

Carl Bruenckner, Famed Cellist, To Play At Convo

Carl Bruenckner, nationally known cellist, will appear before convocation Monday morning, November 8, in a cello recital.

Mr. Bruenckner came to America at the time of the Columbia Exposition when he was engaged by Florenz Ziegfeld, Sr. to play with the Fritz Scheel Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Bruenckner later joined the Theodore Thomas Orchestra. He appeared many times as soloist with that organization in Chicago and other large cities throughout the United States.

Mr. Bruenckner has had a brilliant career as a player of Chamber music, as he played with both The Kneisel String Quartet and the Chicago String Quartet. He has also appeared many times as soloist with The Little Symphony Orchestra of Chicago. He has had great success in the music world and enjoys an enviable reputation as a teacher with many of his pupils holding responsible positions in leading orchestras.

Many amusing incidents have occurred in his long and varied musical career. The relating of these reveals the keen sense of humor and the charming personality which have endeared Mr. Bruenckner to his audiences the world over.

One incident which he enjoys telling is that while travelling with a trio playing in Wyoming, they appeared in one city, and after the performance of "The Cara Memoria Fantasia of Servais", a young woman apparently of Italian birth approached Mr. Bruenckner, and said, "I want to complain, your solo was beautiful".

Claire Putz Wins Linoleum Contest

Cooperating with the Spectrum in sponsoring the weekly linoleum block contest is the campus Art club. Each week some member of the club is to submit ideas for the linoleum block, and this block together with any others submitted by members of the various art classes will comprise the entries in the contest.

Claire Putz won this week's prize of $1.50 for the best entry in the linoleum block contest. All entries must be pertinent to school affairs and must be in the Spectrum office by Wednesday noon.

The Art club is also planning to establish a picture library for renting pictures for a limited time to anyone who is interested. On the committee in charge of making arrangements for the library are Dorothy Hawkinson, Frances Tourlotte, Kathryn McEnroe, and Blanche Rinkel.

Dorothy Hawkinson has been elected president to succeed Jeanne Verne who is attending Iowa State college. Other officers are: vice-president, Kathryn McEnroe; secretary, Mary Koller; and treasurer, Mary Widdefield.

Faculty, Board Lunch Together

To consider measures to increase facilities here, making more room for the big enrollment this year, and to schedule short courses, (or possibly "folk courses") the following members of the Board of Administration and faculty met and lunched together in Ceres Hall Wednesday:

Dean H. L. Walster, Prof. A. G. Arvold, Prof. C. E. Miller, Dr. H. C. Hanson, Richard Kraft, C. A. Severson, Dr. C. West, S. W. Hagen, Kinzer, E. Nelson, and Wm. Godwin, from Mandan.

Merit System Will Affect High School

The 10 ranking high school students following completion of mid-term grades are Billie Peterson, freshman, Fargo, 90.6; Lillian Selsted, senior, Fargo, 90.6; Eileen Tompkins, senior, Fargo, 89.2; Jewel Hexon, freshman, Wild Rice, 89.2; Blanche Jensen, junior, Fargo, 88.6; Florence Ellingson, Argusville, junior, 86.2; Lillian Ellingson, Argusville, sophomore, 88.1; Burdette Benson, Harwood, junior, 86.2; Wallace Valley, sophomore, Fargo, 85.4; Evelyn Clemenson, Fargo, sophomore, 84.8.

A demerit system has been placed in operation in the high school this year and the high school has joined the North Dakota High School league for the purpose of engaging in interscholastic athletics with schools of similar enrollment.

Virginia Smith is directing the development of a glee club for the girls in connection with the high school girls' club, the Amazons.

Bud Brainerd To Have Leading Role In Initial LCT Play

First of the four plays given annually by the Little Country Theatre will be presented Nov. 23 and 24. The play, "Green Grow the Lilacs" by Lynn Riggs, is set in Indian Territory around the end of the nineteenth century. According to Carol Ladwig, assistant director, there is much cowboy local color, and a great deal of singing included in the six scenes.

The hero, Curly McClain, is played by Justin Brainerd, while Virginia Smith plays Laurey Williams, the heroine. The part of the traditional villian is taken by Don Jones. Laurey's Aunt Eller is played by Gwendolyn Stenehjem, and the comedy relief is provided by Lorraine Fitjar. Bob Sanders takes the part of a peddler.

