CONVENE THURSDAY FOR STATE 'Y' CONFERENCE

Artistic Plans Are Completed For Junior Prom

Don Ward, Jane Chaney, To Lead Grand March; Lee, Beth Oliver Second

Leading the Junior Prom to be staged in the field house next Friday night from 9 to 1 p. m., will be Don Ward, ball manager, and his partner, Jane Chaney. Second in line is Eldred Lee, assistant manager, and Beth Oliver. Paul Boleyn, class president, and Genevieve Hawkinson will be third in line.

Decorations for the party were designed by Rueben Smith and feature a false ceiling over the major portion of the floor with drapes hanging down from the edge of the false ceiling to the floor. The lighting effects will be distinctly new in that they will be of colored tubing hanging below and reflecting on the false ceiling. The color scheme is to be blue and silver closely approximating a spring sky with shining stars.

Music will be furnished by Archie Bleyer and his orchestra, coming here from an engagement at Purdue university.

Approximately 300 couples are expected for this opening dance of the spring season, which the committees in charge feel will be one of the most decorative balls of the year.

This formal will be the first of the year where spring formal wear will be appropriate. Either white flannels and dark coats or tuxedos will be in order for men. The price has been set at $1.50 per couple and tickets may be secured from fraternity representatives or at the Cook Drug Co.

Engineers Attend AIEE Meeting

Eight NDSC students in electrical engineering left Wednesday, April 15, for Boulder, Col., where they will attend the annual meeting of the Sixth District of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. These students serve as official delegates from the local student branch of the A. I. E. E.

The sixth district is composed of engineering schools in North and South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. NDSC students will recall that this convention was held last year on this campus. The host school this year is the University of Colorado at Boulder.

The local delegates are Nicholas Timpe, Magnus Isaacson, Kenneth Frohnd, Robert Dolve, Robert Larson, Mearl Gifford, Reuben Smith and Milton Freundberg. They are accompanied by Professor H. S. Rush, faculty advisor.

ELLEN BLAIR

Club Sponsors Debate Tourney

For the third consecutive year, the Lincoln debate club will sponsor an interscholastic high school debate tournament. This year's competition is scheduled for today and Saturday in the Little Country theatre. Frieda Panimon, president of the debate society, is in general charge of the tournament.

A banquet in Ceres hall will climax the tournament Saturday evening. At this meeting, awards will be presented to those who are selected as the four outstanding debaters. Debaters will then adjourn to the theatre to hear a debate between the two teams selected as model. Robert Hagen, president of the board of public speaking control, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet.

Teams are entered from Fargo high school, Detroit Lakes, Perham high school, Moorhead State Teachers training school and the NDSC training school. A total of twelve teams are listed.

RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Forrest Swisher, a graduate of this college in 1934, has been awarded a scholarship to the Chicago university school of medicine. He has been teaching at Ryder, North Dakota, and will leave next fall to study.

Rose Bampton, Opera Star, To Present Concert, Music Groups Sponsor Program

Rose Bampton, prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will present a concert in Festival hall Monday evening, April 27th, at 8:15 o'clock. She comes under the auspices of Sigma Alpha Iota, musical sorority, and Kappa Kappa Psi, band fraternity.

Miss Bampton is a star of opera, concerts, and radio, who has risen to supreme heights in the brief space of a few years. Making her debut at the Metropolitan three years ago, this consummate artist of slender elegance is one of its youngest stars. Born in Cleveland, raised in Buffalo, protege of Leopold Stakowski, Miss Bampton has had a charmed career. One is unable to define Rose Bamp-

Hawaiian Team To Debate Here On Wednesday

State college will meet its outstanding opponent of the season, the University of Hawaii, Wednesday evening in the Little Country theater at 8:15 p. m., according to the NDSC debate coach, Vivian Luther.

North Dakota's affirmative will be upheld by Frieda Panimon and Robert Hagen. No word has been received from the Hawaiians as to who will represent their group.

