlissingen, NDAC talent scout for Sweethearts, the Victor Herbert operetta to be presented during May Festival week, could use you.

Given in place of the Bison Brevities, the musical calls for fifteen vocal roles and two speaking parts. Tryouts will be held early in February for the speaking roles, for which anyone on the campus is eligible, and the singing roles, for which only members of the glee clubs and mixed chorus are eligible. Chorus roles will be taken by the remaining glee club and chorus members.

Anyone who wishes to take part in the operetta should at once join the men's glee club, which meets at 12:30 on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, or the girls' glee club, which meets Tuesday and Friday at 12:30. As far as possible rehearsals will be confined to these hours.

● beware

There is a growing movement on campus to force the library committee to open the libraries at eight o'clock in the morning so that students who through necessity have to go to school at that hour can use its facilities.

Increasingly stressed is the fact that students must complete their education in rapid-fire fashion and with the adoption of an eight-week winter term it seems vital that the students' needs be satisfied. Laboratories and part-time employment take up a goodly part of many students' afternoons, hence it seems only fair that they be allowed to use the library facilities early in the morning.

Unless this matter is remedied, there is likelihood of mob violence. —And, brother, we got this from good authority!

—W. D. S.

● take heed

It is necessary to issue an annual warning to students about reckless driving. It is necessary to do so because of the annual influx of new student drivers and because the reckless instinct and a care-free attitude still pervade the minds of college youths and misses.

In the first place our warning is a caution to those who don't care and a safeguard for those who are already cautious. The speed limit is posted along the campus drive. The purpose of this interval posting is for the driver who looks at the road half of the time and who might accidentally notice one of the signs someday.

Now you've had your warning, so in the future don't put the blame on us if someday you are called to report to the president's office and find yourself on the outside looking in, because the president holds the right to expel students who abuse the driving and traffic laws on this campus.

Dead Pan Alley

If they ever build a Hall of Fame here on our campus, you can bet your last dollar that you'll find Dick Crockett's statue in it. Of course they won't put his bust in because he is famous—they'll stick it in because with his ears he's a biological freak. His ears are so big that when he was a child in Langdon instead of the kids flying kites—they flew him.

If, perhaps, they can't find a place to put his statue in the Hall

Dean Sevrinson Addresses YM

"You shall never know what your personality can be unless you do your utmost to develop it," was the challenge put forth by Dean Sevrinson when he spoke at the vocational guidance discussion group which met at the college Y Tuesday evening.

He advised the students to evaluate their own personalities and in the light of this evaluation to form a basis upon which to build a well-rounded personality.

"Intellectually the average man is created equal. It is his responsibility to utilize his 'blessed latent talents' to their highest degree," he said.

After Sevrinson's talk the group discussed the relationship of personality to vocational problems.

V. Asheim Directs YM Hobby Show

Vernon Asheim has been named chairman of the committee in charge of the Y Hobby show to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 17-18, in the lobby of the YMCA.

All student and faculty hobbyists are invited to register as soon as is convenient. Registration blanks will be provided at the Y office. Ribbons will be given to all participants and prizes will be awarded to the winners in each group.

of Fame, Dick'll chisel a niche for himself. And he can do it, too, for he has knifed his way into about everything in the campus.

He's chiseled himself into so many things that when he dies, we'll bet he chisels "Dick loves Janice" in the undertaker's slab. And if he doesn't succeed in doing that, he'll surely chisel the Devil out of his job.

Besides his ears and his ability to worm his way into everything, Dick is noted for his grafts and his ability to dip his fingers into the gravy. This Crockett kid has had his fingers in more gravy than the dishwashers at Ceres Hall. He's made so much dough out of the college this year that Mr. Morganthau is flying down here to help the kid with his income tax. (If we know Crockett, we'll bet that the government owes him dough when he gets done.)

Phantasmagoria

By BILL SNYDER

I just discovered that I am going to graduate from this college on Friday the thirteenth, and that, my friends, is the payoff. Ever since I started this school I have been doomed by that darned thirteen complex. It seems everything that I do has a thirteen in it somewhere or another, and now to top off everything, they are going to give me my walking papers on Friday the thirteenth.

