Saddle, Sirloin Selects Bahl

Donald Bahl, a sophomore in agriculture, was elected assistant manager of this year's Little International livestock show by members of Saddle and Sirloin at their meeting Tuesday.

Elton Baldwin will manage the show presented in the winter quarter by agriculture students. Bahl automatically becomes manager next year. He has been state president of the FFA, recently received the American Farmer degree from that organization, and is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

At the same meeting Ernest Deutsch was named assistant treasurer of Saddle and Sirloin succeeding Howard Olson who failed to return to school.

Collegians To Have Choice Of Dances

NDAC "swingers" can pick and choose tonight when it comes to a spot for some fancy footwork. For two Halloween dances are scheduled, one in the Field house, the other in Festival hall.

Fargo's Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the dance in the Field house with music by the Vagabonds. Set for 9-12 p. m., the affair is open to all over 16 and is headed by L. K. Watne.

The fourth All-College Dance, sponsored by the Independent Students association, will swing out from 9-12 p. m. in Festival hall to the tunes of Kenny Jones and his band.

LCT To Produce Saroyan Play

By DON JONES

On Nov. 12 at approximately 8 o'clock the Little Country Theatre launches itself on an experiment of screwball art. The specific medium is a play by William Saroyan called "Jim Dandy."

It will be remembered by those who make a habit of remembering such things that Saroyan won the Pulitzer prize last year with an opus called "The Time of Your Life." So good did the critics of New York think this play was that they awarded him their own little plaque. If one remembers correctly, the Armenian rug-maker refused the both of them on the grounds that art should not be sustained by grants from hero worshippers. He's like that, Saroyan is. Screwy!

Jim Dandy is the latest of the Saroyan plays and has not as yet been produced on Broadway. Saroyan is sick of Broadway, incidentally. The producers always want to make money from his plays. They aren't interested in art; they want money. So the Little Country Theatre along with several other colleges has been given the permission to produce this play with all of its dire consequences.

To say the least "Jim Dandy" is different. It has no plot, no characters, no theme. It is something of a ballet set to words. Consider the people of the play for instance. Flora for one. Flora who looks and acts like Cleopatra and doles out books and change from a couch over which is a Mae West canopy. Consider the props. A revolving door that goes nowhere. Two pairs of stairs that go nowhere. A pianola that goes into action every few minutes. Where is this supposed to be set? Saroyan really doesn't care. Anywhere.

But the play has something. It leaves one groping for the remembrance of something that never happened. You stagger away from it with your head reeling, and you wonder if you have paid 40 cents for a dream. And you won't sleep. You struggle with words and pictures that you knew as an amoeba; and you try to analyze, but it defies you. And the next morning you arise, not remembering, and not forgetting. But you have no hang-over.

Democracy

The aim of true democracy is to secure the active participation of every individual up to the limit of his capacity in the conduct of all his social, vocational and political affairs. It is intended to be all-inclusive with the qualification noted; it is meant to take cognizance of the immature child, of the moron, of the student, or the professor and even of the criminal. It embraces every social relationship, whether of a president to all American citizens, or a man to a single companion.

While democracy really involves a philosophy of life and an attitude toward people, it requires also a technique. The difficulty in securing democracy has been that more attention has been paid to defending it as a philosophy than to developing the methodology by which it could be made to function in life. If all are to participate up to the limit of their capacity in the groupings of which they are a part, they must learn how to participate. Just to postulate democratic participation, without making practical provision for it to be effectively carried out, will result either in the capture of the control of the group by an oligarchic few or in confusion which will discredit the whole theory.

Attention to the methodology of democracy is particularly important because our practice at present is representative rather than democratic. Consequently, the training of individuals fits them for a representative group life. The rank and file of individuals have some part in choosing those who will do their thinking and deciding for them and they have varying degrees of control over their representatives; but there is very little provision for their direct participation.

Democracy is for most people a political conception—"we all have a vote." But to the college student the theory

Straight From Mama's Lap

WHERE THERE'S A MORAL, THERE'S A SLIGHT CHARGE FOR POSTAGE AND HANDLING

By WILDER WYLIE

(This, dear readers, is the first of a series. Next week's column will be titled "Virtue and Its Reward," followed by "The Gamma Phi's and What Does It Get Them.")

