Pre-Election Interest Lagging In Coming Commission Poll

NDSC Engineers Attend Convention

Six NDSC engineering students left Friday, March 27, for Kansas City, Mo., where they are attending the annual meeting of the student branch of the Northern District of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, comprised of the states of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, and North and South Dakota. The students, who are acting as official delegates from the NDSC student branch, are Edward Nemetz, Wilson Neperud, Sidney Shannon, Robert Pierce, Harold Sundfor, and Albert Kramer. They are expected to return about April 6.

Word has been received that, while enroute to the meeting, Albert Kramer secured a position with the Phillips Petroleum Co., of Bartlettville, Okla., as petroleum engineer. He will report for work upon his graduation this spring.

Hitler Topic Of Assembly Speaker

"Adolf Hitler and the Future" is the title of the lecture to be given by Dr. Edward Edmund Turner at convocation next Wednesday, April 8.

Turner has been pastor of the historic American church in Berlin for four years. In this capacity, he met Germans of every class and witnessed the end of the German republic and the rise of Hitler.

JOHNSON ELECTED MANAGER OF 1936 SENIOR PROM

William Johnson, senior in agriculture, was elected last Friday to manage the 1936 Senior Prom at a meeting of the Senior class held for that purpose. Opposing Johnson, Progressive candidate, was Vardi Thorwardson, candidate of the Sure We're Pure frame.

Only a small fraction of the Senior class turned out for the voting and the election was held without any excitement. Johnson will announce his committees in a later issue.

LEADING COLLEGES ACCEPT NDSC ENGINEER STUDENTS

Several of the eastern states during the last few years have enacted licensing laws for architects and engineers. New York has enacted more rigid laws than any other state regarding the licensing of engineers. The various curricula of the engineering department of North Dakota State have for the last six years been registered by the Regents of the University of the state of New York. This means that students graduating from engineering courses here can practice their profession in New York without going through the formality of taking an examination. There are 30 of the 48 states containing any engineering schools whose courses have been accepted for registration.

Pre-balloting interest in the student elections next Wednesday is lukewarm compared with the interest shown in campus elections other years, according to observers of campus politics. A late battle is expected, however, by the two fraternity-sorority frames to secure the independent vote, because, for the first time in recent years, the independents failed to affiliate with a political frame.

Balloting will take place in Old Main from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Wednesday under the supervision of Ray Cruden, commissioner of elections.

Something of the unexpected and exciting associated with NDSC elections was no doubt withdrawn when the new student constitution was adapted last fall. Previous to that, filing of candidates was oftentimes kept secret until balloting time, and the strategy of frame leaders engineered many last minute changes in the slate of candidates. Now, the nomination of candidates was accomplished last week when the deadline for filing became effective.

Frame affiliations for the current election remain the same as that of last fall with the exception of the absence of the independent frame. The Sure We're Pure group—Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma Chi, Delta Tau Epsilon, Kappa Gamma, Alpha Gamma Delta, Kappa Delta and Phi Mu Greek units—oppose the progressive, Theta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Phi Delta, Kappa Psi, Alpha Gamma Rho, Gamma Phi Beta and Phi Omega Pi groups—Wednesday for campus political power.

TO GIVE SECOND YMCA DANCING LESSON TUESDAY

The second YMCA-sponsored beginners' dancing class taught by Frances Wright will be held in the YMCA auditorium Tuesday at 8 p. m. Approximately 50 attended the first class held last Tuesday.

Men and women are invited to attend the classes, admission being YMCA membership cards for the men who have them and a nominal charge for women and men not holding Y cards.

Bernard Hutchins of the YMCA cabinet is in general charge.

DEMONSTRATE BUS

A modern, streamlined motor driven bus was demonstrated on this campus yesterday by three representatives of the Brown aluminum company of Spokane, Washington. The bus was designed by the company and is being demonstrated on a national tour.

Recreation Room Proves Popular

Maybe we're just old-fashioned and merely trying to take the joy out of life, but nevertheless we maintain that college is a place where the custom of studying is still worthy of observance and even of perpetuation. As things stand now there is only one place, the library, where one may do some conscientious studying. Yet in Science building there is a large room intended to furnish students with a place to study. No doubt at some time or other this room has been used for studying, but that day has long since passed.

