

Ruth Piper Is Given Lead In Brevities Play

Justin Brainerd, Walt Ekeren
To Vie for Top Male Role

Pick Two Each for Two Other
Coed Parts in All-
College Show

Ruth Piper, junior in education, has been selected for the second time in two years to sing the leading role in the Bison Brevities, all-college production. She will take the title role in "No, No, Nanette," musical comedy to be offered here early in April.

Playing opposite Miss Piper will be either Justin Brainerd, junior,

All those who submitted their names as being interested in conducting the Bison Brevities radio series are asked to report to the broadcasting studio on the main floor of the Agricultural building on Tuesday, January 26, at 4 o'clock.

It is important that each contestant be there.

A. A. S., or Walter Ekeren, senior, pharmacy, depending on the final selection of the advisory committee.

Selection of two other characters, Flora and Lucille, has also been so difficult that Virginia Smith, dramatic director, has appointed two girls for each part with final selection to be made on a competitive basis. Ethel Olson, senior, A. A. S., and Ruby Livedalen, junior, H. E., will vie for the part of Flora, while June Lowe, H. S. Soph., and Lois Barton, H. E. Fr., will fight it out for the character of Lucille.

Other roles which were filled during last week's try-out session were: Pauline, played by Beverly Barnes, Fr. from Bismarck; Sue, Anna Jane Black, Fr., A. A. S.; Billy Early, Robert Sanders, Jr. Ed.; Jimmy Smith, Roy Carr, Jr. Agr.; Betty, Cloyce Hocking, Soph. H. E.; Winnie, Dorothy Bentley, Fr., R. A. S.

Girls selected to do singing and dancing chorus work are: Margaret Calhoun, Sarah Eaton, Joan Hughes, Mary Jane Johnson, Patricia Oram, Julia Ann Reynolds, Joyce Ogilvie, Louise Tweet, Marion Whalen, Holace Beall, Caroline Brown, Jessie Herbison, Eunice Hjelle, Lucille McCarthy, Virginia Nelson, Marjorie Pfeffer, Helen Sletvold, Vivika Thorson, Beryl Burkee.

Final selection of boys' singing and dancing choruses will be made from: Dayton Byram, DeLaurence Nelson, John O'Laughlin, Clark Packard, Gil Wagner, Raynard Anderson, William Jamison, Joel Ellis, Roland Barnick, Raymond Dahm, Sid Johnson, Ralph Kvamme, James Mahoney, Maurice McCormick, Adrian McDunn.

Nestos Speaks To Scout Unit

Suggests NDAC Offer Training Course for Scout Leaders

"We need not scouts, not interested men, but trained leadership," said R. A. Nestos, former governor, main speaker at a meeting of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, held Wednesday.

"Men of the A. C. are well fitted for scout leadership because of their professional training," said Nestos. "The knowledge of scout work can double the value of a college graduate to any community." He suggested the A. C. offer a scout leader training course that would meet one night a week for about nine weeks training.

The chapter award for distinguished service within the chapter was awarded to Hugh Anstett by Dean I. W. Smith.

Fourteen members of the Fargo Trefoil club were present at the meeting.

Bill Stewart conducted a fifteen minute radio broadcast for Little International publicity yesterday. The program was a well arranged parody on Good Will Court.

1938 Show Manager

John McDonald of Harwood, who was assistant manager of last night's Little International livestock show, will manage next year's edition of the exposition.

Open House To Be Held Sunday

Ceres Hall to Entertain Visitors With Musical Numbers

Ceres hall dormitory will hold its first annual openhouse next Sunday from 3 to 6 p. m., according to Cloyce Hocking, president of Ceres hall club.

All the girls' rooms, lounges, and parlors will be open for inspection it was announced.

Students, faculty, and friends are urged to come. Students are asked to come from 3:00 to 4:30 p. m., it was declared, while friends and faculty will be received from 4:30 to 6 p. m. An invitation is cordially extended to any Fargo people who wish to become better acquainted with the college and campus life.

Piano selections will be played by Donna Jean Davis, Ethel Schulz, June Lowe, Mary Mahlman, Holace Beall, and Rosemary Lee. There will be several vocal selections by Jen Barton, Jessie Herbison, Ruth Cooley, Rosemary Lee, and the "POP" trio — June Lowe, Mary Mahlman, and Marion Shigley. An instrumental number will be given by Jean Crowley.

