Bison Clash With Jackrabbits

Both Teams Grim In Conference Tilt

Tomorrow's Contest To Be
Toughest of Season;
Third Game

By JOHN SMITH

For the third time this year the Bison are going out to meet a conference foe. Tomorrow afternoon the AC Bison are going to clash with one of the toughest teams ever put on the field by South Dakota State. Picked by pre-season prognosticators to fight it out for the third place with the Bison the South Dakota team has exceeded their expectations and are going after first place with very serious intentions. But the herd is just as serious about winning the conference championship and whether or not they will be successful will be proven tomorrow.

The North Dakota State College Bison football team last Friday night proved to the complete satisfaction of their many loyal fans that they are still as great a football team as they were rated prior to their disastrous defeat by the mighty Gophers. No doubt the class that they have showed in downing the stubborn Morningside club was just the thing needed to encourage the alumni of North Dakota State to journey from far and near to see that flashy backfield and rugged line of the Bison perform at another Homecoming this Saturday afternoon on Dacotah Field. The opposition will be South Dakota State and they are always a tough foe for the Herd; they boast of a heavy experienced line and it remains to be seen if their veteran

Freshmen Must Gather Wood For 50,000-foot Pile

"Well, now," Jimmy Elwin, self-appointed stooge for the Student Commission, bit his pipe and thoughtfully poked at a Spectrum typewriter with his foot. "We aim to have a wood-pile 50,000 feet high. Yes, siree!" He shook his pipe emphatically.

He could not say for sure whether or not the pile would topple. Mr. Elwin answered the irrelevant question by simply ignoring it. He continued the discussion with serious mien.

"Our aim is 50,000.50 or fight!" Mr. Elwin waved both foot and pipe enthusiastically.

According to Mr. Elwin, 50,000 freshmen were sent out Tuesday night on bicycles to hunt wood. Special rates were obtained from the United Bicycle Riders' Brotherhood.

"By a simple arithmetical process," Elwin went on, "we have reached the conclusion that with 50,000 freshmen on the hunt, our goal is made. In this way, we have concentrated on quality, rather than quantity." He beamed happily as he stated his deductions.

"Crates make choice fire fodder — it doesn't matter if they're Great Northern or Milwaukee—" he said in parentheses. "Of course Northern pine is nothing to be sneezed at, but cottonwood and ash are definitely out." The pipe registered disdain. "Yes siree, our wood has pedigree!"

Guards have been stationed to prevent marauders from depleting the precious pile.

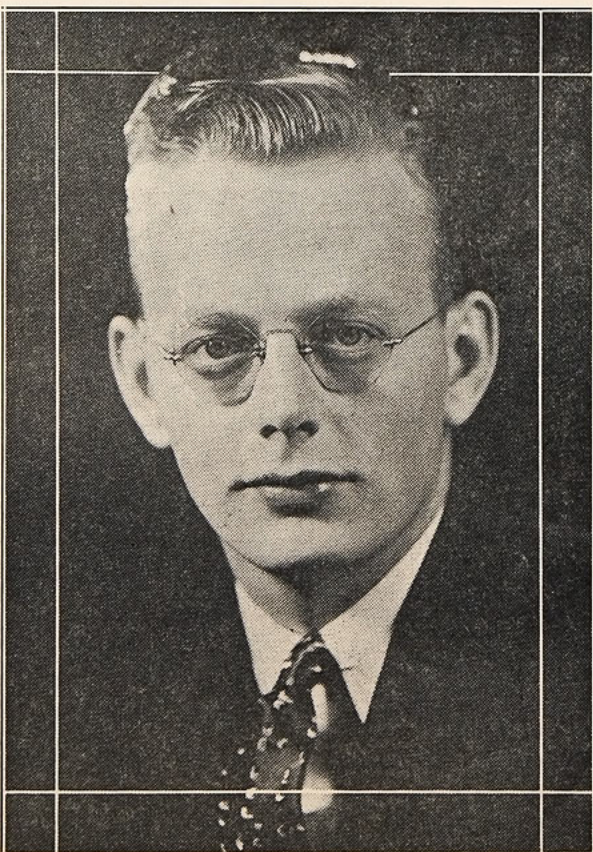

"As I have said before our motto is 50,000.50 or fight!" Mr. Elwin yawned wearily and subtly spelled out "scram" on the typewriter.

DEVILS LAKE HONORS STEVENS

Devils Lake will honor a native son during the game Saturday afternoon when the Devils Lake High School Lettermen's club will present a token of appreciation to Forrest Stevens, Bison captain. Dr. W. line can stop the speedy Bison backs. Homecomers will probably see the most talented bunch of star runners ever to grace the Bison grid team.

There never has been a Bison back equal to Ernie Wheeler when one considers all departments of the backfield business. It's true that Wheeler gets into pretty fast company when we speak of Claudie Miller and Fritz Hanson former Bison heroes, but neither of them could kick or pass with the present Bison star. He thrilled fans last season at Chicago against Northwestern and this season against the Gophers and in both cases he was performing before fans that are used to a pretty high brand of football. There will be others to thrill NDAC Homecomers besides Wheeler. At the other half Carl Rorvig will be showing plenty of stuff; he has lots of speed and possesses that knack of "cutting" that has made Wheeler famous. Wes Phillips will test the South Dakota line with his terrific line plunges and football fans who know the game will see some real blocking on the part of Elmer Schrank at the quarterback post.

Besides the fact that a victory is essential to make the day complete for the returning old grads the Bison have another incentive to be at their best—

First Annual Pledge Banquet Is Served

The first annual interfraternity pledge banquet was held last night to honor 91 new pledges of campus fraternities.