Today a stranger stepping into this study hall would think a party was in progress. The noise and conversation and singing would put a ladies' aid to shame. It seems that the hall has fallen prey to that class of individuals which delights in the sound of their own voice and obviously have no sense of modesty which would cause them to refrain from expounding in such a public place.

Nevertheless there still are a few who would like to study during a vacant hour. However, such a student soon becomes abashed in Science's study by the realization that he is quite out of place in that room. If it is to be a recreation room, why not place davenport and a radio in it—after all, why be hypocritical about it? But if it is to be a study hall, why not give all who wish to study a chance to do so?

The F. W. V.-- Another Collegiate Dream?

(The Concordian)

College students from the Pacific to the Atlantic have aroused a great deal of commotion and have stirred themselves up into a fervor as a result of a move made by some Princeton students who banded themselves together to form an association of future war veterans. This has been wholly spontaneous, arising from a meeting of Princeton upper class majors in government who were discussing the recent bonus bill . . .

Although the Princeton officials have not endorsed the procedure many of them have pointed out the fact that the younger generation is aware that this generation has realized and are determined to try to remedy and to rebuild the present chaos.

The question now seems to be will this last, or is it just another fad which college students tend to bring about for something new or exciting? From present indications it looks as if the college youths of today are really thinking about the problems which face the American nation and are anxious to try to do something to improve the country for the coming generations.

BISON BRIEFS

By BOB WILLIAMS

Katie Ray was in the office this week putting pressure to bear in her peace movement, now under way at the state capitol. She is also interested in the "Veterans of Future Wars" movement carried on in numerous American colleges. A group of coeds at one college have already formed several chapters of Gold Star Mothers of Future Veterans, and the University of Chicago has attempted to pick the Unknown Soldier for the Future War, when and if there is one. The emblem is to be a blue eagle perched on a crossed hammer and sickle and holding in its beak a swastika and under its wings a fasces. In order to make the set-up as faithful as possible they ought to give a $1,000 bonus for each future veteran to be paid in advance. The government could also take a few canals and drainage ditches (as soon as the New Deal is dissolved) and ship them over to Europe, or maybe Japan, and use them as trenches. They could also ask all girls, mothers, and sweethearts, to take down their hair and cry. Between times they could knit each one of us a pair of socks and a sweater or two. All the common people should grind their own wheat into flour, cut down on the sugar allowance, go without Easter bonnets and flannels, and direct their thoughts on thrift and economy instead of such things as junior balls and spinster skips. We have no time to be picking the most beautiful girls on the campus or crabbing about Blue Key. We have a greater responsibility than that. We have to repopulate this country, put her back on the gold standard, get the Democrats in power, start building dams and bridges, put all the kids in CCC camps, change governors, and set prices. The war is over and silence prevails like pay in war debts. All the well-to-do that did not see the war can now get tours to the battle ground for half fares. War is Hell, I tell you. But just like they said back in 1936, this is the war to end war and save the world for democracy. But I'm going to get my boy in on this advance payment of a $1,000 bonus, how about you Erickson? It was a terrible war, all of the ROTC luminaries became second lieutenants and were picked off by snipers in the first three days, the rest of us poor devils stuck it out and instinct told us more than the military department had in three years of drill.

The second highlight of the year for the boys often seen displaying medals, stripes, and khaki uniforms, is not far off. First they have the Military Ball and then inspection, the second chance in eight months to show the lady fair what they have in the way of cloths (donated by the government). They gripe about early morning drill and camp during the summer, but how they "shine" during the winter. First they make Scabbard and Blade and then Blue Key, which perhaps makes their efforts to help Uncle Sam (or should I say themselves) worthwhile . . . If a prize waltz should be featured again this year, keep your eye on this Brauer-Isaacs team . . . the architects, led by Hamlet, lost everything last week-end in a twilight escapade that had the whole town looking.