On the last leg of their tour of the United States, the islanders will go from Fargo to Valley City and Montana. After meeting Montana, the group will go to the coast and thence to Honolulu the latter part of May. Sixty colleges in forty states have opposed the island team.

Lowell Thomas, noted radio commentator and dauthor, received the debaters in New York city at a banquet given in their honor by Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debate organization, sponsors of the tour.

Truly representing Hawaii's cosmopolitan population, the group includes several races. Robert North, John Casstevens, and N. B. Beck, faculty adviser in charge, are Caucasians. Clarence Chang is of Chinese descent, and Robert Taira, Japanese. Frank Hustace combines Anglo-Saxon with Hawaiian and Chinese blood. Homer Huapala Hayes is Hawaiian.

SENIORS SELECT PLAY TRYOUTS MONDAY

"The Amazon" has been selected by the Senior class play committee as this year's Senior class play to be presented during commencement week.

Tryouts for the seven male and five feminine roles will be conducted in the Little Country theater Monday from 3:00 to 5:00 p. m. The play, to be coached by Alice Bender, was selected by a committee composed of Bob Hagen, Betty Kretschmar, and Mary Clemens.

DR. JOHN BENNETT

Senator Fine Here April 22

C. W. Fine of Sheyenne, N. D., state senator from Benson county, will be the principal speaker in a convocation April 22 sponsored by the American Student Union in conjunction with the college Farmers Union Local and Sigma Delta, international relations club. Senator Fine's address will be on the subject "Peace, and the Causes of War".

This convocation is a part of the annual National Student Demonstration for Peace. In colleges all over the country on April 22, there will be demonstrations for Peace. National leaders expect half a million participants.

Hank Richardson, president of the American Student Union, will preside at the convocation. Chairman of the publicity committee on Peace Day arrangements is Russell Stuart. Assisting him are Lawrence Fine, Winfield Fine, Roald Peterson, Agmur Hellebust, Cathryn Ray, Esther Erickson representing the college Farmers Union local, and Reuben Arneson representing Sigma Delta.

Goplen Re-elected YMCA President

Orville Goplen was renamed president of the NDSC YMCA student cabinet, defeating Dayton Jones. Jones automatically became vice president.

Other new officers elected were Kent Helland, secretary, Bernard Hutchens, treasurer, and Walter Ekeren, student representative.

The remainder of the cabinet positions, filled by appointment by the executive committee, are Francis Ladwig, social chairman; Milton Freundberg athletic; Ed Olson and Charles Birkeland, membership; Wilbur Benson, religious; Harry Graves, freshman; and Howard Hegbar, publicity.

Initiation exercises will be held in the YMCA building Tuesday at 7:30 for the new members.

'Learn To Live' Is Theme Of Local Meeting

Conference Speaker To Give Opening Address At NDSC Convocation

NDSC men and women students may attend all general and discussion meetings of the joint YMCA-YWCA state student conference which will be on this campus April 23, 25, without paying individual registration according to Ellen Blair, conference chairman. The registration charge for all local students has been paid for the local associations.

Early registrations indicate that approximately 125 students from outside of North Dakota State college and Moorhead State Teachers college, the two host schools, will attend, said Miss Blair. Schools expected to send representations are University of North Dakota, Minot State Teachers college, Jamestown college, Valley City State Teachers college, Mayville State Teachers college and Ellendale Normal and Industrial school.

Highlight of the program will be the appearance of Dr. John Bennett of Albana, New York, youthful theologian, who will address the delegates on the conference theme, "Learn to Live". His first appearance will be at NDSC convocation next Friday at 9:40 to which the assembled delegates will be guests of the entire NDSC student body. He will also give addresses Friday evening and Saturday forenoon.

An innovation to this year's conference will be student-led discussions which have been arranged under the direction of Dayton Jones

LCT Will Give Drama For Grades

Rehearsals are under way for "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp", according to Alice Bender, coach. The play will be presented in the Little Country theatre April 30 and May 1 at 4 p. m.