Frank J. Webb, director of alumni relations at the University of North Dakota, delivered the principal speech in which he pointed out five obligations of fraternities to its members. They are, he said, to be loyal to the college, promote good scholarship, enforce good morals, provide good living conditions, and give training in group

Morning Pep Rally Excites Frenzied Annual Snake Dance

Game Tonight Features Revengeful Tilt Between University Papooses and Baby Bison;
Coaches Are Optimistic

Homecoming is here! Enthusiasm for the annual event began to grow on the freshmen while they were gathering wood, but it took the pep rally this morning to imbibe upperclassmen with the spirit it takes—the spirit that will make this Homecoming greater than ever before. Excitement pervaded the campus as students wound their way down Broadway in a snake dance and enthusiasm will be at pitch tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock when the whistle signifies the opening of the clash between twenty-two stalwart grid warriors from the A. C. and South Dakota State.

Bewildered Freshmen Pull Many Blunders In H. E. Department

Speaking of Home Economics—practically every girl on the campus is enrolled in this factory for the production of better store slaves than cocktail critics.

Peaches! not the kind on the park benches, but the spherical furry objects that tickle your palate, which are preserved, except for flavor, color, and shape, were demonstrated by the white appareled, pale-faced Food class.

The other day, the clothing class examined samples of material for a full hour and a half. Then the teacher instructed them to examine the parts of a sewing machine. One of the initiates, Levy Middlemas, of the Textile designers, went to the machine and on first viewing Singer's brain child, asked, "Where's the starter?" Miss Johnson gravely replied, "Beside the emergency brake."

And as for Art... is that that good looking fellow on fourth floor of Science?" asked little blond Clarice Lee—but she suffered a bad case of disillusionment after sitting two consecutive hours only to find that it was just another line.

Thence to the inescapable Chemistry lab period when Helen Greenland was discovered waving an empty test tube in the air. "What are you trying to do?" queried the surprised instructor. "The manual calls for a test tube of laboratory air." Darn clever, these freshmen.

Men and women of the day are members of the Student Commission who, under the leadership of Ted Whalen, on but a few days' notice, have shaped a complete program for the week-end for students and returning grads.

Highlight of the Homecoming celebration, of course, is the football tilt, but running second for interest honors is the annual parade featuring the Homecoming queen and fraternity and sorority float entries.

Contest Popular

Rapidly growing in popularity among activities is the Senior Staff Dinner honoring the Queen, Miss Dorothy Olson. Other highlights of the celebration are Blue Key's Bison Barbecue; the annual Bison-Sioux Frosh grid contest; fraternity and sorority house decorations contest; crowning of Queen and the annual All-College dance.

Festivities got under way this morning at the pep rally which was presided over by Ted Whalen, student president and general chairman for Homecoming. On the program were talks by Glenn C. Cook, alumni board president, and Coaches Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe. Members of the student commission and members of the football squad were introduced with Doc Putnam and his Gold Star Band providing pep in the form of traditional Bison songs.

Following the pep rally students held a snake dance downtown. Classes were dismissed for the remainder of the morning.

Judging Tonight

This evening at 7 o'clock entries in the fraternity and sorority house decorations contest will be judged by a committee composed of Miss Lucille Horton, James D. Gannaway, and C. E. Kaslow. The Baby Bison-Papoose game will get underway at 8 p. m. tonight. Following this game the traditional bonfire will be burned and a pep rally held.

At 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Dr. C. P. Wells, Leon Hartwell, and Knute Henning will judge entries in the downtown window display contest.

The Homecoming parade will begin from the campus gates at 10 o'clock with participants asked to be on deck promptly at 9:45. The line of march will be south on Thirteenth street to Eleventh avenue, then east to Broadway, and south to Front street, where it will dissemble.

The first section of the parade will be made up of official guests: Governor and Mrs. Langer, Acting President and Mrs. John C. West, members of the board of administration, the alumni board, and Mayor F. O. Olsen and the city commission.

The Queen and her escorts will comprise the second section. James Elwin will drive the Queen's car and official escorts will be Cadet Officers Howard Fraser, Orville Rehman, Jim Moore, Roland Barnick, Clark Jenkins, William Pflugrath, Bruce Dahr-ling, Jim Shigley, and Merlin Huson.

The ROTC cadet corps, preceded by the Gold Star Band, will make up the third section, and fraternity and sorority floats will follow. Description of the parade will be broadcast at 10:35 over WDAY.

Many Prizes

The parade will pass the reviewing stand in the middle of Broadway opposite Herbst. Judges in the float contest will be Miss Ann Brown, Paul Jones, and Dr. C. I. Nelson. Prizes for the float and house contests have (Continued on Page Eight)

Governor William Langer

Gov. Langer Declares General Holiday Oct. 30

By declaring a general holiday on Oct. 30, Governor Wm. Langer has given the annual AC-U football clash more publicity and assured it of better financial support than a month of ballyhoo could have done.

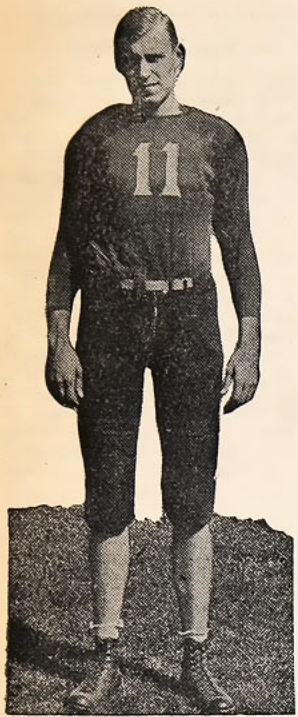

The governor said that in addition to declaring a legal holiday on the day of the University homecoming clash with the AC a block of 1000 tickets had been ordered for the game and preparations for a special train from Bismarck were being handled by a committee, headed by C. J. Meyers.

Other special trains will leave from Fargo and Minot. The Governor is also trying to get special rates on the trains for points all along the route to the Forx.

A reception for all Catholic students attending the college will be given by the Newman club at the Knights of Columbus hall Sunday at 7:30. Leonette Paries, social chairman, is in charge.

Sport Speculations

By FRANK BUCK

The Bison can expect some real competition when they battle against the South Dakota Jackrabbits tomorrow afternoon. The Jackrabbits won their first conference game against Omaha last Saturday, 20-0. The one they will have to pay special attention to will be Lloyd Ptak, a hard driving fullback whose line-smashing ability is only exceeded by his broken-field running. Ptak scored two of the Rabbits touchdowns and was instrumental in the scoring of the third.

