Sioux-Bison Gridiron Classic Tomorrow Is Potential Civil War

Green Shirted Football Wars Nears Climax

Sioux Gridders Protecting Clean Conference Slate In Battle Tomorrow

Bison Confident

Bloodthirsty, Venegous, Herd Must Take Sioux In Stride To Show

A dime—novel stage setting, pitting a rejuvenated and revengeful Bison eleven, bent on tossing the championship run into a grand steeple-chase, against an undefeated Sioux aggregation, bent on dumping the hapless Herd and continuing to a conference title, should give homecoming fans here a green-shirted civil war unprecedented in North Dakota annals.

With prospects of being listed among thirty or forty of the nations elite with records of unbeaten and untied, the University of North Dakota will battle a blood-thirsty and confident North Dakota State team in a hammer-and-tongs embroglio characteristic of the long 42 year campaign, leaving the teams battered, the partisan audience limp and exhausted, and the score 6-7, 7-6, or even 20-20. The Bison are on the spot and the Sioux are spotted.

North Dakota will present a powerful flock of backs, starring the sensational Pollard; the line bursting Blanchette and Halvorson; Campbell and Cameron, passing-kicking adepts; and Leidholt, Sullivan, and Horace Johnson. To checkmate this aggregation Coach Finnegan will present fully as versatile a backfield in Ernie Wheeler, a ball-toting derwish; the redoubtable Bob Erickson, undoubtedly the best line smasher in the conference; Emil May, who ran wild against the University in the last year 20-20 classic; Olson, Phillips, Rorvig, and Schrank, blockers and handy-man ball carriers when the going is tough.

In the forward wall the choice is eeny meeny, miny moe. The Bison boast such staunch linemen as Sturgeon, Millar, Stevens, Springer, and Pollock to match the much publicized Gainor, Amick, Johnson, and Jacobson. Finnegan will be able to outnumber the opponents in replacements for the forward wall, although the number of letterman and veterans on each team is about equal.

The Bison must win to remain in the conference race as a result of the 7-0 upset at Morningside last week while the University need only take this game to cinch the conference. At any rate, a Bison win would throw the 1936 crown into the conference grab-bag where either South Dakota University or the two teams competing Saturday might pluck away at it. The Bison coaches are distinctly pointing to a reversal in form which if accomplished will be "bad medicine" for the Sioux.

To the fan who likes his pre-game dope diet cold, strong, and frozen, the following line-up of the North Dakota Sioux and North Dakota Bison, antagonists in the battle will give him something to cogitate over:

The two clubs have played a 41 game series extending over 42 years. First skirmish in 1894 was won by the AC 20-4.

Women Mathematic Majors Entertain

Larimore Fans To See Harvest Of Early Seed

A SHORT STORY
By BOB WILLIAMS
Twenty years ago, a Scandinavian pioneer planted a tiny seed on the fertile soils of Larimore, producer of the best in the west, and the famous Red River Valley of the North. Hundreds watched the steady growth of a pudgy sprout, bloated daily with wholesome rations of milk and cream, until it became enormous in physical proportion and spectacular in forward motion. When fully mature it was shipped to the North Dakota Agricultural college, where the master experimenter developed it into a nationally famous stalk.

And it came to pass that the seed grew into an enormous size, became admired by many, and the idol of many an experimenter. When the Larimore townspeople heard that this great growth was to make its last stand on October 31st, 1936, and then was to be mowed down to appear no more it ganged up to make that killing a gala affair.

Hundreds trekked to Fargo by automobile and bus to witness that cutting because they anticipated that when it fell many others, which had been competing with it, would be crushed when it made its last stand.

Tomorrow, immediately before the game, Larimore fans will honor its native son, Robert Erickson, football captain, in his last showing before Bison fans. They will turn out in a throng to give the native son a gift of appreciation.

Proudest of the lot will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson, planters of the seed, Casey Finnegan, master experimenter and developer, Lloyd Jarman, high school coach who blind cultivated the product, and all the Larimore fans.

The Sioux, competition of his growth, may be crushed in his fall.

Nodak Bands To Banquet Saturday

In traditional style, the members of the "U" and Gold Star bands will climax their many homecoming activities with a 6:30 banquet at the Waldorf hotel following the game Saturday afternoon.

During the half tomorrow afternoon, both bands will assist in the coronation ceremony. Following the formation of letters they will be directed by Howard in Dr. Putnam's "North Dakota Hymn," thus climaxing the 20 minute ceremonies.

Thursday afternoon two groups of costumed members of the Gold Star Band played typical German music in the downtown districts calling attention to the homecoming activities tomorrow. This afternoon another German group of 14 will play, and at 6:30 entertain at a Shrine banquet in the Masonic Temple.