Cloyce Hocking will act as general chairman, assisted by Beverly Barnes, in charge of refreshments; Valdis Knudson, entertainment; Lois Barton, hostess; Annabelle Lee, invitations; Rosemary Kniefel, cleaning-up; Mabel Theobald, sewing; Jessie Herbison, decorations.

Members of the editorial and business staffs of the Bison and Spectrum will be entertained at an informal party next Wednesday by members of Gamma Tau Sigma, honorary journalistic fraternity, according to William Murphy, president.

'Winterset' To Be Given Here Next Tuesday

Alumni, Former Students To Take Major Parts In Production

Mason Arvold Will Be In Charge of Lights and Scenery

With a dress rehearsal held Wednesday night to smooth a few rough spots, the cast for "Winterset" is about ready to stage Maxwell Anderson's famous play next Tuesday, according to A. G. Arvold, director. Dayton Jones, as Mio, and Alice Bender playing Miriamne, have lead parts.

Sets and costumes have been completed, many of the sets being designed by Mason Arvold, who will be in charge of lighting effects and scenes during the main performance.

This will be the first time the play has been produced in this section, said Arvold. It will also be the first time that alumni and former students have taken part in campus productions.

A Costume Design Contest Announced

A contest to select the costume designer of the Bison Brevities has been announced by Hugh Anstett and Virginia Smith, production leaders.

Winner of first prize will be named costume designer for the show, and second prize winner, assistant.

Rules for the contest are as follows:

1. Design must be for an afternoon or tea dress. The skirt must be long and full enough for dancing. Material must be inexpensive and practical. State the kind of material applicable to design. A hat may be included in sketch.
2. Make sketch on white 9 by 12-inch paper.
3. Figure must be 7 inches high at least.
4. Hand in sketches to Miss Ann Brown, art department, by Feb. 5.
5. Consider possibilities for easy construction of costume, smart but simple.

Social Science Club Meeting Postponed

The next meeting of Pi Gamma Mu, originally planned for next week, has been postponed until Feb. 9. At this time a panel discussion on community programs will be led by C. A. Severson and community problems relative to Fargo will be taken up.

Harris Honored At Banquet Here

Picture of Park River Farmer
Placed in Hall of Fame

The picture of John A. Harris, Park River livestock and grain farmer for more than 50 years, was unveiled and hung in the hall of fame at a dedicatory banquet in Ceres hall cafeteria Wednesday.

Toastmaster at the banquet, attended by student, alumni, faculty and North Dakota livestock breeders, was Prof. J. R. Dice of the dairy department. E. J. Taintor of Park River gave a biographical sketch of Harris, who was honor guest. Members of the NDAC livestock judging team were presented medals by Vic Sanders, coach.

Harris is prominent as a breeder of Shorthorn cattle and Duroc Jersey hogs and a grower of certified grains and potatoes. He has also been prominent in community service, being one of the founders and directors of the Walsh county agricultural school at Park River.

Dinan. Mrs. E. A. Engebretson will be director.

Already signed are Ann Bolley, Ann Horton, Lorraine Dunlevy, Margaret Calhoun, Eleanor Shouts, Lorraine Weir, Mary Yeager, and Mary Froling, violins; Ella Shalit and Julia Ann Reynolds, cello; Charlotte Cole, piano.

Debaters Plan Montana Trip

Donald Erickson, Arwin Hoge
To Represent College at Bozeman

Arwin Hoge and Donald Erickson will represent NDAC in the Phi Kappa Delta, national debate society, debates at Montana State college Feb. 4.

Hoge and Erickson will take the negative side of the national question: Resolved, that Congress should be empowered to fix the minimum wages and maximum hours of industry, and will exchange debates with the Universities of North Dakota and Minnesota.

The debates at Bozeman are a part of the national Phi Kappa Delta contest representing the north central states.

Begin Debating In F-M. League

The opening round of the speech tournament sponsored by the Red River Valley Forensic League was held last Monday night. The tournament is a series of debates between Concordia college, Moorhead State Teachers college, and NDAC, on the question, "Resolved, that Congress should be empowered to fix maximum hours and minimum wages of industry." Each round consists of two debates in each college.

The NDAC squad is made up of two negative teams and two affirmative teams. On the first negative team are Arwin Hoge and George Sorlie; on the second, Dick Hoag and Thomas Ray. On the first affirmative team are Robert Amidon and Marvin Nunnberger; on the second, Roger Touissant and Charles Birke-land.

