OLD GRADS RETURN TO SCHOOL FOR 20th HOMECOMING

Bison Engage Sioux Gridmen Saturday At 2

Herd Needs Triumph To Crown Homecoming Festivities Tomorrow

Upon the shoulders of Coach C. C. (Casey) Finnegan and his Bison football team rests the burden of making NDAC's Homecoming a roaring success tomorrow afternoon, when the Thundering Herd meets Coach Jack West's NDU Sioux, on Dacotah Field at 2 p.m.

Hoping for sweet revenge for last year's defeat at the hands of the Nodaks, the Bison will come on the playing field with local odds-makers betting that they will be defeated by six points.

North Dakota U's team is a strong conference contender; that is, if the game tomorrow is won. NDAC has been defeated in the last four games of the season, but only by small margins.

Finnegan Lists Starters

Finnegan will start Cecil Sturgeon at fullback, Ray Kimbillin at left half, Earl Marquardt at right half and Don Johnston at quarter in the Bison backfield.

In the NDAC line will be John Snowberg and Arny Seim at ends, Charles Scott and Bruce Fulks, tackles; Harry Treglawney and Gorman King at guards, and Pat Twomey playing center.

It will be the last chance for Bison

Tickets for the game may be procured at the Grand Recreation Parlor or at the gate. Sections P, Q, R, and S in the south stands are not reserved and are for the student section. Both faculty and student season tickets are good. Relatives of students who have purchased general admission tickets may sit in the student section, as may those who have complimentary tickets. General admission ducats are $1.10.

football fans to see several of the AC gridders in action as this is the last home grid contest of the year.

Play Last Time

Making their farewell performance on Dacotah Field tomorrow afternoon will be Sturgeon, all-conference fullback last year; Marquardt, who played end for the Bison last year; Don Johnston, known throughout the conference for his defensive ability and signal calling; Seim, starring at end, and King, diminutive first string guard.

Injuries have hit the Bison hard at the last minute. Ralph Johnson, starting halfback in the last games, was injured Wednesday night in practice. Bill Peschel, who was injured earlier in the season, is not yet able to be out for practice. Sid Sanderson is still suffering from an injured knee acquired in the Montana State contest. He may see some action tomorrow.

Edsel Boe, while practicing regularly with the team, has a shoulder injury which may not permit him to play in the Homecoming game.

Dobler, Caldis at Half

Jack West, coach of the Sioux, will most likely start Walt Dobler and Gordon Caldis at halfbacks with Bernie White at full and Scottie Campbell calling the signals.

Captain Norman Leaf and Bill Dragge will start in the line at end. At tackles are Ed Rossmiller and Gordon Setterlund with Bill Brown and Tom Nelson at tackles. D. Johnson will be at center for the Sioux.

In contrast to the battered NDAC squad, the Nodaks are in the best condition of the year, having a multiple of backfield stars, some of whom have recently recovered from injuries. Red Huntley, sophomore star, has been out for recent practices, getting in shape for the NDU-AC fray just in time.

The Bison have a comparatively small squad which has been hit hard by injuries. A good starting eleven will take the field against the Sioux but when they get tired the resulting reserves form a large question mark.

ATTENTION, SENIORS!
Appointments for senior pictures must be made with Voss Studio by today, announces Norbert Lange, associate editor of the Bison in charge of senior cuts. Final deadlines for finished proofs is Nov. 5.
It is imperative that appointments be confined to the one photographer, as background, lighting and size must be uniform. All senior pictures will be subjected to a special retouching process which will give the yearbook added beauty.
Seniors who have not been personally contacted may consider this official notice.

Board Members Inspecting Campus, Reviewing Budget

Present on the campus today and tomorrow are members of the budget board of the North Dakota State Legislature and members of the state board of higher education.

Senator Milton Young of Berlin, LaMoure County, Representative Paul A. Sand of Balta, Pierce County, are on the tour of inspection of all state institutions made annually by the budget board. They come to the NDAC campus from the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks.

After inspecting the college and reviewing the budget, Young and Sand will meet with the board of higher education, consisting of H. I. Henry, Mrs. Matt Crowley, F. J. Traynor, Merle Kidder, L. O. Fredrickson, Roy Johnson, P. J. Murphy and R. M. Murphy, secretary.

Members of both boards together with Gov. John Moses will be guests of the college at all Homecoming festivities.

Scouters Take Over Bison Medallion Sale

Formerly conducted by Blue Key, the annual Homecoming medallion sale will be sponsored this year by Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting fraternity on the campus.

Replicas of the nickel trophy held by the winner of the annual AC-University football game, the medallions will be on sale at a booth in Old Main.

They may also be procured at the pep rally this noon or at the skit contest this evening. Gordon Johnson is in charge.

12 Faculty Members At NDEA Meeting

NDAC is well represented at the North Dakota Education Association meeting this week at Grand Forks. Twelve faculty members are present, several of them taking active part in the meeting.

Minnie A. Anderson is chairman for the home economics session and Eva Larson, of the Extension Department, is councilor. Dr. Leon Metzger is in charge of the session on modern languages; Ruby Grimes, of the mathematics sessions. Dr. Elmer C. Darling will also speak.

Others who are attending the meetings are Deans C. A. Sevrinson, Pearl S. Dinan, and A. E. Minard, Ella Johnson, Elvira Smith, Darlene Knowles and Emma Dubetz.

NOTICE!

There will be a meeting of the Girl's Pep Club in Festival Hall at 4 p.m. on Tuesday. Officers will be elected at this meeting. All sororities are asked to select a delegate to act as a contact member for the group. Delegates will please contact Mrs. R. A. Goodwin. Phone 7218.

Nygard Will Direct Campus Decorations

Campus decorations for this year's Homecoming will feature the lighting of every building on the campus tonight and tomorrow night. Fraternity and sorority house decorations are to be up by 7 this evening and will be judged at that time. The campus gates have been decorated with a marquee and the official college seal.