Total expenditure for education dropped from $2,317,000,000 in 1930 to $1,753,000,000 in 1934.

Honor Women Given Place At Queen's Table

Eight outstanding senior girls have been chosen by Senior Staff to sit at the queen's table during the all-homecoming dinner, complimenting Queen Frisk tomorrow night at 6:30 in Ceres hall.

Those chosen are: Marjorie Arnold, LaVerne Gilbertson, Martha Wolf, Eleanor Isaacs, Marjorie Danielson, Sally Minard, Ruth Cooley, and Marjorie Rooney.

A raised platform is being arranged for the table at which will sit the queen and her party. Orchestra music will be played throughout the dinner. The entire student body and faculty are invited to attend and are urged to purchase their tickets immediately, thus assuring them of a reserved table.

Phi Kappa Phi Chooses Nine

Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society, has selected for membership nine students of the class of '37. This organization's prime objects are to emphasize scholarship and character in thought of students, and to stimulate mental achievement by the prize of membership.

Dean Dolve is president; J. R. Dice, vice-president; and Matilda Thompson, secretary-treasurer. The nine students chosen this year are: Howard Hegbar, electrical engineering; Harlan Winn, civil engineering; Wilfred Rommel, arts and sciences; Phyllis Coyne, arts and sciences; Alice Larson, home economics; Cliff Volkerding, chemistry; Don Buchanan, arts and sciences; Richard Foster, civil engineering; Arwin Hoge, arts and sciences.

WAA Initiates Six At Wednesday Meet

Initiation into Women's Athletic Association was held Wednesday evening in the Ceres Hall gym for Muriel Stevens, Virginia Bodlak, Joan Hughes, Jean Paris, Ruth Thomte, and Elaine Hostler. Supper was served in the Ceres Hall dining room, with Olive Murchie in charge. Ethel Olson, Willa Jean Wells, and Margaret Jones were in charge of initiation and entertainment.

Any upper classmen wishing to join WAA may give their names to Grace Grutle, and their recorded points will be locked up. Points are received for playing on soccer, basketball, baseball, and rifle teams; by making the varsity teams; by receiving a grade of 90 in Physical education; and by not being absent from gym classes during a whole term. 125 points are required for membership into the organization. Freshmen interested, should start working for points now.

Delta Psi Kappa will sponsor a ping-pong tournament in the near future. WAA points will be given to all participants. A medal will be the gymnasium bulletin board next awarded the winner. Sign up on week. There will be a 10 cent charge.

Greased Pig To Furnish Contest For Two Classes

Between halves of the freshman game tonight, the greased pig contest will take place, and will be run off as follows: Each team will line up at opposite ends of the football field and will be given a barrel with which to catch the pig. The pig will be released in the center of the field and the first team to capture the porker in their barrel will be declared the winner. Here is the line-up:

Yearlings	Dosen	sway-back	White	tenderloin	Gerdner
Gale	sleeping guard	Toussaint	mud guard	Plath	right loin
Fisk	rear quarter	Sophs
		Critchfield—Referee.
		Keohane—Timekeeper.

The prize for the winning team is a second mortgage on the best day-enport in Ceres hall. Planning to make this an annual affair, the picture of the mortgage will be framed and will be hung in one of the buildings on the campus with the name of the class printed on it that won. Each year the class that wins the contest will have their name inscribed on the picture.

Quote Majors, "The pig was loaned for the event by Armour company and will be returned to them if anything is left—my boys are thinking of starting their own barbecue."

Ethel Arves Made Prep Press Head

Ethel Arves was named editor-in-chief, Lillian Selsted, associate and exchange editor, and Helen Grant, business manager, of the "Prep Press," student publication of the Agricultural and Mechanical Arts school at the college, at an organization meeting this week.

Marjorie Laliberte, practice teacher in English in the high school, and LaVerne Gilbertson, girls advisor, are supervisors of the publication which will offer its first issue November 7.

Parade At 11 A. M.

Ceremonies at Field Will Begin With Awards Tomorrow

Homecoming is being celebrated! Startling yells of "Yea! Bison!", the raspy tocsins of cowbells, the terrified squeal of the greased pig, the aroma of barbecue Bison, the civil war ultimatum on the Sioux, and the wholesale response of thousands to the homecoming bellow of the student commission, has stirred North Dakota State enthusiasm during the last twenty-four hours to the kindling point. From the time the frosh burned the Concordia wood-pile, Wednesday night; from the time "Doc" Putnam threw the last bit of phosphorus into the glowing coals at 9:40 this morning; in fact, from now until the wee hours of

PEP RALLY
The student body is requested to take part in a radio broadcast and pep rally in Festival hall this afternoon from 3:00 to 3:30. Earl Hedgson is in charge.