Mildred Weiser and Lorraine Naf-talin took the negative in a debate against Concordia yesterday.

Blue Key, national honor fraternity, initiated Kent Helland, Maurice Benidt, Francis Ladwig, Robert Erickson, Harold Spitzer, Fred Heisel, Walter Ekeren, Orville Sorvick, and Max Thal last night.

800 Attend 15th Little International Livestock Show; Phi Omega Pi Sorority Wins Ticket Sales Loving Cup

Approximately 800 people watched the 15th annual Little International Livestock show, in which 150 agricultural students took part, in the stock pavilion last night.

Judged one of the outstanding shows on record, the event was in charge of Robert Williams. Bill Stewart and Woodrow Wieland were in charge of announcements with members of the Saddle and Sirloin club as assistants.

Marian Shigley of Phi Omega Pi sorority was mistress of awards, the honor bestowed to the ticket sales contest winner. Second place was won by Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Outstanding feature of the show was the hog calling contest, won by Dr. M. E. High and judged by Faculty members L. H. Hartwell, C. P. Wells, and H. O. Werner. The coed calf show contest was won by Phi Mu sorority, with Ann Kaiser and Ruth Pinkham as contestants.

Florence Kapaun, representing Ceres hall, milked 6.9 pounds of milk to win the coed milking contest.

Winners in the livestock show itself included: swine, Chester gilts, Walter Gadberry, first; Wayne Bellamy, second; and William Avery, third. Duroc gilts, Roy Sorenson, first; Reinhold Elker, second; Charles Powers, third. Grand champion, Roy Sorenson, reserve champion, Walter Gadsberry.

Beef: Angus, James Osborne, first; Kenneth Erickson, second; Don Frankhauser, third; Short-horns, D. McIntyre, first; Frank Johnson, second; Harry Johnson, third. Grand champion, James Osborne, reserve, D. McIntyre.

Horse division: Clydesdale, Richard Weiser, first; Vic Anderson, second. Percheron, Harland

Josephson, first. Belgians, Bill Dick, first; John Campbell, second; Elmer Brindle, third. Grand champion, Bill Dick, reserve champion, Harland Josephson.

Anti-Venereal Campaign Needs Government Behind It

A NEW battle on the medical front was brought to public attention when President Roosevelt announced in an open letter to the conference on venereal disease control in Washington that the federal government is "deeply interested in reducing the disastrous results of venereal diseases."

That an extensive campaign against venereal diseases would be undertaken was hinted last year when Dr. Thomas Parran was appointed surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service. Dr. Parran is considered one of the country's outstanding authorities on this phase of medicine, and he has publicly stated that his life's ambition is the eradication of venereal disease. Definite steps towards a practical program were taken by Dr. Parran recently when he assembled 600 doctors and social hygienists and outlined a huge anti-venereal campaign for 1937.

One of the first obstacles that Dr. Parran will have to overcome in his war on syphilis, gonorrhea and other venereal diseases is that of breaking down the age-old taboo against dissemination of information on these diseases. To the general public any reference to venereal diseases is washroom or pool hall parlance.

So far the dissemination of literature and publicity on venereal diseases has been sadly deficient, but due largely to the existence of this taboo. Radio broadcasters prohibit entirely all reference to "syphilis" and similar terms. Newspapers and magazines have been somewhat more liberal, but have carried out no definite cooperative policies. Until these major information-distributing agencies formulate a definite cooperative publicity policy, an anti-venereal campaign will probably fail. With the federal government behind him now, however, Dr. Parran may still become the Dr. Gorgas of the venereal menace.

The Editor's Corner

THE most enlightening banquet program this writer has attended for some time was the one held last Wednesday when the Saddle and Siroin club honored John A. Harris, pioneer Park River livestock breeder. It afforded me, a farm-reared youth who has been more or less divorced from agricultural contacts in recent years in a pursuit of experience and knowledge in the field of journalism and education, with a new appreciation of the great vocation that is agriculture.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY WHO came in contact with Dr. Frank B. Slutz during his stay here found him an extremely engaging personality. His appeal to students was noteworthy. We heard scolded hard-boiled students who rarely listen to lectures exclaim, "Boy, he is a good speaker". Others said, "wouldn't it be marvelous to have him for a teacher". A person who can pierce the surface of the blasé NDAC student sufficiently to elicit such exclamations has got som'pun'.