In charge of decorations is Cliff Nygard, assisted by John Coles and members of Alpha Phi Omega.

Bell At 11:30 Ends Classes, Announces Start Of Fete; Pep Rally Opens Activities

By JIM FORD

Homecoming festivities officially begin at 11:30 today when bells will ring to release classes for the rest of the week. Members of the student commission have announced that after weeks of planning all is in readiness for the returning graduates.

After a surprise pep rally as soon as classes are released, the afternoon is open time. During this period it is expected that all work on floats and house decorations will be completed so that members of all organizations will be free to attend the freshman game and the skit contest in the evening.

The first regularly scheduled event on the 20th annual Homecoming program is the judging of house decorations at 7 p.m. today. At that time a tour will be made by the judges of all organizations having decorations. Judgment will be in four classes—student welfare groups, fraternities, sororities and downtown store windows.

Frosh Game At 8

An hour later at 8 o'clock the Baby Bison will face off against the Papoose who claim to be offsprings of the mighty Sioux from North Dakota U. Young Siouxmen will be fighting to avenge a 19 to 6 defeat handed them earlier in the season by Coach Johnny Smith's Buffalo Calves.

Organized groups on the campus will attempt to prove that their memberships are more talented than those of their various rivals in a skit contest immediately after the game. Skits, which are limited to less than five minutes, will be interspersed with school yells and songs. This innovation on the schedule has been designed to replace the traditional bonfire.

Friday's activities will be climaxed with a gigantic snake dance through the downtown sector. Speaking of the snake dance, John Fisher, student Homecoming chairman, said, "We want Fargo to know that we are ready to welcome our old grads, to see that AC students are wide awake, ambitious young people."

Arrange Open House

The Alumni and Former Students association have arranged a continuous open house in the Star and Lobby rooms of the Graver hotel. Hours for registration of alumni are from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 4 to 8 p.m. in the Graver.

More than 600 cadets will form into two battalions at 9:30 and fall into the parade line along with more than 25 floats, various bands, clowns and other features at 9:45. Dr. Clark Heggeness of the Dodge farm system, student parade chairman, has announced. The forward march command will be sounded at 10:15 and the column will proceed down Thirteenth street to Eleventh avenue and down Eleventh avenue to Broadway. On Broadway it will continue south to First avenue where it will turn west to Roberts street and again south to Front from where it will return to Broadway and eventually back to the campus. New features of the parade will be an acrobatic team both men and women, on a truck and a clown contest. Both of these events are under the direction of Tex DeCamp.

Blue Key will sponsor its traditional Bison Barbecue at 12:15 with Larry Tanberg as chairman. Students will be served "genuine" Bison meat from the local stockyard for a slight fee while they dance to the music of Kenny Sutton.

Siouxcide Duel

At two o'clock Casey Finnegan's underdog Siouxcide squad will meet their time-word rivals from the university in their annual football duel on Dacotah field.

Various campus organizations will have open houses following the game for their alumni and guests.

At 6:30 p.m. Homecoming Queen Kathleen Benson will reign over the traditional Queen's banquet. Queen Kathleen's special guest will be University Homecoming Queen Eileen Kjorvestad. Reservations for the dinner are on sale at Dean Pearl Dinan's office.

A dance at 9 in the field house will wind up the festivities. Babe Scott's band will furnish the cypcocation. Faculty members will be special guests of the student commission at the dance.

SURE, AND IT'S THE SAME GAY CROWD

which sets the campus style that you'll be finding at the Powers Coffee Shop all this weekend. The lads and lassies [including the football squad] from UND will be there, and the smart groups from NDAC, Concordia and MSTC. They'll be there enjoying sparkling food, quick service and music till 1 a.m. by NDAC's Lloyd Collins.

● shades of riley

Once each year when the frost is on the pumpkin and the crepe is on the float we get our chance to show the alums what the younger generation has along the line of school spirit. We can hear the old boys now saying "I remember back when we used to steal Mrs. Murphy's back fence and the roof off the Jones' garage to build a bonfire and now you've broken the tradition and substituted a snake dance".

Nevertheless when the parade comes rolling along down Broadway there will be an amazing display of cooperation shown by the thirty odd floats watered by all the sororities, fraternities, dorms and the various departments. It will be amusing, or even somewhat amazing to see what can be done with those three exasperating words from our own seal, "Practice with Science".

If the student body can show half the school spirit that our own "Doc" Putnam shows, there should be lots of noise at both the frosh game tonight and the varsity game tomorrow afternoon. We can foresee a greater homecoming than NDAC has ever seen before. —H. H.

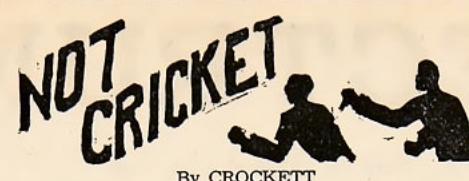

● war vs. diplomacy

Proximity of the forthcoming conscription brings renewed interest in the possibility of future American participation in the world conflict. However, the strength of a country's army will in all probabilities have less to do with the reasons for participation in a war than will the diplomacy of that same nation.

Latest developments of the international situation show German advances meeting Russian boundaries in direct contact. Will this mean that the German Reich may continue its advances into Soviet territory or will the German chancellor subtly admit another power to the axis? Whichever way the move is made it only means a vital decision for the United States.

Proponents of Russo-American cooperation are placing this country in a precarious situation; the combination with such a country, or for that matter with any of the greater powers, would necessarily mean conflict with the ambitions of der Fuehrer. Only diplomacy can keep us from entering this second great war.

Only a nation wholly neutral in its actions can remain a neutral in a game where the slightest turn may be interpreted as a major move. Regardless of which party or parties advocate added aid to Britain, joint action with Russia or cooperation with China, the American people must choose a way appearing completely impartial in the eyes of all, for it seems that the totalitarian states gladly grasp an excuse for new Welcome alumni! With pleasure we greet you at this, our 20th annual homecoming. For weeks we have planned for this day and anticipated your arrival. Did I say anticipated? It's worse than that. If my Dad doesn't get back for this one I'm sunk. Money's only a medium of exchange but you can't fight your way through this one on philosophy.