The officials were given freer rein in judging aerial attacks in the Bison, Morningside game last Saturday afternoon, due to the change in rules that is being put into practice. The rule deals with pass interference. The rule states that a defender may collide with an antagonist provided he is trying to catch the ball or bat it away. This rule offers more liberties in preventing the offensive team to snare forward passes. This rule gives officials more liberal interpretation on judging scrambles that are sometimes made over pass plays.

Our ancient rivals, the University of North Dakota, scored their second win of this season by defeating the South Dakota Coyotes, 13-7. The NDU are going to put up a darned good fight when they battle us October 30, at Grand Forks. Our Governor is requesting the railroads to offer reduced round-trip rates for that particular game.

Last summer several of Minnesota's football stars kept in shape by working on construction crews. One of the boys working on a gang was assigned to a wheelbarrow. A little later the foreman noticed that the grider was wheeling the barrow with the container upside down. Approaching him, the boss ventured, "Say lad, you've got that thing upside down." "Oh, no," responded the athlete, "every time I wheel it the other way some darn fool fills it up with bricks."

Speaking of high scoring records: Back in 1922 Georgia Tech outplayed a weaker foe Cumberland, by scoring a 22-0 victory over the weary Cumberland. In 1934 Carlisle college, in the southern part of Kentucky, walked over a Tennessee normal college and claimed a score of 106-0. So I guess getting beat by the powerful Gophers by a large margin isn't so disgracing after all.

Another new rule: A kickoff that soars over a sideline shall not be brought back to be kicked over again. It should be set down either ten yards in from the spot where it went out, or on the defender's 35-yard line, the choice to be the defender's. This rule will speed up the play and coaches will have to develop placekickers rather than toss yardage to the opponents.

We take our hats off to the Medicine Man, a column in the NDU paper that makes predictions of the scores in the coming weeks football games. Their prediction for the Bison, Morningside game was 30-6, while the actual score was 33-6. They again came very close in predicting South Dakota to beat the Omaha team by a score of 18-0. The actual score was 20-0.

The writer of the Bystander also hit the nail on the head when (he or she) said:

Little pieces of pencils,
Little drops of ink,
Wow, could I write a column,
If only I could think.

STATE'S VETERAN LINE

Chuck Pollock, Bison Right Tackle, is Versatile Athlete; Stars in Football, Hockey and Golf

Several years ago Bob Brown, former Fargo high school football coach, called the first practice of the season. Among the many enthusiastic candidates who turned out to fight for the glory of good ol' purple and white was a lad named Pollock.

After a few days of grueling practice, Pollock was given a purple sweater the number 54 conspicuously sewed on either side. It was during Fargo high's first game of the season with Wahpeton that Chuck was given the opportunity to show his stuff. Fargo defeated the Wops with a score of 18-0. This game not only gave evidence that Fargo was going places in football that year but also showed that one of their recruits, Pollock, had the makings of a football player.

Not satisfied with having been a success in his first football year, Chuck turned out for the high school hockey team. It didn't take long for fans to see that Pollock had wings on his Pollock completely, Chuck was elected to the athletic commission, an organization controlling high school sports.

Chuck entered NDAC with not only a good knowledge of football, but with plenty of valuable experience. After showing his ability during his freshman year he was rated as a valuable player to the Bison. Last year Pollock played on the varsity as center. At the beginning of this year it was discovered that he would be much more valuable at right tackle. As with all linemen, his name is not listed among those spectacular players, who receive so much glory for winning games, it is the backfield who have the opportunity to sway public opinion by merely running the length of the field or completing a pass.

Last summer Pollock earned the title of ALL-CITY golf champion. At a tournament played at the Fargo Country Club, Chuck defeated Dr. R. W. Pote, two tournament winner and golf veteran in a 21-hole final. The days previous to the tournament found Chuck practicing eight hours a day preparing for the stiff grind.

Chuck Pollock's career in sports has been an interesting one. Starting in high school, working hard at all the sports he entered, he has made a name for himself as an all-around athlete.

ASSOCIATED COLLEGIATE PRESS TO HOLD CONVENTION

Plans for the largest convention of college and university undergraduate publications workers ever to be held in the U. S. are now being formulated. The convention will be held in Chicago, Ill., Oct. 14 and 16. Delegates will attend a real short course in newspaper, magazine, and yearbook business and editorial management. They will also make tours of the up-to-date Chicago newspaper, printing, engraving, and cover-making plants, each personally conducted by an expert in one of these fields of publications work. Special roundtable meetings for the discussion of current editorial and business management problems are being arranged. Last year more than 375 students from college and universities in 33 states attended the meeting held in Louisville. This year's is the 16th annual meeting of the Associated Collegiate Press.

Bison Notes

By SAM TOLCHINSKY

Ernie Wheeler has sounded the call and how many of you are going to answer. It may seem curious but Ernie wants a little more school spirit displayed by the Bison rooting section. Ernie says that when he was in high school and he heard the band strike up the school song and the crowd started cheering he felt just like he wanted to tear right through the enemy and score a touchdown. He says it takes a good deal of the edge off the game when there is no organized cheering. If the Bison rooters would only be as ambitious and as willing to yell as that well organized cheering section from Minnesota that yelled against the Bison several weeks ago the fans would doubtless be treated to even more touchdowns by the great Bison halfback. And Wheeler is just the boy who can do it, too.

Because of the weather, the subject, and the general atmosphere in addition to other things, Ted Whalen dozed off in class the other day and fell out of his seat. When asked if he was hurt, Ted replied, "No, but I'm plenty hungry."

That was the tip-off on Ted's condition because he is now in the hospital with something wrong with either his liver, his kidneys, or his gall bladder. At any rate Ted has been hungry for quite a while now. A good meal consists of a half slice of toast and a cup of tea.

