

Smarter Freshmen—

Results in English placement tests show this year's crop of freshmen somewhat better versed in the English language, according to figures released by Professor Kenneth Kuhn, English department chief. This year 17 per cent of the freshmen flunked the placement quiz and will be required to take at least one term of sub-English. Formerly, slightly more than 20 per cent of the frosh failed the test. Two Fargo girls and a Jamestown boy placed high in the tests. Out of a possible 150, Betty Pannebaker scored 145, Betty Myrbo, 139 and John Emo, 138. A score of 96 is passing. The test used here is the standardized English placement examination from Kansas State Teachers college.

On "College Ruts"—

Speaking on "College Ruts," Dr. Ward F. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Fargo, will appear in the second in the series of student fellowship hours Sunday in the Little Country theater. Lloyd Collins will present special music. Faculty and students are urged to attend.

Alums Like Spectrum—

Demonstrating continued interest in NDAC and its students, alumni subscriptions to The Spectrum are coming in steadily. M. C. Henry of Berkeley, Calif., asks for "your leading college paper." ("Used to be called The Spectrum back in the nineties"). Says Vinton Plath, '37, now with the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station at Burlington: "From 'Doc' Putnam's Alma Mater, I send NDAC my best wishes for 1938-39." Other recent graduates who have asked for The Spectrum include Orville Goplen, former editor, now with the U. S. Forest Service at Crater Lake Park, Ore.; Dale Hogboom, '38, spending a year at Fort Snelling under the Thomasson Act; Joey Burgum, former student, now at the University of Minnesota and Charles Kade, former chemistry assistant, now with the University of Illinois at Urbana.

Judgers Return—

Just returned from Waterloo, Iowa, where they participated in the National Belgian Horse Judging Contest, is the NDAC judging team. Student judges are Orbin Erickson, of Hoople, Lyle Currie of Starkweather, George Strum of Hastings, Lloyd Nygaard of Edinburg and Edward Schmidt of Mandan. Faculty adviser is F. C. Daugherty.

Discusses Alaska—

Dean H. L. Walster will address a meeting of the Fargo Engineer's club Saturday on "Agricultural and Economic Possibilities of Alaska." Supplementing his talk will be 700 feet of film which he took on his recent trip to Alaska. Yesterday (Thursday) Dean Walster and Dr. P. J. Iverson spoke at a meeting of the Southeastern North Dakota Educational association at Lisbon.

Seek PWA Grants—

Proposals for two new NDAC buildings, a farm folk school and a library, each estimated to cost $200,000, were formally submitted to regional PWA offices at Omaha by S. W. Hagan college secretary, through the state board of administration. A third proposal, a $75,000 general repair project, may be submitted also.

More Boosters—

Principal aim of the Fargo Chamber of Commerce's meeting Thursday evening was collection and development of suggestions to draft a thorough, co-ordinated program of assistance in building NDAC into a larger, better educational institution. Dr. Frank L. Eversull, new NDAC president, was a speaker.

Anti-Climax—

As rushing week draws swiftly to a close, prospective fraternity and sorority members should be reminded that they must make their final decision very soon. Girls should report their first and second choices to the office of the Panhellenic lawyer in the Black Building on Sunday afternoon. Sunday afternoon fraternity rushes will contact the Registrar's office for bids.

Appoint New Members To College Committees

Reorganized Boards Are To Be Increased in Size

Reorganization of faculty committees has been perfected and approved by the College Council, according to an announcement from the office of the president. The new committees were approved by the council at a meeting Tuesday.

Intent of the reorganization, says the announcement, is to "engage as many members of the staff as possible in order that the resources of the group may be widely used." In cases where deans are not on the committee, it is understood that the president and deans are to be ex-officio members of each committee.

Committees will be called together immediately to perfect organization by election of a chairman and secretary. The committees follow:

Student Board of Public Speaking and Control — A. G. Arnold, Carol Ladwig (three students).

Guidance, Personnel and Placement — Dr. Otto J. Beyers, W. O. Brown, J. R. Dice, Geraldine Ewald, W. J. Promersberger, Matilda Thompson, and Dr. Henry E. Wirth.

Student Health — F. W. Christensen, Dr. Melvin Griffith, Dr. C. I. Nelson, E. vira T. Smith, and Dean W. F. Sudro.

Student Social Affairs — Thomas Hanson, Alice Mickle, Alfred Richardson, and W. R. Wenger.