Sunday morning, the campus will be a whirl of excitement over the biggest celebration in history.

Following the freshman game tonight, the traditional bonfire will be attended south of the bleachers of Decotah field where the Sioux Indian will be burned in effigy. Following the first half the freshman and sophomore teams will compete in a greased pig contest on the gridiron. Blue Key will serve barbecue Bison from a tent at the main gate throughout the two-day celebration. Hugh Anstett and James Baccus are in charge of the barbecue and Bernard Majors the pig contest.

The big homecoming parade will form Saturday morning at the campus gate, leaving for downtown at 11 o'clock sharp. The first section will consist of the police escort and official cars for Governor Walter Welford, President Shepperd, and administrative officials. The homecoming queen, Lennea Frisk, and her escorts make up the second section, followed by the Gold Star band and corps of cadets. The floats and decorative cars make up the fourth section which will be joined at the Great Northern tracks by the University band, students, and alumni. Larimore fans attending Erickson Day, the A. C. faculty, alumni, students, and friends will follow.

Robert Saunders, homecoming chairman, and Sam Westgate, lieutenant colonel of the ROTC corps, are in charge of arranging the parade. The route of march will be south from the campus gates on Thirteenth street, east on Eleventh avenue to Broadway, south to Front

Homecoming Planners Do Excellent Work

DESERVING of praise for the excellent job of planning this year's Homecoming is Bob Saunders, Homecoming chairman.

With favorable weather and faithful execution of duties by sub-committees, this year's event should be the best ever held here.

To Saunders, now, must go plaudits for the greatest bit of service to the school accomplished by a single student thus far this year.

Dramatic Season Ticket Campaign On

The advance ticket sales for the Little Country Theatre dramatic season of 1936-37 have found a good reception among the faculty and the downtown theatre-goers.

The Edwin Booth Dramatic Club has worked out a different plan for public sales than from that previously used.

The lack of interest on the campus in several kinds of student endeavor is no longer an editorial joke but a tragedy.

BISON BRIEFS

Too bad your convention came at this time—it looks like a big weekend. But, still, there's no place like Kentucky in October.

There's been only soporific celebration around here ever since early yesterday, with the sword swaggers' chow-shin-dig cutting the ribbon on the week-end span of activities.

It'll be interesting to see who will be the first student or grad to pull a Zioncheck either at the game or dance.

Barber Olson does his stuff today in deciding who rates that electric razor. We all hope he considers only the material evidence.

Gop, you promised us all presents—when you come back thru Chi; get me a copy of "Pennies From Heaven".

I checked that story about the Engineers' Ball, and Greenfields says he's taking Helen Engel.

The Blue Key barbecue sale is already under way, with a layout of swell sandwiches and coffee.

Lenna is all ready with her white ermine, and Don Hill and Rehmann have their leather bright.

Howard is bringing down about 100 men, I hear, and Doc has some new letter formations.

Must close now, Gop, as it's about time for that downtown snake dance and burning.

Your Pal, JIM.

An Open Letter

I have enjoyed your Fun at the Library column. It has broadened my horizon which used to be as thin as a slice of pie in Ceres hall.

Your column will be the death of me, James. After reading your philosophical meditations my relatives think my work to be cheap gutter drivel.

And there are still other things in my life that would entertain the average reader much more than the mere provincialisms above.

Goodbye. I must go now, over to the library. I hear they have Gone with the Wind.

STRUMPETH UNDER THE MAJIS,

Or Giving Them the Double Talk Like the dilemma of the returning grad who's been treating his fallen metatarsus

With a brass rail applied under the archus, I've been seeing double.

Which in most cases, except poker, dividends, and endemity, means trouble.

Take in literature, when someone mentions Anderson you don't always know whether he means Sherwood or Maxwell.

And when you read one of these politician's articles in any of the leading magazines, you can't be sure whether he wrote it, or just someone who hax-well.

When I get my Spectrum, I want to have things straight.

When I don't, and have to puzzle over things, my Friday's lunch has to waight.

For instance, I feel like a reefer man from Harlem

When I start to read a Bison Briefer carelemn.

I can't be sure whether it is Stewart or Bacous.

Or whether the editor is publishing two departments in the same issue just to mockus.

They aren't at all alike, because Stewart is much more clever and he gets his ideas out of Esquire, texts on zoology, and books on anatomy.