THIRTEEN ON THRESHOLD

The first thing I wrote down when I registered at this institution as a freshman was my name, William Snyder, which contains thirteen letters. The first program I made out was for thirteen hours and when I had paid my fees I had only thirteen cents left.

The same day I broke a mirror into thirteen pieces and since then I have had seven years of bad luck—and all of them in the same college.

Since that fateful day long, long ago I have been confronted with that thirteen tripe again and again. Why every time I go out in the evening I wind up with thirteen fingers, ten on my hands and three in a glass.

DIRTY THIRTEEN

But that's not all—in the thirteen terms I have been in college I have had thirteen instructors who collectively have flunked me in thirteen hours. That doesn't make me so mad as when people tell me I wear a fifteen shoe when it's really only a thirteen!

The only thing I can't figure out is how I happened to be born on the fifth of October. There isn't anything unlucky about that, but I wonder why every time I have a birthday my ma mumbles something about that being her unlucky day.

BROTHERLY TYRANNY

This week is Interfraternity week on our campus. It was primarily designed to bring the brothers together for the purpose of patting each other on the back and also to find some nice soft spots in each others back to stick the knives in next rushing season.

If the sorority girls ever have an Intersorority week, I suggest they hold it in the stadium so that every one will have a chance to see the hair pulling. Yes, sir, I can just see those smiling campus cuties drinking tea in the chummiest fashion—then throwing the cups at one another.

But if they did have an Intersorority week, maybe they should have a round-table about girls wearing trousers. At the same time the Gamma Phi's could have a 'smoker' where they could discuss the latest trouser fashions.

Local Drama Unit Initiates Pledges Into Alpha Kappa

The Alpha Kappa chapter of Wesley Players initiated the following pledges from NDAC into active membership in the organization Tuesday:

Charles Buck, Donna Carter, Verle Delameter, Ila Jahnke, Robert Earhart, Genevieve Titus and Myrna Wiese.

The local Alpha Kappa chapter is affiliated with the national society of Wesley Players, and is one of 41 existing in the United States. It has for its purpose developing dramatic talent. Members of Wesley Foundation Oxford club are eligible for membership. James Wilkinson is president of the group; and Mrs. Carol Ladwig Johnson, former speech instructor at Concordia college, is sponsor.

Mr. Mort Hanna of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company demonstrated the voice mirror at the meeting, and recordings were made of members' voices.

Faculty Club Holds Dancing Party

The Faculty Dancing club at NDAC will hold its first dance of the new term at 9:30 Monday, Jan. 26, in Festival hall. Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Darling are co-chairmen of the affair.

Assisting in arrangements are Messrs. and Mrs. G. L. Seaman, G. P. Goodearl, J. R. Dice, A. Severson, J. Muehlbeier, H. G. Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Painter, Capt. and Mrs. M. R. Hughes and Mrs. L. L. Detroit.

'Water Boy' Goes Modern . . .

By DON LANDECK

Culture is the thing. Ah me! So the New Yorker has Fadiman, News Week has Lardner, the Fargo Forum has Schoff and the Spectrum is lucky to have me. Being a great critic of English literature, I have chosen that great and glorious poem Gunga Din to honor today.

Right off the bat, they start out by talking about gin and beer. Now, although I am not a permanent resident of the water wagon, I maintain that gin and beer is not a very wise or healthful thing to start out with at any time, and believe me, brother, I know. Then just like that they change the subject and tell us about Gunga Din who wasn't even a student manager—just a water boy who traipsed along back of the home team wearing nothing much in front and about half of that behind. Whenever anyone got thirsty they just yelled "Harry By", which as far as we can gather meant, "Hey, Gunga, draw one." So Gunga, who was they tell us white on the inside, although he certainly wasn't any albino on the outside, toted and carried one all day.

One night, this guy gets a bullet where his belt plate should have been (pronounced bean to rhyme with Din which is pronounced dean to rhyme with green which even Hepburn can't mispronounce). And Din gives him a half pint of green water so crawling it stunk—but this dodo thinks it was the best water he ever drank, which sounds as if it may have been the first. Anyway Gunga picks him up and carries him to a dooli (which amounts to a high classed stretcher) and then a bullet drills Gunga Din (this was one of the team's off days). Just before he dies he asks this guy in the dooli how he liked the drink.