Scholarship — Ann Brown, Ernest DeAlton, Dean Pearl Dinan, Dean C. A. Severson, and Dean H. L. Walster.

Student Activities (accounting)— Russell L. Chrysler, Dr. D. S. Dedrick, Lucille Horton, Donald Keene, John Scheurich, and Ruby Grimes.

Student Attendance — T. P. Cobb, Glen N. Lawritson, and Constance Leeb.

Student Loan Fund—Minnie Anderson, Dr. Earl A. Helgeson, H. F. McColly, and Matilda Thompson.

California Man Speaks At ASAE Fall Banquet

J. M. Cropsy, junior agricultural engineer from California, speaking on grain and potato storage methods, gave the principal talk at the American Society of Agricultural Engineers' banquet, held at the college cafeteria Tuesday evening.

Other speakers, introduced by Toastmaster H. F. Colly, included William Prommersberger, instructor in agricultural engineering, who discussed briefly the activities of the Minnesota chapter of the society, and J. S. Wiseman, architectural engineer of the agricultural engineering department.

Officers of the society, President Norman Akesson; Vice-President John Ormiston, and Secretary-Treasurer Stanley Bale also gave short talks, Akesson describing the meetings of the national convocation, which he attended.

General discussion of the year's plans for the group followed.

This is the first fall banquet given by the organization, which numbers approximately forty-five members, and tentative plans have been made to make it an annual feature, giving the men the chance to become better acquainted, and enabling them to plan the year's activities at an early date.

Members present included Sid M. Johnson, Ray Parsons, Sebastian Vogel, Gordon Maston, Mike Dobervich, Jerry Keohane, Ormiston, Lawrence Restemayer, Robert Sandison, Karl Kanz, Erling Nossun, Arthur Schulz, Robert Larson, Russell Morrison, Clifford Lund, Harveydale Maruska, Gordon Loder, Charles Walker, Waldo Southam, Akesson, Bale, Maurice Dullea, Lynn Frenberg, Arnold Tanberg, Thores Lybeck, Bruce Plath and Raymond Boon.

Raymond Novak Wins Ag. Award

The Sears-Roebuck Scholarship committee announces that Raymond Novak of Alexander has been awarded the Sears-Roebuck sophomore agricultural scholarship for this year. The award is given to the holder of a last year's freshman scholarship, whose first year's record in terms of scholarship, participation in agricultural activities, promise of leadership, business ability and personality warranted recognition. Next June, Novak will be given a trip to Chicago where he will compete with winners of awards in other land-grant colleges for further honors. Winner of the national contest will receive a $500 senior award, the runner-up, a $250 junior scholarship.

1351 Students In Second Week

Total registration figures released at noon Thursday showed 1351 students enrolled as the second week of the fall term draws to a close. These figures, according to Viola Borderud, acting registrar, put the total men at 997 and women at 354.

The only serious drop in the enrollment was suffered in the freshman class, the total of which dropped from 620 to 412. That drop accounts for nearly all the decrease in the school enrollment, the total this year being only slightly below 1500, the number registered after the first week in 1937.

Both junior and senior classes show a slight rise, the former with 19 more and the latter an increase of 63. There are six more graduate students this year than shown on last year's figures. Totals used for last year are for the end of the first week of registration. According to that comparison, the sophomore class showed a decrease of 29 students.

By divisions, there are in agriculture, 313; applied arts and sciences, 339; chemical technology, 84; engineering, 288; home economics, 258; and pharmacy, 69.

There are three men to one coed this year, while last year women were outnumbered a little more than two to one.

The men's residence hall was filled early last week. There are still some vacancies in Ceres Hall.

Hutchens, Winther Head Dugout Staff

Succeeding Al Brauer as manager of the YMCA Dugout this year are Barney Hutchens and Adolph Winther, who will act as co-managers, Brauer, a June graduate, managed the Dugout the last two years.

Operation of the Dugout, popular campus hangout, is under supervision of the YMCA advisory board with Rudolph Otterson, treasurer, in direct charge.

New members of the Dugout staff are William Pepple and Mike Hurdlebrink. Veteran soda-jerkers are Andy Peterson, Joe Kojancik, Arnold Seim, Hilbert Isaakson, Wilbur Benson, Dan Dobervich, Ted Bierke, Orville Monroe and Bud Erickson.

