Library Expands With 100 Books

Over 100 new books have been purchased by the North Dakota State College Library this summer and fall, according to Mrs. Ethel McVeety, Librarian. One book is full of photographs of clouds and scenery, and is called "Weather" by Gayle Pickwell; another 1937 issue is "American City" by C. R. Walker—a story of Minneapolis as the typical American city. Other books which have been added are "Controlling Human Behavior" by Daniel Starch, "This England" by Mary Ellen Chase, "Literature and Society" by Albert Guerard, "Puzzled America" by Sherwood Anderson, "Literary Pioneers" by O. W. Long, "Europa" by Robert Briffault, "Permanence and Change" by Kenneth Burke, "Book of Old Ships" by Henry B. Culver, and "The Handbook of Social Correspondence" by S. A. Tainter. Besides this interesting group, there are many others which should be put on your reading list.

'Neutrality' To Be Convocation Topic

On Tuesday, Nov. 23, Dr. Walter H. Lave will speak at convocation. Dr. Lave is rector of the midwest office of the League of Nations, and lecturer on political science at the University of Chicago. After completing college Dr. Lave did considerable research as a traveling Fellow in Germany, Austria, and Italy. From 1927-36 he was professor of political science at Hamilton college in New York. In 1936, Dr. Lave spent considerable time in European countries and especially in Paris, London, and Geneva. He attended the seventeenth assembly meeting of the League of Nations, and comes with considerable recognition as a speaker, having spoken in various parts of the United States. Dr. Lave comes through the auspices of Mr. Tighe, principal of Central high school, and his topic will be, "Neutrality; What Does It Mean?"

On Dec. 1, Gustav Grahn will be the convocation speaker and he will speak on "In Lion Land with a Movie Camera."

Gus, the Third: "Oh Thanksgiving!"

—Cut by Katherine McEnroe

Gus III will be given the lucky couple at the Spinster Skip Thanksgiving night. Get your tickets from members of Senior Staff and from Dean Dinan's office. They are 50 cents. Walsh-Sanders' Orchestra will furnish the music.

William Buck's Uncle Labor Murder Victim

Assassination of a Minneapolis labor leader, Patrick J. Corcoran, brought its grim results to the campus when William Corcoran Buck, senior in education, learned of his uncle's violent death Wednesday night.

Corcoran was the leader of 12,000 unionists of the American Federation of Labor. Authorities attributed his death directly to his activities in this field.

The slain man is the brother to Mrs. C. J. Buck. Bill and his family left this morning to attend the funeral in Minneapolis, Sunday.

Mrs. R. Brackett, Alpha Phi inspector enroute from Grand Forks to her home in Minneapolis, was entertained Wednesday afternoon at a tea given by Pan Hellenic in the Ceres Hall parlors.

Three NDSC Men To Confer At NW

Plans have been made by John Fisher and Bernard Hutchens, president and treasurer, respectively, of the NDSC-YMCA, and Richard E. Sweitzer, executive secretary, to attend the Larger University Council meeting Nov. 26, 27, and 28, on the campus of Northwestern university at Evanston, Illinois.

The agenda includes discussions of program planning, cabinet training, and other items peculiar to the campuses represented at the council. In addition, plans for the National Student Assembly and the Geneva Conference will be discussed.

In conjunction with the LUC meeting which is entirely a student affair, a student secretaries meeting will be held. This group will discuss the problems of the student associations from the executive angle.

NOTICE

There will be a program meeting of the International Relations Club in the YWCA next Wednesday evening at 7:30 P. M. England's foreign policy will be the subject of discussion for the program. Any students wishing to attend are cordially invited.

The L.S.A. will hold its regular meeting at 4:30 Sunday afternoon at the Y. All Lutheran students are invited to attend.

Official Notice: No School Nov. 25 and 26

Influenced mainly by the conducive arguments put forth by the Spectrum last week, President West has conceded a two-day Thanksgiving holiday next week. Accompanying this concession are the following stipulations: (1) there will be double cuts counted against all Wednesday (Nov. 24) absences; (2) there will be double cuts counted against all Monday (Nov. 29) absences; and (3) the Committee on Attendance will recognize no excuses other than those signed by the College physician for absences on either of the above mentioned days.

STUDENTS BEWARE!

There is a heavy penalty if one is caught putting typewritten or written matter into a second class or third class parcel. Anyone found guilty of this offense will have to pay the regular first class postage rate of three cents an ounce and in addition will be fined a cent an ounce for every ounce after the first one. The cost of a laundry bag with a letter enclosed can easily run into five or six dollars. So hereafter spend three cents and take no chances.

Signed:
The College Postmaster.

NOTICE!

Dancing classes will be held in the YMCA next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The Big Apple and other dance steps will be taught.

Johnson's Classes Become Volunteer Journalism Aides

By HELEN JOHNSON

Approximately one hundred and fifty students at the North Dakota State College turned into cub reporters last Friday when T. W. Johnson announced to his Technical Writing classes that each student must hand in a news story the following Wednesday.