So this guy gets sentimental and figures he'll meet him later on in a place where no canteens are allowed, but Gunga who doesn't believe in no spiking signs will be squatting on the coals slipping side cars to poor condemned souls. So he guesses Gunga will smuggle him a swig of water in Hades.

Then he thinks it over and decides that Gunga Din was a better man than he is. We aren't so sure—they both sounded kinda daft about that aqua.

Moral: If you start out with gin and beer, it's no telling where you'll end up.

Misguided KD's Swarm Into Inner Sanctum Of Dormites

By MARVIN TULLMAN

The Men's Residence hall suffered the most serious setback in all the years of its history Monday evening when a mass of charming Amazons entered its dusty and previously bachelor portals.

They were first sighted by a scout kept there for just such an emergency, who, through a previously arranged two-long-and-one-short whistle, warned of their coming. Hysteria ruled for a moment, but in less time than it takes to type this,—I know I have the sympathy of all my fellow hunt-and-peckers — with the slamming of doors and closing of transoms, the slowest male shut himself into his sanctuary.

But were the KD's denied? ... No!! With the display of their feminine charms, every heart weakened, and finally, led by Mr. Otterson, who thoughtfully waved his dainty silk white handkerchief (Buttrey's—$.29) ventured forth to see if peace could be established.

The KD's explained that they were in the midst of a high-pressure selling campaign for the Little International. The fellows got together, as who wouldn't under those circumstances, and produced enough folding money to choke a good-sized pullet.

With victory established, the KD's left and the dorm once again became the silent tomb of bachelorhood.

All good stories have morals connected with them and this one should be no different. How about something like, "Who but a woman could make a dorm man produce" or "Oh, to be a KD" or what would you suggest?

Aid To Britain Hits Even The Lowly Stamp Collectors

Stamp collectors, those people who run around with little magnifying glasses going through the wastepaper baskets in post-office lobbies, are going to meet some stiff competition in the near future.

Members of NDAC's Tryota club, home economics group, are inaugurating a drive for cancelled postage stamps which will be shipped to England where the dye will be removed and sold for funds to buy beds for the Queen's hospital in London.

This morning collection boxes are being placed in Ceres hall, Old Main, Science hall, the college postoffice and the YMCA. Contributors are asked to cut, not tear, the stamps from their envelopes and places in the boxes.

Chairman of the committee in charge is Lillian McDowell. Her assistants are Harriet Holman, Ruth Grothberg and Noreen Wiig.

Drexel Institute of Technology recently celebrated its semicentennial.

Bison To Have Unique Cover

The cover of the 1942 Bison yearbook is to be a surprise feature, the nature of which will not be revealed until the book is released, Dick Crockett, the editor, says. "Neat," is the only description available.

According to present plans, the book will be printed and distributed before the spring term ends. Group pictures have been going ahead on schedule, Crockett says.

This year's book is to measure 10½ by 7¼ inches as compared to the 9 by 12 inches of the 1941 Bison.

Five major divisions of the book will be centered around a news theme with headlines of the year worked into many photographic layouts. A national defense idea will also enter into the plans.

New features will include group pictures of fraternity and sorority members, more informal pictures in all sections and a bigger and better Bison life section, which will be devoted exclusively to school events. In addition the administration section will undergo a complete overhauling, and the opening section will include more campus views and scenes.

Sixty-Voice Hamline Choir To Sing Here February 11

Musical achievement and broad experience characterize John Marinus Kuypers, director of the Hamline university a cappella choir, which will sing at NDAC on Feb. 11.

Born in Rotterdam, Holland, Mr. Kuypers studied the organ and voice and became a boy soloist of that city's civic chorus at the age of ten.

For six years Mr. Kuypers was a member of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra. He has been a member of several chamber music organizations and has taught sessions in other colleges and universities during the summer. During the recent national convention of music educators in Minneapolis, Mr. Kuypers directed the choir in a concert and led some discussion groups. He has been guest conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and takes an active part in Twin City music circles.

The choir of sixty voices, which Mr. Kuypers has developed since coming to Hamline university in 1932, has gained fame throughout the Northwest for the scholarly training it receives and for the brilliant interpretation it gives the great choral masterpieces.