Tickets for this play and the other three to be presented later in the season may be purchased from any member of Edwin Booth Dramatic club or from the department of public discussion. Season tickets will sell for one dollar.

"The Good Earth," "Pride and Prejudice," and "The Playboy of the Western World" comprise the remainder of the season's offerings.

Stolen Nickel Found By West

The Blue Key Nickel trophy, presented heads up to the Sioux after their defeat of the Bison last Saturday, was believed lost as late as the opening minutes of the game after having been stolen Friday night after the homecoming banquet at which it was shown. A cardboard substitute borrowed from a sorority float was used to receive the signatures of Langer, coaches West and Finnegan, Stevens, Amick, Mackenroth, Kunkel, and Ladwig, principals in the presentation ceremony. The big nickel was recovered in time to make the presentation official.

The trophy was stolen Friday night with a cab driver as the go-between. He answered the call from some unknown person who asked that it be delivered to the fraternity of which Kunkel, University Blue Key president, is a member. It was not seen again from that time until it was found in the home of President West on Saturday.

Of the 1800 medallions made to finance the trophy, all were sold including the 210 sent to the Blue Key chapter here.

Whalen Names Elwin As Ball Assistant

Ted Whalen, manager of the engineers' ball to be held Nov. 19, has announced James Elwin as his assistant.

According to plans for this annual affair the following will serve as committee heads: Tickets, Edward Toman; publicity, Roy Carr; chaperons, Millard Borke; and decorations, Ray Whitver and Dick Cook.

Arrangements for an orchestra are not complete.

CLASS PLANS CITY PARK

The class in landscape gardening and forestry, under the direction of Prof. C. B. Waldron, is working and planning out a 30-acre park for the city of New Rockford. This will be one of the largest undertakings this class has ever been fortunate enough to work on. The students planning the park will not do any of the actual work on the grounds, but lay all plans for its direction.

Waits For Local Approval Before It Goes Into Effect

Hagen, Loy, and Nelson Draw Up General Campus Project; Money Represents Joint Action Between WPA and College

Up for approval before the local WPA council is an NDSC campus improvement, building renovation, and general relandscaping plan involving expenditures amounting to $65,000. Out of the President's office just a few hours ago broke the news that Mr. Theodore Loy, WPA administrator for this district, has in his hands at this moment an application for approval of the plan as drawn up by Business Manager S. W. Hagen. Mr. Edward Nelson, Board of Administration member in charge of all state buildings and grounds maintenance, and Mr. Loy himself.

The proposed $65,000 allotment totals the shares which both WPA and the State college would contribute toward the project. The hoped-for mutual agreement resembles the plan that the University of North Dakota and the Works Progress Administration has successfully collaborated upon for the past four years. It consists in the WPA furnishing the labor and the school the materials for construction.

WILL RENOVATE BUILDINGS

Complete renovation of all buildings which includes painting, sanding, and rebuilding of wornout sections is just a part of the plan, say reliable authorities. They hope to enlarge and increase the number of classrooms. The present facilities were built when the total school attendance was a bare 700, whereas now it boasts a 1700 enrollment—the first time in NDSC's history that it qualified for the classification of "medium-sized school." Formerly it has been known as a "small school."

With the advent of the proposed plan, aged and foot-worn Old Main, erected some 40 years ago, would be first to feel the effects of renovation. Extensive reconstruction in the basement especially will be considered.

$5,000 FOR CAMPUS

An application for a $5000 WPA project has been filed by this school for improvements on the campus, according to Dr. West, acting president. The present plans call for a revision of the layout of the grounds, change in road and sidewalk system, and planting of ornamental shrubbery. Nurseryman Hilborn of Valley City conferred with Dr. West Tuesday on proposed change in landscaping. Under the present plans one of Hilborn's assistants will spend a week here making a detailed study of the problems and planning changes if the project is approved.

ROAD CHANGES NEEDED

According to Hilborn, who is a landscape expert besides nurseryman, the present layout of the campus is all wrong. The roads run the wrong direction, and there is no system to the maze of sidewalks, he said. Hilborn also found fault with the location of parking areas, which, he stated, probably will be changed. The long-unused tennis courts will be replaced by parks containing flower beds, shrubbery, and of course, trees, according to Hilborn. He added that trees would also be planted at the college gate with a view to having overhanging greenery sometime in the future.

