Bison Underdogs In Tilt With Highly Touted Sioux

Bison in Top Physical Condition; Finnegan Promises Good Fight as Bison Seek to Halt Sioux March Towards Sixth NCI Title

Straight into the jaws of death rode the six hundred, David threw a rock at Goliath, the ocean rolled on when King Canute told it to stop and tomorrow the Bison face the North Dakota Sioux in another of those feature battles. Headlining the AC Homecoming, the grid tilt between the two NCI members not only will decide the success or failure of the Homecoming but will probably decide which of the two teams will win the conference championship.

With one of the best teams in his coaching history Coach West is coming down from North Dakota Normal with an outfit that so far is undefeated and has rolled up victories over Winnipeg, DePaul and Montana. And tomorrow they will be heavily favored to attach another victory to their win streak.

But the favored team does not always win the Bison-Sioux tilts. The Thundering Herd is just beginning to rumble and AC fans are confident that if their team is at their peak they can take the boys from up north. Except for the absence of Herb Kittler, the Bison are in top shape and are champing at the bit in their anxiety to take a crack at the Sioux. Alfred Bostow has returned to the wars after being out for almost two weeks and should strength the guard positions no end. Ernie Wheeler, the only other man on the injured list, has given his broken arch two weeks' rest and assures us that he will be in top form.

Saves Trick Plays

Casey Finnegan has reached into his bag of tricks and pulled out an assortment of spinners and other trick plays which he has been saving all season just for the Sioux. The nature of these offensive maneuvers is a secret shared only by the coaches and the players and will not be divulged until tomorrow afternoon when they will be put to test against the U.

The game will be unique in that almost every position on each team will be filled by a candidate for all-conference honors. At left halfback, Wheeler will be opposing Fritz Pollard for the third time in as many years. Without doubt, these two boys are the class of the conference in the line of halfbacks.

In competition with Elmer Schrank at the blocking back post, the Sioux offer Evan Lips. Both are signal-callers on their respective teams. Bill Orway and Cecil Sturgeon promise the fans plenty of excitement when they vie for honors at the line-smashing fullback position.

At tackle, we have Cecil Schrank, the blonde giant from Grafton, opposed by Wilbur Gehrke. The latter has been shifted from end to tackle and, despite his lack of size has blossomed into a pretty fine tackle. At guard the Bison have another Grafton product, Elmer Holt, while the U has Senechal and Hallen. Senechal is the lightest man on the Sioux squad, while Hallen after understudying Amick for two years knows just about everything there is to know about guard play.

On Opposes West

Jim On is out to prove that the all-conference selectors were all wrong in picking Jack West as center on their team last year. The battle at the pivot position promises to be one of the most exciting of the day.

The Sioux line, although the smallest in years, is a typical fast charging West forward wall. Because of the exceptional speed of the individual members of the line, the above statement holds doubly true this year. However, the Bison line will have to be shown just wherein the advantage lies. Such names as Hawkins, Schrank, Holt, Jim On, Green, Johnson, Wellems, Bostow, and Kojancik indicate that our line is not so slow either. Certainly these boys do not have to take a back seat to any seven men in this vicinity.

Probable Line-up

The probable starting line-up for the Bison will be Hawkins and Wellems at the ends; Schrank and Johnson at the tackles; Holt and Bostow at guard and Jim On at center. The backfield will consist of Elmer Schrank at quarterback, Wheeler and Erickson at halfbacks, and Cecil Sturgeon at fullback.

Queen's Dinner Will Honor Four Queens, 12 Senior Women

Reservations to accommodate 356 guests have been made for the annual homecoming queen's dinner tomorrow at 6:30 in Ceres Hall.

Members of senior staff, other representative senior women, and the homecoming queen from the University will occupy seats at the table of the NDAC queen, Claire Putz.

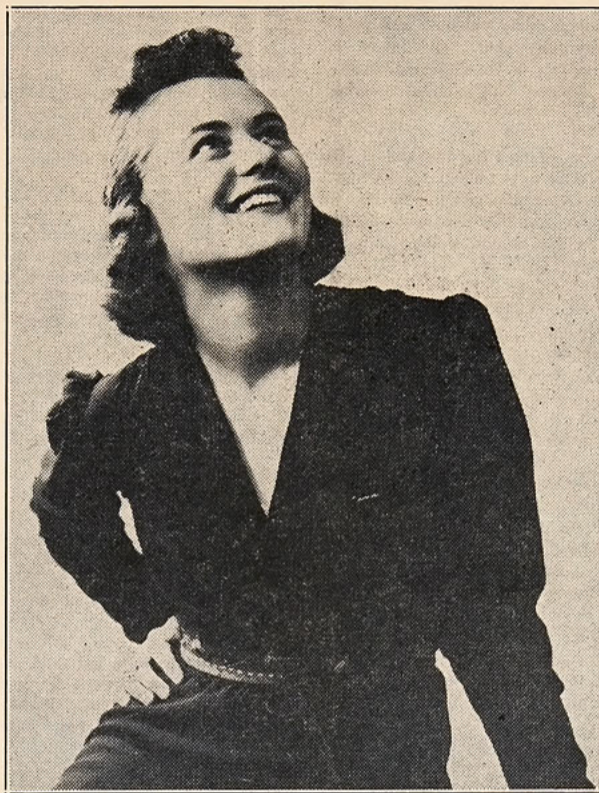

Those senior women to be honored are Miss Putz, Florenz Dinwoodie, Marian Smith, LaVaun Anderson, Catherine Brandes, Evelyn Larson, June Lowe, Margaretta Bjornson and Doris Stinson, members of senior staff; Geraldine Davis, president of Kappa Delta; Corinne Anderson, president of Gamma Phi Beta; Marion Whalen, president of Phi Omega Pi; Dorothy Olson, last year's homecoming queen; Cloyce Hocking, former Barn Dance queen; Marjorie Pfeffer, Lilac queen.

Governor and Mrs. William Langer will also be guests.

The program will consist of community singing led by Ernst Van Vlissingen, and group singing by the various fraternities and sororities.

There will be no speeches. Any greek group in doubt about the seating arrangement may check information in Miss Dinan's office.

Members of the Bison Booster club will be guests when students dine and dance at Blue Key's barbecue lunch in Festival hall this noon. Lunch will be served from a stand in east Festival hall while the floor is cleared for dancing to Bill Walsh and his campus musicians.

To Alumni and Former Students:

The College YMCA is happy to add its word of welcome to you who have returned to the campus at this homecoming time. This constant renewal of old friendships and the forming of new ones has an important place in each year's activities and in the further development of our school.

It is to you alumni and former students that we owe so much of the tradition and the incentive which keeps us who follow you at work.

We hope you have an enjoyable homecoming, and if we can help to make it so, we'll do our very best.

—The YMCA Advisory Board, The YMCA Cabinet.

BANDS WILL DINE

Regardless of who wins the homecoming football game, a spirit of friendliness will prevail at the annual dinner given Saturday night for the University band by Bison bandsmen. The banquet will be held at 6 o'clock in the Presbyterian church, where the 120 members of the AC band will be hosts to approximately 100 University band men.

The program, under the direction of Charles Benson, will consist of speakers and musical numbers. Ray Dahm will lead the singing, accompanied by Lloyd Collins at the piano. The Ceres Hall trio, Carol Benson, Kathleen Benson and Eunice Hjelle will sing. Helen Pravda will present violin numbers, accompanied by Lloyd Collins.