Fifty-two per cent of college students interviewed in a recent survey said they own typewriters.

Heard About The Herd

By GEORGE RULON

time Morningside college's Maroon quintet seems to be in the best position to oust NDAC's Bison basketball squad which has been seated at the top of the North Central conference for the past two seasons. The 45-39 win registered Saturday night by the Maroons over Coach Bob Lowe's club gives them a decided advantage in the present race to the cage crown.

It's too bad that the Herd doesn't have a return game scheduled with the Morningside team on the Fieldhouse floor later in the season. The results would surely prove the advantage that the Iowans have on their very small home floor.

Anyone that knows about small enclosures certainly realizes the disadvantage any team, that has a floor like the Bison, would be facing when they tangle with the Maroons in Sioux City. The Morningside gym is smaller than the Armory at North Dakota university—if that is possible.

MORNINGSIDE HAS

seven conference games left on its schedule. Five is the number of loop contests that the Herd has left to play before the end of the championship race. However, four of those games with NCI teams remaining on the Maroon schedule will be played in the Morningside gym. Home-and-home games are set with South Dakota and Omaha but neither of these clubs have shown any power that could be expected to stop the Maroon advance. Iowa Teachers and North Dakota play single games with the Maroons—both contests in Sioux City.

The only hope for the Bison cause lies in the ability of South Dakota State to take the Maroons when they meet in Brookings on Feb. 21.

If this turns out to be the case, Coach Lowe's five must take two games from South Dakota State, one from Iowa Teachers at Fargo, and at least three of the four games to be played with North Dakota's Sioux. The trio of triumphs over the Upstate Normal boys would give the Herd credit for two wins in conference play. "We Did It Before And We Can Do It Again."

IN THE OPINION OF

Coach Stu Baller, Omaha university cage mentor, the North Central conference basketball title will not rest on any proud team's head until after the Bison-Sioux series in February. Baller, who brought his Cardinal quint north earlier in the season to meet the two North Dakota representatives in the NCI, feels certain that Clem Letich's crew at Grand Forks will be right near the top of the heap by the end of the next five weeks.

The Omaha coach expects the North Dakota schools to outdistance the field and to have things to themselves when that first game is played on the fieldhouse floor the night of Feb. 20.

Jerry Dutcher, ace Omaha basketball, and two other Omaha forwards will finish semester exams and then get into Uncle Sam's air corps. Earl Alter and Jimmy Taylor are the other two players who will sign up with Dutcher. Taylor and Dutcher appeared here in the Bison encounter with Omaha on Jan. 10, Dutcher leading his team's attack.

ANY HOPES THAT

South Dakota State holds for winning the North Central conference basketball title which they shared two years ago with the Bison are wrapped up in bandages around Johnny Billington's injured ankle. The Bunnie star was troubled with ankle injuries last season and recently re-sprained an ankle and was forced out of action.

With Billington out of the Jackrabbit lineup the boys from Brookings are just another country ball club. The team that was picked to place second to the Herd this year lost its first loop game to Iowa Teachers' Panthers—a quintet that has been defeated by Morningside and the Bison of NDAC.

Against the Bison in the final of the MSTC tourney during the holidays the Bunnies went to pieces after Billington was removed from the game. Leading 16-4 at the end of the first period, the Bunnies saw the Herd put on the heat and drive to a 44-37 victory for the third Bison title in the four-year history of the meet.

Bison Easily Trouponce USD In 32-23 Tilt

Coach Bob Lowe and his Bison basketball team opened a three-game weekend road trip with a victory over South Dakota university's Coyotes Friday night for the second Herd triumph in two North Central conference tussles. The score was 32-23.

After suffering several setbacks due to lack of teamwork on the part of varsity regulars, Coach "Rube" Hoyer started a team made up entirely of sophomores. The inexperienced Coyotes were no match for the Herd's veteran starting lineup, all of which shared in the scoring.

NOT CLOSE

It was not a close ball game after the Herd had moved ahead at the quarter, 9-5. This lead was widened to 18-8 at halftime and when the third period ended, the Bison were leading 25-15.

Leading scorer for the Lowemen was Arnold (Swede) Johnson. The Herd's ace point-getter managed to get a trio of two-pointers and four tallies at the free throw line. Jim Fletcher and Cliff Nygard each scored seven points while Nick Soulis, sophomore from Jamestown playing his first conference game, found the hoop for five points.