Research workers, instructors, and other employees of the College have been interviewed once, twice, or three times by students who hope that they might find some bit of news that would be of interest to a large number of people. Every interesting event on the NDSC campus, in Fargo or Moorhead, or in other home towns of the divers reporters has been given the publicity it justly deserves or doesn't deserve. Until the end of this term these reporters will be at large always watching and searching for news, so watch out for them—and don't say you haven't been warned.

'Big Apple' Worms Its Way Into Y Dancing Classes

Three points in and swing, and away they go into the Big Apple, the most popular dance in the South and the East.

The Caller's voice is heard above the roar of the jazz, "Swing your partner to the left and make the circle. Swing to the right and around again..."

In Grandma's day this was a square dance, now it's a conglomeration of fourteen different steps such as the Suzy Q, Virginia Reel, Swing High, the very popular truckin', Joe Louis, which shows some excellent prize fighting, and many others. When these are all mixed up and one by "us moderns" it acquires the name, Big Apple.

This popular rage seems to have started at a Negro Night Club in South Carolina. Some curious high school boys heard of this new yet old form of recreation and went investigating. For no evident reason, they came forth and called it the Big Apple.

Every Tuesday night at 7:30 in the college Y Dixie Farrell is teaching this new sensation. Last week over 300 students turned out for the first practice. A few of these will develop this art to the fullest extent and when they do, they will probably be able to do the Shine, which is a specialty number of their own performed in the big circle. With a "Praise Allah", the dance is ended... at least for the moment.

Foods Classes Find Fargo Receives Full Fresh Fruit Measure

Fargo knows no seasons! This revelation has come to the NDSC campus through studies of Miss Constance Leeb's class in Food Marketing. Despite wintry blasts, Fargo residents may have a wide variety in choice of foods at any time.

This class has been in direct contact with the merchants of the city since the beginning of the term. Through studies of wholesale houses, the group has come to the conclusion that at any time of the year, Fargo can obtain perishable foods—fresh fruits and vegetables—one fact that gives the name "city" to a town. These studies have included where the foods come from, how they are stored, and when they are distributed throughout the state as well as in the city.

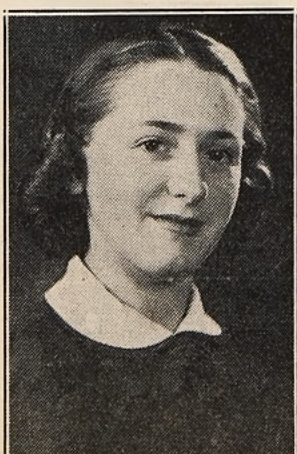

Not only have wholesale grocers been visited, but also meat wholesalers, creameries, a coffee roaster, a biscuit manufacturer, a bottling works, and other redistributing units.

In this way, the factors of ultimate cost and price trends become more clear. The principles of marketing—selling, demand, buying, transportation and storage, financing, risk-taking, grading, and standardization—become common words in the vocabularies of these junior and senior Home Economists. They have learned something of what goes on behind the scenes—from the producer to the consumer, in the handling of food materials.

Technical Writing Classes

occasionally give the editorial staff of the Spectrum a lift in their search for news. This week T. W. Johnson's classes have contributed oceans of material, but there is no room to print it. It came to us unexpectedly and, not anticipating their cooperation, we have as usual scheduled a full paper with our own assignments.

We appreciate the efforts of the Technical Writing classes in helping us, but it would facilitate matters greatly if their contributions were scheduled and regular.

We Will Not Let Thanksgiving

go by unnoticed in these columns. We will say that it is a great time of year. It provides a welcome pause in the daily schedule of study, eat, and sleep. It brings us back into our family circle where we can rest our nerves with a little gossip. It brings us to ask why there is such a holiday. We remember our forebears at Plymouth Rock. And we are just good and lazily glad of it.

Spirit Is a Peculiar Word

Webster defines it seventeen different ways. It can mean the amount of vigor in an animal or the soul of some departed person. No definition, no matter how liberal it is, explains school spirit.

School spirit is often misused as a substitute for interest. Often when students are selling tickets to a football game, a school play, or any other school function, they will ask you to show your school spirit by attending. What they really mean to say is that you show your school interest by attending. Is a man who is not interested in football lacking in school spirit because he does not attend football games? The answer depends entirely upon the interpretation of school spirit.

Sometimes school spirit is used in place of enthusiasm. A cheer leader will call out for the "gang" to show their school spirit by making as much noise as they can. What he really wants them to do is to show their enthusiasm.

Interest and enthusiasm are not necessarily parts of school spirit. Men and women in all walks of life attend interschool games, plays, contests, and various other school activities solely because their interest is in the activity and not in the school. They yell at the games and applaud at the plays to show their enthusiasm. Many people do not know much about the school or schools whose representatives are participating in the event they are witnessing. High school students, with no thought of attending college, cheer madly for college teams that they know nothing about. Can people like that have a true school spirit if it is to be judged solely by an outburst of enthusiasm?