U. of M's Conger To Begin Week Of Religious Talks

Opens Y Series Thursday; Receives Eversull's Praise

DR. GEORGE CONGER

"Religion, a Reasonable Proposition," is the general theme for the YMCA-sponsored Spiritual Emphasis Week, Oct. 6 to 9. Dr. George P. Conger, professor of philosophy at the University of Minnesota, will conduct the meetings which open Thursday, Oct. 6, at a general convocation when Dr. Conger will speak to the student body on "For Such a Time as This."

Continuing the series, Dr. Conger will address the Faculty Men's Club Thursday evening with "Ghandi at Home" as the subject. Friday morning's convocation will have as its topic, "What Can Religion Do?", and on Saturday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p. m., in the Fireside Room at the YMCA, Dr. Conger will lead in discussion a joint

Eighteen Frosh Win Scholarships

Eighteen freshman students in the division of agriculture have been awarded Sears-Roebuck Scholarships, according to an announcement from the Sears-Roebuck Scholarship committee. Each scholarship is a cash award of $125.

The awards, made by the Sears-Roebuck Co. of Chicago are given to North Dakota high school graduates enrolling in agriculture here, and whose high school records indicate high scholarship, an active participation in agricultural affairs and a promise of agricultural leadership. Approximately eighty high school graduates applied for scholarships.

Scholarship winners are Melvin Berg of Bowbells, Norvin Black of Grace City, John Conway of Medora, Robert Coon of Buffalo, Richard Crockett of Langdon, John Emo of Jamestown, Willard Griffin of Mandan, Gordon Jacobson of Starkweather, Roland Johnson of Colgan, Morris Jorgenson of Lisbon, Clifford Nygard of Edinburg, graduate of the Walsh Agricultural school, Harold Tatstad of Rolette, Arthur Walen of Corinth, graduate of Crosby high school, Paul Weiser of Hazelton, William Welander of Fullerton, graduate of LaMoure high school, David Jensen of Hazen, Andrew Vanvig of Sentinel Butte, graduate of Golva high school and Lynn Moerke of Epworth, graduate of Stanley high school.

National Officer To Visit SAE House

Albert J. Schoth, National Traveling Secretary of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will spend Tuesday and Wednesday at the local chapter house. Schoth is a former member of the faculty at the University of Kansas and graduated from the University of Oregon in the class of 1920. In his capacity as Traveling Secretary he visits all of the chapters of SAE during the school year.

Of the Spiritual Emphasis Week, Dr. Eversull says:

"I take it that every student is interested in the broadening and finding opportunities of College. These opportunities are available largely through contact with rich and dynamic personalities. I know of no one who will give these to a student more richly, more attractively, and more convincingly than Dr. George Conger, of the Philosophy Department, of the University of Minnesota. His approach is logical and engaging.

"Irrespective of your present attitude, you can not afford to miss hearing him.

"Spiritual emphasis is as necessary as any other emphasis on the good, the wholesome, the useful, the practical, and the lasting things of life. Take time to hear Dr. Conger. Take time to think over the things that he will say to you."

meeting of the YMCA and YWCA cabinets. Representatives from the young people's groups of the various churches and from the college church organizations will also attend the Saturday evening meeting.

On Sunday, Oct. 9, Dr. Conger will speak on "Brilliant Careers" at a meeting for fraternity men at 9:30 a. m., and will close his regular series of appearances on the campus at the student fellowship hour from 4 to 5, speaking on "The Wisdom and the Spirit." At 7:00, Sunday evening, in the Plymouth Congregational church, Dr. Conger will speak to a meeting of all the young people's church groups of the city.

In addition to his public appearances, Dr. Conger will be available for individual and group conferences throughout the period.

Dr. Conger, one of the best-liked professors at the University of Minnesota where he is active in student affairs, is a graduate of Cornell University. He has studied in Europe for several years, and was formerly YMCA secretary in Siberia. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, has his Ph. D. from Columbia, is an anthropologist, and has written a number of philosophy texts.

AC Booster Club Plans Publicity, Ticket Campaign

Indicative of the new enthusiasm for the future of NDAC which is springing up on the campus, in downtown Fargo and about the city is the program of the newly-formed NDAC Boosters club, an organization of Fargo men headed by Ed Kraus.

First big project of the Booster's club is a citywide publicity and ticket sales campaign for the Bison-Iowa Teachers college football game here Oct. 14, which will feature dedication ceremonies of the new stadium.