Speaking of Ted Whalen, there was an opportunity for a finish fight between Lloyd Troseth and Gorman King for his job, but Lloyd lost out by missing a couple of important practices. It looks like the hard-working, likeable Gorman King is the one who rates as second string halfback and substitute for Ernie Wheeler. Whalen will have to fight to get his job back again after he leaves the hospital.

We understand that several recent Bison graduates are becoming tops in the coaching field. Sam Dobervich, '35, led his six-man football team to a 50 to 0 victory over Hunter the other day. That was Page's third victory of the season.

Arnold Bernard and his Stanley footballers are one of the most feared Class B outfits in the state. It is a little early to know anything about Bob Saunders yet, but his gridiron artists from Bottineau School of Forestry won their first conference game last weekend.

Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe are pretty sick now when anyone mentions shoulder pads to them. And one can hardly blame them because the entire shipment of new shoulder pads this year have gone bad on them. And in case you think that wasn't expensive just take a look at what it costs to outfit a well-dressed college football player:

Helmet	$ 7.00
Jersey	10.00
Pants	10.00
Shoulder pads	14.00
Hip pads	4.00
Stockings	2.00
Shoes	13.00
Incidentals	5.00
	$65.00

Geo. Knutson, class of 1915, has moved from Fargo to Cheyenne, Wyoming, where he is now stationed as agricultural statistician.

TWO BISON SQUADS AWAIT HOMECOMING GAMES

Frosh Team To Open Program

Bison and Sioux Yearlings Both Playing Second Game Of Season

Homecoming entertainment at the North Dakota State College will begin Friday night at 8 o'clock on Dacotah Field when the Bison Freshmen take on their stellar football foes, the Baby Sioux of the University of North Dakota. The contests between the first year men of these two rival institutions are always real battles from start to finish. Last fall Coach Johnny Smith's charges took two games from the Nodak Yearlings and tonight they will be out to even the score.

Last week-end both teams opened their seasons. The Nodak first year men defeated Minot High School 18-0 and the Baby Bison fell before Earl Butte's rugged team at Wahpeton Science. The Bison lost the services of one of their most capable backs when Jack Sloan was removed from the field and will be unable to play for at least two weeks.

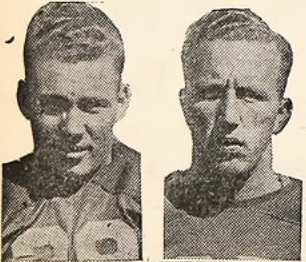

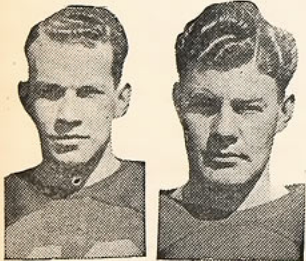

A number of Bison yearling linemen showed to good advantage in the game last Friday at Wahpeton—Cecil Sturgeon and Orrin Streich both of Moorhead held down the tackle positions well. Norman Kamins, Bob Haas of Fargo and Paul Rohrer of Rugby were capable guards. Harry Huls, also of Fargo, showed ability at the center post. Arnold Seims of Pelican Rapids, Minn., and Herb Kittler of Beulah showed that they might develop into varsity caliber ends.

Outstanding yearlings backs were Ole Quamme, fleetfooted halfback from Pelican Rapids, Minn.; Sig Erickson, star athlete from Valley City, and Jack Sloan of Lakota. The line plunging duties were cared for by George Hammel of Hutchinson, Minn. He is a protege of Claudie Miller, who now coaches at Hutchinson High School. Don Johnson of Fargo played well and showed much promise as a blocking back.

This game will be the third of their four conference games scheduled regardless of the fact that the season is just under way and a win will mean that only the University of North Dakota will stand in their way of the North Central Conference championship.

A Few Jottings....

By EUGENE FITZGERALD

Editor's Note:—Fitzgerald, a former Spectrum sports editor, is now sports editor of the Fargo Forum. He is a real Bison booster, having come up from the AC high school where he starred in basketball.

North Dakota State college homecoming throngs would rather see the Bison play the University of North Dakota Sioux than any other eleven in intercollegiate football.

Unfortunately, the Sioux have the same notion about the Fargo team. This situation makes it necessary that the Bison and Sioux meet in the annual homecoming game here on alternate years, the even-numbered ones, to be more specific.

It is doubtful if the Bison could select a more worthy foe than South Dakota State for homecoming on these years when they play the Sioux at Grand Forks.

Most of the alumni of North Dakota State recall the numerous surprises they have witnessed in meetings between the Bison and the Jackrabbits. This situation is brought about because of the fine teams maintained at both institutions year in and year out.

North Dakota State students and alumni in Saturday's game are likely to witness another classic struggle between these two rival elevens. At least, they can go away saying they saw a football game, for that has been the ultimate result in each homecoming meeting between the two schools.

Perhaps no era in the history of North Dakota State produced such consistently good teams as has been the case since Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe took command of the situation. Both the Bison and the Jackrabbits are still in the fight for the conference championship, which is not at all uncommon. Neither is it uncommon to find the Bison playing the Sioux with more than the satisfaction of beating them. These two North Dakota teams more often than not have a great deal to say about final disposition of the conference championship.

Don't be surprised if the situation is unchanged when the Bison and Sioux clash at Grand Forks on October 30.

The injury ridden Bison received another setback yesterday as Ray Hawkins, first string right end, was confined to bed by the doctor's orders. It is hoped that he is only suffering from a case of flu, which will not keep him out of the homecoming game, but it is feared that he is undergoing an attack of appendicitis in which case he will have to be operated on and may be out for the remainder of the season.

Maroons Were Bison Victims

Uncorking the fury of its powerful gridiron machine, the NDAC Bison, primed with vengeance, scored its second conference winning by defeating the Morningside Maroons, 33-6 on Dacotah field last Friday night.

The Bison were forced to take the defensive position in the early part of the game as they fumbled the kickoff. Ten plays later the Bison gained the advantage of the offense position and with the aid of a 54-yard sprint by Wheeler and a 20 yard run by Rorvig the Bison moved to the one-yard line from where Bill Olson plunged over the line for a touchdown.