Down the muddy, stinking Red come more rumors of a major invasion by the almost forgotten Redmen of the North. This time they promise that there will be no slip-up. Two years ago it appears that the squaws planned quite a feast for the returning braves, only to have the boys come back with no appetite and all ready to go into hibernation. In response to the bystander, that genial fellow who does his weekly stint for the smoke signal they put out up there every week, I only wish to quote from a Spectrum of the year 1906. The following item is a sport story written of a major Bison-Sioux conflict of that year: "The U 'piled', of course, just as they have always done and just what they will always do. We always thought there was a yellow streak there and now we know it." This rather bitter barrage came as a result of the Bison making the long trek north only to find that the squaws wouldn't even let their bucks leave the bearskins because there was snow on the ground.

Speaking of pep rallies back in 1920, I guess they had a dandy. They had a whale of a bonfire and the class presidents called the roll for each class and every boy who was absent was promptly located and thrown in the duck pond. A punishment less severe but just as effective, nevertheless, was meted out to those of the fair sex who failed to show up. Did you know that Dr. Luke Bolley was the first manager-coach of the football team and that the first league in these parts consisted of Moorhead Normal, YMCA, Fargo College, and the AC?

Human interest story of the week centers around that absolute necessity, the sorority tea. Most common species just now is the presentation tea in which the gaping male goes from one formal to the next like a bee at the beginning of the rush season. He comes, he sees, he will try to conquer. While all this goes on, have you noticed who gets all of the attention? Take it easy, girls, this is your golden opportunity. These fraternity delegates represent a lot of good material to go to work on; Miss Leiby, Dean Bales, and Dean Dinan can wait. Or can they?

Failures of the week are Snuffy Smith and Beanie Marquardt. Snuffy can't get conscripted and Beanie can't get a date. Showing great promise of becoming a good football player early in the season he found that it sort of interfered with things social so Beanie picks himself up an injury in order to be able to devote a little of his time to the things social. It seems that he had a cute kid whose dad raises sheep, coming in from Montana to watch him play football tomorrow, but the whole flock had to be treated for worms and now she can't make it. Come on girls. S.O.S. (Save on Sheep.)

fields of aggression.

With all the combined force of future well-trained National Guards and draftees, the loss met at the termination of a war will be undoubtedly far above that to be encountered without a war. Let diplomacy play the supreme role in an endless effort towards keeping Americans in America. —D. H.

What's the use of writing a lot of stuff at the beginning? Without further ado, leave us have a look at the mail box. Hmmm, what's this?

Dear Dairy:

Who won the Kappa lottery?

Hopeful.

Dear Stooge:

We don't call it a lottery, it was a pencil sale, and I can't answer that question. After all, it sounds bad to say that this game of chance was won by chance by a Kappa.

Dear Dairy:

Why not?

Dear Blondie:

For the luva Pete, stop writing to me in care of this column. Some people actually read this thing.

All right, so the Theta Chi's are selling their pledges' bosoms as advertising space. You've got to make money some way.

Lincoln Club Selects Topics For Group Discussion Series

Three afternoons next week will be given over to group discussions in the Little Country Theater rooms on questions of national, state, and local significance. Selection of the topics was made by members of the Lincoln Club, according to Helmuth O. Froeschle, president.

Using the round-table as the medium for attacking the problems, one member of the group has been assigned to the discussion of each phase of the different problems. Each of the afternoon sessions, which fall on October 29-30-31, will be followed by a coffee hour.

Elmer Squirts Dirt To Myrt

Dear Myrt:

I got your letter this morning and was shore glad to get it I can tell you. I guess this busness of going to college is O.K. but it sure as heck gets lonesome sometimes. So George and Gladys got married eh? Well I could see that one coming. He is another of those guys who is afraid that he will get a job cleaning rifles some place in the hot sun unless he does something drastic. There are just lots of girls down here it seems to me but it is sure hard to get any dates with them. I can't figure it out. They don't seem anxious at all when you call them up. I promised my roomie that I would get a date for the football game a while back so I looked in the directryo and called up one of these serious hall women. About the fifth try I got hold of one that said she would go with me if she liked my looks when I got there. When I went over there was nobody around that could tell me where this girls room was so I sat in one of them soft chairs they have planted around the place. Pretty soon a swell looking girl comes down the stairs and gives me a big smile and asks me if I have been waiting for long. I pat myself on the back for being such a good picker and we start out for the football game. All goes well until the half and she asks me where the party is going to be at. Thinking that she is joking I suggest the Bison Tavern. Somehow, she doesn't think it is such a funny joke because her friend promised her that we would be going to one of these fraternity parties. About that time I decides that there has been a mistake someplace and she thinks I am somebody I ain't. I guess she thinks so too because she gets madder and madder and pretty soon we go back to this serious hall place only I don't go in. At the door we meet a smooth looking guy with a dumb blond. The blond looks like a lovesick goon but the guy is plenty sore about something. He doesn't go in either so we walk home together. Poor guy, it seems he got in a mix up too. He just pledged one of these fraternities and one of his brothers fixes up this dumb blond for a party for him. We are both through with women.

Well Myrt I had better close.

Love,

Elmer.

The Week In Review

The Remark of the Week: Mel Evanson answering the telephone at the Theta Chi house: "Buckingham Palace. Prince Evanson speaking."

The Anecdote of the Week: It is rumored that Beverly Gorman, a POP pledge, is trying to come between Tex DeCamp and Toddy. We don't know which is the funnier, Beverly's ambitions or Tex and Toddy.

Snub of the Week: Courtesy of the Kappa's as usual.