REPEATED STATEMENTS OF

thankfulness for the service of North Dakota Agricultural college to his neighbors and himself was expressed by Harris, who has observed the progress of this school since infancy. When I heard Harris say repeatedly in his address Wednesday, "In behalf of Walsh county I want to express my gratitude for all NDAC has done for us", I wished the budget board, board of administration, the legislators and the governor, or all who have the power to foster or dwarf the services of this school by their appropriation could have been there.

TO HEAR TESTIMONIALS

of associates of Harris regarding his success in the field of agriculture and concerning the respect with which he is held in his community and his service to his community must have proved inspirational to the 80-odd college men attending the affair to carry on in their chosen field—agriculture. Then to hear the quiet, unassuming 72-year-old pioneer himself get up and testify regarding the enjoyment he has had on his life "out on the farm" was a thrill profound.

TWO SUGGESTIONS MADE BY

Dr. Slutz in regard to this campus which merit serious investigation are setting up a vocational guidance system and offering a course in the art and science of making a successful home. He would have the organization of a complete testing program on the campus at cost to the students. Such a program, he declares, should be under the department of psychology and offering all students desiring the service, a testing analysis concerning vocational interests, national intelligence, social adjustments, emotional poise, and personality ratings. The home-making course he would have a year's subject built upon such a text as the new one by Ernest Graves, "Marriage". He added the subject should be taught by an instructor who has a home, a fine family life, children and should be open to men and women.

BOOSTER

I want to boost something, just once, Mr. Editor. Tomorrow I'll go back to my hot-dog stand by the road and be a gripe to man. I want to lead the cheers for Winter set.

A. G. Arvold has produced such things as Peter Pan and I have thumbed the little button on my nose (as if he cared). This week the campus entrepreneur and I are working hand in glove. (He's the glove, being a little bigger.) We're both pushing "Winter set." Maxwell Anderson, the author, once attended NDU. That should be reason enough for tearing him down. But when someone comes through with a powerhouse a guy just has to stand to one side and doff his cap.

You think this winter is powerful? Tut, tut. It's just a flake on the shovel, compared to "Winter set." You think Doc Sasse's alarm clock-doorbell awakener is stirring? You haven't heard anything yet. Doc's invention is just a Boy Scout contraption compared to the arousing qualities of "Winter set."

Delmar Skow is perfectly cast as Garth—a criminal with an oppressed, hunted look and a jittery manner. Wilfred Rommel is there as hard-boiled Trock? Show me more virile acting on this campus than that dished out by the Edwin Booth prexy! There's Orville Sorvick as a radical. Remember Orv's Roosevelt take-off? Well, season that with a pinch of sarcasm and hair ferning in his eyes. Then you've got something. Take Fern Loberg and Virginia Smith as tough babes of the street. (You take them, I'm tired.) They're good. If I termed them "naturals" they'd get sore, so we'll skip that. There's Ray Whitver as a bum. He's colossal. Arvold casted him on sight, without a try-out. And don't overlook Bob Sanders, cast as shadow. You'll thrill to him as they say in Hollywood.

Of course we musn't forget the Arvolds themselves. They're not on the stage, but you'll see their results. A. G. is still the best actor of them all when he hurls himself into his part, vociferously blustering through a 50-line speech on the evils of not learning parts until the terpsichorean deadline. And young Mason, working on the sets—body and soul in the theater—destined for back-stage success.

And as for the leads—of course they're good. But leads always get too much publicity anyhow. So plan to live "Winter set" with the L. C. T. players next Tuesday.

BISON BRIEFS

By JIM BACCUS

B. B. Tryout Notes: It seemed to be a well-handled and very fair tryout this year, thanks to faculty members Van Vlissingen and Blakeslee, who heard each aspirant carefully. . . . A goodly amount of talent for the coming WDAY programs has already been unearthed, including the Marion Shigley, Mary Mahlman, and June Lowe trio; the string quartet composed of Anne Horton, Julia Ann Reynolds, Charlotte Cole, Margaret Calhoun; soloists Rosemary Lee and Joel Ellis; violinist Lorraine Dunlevy; ukelele strummer Joan Hughes. . . . Lots of new faces, freshmen galore, which is good for the show. . . . And many oldsters, who come back year after year, carrying the burden of the chorus work, doing the real trouping, asking only that they be allowed to feel again the thrill of the foots. . . . a kind of spear carrying, but they have my admiration. . . .