The cast, composed of members of the story telling classes, includes Schehereazade, Jean Jones; Aladdin, John Callinan; Aladdin's mother, Frances Johnson; Nuphsed the Camel, Acey Olson; the magician from Morocco, Robert Pryor; Princess Badrulladur, Betty Johnson; the lady, Doris Stinson; the slayer of the lamp, Jack Boulger; the Wazier, Ed Farrell; dancing girls, Anne Kaiser, Margaret Moffitt, Dorothy Walz, and Delores Peterson; four ladies, Geraldine Morriss, Jean Crary, Alice Crahan, and Catherine Cannon; and the fruit seller, Albert Hinkle. There are several roles yet to be filled.

Costumes are designed and executed by a committee under the direction of Corrine Ballard. A committee under Vivian Luther is in charge of stage affects.

BISON BRIEFS

By JOE WRIGHT

Our sermon for this week will be "Home Life: or why Huldah threw away her milk pail and came to college."—Except for a couple months every year in the township school, where she got very little larnin', Huldah lived at home amongst the numerous bewildered and bewildering progeny of farmer Sponberg, who had long since ceased being a parent of the younger generation. She had picked her teeth with her fingernails ever since she had both teeth and fingernails at the same time. Huldah was smart; she thought she might as well be "an eddicated unem-ployed person as an ignernt druge." She had brains, Huldah did; she saw that if she learned several things in college she wouldn't have a dirt hovel filled with squalling "brats". (She might have a hovel, she thought, but the danger of stepping on certain things would be negligible.) She was lucky, too; she wrote a letter (so it might be called) that was deciphered by Mr. Chiefherd, and, he, being considerate of our toil-worn populace, got her a job at a sorority house. Every morning she had to get up to set off the bell that made the noise that woke up the dear sisters. (She had to ring it twice.) As time went on she became indispensable (that means she was pretty darn good—I mean efficient, 'cause Huldah went steppin', too, on Saturday nights). You wouldn't recognize her today. Moral (or isn't it one): If you think college is a marriage market, you'll find that prices are down but going up.

Comes a time when all things lowly are cast forth in their little splendor before the eyes of critical man. Now's the time for all good puns to be recognized for what they are—immature little pearls of wisdom from human oysters. (What a clammy thought, eh!) Poor little inanities banded about on the wings of scorn by everyone who hears someone else (who should know) say loudly he "simply loathes them," and then feel that he is slumming when he uses them. All whole-souled supporters of preserving one of our greatest indoor sports will meet for a demonstration five or six feet behind the bulletin board on April 22. (Maybe the bushes will have leaves by then.) There'll be room for everyone who's a good punner, the only qualification being that only those gals and gents who have been forcibly ousted from gatherings of the intellectuals because of their pas-time will be allowed to attend. (Some pickle we're in, eh? Here's to a new dill in folly.) Trite, I know; but don't get sour on me.

With such nonsense behind, we will "on fancy's wings to fly" in search of the beauties of our vernal season. (This is Really the Literary Section—all Spectral, or otherwise, standards to the contrary. It helps to fill up space too.)

Nature is our mirror, and
 Is tarnished as we gaze;
 We see ourselves reflected there,
 As through a mystic haze.
 In flower, beast, and heavens
 We glimpse but what we can.
 (If only Man were better fit
 To read the life of Man.)
 If only he were able to
 Discern the mirror's deeps,
 And find therein the naked Truth
 For which all Mankind weeps.
 Then might he raise a paeon
 To reach the skies above,
 For there in Nature's framework
 He'd see full-mirrored Love.
 Ah! It gets me.

Profound thoughts—It's no wonder at all to some of us that Russia took to the skids so fast, when we consider all the skis in the country.

It's the berries, I tell yau, this jam the world's in (so they tell me)—really a fruity situation.