Praising enthusiasm of the Booster's club, Kraus promises Fargo "a ticket drive like nothing it has ever seen before... if the enthusiasm of men working with me is my gauge, we'll put over a drive that will keep Fargoans talking for football seasons to come."

Steve Gorman, chairman, and Fred Hector and Dan Polis were named members of a ticket committee. Kraus and Carl Herdge were named to the publicity committee.

Whempner Named To Head ROTC Unit

All Company Commanders, Junior Officers Appointed

With the announcement of new appointments to the staff of the college ROTC, came word of new orders for advanced student officers. In the past, all advanced students were given commissions. This year many of the juniors will be non-commissioned officers while senior students will be given commissions with no rank higher than that of major, according to Colonel Mendenhall, new head of military department.

Robert Whempner, senior in engineering, was named battalion commander with the rank of major. In the past a number of students were given the rank of colonel, which was the title of the battalion commander. Whempner succeeds Francis LaMarr as battalion commander.

David Askegaard, senior in engineering, was given the rank of captain, and will be adjutant commander. On the staff of battalion headquarters will be Master-Sergeant Kenneth Archer, junior in engineering; Technical Sergeant John E. Holing, junior; Staff Sergeant Norman Akesson, junior in agriculture, and Staff Sergeant Roger Kimber, junior in chemistry. Members of officer's detachment are Major Jack Riebe, commanding; and first Lieutenants Lyle Benson, Russell Comrie, James Elwin, Clark Jenkins, Edward Meath, and Wallace Swanson, all seniors. Given the rank of second lieutenants are: Charles Askegaard, Wallace Bjornson, Jack Boulger, William Corwin, John Cromb, Gilbert Friederichs, Albert Hinkle, Howard Huntley, Jerome Keohane, Ross McLarty, Emil May, John Niles, Dale Quickstad, Fay Sanders, Melvin Thuring and Adolph Winther, all seniors.

Four Company Commanders

Company commanders are James Critchfield, Mike Dobervich, Jack McCready, Charles Starbuck, all seniors with the rank of captain. On the staff of Company A are, 1st Lieut. Michael Hurdlebrink, 1st Sergeant Lee Taylor, and Staff Sergeant Vernon Johnson. The staff of Company B in-

Putnam Makes Plans For String Ensemble

Regular class credit is to be given students participating in a string ensemble or orchestra which will be organized on the campus soon. Dr. C. S. Putnam has requested that all students interested in such a musical group should see him before Wednesday of next week. It is not necessary that the student have an instrument with him.

Arrangements have been made whereby excellent instruction will be given any one participating.

Because of the need for such a musical organization, President Eversull met with representatives of the music department and Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music honorary, which is sponsoring the group, last week. It is generally felt by them that the group should resemble Singing Strings which was discontinued last year, but should not draw from members of the Gold Star Band.

'Service To The State' Is Bison Homecoming Theme

General theme of Homecoming, Oct. 28 and 29, will be "Service to the State," announces James Critchfield, student commission president and general chairman of Homecoming. The theme was suggested by President Frank L. Eversull and approved by the student commission.

Chairmen of student committees have been appointed and will immediately begin preliminary work shaping Homecoming into a well rounded program for students, alumni and visitors. Personnel of the committees will be selected immediately and these groups will co-operate with alumni and other committees.

Tentative plans, according to Critchfield, call for a full two-days' program of events. First on the schedule is dedication of a memorial by the class of '38 Friday morning, Oct. 28. Harold Schulz of Marion, is in charge. The annual pep rally will be followed by an all-college barbecue lunch, sponsored by Blue Key. In the afternoon formal inaugural ceremonies will be conducted for Dr. Eversull. Alumni will meet and dine that evening prior to the UND-NDAC frosh football game. Following this the Homecoming bonfire will be burned in traditional style.

Bison Vs Sioux

Saturday's events begin at 10:30 with the Homecoming parade. At 2 p. m. Bison gridmen tangle with the Fighting Sioux from NDU in the feature event of the two-day program. After the game fraternities and sororities will hold open house, with the annual Queen's Dinner, sponsored by Senior Staff, scheduled at 6 o'clock. The Homecoming celebration culminates in an all-college dance at the Field House Saturday evening.

Student committee chairmen include Lorraine Fitjar, pep rally; Mel Thuring, parade; Mike Dobervich, bonfire; John Lynch, publicity; John Fisher, floats; Dick Cook, campus decorations; Catherine Brandes, president's inauguration; Claire Putz, dance; Bill Corwin, radio publicity; Florenz Dinwoodie, Queen's Dinner, and Jim McGregor, barbecue.