And he's much taller and stronger, and the one I would prefer not to have matomy.

And he's got a reputation as a cynic and he's silent and sardonic.

And his columns and poems are really a tonic.

While Jim's is just trivia, and can't be called much better than twattle.

And it doesn't have any chance of beng syndicated and circulated from Miami to Seattle.

So being not at all like each other. I don't see why they should in any way belong together.

So why not make a direct yet respectful readers' request to Williams, or Frisk, or Manny or the Board, or Gop.

To get this to stop.

And when they've decided, either with a coin flip, or card-cut which one is to have the title Bison Brief.

It'll be a relief.

The Dopey Definitions contest was about as successful as a greased pig trying to walk up a ski scaffold.

All you have to do now, Mr. Barnick, is to follow Manny Ladwig around and try to collect.

Baby Bison Is Favored Team; Expect Blair to Star In Pass Attack

To start the 1936 homecoming festivities, the Baby Bison will meet the Sioux Papooses on Dacotah field tonight, the Bison out to win for the second time this season, and also out to erase a five-year line of defeats at the hands of the upstate frosh.

Although the Baby Bison trounced the university freshmen 26-0 in the first of the conventional pair of games, and have romped over all opposition this season, doubters continue to speculate on the outcome of tonight's game with the Papooses.

Of Coach Johnny Smith's pupils, Jack Blair, end, Cecil Schrank, tackle, Bernie Bermann, end, and Ed Peterich, halfback, remain the most promising. They have lived up to predictions of their performance and represent the reason for bets placed on the A. C. frosh. Gorman King, 5 feet 4 inches of concentrated dynamite, who has been playing consistently if not brilliantly, is expected to show up well tonight. Greene, 195-pound guard, has shown the best possibilities of any guard in years.

Papooses Runestrand and Buckley, halfbacks; Stauss, fullback, who bear the load of the offense, are directed by a clever young pilot, Brenkus, at quarterback. Bye, end; Chatfield, tackle; Lipps, center; and Senechal, guard, are said to be performing well this season.

Probable starters for the two teams are:

Baby Bison	Position	Papooses	Position
Blair	le	Jacobson	le
Schrank	lt	Chatfield	lt
Southam	lg	Senechal	lg
Kojancik	c	Lipps	c
Greene	rg	Snyder	rg
Zeller	rt	Richards	rt
Bermann	re	Bye	re
Johnson	qb	Brenkus	qb
Peterich	lh	Buckley	lh
King	rh	Runestrand	rh
Sapa	fb	Stauss	fb

Sturgeon, 260-pound tackle, stopped many a vigorous drive, and prevented any noticeable gain in his territory.

In the fourth period, Graves featured in a pass attack which earned the Maroons the only score of the game. Fodness converted from a placement.

Maroons Upset Bison, 7-0 In Saturday Tilt

Conference Hopes Blasted By Loss; Stevens and Sturgeon Star

By BUD THORWALDSON

In their annual homecoming classic, an iron-man Morningside eleven using an efficient aerial attack won, 7-0, over the Bison, defending champions. The victory, an unexpected one, dumped over the odds quoted on the Bison to win the North Central Conference championship.

The consistently powerful Maroons, whose eleven starters played four quarters, presented a stone wall to the Bison's strongest scoring threats. Graves, whose passing provided the Maroons' best means of gaining ground, starred on offense with Karroll and Fodness.

In the first quarter, the Bison returned the kickoff 52 yards in four successive first downs, losing the ball on the Maroons' 12-yard line on a fumble. Stevens, lanky end who has been playing highly commendable ball this season, blocked Graves' punt on the Morningside six-yard line to put the Bison in position for a touchdown. Erickson fumbled on the second play, the Maroons recovered on their twelve and kicked out of danger. May, Wheeler, and Phillips displayed flashes of good passing which was not consistent enough to be effective. Rorvig devoured yardage on occasions. Lyle

Sport Speculations

By BOB WILLIAMS

Morningside's surprising Maroons threw a wrench into the North Central Conference machinery last Saturday when they celebrated homecoming there with a stunning 7-0 upset of the Bison, headed for a second successive title. Hopes of Bison boosters that the game tomorrow would decide the conference championship have been squelched for the time being. Regardless of the outcome of tomorrow's game, the best we can assure is a tie for the conference gonfalon. A defeat would give the Sioux undisputed leadership, providing South Dakota university can be stopped. The Jack-rabbits held St. Louis university to a tie just a week after the Sioux had won so infamously from the same team. The fact remains, however, that any Bison-Sioux clash decides a lot of small differences between friendly students and alumni from the two schools. It is a football classic that both schools look forward to.