School spirit is an emotion that creeps upon you as you stroll about the campus, or finger through dusty books in a dark corner of the library, or gaze reverently at pictures of noted alumni. You can not buy it, and it cannot be forced upon you. It is neither the things you do for your school nor the things you say about it; it is neither how loud you yell nor how much you yell at athletic contests. It is an inexplicable feeling when you have it, but the man has not lived who has had true school spirit and didn't know it.—William Snyder.

The Social Climber

What in heck is the sense of the senseless unemployment census being blown around this fair campus of ours. . . . Maybe the sponsors anticipate unemployed people when, if ever, we graduate after getting our mid-terms. . . . The new campus directories which came out are going to be a godsend to the boys after King's fizzle of a "date bureau." . . . Marj Patterson seems to be encroaching on June Lowe's territory as Marj asked Prof. Hartwell to the Gamma Phi party after he had sent June a dozen roses . . . Bessie Chambers seems to limit her affections to falling for trucks instead of falling for???. . . The poor Spectrum people had nothing else to do but play 4th of July when Elwin lit a fire-cracker and Pootz said, "I can't hear a thing." And Lynch replied, "Neither can I." . . . Evidently Bob Sanders hasn't a thing to do except exchange beers at a local joint with De Nelson now that Jimmy Critchfield has an eye for Fran Tourlotte. . . . I'll bet Pat Oram wasn't a bit embarrassed when she and about eight Kappa's were at the SAE house for Sunday dinner. . . . Wonder how come Ted Whalen is having a K D first in line instead of a cute POP pledge with whom he has had a swellegant time lately. . . . This is all we will say, Renee Waltz, Frank Murphy, La Verne Middlemas and Charlie Keefe, had a good time last Friday night. . . . for more information see them as the Spectrum is not quite prepared to meet a libel suit. . . . Kenny Archer had a severe set back when a certain brown eyed freshman gal broke her date with him to a sorority party and left him stranded on a Friday night. . . . The Sigma Chi's will maybe give a party; after calling the dorm they were rather in doubt if any of the better half would be present. . . . The ATO's Bobby Nims, must of had a guilty conscience about something cuz he turned up the other night with a be-ut-ti-ful make up set for his gal. . . . Ex Imp Risoned skipped town last week-end. . . . maybe the pressure was being applied too strongly from most corners. . . . The Phi Mu dance was quite a nice affair. . . . The Theta Chi's, all 71 of them were received by the POPs at a buffet supper, Wednesday eve and we hear had a rare time. . . . Best we take advantage of the unemployment cards running around and find us a new job as this one is slowly but surely petering out. . . .

A short business meeting followed, conducted by Margaret Jones, president. Plans were discussed for the Christmas party to be held on Dec. 2. Dinner was served in Ceres Hall Cafeteria afterwards.

'Big Apple' Is Theme For Gamma Phis, Sigs

For sure, collegians on this campus are going to keep all doctors away, according to the number of big apples being thrown about. It themes that both the Gamma Phi's and Sigma Chi's are using that for their annual party honoring their pledges.

Just as their eastern brothers big apple a few weeks ago, the Sigs will be at it tonight in Festival hall. Tomorrow night the Gamma Phi's take over.

The Walsh-Sanders orchestra will have the core of furnishing music.

From Sue To Dot—

DEAR DOT:

By the clock on Old Main I should be in Chem lab now, but I've already become such a well-informed student of the A—pardon me, the S.C., that I know the clock's never right, so I'll just dash off a few lines to you.

You'd love it here, Dot. Most of the boys take Military Training and honestly, those uniforms are divine! I suppose I'll get over it in time, but right now whenever I see a bunch of khaki-clads going to and from classes I just feel a thrill!

Stood next to Captain Stephens in the bookstore the other day. I wiggled my eyelashes at him in my best co-ed style, but he didn't even notice. How was I to know that he's married? All that effort wasted! Really, there should be a law making married men wear wedding rings, as well as their wives!

The football games are so different from our little-town high school games. Remember when we used to run from the 20-yard line up to the other end of the field to watch our team go over for a touchdown? At least we managed to keep warm that way.

I chewed all my fingernails off in a quiz section of Chemistry the other day, while the instructor went down the rows asking questions. And he didn't get to me after all. Next time I'm going to leave my gloves on.

Christopher! I've got to dash if I want to make that lab! Adios, darling!

Yours in a tearing hurry, SUE.

Former Student Sings On Minnesota Varsity

Less than two months in school, Miss Rosemary Lee, a junior student at the University of Minnesota, has suddenly won prominence as a singer on the campus.

She was featured in songs on the Varsity Homecoming program last week and sang with orchestra at the St. Paul Hotel and Lowry Hotel, St. Paul's largest hostilities. She sang with Will Osbourne's orchestra at the Lowry Hotel.