What a pity 'twould be if all our modern collegians were to make it the fashionable Thing to take up the new electric smoking outfit and lose the knack of blowing those animated smoke rings for their unborn grandchildren to poke fingers through.

In keeping with nothing at all—here's hoping our basketball team puts more eggs in its basket than its opponents. (Sioux there!)

Theater Reviews

"Road Gang" with Donald Woods and Kay Linacker is coming to the Grand theatre Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. The picture is a story of the unbearable cruelty suffered by the road gangs in the south. "Three Live Ghosts" with Richard Arlen and Charles McNaughton will show Wednesday and Thursday. Dick Foran, the singing cowboy, stars in "Song of the Saddle" next Friday and Saturday.

"Feather in her Hat" with Pauline Lord and Basil Rathbone is showing at the Roxy theatre today and tomorrow. George Arliss and Maureen O'Sullivan co-star in "Cardinal Richelieu" the folloking four days. Richard Dix, Irene Dunne, and Edna Mae Oliver act in "Cimarron" next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald co-star in "Rose Marie" showing at the Fargo theatre Saturday through Tuesday. "The Voice of Bugle Ann" with Lionel Barrymore, Maureen O'Sullivan, and Eric Linden will be on the screen of the same theatre next Wednesday Thursday, and Friday.

"Ginger" with Jane Withers, Jackie Searl, and Katherine Alexander is showing at the State theatre today and tomorrow. "Shipmates Forever" with Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler will come next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. John Boles, Jean Muir, and Charles Butterworth act in Fox's "Orchids to You" scheduled for the same theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

PHARMACISTS ATTEND CONVENTION

The Lilly Company is sponsoring a trip to Indianapolis for members of Kappa Psi fraternity. Those taking the trip are Sidney LeBein, Oran Craychee, John Dahl, Herb Lundeen, Bill Nick, Ruggles Clay, Walt Kinghorn, and Walt Ekern. They left Tuesday and will return Sunday. En-route they will visit Chicago.

DEBATE AT HUNTER

Two debate teams from the Little Country theatre discussed the Supreme Court question before the Hunter P. T. A. Wednesday evening.

The affirmative was upheld by Arwin Hoge and Tom Donovan. Bob Hagen and Mildred Weiser supported the negative.

Attend Y Conference

Next week, for the only time in five or six years, the NDSC student body gets its only opportunity to associate with and entertain a representative section of the student bodies of other North Dakota colleges. The occasion is the joint YMCA-YWCA state student conference which meets on this campus from Thursday through Saturday.

It is an opportunity and a duty for the entire student body to play host to the visiting delegates. In order to effectively do this, students at NDSC are urged to register for and attend as many of the meetings as possible. No registration fees are charged individual NDSC students, for the local associations have paid blanket registration to permit their attendance.

Students, make the best of this opportunity to welcome and associate with these undergraduates from other colleges in the state.

Behave At Barn Dance

Whether the average student will admit it or not, a social affair such as the all-college barn dance perhaps has a more universal appeal to the student body than such formal affairs as crowd themselves into the winter and spring months. It is the one chance of the year when students will "act themselves," as one of the chaperons of last year's farmers ball expressed it.

Because of the atmosphere caused by dark corners, "hot" music, and shabby dress, there may be some who will take advantage of the sponsors of the affair and carry their enthusiasm to the extremes well known in ordinary barn dances. If this should be the case, a few who find this an excuse to "raise the roof" may deprive the rest of the student body of such a feature dance for another year. It seems that the informality which is intended alone should be enough. The spirit of the dance cannot be purchasd across the river with the greatest return in the long run.

There will be no tux shirts to rip open, no trains to carry, manners will be at a premium, most everyone is funny enough without pouring down cheer in an attempt to produce an artificial and sickening effect. Our plea is to walk the straight and narrow in respect to the college, the chaperons, and the sponsors. Have your fun but don't get rowdyish.