Sight of the Week: The smile on Ritchie Callahan's face at the end of H week, and the dazed look on his face when he was told that he would have to try to get along with the fellows now.

Day of the Week: Saturday and Homecoming.

Place of the Week: The Hasty Tasty. If it were set back five feet further, people would think it was a garage. Jack Novaria does, anyway. At least that's one way of getting by the place without buying Nola a coke.

Rumor of the Week: That the tuition at the AC was gonna be raised. I hope they aren't going to try to tell us that the cow in the dairy dept. died.

Lie of the Week: Boldt says he had a chance for a date with a freshman last week. Even a freshman isn't that dumb.

Most Beautiful Girl of the Week: I didn't know there was any. I've only been here four years.

AC Gridders Meet U in Homecoming Battle

Bison Ready To Meet Sioux In Annual Classic In Stadium Tomorrow

Feature Game For Both Teams Rated Tossup As Rival Coaches, Players Aim At Each Other Throughout Season

Tomorrows afternoon North Dakota's biggest football classic will be staged on Dacotah Field when the NDAC Bison and the NDU Sioux meet in their annual grid battle to climax the Herd's Homecoming festivities.

Unpredictable, the only prophecy about the game that can be made is that it will be a pitched battle with the team that gets the breaks the winner. Both squads are tough and will be all the tougher tomorrow in the contest that each wants to win most over all others on their schedules.

Coach C. C. Finnegan's Thundering Herd, although losing the last four games, has shown through the season that it can be a potential threat to any team and especially to the Sioux. All of the last four tilts have been lost by a slight margin which is still a good record considering the caliber of the teams played and the quality of the Bison at the beginning of the season.

ISTC Beat Sioux

On the other hand the North Dakota Sioux, at the beginning of the season, were ascribed to be the team to beat for the NCI crown. Although the Nodaks were trimmed by Iowa State Teachers 15-0, it does not speak badly for the U, even if the Peds only trimmed the Herd by one touchdown.

Walt Dobler will be the boy for the Bison to stop in tomorrow's contest. The fleet-footed Sioux back has done most of the kicking and passing, which, by the way is done on the run, for the U. A tough line which is as rugged and as heavy as that of the Bison, will be tough for Cec Sturgeon, Butch Kimballin, Ralph Johnson and Beanie Marquardt, NDAC backs, to crack.

Reserves Needed

The Bison's main trouble will be the lack of reserves for the line and backfield. The outlook is somewhat brightened by the reappearance at practice of Bill Peschel, Pomeroy Hill and Sid Sanderson. The Omaha game may cause Finnegan to start another sophomore, Frank Perkins, at end in place of Arnold Seim, who suffered a rib injury. The return of Sanderson is fortunate as his replacement in the lineup, Bruce Fulks, was also hurt in the Nebraska scrap.

It was obvious that the Herd's linemen can't keep up the pressure that it takes to score on a team such as the Sioux and still have enough drive to stop scoring thrusts. The Bison offense will have to improve considerably in order to run through the Nodak's tough outfit.

Ralph Johnson, Don Johnston, Sturgeon and Kimballin will most likely start in the AC backfield, with either Seim or Perkins at end with Snowberg, Pat Twomey at center, Sid Sanderson or Bruce Fulks and Charles Scott at tackle, and Gorm King and Harry Treglawney at guards.

Sophs Start

With five sophomores and a full-back converted to guard in the lineup, the Bison may look a bit easy for the Sioux, but the ability of these men has already been shown as they have played almost 60 minutes of every game.

In the Sioux's last two contests which were played in Grand Forks, the University team has shown improvement enough to make up for the letdown during which they were taken into camp by the Iowa Teachers. They downed a highly-rated St. Mary's of Texas eleven on the Sioux Homecoming day and last Friday beat out 6-0 a strong South Dakota State team.

While so far the Bison record may not make them look too strong, the Herd has shown potentialities that were unknown and have come a long way. The defeats have not weakened the morale of the NDAC eleven but have only made the team fighting mad and tougher.

This year the Bison have been a tough luck team. Everything has gone wrong. Injuries at the crucial moment have made the horizon black, just as penalties in the earlier games on the schedule came when the Herd needed the yardage most.

Boe Better

Edsel Boe, speedy halfback who was injured earlier in the season, is out for practice and saw some action in the Omaha game although still unable to use his arm entirely. A sophomore, Boe proved to be a find and what the Bison needed, until he was hurt. Beanie Marquardt, converted from end to backfield, turned out to be the same thing. Until recently he had been on the bench with a bad leg. Pom Hill, played at half last year for the AC but he too was hurt, suffering an ankle injury early in the season and reinjuring himself in the Montana State game.

An added back has entered the Bison backfield in the person of Cliff Nygard. He has speed and lacks only experience.

Giving their all tomorrow, both teams will literally shoot the works uncorking every trick in the bag. The Bison and the Sioux have nothing to lose further during the season as a loss will virtually put either out of the conference grid race.

Pre-Season Lineup of 1940 Bison Eleven

Frosh Try For Second Win Over ND University Eleven

Coach Johnny Smith Presents Future Yellow And Green Stars To NDAC Audience In Final Clash Between Baby Bison-Sioux Yearlings

Tonight will bring two tough Frosh grid squads together on Dacotah Field when Coach Johnny Smith's Baby Bison will clash with the Sioux Papoose in the final game of the yearly AC-U freshman football tilts.

Endeavoring to repeat last week's win, the NDAC Yearlings sporting such backfield stars as Daly King, Cliff Daby, Jim Gorman, Bill Stephenson and Merle Rohrer, are going to be tough for the Baby Sioux on the Bison Homecoming.

Sioux Frosh Tough

Although the game last Saturday showed great things for the AC Frosh, the Papoose are not to be considered an easy target. Boasting a heavy, rugged line and fast backs, the Grand Forks outfit is no mean threat to Baby Bison supremacy.