At the Movies

One of the year's outstanding productions, "The Road Back," has been booked at the Grand theatre Nov. 21-22. The picture starts with Armistice Day when the whole world begins dreaming of peace. It shows the loves and jealousies, hates and struggles in a land aflame with unrest. The cast includes Barbara Read, Richard Cromwell, Slim Summerville, and Noah Beery, Jr.

The fantastic "Lost Horizon" with Ronald Colman runs Nov. 21-24 at the Fargo theatre. This show was adapted from James Hilton's world-famed novel of strange adventure deep in the mountains of Tibet. Nov. 25-27, Deanna Durbin's latest success, "100 Men and a Girl," will be featured. For music lovers this will be an exceptional picture because Stokowski directs the music.

"Fly-Away Baby" is the vehicle in which Glenda Farrell again triumphs as Torchy Blane, amateur sleuth and round-the-globe traveler. This murder mystery will be shown at the State theatre Nov. 21-22. "You Can't Beat Love," featuring Preston Foster and Joan Fontaine, will run Nov. 23-24. The political story of this picture furnishes many exciting sequences. A football story, "Over the Goal," will be shown Nov. 25-26. June Travis and Johnny Davis, who at one time played trumpet with Fred Waring, are starred. The final picture of the week, "Hideaway," runs for one day only, Nov. 27. How a weakness for carrying a rusty old fouling-piece upsets the plans of a gang of crooks and brings good fortune to a country family is the story of the picture.

GIRL ATHLETES ENTERTAIN

The Moorhead Women's Athletic association entertained the NDSC and Concordia WAA members at an informal party Thursday evening, Nov. 3.

The group played shuffle board, darts, deck tennis, horseshoe and went swimming. Lunch of popcorn and carneled apples was served in the social room after which they sang popular songs.

Webster defines it seventeen different ways. It can mean the amount of vigor in an animal or the soul of some departed person. No definition, no matter how liberal it is, explains school spirit.

School spirit is often misused as a substitute for interest. Often when students are selling tickets to a football game, a school play, or any other school function, they will ask you to show your school spirit by attending. What they really mean to say is that you show your school interest by attending. Is a man who is not interested in football lacking in school spirit because he does not attend football games? The answer depends entirely upon the interpretation of school spirit.

Sometimes school spirit is used in place of enthusiasm. A cheer leader will call out for the "gang" to show their school spirit by making as much noise as they can. What he really wants them to do is to show their enthusiasm.

Interest and enthusiasm are not necessarily parts of school spirit. Men and women in all walks of life attend interschool games, plays, contests, and various other school activities solely because their interest is in the activity and not in the school. They yell at the games and applaud at the plays to show their enthusiasm. Many people do not know much about the school or schools whose representatives are participating in the event they are witnessing. High school students, with no thought of attending college, cheer madly for college teams that they know nothing about. Can people like that have a true school spirit if it is to be judged solely by an outburst of enthusiasm?

School spirit is an emotion that creeps upon you as you stroll about the campus, or finger through dusty books in a dark corner of the library, or gaze reverently at pictures of noted alumni. You can not buy it, and it cannot be forced upon you. It is neither the things you do for your school nor the things you say about it; it is neither how loud you yell nor how much you yell at athletic contests. It is an inexplicable feeling when you have it, but the man has not lived who has had true school spirit and didn't know it.—William Snyder.

The Social Climber

What in heck is the sense of the senseless unemployment census being blown around this fair campus of ours. . . . Maybe the sponsors anticipate unemployed people when, if ever, we graduate after getting our mid-terms. . . . The new campus directories which came out are going to be a godsend to the boys after King's fizzle of a "date bureau." . . . Marj Patterson seems to be encroaching on June Lowe's territory as Marj asked Prof. Hartwell to the Gamma Phi party after he had sent June a dozen roses. . . . Bessie Chambers seems to limit her affections to falling for trucks instead of falling for??? . . . The poor Spectrum people had nothing else to do but play 4th of July when Elwin lit a fire-cracker and Pootz said, "I can't hear a thing." And Lynch replied, "Neither can I." . . . Evidently Bob Sanders hasn't a thing to do except exchange beers at a local joint with De Nelson now that Jimmy Critchfield has an eye for Fran Tourlotte. . . . I'll bet Pat Oram wasn't a bit embarrassed when she and about eight Kappa's were at the SAE house for Sunday dinner. . . . Wonder how come Ted Whalen is having a K D first in line instead of a cute POP pledge with whom he has had a swellegant time lately. . . . This is all we will say, Renee Waltz, Frank Murphy, La Verne Middlemas and Charlie Keefe, had a good time last Friday night. . . . for more information see them as the Spectrum is not quite prepared to meet a libel suit. . . . Kenny Archer had a severe set back when a certain brown eyed freshman gal broke her date with him to a sorority party and left him stranded on a Friday night. . . . The Sigma Chi's will maybe give a party; after calling the dorm they were rather in doubt if any of the better half would be present. . . . The ATO's Bobby Nims, must of had a guilty conscience about something cuz he turned up the other night with a be-ut-ti-ful make up set for his gal. . . . Ex Imp Risoned skipped town last week-end. . . . maybe the pressure was being applied too strongly from most corners. . . . The Phi Mu dance was quite a nice affair. . . . The Theta Chi's, all 71 of them were received by the POPs at a buffet supper, Wednesday eve and we hear had a rare time. . . . Best we take advantage of the unemployment cards running around and find us a new job as this one is slowly but surely petering out. . . .