Dance Poll Worked

The student poll for favorite pieces of orchestra music to be played at the Junior Prom met with much sneering criticism a few weeks ago. Some took it as a joke or an underhanded publicity stunt. Others were sympathetic with the efforts of the management to give the students what they wanted. Now, a week before the ball, arrangements have been made with the orchestra to have these chosen pieces make up the dance program entirely.

As a result of these selections, a varied program from the light step of "Wahoo" to the dreamy waltz has been afforded. The

Barn Dance Attracts Many Students Tonight

Hillbilly Band Gives Informal Dance Appeal

Back to the raw! raw! days of Hillbilly hoe-downs, back to polkadot aprons and kakhi shirts, knock down—drag out party days on the frontier in days when men were men and women could take it. While the orchestra led by Lem Hawkins, greatest of all Hillbillies plays "Turkey in the Straw", college boys and gals will be playing tag in the hay and who can see what happens in the college stable loft when two or three dim lanterns try to express everything possible in the ten acre expanse of dance hall. Students will forget their pet gripes and fancies and for once during their four years of college (if they have never been to a barn dance before) they will act themselves and not try the impossible of copying the millionaire dudes of New York state. After all, barn dances put you nearer home than tuxedos and formals whether you will admit it or not. That is what the all-college barn dance has in store. It is yours for fifty measly pennies. For fifty cents you get five hours of torrid dancing, dustless (this year) horseplay, and all of the chocolate milk that will run through a cream separator in five hours.

Lennea Frisk can't be queen again this year. For a new deal we ask every man, woman and child who attends to cast their vote for the following candidates who will be duly honored and recognized during the program. Pick the one that in your opinion can milk most cows, feed most cows, feed the most chickens, and of course cook. For your voting consideration, the following: Cloyce Hocking, Irene Martin, Gwendolyn Stenehjem, Jean May, Eunice Arneson, Esther Frendberg, and Dorothy Hogan. The queen will award the best dressed couple with a prize offered by Saddle and Sirlain Club, sponsors of the dance.

Tryota To Give Leap Year Party

Election of officers was held before the style show at the Tryota club meeting in the YMCA last Wednesday. Mary Sherwood was elected president; Luella Gruttle, vice-president; June Sanstead, secretary; June Lowe, treasurer; and Evelyn Larson, program chairman.

Plans are complete for the Leap Year party tomorrow night to be held in Festival hall. Prizes will be given for the specialty whirl dance. Mary Elizabeth Runice is in charge; tickets, Emily Reynolds, Charlotte Ohnstad, and Esther Mickelson; music, Jean May, Esther Frendberg, and Frances Tourtlotte; chaperons and invitations, Jean Verne, and Carole Lunde; entertainment, Jean Crowley, Maxine Myhra, Corrine Ballard, Mary Sherwood, and Phyllis Rowe.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Warner, and Miss Ann Brown will be chaperons.

Dr. J. Walter Johnshoy, professor of philosophy at Concordia college, will speak at a meeting of the Lutheran student association Sunday at 4:00 p. m. in the YMCA. Ethel Botman and Kenneth Arntson are in charge of the program and refreshments.

Art Club Schedules Spring Term Party

The Art club will be sole sponsors of a formal party to be held in Festival hall April 25, from 9 to 11:30 o'clock, taking the place of the Beaux Arts Ball which has been given jointly by the Art club and the architects in previous years.

Decorations are to be very elaborate with a flower shop as the theme. Large white pots filled with massive colorful shapes of cellophane representing flowers with artistic decorative stems will cover the walls and floor.

Katherine Kilbourne is in general charge, assisted by Jane Schultz, Hope Tweet, Eleanor Isaacs, Esther Frendberg, Evelyn Wattam, Jean Verne, and Eleanor Trzcinski. Jane Bristol is in charge of music; Ann Bolley, chaperons; Mary Widdifield, programs; and Katherine McEnroe, refreshments.