With such runners in the backfield as King and Gorman, the Yearlings have little to worry about in that department. King does the passing with Paul Moore of Jamestown on the receiving end. His pass snatching was one of the features of the game last weekend. Cliff Daby, although lacking experience, has turned out to be a good plowing fullback although suffering injuries in scrimmages with the Varsity. Bill Stephenson also has proved to be a good open field runner and pass defense man.

At quarter is Merle Rohrer. Backing up the line, he did yeoman work in the first AC-University clash. Also in the backfield on defense is Cliff Rothrock, who plays center. He is one of the best defensive men on the team.

Johnson Line Coach

Frank Johnson has done a fine job of coaching the guards and tackles. Although not gigantic in size the linemen did all right in opening up holes for the backs in the Grand Forks fray last Saturday afternoon.

The Baby Bison are out to revenge the beatings the 1939 eleven suffered at the hands of the Baby Nodaks. Although the AC Frosh had a marvelous passing attack, they were outweighed and outclassed by a Sioux outfit that was the best in years. Like the '40 Bison freshmen, the Forkers possessed a speedy and deceptive backfield, plus an abundance of beef and brawn to go along with the brains. Their line was much heavier than the Sioux line of this year, having two 250-pound tackles.

While the Bison squad is much larger than the University's Yearling outfit, the Papoose are sure to be a handpicked team. In the backfield are a few of the members of Grand Forks High School's tough team of last fall.

The NDAC Frosh entered the fray Saturday with absolutely no experience under their belts, while the University freshmen played a game with Mayville Teachers, leaders in the North Dakota College grid conference.

Bison-NDU Began Series In 1894

Forty-six years ago an NDAC football team lined up against an NDU Sioux eleven for the first time. The Bison came out the victors in that struggle but this doesn't mean a helluva lot in considering the outcome of the game tomorrow. Even though the Sioux have won 27 of the 45 annual classics anything can happen.

Last year the Bison were reputed to have a team as strong if not stronger than the Nodaks but the outcome was in the Sioux's favor. The fall before, the procedure was reversed with the Herd coming from away under the heap to leap to a brilliant victory, scoring 17 points to the U's 13 in a thrilling game.

Flannigan Star

It was in 1902 that the Bison first came into their own against the University, for they defeated the Indians 47-0. The same season the Herd ran up an 85-0 score over a South Dakota State eleven.

To come back to the near past, the dusky track stars, Pollard and Johnson were instrumental in defeating the Bison in '36. Along with Mike Brenkus they again shellacked the Herd in 1937.

But along in 1934 and 1935 the NDAC had better luck with a win in the former and a 20-20 tie, the sixth of the series, in '35. Another tie, 7-7, came in '33 as an upset to the Sioux gridders.

Outcome of the 1940 contest looms as another big question mark on the horizon and history, pre-game dope, and team records won't tell the final outcome of the game.

In the last two years it has been a case of "as the Yearlings go, so goes the Varsity," with both either winning or losing. Perhaps this year, but who can tell???

Freshmen Deceptive As NDU Frosh Drop Series Opener 19-6

Showing a complete mastery of the art of deception, the Baby Bison stamped the Sioux Yearlings into a 19-6 defeat. Coach John Smith's freshman eleven started their careers as NDAC letter winners in fine shape as they beat the Papoose in the first of the annual two-game series last Saturday in Grand Forks.

Starting before the Sioux Frosh had hardly time to get settled, the AC Yearlings piled up an important 12-0 lead in the first half. The Baby Bison's first touchdown was set up by Daly King on a wide sweeping end run which was made possible by some fine blocking by Cliff Daby, Frosh fullback.

Gorman Scores

Diminutive Jim Gorman hit pay dirt on the next play on a reverse getting the ball from Daby. King failed to convert from placement making the score 6-0.

The University Frosh scored their one and only touchdown as a result of an aerial attack after both teams had battled in midfield for possession of the ball. Zerr, standing on his own 40-yard line passed to Aretz, who scampered from the Bison 30 over for the NDU score.

Paul Moore, lanky NDAC freshman end, opened the second half attack for the Baby Bison by leaping high into the air for a pass from King on the fifty yard line. Bogging down soon after this last Herd scoring thrust, both teams didn't move into the scoring column until the Papoose began throwing long passes as a last resort.

U Pass Intercepted

Bill Stephenson, who sparked the Baby Bison lineup the minute he entered the ball game, snagged a long University pass and swiveled his way to a third AC touchdown. To make the defeat more stinging, King, in his attempt to convert, bounded the ball off an opponent's head and up over the crossbars bringing the final score to 19-6.

The Baby Bison backfield showed great potentialities with a wealth of material. The line did excellent work opening holes for the AC backfield men. All-around defensive work was good, as the Bison Yearlings stopped the Sioux attack cold.

The King to Moore pass combination looked good with King, Gorman, Rothrock, Stephenson and Daby doing fine work carrying the ball.

Conference Games Saturday

NDU vs. NDAC at Fargo.
Omaha vs. Morningside at Sioux City.

SDU vs. S. D. State at Brookings.

Although local football interest will be focused on the clash between NDAC's Bison and the Sioux of NDU in tomorrow's Homecoming encounter, the outcome of the game will have little bearing on the North Central Conference championship.

Almost the impossible would have to happen in order to have tomorrow's winner go on to share this year's football title. However, there is the remotest possibility that such a thing would happen. If the Bison win and then take contests from South Dakota State and Morningside they have a chance to finish on the top of the heap. On the other hand, should the Sioux prove the victors on the morrow, and defeat the current co-leader, South Dakota University, on Nov. 9, they would also have an opportunity to share the crown.

Iowa Favored

In the meantime Iowa State Teachers, co-leader with SDU, would have to lose two of the Panther's three remaining games to give either of the North Dakota teams a chance. As things look now it seems as though the Panther's should go on undefeated in loop play and eventually share the championship with the Coyotes. The ISTC team should find little trouble in winning from Morningside, South Dakota State, and Omaha.