Alumni Trek Back To Campus As 21st Homecoming Begins

Bison, Sioux Grid Warriors Meet Saturday In Feature Event; Governor Langer Will Crown Claire Putz Homecoming Queen

By ALBERT THORWALDSON

Scarcely a single hotel room was available in Fargo this morning as thousands of visitors poured in on the first day of the NDAC homecoming. Reservations made weeks in advance filled nearly all hotels to capacity and forced them to turn people away.

Registration of returning alumni this morning preceded the opening gun of the celebration, which was the student pep rally. This year's rabble-rousing, which was the first homecoming rally to have official recognition, was led by Lorraine Fitjar, rooter king. The rally began at 10 o'clock after classes had been adjourned at the regular convocation period for dedication of the south campus' new grove of trees, a gift of the 1938 class.

Also beginning immediately following the convo period is the serving of Bison barbecued lunches by Blue Key. All other campus eating places will be closed during the noon hour.

Elect Queen For Halloween

The Fargo Junior Chamber of Commerce will present its annual Halloween dance Monday, Oct. 31, for the fourth consecutive year. The affair will be held in the Field House from 8:30 to 11:30 with Carl Colby's orchestra furnishing the music.

Features of the evening will be a floor show presented by one of the downtown dancing schools, and the election of the Halloween queen.

Contestants for the queen position are being advanced by the senior high school, by the business colleges, and by the individual classes at NDAC. The girl who is chosen queen will be presented with a very fine prize, according to Elmer Marks of the JCC group who is in general charge.

Guests are asked to come in costume if possible, and there will be a prize for the best outfit. However, a special costume is not necessary for admittance.

MEN'S DORM PLANS OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY

As their part in the Homecoming festivities the Men's Dorm residents will be hosts to the public at an Open House from 4:00 until 7:00 on Saturday, October 29.

A committee elected by the residents will supervise preparations for the open house, which is the first one the dormitory has ever had.

Guests will be escorted through the building and will be served refreshments during their visit.

An unusual feature of homecoming this year is the inauguration of President Eversull. Beginning this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, it is the first ceremony of its kind in the history of the college.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the annual alumni meeting and banquet will be held in the Little Country Theatre.

Yearlings Clash

This evening the Baby Bison will again meet the Sioux Papposes, on Dacotah field. These two teams played at the University last week, and the Baby Bison won by a score of 12 to 6. The game will start at 8:15. Doc Putnam and the Gold Star Band are planning a feature event between halves.

If the boys from Concordia haven't burned the bonfire before tonight, it will be officially burned after the freshman game.

Festivities tomorrow will start with fanfare as thirty floats from campus groups parade downtown. They will be followed by the ROTC unit, a delegation from the University, businessmen from downtown Fargo, and students in cars and on foot. The feature of the parade will be the homecoming queen, Claire Putz, who will ride in the longest car in the parade and will carry a huge bouquet of giant chrysanthemums, given her by the Fargo Floral company.

A. G. Arvold will open his newly-remodeled theatre to alumni at a luncheon and smoker at noon on Saturday.

Tomorrow afternoon the Sioux will bring their aggregation of football players to take away the scalps of the Bison. They are out to win the conference this year to top off their celebration of Coach C. A. West's tenth year there. But the Bison will meet them with players in top form and condition. Twelve thousand fans are expected to witness the game, and the stadium will hold many more.

Between halves of the game Governor Langer will crown Claire Putz queen of the homecoming celebration. At the same time awards for floats, house decorations, and downtown window decorations will be presented. There are three float divisions, fraternity, sorority, and departmental. First and second prize awards will be given for the fraternity and sorority floats, and a first prize for departmental. In the two house decorations divisions, awards will be given to both fraternities and sororities. The prizes will be presented by Jim Critchfield, head of the student commission.

From 4:30 until 6 o'clock fraternal groups will hold open house for homecoming guests.

At 6:30 in Ceres Hall the student body will entertain the queen at a homecoming banquet. More than 300 guests will be there, including alumni, homecoming officials, and fraternities and sororities.

Climax of the two-day celebration will be the homecoming dance in the Field House at 9 in the evening. Bill Walsh will furnish the music. There will be a charge of fifty cents per couple.

Fans To Give Captains Watches At Sioux Tilt

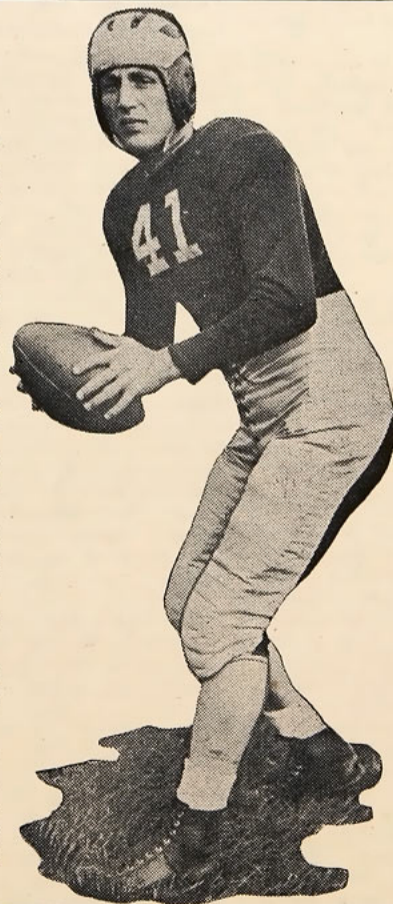

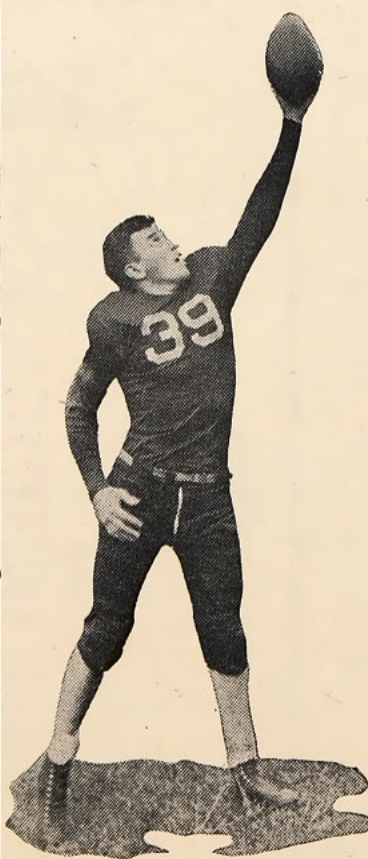

Co-captains Ernie Wheeler and Ray Hawkins will be honored between the halves of tomorrow's game by being presented with gold watches as a token of appreciation of their fine work as members of the varsity team. Watches will be presented on behalf of Bison fans, including students, Bison Boosters Club and many other followers of the AC team. The Homecoming game marks the final home appearance of these two stars in Bison uniform, and they have pledged themselves to turn in the outstanding performances of their careers in appreciation of the honor bestowed upon them.

Wheeler was an all-conference halfback last year, while Hawkins was out most of the season with a broken leg, thereby being deprived of a chance at such an honor. However, the latter has been playing the best football of his career this season and should end up with a berth on the mythical team.

The Wheeler-Hawkins passing combination is something which is feared by all opposing teams and coaches. With Wheeler tossing them with deadly accuracy and Hawkins receiving them with the greatest of ease, rivals have sufficient reason to lose sleep and chew nails in fear of what these two boys can do.

Before matriculating to NDAC, Hawkins played high school football at LaCrosse, Wisconsin, while Wheeler was exploiting his talents on the Fargo High gridiron.