Technical Writing Classes

occasionally give the editorial staff of the Spectrum a lift in their search for news. This week T. W. Johnson's classes have contributed oceans of material, but there is no room to print it. It came to us unexpectedly and, not anticipating their cooperation, we have as usual scheduled a full paper with our own assignments. The work of putting out a weekly, or even a bi-weekly paper, would be made easier, the quality of the work itself would be greatly enhanced, and credits for our courses in journalism would be recognized in other schools, if only the theoretical journalism courses on this campus would be merged and related to the weekly publication.

We appreciate the efforts of the Technical Writing classes in helping us, but it would facilitate matters greatly if their contributions were scheduled and regular.

Dec. 1 Set For LCT Production

"Green Grow the Lilacs," first in a series of four plays originally scheduled for next Wednesday evening, has been postponed one week and will be presented on Dec. 1 in the Little Country theater.

The play, which is by Lynn Riggs, deals with life in Indian territory during the end of the nineteenth century. Justin Brainerd and Virginia Smith play leads. Completing the cast are Don Jones, Gwendolyn Stenehjem, Lorraine Fitjar and Bob Sanders.

Season tickets for the play series have gone on sale and may be purchased at the Public Discussion office or from members of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club.

WAA INITIATES FIVE

The Women's Athletic Association held initiation on Nov. 10 for five new members. The girls initiated were Evelyn Olson, Irene Olson, Fern Murray, Mavis Jensen and Josephine Erickson. Miss Verda Van Vorst was in charge.

A short business meeting followed, conducted by Margaret Jones, president. Plans were discussed for the Christmas party to be held on Dec. 2. Dinner was served in Ceres Hall Cafeteria afterwards.

'Big Apple' Is Theme For Gamma Phis, Sigs

For sure, collegians on this campus are going to keep all doctors away, according to the number of big apples being thrown about. It themes that both the Gamma Phi's and Sigma Chi's are using that for their annual party honoring their pledges.

Just as their eastern brothers big apple a few weeks ago, the Sigs will be at it tonight in Festival hall. Tomorrow night the Gamma Phi's take over.

Chaperons who will witness the apple polishing are Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Dedrick with Sgt. and Mrs. L. L. Detroit at the Gamma Phi party, and again Sgt. and Mrs. L. L. Detroit with Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Johnson at the Sig affair.

The Walsh-Sanders orchestra will have the core of furnishing music.

From Sue To Dot--

DEAR DOT:

By the clock on Old Main I should be in Chem lab now, but I've already become such a well-informed student of the A—pardon me, the S.C., that I know the clock's never right, so I'll just dash off a few lines to you.

You'd love it here, Dot. Most of the boys take Military Training and honestly, those uniforms are divine! I suppose I'll get over it in time, but right now whenever I see a bunch of khaki-clads going to and from classes I just feel a thrill!

Stood next to Captain Stephens in the bookstore the other day. I wiggled my eyelashes at him in my best co-ed style, but he didn't even notice. How was I to know that he's married? All that effort wasted! Really, there should be a law making married men wear wedding rings, as well as their wives!

The football games are so different from our little-town high school games. Remember when we used to run from the 20-yard line up to the other end of the field to watch our team go over for a touchdown? At least we managed to keep warm that way.

I chewed all my fingernails off in a quiz section of Chemistry the other day, while the instructor went down the rows asking questions. And he didn't get to me after all. Next time I'm going to leave my gloves on.

Christopher! I've got to dash if I want to make that lab! Adios, darling!

Yours in a tearing hurry,
SUE.

Former Student Sings On Minnesota Varsity

Less than two months in school, Miss Rosemary Lee, a junior student at the University of Minnesota, has suddenly won prominence as a singer on the campus.

She was featured in songs on the Varsity Homecoming program last week and sang with orchestra at the St. Paul Hotel and Lowry Hotel, St. Paul's largest hostilities. She sang with Will Osbourne's orchestra at the Lowry Hotel.

At the Movies

One of the year's outstanding productions, "The Road Back," has been booked at the Grand theatre Nov. 21-22. The picture starts with Armistice Day when the whole world begins dreaming of peace. It shows the loves and jealousies, hates and struggles in a land aflame with unrest. The cast includes Barbara Read, Richard Cromwell, Slim Summerville, and Noah Beery, Jr.

The fantastic "Lost Horizon" with Ronald Colman runs Nov. 21-24 at the Fargo theatre. This show was adapted from James Hilton's world-famed novel of strange adventure deep in the mountains of Tibet. Nov. 25-27, Deanna Durbin's latest success, "100 Men and a Girl," will be featured. For music lovers this will be an exceptional picture because Stokowski directs the music.