Swedish Life Lecture Topic

Students and instructors of this college received Wilfrid Laurier Husband, lecturer and student of world affairs, with a great deal of interest when he spoke on the topic: "Sweden: Where Human Values Count," at convocation yesterday morning. A notable feature of his lecture was the startling beauty and realism of the color motion picture, which has won for Mr. Husband national recognition.

Mr. Husband has just returned from his second summer in the Scandinavian countries. Much of his time was spent in Sweden where he paid special attention to the achievements in cooperatives, housing, unemployment reduction and other phases of Sweden's economy. He has taken particular pains to discover elements in Swedish character, history, and environment which account for Sweden's enviable peace record and the thriving democracy in effect there today.

Graduating from the University of Kansas in 1922, he engaged in newspaper and advertising work in Minneapolis, Los Angeles, and New York city. In 1920 he resigned his position as advertising manager of Scribner's Magazine to go around the world, and has been lecturing since.

Mrs. Husband, who is a professional photographer and who accompanies her husband on his travels, appeared in Swedish costume.

Two Groups Treat Pledges To Dance

Pledges of Kappa Psi will be honored tomorrow night at dancing party in the college Y from 9 to 11:30 p. m. Sid Le-Bien is general chairman and Howard Stafford is in charge of decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Brinley with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Redman will be chaperons. Music is to be furnished by Abbie Andrews and his band.

Kappa Kappa Gamma will also entertain tomorrow night from 9 to 11:30 p. m. in Festival Hall. Guests will be pledges of the chapter.

Sergeant and Mrs. L. L. Detroit with Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Johnson will be chaperons. Committees for the party are: Decorations, Sarah Eaton; alumnae, Alice Piers; orchestra, Jean May; chaperons, Marjorie Simmons, and programs, Lorraine Weir.

Decisive Independent Vote Requested To Cast Ballot

Have you voted? Independent voters, upon you rests the final decision of this election. Framed votes are carefully counted and class majorities have been figured to the last ballot but your vote cannot be determined. If you as students of North Dakota State wish to see the best man win, even in this frame system, it is up to you to cast a vote.

Pick your candidate and back him, not because he is a fraternity man of some particular frame, but because you know him to be worthy. If he will back the merit system he should be your champion.

Voters cast a ballot only for officers of their own class and members of the commission, except freshmen who do not vote for commission members.

Freshman class candidates: President—Renee Walz, William Smith. Vice-president—Ossie Fredrickson, Michael Catalano. Secretary—Robert Brastrup, Virginia Johnston. Treasurer—Robert Williams, Bennie Lours. For commissioner of athletics James MacGregor; of campus, William Pflugrath and Arden Burbidge; and for the board of public speaking control, Loretta Osborne and Kenneth Archer.

SERGEI RACHMANINOFF

Barnyard Best Bet For Flannel Fans Forecasting Frost

If you happen to see some of the pigs that posed for "ye editor" for their picture several weeks ago dashing about the farmyard, picking up straw to put in their houses, you'd better get out your red flannels and put them on, for there's sure to be a change in the weather. Then if the cattle start kicking up their heels and galloping around the yard don't be frightened—it's just their playful way of protesting against the weather and warning you to put on your earmuffs.

Animals don't like cold weather any more than humans do, at first. Now take my pa—when he first puts on his red flannels, gosh—you should see him squirm and wiggle. You know how it feels! But he gets used to it just like everyone else does. I s'pose it's the same way with animals. When their hair grows longer and gets thicker, it starts irritating, and the only way they can express their discomfort is to kick up their heels and dash around.

Course, everyone knows how turkeys puff up when they get angry. They do the same thing when it gets cold, and the wind whistles and whines around the corners of the buildings. But like some people who haven't sense enough (I don't know if it's horse sense or not) to put on their red flannels in the winter, turkeys are so dumb they won't even come into their house to get out of a storm. If one of them gets the idea he doesn't want to go in, they'll all huddle in some fence corner and puff up—and in the morning the turkey-grower has frozen turkey. So the turkeys have to be herded into their houses at the first sign of a storm.