It has been brought to my attention as a result of last week's fiasco up the river that there's a startling lack of morality among our student body. There's also a startling lack of money and dates for the Military, but I shall deal with one thing at a time.

I wasn't able to attend the mad orgy myself due to the fact that there was a wedding in our family. I've been telling Ma and Pa for years that they should have been married long ago, but they kept saying they'd wait and see if it was the real thing.

GRAND FORKS REPORTS

However, my operators report that the behavior of certain of the students over the weekend was distressing. Mr. Lieberman also went on to say that he wishes they'd bring his silverware back to the 115. He said he doesn't mind so much the fellows who took the waitress tips, but that if they want silverware, they should go across the street and gyp it from the Ryan the way he had to do.

This sort of thing has got to stop. What we need is a crusade against vice. In order to start such a battle against sin, I will personally volunteer to lead a posse to every den of iniquity in town. With a slight, almost negligible, amount of persuasion I will further demonstrate the perils of drinking.

I feel that I can best put across my point, however, by telling a short moral tale. This is a little story my grandma used to tell me while knocking herself out with a jug of brandy.

ANGEL WITH WINGS

There was once a lad who was very, very good. He combed his hair and brushed his teeth. He studied hard and always went to convocations. He liked his teachers and wouldn't even read the blackboards until they were approved by the board of publications. He took out the Kappa's on blind dates, he shared his cigarettes with the Gamma Phi's, and once even attended a POP open house. He ignored the Sigma Chi's and had no dealings whatsoever with the SAE's. He had no use for Davenport and little use for davenports.

All in all, he was a very good and methodology of democracy should be a live and meaningful actuality. The classroom, fraternity, club or dormitory relationships present an excellent proving ground for the practice of group procedures which further the democratic process.

Without this understanding of, and training in, the democratic practice and ideal, the youth of the nation cannot assume their rightful and expected place in American society.

It behooves all concerned with the education and welfare of college students to look closely at the methods and procedures they are following in the educative process.—Contributed.

boy. And do you know what happened to him? (Here my grandma would frequently fall asleep and I would have to awaken her to learn the answer.) He was pledged by the Theta Chi's. He got lost the next day in the house and starved to death before he could be found for which he received five swats from the actives.

ANGEL WITHOUT WINGS

There was another lad, however, who was a somewhat different type. He never spoke to anyone because no one ever spoke to him. He hated all his teachers and his teachers reciprocated admirably. He never went to convocations. He burned his midterm marks and buried his finals.

When he got thirsty he went to the drinking fountain and never went home till the drinking fountain closed. He spoke to Davenport except in the presence of others, knew two Sigs by their first names and once spoke kindly of the SAE's. In the presence of ladies he was courteous, kind, suave, half-drunk, short, fat and disgusting.

All in all, he was rather repulsive. And do you know what became of him? He ended up writing a column for the Spectrum and believe me, I'm sick and tired of it!

The first military bivouac of the year is Nov. 14 in Festival hall. Sponsored by the cadet corps, the party is for all cadets, members of Guidon and their guests. Officers of the first battalion headed by Cadet Major Leonard Kirk are in charge.

By BILL SNYDER

Everybody went to Grand Forks last week so therefore there is very little gore. About the only guy who didn't go was Bill Horwitz. He found out that nearly everyone was going except a few professors, so he wanted to stay home and rub the wax a little.

Nearly everyone went up to see the football game, but some of the crowd had tickets on the 115 yard line. Those that did couldn't see the game very well, in fact, one of the spectators only saw one play of the game. It was pass made by a U halfback at a waitress, but it was incomplete for no gain.

BE-SOOTED CROWD

The University athletic field is located right next to some railroad tracks so everyone who went to the game came home looking like a Pennsylvania coal miner.

Social Notes Of The Week

By PHYLLIS CARLSON

YOUNG GREEKS SPLURGE

Honoring their pledges, Alpha Gamma Delta entertained all fraternity and sorority pledges at an informal supper dance in the Y Wednesday from 5 to 7. In charge of arrangements were Mary Heisler, Adele Glasson and Lucille McMahon.