"Fly-Away Baby" is the vehicle in which Glenda Farrell again triumphs as Torchy Blane, amateur sleuth and round-the-globe traveler. This murder mystery will be shown at the State theatre Nov. 21-22. "You Can't Beat Love," featuring Preston Foster and Joan Fontaine, will run Nov. 23-24. The political story of this picture furnishes many exciting sequences. A football story, "Over the Goal," will be shown Nov. 25-26. June Travis and Johnny Davis, who at one time played trumpet with Fred Waring, are starred. The final picture of the week, "Hideaway," runs for one day only, Nov. 27. How a weakness for carrying a rusty old fouling-piece upsets the plans of a gang of crooks and brings good fortune to a country family is the story of the picture.

GIRL ATHLETES ENTERTAIN

The Moorhead Women's Athletic association entertained the NDSC and Concordia WAA members at an informal party Thursday evening, Nov. 3.

The group played shuffle board, darts, deck tennis, horseshoe and went swimming. Lunch of popcorn and caramelized apples was served in the social room after which they sang popular songs.

Sport Speculations

By HJELLE FISCHÉ

Once again the Herd has taken it on the chin. For the fourth time of the year the Bison have tasted defeat. And even as in that 69-7 shellacking from Minnesota they have won more glory even though they were swamped under by a score of 33-0. For unlike the SDS and NDU games the fans were convinced that the team went down fighting and did their best.

The prestige of the North Central Conference took an awful wallop last week-end. George Washington, 33-0 over NDS; Detroit 40-0 over NDU, and DePaul took SDS 44-7. Omaha won a little glory by defeating Wayne Normal 19-6, but that game added very little to the prestige of the conference. SDU clinched second place in the conference standings with a neat little 13-0 victory over Iowa State Teachers college.

According to the press notices the Bison suffered from the same inferiority complex that hampered their play against Minnesota. That attitude was in direct contrast to the happy-go-lucky optimistic view held by the University's Sioux before they were cut down by Andy Farkas and Co. The University paper flatly predicted a win for the up-state school.

It seems that the reverberations for our all-conference team selections were rather weak. The strongest dissension arises when the students and other interested people start talking about us leaving Carl Rorvig and Cecil Schrank off of the two teams entirely.

There are many, both in this school and other schools, who will say that Rorvig is much better than Milone of Omaha. And you will find many more that think that our sophomore star, Cecil "Spanky" Schrank is the best tackle in the conference. But we'll stick with Millar because we think that on the whole he did a pretty fair job without showing much partiality.

Believe it or not, but there were three full-fledged Spectrum reporters on the football squad that made the long trip. And yet the only piece of journalistic manuscript that arrived from the whole kit and kaboodle of them was a recount of the Greeley game that we had read in the Fargo Forum. And we had such high hopes of getting some outstanding feature stories from the boys. Oh well, there are now some reportorial positions open on the sports section of the Spectrum if anyone is interested.

The Fargo Forum printed some excellent columns by Eugene Fitzgerald, sports editor who accompanied the team. In one column, however, there is room for argument. He says that the professors will be glad to know that the boys are really cracking their books on the trip. We would like to find out how they can study when certain players never even took a piece of paper along, let alone anything resembling a book.

Freshman Coach John Smith knows that he has a pack of outstanding stars this year. Therefore his worry is a little different from most coaches' worries. He is primarily concerned with who is going to be eligible to play next term or next year. From the reports coming in it seems that those who are passing in a majority of their subjects are few and far between.

Our Bison boxers may still win the North Dakota Golden Gloves team title, but personally we pick the University to annex another championship crown. With six entrants entered they should find the team trophy easy pickings. One of their men is a national champion while three more are northwest champions.

Sioux Coveting Fifth Conf. Title

The North Dakota Sioux are striving for a fifth consecutive basketball title but pre-season guesses figure the title to leave North Dakota for the first time in years. The two Iowa teams are picked to battle it out for the trophy.

Morningside has the same tough team that won second place in the conference after giving the high and mighty Sioux of last year a scare. The Maroons from Sioux City were the only team outside of the U to defeat the Herd in conference play last year.

Morningside's biggest trouble is going to arise in their home state when they tangle with the Iowa State Teachers cagemen. Iowa is using an all-conference center and five other lettermen as the nucleus of their team.

The University has a man sized job in filling the shoes of Birk and Finnegan, all-conference forwards for three years. But with a large group of returning guards and centers their worries are not so heavy. Sonny LeMaire may be transferred from a guard post to team with Bill McCosh at the front line. Donn Robertson is back again at the center position and Pepke and Kittlesen are the same reliable pair at guard as they had last year.

South Dakota State will have a sophomore team this year with several returning lettermen having to fight hard to win back their positions over the new crop of basketeers. Last year the Frosh team of SDS averaged 70 points per game for seven games.

