Toussaint Wins Annual Student Judging Event

FIFTY-SEVEN COMPETE IN ANNUAL PROJECT SPONSORED BY SADDLE AND SIRLOIN

Merlin Toussaint, junior in the school of agriculture, scored 1350 points to lead 56 other contestants in the annual interclass livestock judging contest, Thursday. The contest is sponsored annually by the Saddle and Sirloin club and this year was managed by William Keup, president of the club, and the members of this year's judging squad that competed in the national contest at Chicago this winter. Second place was won by Harvey Boyum with 1347 points as his total.

Others placing in the first ten as individuals in the entire contest were: Elmer Schrank, Orbin Erickson, Robert Pausch, William Jamison, Reinold Elker, Sigurd Melstad, Philip Weiser, and John Johnson. Schrank was the high point winner among freshmen and Sigurd Melstad was the sophomore winner.

The contest consists of placing ten classes of livestock and giving five sets of two-minute reasons. Judges for the events were Victor Sander, James Cannaway, Prof. E. J. Thompson, J. R. Dice, and R. L. Olson. Classes were dismissed for the day as one of the largest lists of contestants appeared for the competition.

Winners in the various divisions were as follows: dairy, Sigurd Melstad, Cap Toussaint, Robert Pausch, Harold Tisdale, and Donald Sholts; hogs, Daton Byrom, Orbin Erickson, John Fisher, Donald Frankhauser, and Gilbert Loken; sheep, Roy Sorenson, Arley Hoveland, Elmer Schrank, William Mutz, and John McDonald; beef, Arley Hoveland, Cap Toussaint, Harvey Boyum, Daton Byrom, and Ed Schmidt; horses, Donald Frankhauser, Floyd Lein, Hamilton Wills, Tim Yan Jim On, and Arden Burbage.

NDSC Debaters In Three Meetings

The NDSC debaters engaged in three debates during the past week. All were non-decision contests.

Thursday afternoon, in the Lincoln log cabin, NDSC debaters engaged in practice debates with the Moorhead Teachers squad. Frieda Panimon and Mildred Weiser composed one team and Ray Cruden and Tom Donovan, the other.

Wednesday evening Henry Swenson and Neil McCabe met a Concordia team in a regular inter-collegiate non-decision contest before the Young People's organization of the Trinity Lutheran church. The debate was held following a 6:30 dinner.

The State teams engaged in practice debates with Concordia teams Tuesday afternoon in the Lincoln Log Cabin. Cathryn Ray and Frieda Panimon made up one team and Arwin Hoge and Ray Cruden, the other.

OXFORD CLUB MEETS

The annual patriotic banquet of the Epworth League and Oxford club will be held in the Methodist church dining hall, on Saturday.

Dean Dinan, Huntoon Express Opposition To 'Hell Week' Evils

"We must either discontinue our denunciation of hell week, or get action," was the pronouncement of one of the speakers at the annual meeting of the National Interfraternity Conference in December. Such, however, has been the challenge before the fraternity world for years, but no concerted action has been effected. The only justification for hell week is fun for the initiated members, much of it is certainly fun which is beneath the dignity of college men. Women's fraternities followed similar practices until fairly recent years; however, with the abolition of such horseplay women's fraternities have grown in strength and in power for good on college campuses. If the fraternity would serve the dignified purposes outlined in the several fraternity rituals, I feel confident many of the objectionable practices normally attributed to college men would be abolished, and the fraternity system would serve the high purposes which its national set-ups outline. It would be a fine thing if every fraternity man and woman on this campus would read in Banta's Greek Exchange, in the Fraternity Month, and in each of their own fraternal publications the reports of the recent annual meetings of the National Interfraternity Conference and of the National Panhellenic Council. Such ideals as outlined by those two noteworthy gatherings are worthy of fraternity men and of fraternity women.

Pearl Dinan.

Not only are there "distinct advantages in helping to create in prospective fraternity members such necessary qualities of fraternal understanding, human dignity and unselfish loyalty"—but it becomes the duty of the already initiated member of that fraternity to be an example which will command the respect of the new man. "Hell week" was forced upon the prospective fraternity member. The ideals of the constructive pre-initiatory program must be taught. I believe that in launching this new program successfully the finest qualities of fraternalism will manifest themselves in the men who guide the destiny of the organization. Living the example is being a good teacher. Who can question then the bonds of loyal spirit which will be fostered when men rise to these ideals.