The entire squad showed remarkably good judgment in naming Hawkins and Wheeler co-captains on this year's team. Both play the game for all it is worth, both are excellent sportsmen, and both are physically equipped to play sixty minutes of the hardest kind of football each week. Above all, both men are natural-born leaders.

Campus Extends Hearty Welcome To Alumni

To the returning alumni and former students: Wherever you look you will find a welcome for you expressed by fraternities, sororities, honoraries, clubs, independent associations, and other campus groups. In preparation for the traditional day when we welcome you back to this campus hundreds of students have been sacrificing time and energy to make this celebration another one that will make you happy you decided to be here. You all remember way back when you forgot about studying, cut classes to the limit, strained yourself for new ideas, and in general stretched your ability to the utmost to help put your homecoming celebration over. This year a good many of you hesitated to return because you were afraid to look at the ghost you expected to see. For that reason, this year's program had to be just as good, or better than ever before—it had to be planned more carefully, and advertised more, much more thoroughly. All those things have been done. Everybody, from the pledge who printed a sign to advertise a homecoming committee meeting, to the heads of the general committees in charge of the main events—everybody has tried to give you a reason to be proud of your school once again. And so we hope you will enjoy this homecoming as you never have enjoyed it before, because we've enjoyed doing it for you.

—A. T.

Student Convo Manners Utterly Disgraceful

At least, fellow students, after you were once in Festival hall, had found your seat, and convocation had started, would it be too much to ask that you act like ladies and gentlemen and stay there? And if you must be so rude as to leave in the middle, couldn't you refrain from dropping books? And after once having gone, stay away, not come back for a pal? If you must study can't you go to the study hall? Then if the lights go out in convo so you can't read, you won't have to stumble over every one trying to get to the door. In general, can't you decide whether you want to stay for convo before you get there?

Even a more timely exit by most of you would have helped at last week's convo. Or perhaps you don't realize the deep significance of the Passion Play which Anny Rutz was describing to you. You had the privilege of hearing a woman that had portrayed Mary, the mother of Christ, in perhaps the world's most renowned production. And yet while she was dramatizing the death of Christ upon the cross you stumbled out of the balcony and out the door.

Upon the shoulders of Blue Key rests the responsibility of preserving order at convocations. So perhaps out of respect for them, your fellow students, if not for these trained artists who come here to entertain you, from now on you can show a few manners.

Whodunit?

Fifty cents or a dollar is a lot of money to a high school student. There must be a great many of us who remember when we considered fifty cents capable of covering a lot of territory. So it seems strange that a college student, who is usually supposed to be capable of earning a little money, would stoop so low as to steal a small amount of money like that from the pockets of a high school student. And yet that happened the other day when a football team from Pelican Rapids dressed in the Field House. There were about twelve of them. Some of them had a few cents, others had one or two dollars. One of them had an expensive watch. Twelve dollars in money, and a watch worth $40. And after the game, everything was gone except the pants. Somebody had stolen all the money those high school football players were allowed to spend during their evening in Fargo. That must have been a pleasant evening!

BISON BRIEFS

Anyone foolish enough to write a column in a college paper deserves free board and room in the booby hatch, and as I can't see a great difference between college and a nuthouse there's nothing to lose. So here goes!

I'd like to begin with something nice but I can't think of anything but Harriet Shigley and she has had too much publicity already. It might be a good idea to lead off with congratulations to the Barney Oldfields of the campus who like to pretend they're at the speedway in Indianapolis. I realize that it must be a great thrill for them, especially with campus coeds watching and marvelling at their uncanny skill. Of course, it would be nice to be able to cross the road without scurrying and dodging like a rabbit crossing Fifth Avenue.

A rather unique way of boosting the sale of green caps for freshmen would be to put a sign on the bulletin board requiring all frosh to wear them. By the way, I wonder who put up the one that was never enforced. It was rather tough on the Bookstore that the sophomores never took it very seriously.

SOME THINGS YOU NEVER SEE: A full cup of coffee at the Dugout... a brilliant student who isn't aware of the fact... an educational education course... A. G. Arvold with a sincere smile on his face... a fair price at the bookstore... A check from home on a Saturday night... Bud Thorwaldson without his pipe.

Speaking of pipes reminds me of a story I heard about Bill Guy's brother at Armenia. It seems that William Snyder was giving a Red Cross play at the school house in that village and needed a ladder. He sent young Guy after it and went to have a cup of coffee. When he came back he found not only a ladder but the whole fire engine of the local fire department parked in front of the school. Young Guy had borrowed the fire engine, leaving a note that it would be at the schoolhouse. He felt that ladders of superior quality would be available on a fire truck.

In closing I would like to present a letter of protest sent to the college by one of our more exceptional students. He calls himself Moe the Fink after our Homecoming buffalo, but I don't think the buffalo will feel particularly flattered.

Dear Sirs:
I am a student in your college here for upon five years and am getting good and tired of it. If I am not a sophomore by next year Pa says he will come down here and see what is the trouble. Besides my roommate wears my kneektie which I bought when I went to a hog show before I came and wears my pants which have a hole in them so I have to stay in my room making teachers mad at me because I don't come to class. Also I got 30 on an English theme which the instructor said meant that I would have to take sub-English and that I should learn the English language as if I hadn't spoke English for upon twenty-nine years. And that isn't all for I went to a dance the other night and people kept getting in my road and I had to shove so I and my girl could have room to dance and they asked me if I thought I was playing football. Then I asked the coach about football and he said he would let me know when they started playing asylums and I didn't know what he meant but I didn't like his face when he said it so I said I wouldn't play football for him anyhow. I am getting good and mad at all of you and if you don't do something about it I will go to some other school. So there.
MOE THE FINK.

From the Editor's Scratch Pad

Don't for a minute think that the Bison Booster club is all through. Promotion of the stadium dedication game was not their only project—it was merely a timely excuse for forming such an organization. Now that they've accomplished their first objective in grand style they're not intending to sit back with smug complacency. They're out to do big things for this school and have organized on a permanent basis. According to Ed Kraus, chairman, the group plans to offer services whenever it feels it can be of use to the school. The club is already deep in a campaign to decorate downtown Fargo for the Homecoming week-end, planning window decorations in every store window.

Remember two years ago how impressive it was when the University band, led by John Howard, and University students met the Bison Homecoming parade at the Great Northern depot, stepped into the middle of the parade and marched smartly down Broadway? Well, they're going to do it again this year and incidentally, that's only one of the unusual features of this colorful parade. Nearly thirty floats, more than ever before, will be on parade; mounted escorts will lead the parade down Broadway, and Fargo streets will be decorated more gaily than usual.

It seems last week's Social Climber hurt many people's feelings. For that we're sincerely sorry. It has never been the Spectrum's policy to go out of its way to hurt other's feelings. Intent of the Social Climber is to comment on campus activities and personalities in a light, breezy style. Apparently the Climber last week lost its airiness and was regarded by many as a mean, spiteful column. It was not meant to be and while we assure readers such a column will not be repeated we might add that for every person who came to us and protested, another came and enthused about "the best column of the year." And about the Independent Student's association—we've had a talk with a few of the leaders, are convinced of their sincerity in plans for the group, and wish them the best of luck.

FOOLISH TBALL NOTES

by Joe Ignorant, who spent four blissful years compiling these facts replete with footnotes.

Football, which reaches its peak in the south ram pasture just behind Festival hall on Oct 29, when the Flat Foot Tribe from upstate comes down to grunt with the Gray Haired Mentor's boys, is old smoothie (1) of sport(2).