During the second quarter the Bison opened up their passing attack. A pass from Wheeler to Rorvig who carried the ball over the goal line gave the Bison their second touchdown. A fumble by Morningside gave Wheeler an opportunity to run 20 yards for a touchdown. Wheeler added seven more points in the third quarter by running 65 yards for a touchdown and successfully place-kicking for the extra point.

It was not until the middle of the third quarter that the Maroons secured their lone touchdown. A 25-yard run by Karroll placed the ball on the Bison 9-yard line. After three attempts Karroll dashed through the Bison line for a touchdown.

Another touchdown was chalked up for the Bison in the last period when Ernie Wheeler ran from the 10-yard line, around right end for a touchdown. Wheeler kicked the extra point from placement.

The Bison did not display the spectacular aerial attack against the Maroons that had been expected of them. The line, however, was greatly improved as was shown in the opening plays when they held off the Maroons from scoring when the ball was dangerously close to the Bison goal.

Although Morningside's defeat was as one-sided in the scoring column as the Omaha game the Maroons showed that they had a tough time. We freely predict that they are going to cause plenty of trouble to the other teams in the conference.

Coach Finnegan says that the Bison would have found the Maroons a lot tougher if the two Bison goal line stands in the first period hadn't broken the spirit of the Morningside players. He was well satisfied with the victory as wiping out the stigma of the defeat handed the Bison last year on the Morningside gridiron.

Bison Picked To Defeat Bunnies

Line-up Still Uncertain; Bison Reserves Few; Sioux Play Iowa

Although the Bison are picked to win their third successive conference victory tomorrow they are plenty worried about the game because they are uncertain just who is going to play. Although the Bison would unquestionably be the best team with the entire squad in top form, they will enter the homecoming game with less reserve power than they have had all season.

The University Sioux are worried over their game with Iowa State Teachers because three stars, Pollard, Ordway and Gainer are unable to play. But the University mentors have nothing on the Bison coaches. The Bison coaches are worried about every position in the line except end. The ends, Stevens, Hawkins, Welles, and Bermann are in wonderful shape and raring to go.

At tackle, Cecil Schrank is wearing a special headgear to protect his broken nose. Pollock is in fine shape and will handle the other starting post. But Lloyd Olson is ineligible because of his scholastic standings and leaves Harry Johnson and Herman Bowers as the only capable substitutes. Cecil also turned his ankle during practice and if that refuses to stand up the line will be practically wrecked.

The real worries come at the guard posts. Holt's bad ankle has refused to stand up during practice and he may not be able to play the whole game. Green has not been practicing either, because of a turned ankle. McClure will not play for several weeks because of a bad cut on his nose. Bostow and Sapa will see duty as reserve guards and Sam Tolchinsky has been transferred from the end post in case another guard is needed.

At center, Joe Kojanicik is back in uniform and will hold down the center post, which will miss Jim On, regular center being touted for all-conference honors by Bison fans. Joe is as strong defensively as Jim, but is not quite as accurate in passing back the ball.

In the backfield the only casualties are Frank Johnson with an infected leg and Ted Whalen with stomach trouble.

The Bison coaches who scouted South Dakota State last week came back with a story of a team with a better starting line than the Bison. However, Finnegan and Lowe are confident of victory because of our better backfield and more reserve power. And several thousand Bison fans are hoping that they are right.

President Greets Alumni

After pleasant events have matured into pleasant memories, one of the keenest pleasures of life is derived from reliving and reviving these past events. This pleasure become doubly great if opportunity to reconstruct these memories is afforded on the very scene of their birth. The administration of the North Dakota State Agricultural college wishes to extend hearty greetings and a warm welcome to its returning alumni. To offer you the key to the campus may sound like a worn expression. However, speaking figuratively, this key is offered you with the hope that it will unlock the doors leading to a renewing of acquaintances, the revisiting of old scenes, and the reviving of college interests and activities. The Agricultural college is proud of its alumni. We welcome you back with the hope that your stay on the campus will bring you as much pleasure as your visit affords us in the opportunity to act as your host. -John C. West, Acting-President.

Alumni Board Greets You

The Governing Board of the Alumni and Former Students Association welcomes you back to North Dakota State, your Alma Mater, for homecoming. We would like to have you register while you are here for this gala occasion. On Friday and Saturday morning until 10:30 a.m. your registrations will be taken at the alumni office in the basement of Old Main. After that hour, we would like to have you register at the YMCA on Thirteenth Street, across from the entrance to the campus. There is a comfortable lounge there for you to make use of. Meet your old friends at the YMCA. The Governing Board in the past four years, through the financing of 11 kitchens in the basement of the men's dormitory, have made it possible for around 100 boys to do their own cooking and thereby be able to procure at least a part of their college education for a very nominal sum. They also have equipped two rooms in the basement of the boys' dormitory where there are places for 16 boys to get rooms at one-half the price they can get them in the regular dormitory. There is a study room in connection with this which is well equipped for studying. The Governing Board of the Alumni Association recently financed the completion of the top floor of Science hall which the federal government have leased for a period of 18 months, the Alumni Association being reimbursed by rentals received from the government. By the time the government lease expires on these rooms, it will give the college approximately six new class rooms done without any cost whatsoever to the state. The Alumni Association is going to take part in homecoming activities as usual this year, donating cups and prizes to the different activities. -GLENN C. COOK, Pres., Governing Board.

From Northwestern

Chicago, Ill.—(ACP)—A university is primarily an idea and the responsibility for framing that idea belongs to the student, Dr. Franklin Bliss Snyder, vice-president, told 1700 Northwestern University freshmen. "If your idea of a university pictures it as a continuation of high school, where you study 'lessons' and take part in 'recitation', that is what the university will be to you," he said. "If you think of it as a collection of classrooms and laboratories where you spend all of your time and energy in study, denying to yourselves the opportunities for developing any phase of your personality except the intellectual, that again is what your university will be to you. "If you think of it as a training ground for athletes and cheer leaders, a series of lack-luster days between contests in the stadium and gymnasium, that again it will be to you, and nothing more." Dr. Snyder continued, "I hope yours (idea of a university) is of a place of wider opportunities than you have hitherto enjoyed; of opportunities for work and play, for learning and questioning, for living with interesting people representing many parts of the world and many attitudes toward life . . . for enjoying starlight and sunshine and music and art and other 'useless' things that in the long run prove most useful of all . . . for opening windows into your minds, and for exposing yourself to ideas."