South Dakota University seems a certainty to take the last three conference games on its schedule. The Coyotes showed great power in overwhelming Morningside last week 26-6. Tomorrow the SDU team will be favored to take its second league win in as many games when the Coyotes clash with the Jackrabbits of South Dakota State at Brookings. Thus far the Bunnies have played 50-50 ball. After defeating Omaha 12-7, they were tied 6-6 by Morningside and beaten last week by North Dakota 6-0.

Morningside and the Omaha Indians will be battling it out tomorrow afternoon at Sioux City to see which of the two teams stays out of the conference cellar. The Maroons face ISTC and NDAC after the Omaha clash and will not be expected to take either of those two opponents. The Indians will also be the underdogs in games against the strongest teams in the loop, namely Iowa State Teachers and the University of South Dakota.

YMCA Maps Year's Projects

Junior and Senior YMCA cabinets, after successfully planning and executing dancing lessons and a Freshman Mixer, announce the program for the remainder of the year.

First of YMCA activities following the mid-term exams is a "How to Study" series, designed to help those students who have found their mental weaknesses after receiving their blue slip of paper from the Registrar's office.

Plan Coffee Forums

Serious-minded folk of the college, interested in local, state, national and international as well as campus problems, will want to attend the Coffee Forums which will get under way in a few weeks.

Cooperating with the YWCA, the YMCA will have a special Armistice Day program which will probably be held Friday, November 8th.

The fall meeting to plan for the annual state YW-YM Conference to be held next April will be held on our campus November 10th. Students representing all colleges in the state will attend the meeting.

Help Needy Families

Good will activities of the YWCA and YMCA for the coming holidays will include giving a number of baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving and the traditional Kiddies Party to be held just before the Christmas vacation.

Educational features of the winter term will include the Vocational Guidance Series and the "For Men Only" series. Recreational and social activities shall not be slighted, as a number of hobnobs are planned with another Freshman Mixer thrown in for good measure.

Scene This Week

Commission presy John Fisher affixes his hand to the seal of North Dakota Agricultural College and the queen smiles. Cliff Nygard, John Coles, and Kemble Lewis witness from behind the bars while Lorraine Fitjar, Betty Olson, and Margery Fjeld view things from another angle. The seal is one of those which flank the main entrance. Its inscription, "Practice With Science," keynotes Homecoming activities this year. Fisher is in general charge and has been assisted in planning the program for this year's Homecoming by the other members of the commission and service groups on the campus.

Decorations Feature Of Faculty Reception

Honored at the President's Reception held Monday in Festival Hall were new NDAC faculty members. In the receiving line with the honored guests were Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. Eversull, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Thompson and members of the board of higher education. The reception, an annual affair, was sponsored by the Faculty Women's Club.

Featuring a fall theme, decorations employed the use of fall greens and vegetables. Point of interest was a huge cornucopia, placed on the stage steps, from which were poured pumpkins, squash, yellow, white, orange and green gourds. A screen of metallic gold and silver material in a draped effect comprised the background; the entire effect was set off on either side with two wrought iron candelabra.

Fall leaves, gourds and candles were used on the serving table, back of which was a screen similar to that used in the reception room. At regular intervals suspended on the wall hung festoons of greens, corn, cane and gourds. Placed on the sills between the two rooms were additional festoons. Candlelight added to the decorative effect.

Incidental music was supplied by a string trio composed of Anabelle Donovan, Dorothy Jensen and Doris Bjorklund.

Kappa Sigs, OX Play Tonight

NDAC's intramural touchball program will come to a climax this afternoon when the Theta Chi defending champs clash with the also undefeated Kappa Sigma Chis on the Dorm Field in what appears to be the deciding game of the season.

Whichever team wins this tilt will virtually capture the crown unless knocked off by one of the two teams left on both the Kappa Sig and OX schedules.

Larry Tanberg sparked the Theta Chi attack Wednesday as the Sigma Chis made a futile attempt to break a six-game OX winning streak. Scoring the only touchdown of the game in the first half on a pass from Olson to Tanberg, to the two zone, the Theta Chi squad had a tough time subduing the Sigs.

In a rough game marked by the pass snatching of two varsity basketball stars, Swede Johnson for the tossers, and Tanberg, the Sigma Chi outfit made a last minute threat, with a razzle-dazzle play that brought the ball near the Sig goal line down into Theta Chi territory. However, the Sig thrust was futile as their last-play pass was incomplete, ending the game.

Kappa Sigma Chi still has a tough contest ahead after the tilt tonight. They play another fast team, the YMCA, on Monday. The Y squad has proved to be tough all season, having lost only one game. If the Kappa Sigs win this afternoon, John Saunderson's Y team will be even more of a stumbling block. In an earlier game this season, the Y lost a close 1-0 to the Theta Chi's in an overtime game.

Both Kappa Sig and OX have won seven games and lost none. Behind them are the Y team, with four games won and only one loss. Next in line is Sigma Chi, winning four and losing two. Trailing are the Dorm, SAE and Sigma Phi Delt with no wins.

FDR, Jr., May Speak Here, Dems Say

NDAC's Roosevelt - Wallace-Vogel club is making efforts to have Franklin Delano Roosevelt, jr., address the student body, according to Gorman King, president of the group.

Young Roosevelt will address the University of Minnesota students and other Minnesota groups next week. If he agrees to appear here, he will come during the latter part of the next week or the earlier part of the following one.

Paul Robeson's Concert Opens Lyceum Series Monday Nite

Back in the United States after four years of widely-heralded concert appearances in leading European centers, Paul Robeson, most famous member of the American Negro people, will make Fargo one of the stops on his current concert tour next Monday, Oct. 28, at 8:15 p. m. Appearing with Mr. Robeson is Clara Rockmore, Russian artist, whose performances on the revolutionary new musical instrument, the theremin, have held audiences spellbound throughout the tour.