As far as weather prophets are concerned, I'm sure you've all heard the old adage—when your corns hurt, there will be a change in the weather. Of course, students at NDSC can't possibly have many corns. They aren't old enough—except maybe Bill Stewart, so I guess I'll just have to depend on the pigs, and cows to show me when to put on my flannels.

Halliburton Speaks To Packed House

Holding his audience spellbound, Richard Halliburton, world traveler and journalist, wove his tales of adventure to a packed house last Tuesday evening.

Over the Alps on an elephant following in the trail of Hannibal, went the entire audience as Halliburton told of his recent publicity stunt which satisfied for this imaginative adventurer a life-long desire. Although the world famous dogs at the St. Bernard pass could not figure which was head and which tail to this elephant creature that wagged at both ends, a fine distinction was drawn for the listener when Halliburton said the trunk-end played the harmonica.

As an amateur historian of some note, Halliburton told of his discoveries following a deep probe into the historical events of Abraham Lincoln's assassination. The flight of John Wilkes Booth from the scene of the crime was followed in the minutest detail, and the life history of each connected person revealed.

KAPPA TO ENTERTAIN ALPHA GAMMA RHO'S

Members of Alpha Gamma Rho will be guests at a dinner dance in the college Y November 10, given from 5 to 7:30 p. m., by Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Florenz Dinwoodie is general chairman and her committees include: arrangements, Dorothy Cone; chaperons, Mary Beth Lewis; supper, Janet Spaulding; and hostesses, Anna Jane Black, Lucille McCarthy, Marie Anderson, Lorraine Weir, Barbara Isaacs, and Helen Landbloom.

Lyceum Offers Rachmaninoff, Russian Pianist

As a composer, pianist and conductor, Sergei Rachmaninoff has become an international figure. Monday, November 8, he appears in Festival hall at 8:15 p. m. as a solo pianist playing his own well known compositions and interpreting those of the classical masters.

Rachmaninoff made his debut in America in 1909. By that time he was a renowned figure, having won great fame outside his native Russia with his appearance in the London Philharmonic Society. In the United States he has become a favorite musical figure and one well known to all music lovers.

For years it has been said by the many audiences that have heard him, that Rachmaninoff never laughs. When the question was put to him he replied, "For fifteen years and more I have been away from my native land—my Russia. I am a man without a country. I have no real home anywhere in the world. Perhaps no others can understand the hopeless homesickness of us older Russians."

From this exile has come great music and many brilliant performances, for Rachmaninoff is one of the foremost musicians Russia has yet produced.

Big Entry List Slated For 4-H 1937 Stock Show

According to the final entry list for the 1937 North Dakota 4H club livestock show, released today by R. L. Olson, of the NDAC extension 4-H club department, 99 head of beef calves, lambs and pigs produced by club members from approximately half the counties of the state will go on display Friday, Nov. 5, with the opening of the 12th annual club show at the NDAC.

Registration of exhibitors and club members attending the event will take place Friday forenoon, in the livestock judging pavilion at the college, Olson said. Besides the 99 exhibitors the club department expects several hundred farm boys and girls to view the judging and participate in the educational features of the program.

Judging of the entries is scheduled for Saturday, with Friday afternoon given over to a demonstration of lamb blocking by J. D. Gannaway of the college animal husbandry department. Members of the animal husbandry department will do the judging. The livestock will be auctioned Monday forenoon.

"All livestock club members, whether exhibitors or not, are invited and urged to attend the entire program Nov. 5 to 8," Olson announced. "If livestock club members, other than exhibitors, cannot attend the entire program, they are particularly urged to attend Sunday afternoon and Monday."

The general public also has been invited by the extension service to visit the stock show and sale.

The show this year is being held apart from the annual 4-H club Achievement Institute. The institute is scheduled to start immediately after the stock show and sale, Nov. 9. H. E. Rilling, state club leader, assisted by Margaret Latimer and R. L. Olson, has completed arrangements for over 500 delegates from 51 counties to attend the institute this year.

Surveyors Survey Surveyed Campus

Undoubtedly the campus of the NDSC is the most surveyed college campus in the United States, at least in North Dakota. Year after year the future engineers of this nation survey the campus from every angle possible or impossible, depending entirely on the instructor. Every day as one passes the various lamp posts and other campus centers one sees some poor freshman, or perhaps an upperclassman, peering intently through a little instrument resembling a telescope; perhaps they're even looking at the stars.