These students will co-operate with alumni groups already named by Helen Stokke, secretary of the Alumni and Former Student's association. Miss Stokke and John Smith, alumni publicity chairman, meet regularly with the Student Commission to further Homecoming plans.

In Praise of Stadium's Bleacher Davenport

Of NDAC's new football stadium it may be said: It is not made of 1200 tons of concrete; the stands are not 50 feet high on each side; the illumination offers daylight no competition; there is not parking space for 500 cars; the stands will not seat 100,000 people.

No, the stadium cannot be said to be notable for any of these things, but the manner in which are seated the 12,000 people the stands will hold—that is something else again.

Wood has never been considered suitable for upholstery. But the manner in which the wood of the seats was used, shaped as it is to the usual contours of the nether portions, has been a matter of considerable comment since the game last Friday. An ingenious arrangement of the two-by-fours makes the usually uncomfortable, flat benches the nearest thing to outdoor overstuffing possible.

Credit is due the architect, presumably. Whoever is responsible for removing the last objection to watching football games, is deserving of at least an appreciative thought from every campus football fan.

To Prospective Pledges

Comes Sunday, comes time for you to indicate your choice of fraternities or sororities. That choice is important and should be given careful consideration. Probably every fraternity and every sorority can conjure up pasts replete with fine men and women, now in prominent positions in the work-a-day world. Position and importance of Greek group chapters naturally fluctuate considerably over a period of years. Base not your choice on a fraternity's past. Rather, make a careful analysis of the groups who comprise the present chapter. It's they with whom you will associate the next four years. Former members you will meet only occasionally and but in rare instances will the make-up of alumni groups warrant more than passing consideration in the final analysis. Look about you carefully, choose wisely and then put your heart and soul into your choice—the only fraternity or sorority for you.

Form Study Habits Early

The value of forming good study habits early in your collegiate career cannot be overstressed. Any upperclassmen will offer that advice, and come back later with an "I told you so." Many are the juniors and seniors who wish they had formed good study habits during their freshman year. It is during their first year that students have the most time for studying. Few college activities demand much time and work of freshmen. In later years many will find extra-curricular activities encroaching more and more on time that should be set aside for study. If habits are formed early in his career, the college student, especially the active one, may have occasions aplenty to reflect on a freshman job well done.

What Do Lecture Series Mean To You?

One wonders during a moment of reflective thinking if students on other college campuses are as lax as local students are as regards attendance at special lectures or talks given on the campus by college and guest speakers. Every year men representing diverse fields of industry, business, education, appear on the campus to pass on to students what they have learned in their years of tackling the problems of life. Too few students appreciate the benefits that can be derived from contact with older men through lectures and talks. Best example of this at present is the current series of Student Fellowship Hours, the second of which is slated Sunday in the Little Country Theater. Each of these programs carries a special message to students—it takes a student audience to receive and absorb the message and profit from the experiences of an older generation.

A Short Short Story

"AS WE GO MARCHING ON"

He leaned against the side of the building like a bent toothpick and his face neither asked nor answered questions. A cigarette hung like a discolored worm from the corner of his mouth, a mouth that was made for smiling and had forgot the meaning.

It had rained that morning and now with the sunlight spilling into the street, puddles stood out here and there like pools of stagnant flame. The sidewalks had lost their swarthy complexions and stretched white and clean while even the blackness of the asphalt held little of last night's sullenness. A feeling of freshness was in the air and people smiled at each other and thought it good to be alive.

He saw none of this. His eyes were fixed on something far more distant than the street with its people and puddles. Even the freshness of the air as it rushed in and out of his lungs failed to penetrate his consciousness. His fingers caressed a lone dime that lay in his pocket, dropping it and then fingering it again as though its touch would bring contact with something beyond his reach.

A feeling of unutterable loneliness swelled in him, making his stomach light for a moment, and he spit the cigarette from his mouth. His eyes were those of a dreamer who has been killed by words.

"Will it always be like this?" he tried to answer himself in his mind and failed. "A million people, a hundred cities and not a damn one that looks any different or matters any more than the other." A woman walked past and he looked at her legs. They were nice legs but they weren't any different from a thousand other legs he had seen. How long had it been since a woman had looked at him and smiled because she knew and liked him, because he meant something to her other than the cash in his pockets? It didn't even require much cash to buy the smiles he had known and they were as genuine and substantial as wax fruit.