BARRIERS DOWN

The fall series of open houses have gotten off to a good start this week with POP's entertaining Wednesday, and Phi Mus on Thursday. Gamma Phi's and Kappa finish off the week by opening their rooms to any comers this afternoon from 4 to 6.

GREEKS PLEDGE FIVE

With rushing open to sororities whose quotas were not previously filled, everything is again in full swing. Pledged this week were Marjorie Schmallen and Luella Heine, Alpha Gamma Delta; Dallas Franke, SAE; Warren Jacobson, Theta Chi; and Don Kuehn, Kappa Psi. Theta Chi also held initiation this week for John Sanders.

FORMALS

Alpha Gamma Deltas open the sorority formal season with their term party tonight in the Y. Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sweitzer and Sgt. and Mrs. Richard D. White. Elgene Armstrong is chairman, assisted by Eileen Osking and Ruth Adams.

Saturday Kappa Sigma Chi will hold its term party, also at the Y, with Larry Fick in charge of arrangements.

INFORMALS

Gamma Phi's were hostesses to ATOs Wednesday at an informal party held in the college Y. Mary Warner was in general charge assisted by Rosalee Larson and Pat Rejmers.

SAE's entertained KDs from 4:30 to 8 in the chapter house.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Theta Chi's will entertain at a Halloween party from 9 to 12 Friday at the fraternity house. Decorations are in charge of Ray Fritz, John Berg and Robert Pusch. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lowe and Capt. and Mrs. R. E. Fradine will chaperone.

AWARDS TO AGDS

Monday at 6 Alpha Gams held their annual achievement dinner in their chapter rooms. Mrs. Clifford Glotzbach presented awards for activities, pledge scholarship and pledge activities to Eilaine Nelson, Ruth Adams, and Genevieve Olson. In charge of arrangements was Patricia Torgeson.

ALUMS ENTERTAIN

Alumnae members of Phi Mu will entertain pledges and actives at a buffet supper in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Kuhn on Sunday.

Spooks' Nite To Meander

Say, are you the dope Who likes to soap My windows every year? Are you the card Who strews my yard With empty cans of beer?

Are kids afraid Of your yearly raid Whenever they hear you coming? Would you tip if could find Little houses behind— In a place without modern plumbing?

Well, listen here, brother, You're like many another When Halloween calls for fun, So, bother the weather, Let's do it together Two morons are better than one!

Yep, it sure looks like Halloween is here again. You know how I can tell? Well, all the pledges have lent out their brooms, which could only mean that those witches are preparing on a large scale. (They must be fatter this year.)

So festive is this occasion that some of the boys may even leave threshing for a few days in order to join in the fun. Rumor has it that prospective "spook" parties are on the "must" list for the year. Rumor also has it that you "must" dress. I'd wear my ghost costume, but "roomer has it" in the front bedroom.

What's that, junior? You want to know "how to have a date and a good time on ten cents?" Why it's simple! Just hop on over to the "Traffic Room" (Chamber of Commerce) dance which is for free. Afterwards, jump into the car of that guy in your history class who's always asking you to double-date. Climax the entertainment in a great big luscious caramelized apple. (Five cents apiece with money-back guarantee against hangers.) Now what, what, could be sweeter?

Collegian's Obituary Of Forx Trek

It seems as though the people of the city are money mad. Every place you go you find slot machines, dice boards, and a million other kind of gadgets to get your money. They have so many slot machines in East Grand Forks that after visiting there for one night, one student got on a Fargo but, dropped a dime in the box and jerked the gear shift lever right out of the bus.

him where he got his barrel and he told me the Grand Forks Chamber of Commerce gave it to him because they didn't want to leave an unsatisfied sucker. Everyplace was quite crowded. One place that has a Negro band had to let the trombone player have the evening off. Everytime he hit a lot note he rearranged the customer. The drummer spent two hours of beating on his bass drum before he found he was playing on Kenny Gettman's head. It was so crowded that the people that sat at ringside had to carry musicians' union cards.