Hasn't every student that is not enrolled in some engineering course wondered what can be seen? It is not at all infrequent that one spies a young campus Miss peering through the instrument. Naturally her "he" takes engineering; that's why engineers are so popular. Perhaps that is a good explanation for the great number of engineering students. Of course no one could definitely prove it, but wouldn't it be interesting to know?

Mr. Cobb, in French class, often talks about dumbbells. He says he has seen lots of them, but the prize egg is in this year's class.

Mr. Sackett, in English class (Romantic Poetry), directs a logical question at this same simp and then heh, heh's sympathetically and says, "Oh, I'm sorry, Mr. Pootz, you just go back to sleep and forget all about it."

Dr. Farber, in Rural Sociology, lies discreetly in the bushes, passes out a grade of 70, and licks his chops when he thinks of the final exam.

Dr. Hunter, in English history, subtly keeps the name of text-book and author on the board from day to day, in case the bewildered champion of the merit system ever wakes up.

The Social Climber

Nice brawl up-state normal had in our honor. Results: Infirmaries and week-end bags under the eyes—demoralized house decorations plus dankish people. Somebody fixed it so NDSC wouldn't have to accept any wooden nickles the U decided to hand out.

Dot Bentley, at the U, was ready to go to bed at 8:00 but the telephone rang and she found her pillow at 4:00. —Exchange potlucks seem to be all the stuff amongst the sisters. The Kappas and the Gamma Phis had one last Monday and please note: no casualties or unnecessary rioting.—The KD's and the Pops were going to do likewise next week, but lyeum or something else is preventing them.—More U side-lights: M. Carlson and P. Rowe had nearly everyone shooting craps on the train home Saturday night.—Also on Saturday night's train was G. Putz who went to the U with the band but had to come home to Marion A. to get in a good toot.—Marion W., the feminine half of the much publicized "perfect couple" of last week, seems to have been asked to the Sigma Chi party well in advance.—For heaven's sake, will Kenny Archer's pin ever find a roost?—Wonder who the mental midget was who sent an anonymous letter to the editor griping about the same names in the Social Climber every week. . . . Too bad about her. Why doesn't she do something which rates a newspaper if she wants to see her name in print. . . . Incidentally this same person who sent the childish letter to the Spectrum asked us if we could take a dare. . . . so here it is. . . . "Since when did Miss Ewald become so interested in economic science? And what Chrysler (male) parks on her doorstep?" . . . That is one part of the ditty we received. . . . This business of hanging pins has become so common an occurrence that no one noticed Bub E. got rid of his when Margaret B. forgot to wear her POP one. . . . Well, probably best we stop sweeping up the dirt around the campus and leave the rest to the WPA. . . .

Because he was too bashful to enter the dancing contest at the Hallowe'n contest when he was tapped, Dick W. is now known as Waltz King Weltzin. Perhaps his inhibitions date from high school days when tapping meant something quite different.

75 Frosh Cagers Report To Coach Smith

Freshman Basketball Team Working Out; Smith to Cut Squad to 16 Men

With more than 75 men reporting for practice before the squad was cut, Coach John Smith is now working out daily with 32 athletes who hope to win their numerals as members of the Frosh basketball team. The squad will be cut to 16 men when the varsity call is issued.

Under a new system made possible by the long football trip which delays varsity practice, Coach Smith has divided his squad into four teams, each with eight members. These four teams will scrimmage every night for a week and a half more and then the ones who show the most promise will survive the last cut of the year.

Prospects for a winning team are exceptionally good this year with several members already showing mid-season form although they have been working out only a short while.

The coaches and spectators were most interested in watching the seven-foot giant from Donnybrook, Clement Erickson. Coach Smith says that he handles himself much better than hoped for and that he may turn out to be exceptionally good before the season is over. At the present time he seems unable to handle the ball so easily, but he has a trick shot which is near perfection and his work under the basket is well developed.

Conference rules allow frosh squads but three games. Two of these games will be with the University freshmen and the other has not been scheduled as yet. Even as last year, the squad will engage in innumerable scrimmages with independent teams from Fargo and the surrounding territory.