Frisco, New York, Chicago, Denver, Albuquerque—what the hell difference did it make? They all hated to see him come and were glad to see him go. The guys at the Mission wore the same expression on their faces and had the same eyes that made you feel like some dirty dog lying in the gutter when you asked for a meal and a flop. The flophouses all had the same stink of sweat and disease and dirty bodies; the bedbugs had the same damn bite and left the same bloody spot when you squashed them with your fingernail. What would it be like to sleep in a bed where no lice and bugs sucked the blood out of you?

He moved his body slightly to avoid the sun which had crept over the top of a building serving as his shade. A woman glanced at him and her eyes moved over his face like a shadow. A trace of hungeriness grew into her eyes and face, building something between them almost tangible in its poignancy. He felt it and stirred, looking at her with expressionless eyes. Then she was gone without a backward glance and his lips twisted into what might have been a smile but for his bitter eyes.

The wind was rising and papers were dancing spasmodically in the street. One of them fell in a murky puddle and fought to free itself, flapping wild white wings in the sunlight. A feeling of remorse, of personal loss struck him as the paper sank down to become a sodden pulpy thing. He straightened, his eyes empty, and walked slowly down the street to nowhere.

Edward Welms, second in command, 1st Sergeant William Hosmer, and Staff Sergeant Arthur Lahlum.

Named platoon commanders and raised to the rank of 1st lieutenants are Orville McLaughlin, Conway Christianson, William Rohan, Richard Cook, Oliver Uthus, Howard Isaak, Rex Carr, and Robert Lynne.

The new practice of naming juniors to the rank of sergeant instead of commissioning all advanced students is patterned according to peace-time regulations of the U. S. Army, said Colonel Mendenhall.

her previous onslaughts, she is slated to soon be a wearer of the cape.

We hope (after reading the Forum) that the Sigma Phi Delt rushees had a lovely evening whilst dining at the Theta Chi house. Didn't know that these two clubs were so chummy. By the way, the Sigs would like to know if the same invitation could be arranged for them.

Did you near Peie's and Eddie O'Brian's program last night? The two screwballs really have something of amusement and zip in their latest brainstorm. The last of the Shigleys sounded very, very, good doing "You Go to My Head." Too bad all of us haven't seen her in action, and the gags were just about right for a college trained brain to assimilate.

Merc Morris has returned! The Gamma Phi's must be planning some big push within the next few days. The odds are twenty to one that she will sing the same songs that she has sung the past three years. Thank gosh, that they are pretty good, or Miss Grimes, on the floor above, would be on her way out. It seems that the gals from north thirteenth don't care very much for Corwin, Sig rushing chairman. One of them accosted him one of the local dives the other night and all but slugged him with a meat ax.

John Lynch, local flash, is looking for a new job. It seems that some bewildered young tootsie sat in on one of his meetings of the prospective freshman journalists for twenty minutes before she discovered that it was not her English class. Wonder what she thought when he stated that he would have to work at Ulsaker's till four o'clock.

See you next week with your fronts covered with pledge pins as well as dirt from the Dugout.

Sport Speculations

By SAM TOLCHINSKY

One game, one win and everyone is satisfied. Last year the Herd got off to an even more auspicious start by swamping Omaha in a conference game and then went down to Minneapolis to be snowed under by the Gophers.

This year the Herd had to fight to eke out a victory over the MSTC Dragons and we all hope that means that the Bison are going to continue to win. At least everyone is more satisfied with the present team in its present state than with last year's team in any state.

Elmer Holt is still the spark-plug of the line. When he left the game last Friday something seemed to be missing from the list. No weakness cropped up but without the all-conference guard in there, a certain spirit was gone.

Worrying over the ends will be a waste of time. After the way the sophomores, Kittler and Marquardt, showed to advantage in the Dragon melees all of the woes of that department are gone with the wind. The veterans, Hawkins, Welles, and Maxwell are the ones who may be worrying about their jobs.

Marquardt

Not reeling off anything really sensational in the way of runs, but winning the attention of the coaches was Sig Erickson. He showed that he knows how to run with the ball and might be a big surprise of the season.

George Hammel showed plenty of punch in there as fullback while he was in, but he will take the back seat to Sturgeon when Cecil returns to the wars. The team needs 200 pounders and Sturgeon may fill the bill.