There is a ghastly rumor (3) going about that football is the cause of mantel pieces. Before the advent of the curved-to-fit bleacher seats it was necessary to have a mantel so as to have something to eat off of two or three days after seeing a game. It is sometimes said that a student can be told by the thickness of calus. From this comes 'Do not look a gift student in the calus'(4).

Football is the science of playing with a ball in the roughest manner. It is said that the shoes (5) worn by the players were designed by a doctor who was suffering from lack of business. Later he invented the gun and knife.

The game is played with eleven men on each side except at the U where they also have a man with a whistle on one side. A football player is one who does not worry about girls. He worries only about hitting the cold hard ground. Among footballers only the fittest survive. The fittest are the ones whose heads are harder than the opponents. If your head is softer then your opponent survives. The opponent and your next of kin.

A cheer leader is one who cuts a pretty figure while imitating politicians. When they cut the pretty figure they usually go to the nearest hospital to have it fixed. Sometimes I wish I were a doctor.

All football players are not tired. Those sitting on the benches are subs. (6) Sometimes they sit there because they have been injured. Many broken noses (7) and sprained thumbs (8) may be found amongst football players.

If some people (9) I know were football players they would challenge any one to a race around the block. But not by foot.

There are many games played with balls. One of them is basketball. This game will never become as popular as football because it does not offer as many liquor opportunities to guard against catching colds. The preventive may be sucked thru tubes while watching the games (10). The medicine should be taken during the game otherwise you might not get where you started out for. But then if you were like a professor giving a lecture you would plan on being where you got. You can't beat a professor. But sometimes I think you should.

In football there are many plays. The chief amongst them is the line buck (11). This was designed by a player who wanted not to keep a date and needed an excuse. Like a sprained back or neck (12). He was a funny fellow. One of his ancestors invited the electric chair so that he could shock the neighbors and also people who gave surprise quizzes. There are always new ways of breaking dates if you can think of them.

Statistics show that if there are only eleven men and not one with a whistle on a team they are bound to lose some of the time. If eleven women played on the team I don't know what it would show. But probably too much to write about. But then eleven women shouldn't play as they should be home helping their mothers carry out the bottles. Also some people think that some players should have stayed home and helped pa plow the back forty.

There is only one other thing about football worth mentioning. That is the man who sits on the bench during the games and smokes wishing he was coaching some prison team so the alumni wouldn't return to give advice.

I don't know why I've told you all this except that maybe tomorrow is homecoming and a man named Herman will sit on the bench and look at the Flat Feet and mutter:

Warte, warte noch ein weilchen. Eald kommt Haarman auch zu dir Mit dem kleinen Hackebeilchen, Und mach Hackefleisch aus dir.

Social Climber

By BESS, The Chamber Maid
On account of cuz everyone is feeling swell-elegant we might as well toss around a few orchids, for as gossip has it the Phi Mus did themselves up proud with their tea Sunday. Even Dick Hoag passed a cigar over there. In connection with that, also heard that the Sigs were mighty worried so they called up Holly Beall, but she denied it—you know, modesty... We are sure to see one beaming face at the SAE house, and it's a sure thing a university redhead has something to do with Davey Robinson's smile. Davey, you've worn the pin for two weeks, now whose turn is it? ... We hear that at a bull session over at the SPD house that they were wondering if Roy Rutledge had hung an AGR pin on Lois Gorder. At least, they say, she went to a Gamma Rho party shortly after.

When everybody is in such cheer, we're sorry to give the gals such a crushing blow as to spill the dope on where Dick Cook's Sig pin is going—She lives in Ithaca, N. Y. ... The POP's are pretty happy about Jean Boyle because she is so exacting in her pledge duties—She was going to serve coffee to two of the girls, and asked them if they wanted cream and sugar. Dorothy Olson said "Yes," and Cloyce Hocking said "Nothing." Always aiming to please, Jean brought Dorothy coffee with everything, and to Cloyce she handed an empty cup.

Note to Roy DeRose: Bull Pederson wants to go active because he has already found the girl to hang his pin on. Her initials are Olive Clausen. ... Who wants to be a big help and fix up a date with Joe Kojancik for Cathryn Casselman—She'd kiss you if you did, but that doesn't mean all you fellows have to break your necks to do it. ... Betty Pannebaker did all right for herself by being the only freshman to be named as a sponsor... Nifty little idea of yours, KDs. ... Those footballs are quite the nuts.

Fellows, you can now apply for a date with Shirley Quickstad for any time after Dec. 15, because as yet she hasn't a date and something has got to be done about it. ... Incidentally that doesn't run in the family, because Dale, her brother, is president of the Bachelor's club at the SPD house. To Doc Montgomery: Is Evelyn Larson an honorary member of the club? Another inquiry, this time to the Phi Mu's Ruth Christianson: What does a gal have to have to keep the fellows waiting in line just to ask for a date?

The noise increased in great volume, It grew to a deep, rumbling roar. "It's time to go home, you scoundrel, And be sure you shut the screen-door."

For a moment all was so silent, And then a voice whispered low, I'll pretend that I'm shutting the door, Dear, But I promise that I will not go."

Quiteness reigned in the household, No sound except for Big Ben. At last the youth broke the silence, "You'll marry me dear, only when?"

"I'll answer that for you, young fellow," Said a guttural voice from the rear, "If you don't get out of her quickly, I'll kick you out on your ear."

The lights flashed on in a second, Revealing a humorous scene. A furious father, a flustered young man, And a lass who could pass for a queen.

The action took place in a twinkling, The youth was removed from the room; Gone from the scene of romance and of love, Gone from his thoughts of a groom.

A warning to all blossoming suitors. One that is really worth while! That yell from the head of the household Cannot be dismissed with a smile. . .

Pa Speaks—

The touch of his hand was caressing, She murmured as red lips were pressed;

The clock on the mantle struck sharply, Its tone-beat startled the two; But soon their thoughts were reverted, The climax of love grew and grew.

A movement upstairs went unheeded, The couple were lost in deep thought; Engrossed as they were at the moment, Unaware of the future's deep blot.

Nation's College Dignitaries On Campus For Colorful Eversull Inaugural Ceremony

Representatives from most of the important colleges and universities in the country, as well as students, faculty members in full academic regalia, and the public as a whole, will witness one of the most colorful, yet impressive ceremonies of the college's history when Dr. Frank L. Eversull is inaugurated as president this afternoon at 3:30 in the Field House.

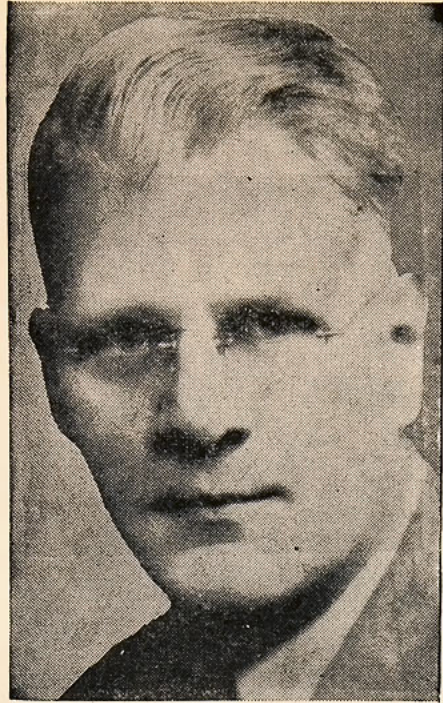

The program has been arranged so as to be simple but dignified, and includes the following: processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," Elgar, played by the Gold Star Band with Dr. C. S. Putnam directing; invocation, the Reverend C. E. Parr, pastor, Plymouth Congregational church; anthem, "Send Out Thy Light" by Gounod, presented by the men's glee club with Ernst Van Vlissingen directing; presentation of the president by Mrs. Jennie Ulsrud, chairman of the board of administration; the charge to the president, "The Spiritual Basis for Education," Harry Kelso Eversull, president of Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio; president's response, "A Heritage for a Dangerous Day"; anthem, "Let All My Life Be Music," by Spross, to be sung by the women's glee club, Adda M. Blakeslee directing; benediction, the Reverend Ward F. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; and the recessional, "Yellow and Green," by Putnam, played by the Gold Star Band.