Wanted! News of Alumni

What have you been doing since graduation? What kind of a position do you have? If you are teaching, what and where? Where are you living? What is it like there? Are you engaged? Did you marry? If so, whom? Have you any children? What are some of your future plans? What are some of your hobbies? Where do you plan to go on your vacation? Or, where do you go on your vacation? Did you see any people from North Dakota State? Are there any Bison graduates living near you? Do you ever have a chance together? What news have you about these other classmates? Who would want to know all these things, you may ask? Since the discontinuance of College and State, five years ago no college alumni paper has been issued. We are trying to cooperate with The Spectrum in sending out at least two issues a year to our graduates. We want these issues as interesting as possible. News about alumni and only this sort of news would be of interest to you. To the far corners of the earth some of you have scattered, swelling the ranks of the North Dakota State College alumni whose common bond is your loyalty to the college. Specifically remembered, however, are the personalities known, the friendships enjoyed, the associations made during the years of college life. As the years pass, a half-familiar face, a conversational phrase, a casually mentioned name will flash back memories, and there arises a wistful desire to know what has happened to the joyous companions of long ago. Then you think of the alumni association.

In a publication, items about a large number of individual alumni can be printed telling where they are, what they are doing, and how they are getting along. This can only be done by your help and cooperation. The usual way in which alumni have kept together is through the small groupings of personal friends, some two or three couples in a small town; others within the smaller community groups that make up a large city. When widely separated letters serve as a means of communication, no one has the time or energy to write news to the hundreds of friends once known in college. In this case, however, just one letter to the alumni office would be sufficient. If you insist there is no news from you to be had, at least make sure your name is on the alumni files. If we have no record of you, there is no way that we can appease the disappointment of an alumnus "looking up an old friend" nor do we have a retort to the angry phone comment: "What good's an alumni association if it can't keep track of its own alumni?" This is especially true in former students who have attended a year, but whose names do not appear on the files. We shall be glad to enter these names if you will check with us by letter. The whole success of this depends upon the response of the alumni. If everyone cooperates and sends us such a letter, in the next issue you will hear about all your old classmates. -Governing Board, Alumni and Former Students Association.

That We May Meet Again

There are something like 20,000 words in this issue of The Spectrum, and enough pictures to entitle us to add the phrase, "North Dakota's Picture Newspaper." The several pictures should convey to the memory, and the 20,000 words should convey to the mind all that is being done on the campus to enliven it and insure its future. To help in this program all we ask the alumni to do is to KNOW all about it. Your knowledge will run off your lips into your neighbor's ears, and soon people all over the country will become aware of the re-awakening and modernizing of NDSC. Each student himself can do very little in the way of instigating change and building improvement, nor can the student body in any one year accomplish much, but a consolidated and cooperative body of students and alumni, working over a period of several years can easily shape their Alma Mater into whatever is their collective wish. At the present few students here have any knowledge of what the alumni are doing for the school, what powers they have, or even who they are. The same is true of the alumni. A trifling minority of NDSC graduates keep in touch with activities on the campus after they leave, most of them go far away and forget the old playground. It is to contribute our measly bit to remedy this situation and help draw the students and alumni together that we publish twice a year an alumni-student edition with over five thousand circulation. In it we print all the news of alumni that we can scrape together, that the alumni may better keep in touch with each other and know something of what is going on, on the campus. Alumni news is scarce. Few letters are received in the alumni office. It seems that a student graduated is a student lost. Please write, and write often. We personally note every letter.

The Social Climber

Well, this sure is D. Olson's year . . . president of the Phi Omega Pi's . . . homecoming queen . . . and still wearing D. Buchanan's pin . . . Gov. Langer may not know that he is playing cupid but the $15 he gave R. Hawkins for his touchdown against Minnesota took Hawkeye to Wisconsin to see his girl. She was there to see the game too. Pretty nice Bud . . . If the Kappas aren't careful there may not be any more Sigs to date. Seems they went over to a rushing party and put on "Little Nell." It was so bad the fellows are holding them liable if there are no Sig pledges this year. Your dummy? My dummy. Somebody's dummy wasn't it gals? . . . Everyone has their ups and downs don't they POP's?

Well, D. Nelson you finally broke own. Does M. Mahlman get the sisters to listen to your imitations? Anyhow I'll bet they enjoyed the candy. . . And P. Kreutz . . . haven't heard about you since the soft ball season but you sure crashed thru with the pin hanging. She is D. Hamilton's girl's sister isn't she? . . . Sure am glad the announcer at the Morningside game was wrong when he said, "Wheeler kicking Rorvig holding the ball." . . . In answer to our querie last week about who would take J. Chaney's place for A. S. Hinkle I see the lass is back in school. That's sure a problem solved. . . "If you girls continue to have phone calls at midnight you'll have to leave." And so M. Smith and S. Eaton are out of a room Oct. 15. Any suggestions where they might get another will be happily accepted. Nice kids, too . . . they can't help if people insist on calling them up. Probably had to get an assignment or something. Say girls if you want to take a nice trip to Bismarck about the last of Nov. you had better be finding yourself a football player. Because if the fellows win from George Washington there is no reason why you shouldn't go along to the party in the Governor's mansion. If the fellows don't bring their own girls we will supply them. We always believe in patronizing home trade so get in there . . . If any of the grads have waded through this far we will give you a tip where you can find out the same kind of stuff about your school mates. Just see H. Stokke in the alumni office, Main building . . . Wish we could tell you there was a fellow behind Lois Myron's return to state college. But guess Ames was just too much for the gal. Critical time for the Gamma Phi's too. Bet they were glad to see you Loiy? . . . Say B. Nelson are you and P. Oram still going together? You were doing a bit of philandering this summer, eh?