SOLBERG HELD

Ole Solberg, star Coyote performer, was held to seven counters. In four earlier contests played by the South Dakota five, Solberg had tallied a 52 point total, an average of 13 markers per game. Last year the Coyote veteran totaled 65 points in 10 conference engagements.

Maroons Tip Herd, 45-39

With a 45-39 win over NDAC's Bison, Morningside's Maroons moved into first place in the North Central conference Saturday night. The victory was the second loop conquest for the Iowans and marked the first defeat in conference play this season for the Bison cagers.

At half time, Coach Bob Lowe's defending champs were out in front of the Maroons with a 25-18 count, but the Morningside five came back in the last 20 minutes to build up the Maroon margin of victory.

Six free throws missed by the Bison would have been enough tallies to send the game into overtime.

Pivotman Arnold Johnson, scorer of 10 or more points in all but four games this season, led the Herd's scoring efforts as he collected 13 counters. Bob Yeasley and Cliff Nygard each added nine points to the Bison total while Jim Fletcher was only able to connect twice to round out the Herd cagers that got more than one field goal.

Lowemen Beat Peds In Third Road Game

NDAC's Bison quintet closed its three-game tour in the southern half of the NCI loop with a 44-33 triumph over the Iowa State Teachers college Panthers at Cedar Falls Monday night. The victory gave Coach Bob Lowe's charges their second win of the trip and strengthened their grip on third place in the conference standings.

JOHNSON GETS SEVENTEEN

Arnold (Swede) Johnson, mammoth NDAC center, continued along the path that may lead to his third scoring championship in as many seasons of play. The Bison co-captain dropped in eight shots from the floor and one tally from the gift line. Jim Fletcher, with 10 points, and Johnny Abbott, with nine, were the other main Herd scorers.

Oliver Nordly's five, playing in their third conference engagement, were right in the thick of things until the final 45 seconds, thanks to some great offensive talent displayed by Dick Seidler.

The 6' 3" forward from Waterloo, Iowa, went on a scoring rampage that netted him 26 points for the evening. Ten of these tallies were free throws of which he missed two.

MOVE AHEAD FAST

Cliff Nygard, Gene Marquart, and Johnson quickly put the Herd in a commanding lead in the last 45 seconds after the Teachers had stayed close until this point. The trio of two-pointers came as the Bison were holding a slim 36-32 lead. The baskets made by Nygard and Marquart were the only field goals scored by the two during the game although the midget pair added three free throws between them.

'Big Swede' Leads Herd In Rout Of Outplayed Cobber Quintet, 52-37

NDAC's Bison basketball team left no doubt as to which college in this vicinity has the best hardwood quintet as they completely routed the Concordia college Cobbers on the Moorhead junior high school floor last night. When the final gun had sounded Coach Bob Lowe and his Herd left the court with a 52-37 triumph.

Arnold (Swede) Johnson again was the big scorer for the Herd as he dropped in 10 field goals before leaving the game in the final period. The big Bison performer was "the" pivotman on the floor as he outshone Concordia's Craig Hertsgaard.

FLETCHER STARS

Making one of the best showings so far this season, Jim Fletcher was ace floorman of the evening besides adding 16 points to the Herd's victorious total. Fletcher, Cliff Nygard and Gene Marquart were constant thorns in first quarter, the Lowemen never trailed. The score was 24-15 at half time intermission and by the time the third period ended, the gap had been widened to 42-23.

Grande and Hertsgaard each tallied one two-pointer in the third quarter for the only field goals registered by the Cobbers in that period.

the Cobber side—breaking up the Concordia attack and setting up Bison scoring plays.

Ray Grande, Concordia's best forward, didn't get going against Nygard and it wasn't until the little Bison guard left the game that Grande got his 10 points. Outside of Grande, the only other Concordia player that even looked like a scorer was Hertsgaard. The Cobber center gave up trying to stop Johnson and produced some 10 counters himself.

Two Victories Place OXs In First I-M Spot

Theta Chi fraternity's intramural basketball team handed the ATO five a 22-13 defeat Tuesday night to remain at the top of the standings of Division A in the I-M loop. The OX quint is the only team so far to come through its first two games without a loss.