Brother Inaugurated Last Year
It is interesting to note that the inauguration of Frank L. Eversull follows exactly by a year and a week the inauguration of Harry K. Eversull, his brother, as Marietta College president.

Local committees working on the inauguration include the following: general committee: A. G. Arvold, chairman, Dean C. A. Sevrinson, Dean Pearl Dinan, Miss Dorothy Youell, and Dean H. L. Walster; radio and amplification committee: A. G. Arvold, chairman, and Robert Schulz; luncheon: A. G. Arvold, chairman, Mrs. L. W. Nino Martini To Begin Lyceum Series Tuesday

Nino Martini, appearing on the first of the Lyceum Course next Tuesday night, is the leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He made his opera debut in Italy at the age of 21.

He appeared first in "Rigoletto" in Italy, where he was born. While he lived in Europe, his singing was all on the concert stage and in opera. A contract with Jesse Lasky brought him to this country in 1929, and he has added radio and screen triumphs to his operatic and concert achievements.

Had Blind Date

Martini is the only operatic tenor to ever have a blind date with a college coed.

He has a brilliant record of five seasons with the Metropolitan Opera Company, an engagement as leading tenor for the Philadelphia Opera company, world acclaim as concert singer in Europe, and a medal for "distinguished contribution to radio art". His first motion picture experiences were with bit parts in 1929. After a sensational debut at the Metropolitan in "Rigoletto", he was called back to Hollywood to make "Here's to Romance".

That picture was followed by "The Gay Desperado," and "Music for Madame", both smashing successes at the box-office and among the critics.

Next to his career there is nothing Martini likes to do more than ride horses. His idea of Utopia would be concert tours scheduled in such fashion that there would be ample time for him to ride daily. As it is, opera's handsomest male singer has to content himself with infrequent excursions on the bridge paths in the cities he visits, and these jaunts are difficult to fit into a concert schedule that keeps him on the jump by train and plane, week after week.

The concert will be held in Festival Hall, and is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock. Although reserved seat tickets have been sold out for the performance, ample room has been reserved for students, according to A. G. Arvold, who arranges the Lyceum series.

Students must have registration cards, not activities tickets, for admission.

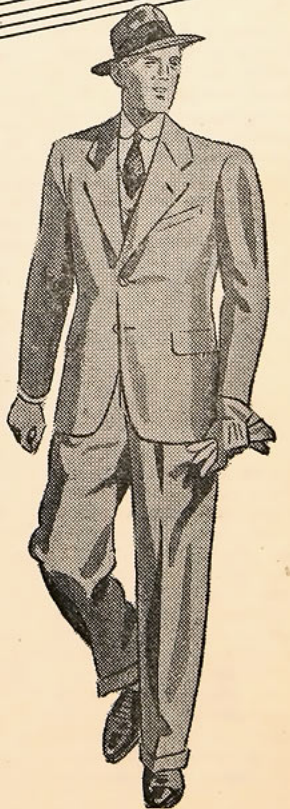

Dines with Royalty

The story goes that Will Rogers once turned up at the gate of Buckingham Palace. "I've come to see the King", said Will to the haughty guards, and added, "Tell him when the Prince of Wales was over in our country he told me to look up his old man some time". Rogers was not only admitted, but invited by King George to stay to lunch.

Not every man can have Rogers' wit, but there are other ways to win acceptance. One of these is choosing clothes that make a good impression.

YEARCRAFT suits are designed with just that end in view. Because the maker has guaranteed YEARCRAFT in writing for a full year's satisfactory wear, only expert tailoring is employed to put stamina and styling into a suit whose smart appearance just naturally makes a good impression. And for that important "inside" touch, genuine Earl-Glo linings are used throughout.

Baby Bison Seek Second Victory Over UND Freshman Squad

Bison Yearlings Favored To Win Over Sioux Frosh

Playing conservative ball all of the way the AC Baby Bison made it look easy by walking over the Future Sioux in a game at the Forx last week. Tonight the two Frosh teams meet again and the AC freshmen will be out for their sixth consecutive win over their perennial rivals.

Although the AC frosh looked so smooth in pounding out a 12-6 victory they can't help but be rated as favorites there is everything but optimism in the Bison camp.

Butch Kimblin, smashing triple threat halfback from East Grand Forks, who has been carrying the brunt of the offensive burden will not play tonight. Pulling loose the muscles on his metatarsal bone in the last quarter of last week's game, he will be lost for the rest of the season.

His loss, coupled with the loss of Merwin, blocking back, in the Wahpeton game robs the Coming Herd of their two most potential stars.

Coach Smith has moved Garfield Krasean from end to the backfield to try to fill the mammoth hole left by Kimblin. It was "Hutch" Krasean, who pulled the Bison out of a hole at the Forx by intercepting a pass in the first quarter and galloping 52 yards to score. Later in the same quarter he caught another Sioux pass to stem another Nodak onslaught.

Frank Perkins will handle the quarter backing duties while Jack Brown will again take over the fullback post from where he will do the kicking.

Fargo contributes Pomeroy Hill to a halfback post from where his speed and power is always dangerous to an opposing team. He scored the second Bison touchdown last week on an end around sweep.

Arnold Troftgruben of Park River turned in a good account at Grand Forks and will again take over the center duties. Joe Hovland and Lloyd Van Camp look good at guard and will alternate with Norman Kamins certain of seeing lots of action.

Converted into an end was Bill Peschel, who has been at tackle all season. Teaming with him will be Bud Snowberg.

Starting tackles will be Bruce Fulks and Curtis Johnson, both big men who have seen a lot of action this year.

SMITH ON BISON SPORTSMANSHIP

The Bison of North Dakota State college are noted for their hard-hitting football ability but at the same time they are famous for their clean sportsmanlike type of play. The letter that follows shows clearly that the Bison are being inculcated with all the educational objectives of a college athletic program.

Greeley State College of Education, Greeley, Colorado.

We arrived back in Greeley Sunday, Oct. 23, weary and worn, but glad to get back where the sun shines once more.

I want to take this opportunity to express my personal appreciation and the appreciation of the other coaches and the football squad for the clean game that your boys played last Friday night. It was the fourth game of the year and the only one in which our boys did not complain of being slugged and kneed. Please convey to your squad our most sincere appreciation and congratulations.

Sincerely yours, J. W. Hancock, Director of Athletics.

Rather an upset—the Baby Bison victory over the Sioux. That was a good illustration of what a lot of fight can do, and the Bison yearlings certainly had a lot of it. They can win again today if they show that same Bison determination. All credit should go to them for being a scrappy crew of footballers. With Butch Kimblin out of the lineup due to a foot injury the odds will be against them but with the kind of fight that they had at Grand Forks they can do almost anything, so I refuse to predict a loss for them.

The Bison varsity are also the underdogs but that traditional Bison fight is what is going to be the deciding factor in the game. That is what will carry the Herd to victory. It is going to be one of the most interesting contests ever staged between these two schools. The contest that Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Pollard will stage with their running, kicking and passing will be worth the price of admission in itself.