QUOTABLE QUOTES

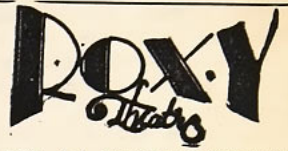

(By Associated Collegiate Press) "The chief hope of America's escaping the rising tides of Communism and Fascism rests on our public schools," Carl Wilde, vice-president of the Indianapolis school board, has the same idea as the American Legion when he scores the "isms" as un-American. "Our schools . . . must be free . . . of political control and party propaganda."

"There are numerous forms of sloppiness which have been incident to the buoyant, easy-going spirit of America . . . democracy cannot afford to be sloppy." So insists Pres. Dixon Ryan Fox of Union college, hitting at the collegiate cult of sloppiness which, he says, settles habits which may bring discharges later on.

"No mere cleverness can take the place of the painful processes of hard and unremitting work," Ralph H. Tapscott, president of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, returns to his Alma Mater to further depress the newest crop of freshmen.

Alumni Office,
NDSC,
Fargo, North Dakota.
Dear Secretary:

Small things first—lest I forget. Will you correct my address, merely my town address, to 1230 Elmerive Avenue—it has been that for five years, and probably will remain so for another five.

I'd like to say "hello" to all the alumni I know—I'd give most anything to be back again to the Alumni Banquet (right now I'd love to decorate those tables with the roses, roses from our garden), to talk over old times and new inspirations—yes, we old timers still have them—but the most I can do is read about them. I'm sure many of the women are active in AAUW activities and projects, now that NDSC is on the approved list. I'd like to look in on the Fargo branch as I know there would be any number of our alumni there, ready with new ideas for our branch here. I've been heading ours for two years, so new ways of getting our plans across are always greeted with cheers.

I'll be watching for news of alumni, also such never-to-be-forgotten men as Professor Minard—how are Mrs. Minard and the boys? Professor Arvola, is he still there? I've been watching his rise in Shrine. And where is Miss Katherine Jensen of back in 1915 and 1917?

I trust you, Miss Alumni Secretary, are not much of a grammarian, as I'm dashing this off while our midnight coffee is perking, and the bacon is sizzling for the sandwiches. How I wish I could be back—I will some day!

Sincerely,
Charity Pinny Dittbrenner,
(Mrs. E. E. Dittbrenner)

Doc Putnam, 80 Year Old Veteran, Sizes Up New Men; Grets All Graduates, Recalls Old Times

Dr. Putnam 50 Years Ago

—And Today

Doctor Putnam, 80-year-old veteran of North Dakota music, is still building bigger and better bands and leading louder yells on the NDSC campus. He has seen and can remember more old grads than anyone else on the staff. In 1903 he was mathematics instructor and band director and he met both classes in the top story of Old Main, while the unobstructed prairie winds whistled around the corners of the lonesome rock upon which the North Dakota State College was built.

A far cry of the nine-piece band Doc Putnam turned out for inspection in 1915, is the 136-piece one which will welcome Homecomers this weekend, during the parade and at the game tomorrow.

Doc Putnam's traditional "college spirit" is radiated to all men and women who have been directed by him. Even in 1916, when each player had to be taught the fundamentals of music, they followed Doc in the yells that put the pep into the football team.

"Each year, band prospects grow better. We can positively state that with the start we have, with added interest taken in grade and high schools, there will be a constant enlarging of personnel," said Doc. Some men come to school with ten and eleven years experience in band work. Most of them have at least seven years, and all have a fundamental foundation knowledge. This year's freshman band plays difficult music at sight. "I am perfectly amazed at the way these freshmen pick up their music," Doc stated. "They are far in advance of any previous band membership."

One different thing—why the band won't be as good as it has been—is that without military requirement, some men have elected band without military, thus filling the 8:00 o'clock class period on Friday morning. This is very serious where the band is concerned, since most of marching practice is placed at that hour. There will be a number of men marching Saturday without practice.

The band personnel is ever shifting. Last year, 21 bandsmen were graduated. Twenty-five sophomores and juniors have failed to return. Many new students tried to come to this school, for band work, but could not because work was not available.

Despite these vacancies, Doc is only two men short for a good band. He needs oboe and bassoon players. He has more bass players than instruments, a situation existing for the first time in the history of the band. Four years ago there were only five trombones; now there are fifteen. There is an over-abundance of cornet and trumpet players, 29 in all. With only 32 clarinet players, there is still room for more.

The character of the music of the concert band has been constantly growing better. Through efforts of the American Bandmasters Association, publishers of band music have been publishing much better grade music. Classic overtures and symphonic concert numbers have been made available for Doc's band. Over fifty dollars' worth of music has already been purchased this fall, all of high-grade classic character.

"It has been a delight to me to see how the large majority of the concert band have been eager to get hold of those concert numbers," said Doc. The band has not played a jazz number for two years.

Dr. C. S. Putnam is looking forward to seeing former bandsmen. He has received many letters ending, "I'll see you at homecoming!" This is his 34th homecoming.

Spectrum Snoopers Pan Its Troupers, Call Them Droopers

Oh, those who work on the Spectrum Staff Are often required to stand the gaff

Of dying toads in window sills And hunting news 'midst winter's chills.

What is more fitting than poetry to begin and end an editor-required eulogy on the Spectrum: Its Life and Work?

The Spectrum may be second class matter at the State College Station, but it surely rates first class with most people on this campus, especially with those who have a finger or two in its creation.

No story of the Spectrum would be complete without a description of the office. It is located in the northwest corner of Science hall basement, with the Bison office on one side and North Dakota on the other. On entering the Spectrum office for the first time, one is impressed by the fact that probably here there is a greater percentage of mess per volume than at any other place on the campus. High-rating college newspapers are taped on the walls, accompanied by several terse statements as to their various points of superiority. These papers are obviously placed so as to inspire reporters to nobler efforts. Two desks, with chairs and typewriters; one exchange file; one bulletin board; one 1936 calendar hung under one 1937 calendar; one Roosevelt sticker; one Webster dictionary in excellent condition; several people; and a general air of good will and hospitality complete, for the most part, the landscape.