BING WITH A BANG

Another game that is quite popular up there is called Bing. It is something like Bing-o. The major difference is that in Bing-o somebody always wins. Boy, is Bing a house game! One enthusiast went to Grand Forks by Northwest Airlines and came home by Hitchike Bus Lines. Of course he had a hard time getting a ride because some car doors weren't wide enough to let him and his barrel get in. I asked

Oh, well, crowds, noises and what have you—it wasn't such a bad homecoming—if you can stand them.

Scabbard, Blade Dinner Marks Group's Founding

Observing National Scabbard and Blade day, Monday, the local unit, Company M, 3rd regiment, officially pledged 16 men at a dinner meeting.

Each year the national organization sets aside Theodore Roosevelt's birthday for the observance of the founding of Scabbard and Blade. National officers of the group take part in ceremonies at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, while local companies hold special observances.

Captain Kenneth Stamus was in charge of details, and Second Lieut. Leonard Kirk acted as toastmaster. Featured on the program was the showing of slides taken by Major Charles H. Hart, professor of military science and tactics, on a 200-mile trip by dog team to the interior of Alaska.

Switched

International Relations Club Continues Weekly Broadcast

Wishful Student Sees NDAC Radio Station

Wheee . . . ! We've got a real brainstorm. Did you know that the NDAC has every legal right to start a radio station? Of course it is highly improbable, but isn't it a pleasant thought?

Think of all the fun we could have building it; in competing against local stations; in discovering new talent; in being the source of future network discoveries; and in eventually going bankrupt. Think of how certain individuals like Wilder Wylie could croon to hundreds of unsuspecting victims who would write him pails of mail.

Think of the panorama of symphonic discourse and jivin' syncopation, coupled with lively co-ed dramatic groups, and of course we couldn't forget the round table discussions started by the history department. Undoubtedly the engineers and architects would have a gleeful time tearing up plan after plan for the actual site. . . . which would probably end up in the basement of some building.

It is very plausible that NDAC might become famous, both nationally and internationally. Anyway, it's a darn good idea, and if anybody ever reads this, something might be done about it, somehow, someday.

Discussions on current problems have been aired weekly over radio station KVOX for the past three school years by members of NDAC's International Relations club.

With the exception of one at the University of Minnesota, the local organization is the only one of its kind in the northwest. It was founded 15 years ago as Sigma Delta chapter of the International Relations clubs, an international organization sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

In former years the group has limited its discussions to international situations only, but it was reorganized this year to widen its interests and views.

Its purpose is "to give interested students an opportunity to hear and discuss problems of current interest."

The advisor is Dr. Wentworth Morris.

Directing the policies of the group are Marvin Tullman, Jane Laschkowitz, Clifford Wheeling and Ole Berg.

At present the broadcasts are Tuesdays at 8 p. m. Tuesday's program will be on "The Certainty of War with Japan." Tullman, Laschkowitz and Wheeling will participate.

Norbert Lange To Preside At Future Joint Y Meetings

President and secretary at all future joint meetings of the YMCA and YWCA cabinets will be Norbert Lange and Dona Thompson, elected at Tuesday's meeting.

Appointed to handle the weekly Friday morning worship services were Ed Lokken, Miss Thompson, Ted Brevick, Mina Askegaard and Stuart Simon. The services are open to all students and begin at 7:20 a. m.

In charge of the term's Coffee forums are Bob Hunsaker, Marian Nelson, Ole Berg and Betty Green-shields.

Clark Heggeness and Kathleen Strandvold are investigating means of financing the annual Christmas Kiddies' party.

Planning a religion and life conference patterned after the Religious Emphasis week held in 1940 are Heggeness, Miss Nelson, Gerald Bower, Miss Greenshields, Simon and Mildred Duckstad. Local ministerial and faculty leaders will be used with the addition of one outside conference leader.

SENIOR PICTURES FOR BISON DUE NOV. 15TH

Deadline for Bison senior pictures is Nov. 15, says Dick Crockett, editor.

Every studio in the two cities has been provided with specifications, so the student is free to choose his own photographer. Seniors are requested to leave their glossies at the studio where the picture was taken.

Between Nov. 3 and Nov. 15 all prospective graduates should fill out forms in the Bison office listing college activities.