Ten Varsity Men End Last Season

By QUINT AULT

Tomorrow's football game with the Sioux will mark the end of service for ten Bison players, as they play their last game on the home field. They are Gil Friederichs, Ed Wellesms, Emil May, Elmer Schrank, Ray Hawkins, Tin Yan Jim On, Elmer Holt, Ernie Wheeler, Neal McClure, and Herman Bowers. The first eight men are all two-year letter winners, while McClure has won one letter.

The 1939 Bison team will be without the services of four backfield men, Ernie Wheeler, Elmer Schrank, Emil May, and Gil Friederichs. Wheeler, a likely All-American candidate, and co-captain of this year's squad, is a graduate of Fargo high school. In his sophomore year, the Herd's captain became regular halfback, holding that particular berth ever since.

Another regular to end his collegiate career on the home field, is Elmer Schrank, the Herd's signal barker. It is his duty not only to call signals, but to do the blocking on every play. Schrank is from Grafton.

Emil May, regular Bison halfback, also climaxes his home career Saturday. Coming back to school this fall after a year's absence, Emil has strengthened the Bison attack in every department. He is a capable passer, punter, and a clever ball handler. May is a member of the famous May family, who have all served on previous Bison teams.

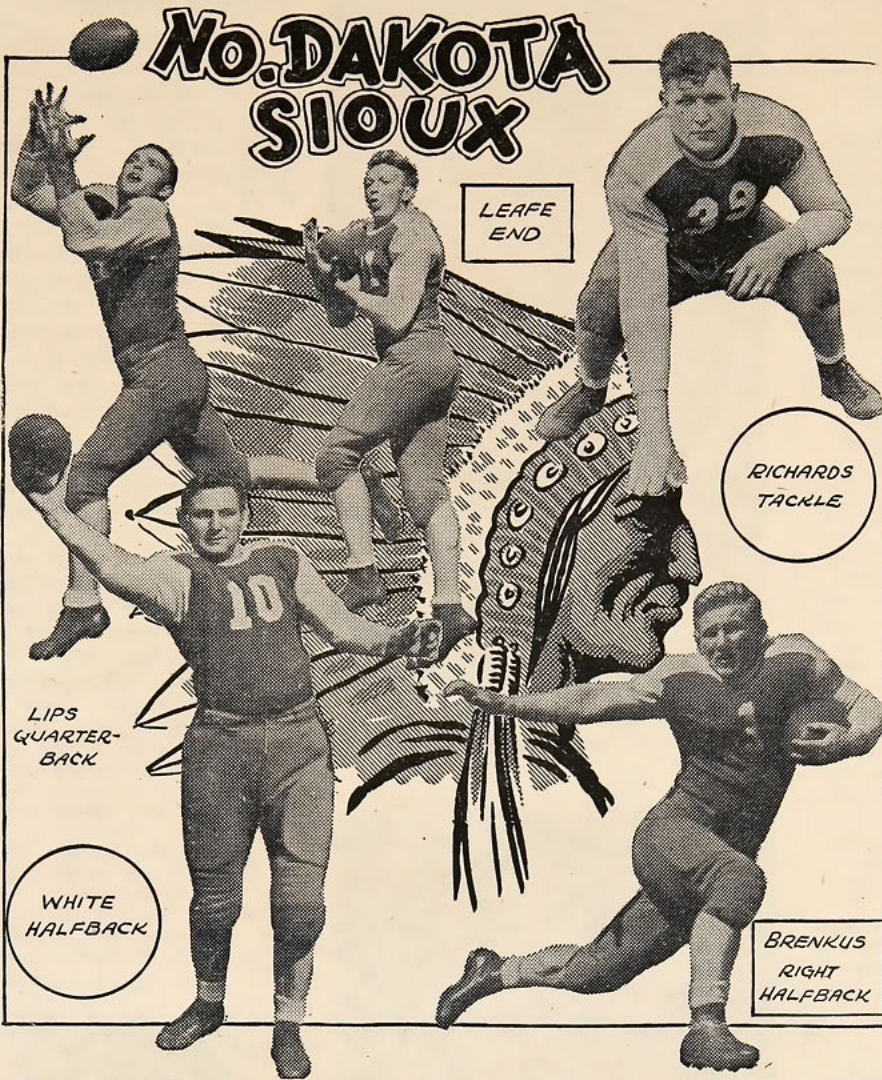

The last backfield man to finish his service for the Bison is Gil Friederichs, halfback. Gil has seen service in nearly every position on the team, and has proven his ability as a halfback.

In the line, left end Ed Wellesms from Montana, will be lost. Regarded as one of the best blockers on the team, Wellesms' flank position will be hard to fill.

Co-captain Ray Hawkins, regular right end, who earned a position on the varsity by his effective pass receiving and deadly blocking, is from LaCrosse, Wisconsin. He should be a candidate for all-conference honors.

Tim Yan Jim On, husky Bison pivot man, has served on the green and yellow eleven for three years. Popular Jim On is from Hawaii and weighs 195 pounds.

The two guards who will be seen in action for the last time on Dacotah field are Elmer Holt and Neal McClure. As a junior Holt made the all-conference team. His teammate, Neal McClure, from Bowbells, is another fighting grinder. Coming to NDAC with but little experience, Neal has developed into an outstanding lineman.

Herman Bowers, 190-pound tackle from Larimore, is one of the Herd's sturdiest linemen. Having plenty of bulk and power, Bowers is capable of making it tough for the opposing team.

A CORRECTION

Contrary to a statement in last week's Spectrum, the officials of Concordia College had nothing to do with the cutting off of Roy Colby's Quest for Guests program last Thursday.

With a gift of $2,250,000, Harvard University has opened a new graduate school of public administration.

Bison Win Over Greeley 12-6, On Muddy Field

With the rain making the ball hard to handle, the Greeley State Teachers college Bears were forced to depend on their running attack with the result that they were no match for the Herd in their game Friday night. The heavier Bison outclassed the Bears in every department of the game and left no doubt in the minds of the spectators as to who had the better team. Had it not been for fumbles, the Bison would have rolled up a much more top-heavy score.

After the first kick-off, the Bears made two successive first downs which was the most sustained drive they made all night. From then on May, Erickson and Sturgeon took control of the situation, and, although they gained a lot of yards in the first half, could not manage to score. Whenever they would get the ball in scoring position, the Bison would either lose it on downs or fumble it.

84 Yard Run
In the third quarter, the Herd made two successive first downs only to lose the ball on a fumble on the Greeley 20 yard line. A few minutes later, Sturgeon's pass was intercepted and the Bears kicked to the Bison 16 yard line. It was at this point that the sophomore star, Sig Erickson, broke away on his 84 yard run for the Bison's first touchdown. After Sig got passed the line of scrimmage, Elmer Schrank took out the safety man leaving the field wide open. May missed the try for extra point. Later in the same period, Erickson ran the ball from the Bison 32 to the Greeley 44. Sturgeon then made 12 more yards through the line. In the next series of downs, the AC worked the ball to the 20 just as the third quarter ended.

As the last quarter got under way, Emil May broke loose to cross the goal line only to have the play called back because both sides were off-side. On the very next play, May passed to Hawkins for a touchdown. The try for point was no good.

The game ended with the Bison in possession of the ball on the Greeley 25 yard line.

Ends Play Well
One of the most interesting features of the game was the end play of the Bison. Hawkins, Wellesms, Marquardt, and Maxwell left little to be desired as they were constantly in the opponent's backfield and were always down the field fast to cover punts.