The Last Of The Thundering Herd

The Thundering Herd from North Dakota State rolled into Grand Forks last week accompanied by a special train, hundreds of carloads of students, and many other rosters, all loudly proclaiming a victory for the Bison over the supposedly over-confident Sioux from North Dakota University.

The Herd, or most of them, quietly left town that evening after seeing a pair of the fastest backs in the conference and with the best line in the conference in front of them, rip through the supposedly stone wall defense of the Bison to win 27-0.

For the first time of the year "Spanky" Schrank, behemoth State tackle, was taken out by an opposing line. Although it took three husky men to do it the spectators saw the impossible performed as Pollard crashed off tackle for the first run of the year, excluding the Minnesota game, which went through our strong side of the line.

However, it was not the Sioux superiority in the backfield that won the game. The passing of Rorvig and Wheeler and the blocking of Elmer Schrank, as well as the line plunging of Wes Phillips showed that the Bison backfield was all right.

The margin of victory was in the lines. Although there wasn't any outstanding faults in the Bison line—Schrank, Jim On, and Holt showed that they are going to figure in all-

Squad To Take Two Weeks' Trip

A squad of 25 men are now in Greeley, Colorado, preparing for their first inter-sectional game of the year with Greeley State college tomorrow. Although the Bison are expected to lose their game next week with George Washington University of Washington, D. C., they are given an even chance to defeat the Greeley team.

Not much is known about the Colorado boys except that they held the always strong University of Utah to a 13-12 score. They play a running style of game featuring a speedy half-back and a hard-plunging fullback.

The Bison squad is at top form and should be set to win inasmuch as they always have come back strong after a defeat and they usually play their best type of ball on the long trips. Ray Hawkins is the only one still on the injured list, but he has his suit along just in case his ankle is healed enough to allow him to play against George Washington. However, with Welles, Stephens, Maxwell and Bermann at ends the Herd will hardly miss him although he had gained a reputation as the team's best pass receiver.

The Bison will again employ a wide open spectacular passing attack interspersed with plenty of reverses, spinners and fakes. Their blocking has not shown up very well lately, however, Wes Phillips will be cracking the line for needed yardage whenever necessary.

Those who left by train last Wednesday evening for the 12-day trip included: Kojancik, Jim On, Green, Bostow, Holt, Friederichs, Harry and Frank Johnson, Cecil and Elmer Schrank, McClure, Pollock, Stephens, Welles, Hawkins, Maxwell, Bermann, Sapa, Rorvig, Wheeler, Peterick, Whalen, King, Bill and Floyd Olson, and Wes Phillips. Also accompanying the team are Coaches Finnegan and Lowe, student trainer Ed Gorder, and Eugene Fitzgerald, sports editor of the Fargo Forum.

Gorder and Welles will keep readers of the Spectrum well supplied with news of the trip.

conference ratings—our line was too light to stand up under the battering they received. The Sioux were continually opening holes for the crashing Bill Ordway, sophomore Mike Brenkus, and speedsters Johnson and Pollard.

The Bison displayed a passing attack that would have shamed the Arkansas Razorbacks, during the first quarter. The Sioux were plenty worried as Wheeler and Rorvig tossed six consecutive passes that found their mark. Only a Bison fumble on the two-yard line prevented a Bison score.

Although our own Ernie Wheeler was the star of the game, the blocking of the Sioux forwards stood out during the fight for the huge nickel. Mackenroth, Amick and Johnson played especially well in the Nodak front line.

UND Strides To Seventh NC Title

Undeclared in conference play since the sixth game of the 1934 season, the University of North Dakota rolled up an easy 27 to 0 win over North Dakota State Saturday, to take its second straight North Central title and its seventh in 10 years. Victories over Teachers college, South Dakota, and State were scored in the 1937 title quest.

With the championship definitely decided and only four conference tilts left to be played, the Iowa State Teachers college eleven holds the key to the six remaining positions in the final standings. Only the University of South Dakota—University of Omaha game does not involve the Panther team. On successive week-ends Teachers college will meet SDS, USD, and Omaha University. South Dakota, by beating both Teachers college and Omaha, can retain its 1936 ranking in second place, while Teachers college could gain second by sweeping its remaining games. South Dakota State can finish second if Teachers college bows to the Jackrabbits and beats SDU.