EVERYBODY'S SONG BOOK A FAVORITE WITH SCHOOLS AND CLUBS

Everybody's Song Book carries all of the old songs we love to sing, complete with words and music. The music has been carefully edited by musicians of note, and the arrangements are in keys within the range of most voices. It is a favorite for school and club use. Besides the words and music to 205 songs, Everybody's Song Book tells when and in what circumstances The Star-Spangled Banner, America, Home Sweet Home, and other famous patriotic songs were written. The book is 6x9 inches in size, has 144 pages, with an attractive durable cover printed in three colors. Completely indexed. To obtain your copy enclose 20 cents to cover cost and handling.

Heard About The Herd

By GEORGE RULON

star senior guard of the championship NDAC Bison basketball team, may not see service with the conference titlists this season. Abbott was given notice this week by his draft board that barring exemption, he would be called for duty in Uncle Sam's forces sometime in the near future. Whether or not the Bison basketballer will be able to gain deferment, is not known. If not, his loss to the basketball team will be the gain of other conference schools.

Abbott may or may not be serving his third year on the varsity squad. As a sophomore the tall basketballer played at a forward post but last season was shifted to a guard position where he teamed with Larry Tanberg to give the Bison a strong inner defense. This season would be his greatest on the hardwood court and should he enter the army, Uncle Sam would certainly receive an athlete and fine fellow to know.

university really goes into the "big time" when they start making out the football schedule. The boys from Vermillion, at present in third place in conference play, go up against Iowa State at Ames tomorrow. Last year the Coyotes journeyed to California to meet the famous San Jose State team and already have signed the contracts that will pit them against Illinois next autumn.

IF THE BISON

had played the brand of ball they showed Herd followers in the Omaha and South Dakota state games things might have been different up at Grand Forks last Saturday. However, before anyone gets the idea that this is an alibi, let it be stated that the Sioux were the better team on the field that afternoon.

The blocking and tackling performances turned in by the Bison were far below the standard set in the two games played on previous October Saturdays. Time after time the Sioux backs got away from Bison tacklers who should have stopped the Nodak runner on the line of scrimmage. As far as the blocking of the Bison is concerned, it seemed at times as though there was none when the Herd attempted plays that called for plenty of interference.

It has been said that the Herd's forward wall did not charge properly. How can a line charge properly if when they play a rushing game they got "mouse trapped" and when they play a waiting game they get swept off their feet?

THAT FINAL

game of the intramural touchball game that was played Wednesday night should serve notice that fall sports will soon go into retirement only to be replaced by basketball, hockey, skating, skiing, and — oh! yes, those famous toboggan parties that take place along the snowy slopes of Riverside drive.

Seriously though, all Bison fans can look forward to a winter season that will find our basketball team right near the top of the heap in their fight to retain the NCI title they have held for the past two years.

ND Flankman Has 48 Points

Al Simpson, North Dakota end, scored one touchdown against the NDAC Bison last Saturday to retain his scoring leadership in the North Central conference. The Sioux flankman has scored eight touchdowns to hold the leadership with 48 points.

FORNEY TAKES SECOND

It is almost certain that Simpson will not win the conference scoring title however since the Sioux have completed their NCI schedule and Simpson's nearest rival has two league games left to play. Don Forney, all-conference fullback from the University of South Dakota, rang up 22 points against South Dakota State Saturday to move into second place with a total of 41 counters.

Thus with two league games remaining on the Coyote schedule, Forney should have little trouble in overtaking his rival if he continues at his present pace.

INDVIK IN ACTION

Two Bobs—Indvik of ISTC and Matthews of Omaha—are tied for the third spot with 24 points. Indvik has a chance to break the tie when his team meets NDAC tomorrow afternoon at Cedar Falls, Iowa. Teh Panther star scored his four touchdowns in the three loop games played by the Peds and for the past two weeks has not added to his total since the Panthers have been busy with non-conference games.

Fourth and fifth places in the scoring race are held by Chuck Durr of Morningside and Daly King of NDAC respectively. Durr has scored three touchdowns for 18 tallies while the Bison halfback has scored twice from the field and once on an extra point conversion for a total of 13 points.

Bison In Position To Make Changes In League Race

After last week's games, the NDAC's Bison football team finds itself right in the middle of the conference race with a chance to do a great deal toward the deciding of final loop champions.