Honored guests will be Miss Ann Brown, head of the art department; Miss Margaret Dadey, Miss Brown's assistant; Dean Dinan; and Mr. Homer Huntoon, head of the architectural department.

Emma Jordre was elected president of Phi Upsilon Omicron, for the coming year, at an election held last night. Other officers elected were Lila Maxson, vice-president; Katherine Kilbourne, secretary; and Dorothy Molland, treasurer.

Miss Jordre is the delegate to the national convention to be held the latter part of June at the Dells, Wisconsin. Initiation services were held for Lottie Behrens and Dorothy Molland Sunday morning.

Frosh Seek To Land Regular Varsity Posts

Seven First String Men Lost By Graduation From Title Eleven

With a large group of freshman out to earn varsity positions after the loss of seven first string men from last year's championship team, prospects are for the best turnout for spring practice since the advent of Finnegan and Lowe as coaches at this school.

Issuance of suits began Tuesday and continued through the week with regular practices beginning last night. The search is on to find five line vacancies, a right halfback, and a quarterback who can also handle the duties of a blocking back.

The flank positions on the forward echelon are a source of worry to the mentors after the graduation of Beryl Newman, Greg Sloan, and Sam Westgate. Candidates for these two posts include Ray Hawkins, Ed Welles, Merton Runkel, Gil Fredrickson, and Herman Bowers, all freshmen, and the coaches expect no trouble in finding a pair of them capable of filling the berths.

Lyle Sturgeon, tackle, and Bob Millar, powerful right guard, are the only linemen available from the regular ranks of last season and stiff competition is in order to locate the first string winners.

For the one vacant guard position Wayne Springer, scrappy reserve, seems to have the inside track but can expect tough competition from the yearling ranks which will offer Elmer Shrank, Lloyd Olson, Elmer Holt, and Leon Oliver.

With Sam Dobervich, captain and tackle of the '35 title holders lost by graduation, it is expected that Frank Welch, battling reserve of last season, may step into the strating lineup. A trio of 200 pound frosh also have their eyes on that assignment however and any of the three, Paul Schrabek, Joe Napravnik, or Jack Arndt, may force Welch into a part time job.

The pivot post should be well taken care of with Chuck Pollock who saw a lot of service last season and Jim On both being capable of filling the vacancy left by Stan Maynard.

Backfield material is plentiful, and there should be no difficulty in filling the vacant berths. However, the loss of Neville Reiners, powerful defensively and a great strategist, will

Finnegan Considered For Wisconsin Post

Charles Casey Finnegan, athletic director and football coach at North Dakota State for the past six years, has been receiving prominent recognition the past ten days as one of the candidates for the vacant posts at the University of Wisconsin.

In his years here he has turned out some of the finest teams in Bison history, while the athletic department is in the best condition of its career financially. During his regime here, Finnegan has turned out two conference champions, while the rest of the time his team has been in the upper bracket, most of the time in the runner-up position.

While no definite action has been taken on the final selection, Finnegan journeyed to Wisconsin last Monday, where a personal interview was held for the prospective holders of the positions. There is a possibility that Finnegan may be named football coach or athletic director or a combination of the two.

Excessive bathing may mean you have a guilty conscience, says Dr. Mandel Sherman, Chicago psychologist.

Fifteen students of Hardin-Simmons university face expulsion because they showed disapproval of the Texas Tech band with rotten eggs and stones.

Wes Phillips, sophomore candidate, is being groomed for this post or Captain Bob Erickson may be called upon for signal calling service.

Bill Olson and Carl Rorvig, a pair of sophomores, will probably take of Earl Schranz's duties at right halfback while Emil May, who saw lots of action last year, will have to fight it out with Norman Olson and Ernie Wheeler for the left half post. These latter two are both freshmen and will also be available for understudy duty for Bob Erickson at fullback.