It would seem that the gal destined to fill the high buttoned comedy shoes of promoted Smith is none other than Dot Bentley. . . . She says, "I'm just going to be myself in this role." . . . She ought to panic 'em. . . . But the dame to watch is Beverly Barnes, Bismarck's pride, who is liable to pull this show right out from under the others. . . . but not in the singing end of it. . . . No one can even pretend to approach Piper's piping.

Around and about: The gold-painted snow scoop goes to the gal that went over to study with her pal one night last week. She thought she knew her friend's house, so she went in and up to the room, to find herself among the lads in the Kappa Sigma Chi domicile. . . . Whoops! And then Miss Johnson and Mrs. Warburton from over at the Home Management House stopped the Winnipeg-bound Greyhound, crawled aboard and asked if it went directly downtown. Newell Beckwith made the error of buying a stock show ticket at a foreign market and he had to trek over to his regular corral and purchase five more to square it all. Nice work last night, Don and Virginia.

The band got under way this week on its broadcast series, but it was doubtful for a time whether the annual airing would be continued, when the Local of the American Federation of Musicians refused to allow Doc and two student union card holders, to broadcast over WDAY. The trouble was the result of a long altercation between the station and the Local, which has been trying to "close" the studios to non-union talent. The present trouble was precipitated when WDAY continued to allow the non-union Lem Hawkins aggregations to air, and refused to hire a regular union studio orchestra.

At The Movies

When Joan Crawford, as a fascinating young heiress decides to avoid publicity and ties in with Clark Gable, an up and coming young reporter, you have a picture. The Fargo theater presents "Love on the Run" Saturday through Tuesday with Joan Crawford and Clark Gable.

Yes, it has a triangle plot, but you wouldn't recognize it when Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea, and Katherine de Mille bring "Banjo on My Knee" to the Fargo next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Showing at the Grand today and tomorrow is that well known man of adventure, George O'Brien characterizing Daniel Boone in a picture of the same name. Heather Angel supports O'Brien in this story. Starting Sunday at the Grand is the suave Adolphe Menjou and Alice Faye in "Sing Baby Sing."

"Everybody's Old Man" brings to the screen of the State theater Irvin S. Cobb, America's favorite story teller, in his first starring role. It will be shown today and tomorrow. The popular young romantic lead, Robert Taylor, is coupled with Janet Gaynor in Ben Ames Williams' "Small Town Girl." This will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

Just children take the leads in "Too Many Parents" to be shown Tuesday and Wednesday at the State. Following this the State will present Mae West in "Klondike Annie," another of those memorable Mae West pictures. Victor McLaglen supports Miss West in this story of the gold rush days.

Charles S. Hendershot, a law student at Ohio State university, expects to live in a sixteen-foot trailer with his wife and dog for the next three years.

On an evening in March, 1911, twenty-seven years ago, eighty-five couples tripped the light fantastic to the strains of sweet music by Doc Putnam's six-piece orchestra at the first annual Crack Squad Dance. Today that event has developed into one of the high spots of the formal dance season—the Military Ball, this year's edition of which will be held January 29.

Those first few years after 1911 the event continued to be known as the Crack Squad Dance and was featured by a snappy exhibition by the Crack Squad of the Military department. Tales have it that the student cadets in those days went through "Bunts Military Manual" with enviable precision and exactness.

Not until 1916 did the event become officially known as the Military Ball sponsored by the Cadet Battalion. At that time the grand march each year was led by the head of the Military department instead of a student manager. For two years beginning in 1921, a specialty of the ball was the serving of refreshments by a sextette of small girls.

The first Military Ball to attract more than 100 couples was held in 1924 and was known as the First Gold Star Military Ball. An innovation that year and one which was carried on for several years was a dance routine presented by Marie Early and her pupils. The following year sponsorship of the ball was taken over by Scabbard and Blade and is still sponsored by that group. An unusual feature was provided then when torches, rockets and flashes illuminated the campus during the arrival of guests at the dance.

Fighting Bunnies Face Undeclared Bison Five In Loop Test Tonight

South Dakota Team, Though Defeated Thrice in Conference Games, Has Proven a Stubborn, Fighting Aggregation in All Instances

A dangerous barrier to the Bison basketball team's march toward a North Central conference championship is Red Threlfall's crew of fighting cagers who invade NDAC's sanctum tonight at 8 p. m. Although defeated in three conference starts thus far, the Jackrabbits proved especially troublesome to both the Bison and University of North Dakota in their southern trips early in the conference race.