Sig Erickson was the best ball carrier the Bison had. Besides his 84 yard jaunt, the former Valley City high school halfback broke away on several nice runs ranging from 10 to 25 yards. Erickson's running helped no end in making up for the absence of Wheeler in the lineup. Another feature which deserves comment is the newly found Bison pass defense which succeeded in throttling the famous Greeley pass attack.

SPORTS SPECULATIONS

By SAM TOLCHINSKY

The most welcome sight on the campus this week was seeing Herb Kittler up and around again. Although he is glad to get out of the hospital we bet he misses that nurse of his who really had something on the ball. He will not be allowed to go out for football any more this year but there apparently are no permanent effects of his injury.

There have been a lot of surprises during this year's football campaign but one of the biggest was when Coach Johnny Smith's Frosh team won their fifth consecutive victory over the U freshmen. Our boys were supposed to take a licking in that game but Butch Kimblin said "No" and so the rest of the boys said "No" also.

Winning with a 12-6 score may look like the Young Herd men eked out a win but it was anything but that. The New Sioux never threatened to win. In fact the only reason they scored was on a big break; the recovery of a fumble on the 2 yard line. And even then it took them three plays to punch it over.

They're talking about a Bowl bid at the U after they lick the AC. In fact some of the students up there think they are due for one whether Detroit loses or wins in their tilt with the Sioux. We don't know what the official attitude is but the student reaction towards the AC game is that it is in the bag.

Which is not the way some of our boys are taking it. Some of the seniors went up with Finnegan to watch the Montana game and even though they are not optimistic they are decidedly not so pessimistic as to matter in their playing.

For the past several years now the Sioux have always blocked a Bison punt or capitalized on a Herd fumble to gain a touchdown and leap to a six-point lead. Are they going to do it this year? We think they are going to need a break like that to get them started and we are also afraid that end, Gainer, of theirs is just the man to do it.

With one of the fastest charging lines in years Coach West is bringing down a light squad which made DePauw and Montana look sick. But if Elmer Schrank and Cecil Sturgeon start pounding the center of the line like they did against Greeley that Nodak stone wall is going to crumble; all conference center or no all conference center.

Jim On was left off most all-conference teams last year in favor of Jack West, Sioux's tipper back. That may have been because Jim missed half of the games because of injuries or it may have been because the Sioux won the championship and the Herd did not. But whatever it was that boy West will have a lot of trouble convincing Jim who the all-Conference man is.

KAPPA SIGMA CHIS, YMCA MEET IN INTRAMURAL LEAGUE FINALE

Both Teams Have Perfect Record In Bracket Play

By JACK GARRY

The Kappa Sigma Chi's and the YMCA, representing the two strongest teams on the campus, will clash tomorrow on the field of battle to find out just which outfit is tops in Intramural Touch Football teams.

Naturally, every team played each game with an eye on the championship game, but after witnessing any one of these games, it is easy to see that the boys are in there playing because they really like this super All-American sport. Take it from anyone of the fellows that have participated in the games, the Athletic Commission didn't go wrong, when they added touchball to the already well equipped intramural sports program.

It is very difficult for anyone to predict the outcome of the championship game tomorrow. Because the two teams in the playoff are from two separate brackets, no comparative scores are available. Each team won all three of their games. It is undoubtedly safe to say that each team has an equally strong aggregation and the final score will find only a difference of one touchdown, or possibly it may only be a margin of one point. That one point difference in score would only materialize in the case of a tie.

A little look at the rules will demonstrate what the procedure is if a game ends in a tie. Each game is divided into two halves, just as regular football. However in touchball, there is no time limitation, but instead 25 plays constitute each half. If, after the total 50 plays have been used, the score is a deadlock, the ball is placed in midfield and alternately each team is given five plays. The team advancing the ball farthest into the opposition's territory at the end of ten plays, wins the game by one point.

Pre-season dope had the Theta Chi's and the Sigma Chi's advanced to the finals. Theta Chi's really won all three of their games but had to forfeit two because they used an ineligible man. The Dormitory played a whale of an opener, but made easy pickings for their other opponents. The rest of the teams were about even.

The championship game will be played at 1 o'clock this afternoon. No doubt, the team with the sturdiest pass defense will come out on the long end of the score. It will be an interesting game to watch. Why not come out and see it?

UND Sports Writer Is Confident Of Sioux Win

By KENNY SCHLASINGER

Sports Editor, DAKOTA STUDENT

Five in a row is the record of the University of North Dakota Sioux as they make final preparations for their traditional battle with the NDAC Bison on Saturday, and only the most loyal Aggie fans believe that Wheeler and company can end the winning streak of the Westmen.

While the Bison used just straight football to subdue Greeley Teachers last Friday—giving the Sioux no idea as to what fancy football the Herd may spring—the Nodaks turned back Montana in a like manner in their game. All of which leaves everything under cover.

Missing from the game on Saturday will be Horace Johnson, speedy right half, who re-injured his knee. It was Johnson last year who caught Pollard's pass on his finger tips, juggled it momentarily, then tucked it under his arm and sprinted to the first Sioux touchdown.

Coach C. A. West of the Sioux spent most of the week on ground plays, checking blocking assignments and issuing new plays. The aerial attack which functioned effectively against the Grizzlies was also given more time. A switch in the backfield due to Johnson's injury had White at right half where he did some passing from a new formation.

Of the 11 men who started against Montana, 10 played the full 60 minutes of the game. Mike Brenkus came out in the last few minutes of the game to be replaced by Johnson, who is much taller and therefore a better defender against the last-minute passes the Grizzlies were throwing. West indicated that these same 11 men

FIVE WINS, TWO TIES, and two losses is the record of Jack West's Sioux in the last nine games against the Bison. He hopes to celebrate his tenth anniversary as the UND coach by tacking another win to this string.

Brains Useful To Omaha Gridder

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 21.—Book learning is no detriment on the football field.

Sophomore Tackle John Powers of Creighton University's undefeated football team, which meets NDAC's Bison Nov. 19, demonstrated that it can come mighty handy during tense moments of a game. In his case, it was knowledge of the football rule book that gave Creighton an extra point in their 16-7 victory over Oklahoma A. and M.

On a try for point after touchdown, a Creighton placement was blocked. Unobserved, Powers picked up the ball and walked over the goal line with it. The rule book says the procedure is legal, so the extra point counted after all.

Powers' quick thinking on the field came as no surprise to faculty members. During his freshman year he chalked up a classroom average of 93 in the arts department, ranking him as an A student.

SLATE LSA CONVENTION

A convention of the Lutheran Students association will be held at Valley City Nov. 4 to 6. Colleges from North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Canada will be represented.

From The Sidelines

By DON BLOOMQUIST

Pushover Bison?

Anyone who attended the UND-Montana game gained the impression that the Sioux regard the AC as pushovers. This over-confident attitude was typified by various University students laughing in our faces if we so much as suggested that the Bison have a fighting chance.

It seems that our northern neighbors suspect a "get Pollard" campaign in our squad. To this ridiculous charge, we might say that if the Bison cannot win by good, hard, clean football, they don't want to win at all. So rest assured that if the Bison do win, it will not be a result of foul play. None other than Coach West congratulated Finnegan on the clean play of our team in the past two encounters with the Sioux, so this accusation is just so much idle talk.

The spectators at the homecoming game tomorrow will have the chance to watch another duel between Wheeler and Pollard. Both do most of the punting and passing for their respective teams along with playing safety man and doing a large share of the ball carrying. The chance to see these two halfbacks on the same field is a spectacle which doesn't occur every day and this alone should be incentive enough for the whole student body to turn out, as well as a goodly share of the people of Fargo and surrounding territory.