Duane Rice and Byron Jackson set the pace for the victors as they scored more than half of their team's points. Rice hit the nets for eight points on four field goals while Jackson sank three shots from the floor. Bob Cockle was high ATO scorer for the second time with his seven count total.

After the first two periods ended in 3-3 and 11-11 deadlocks, the Theta Chis moved ahead to their comfortable margin of victory.

Scoring more points than any team this season, the Sigma Chis bounced into the win column after their surprise defeat at the hands of the ATOs. The boys from Tenth avenue completely dominated play in the second half to trounce the SAEs, 38-17.

The losers were unable to garner a point in the last two periods after the score was 24-17, Sigma Chi, at the half.

Paulie Paulson topped the Sig scoring with 13 tallies. Roy Olson and Don Schollander helped the winning total with a half dozen points each.

Bison Regulars Stop MSTC Peds, 53-45

NDAC's regular starting five went into action in the second half of Wednesday night's game with MSTC to take a 53-45 decision from the Teachers across the river. The victory made up for the opening-game loss to the Dragons in December.

After watching the reserves leave the floor at halftime trailing by a 26-18 score, Coach Bob Lowe's veterans came into the clash to make the second half a different story. Although the count was close throughout the final two periods, the experience and floor play of the Bison was too much for Coach Ed Hammer's quintet.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

In the first bracket of the inter-sorority basketball tournament, the Phi Mus will vie with the Alpha Gams and the Gamma Phis with the Kappas. KD's and POPs are scheduled to play the teams gaining initial victories. Ceres Hall will play the Independents and the winner of two out of three games will contest the top ranking sorority team. The Kappas are out to retain the cup they obtained from the KD's last year in a post-season challenge game.

On the bowling lanes this week, top honors go to Isabelle Bork and Wilma Grant who each rolled 129. Edith Westad was second with a score of 120.

If you yearn to trip the light fantastic, drop around at the physical education office and register for the dance symposium at NDU in April. Orchesis, national dance sorority, has extended invitations to other North Dakota colleges to send delegates. Demonstrations and group dancing will be on the program.

YEASLEY SCORES

Bob Yeasley, starting in place of Arnold Johnson at center, scored the only point made by the Bison in the first seven minutes when he dropped in a free throw on Harold Erickson's infraction. After seven minutes, Gene Marquart and Russ Burfening added two-pointers but the Dragons were out in front 14-8 as the first quarter ended.

During the second 10 minutes the Peds were able to hold that six point advantage as the Dragons continued to penetrate the Herd's defense for short shots.

CLOSE GAP

Lowe's regulars quickly closed the gap between the two clubs as the second half opened with Johnson, Johnny Abbott, and Burfening connecting on the first three shots fired at the nets. This 26-26 deadlock was the first time the score was tied and the first time the Dragons were not ahead. With the lead changing hands several times during the period, the scoreboard read 39-36 for the Peds at the close of the quarter.

Faculty Bears Brunt Of College Quota In Red Cross Drive

Although the college Red Cross quota has been over-subscribed by $100 in the current drive for funds, the $700 contributed was given almost entirely by the faculty and employees. Student participation has not been extensive.

Dr. Eversull urged that all donations to the Red Cross be made at his office in order that the college will have a record and can receive credit for the amount.

Actual cash received in the drive was $278 but during a recent Fargo canvas the faculty and employees had contributed money which brought the total up to $700. Opportunities will be given from time to time for donations.

Students Registered For Draft, Counseled By Beyers

In close accord with President Eversull's plea that students remain in school came the registering of the students now registering under the Selective Service. Dr. Otto Beyers, in charge, has stressed two points:

1. Any person who receives his classification number or who has it changed should report the fact to Dr. Beyers.

2. If a student leaves school for any reason, he loses his claim for deferment.

The purpose of this registration is to give the school an accurate record from which it can formulate a basis for deferment. Any student who wishes deferment should fill out a blank available in Dr. Beyers' office. From these blanks and his knowledge, the dean of the student's school will present written evidence to support the student's claim.

Approximately 200 were registered last Friday.

Dr. Beyers announced that the men who fall under the next draft limit will be asked to register in the near future.