Indications show that a few of our gentle readers were quite provoked with our selections for the most beautiful coeds on the campus. Of course you all think your love pup is the best looking thing on this side of the river at least, but we foresaw that. If you have suggestions why not send them in—after all, it is a good promotional proposition. Remember, we picked our candidates on the basis of profile, expression, and complexion, with no regard to personality, or other charm not expressed in facial features. Your selections should be on the same basis. In time, we will figure out a way to arrive at a final decision—a single coed picked over all others. So get in your selections or forever hold your peace. After all we can't be changing our minds every time a spinsters' skip comes along.

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

When Fred Lemmer, student at the University of Minnesota meets his English professor, Mr. Weaver, they both blush slightly.

Over a period of many weeks, Mr. Lemmer has broken all records for arriving late to Mr. Weaver's first hour class. His alibis have varied: "My alarm clock is broken" or "There was a traffic jam" or "My car busted down."

Finally Mr. Weaver snarled, "Next time you'll tell me your house burned down."

Last week Mr. Lemmer was late again. During the night his house HAD burned down.

Prof. William F. Hoffman of Boston university is sore about the attempts of some professors to eliminate American dialects from the English language.

"Variety is the spice of speech," he said.

In a recent basketball game in New Orleans the game opened with one team starting the following line-up: One 6 ft. 8 in. center; two 6 ft. 6 in. guards; one 6 ft. 2 in. forward, and one 6 ft. 3 in. forward. Later in the fracas a 6 ft. 9 in. center was substituted. No, boys and girls, this isn't one of those Paul Bunyan stories and April Fool's day is passed. That was the line-up of the Globe Oilers of Kansas when they played the Loyola basketball team the other night. The Globe Oilers have the reputation of having the tallest amateur team in America and from the sound of it there doesn't seem much sense disputing it.

"Why don't we have a college baseball team?" is a question overheard on the campus, the other day. Now, there's a worthy question and also one that should stir up some of the dormant athletes on the campus to a little activity. During the past three years the Athletic Department has widened the scope of its activities so that larger numbers of the student body would have an opportunity to engage in sports and when any group can present any adequate and sound reasons why such a definite sport should be sponsored the birth of that sport usually results. So instead of talking about such innovations the best thing to do is to find if there are sufficient students interested, and then approach the athletic director with your plans in mind.

There's the time tested manner of doing this, Pete. It's worked before—why not try it again?

"Sixty-five Report for Opening Spring Football Drill." That's the banner on the University of Minnesota sports page. Boy, now they've really got a system down at the school. Watching the papers it's not hard to figure out why the great Gopher elevens function like a smooth machine when they start their campaign in the fall. And now it's been said that there's going to be football practice during the summer for the national champions! You may not like the way he does it, but you've got to hand it to Bierman for he's a builder of gridiron teams in no small way. After reading about the amount of practice they do it's not hard to see where sports writers often get that "roaring avalanche of pachyderms," and that "gigantic juggernaut" in their writings.

Well, from comparative scores there's one thing we can whip the Big Ten schools in! Minnesota just came through with its fifth consecutive Big Ten title whipping Wisconsin to maintain their unmarred record for the season. Captain Tagliabue and his lads, however, stepped out here a couple of weeks ago and gave them a shellacking (if you can call a one point victory that) which would put the Bison out in front of the Big Ten schools in rifery at least.

Rifle Team To Face Gophers At Minneapolis

Shoulder-to-Shoulder Scores To Count For National Intercollegiate

Competing with Minnesota for the first time in a shoulder to shoulder match, the Bison marksmen will vie with the University of Minnesota shooters tomorrow afternoon. The scores shot in this match will count on the National Rifle Association Intercollegiate match.

The school will be represented by a team of five men with one alternate making the trip. The five team members to fire in this competition are: Ellis Thompson, Hubert Smith, Tony Welker, Edward Ballard, and Karl Kaess. The alternate chosen is John Friese. The men are to be accompanied by the team coach, Capt. Tagliabue, and Sergeant Detroit.

Captain Tagliabue announced the results of the Hearst Trophy match fired earlier in the season. The NDSC shooters came in fifth in the Seventh Corps Area. The team to win first in the Corps Area was Iowa State with the University of Missouri second and Minnesota third.