Since his return to this country, wherever he has appeared, Mr. Robeson has been the recipient of tremendous welcome-home ovations from audiences who have missed his incomparable talents. With "persistence for perfection" as his guiding motto, this son of a Methodist preacher has made good not only on the concert stage, but in an almost unbelievable number of fields.

Graduating from Rutgers University with an unparalleled record of achievements of being a Phi Beta Kappa man, four-letter man, All-American end for two successive years, outstanding orator and debator of the college for four years among other activities, Mr. Robeson has since distinguished himself not only as the world's leading folk-singer, but also as an actor of the stage, radio, and screen. In addition, he is a master linguist, speaking Chinese, Russian, Gaelic, and Spanish besides the more usual music languages.

Included on his current concert program are not only his customary famed interpretations of folk-songs and spirituals, but also a new American folk oratorio, "Ballad for Americans," by Earl Robeson, recently introduced by the Negro bass-baritone on the CBS "Pursuit of Happiness" broadcast. So well-rendered was the new work, that Time Magazine came forward with the phrase-description, "a pursuit became a stampede". Mr. Robeson predicts that this novel composition will prove the fore-runner of an entirely new technique of music. Its distinctiveness lies in the fact that it is a history of our country half-sung, half-spoken in the manner of an old-time Negro preacher.

In Fargo the choral work for "Ballad for Americans" will be handled by the campus mixed chorus, directed by Ernst Van Vlissingen of the musical department.

Folk-songs and spirituals to be included in his program next Monday evening are "Go Down, Moses"; "So-lea" (Andalusian folksong); "Oh, No, John!" (English Folk-Song); "Night" (Russian Folk-Song); "The Prayer"; "Steal Away"; "Joshua Fit de Battle ob Jericho"; "The Feast," by Moussorgsky; "The Orphan," by Moussorgsky; and "Homeland Mine," by Gretchaninoff.

An entirely new experience is in store for the majority of Fargoans when Clare Rockmore presents a varied program on the astounding new electro-magnetic instrument, the theremin, named after its inventor, the noted Russian scientist, Leon Theremin. The instrument is unique in that the performer never touches it. Tones are produced when the performer darts his fingers into an electrically charged field developed about the theremin. As the right hand approaches the vertical rod, the pitch becomes higher or lower, and the volume is controlled by the distance of the left hand from the metal loop.

Miss Rockmore's program includes Adagio, by Bach; Andante from Symphonic Espagnole, by Lalo; Berceuse, by Tchaikovsky; Piece on Forme de Habanera, by Ravel; and Requiebros, by Cassado.

Heard About The Herd

By PETE LEWIS

This week this column should be a masterpiece considering the masterpiece in the offing tomorrow afternoon, when we meet those invading Sioux.

The battle looks a bit on the "even Steven" side with the odds on the Nodaks to repeat last year's victory. But, don't be surprised if the Bison come out on top. Well, now I guess that I've covered all possible angles of the game and can't be wrong unless it's a tie. Seriously though, I think that in view of past year's that one would really be sticking his neck out to come right out and predict a final score.

Personally though, I think that if I could get some good odds, I'd stick my next month's check from The Spectrum (all 25¢ of it) on the Bison to score an upset. I've followed the Herd all year long. I have seen the intramural touchball league has set up the cry of "Beat Theta Chi." With Tanberg catching, the rest of the league's problem isn't so simple. The YMCA showed them a thing or two though even if the OX's did win. At that the best they could do was to get the decision 1-0. The Sigma Chis are out to give Larry and the boys a run for their money, if what they say is true. They too have a big boy to catch passes and a boy, Lloyd Fecho to heave them. I don't suppose I have to mention that Swede Johnson is the big boy. The Y bunch are going to take the Kappa Sigs from the top ranks if they have anything to say about it and John Saunders has faith in his team.

Monday afternoon in the midst of scrambling around getting enough sports copy to fill the pages, I had the every game but the one last weekend and I still have faith in the boys and Coach Finnegan. I'll probably get a lot of growls at this but as one fellow out for football said when he read the crack in the "Filth Column" last week, "Why don't they come out and put on a uniform if they think it's so easy?"

The battle here tomorrow is going to be typical of all the conference clashes this season. No one team is head and shoulders over the others and don't let anyone tell you that they all aren't tough.

Jack West, Sioux coach, is bringing a great squad down here tomorrow and I hope that we can give him a suitable welcome, that is, send 'em all home scalped.

I missed the Frosh game up at the Forks last Saturday and I guess it was a coker. Yearling coaches John Smith and Frank Johnson have done wonders with that team. The boys on the Baby Bison look like swell material for the varsity next year. They have a wealth of material and look like a good bet to repeat their victory of last Saturday, tonight. Personally I can't see how such little fellows as Jim Gorman and Daly King can get around so fast. In scrimmages against the Varsity the freshmen show a great amount of fight and although the Frosh line is outweighed, the Yearlings go back for more and certainly do their best to dish it out.

Omaha Wipes Out Early Bison Lead To Take Game 14-7

AC Hampered By Lack Of Reserves As Indians Come Back After Being Outplayed In First Half To Rack Up First Conference Win In Two Starts

After leading 7-0 at the half, NDAC's Bison finally succumbed to a tough Omaha university eleven, losing 14-7 in the Herd's second NCI conference contest at Omaha last Saturday night.

Pushing the Indians all over the field and piling up tremendous yardage, the Bison, lacking reserves, finally let down enough for the speediest backfield in the conference to score two touchdowns in the final half.

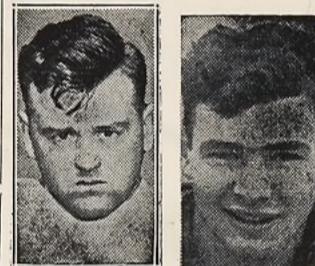

In the first half of the contest, the Bison garnered nine first downs to two for the Indians, showing the offensive and defensive drive of the Herd.