Unquestionably the situation is perfect for a UND-NDS homecoming battle. There has never been a game between these two when enthusiasm was lacking; but seldom has a turn of the conference events given such an opportunity for a real scrap. In all due respect to the undefeated Sioux we readily acknowledge that they are a clever, well-drilled band and that only consistently fast football will interrupt their title plans.

We can't say that we will win; but we honestly expect just that. Stripping the contest of all prejudice I am attracted by the defensive play and well balanced backfield of the Bison. We are able to match a Wheeler for a Pollard, a Sturgeon for a Gainer, and a Finnegan for a West. It will not be an individual performance, such as Pollard is doped to give, but an aggregate of power, speed, and training that will decide the contest. If this aggregate cannot be weighed in favor of the herd forces then I am wrong and a lot of hard earned cash will fill the coppers of the lucky. Just to be definite this column predicts the Bison to come out on top 13-7.

In christening the homecoming program, the Baby Bison should trounce the Papooses another time just to burn home a lesson on predicting frosh games. The Sioux yearlings will be tougher this time, however, and any ego on the part of the frosh will have to be left in the dressing room. Johnny Smith is capable of that assignment. Let us lead with our chin again and call the frosh tussle a 19-7 triumph for the herd yearlings. Jack Blair, Peterich, Johnson, Zeller, Schrank, Sapa, and others will make the going tough for any team.

Bob Erickson will be on the well-known spot Saturday when he plays his last game before AC and Larimore supporters. The day has been set aside by hundreds of his fellow townsmen in his honor. The Morningside upset was a heart-breaker to Captain Erickson and everything in his power will be thrown into the fray Saturday to make a successful season complete. He will make many wonder how they ever got so far out of line as to predict a slaughter for the university.

Ceremonies at Dacotah field Saturday afternoon will begin at 1:30 when awards will be presented to winners in the Whisker Contest. Judging of entries in the contest was done at the pep rally this morning with Oscar Olson, campus barber, acting as judge. First prize is an electric razor being donated jointly by Joe Halbeisen and the student commission. A fur cap, donated by Mackoff's Furriers, will be presented to the student with the most artistic placement of his beard. A booby prize will also be presented. "Erickson Day" ceremonies will begin at 1:45 with about 200 Larimore citizens expected to be on hand to pay tribute to the Bison captain and fullback. At this time home-town fans will present a gift as a token of their appreciation to "Bombing Bob."

The long-awaited struggle between the Bison and Sioux for North Dakota grid supremacy will start at 2 o'clock. Between halves of the game will be coronation of Queen Lennea Frisk. Glenn C. Cook, president of the alumni governing board, will crown Miss Frisk. Following this the winning floats will parade through the field and awards in this contest will also be made by Mr. Cook. Completing the program between halves will be special maneuvers and letter formations by "Doc" Putnam's band and the University band under the direction of Prof. John E. Howard.

Following the game and during the evening, open house will be held by fraternities and sororities. The Senior Staff dinner complimenting Queen Frisk will be held at 6:30 and festivities will culminate in the Homecoming dance from 9 until 12 in the Field House.

Engineers Add Ten Electric Welders

Nearing completion is the installation of ten electric arc welding units in the electrical engineering laboratory. The greater part of the work was accomplished during the summer and the finishing touch, the erection of protective sheet-steel booths, is being done by NYA labor. It is expected that the welders will be ready for use after the holidays.

The units range in number and size from five Lincoln 125 amp. D. C. machines to four Franklins of 150 amps. A. C., and one General Electric D. C. welder of 300 amps, which is considered large enough to handle any size job. These ten machines are used with the ten oxy-acetylene units to give students practical instruction in welding.

"To quote a market price of $4000 for the whole layout is no exaggeration," said Dean Dolve of the engineering school.

Papers on "Recent Developments in Organic Chemistry" will be presented by Prof. W. M. Wenger and Oliver Rowe when the Chemists' club holds its second meeting of the year on Thursday evening, November 5. The meeting is open to all students majoring in chemistry and chemical engineering, and freshmen especially are urged to attend.

Washington, D. C. (ACP)—While business shows marked improvement, educational conditions throughout the country have been growing steadily worse, according to a recent government survey.

United States office of education figures showed schools in 467 districts failed to open for the last spring term, affecting 57,000 pupils and 1,750 teachers. Enrollment increased from 25,678,000 in 1930 to 26,700,000 last year, but there were 52,000 fewer teachers.

Educational note: Schools for veterinarians are growing in the middle west. Even some girls are entering. The reason is that jobs are obtainable in the "profession".