It will be remembered that in the game last year, the University received more than its share of the breaks. The Bison expect to get their share this year with the result that it should be a very close game.

Hawkins Plays Well

Have you ever noticed the masterful way in which Ray Hawkins handles his end position? This lad from Wisconsin utilizes his size to the greatest advantage in covering his end of the line. Standing well over six feet and weighing over 190 pounds, Hawkins has plenty of speed to enable him to get down the field to cover punts. After being out with a broken leg most of last year, he has come back this year better than ever and is playing the best football of his career. When the time comes to pick all-star teams, sports authorities will have a hard time leaving Hawkins out of their lineups. His ability as a pass receiver is well known to anyone who has followed the progress of the team this season. Two of the last three passes which he has received have resulted in touch downs for the Herd.

Speaking of ends, Ed Welles and Jim Maxwell are doing a fine job as is Earl Marquardt, the sophomore, who seems to delight in invading the enemy backfield and breaking up plays before they have a chance to get started.

This department wishes to express a note of thanks to C. D. Locklin of the Grand Forks Herald for his impartial attitude in reviewing the progress made by the athletic departments of the AC and the University in his column last Sunday.

Just in case you haven't already heard, Emil May played most of the first half of last Friday's game with Greeley while he was out on his feet. Early in the first quarter, he was hit on the head and didn't completely regain consciousness until the rest period between the halves.

HOME COMING CHAIRMAN, QUEEN

Critchfield, Putz Once Reigned At Fargo High School

Together again—after four years! Just four years ago James Critchfield and Claire Putz were chosen representative boy and girl of Fargo's Central high school. Today and tomorrow they reign as king and queen of NDAC.

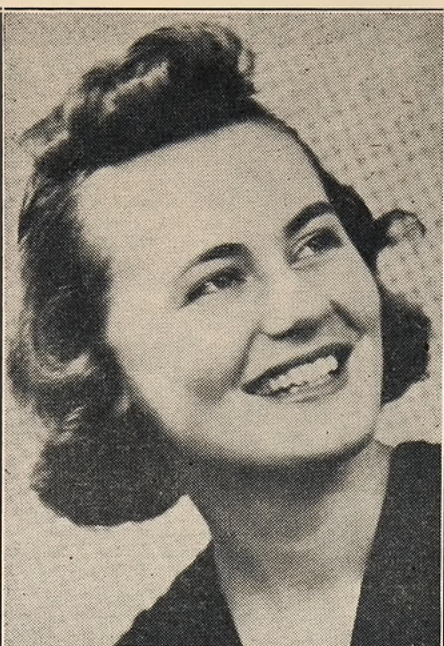

As president of the Bison student commission, Critchfield is automatically general chairman of Homecoming. Miss Putz reigns as Homecoming Queen by virtue of her position as social commissioner on the student government group. Both were elected by student vote last spring.

For being representative boy and girl at Fargo high, Critchfield and Miss Putz received $10 awards and had their names engraved on a silver trophy retained at the school. While there both were members of the Sportsmanship club, Quill and Scroll and the National Honor Society. He was president of the Sportsmanship club, she, head of Quill and Scroll.

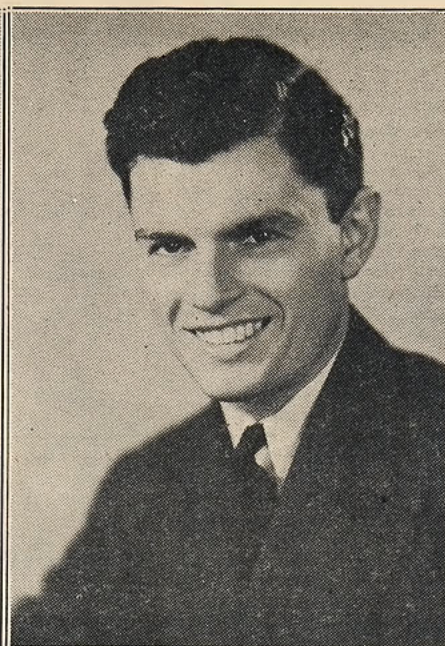

Critchfield was sports editor on the Cynosure yearbook, Miss Putz was organizations editor. Both were reporters on the Cynosure bi-weekly. He was a member of the boys' glee club, she, of the girls' glee club. Both sang in the A Cappella choir. He was a member of the Harlequin Dramatic society, she, of the Kent Literary society.

An old Cynosure says the two were active in athletics and both played leading roles in the Christmas pageant. Critchfield was senior class president, a member of Orpheus club and the band. Miss Putz was president, vice-president and secretary of the Sisticratic league.

The striking parallel in their careers has continued during their four years at NDAC. Besides winning the two major positions on the student commission the duo have won many other honors. He is editor of the Bison yearbook for the second Johnny Smith, whose untiring efforts in connection with everything that has been done toward the dedication and homecoming celebrations have heretofore gone unheralded, has been the sparkplug behind a lot of the enthusiasm that has made those things possible. It was he who urged the formation of the Bison Booster's club, after the idea had been all but abandoned this fall. He edited the programs for both the homecoming and dedication football games, which represent a lot of work. He is one of the most widely known among the students, of all NDAC alumni. After a brilliant career as a basketball player for the Bison, Smith began coaching basketball, freshman football, and track, and merits the best praise of alumni and students.

At The Movies William Mutz Is Barb Unit Head

When a girl's in love with a millionaire and her family is imbued with an overbearing consciousness of the importance of the Great Middle Class, there's bound to be comedy galore, and that's what there is at the Grand Theatre where the new laugh hit, "Rich Man, Poor Girl," plays Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, Oct. 30, 31, and Nov. 1.

Playing at the Fargo Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday will be Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in "Too Hot to Handle." It is a gripping movie of the dangerous assignments of newsreel men. "Four's a Crowd" plays Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 3, 4, and 5. It is a swiftly-paced comedy romance with a cast topped by Errol Flynn, Olivia deHavilland, Rosalind Russell, and Patric Knowles.

"Bulldog Drummond Comes Back" with John Barrymore, John Howard, and Louise Campbell, will be at the State Theatre Saturday, Oct. 29. There is adventure as devil-may-care as Drummond himself. "Heidi" follows on Sunday and Monday, Oct. 30 and 31, with Shirley Temple more glorious than ever before as the beloved Heidi, who lived and laughed in the Swiss Alps. Henry Fonda and Joan Bennett in "I Met My Love Again." It is a thrilling romantic drama which will be shown on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 1 and 2. The historical musical comedy, "High Wide and Handsome" with Irene Dunne and Randolph Scott will be shown on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 3 and 4.

Appointment by President William Mutz of an advisory board of five members and outlining of general plans for the year's activities for the group constituted the main business of the regular meeting of the newly organized NDAC Independent Students association held Monday evening at the YMCA building.

Appointed to the board were Ray Struble, Sid Johnson, Margaret Fairley, Sam Tolchinsky and Dorothea Gerbracht. Russell Botsford and Marjorie Hanson were named publicity assistants.

Following the business meeting a short musical program was given, featuring a solo by Ray Struble and trio numbers by Helen Halldorson, Helen Sundquist and Mildred Thorson and the Ceres Hall trio, Carol and Kathleen Benson and Eunice Hjelte.

The Independent Students association is an organization of all NDAC students not affiliated with a social sorority or fraternity. Serving with Mutz as officers are Marjorie Pfeffer, vice-president; Marjorie Handy, secretary, and Charles Murphy, treasurer.