Wheeler Leads Conf. Scorers

Only sensational scoring sprees on the part of South Dakota or Teachers college players will stop Ernie Wheeler, brilliant North Dakota State junior from taking the 1937 individual scoring title with a total of 43 points, scored on six touchdowns and seven conversions. His nearest rivals, Rorvig of his own team, and Horace Johnson of North Dakota, are through for the year. This leaves Loe and Ryan of South Dakota State, and Johnny Magovich of Teachers college, all of whom have scored 12 points, to give chase. Present indications, gained from past performances, are that none of the four will be able to overhaul Wheeler.

Individual scoring:

Player	TD	PAT	TP
Wheeler (NDS), b.	6	7	43
Rorvig (NDS), b.	3	0	18
Johnson (NDU), b.	3	0	18
Pollard (NDU), b.	2	3	15
Magovich (TC), b.	2	0	12
Loe (SDU), b.	2	0	12
Ryan (SDU), b.	2	0	12

SMITH-BISON HOPE TO WIN BACK THEIR BOOSTERS

The Sioux colored stars, Pollard and Johnson, had their way for just about five minutes of the second quarter of the annual Bison-Sioux football classic and that was enough to spell defeat for the Herd. The Bison started out with fight, speed and deceptiveness that had the nine thousand spectators spellbound and the Sioux players awed.

The Bison were forcing the play and drove deep into Sioux territory by well executed pass plays and line smashes—a touchdown was assured—so it seemed—until the Bison fumbled on the one-yard line and the ball went over to the Nodaks. It was a tremendous blow to the Herd, they did not have the fight and color from then on. The potentialities of that probable touchdown with all its "ifs" and "ands" is something that will be cursed and discussed until next fall when the two clubs clash again.

This failure to score made a different team out of the Bison—so it seemed—and late in the second quarter when the UND colored stars struck there were no vicious determined Bison driving them to the ground and they ran twice unmolested to score.

That ended the ball game, near the close of the first half, a game that had all the ear marks of another thrilling 1935 classic. So the University with their great runners won another North Central Conference championship.

The Bison started on their trip last Wednesday to meet Greeley State college at Greeley, Colorado, and George Washington University at Washington, D. C. It is not unusual for the Bison to exhibit some of their best football whole on long jaunts over the country.

Last fall they played great ball against Idaho and were unfortunate in losing 12 to 13. The year before they beat a strong Wichita University club down in Kansas and a year or two before that they played brilliant ball on their trip to Texas.

This trait of the Bison gridmen had better hold true this fall, too, because the Herd are meeting some plenty tough competition in Greeley State and George Washington. Greeley has one of the best teams in years and the reputation that George Washington U. has need not be dwelled upon.

The Bison warriors have a great opportunity on this trip they are taking—not only will they see considerable of America and meet two great football teams, but they will have the opportunity to show their ardent boosters that they are a pretty good football team after all.

SPORT SPECULATIONS

By HJELLE FISCHER

Well we now know that the Bison line can't block. Not that we didn't know it before but we have never seen such dismal blocking on the part of the Thundering (?) Herd as we witnessed last weekend. Time after time the Bison backs were brought up short as they attempted to cut through the line by hordes of Sioux scalpers who brushed aside the Bison blockers as if they were practice dummies.

On the kickoffs we looked in vain for a little interference to form in front of the man receiving the ball. On the second kickoff of the afternoon Cecil Schrank knocked down one would-be Sioux tackler. Otherwise there were 11 Nodaks left standing on their feet on every kickoff. What chance did the luckless Bison backfield have with blocking like that?

That's enough panning for the Bison though. We should try to point out some of the bright spots of the game. One of the brightest was the blocking of Elmer Schrank. It may seem like a direct contradiction of the foregoing statements but the elder one of the Schrank brothers turned in a job at his blocking back post that may cinch him the post on the all conference team.

Jim Maxwell turned in the most surprising performance of the day. Next year ends Welles and Hawkins are going to have a tough time keeping Maxwell out of the starting lineup. Jim won all state honors at the end post in high school, but due to a shortage of tackles he was put at the tackle post at the beginning of this year. However, he is now back at the post he likes the best and he promises to stay there. You will hear a lot of him next year at the receiving end of Wheeler's passes.