Shooters Close '36 Firing N. I. Match

With the firing of the last stage of the National Intercollegiate rifle match the North Dakota State marksmen officially closed the 1936 gallery shooting season. This match, the most important of the year, is the one by which the national collegiate champions are chosen.

Last year the Bison shooters rated fifth high throughout the nation. The score, which is yet unofficial, tends to indicate that the rating should be as good and perhaps a trifle better than last year.

The team opened the season with a series of postal matches with teams over the country. The only defeat rendered to the State marksmen in these matches was from Cornell. Scores were exchanged with over fifty colleges and universities.

The second match was the Seventh Corps Area Intercollegiate which NDSC won by edging out Minnesota university by one point.

Three shoulder to shoulder matches were fired, two being with the U. of N. D. and the third being at Minnesota in a regional division of the National Rifle Association Intercollegiate match. The events with the North Dakota marksmen were both won by State shooters, while the team took second place among the nine teams entered in the shoot at Minneapolis.

In the Hearst Trophy shoot the Bison placed fifth in the corps area among about thirty entries. The second team was thirteenth.

Trackmen Continue Indoor Practices

With weather and wet ground still hampering them, Bison tracksters continued their indoor workouts for the spring meets. Many track prospects have turned their attentions to spring football but strong contenders in a few events should result from the group now working out.

Two promising 440 men are Beryl Newman and Ray Ludwig both of whom have chalked up good time in their specialty. Emil May, football halfback, has been working on the dashes and hurdles but Carl Rorvig another dash man, may not be available at all as a pulled muscle has forced him out of competition for the present and may prevent him from running at all this season. Dick Hamilton is another 100 and 200 man and has also devoted much of his time to the broad jump. Palmer Kreutz is a promising high hurdles prospect, having earned himself a fine reputation in high school circles in this event.

In the field events Reiners and Dietz are working on the shot put while Sam Westgate looks as if he may land a place in the javelin event.

It looks like a tough old year for Finnegan, Lowe and Co., what with seven of their first string regulars being lost by graduation. Nevertheless, there is an air of confidence prevailing around the athletic department as a group of husky frosh get their football togs for the spring practices. Maybe the reason for this is the fact that the class of '38 has some of the best prospective athletes to come to this institution for the past three years.

A pair of these boys who seem headed for stardom in the North Dakota State history annals are a couple of products of Fargo high school. Ernie Wheeler and Norm Olson are a sweet looking pair of backfield men and after going through the Bison training school should make a name for themselves in the North Central loop. Wheeler is the kind of fullback that a coach dreams about, combining kicking and passing ability with a drive shaped along the line of Bronko Nagurski. Olson is the smaller of the two but makes up for his lack of beef with a ruggedness that is deceiving and a shiftiness that is devastating.

Fans of the frosh game between the Bison and Sioux last season will remember vividly the collision that took place near the east end of the field. A Sioux ball carrier was in the open field when Wheeler and Olson decided simultaneously that things had gone far enough and took it upon themselves to see that they went no further. Coming one from either side they tackled the seemingly hapless Nodak only to both encircle him with their heads on the same side and consequently crack skulls. Result: a pair of Bison players laid colder than mackerels while the ball carrier resumed his way unharmed.

May sound silly, but you should have seen it! It was worth twice the price of admission.

If you think our opinion is worth anything at all (don't answer that question) keep your eyes on Bill Olson this next fall. Bill is going to develop into a right smart back one of these days and we're just protecting ourselves so we can say, "We told you so."

Student Opinion

On April 22 students in colleges and universities all over this nation are mobilizing in the cause of peace. On the A. C. campus the American Student Union is attempting to crystallize peace sentiment in various ways. With the cooperation of Sigma Delta and the Farmers Union Local, plans have been made to really make April 22 mean something this year on this campus. A convocation has been arranged for 9:40 Wednesday at which Senator C. W. Fine will speak on the "Cause of War". Whether or not you believe in big or little military budgets, in R. O. T. C., in nationalization of munitions, it is assumed, nevertheless, that you believe in peace. This is the main issue in our demonstration on Wednesday and you should whole-heartedly participate in it.