Not much is known as yet about the teams of SDU and Omaha but the Omaha outfit is figured to give the Bison a battle to stay of the cellar. SDU always has a strong outfit and may spring a surprise this year and in the pennant themselves.

With every team they play this year pointing to knock them off, the Bison head for Mayville next Tuesday to engage in battle with the Teachers College. Concordia is the foe a week later while the home schedule doesn't open until Jan. 11 when MSTC is the opponent.

The conference schedule is opened at Sioux City on Jan 7 and again is highlighted with 4 games against the University in February.

The Schedule:
Date, Team and Place:
Nov. 23—Mayville Teachers, May-

And getting back to the Greeley game; it appears that we speculated right last week. It wasn't Hawkins at end and Maxwell in the backfield as radio reports had it, but Maxwell at end and Frank Johnson at blocking back post. Both of them had worn the wrong jerseys. Six jerseys had been lost in the laundry.

Jim On got a little more out of the trip than any of the other boys. He had a dinner date with a very pretty Hawaiian girl in Greeley and ended up the meal with shark's meat for dessert.

SMITH-GREELEY FANS CHEER BEFORE GAME IS WON

The Bison terminated their 1937 football season with a 33 to 0 defeat at the hands of the powerful George Washington team at Washington, D. C., last Saturday. The 33 to 0 score does not indicate the real difference between the two teams and undoubtedly the Bison could have held the Colonials to a much closer score. The Bison however were anxious to score and as a result took chances when a defensive game would have made the score look a lot more favorable. The Herd was not the only team of the North Central Conference taking it on the chin from more powerful eastern clubs last weekend. The champions, the Nodaks, were being swamped by Gus Dorais' mighty Titans of Detroit University 40 to 0; the South Dakota State team was falling before a lesser foe, the University of DePaul by a 44 to 7 score. In the North Central's own backyard the South Dakota University was doing a nice job of overcoming Iowa State Teachers College 13 to 0 to gain undisputed second place in the league standing.

If the thrilling Greeley-Bison game played this season can be even remotely approximated again, then NDAC football fans have something to look forward to next season because Coach C. C. Finnegan has them signed to appear on DaCotah Field next fall. With the University of North Dakota slated for the Bison Homecoming next fall and Greeley on the books it looks as tho a mighty fine home schedule is in the making for the 1938 football campaign.

Three weeks ago, according to report, the Greeley Homecoming fans before the game was over were making "whoopie" because of their "conquest" of the Bison. Greeley players on the bench were hoisted to the shoulders of enthusiastic Greeley rooters and the band was already preparing for a victory march—you can imagine their dejection when Ernie Wheeler, the "niftiest" halfback ever to tread Jackson Field" (Colorado newspaper quotation), heaved a long one to nimble -hoofed Bernie Bermann just as the band was ready to strike up the Greeley State College victory march. Bison rooters hope that the tables won't be turned next year — that was all together too mean.

Basketball at NDAC got underway last Tuesday and Coach Lowe is busy as a bee trying to get his charges in form for the opener Tuesday, Nov. 23, at Mayville against the Mayville Teachers. This game may sound as though it is an easy "warmup opener" for the Herd but such is not the case. Mayville has a strong team and the Bison will not be in shape nor can they possibly be organized by that time, not when three starting assignments have to be filled. The Bison will feel the loss of Russ Anderson and Bob Saunders, all-conference performers, and Wendell Kielty, stellar forward.

The fact that the Bison and the Nodaks will not be monopolizing the league this winter will be considerable help to our North Central Conference even tho it will be little hard for the Bison and their sister institution, the Sioux, to take it on the chin. For many years the Nodaks and the Bison have finished 1-2 in the league standing, altho last year the Herd did fall to third place due mainly to injuries before crucial games. With the other conference schools getting a look-in in the North Central will be a much better league. Well we have to be glad about something.

Probably Coach Lowe and his Bison will spring a surprise as they have looked plenty fast in their early workouts. My guess is that they will be the fastest team in the league and their ball handling won't be far behind; Coach Lowe always sees to that.

King Sleeps Thru Greeley State Game

(Reprint from Greeley Daily Tribune)

Gorman King, 19, substitute sophomore halfback for the North Dakota State Bison, traveled 1,200 miles or more to Greeley for the game with the Greeley State Bears Saturday and then slept peacefully in his hotel room thru the entire first half of the game.

After the team had an early lunch Saturday, they went to their rooms at the Camfield hotel to rest. When the squad left the hotel by bus for Gaunter hall to dress for the game, King's roommate, Merrill Green, a guard, told Coach C. C. (Casey) Finnegan that King had walked to the gymnasium.

The squad went to the gymnasium, dressed and went on the field without missing King.

Later in the afternoon King awoke and yawned. The hotel was strangely quiet. He leaped to the telephone and inquired at the office as to the time of day.

"It is 3:10," said the clerk. The game started at 2 p. m.

"Great guns, get me a taxi, quick!" King yelled.