North Dakota's 20-6 triumph over the Herd broke the second place tie between the two teams and sent the Bison down to fourth position, but the schedule that still faces the Herd puts them in a position to make or break the title hopes of teams currently ahead of the Bison.

Should the Bison come home with a win after tomorrow's contest, the Teachers would have to take the Omaha clash to assure the return of at least part of the football crown to the Iowa school's campus.

Drafted?

JOHNNY ABBOTT, veteran Bison basketball performer, may not play this season should his appeal for deferment from the draft be rejected.

Fulks Was Injured; Asked For More

A nose injury that brought a considerable flow of blood was not serious enough to keep Bruce Fulks, senior Bison guard from returning to the fray last Saturday in the Sioux game.

Fulks suffered an injury in the first half that proved to be a separated cartilage and after proper medical treatment, returned to the game as a starting guard in the second half lineup.

Sioux Defeat Bison, 20-6

Scoring a touchdown in the last two minutes of the first half, the University of North Dakota's Sioux went on to score a 20-6 win over the NDAC Bison in the UND homecoming game at Grand Forks, Saturday.

Walt Dobler shot a pass to Gordon Caldis as the final seconds of the second quarter were ticking away and the Sioux halfback raced 40 yards for the score that gave the Upstate Normal team a 6-0 lead at half-time.

KING SCORES

Daly King, who sparked the Bison passing attack when it finally got going, scored for the Herd in the fourth period after the Bison had worked the ball down the field all the way from their own 31-yard marker. The Bison sophomore halfback tallied from the two yard line on a third down play over right tackle.

Caldis and Al Simpson, leading scorer in the North Central conference, each crossed the goal line once in the final quarter to give the Sioux their margin of victory.

MILES TO CALDIS

After the University had driven down to the Bison goal line at the end of the third quarter, Jimmy Miles passed to Caldis on the first play of the final stanza to make the score 12-0 and Mert Howe, Sioux right end, added the extra point from placement.

A few moments later, King recovered a UND fumble on the Bison 33 but on a second down pass, Simpson intercepted and sped to the final touchdown. Howe again converted the extra point.

Freshmen End Season With Wildcat Game

Wahpeton Expected To Give Solbergmen Tough Final Tussle

Tomorrow afternoon, Coach Charlie Solberg will send his NDAC freshman football team against the Wahpeton Science school eleven in quest of the third straight win for the Baby Bison.

To date, the future Herd performers have racked up two triumphs over the University of North Dakota Yearlings and will attempt to keep their slate clean in the final game of the season.

OPONENTS STRONGER

Expected to furnish more competition than the Baby Papooses, the Wildcats have won two games in their own league—the North Dakota intercollegiate conference—and have lost the same number against loop foes.

Coach Earl Bute must work under slightly different conditions at the science school since his players have only two years of competition at the two-year school. However, the Wildcats are always tough and will make the Frosh work for any victory they may achieve.

SAME LINEUP

In all probability, the same lineup that faced the Sioux in the opening will be in there at the start of tomorrow's clash. This being the case, Finn Becker and Tom Wellemis will be at ends; Clayton Lodoen and Jerry Cournea, tackles; Stan Koich and Bill Sturlaugson, guards; and George Slakonich, center.

Ed Rolle will start at quarterback with Bob Heer and Fred Trowbridge at the halves and Sid Cichy at fullback. There is also a possibility that Bob Kaercher and Lee Christianson might get in at the outset. Kaercher at left half and Christianson at full.

DEDRICK AT OREGON

Dr. Dallas S. Dedrick, instructor in chemistry at NDAC from 1931 to 1939, is now assistant professor in charge of physical chemistry at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore. After leaving NDAC, Dr. Dedrick was a research specialist in dairy chemistry at Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, until accepting the Oregon university position this fall.

Touchball Hopefuls Of Sigma Chi

Final I-M Game Set For Monday

Postponed from Wednesday afternoon, the final touchball game between the Sigma Chi and the Alpha Gamma Rhos is now scheduled for Monday afternoon.

SNOW CAUSES DELAY

Snow and cold weather forced the first postponement and should Monday's weather prove unfavorable the clash between the two teams for the intramural crown will be played Wednesday.