You may ask "Why is it necessary to demonstrate for peace?" Let us remind ourselves that there was a universal desire for peace among Americans in 1916 when Wilson was elected on the slogan "He kept us out of war" and six months afterwards we were embroiled in a foreign war which was the most terrible and devastating conflict the world has ever known. Someone has said

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA GROUP TO OBSERVE "REUNION DAY"

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority will join with other chapters throughout the nation in observing "International Reunion Day" Saturday. An all-day program is planned beginning at 10:30 a.m. and concluding with a banquet in the Waldorf hotel. Round table discussions, convention report by Eleanor Isaacs, and a Founder's day service will follow luncheon in charge of Ruth Cooley, Grace Cole, Gladys Aalgaard, and Mrs. Greydon Owens, toastmistress. The banquet at 6:30 is in charge of alumni members.

that vigilance is the price of liberty and we might also add "the price of peace, too." We must show those who would bring us into another carnage for selfish commercial gains that we are going to be alert to resist the possibilities of such a war. We have heard much about preparedness for war, now let's hear something about preparedness for peace! Students, you are the generation that for the first time in the history of the world has been exposed definitely to a realization of what the heretofore hidden causes of war are. As an enlightened group who have the facts, it is now your duty to take action. Do not let it be said that you are a traitor to the peace cause! To that very same group of students, if such there be, who would refuse to participate in this movement, we would like to address the following which is an excerpt from a recent speech of Senator Nye:

"Laugh at this, oh Americans! Laugh to your hearts' content when you hear these things. Laugh if you can, if you can! For what we may have failed to accomplish in these days will leave us little to laugh at in the days that are to come."

Shakespearean Tea To Be Thursday

A commemoration tea honoring the birthday of William Shakespeare is to be given by members of the 339 Shakespearean class at the Theta Chi house Thursday, April 23, from 3:30-5:00.

Invitations are extended by Phyllis Coyne, secretary, to all members of the 339 classes of the winter and spring terms, members of the English department, and Miss Lamb, postmistress at Moorhead and former English instructor.

A trio, Wayne Krogfoss, Keith Fate, and Ruth Cooley, accompanied by Virginia Smith, will sing songs dating from the Shakespearean period. Eleanor Isaacs is to play a piano solo. Elizabeth Dewey is in general charge.

LOCAL BOY MAKES GOOD

In recognition of his linguistic abilities, Henry Jones was awarded the pitchfork by Theta Chi fraternity at its founders' day banquet held last Monday night. This award is presented to the member of the senior class most outstanding in verbal discourse. Jack Spalding presented the award.

Talks were given by Ward Swanson, Henry Jones, Jack Spalding and Herbert Sand, representative of Beta chapter of University of Minnesota. Roy Mashek, teacher at Fargo Central high school, and alumnus from the University of Minnesota, was toastmaster. New officers were installed after the banquet.

Seven students were initiated into the Edwin Booth dramatic club Tuesday. Members of the Tony Sarg marionette troupe were entertained at the dinner in the Lincoln Log Cabin.

Those initiated are Orville Sorvick, Frances Cooper, Arthur Hehr, Virginia Smith, Robert Sanders, LaVerne Gilbertson, and Marjorie Huey.

ADVANCED STEPS WILL BE TAUGHT AT DANCING CLASSES

Advanced steps in dancing will be taught those desiring that instruction in the YMCA-sponsored dancing lessons at college Y building next Tuesday night. This will be given in addition to regular instruction for beginners, according to Bernard Hutchins, in charge of that feature of the YMCA program. The beginners' instruction will be from 8 to 9, and the advanced lessons from 9 to 10.

In addition, all girls will be admitted free to these classes, said Hutchins. Miss Frances Wright is the instructor.