He taxied to Gunter hall, but could not get into the locker room because it was locked. He taxied to Jackson field, dashed in and got the key from his team manager, taxied back to Gunter hall. He dismissed his taxi and suited up.

At half-time Chief of Police C. C. Hunter, H. W. McGilp of the Weld County Savings Bank and Professor E. E. Mohr took the gate receipts to the bank. As they were returning to the field, they found King clattering east of Nineteenth street between the gymnasium and Jackson Field.

He thumbed them for a ride. Astonished by the sight of a player in uniform dashing down the street at that stage of affairs, the Greeley men were preparing to stop anyway.

"What are you doing out here?" Chief Hunter said.

"I am in an awful mess," King answered. "I overslept at the hotel." King's eyes were as big as dollars.

Herd Trampled By Washington

After holding the powerful Colonials from George Washington U to a 6-0 score in the first half the Bison succumbed in a quagmire of mud before an avalanche of touchdowns to lose 33-0. It was the fourth defeat in nine starts for the Herd who hung up their suits after the game.

The Bison failed dismally in their passing attack connecting for only three out of 18 tried. The Colonials with an even higher touted passer who had connected for every one of his passes tried in the first two games of the season, had a little more luck with 5 good ones out of 18.

The Bison were behind 13-0 at the end of the third quarter and so threw everything they had into the air in a wild effort to score. Gambling recklessly on passes which were incomplete or intercepted the Herd threw away a chance to hold the Colonials down to a 13 or 19 score.

Vic Sampson, Colonial halfback, was the star of the game with several long runs, one a 60 yd. touchdown dash, to his credit. However the superior line blocking of the Colonials stood out above everything else.

The Washington gridders scored their final touchdown with 45 seconds left to play when Carrier intercepted a Bison pass on the 40 and then 2 runs by Richardson put the ball across.

That left the Bison with nothing but the best end of the punting statistics and a southern drawl. Any of the boys will sit up and speak to you in the nice slow drawl the Capital City players taught them, if you say the word.

Play Mayville Tues.; Coach Is Pessimistic About Cagers Hopes

With prospects for the dreariest season in his coaching history looming ahead Coach Bob Lowe is very apprehensive about his opening game with Mayville State Teachers college next Tuesday evening.

The loss of Russ Anderson, Bob Saunders and Wendell Kiely from last year's surprisingly strong Bison squad left Lowe without any scoring power to build around. The remaining three veterans, Captain Rorvig, Howard Fraser and Wes Phillips are what he will have to build around this year.

Rorvig came up strong at the end of last year and his fighting spirit quickly won the plaudits of the fans who previously had been coming just to see the artistic Anderson and Saunders perform. Fraser was handicapped by a sore shoulder last year and the fans have yet to see him at his best. Phillips was a guard last year, but this year may be changed to center, where he won all-state honors as a star for Moorhead high school. Rorvig is a forward and Fraser is a guard.

Three more reserves from last year are on the squad again. They are the tall Stephens and Hawkins and the dependable Ernie Wheeler. Stephens and Hawkins are both forwards while Wheeler is a guard.

Several more upperclassmen working out now include Norman Olson, Leslie Voss and Don Bloomquist. Tim Iron Teeth, a transfer from Wahpeton Science, is eligible to play and may see a little action.

The big hopes for a successful season hinges around the sophomores. Ted Whalen, a ball hawk and a dead shot, seems certain to hold down one of the forward posts. Herman Larson has been working out for several weeks ahead of the football boys but he looks tougher than ever and seems headed for some action this year. Lloyd Troseth and Jim Maxwell are prominent guard prospects and will do their best to help bolster the team this year. Byron Glad, Ed Olson and Carl White have been working out with the squad and may furnish some of that replacement power that is the big problem this year.

Although the team has been working out for less than a week they are already beginning to work well together, and although they have not as yet uncovered any scoring power, may win some games through sheer teamwork and fast play alone.

Incomes Revealed By Employment Bureau

About 75 percent of the State College students earn at least a part of their expenses. Of these, only about 200 work on N. Y. A.; all the rest secure their employment either through the Student Employment Bureau or by themselves, applying directly to Fargo citizens. Some work for their board and room, some tend lawns, and others work in business establishments.

The percentage of students working varies very little between depression and prosperity years. It has been much easier to secure work for the students during the past year and this year than during the depression years, according to Mrs. Psyche Gooden, director of the College Student Employment Bureau.

(Chief Hunter insists they were as big as a dollar and a half or at least $1.25.)
"What are you going to say to the coach?" Professor Mohr asked.
"That's not what's worrying me," replied the panting King. "What's the coach going to say to me?"
But after all his panic, King did not see any action during the game.
"I guess I might as well have stayed in bed," he said as he left the field.
The North Dakota State team left for Washington, D. C., Sunday, where they play the George Washington University team Saturday.
His teammates promised to wake him up after that game and tell him the score.

NOTICE!

The play, "Green Grow the Lilacs," will be presented Dec. 1. All students are encouraged to attend. This will be the last notice as the next Spectrum will be issued on Dec. 3.