Omaha Blocks Punt

It was in the second minute of the third quarter that Omaha got the break that gave them their first touchdown. Cecil Sturgeon's punt was blocked by a Nebraska lineman and the Indians recovered on the Herd's 21. A pass from Bob Matthews, 200 pound sprint man, to Paul Gaer, gave them the touchdown making it 7-6. Matthews tied it up by making his place kick good.

Again in the fourth quarter the Omaha eleven tallied, this time on a march from their own 30 yard line, to set the score at 14-7.

In the first period when the Bison lineman and backs were still fresh Omaha wasn't able to stop a North Dakota march from their own 29 to the Indian's goal. Butch Kimbillin, Bison halfback, took the ball from occasional to look through some of the old Spectrums in the library. I sure got a laugh at some of the sport pages in the first editions of the paper as my readers do when they look at this page. First I noticed that Prof. Boley was the mentor of some of our earliest teams. It was interesting to note the evolution of football in our school. Competition started with local teams, then the AC-U clashes. Next in line came games with Minnesota colleges. That is, until Minnesota U got too good and then we had to play their second team. A few years ago though we played quite a few distant colleges and this year the longest trip is to Wichita, Kansas.

I also noticed that the enthusiasm of the early 1900's ran much higher than it does now.

Higgs Passes Again
In a more recent edition of the Spectrum, 1937 to be exact, there was an article that not only made the school paper but was released nationally. It seems that Gorman King, present guard, took a nap before the Greely Colorado football game down there in the Rockies. Well, any way make a long story short, he didn't awaken until the first half was well under way. Gorm, a sophomore at the time, hustled to the locker room and donned his togs and thence to a spot on the bench from which he didn't budge during the rest of the game.

At the time our local politician-athlete was supposed to have said that he might as well have stayed at the hotel in bed as he didn't get a chance to play, anyway.

Harris Treglawney, Gorm, King, Charles Scott, Bruce Fulks, John Snowberg and Arnold Seim were outstanding for their work.

Word has been received that Lt. Arthur G. Christensen, 1936 NDAC graduate stationed in Manila, P. I., has been promoted to captain in the United States Army. He is the son of Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Christensen. Christensen is professor of animal husbandry.

AC Band To Entertain University Musicians

With fire still in their eyes from the afternoon's athletic conflict, members of NDAC's band will entertain UND band members for dinner tomorrow night at 6 p. m. in the Baptist church.

This custom, observed every time the two schools have a homecoming together, is time-honored with tradition.

The program will be an impromptu affair, featuring group singing lead by Ernst Van Vlissingen.

Schedule Leadership 51 Counties Send Training Conference, 4-H Reservations Eversull Announces

Fifty-one counties in which organized 4-H club work is conducted by county extension agents are making reservations for approximately 500 club members and leaders to attend the annual Achievement Institute at NDAC Nov. 5-8. Selection of delegates is made on the basis of outstanding club work, and as a result club members recognize the Achievement Institute as a reward for real effort.

Immediately following the state 4-H livestock show Nov. 1-4, the combined attendance of the two events will bring upwards of 700 rural young people of the state to the NDAC campus. A conference for older club members and leaders is planned during the institute program, it is announced by H. E. Rilling, state leader, and Margaret Latimer, assistant.

No registration fee will be charged, and the only cost to delegates will be their own expenses. Those planning to attend are urged to write immediately to the President's Office, State College Station, Fargo, for enrollment blanks.

Shepperd Fund Growing Fast

Begun last spring in conjunction with the 50th annual commencement, the President Shepperd Memorial Fund, is being steadily increased by contributions from alumni and friends of Dr. Shepperd and of the college.

The fund is to be used to purchase a bronze plaque of Dr. Shepperd, similar to those already hanging in the front lobby of Old Main. Goal for the fund, which is under the control of the Alumni board, has been set at $500.

Below is a letter from Fred Birch of Great Falls, Mont., which expresses the feeling of many alumni on this question.

Great Falls, Montana,
October 11, 1940.
Shepperd Memorial Fund,
North Dakota Ag. College,
Fargo, North Dakota.

Gentlemen:

The last "Alumni Review", in the space devoted to the Shepperd Memorial, lists among those on its honor roll a very few contributors whom I recall as AC students in the days when the world was young; when most everybody walked and life was simple; when the school was adolescent and football was a college game, not a Roman Spectacle; before social workers and relief workers discovered each other; when we had no Doctors or Deans, but just Professors on the faculty and when one sought an education, not a degree.

Those faculty members, all of whom we knew personally, were not only our teachers but our friends and advisors, their duties seemingly unfixed by formality. To us and that early period, Shepperd, Dean later to you, but then "Prof" to us youngsters, was a modest, kind, significant influence; in my opinion, therefore, his memorial should commemorate not only him, but the spirit of his time.

With such thoughts in mind and with those whom I recall I should like to join in sending my bit, not as a contribution but as an offering to the memory of a good man and a good period.

Very truly yours,
—Fred Birch.

presented to the winning team in the annual AC-U game was first awarded by Blue Key chapters on the two campuses. In 1938 the Queen's dinner was inaugurated as a new feature and the two teams clashed in the new stadium on Dacotah Field with Fritz Pollard and Ernie Wheeler as central figures in a drama marked by unusual exhibitions of spirit and the traditional rivalry that has always existed between the two schools.

Tomorrow the two teams again meet with the old score still unsettled. The characters have changed but the issue, the spirit, and the rivalry remain the same.

Independent Students Elect New Officers

Election of officers to replace those not returning to school opened the year for the Independent Students Association. At the first meeting, Oct. 21, Odd Osteros was named president; Frank Hobbs, vice president; Melvin Berg, treasurer.

Aim of the organization is to offer to every student on the campus who is not associated with a fraternity or sorority the opportunity to participate in discussions and to express viewpoints on any subject which may confront them.

This year the Independents plan to make their organization the strongest independent movement the campus has ever seen.