The State second team came in tenth in the match, while the third team stood in seventeenth place.

The scores shot thus far in the National Intercollegiate seem to indicate that an excellent team total will be the outcome of the three weeks of fire.

Ellis Thompson, veteran of four years, turned in a 94 standing on a practice target Wednesday. As far as it is known this is the highest off-hand score ever fired by an A. C. rifleman.

Gamma Tau Sigma To Sponsor Tennis

Preparations for the spring tennis tournament are well under way according to Dave Taylor, Gamma Tau Sigma member in charge of the contests this spring.

As yet, definite dates have not been set for the games as there is still a possibility that the tennis court in the fieldhouse may be utilized. If this can be arranged it will be possible to begin the matches at a date previous to former years. As soon as climatic conditions allow, the school courts will be put in shape and if the tourney is still unfinished it will take place on the outside courts.

Last season the athletic department awarded prizes to the winners, and this practice will be repeated again this season. Students interested in entering these matches may do so by turning in their names to Dave Taylor.

Along The Way

By BRUCE DAHLING

"It happens in the best of families" is a true American adage. At least the Hotel Lexington in New York City thinks so because the hotel now provides its patrons with paper pads, pencils, pens, crayons, or charcoal to prevent them from sketching all over the table cloths in the dining rooms. The phone booth artists will be next for extinction, we suppose.

Speaking of deals, it is brought to my attention that while we talk of a square deal, clamor for a new deal, what we really want is a great deal!

An eavesdropper at the recent United Mine Workers convention where at John L. Lewis's salary was raised from $12,000 to $25,000, brings this tale. Says one miner, "I'm strong for Lewis. He's got what it takes."

Says another miner, "Yes, and now hes got 13,000 more of what it takes".

Here is an actual demonstration of the saying "Give them a run for their money". At Zeigler, Illinois, the local fire chief announced recently that only the first four men to arrive at a fire would get their full pay of three dollars.

From a hilarious Washington wag comes the report that the Supreme Court's recent decision has left Mr. Roosevelt in somewhat of a d'AAA's.

"Call a spade a spade" is the cry at Wesleyan University. The librarian there reports that a campus book store has taken books formerly listed as works on Erotica, Sexualrotica and now labels them plain "dirty books" in American muck works.

You can't keep a good man down — this was discovered in San Francisco recently. A water sprinkler operator sprayed the streets there during a downpour. Questioning revealed "I was told to sprinkle and I did. Is it my fault if it rains? I should lose a half day's pay".

Finally we find one person who holds no grudge against Herbert Hoover for the depression or for that matter even knows who he is. At a recent railroad reception, where Hoover spoke from the observation platform of the train, a woman spectator inquired who it was.

A Republican replied, "Why, it's Herbert Hoover."

The woman squelched all by replying "Well, I don't care for those detective people anyway."

Just boys at heart! At the Joliet, Illinois prison the main gate was opened to allow a truck to leave the snow covered prison. After the gate was closed, the guards spied six convicts riding on a toboggan behind the truck. No doubt a new form of exercise for the heretofore cooped up convicts!

ARNOLD, BRANDES WIN

Marjorie Arnold and Gordon Brandes won the prize waltz at the Spinster's Skip held last week-end. Mike Dobervich and Eleanore Halcrow carried off honors for the specialty dance. Girls who won bouquets were Margaret Calhoun, Dona Jean Davis, Doris Stinson, and Maren Simmons. Frances Wright and the chaperons were judges of the dances.

All students are invited to attend an Oxford club program in the Methodist church Sunday. A luncheon will be served at 5:30 to be followed by a devotional service at 6:30. There will be special Easter music and readings.

BAND LEADER

Archie Bleyer, the peer of modern music arrangers, will bring his well known New York band to the Crystal ballroom tomorrow night. Bleyer arranges for Bennie Goodman, Jimmy Dorsey, Paul Whiteman, Ben Bernie, and Don Voorhees. His published arrangements include more than 700 songs.

Bucknell university will give a course in propaganda during the summer session.