Biggest thrill is still Ernie Wheeler. We didn't see much of him during the game because the signal callers were easing up on him on account of a bad ankle. But when he did get his hands on the ball, we had no worries over where it was going.

And do you remember that long touchdown dash of Wheeler's? Remember that Drag-on safety who was going to tackle our bid for all-American? We will never forget how hard George Hammel hit that fellow. He flew at least five feet through the air after Hammel hit him and it's a wonder that he could get up at all because the grid really rose up and smacked him.

Hammel

Speaking of blocking, did any of you watch Emil May? We never saw him block, but we know he did. That is, we know that his man never busted in to break up any Bison plays. Next game we're going to watch him. We want to see why it is that the men he hits are always the last to get off the ground. And why is it that a little man like him can lead interference through the toughest kind of stonewall defense?

Winnipeg Bombers Next On Bison Victim List

Going on the road for the first time this year the Herd bucks up against the always tough Winnipeg Blue Bombers on the Canadian field tomorrow afternoon. Although the Bison showed plenty of power in their opening win against the Dragons last Friday, the Bombers rule as favorites in the coming struggle.

With one more week of practice under their belts the Herd is rounding into form and the coaches are beginning to get some idea of just how tough the AC team is going to be. A lot of irregularities turned up in the MSTC melees but the showing of the team as a whole was so much better than last year that everyone is confident that all faults will soon be ironed out.

Elmer Schrank is definitely through as fullback, seems to be one impression carried over from the game. His presence was so missed at blocking back that the team couldn't gain a yard until he took over the position he has had for the past two years.

But the fullback post is now the problem with the blocking back post filled by Schrank. Cecil Sturgeon, sophomore power-house expected to round out the best Bison backfield in years, is still missing from practice and will not see service against Winnipeg.

George Hammel will probably start against the Rugby club and if he continues where he left off in the MSTC game Bison fans have little to worry about.

The rest of the backs are in good condition with Sig Erickson's bad ankle, the result of scrimmage against the Frosh, the only sign of an injury.

Looking good against the Dragons, the same veteran lineup will start against Winnipeg. That will include Jim On at center, Holt and Green at guard, Schrank and Johnson as tackles, and Hawkins and Kittler are definitely in as starting ends.

The entire squad who will be leaving this noon include: Elmer Holt, Ernie Wheeler, Ray Hawkins, Emil May, Ruel Hovland, Herman Bowers, Tin Yan Jim On, Elmer Schrank, Ed Welles, Gil Friederichs, Neal McClure, Al Bostow, Jim Maxwell, Cecil Schrank, Harry Johnson, Merrill Green, Joe Kojancik, Bernie Berman, Carroll Ness, Herb Kittler, Cecil Sturgeon, Arnold Siem, Bill Kelley, George Hammel, Sig Erickson, Earl Marquardt, Don Johnston, Joel Nelson, Harry Johnson, Pat Twomey, Bill Pepple, George Moore and Sam Tolchinsky.

The first Bison touch-down came in the first quarter after Wheeler had succeeded in driving the Dragons back into their own territory by some nice kicking, and Cecil Schrank fell

INITIAL MEETING

The Board of Publications held its first meeting of the year Wednesday afternoon in the Bison office, with President John Fisher, presiding. Attending were faculty members W. C. Palmer, Rudolph Otterson, Mathilda Thompson, student members Marian Smith, Kenneth Archer and John Carlson, and the board secretary, Mrs. Gladys Wood.

Bison Show Promise In 20-13 Win Over Dragons

By DON BLUMQUIST

Although play was spotty at times, the 1938 Bison grid edition showed that they are a team which has a lot of possibilities when they downed the fighting MSTC Dragons Friday night by a score of 20-13. Ernie Wheeler proved that he is going to be even better than he was last year and barring injuries, he should come in for his share of the praise when the All-American selections are made. Besides doing the kicking, passing, and a good share of the ball-carrying when he was in the game, Ernie is a steady influence on the team and at the same time, a spark plug.

Another pleasing feature of the game was the fine showing made by sophomores in the lineup. George Hammel is an all-around back who seems to do everything well. Sig Erickson, besides scoring a touch-down, also did a fine job at half-back. Don Johnston showed up well at quarter, as did Herb Kittler and Beanie Marquardt at end.

Of the veterans, Ray Hawkins played his usual strong game at end as did Harry Johnson and Cecil Schrank at tackles and Jim On at center.