Pleads Social, Moral Reform

Pleading for consideration of spiritual values in the work of social reconstruction, Bishop A. J. Muench, of the Fargo Catholic diocese, addressed a convocation group, Wednesday, Feb. 26. The college Newman club sponsored his appearance. "We shall have to go back to natural, moral law for the rights and liberties of man, back to the spiritual values of charity, kindness, patience. No one is immune or excepted by the action of moral law", Bishop Muench asserted, "and we shall go the way of Rome if we do not raise our moral standards; especially as they relate to matrimony and family life. The family affords a real basis for the reconstruction of our social life."

Bishop Muench cited the field of economics as outstanding in its divorce of social science from ethics. "Every effort to improve our society by forming organizations will be purely mechanism if a change is not made from within. We must consider that in having our rights we also have our duties. Above all, we must realize that any system is no better than those who administer its affairs."

Late Registration Friday, March 13

Students intending to return for the spring term must complete and file program cards with the Registrar by noon Friday, March 13. Fees may be paid until noon of Monday, March 16. Any delay beyond either of the above regulations will incur the late registration fee of $1.00 a day.

The office of the registrar will be closed to registration from noon of Friday, March 13, to noon of Monday, March 16, for the purpose of recording winter term grades.

Give Dickens' Play Tuesday

Little Country theater players will produce Dickens' immortal "David Copperfield," as dramatized by John Ravel, Tuesday, at 4 and 8 p. m., in the Little Country theater, under the direction of A. G. Arvold.

The play centers about the trials of an English boy, David, during the latter part of the 18th century. David's mother marries a man who hates her son. His new father and sister-in-law soon assume an autocratic control over the Copperfield household. Life for David and his mother soon becomes miserable. David is finally forced from home to earn his own living. He strikes up a strong friendship with the Micawber family while working in a brewery. Dissatisfied with this job, David flees to the home of one of his aunts. The remainder of the play deals with his growing to manhood, his love story, and his struggle during this period. Throughout the play there runs a secondary story of David's love for his nursemaid, Peggotty.

Included in the cast are three children to portray the youth of certain characters. Members of the cast are Grethe Jones, Marjory Huey, Robert Sanders, Orville Sorvik, Kenneth Pringle, James South, Albert Hinkle, Beatrice Rosetti, Gwendolyn Stenehjem, Mary Arvold, Ivah Brevik, Arthur Hehr, Wilfred Rommel, Elizabeth Dewey, Dayton Jones, Marjorie Rooney, Sam Dobervich, Robert Pryor, Virginia Smith, and Delores Flagg.

Costumes for the production are designed and executed by Alice Bender, Corrine Ballard, Vivian Luther, Beatrice Rosetti, Gwendolyn Stenehjem, and Grethe Jones.

Arthur Hehr, Kenneth Pringle, and Dayton Jones compose the setting committee. Mason Arvold is in charge of lighting.

Gold Star Bandsmen At Sioux Contests

"Doc" Putnam and the concert section of 50 men of the Gold Star band will share honors with Prof. Howard's "U" band tonight when the Bison basketeers battle the Sioux team again at Grand Forks.

The band took the train at 1:30 this afternoon for Grand Forks and they will return tonight after the game. The university's Kappa Kappa Psi chapter has invited Kappa Kappa Psi members of Doc's concert band to a banquet immediately preceding tonight's contest.

For many years both the college bands have aided their basketball and football teams when they play either in Fargo or Grand Forks. Since Kappa Kappa Psi, band fraternity, has been installed on this campus, both college chapters have entertained each other at the traditional banquet before the evening's game.

Efficiency Plaque Awarded Fraternity

The International efficiency contest plaque awarded by the international office of Sigma Phi Delta engineering fraternity to the chapter outstanding in chapter proficiency, activities, scholarship, and individual awards, has been awarded to the local chapter of Sigma Phi Delta.

This plaque, which is awarded annually, was presented to the fraternity Monday night by Dean Dolve, representing the grand president. Only one of these plaques is awarded each year.

MUST WIN TWO GAME SERIES AT GRAND FORKS THIS WEEK TO SHARE CONFERENCE TITLE

With two losses chalked up against them in the series to date, the North Dakota State basketeers left today for Grand Forks, where they will finish the conference season against the Sioux tonight and tomorrow night in the two remaining contests of the annual four-game series.