The Bunnies have size, speed, ruggedness, willingness and ability to play a wide open game. Scoring aces of their combination are Newman, big center who is fourth in league scoring totals, and Bartling, speedy forward. Bulwarks of their defense are Pylman and Lassen, a pair of tough guards.

Stevens Out

The Bison may not be in much better condition for the game than they were in the Coyote go last Saturday. Stevens is definitely out and Anderson has been troubled with a bad knee.

In the conference race University of North Dakota is leading the parade with four wins. The Bison and Morningside are also undefeated in two games.

The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	Pts.	Pts.
NDU	4	0	1.000	140	101
NDAC	2	0	1.000	80	66
Morn.	2	0	1.000	47	43
Iowa	1	2	.333	75	85
Omaha	0	1	.000	24	43
SDS	0	3	.000	100	109
SDU	0	3	.000	76	95

Birk Is High

Emmet Birk and Casey Finnegan, twin Sioux scoring aces, with the advantage of having played four games, are leading the conference scorers.

The high scorers:

	G	FG	FT	PF
Birk, NDU	4	13	9	35
Finnegan, NDU	4	13	8	34
Hetland, SDU	3	13	7	33
Newman, SDS	3	10	8	28
Curtis, Iowa	3	10	7	28
Anderson, NDAC	2	12	1	25
McCosh, NDU	3	9	3	21
Bartling, SDS	3	7	6	20
Robertson, NDU	4	7	6	19
Barber, SDS	3	6	7	18

Bob Saunders, ace Bison guard, is 15th in the scoring columns with 15 points. Carl Rorvig has scored 10 in league competition.

Girls' Gage Race To Begin Monday

Tournament games in girls' basketball will begin next Monday at 5 p. m. in the Ceres hall gym. There are six class teams competing. The captains are: Frosh I, Beverly Barnes; Frosh II, Tessie Thue; Soph. I, Margaret Jones; Soph. II, Cloyce Hocking; Junior, Verda Van Vorst; and Senior, Lottie Behrens.

Following the inter-class tournament, Delta Psi Kappa will conduct an inter-sorority tournament, the winner of which will be presented with a cup.

Stevens Is Lost For Gage Season

Forrest Stevens, six-foot five cager from Devils Lake, may be lost to the Bison basketball team for the remainder of the season, it was learned here.

Stevens has been out since the beginning of the second quarter when he was ill with flu. Doctors this week advised him to discontinue basketball the remainder of the season.

The news came a distinct blow to the Bison North Central conference hopes, riddling further a squad which has seen Bud Hawkins and Ernie Wheeler lost through ineligibility. Stevens started the season as regular forward and was invaluable as reserve center for Anderson.

Bob Saunders Hero In Bison Conquest USD Aggregation

Coyote Center, Hetland, Is Scoring Ace of Encounter Here

The Coyotes of the University of South Dakota, sporting a good passing combination and a star cager in the person of Gene Hetland, gave the Bison a fierce tussle before succumbing 31 to 25, Saturday. The win was the Bison quint's second straight in North Central conference competition.

With Bob Saunders, brilliant guard, furnishing the drive and scoring punch, the Bison started auspiciously to run up a 12-4 margin early in the game. The margin soon dwindled, however, as Hetland, Coyote center, began his effective bombardment of the net, and the half ended with the Coyotes behind only 14-13.

Rorvig Scrappy

During the early part of the second half, however, the Bison attack crumbled, and the Coyotes held the lead for much of the period. Main factor in keeping the Bison in the fray during this attack lull was Carl Rorvig, scrappy forward, whose floor play and ball-hawking was spectacular.

In the final minutes of play, however, Russ Anderson, who had been ill all week with flu, found his shooting eye to stage a one-man scoring attack that cinched a victory for the home team.

Saunders Star

Star of the Bison win was Saunders whose drive, brilliant defensive work and marksmanship showed well. Of most assistance, however, were Rorvig and Howard Fraser, whose guard play did much to interrupt the Coyote attack.

Leading scorer of the contest was Hetland with 15 points. Saunders and Anderson each had 10.

During the game the Bison had 55 attempts at baskets and made 15, while the Coyotes attempted 32 and made 11.