Coach Pete Hilleboe and his Sig team continue to lay great confidence in their passing attack while the opposing Gamma Rhos feel that the strong running attack and tight defense that took them through four games will also be good enough to finish off the Sigs.

Russ Burfening and Lloyd Fercho do the passing and the two Johnsons—Bud and Swede—are on the receiving end of the Sigma Chi aerial attack.

AGRs MAY PASS

In the AGR camp, preparations for the final tussle have been made since the divisional champs finished their schedule without having their goal line crossed. There is a possibility that the Gamma Rhos may spring a passing attack to go with the fine running game built around Jim Noonan.

Bob Bale and Don Bates are the two other starting backs for the Gamma Rhos and will have a great deal to do with the final outcome of the game. Bale is the finest blocker on the AGR squad while Bates helps clear the way for Noonan and also does a good job of punting.

IRC MEETING SET

There will be a meeting of the International Relations club this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Room 319 Science.

Any students interested in joining are asked to come.

Herd To Seek Victory Over Strong Peds

A determined squad of Bison footballers left yesterday afternoon for Cedar Falls, Iowa, where tomorrow afternoon they will seek to halt the domination of the ISTC Panthers over North Central conference football.

Coach Stan Kostka's team will furnish the opposition for the annual Dad's Day game at the Iowa school, a contest that will find the Tutors attempting to take their fourth straight league win this season.

BEAT SIOUX, 32-10

Already the defending champions have taken South Dakota State, North Dakota and Morning-side to camp with a total offensive record of 66 points while they held the opposition to ten counters—all scored by the Sioux in a 32-10 battle.

Charlie Pastorino and Bob Indvik are the "big shots" in the Panther backfield. Indvik is right near the top of the NCI scoring race with 24 points and the shifty Pastorino is remembered by Bison fans as the small but strong halfback that led his mates to a 13-7 win over the Herd last season.

FULKS TO PLAY

Bruce Fulks was the only Bison player to come out of the Sioux encounter with any injury of consequence. His nose injury will be protected by a special headgear. He is expected to see action tomorrow. Otherwise, the Herd will be physically fit for the engagement.

No definite changes in the starting lineup were indicated this week in practices which found the Bison being drilled in the fundamentals they were weak in against UND—blocking and tackling. Tuesday night the freshmen were armed with Panther formations and sent against the varsity to acquaint the Herd with the Iowa Teacher's attack.

FACULTY TICKETS

Faculty basketball season tickets are on sale in the Alumni office. The price for the nine home games is $2.20 including tax.

'Toby Tyler' Is Feature Of LCT Village Circus Program

A village circus will be the setting of a program Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. for 4H club members at the Little Country Theater. Members of the community programs class under the direction of A. G. Arvold, will be in charge. A dance is slated for 9 p. m. at Festival hall on Friday under the general direction of Layden Finney.

Feature of the evening will be the production of Toby Tyler, or Ten Weeks with the Circus, a three-act comedy drama adapted by Richard Young from a story by James Otis. An animal show and a marionette show will be presented continuously throughout the evening to give the 500 guests an opportunity to see all the entertainments.

On committees under the general direction of Ernest Hector, assisted by Betty Lou Pannebaker, are: marionettes—Evelyn Sauer, Jane Broling, Henry Richardson, Doris Bjorklund and June Arntz; clowns—Fred Cook, Neil Skaar, Clark Richards and George Murray; ticket takers—Charles Friese and James Eastgate, and barker—David Shaw.

4H Members To Show Livestock At NDAC Sunday

Prize livestock from every county in the state is arriving here today for competition in the 16th annual 4H show and sale, which continues through Monday.

Members of 4H clubs will put the finishing touches on their beeves, swine and sheep tonight to prepare for the contest tomorrow morning. Sunday is exhibition day. Beginning at 9:30 a. m. Monday, the stock shown will go on public auction.

Livestock judging teams from Ward, Morton, Traill and Stutsman counties will represent their respective regions in the judging contest today. The winning team will represent North Dakota at the national 4H judging contest held in connection with the International Livestock show.

Next week, the state 4H institute will attract nearly 500 members to the AC campus.