Higher-ups use the office as a parking place for books, pipe dreams, brain storms, and weary bones during free hours; but humbler folk, known as common reporters, stop by only to shove a probably overdue story on a spindle, wobbly from years of misuse.

Speaking of late stories brings to mind that curious phenomenon of the newspaper world, the—deadline. The dictionary defines the deadline as the latest possible time when copy can be presented for any given issue of a newspaper, but it is common knowledge that editors make "deadlines" seem a lot deader than they are. In fact, if only the copy making the deadline were used, the paper would look more like a Spooktrum than a Spectrum.

Spectrum personalities lose much by description. Words cannot adequately convey the depth of vision and the integrity of character possessed by these tireless workers in the public good. They must be seen to be appreciated.

Though those who work with the Spectrum folk Are always first to see the joke, Their instructors wonder whether they're sane And until next time, Auf Wiedersehen.

We are to blame— We're not ashamed, aim, maim, pain . . .

New Fund Eases Student Burden

During the past year the national government has authorized a student loan program whereby those students who before had to seek financial aid from some loan company to further their college education could now apply for a loan of any size from their own college.

This particular type of loan is comparatively new and is now attracting wide-spread interest. However, for 20 years without being sensational or widely known there has been a student loan fund available to the women of the college. Miss Pearl Dinan, Dean of Women, at the college, recently ex- loan fund available to the women of the meeting. This non-profit-seeking group, composed of the women on the teaching staff and the wives of the men teachers, has put at the disposal of college women a fund from which they can borrow without the customary fees and expense connected with an agency.

To prove the elasticity of money and the good faith with which this organization operates, the original $700, with which they started, was loaned over and over again until at the end of the school year the amount loaned was over $2500. The amounts borrowed are not supposed to exceed $25 or $30 and in 1936 approximately 300 girls took advantage of this aid.

Quoting Miss Dinan, "Any girl who feels she is in need of a small amount of money and is at a loss where to get it can obtain the loan from our fund upon submitting an application."

Every year the committee votes a scholarship to an outstanding senior girl on the campus and this year the chosen one was Emily Reynolds, a senior in Home Economics.

FIRST BISON COACH

A quarter-back on the first boiler maker team ever to play east of the Allegheny Mountains, a world-famed botanist, grauate of Purdue, and the first football coach at the NDSC, Professor H. L. Bolley drove eleven tough North Dakota men to their first homecoming victory against the UND just 44 years ago! Yes, in 1893, when every man in school played on the football team, and the center had to be the toughest man on the team, the mustachioed gentleman at the left was our heroic gridiron pioneer who built the foundations of future Bison homecoming victories by guiding his greenhorns (among whom was E. H. Elwin, honorable father of the present Spectrum manager) through three consecutive years of perfect performance.

been donated by the alumni board, with first and second prizes being awarded both fraternities and sororities in floats, and first prizes only in house decorations. Cash prizes donated by the Student Commission will be awarded first and second places in the window display contest.

Serving of barbecued sandwiches and coffee, under the sponsorship of Blue Key, will begin at 1 p. m. at a stand adjoining Festival hall. Chief cook will be John Napravanick, chef at the ATO house.

The big game will begin at 2 o'clock with crowning of the Queen scheduled for between halves. Miss Olson will be crowned by Ted Whalen, who will also present awards to winners of float, house decorations, and window display contests. The four winning floats will parade through the field.

The Senior Staff dinner for the Queen will begin promptly at 6:30 p. m. at Ceres hall and festivities will be wound up at a big All-College dance in the Field House beginning at 9 o'clock—WOW!

... Anecdote ...

Gorman King came into the Spectrum office yesterday; picked up the telephone, called 4903, and said:

"Will you give me the registrar's office, please?" In the interim he adjusted his hat. "Registrar? Can you please tell me where I can find Gorman King next period? . . . Room 212 in the Ag building. Thank you."

He had lost his registration card, and had forgotten where his ten o'clock class was held.

One out of every three boys and girls who finished high school last year, will be on a college campus this fall, experts at the federal office of education have figured.

Faculty Club Meets Entertains Pres. West

Honoring President West and the new members of the faculty, The Women's Faculty club held a reception in the YMCA last evening at 8:30. A musical program was presented.

In the receiving line were President and Mrs. West; retiring president of the club Mrs. Nesbit; and Mrs. Walster, the new president; as well as the new faculty members.

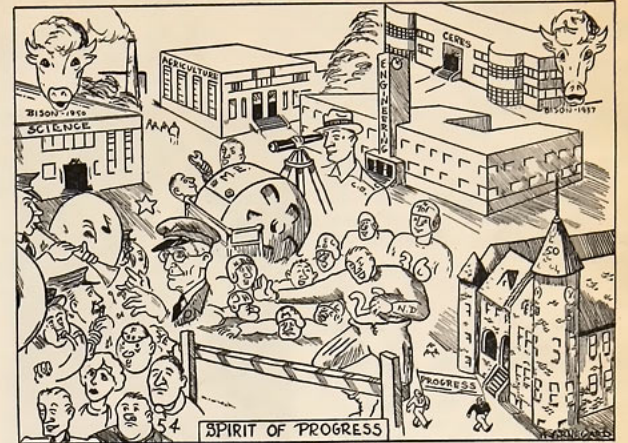

Refreshments were served in the fireplace room by members of the board, consisting of Mrs. Walster, Mrs. Flor, Mrs. High, Mrs. Petee, and Mrs. Metzinger. Members of the club included wives of the teaching, experimental, and extension staffs, and all women readers.

NEW ART INSTRUCTOR

A new member in the art department is Miss Alice Mickle, who previously has been teaching in Chicago. Miss Mickle is teaching introductory art and metal work in jewelry. She said, "I am trying to adopt this introductory art course to those people who take no other art. I think that my work here is going to be very interesting."