Jim Maxwell

Roy Carr seems to be automatic captain of the boxing team this year. At least he seems to be the only one who knows anything about the team and its prospects this year. Or maybe Casey doesn't take any interest in the team as yet. Roy says that any student who has the faintest notion that he is a fighter should try out for the team this year because there are going to be several trips for the team that are going to be really worthwhile. And the competition is not going to be so stiff this year as previously expected.

If any of you want to make some easy money, you want to be sure and bet on the AC frosh basketball team against the Sioux yearlings. They may have a lot of material up there, but whatever they have it will not compare with ours. And for good measure we might add that Johnny Smith, our frosh coach, is no slouch at the art of getting a bunch of former high school stars to work together.

Word is coming in from our nation's capital that George Washington U expects to have their number one end in shape to play against the Bison. He hasn't played yet this year because of a leg injury but he will be at the receiving end of some of those tosses from the backs whose passing scared the living daylights out of Alabama, the team which seems headed for the Rose Bowl this year.

Dave Brindle, veteran janitor at the physical education building, chose last Saturday afternoon to see his first football game in three years. Previously he has had to stay in to watch the valuables in the locker rooms during the games. He chose a poor time to watch his favorite team.

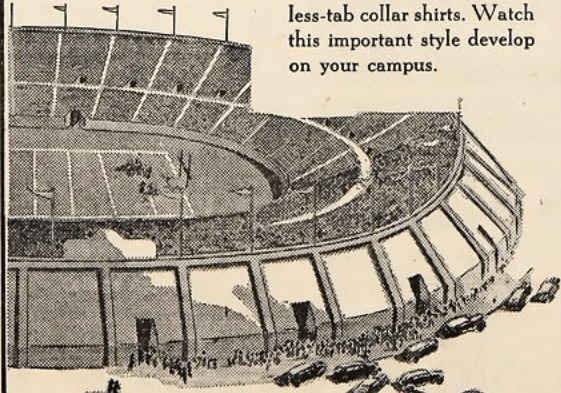

We understand that several of the boys didn't take any books along with them on the trip. Others like Jim On took everything even remotely resembling a book. The term grades will doubtless tell who the ones were who left their books at home.

There will be a meeting of the International Relations club Wednesday evening at 7:30. All students interested in joining are invited to attend.

Dr. West addressed the faculty men's club last Wednesday in the YMCA. His subject was, "Incidence of Student Mortality in Colleges."

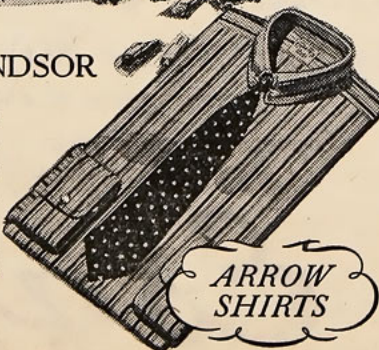

We predict for Saturday's game . . .

By IMP RISONED

Well, the rumors from the U homecoming that have reached us 'uns who were obliged to stay at dear N. D. S. C., certainly are high sounding in more than one sense of the word . . .

One item in this column which sounds pretty good to me is that Imp Risoned gets out of solitary confinement this week and is foot loose and fancy free once more.

The infirmary has had several guests of late. Ruthie G. was there for several days with an attack of pleurisy or something.

Big, bad Bierman should qualify for the part of the villain in any play, cuz while at the U he put on a little scene and now Mary S. and the fella she goes with up there are split up for good.

Celesta M. seems to be in rather a queer predicament—she still insists she was all right last Sunday night she must realize other people are not too dumb. Best I go over to Knudtson's and find out all about the good time.

Little Jeanie S. seems to be having a very difficult time keeping her dates separate. Best Gorman starts a date bureau for her alone.

Evidently one Charlie K. is behind the times cuz Ruthie J. refused a date with him by saying, "well I'm going steady."

Lorraine F. is learning the deaf and dumb language pretty good as she has not been able to talk above a whisper since the U homecoming.

Getting a campus seems to be in fashion now-a-days cuz as soon as one gets out another is ready to fill in. . . Mentioning no names.

There should be a lot of news this week to put in but what news there is is not fit for publication so you will have to be content with this junk and stuff. . . Wonder who will be writing this mess next week as Imp Risoned is going on a tear. . .