The first Bison touch-down came in the first quarter after Wheeler had succeeded in driving the Dragons back into their own territory by some nice kicking, and Cecil Schrank fell

Inaugurate Touch Football League

Something new in the line of intramural sports will be offered by the newly formed Board of Intramural Sports with the addition of touch football to the program. The same rules which govern intramural basketball and hockey will be in force. Games will be played on the lots south of the mens' dormitory with the first game scheduled for Tuesday.

Anyone not affiliated with a fraternity and desirous of playing can try for the YMCA by seeing Dick Sweitzer. Jack Boulger, who is in charge, has procured a set of rules from Iowa State College where they have had touchball on the intramural program for several years.

Other members of the new board are: James Critchfield, Ed Schmidt, and Casey Finnegan. Sweaters will be awarded members of the winning team.

on a bad Dragon pass which rolled over the goal line. Wheeler converted the extra point from placement. Sig Erickson scored the second touch-down in the second period, after Hammel and Wheeler had put the ball in scoring position, by left end sweeps. Wheeler again place-kicked the extra point.

The Dragons made their two touch-downs in the third quarter with Balzerini plunging over for the first one and Gossen converting. The next score came shortly afterwards when Hotz threw a long pass to Bill Walz. The conversion was blocked by Merrill Green. On the first play of the last quarter, Ernie Wheeler broke loose on a 48 yard run to show his heels to the whole Dragon team, crossing the goal line standing up. His place-kick was no good.

The Bison decidedly outplayed the Dragons by gaining ten first downs to the latter's five, none of which were made in the first half.

Outstanding players in the Moorhead line-up included Hotz, Balzarini, and Hammond in the back-field and Ielimina, Torrenano Munart, and Eames in the line.

SMITH DISCUSSES FALL PROSPECTS AND OPPONENTS

By JOHN SMITH

Last week end the Bison furnished some nice football for local fans. This week they go to Winnipeg to meet the Blue Bombers. There they go up against a number of former NDAC greats of a few years back. Namely Herb Peschel, Bud Marquardt, and Fritz Hanson. Fritz, speedy little hero of Canadian gridirons, has not played this season because of injuries and very likely will be out of the lineup against the Herd. The other two former Bison can be relied upon to make it plenty tough for their former coaches Finnegan and Lowe.

Coach John Hancock's Bears of Colorado State College do some touring this fall. They hop to North Dakota to meet the Bison on Oct. 21. Other states on their itinerary are California, Texas, Nevada, Montana and Colorado. Altogether they travel approximately 400,000 man miles. Last fall the Bison visited at Greeley and finally brought home the bacon after a last second touch-down that you read about but seldom see.

Greeley should be really pretty tough this season; they have 13 excellent sophomores and 8 transfer students along with their 13 returning lettermen. With this kind of a squad they will probably be better than the team the Bison met last Autumn at Greeley.

On Oct. 8 the Herd meet Idaho University at Moscow, and there many of the Bison will renew old acquaintanceships as many of today's players on both teams were sophomores that fall day two years ago when the Vandals luckily eked out a 13 to 12 win from the Dakotans. Coach Forrest F. Twogood of the Vandals stated that players and fans very well remember Mr. Wheeler and are anxiously awaiting the return of him and colleagues. Idaho was a powerhouse last fall and are the same this year, so if the Bison can come close to approximating the score of two years ago they will be doing a good job.

This pedigreed Beauty of laminated Pearl and Jet is everywhere acknowledged to be the grandest pen ever created. Yet even this Guaranteed Mechanically Perfect pen can be plugged up by the grit and gum in ordinary writing inks.

Hence to guard the celebrated Parker Pens from pen-clogging inks, Parker experts developed this utterly new kind of writing ink—called Quink—an ink that actually cleans any pen as it writes.

This is done by a secret ingredient, wholly harmless. It dissolves the gum and other troublesome particles left in your pen by ordinary inks. It makes your pen a self-cleaner—cleans as it writes. Parker Quink is full-bodied, rich, and brilliant.

Never watery or gummy. And it dries on PAPER 31% quicker than average, due to stepped-up penetration. Yet Quink costs no more than ordinary inks—small bottles, 15c and 25c.

If you use an ordinary pen, you need Quink even more than does a Parker Pen owner to keep it in writing condition. If you use a Parker Pen, you'll be thrilled and surprised by the way it performs when filled with Quink. For until we created Quink and the Parker Vacumatic Pen, there never was a really scientific writing combination.

Those who can afford the best will not rest until they have them both. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis.