Last weekend the Nodaks clearly displayed their superiority when they whipped the languid Bison in two successive games, giving them a cinch for at least a deadlock for the loop gonfalon. One more win in the two remaining games assures the Letich-coached aggregation of a repetition of last year's performance when they copped the conference crown. Odds on the outcome are overwhelmingly in favor of the fast-stepping Sioux, but Coach Lowe and supporters still believe that a victory over the Nodaks is not too much to expect.

Arnold Bernard, all-conference forward of last season who has fallen victim to Old Man Injury, will be given the starting assignment at a forward post in place of Wendell Kietly and this is one of the reasons that rabid Bison fans are at least hoping for a break in the Sioux victory string. In the two games here last week, Kietly performed creditably on the defense but was weak offensively, scoring but one field goal in both contests. With Bernard in there, even though he is not up to his usual form, Lowe feels that the necessary added scoring punch will be available, and if the Bison can maintain their defensive standards there is a good opportunity for the Herd to even up the series.

With Bernard on the forward line will be Captain Neville Reiners and elongated Russ Anderson, while the two regular guards, Don Bettschen and Bob Saunders, will be in their

Weeks Appointed Education Advisor

Dean Arland D. Weeks of the school of education has been appointed consultant ex-officio for the Educational Policies commission, a body appointed by joint action of the National Education association and the Department of Superintendence to study methods of and to develop long range planning for the improvement of American schools. Appointment of a group of consultants recruited from educational leaders is an important part of the commission's work.

Besides receiving important materials prepared by the commission, consultants will be asked to assist the group by expressing opinions on issues submitted, by raising additional issues to be considered, by spreading its recommendations, and by reporting conclusions of important committees to which consultants will belong.

BISON BRIEFS

Worry worry worry, snow snow snow, blow blow blow, the poet on the library lawn is buried as deep as the other statue on the campus is in June—poor old bossie—she gave a lot of milk and so we have two statues on the campus—according to the college catalogue all girls staying in Ceres Hall must be supplied with a bathrobe and bedroom slippers and furthermore it states that these and any other articles brought into the Hall must be marked—most of the freshmen are—College dances come about as close together as Ghandi's teeth—and cover just about as many people as does his goat's beard—Brandes has a good voice but the rest of the SAE's sort of spoiled the show for him—it is a blessing that fame never effects the hat size of our new hero—Dean Sudro was slow to give a committee a date for the annual barn dance feeling that it was not important enough to the student body as a whole—he forgets that the whole student body and half of Cass county is looking forward to the brawl—we wonder what Frog LeMarre was thinking about when he hung his pin—our guess is that he wasn't thinking—the Erickson-Christianson love scenes in the dugout are worth the price of three Little Country Theater plays starring Jones—if any of you wide-awake fellows want to avoid a date graciously just tell the nagger that it's Lent—Kent Helland settled his long awaited gripe on the Empire Builder when he took a free ride to Hillsboro last week-end—I suppose the University flame would have enjoyed his company all the way to Grand Forks—The whole thing is that Kent was a bit slow in getting off—the way some of the campus coeds carry on in the dugout during convocation is enough to gag a maggot—we dare not say anything about the new deal abolishing petting in Ceres Hall because we were told not too—the girls were forbidden to talk to the campus cop for reasons unknown—this is a fine time of the year for the theater to run such a famous drama as "Midsummer Night's Dream," the water is too cold to go canoeing and the weeds around the house plants aren't even two grabs long—Bill Akeley was quite put out when the composite Brevities cut run last week was only used once—what strange creature was it that went to lunch in a light suit and came back in a tux—there's a lot of these little things that could be ironed out—Hutsinpipler when asked what he thought of kissing a girl when out for the first time replied, "I haven't got time to think usually."

Speaking of the Bison Brevities, I like to think of them in the same sense as Bill Stewart, who says that taking the production from the standpoint of getting fifty cents worth of entertainment, one could see "A Mid-summer Night's Dream" for the same price. But viewing them from the standpoint of the fact that they were written and produced by college talent entirely, they are "wonderful," as Stewart said. It seems that a simple college review introduced by one or more masters of ceremonies would be enjoyed for a change. The fact that the Brevities has lost part of its glamor was evident when one counts the empty seats at both performances. This method would do away with a futile attempt usually to create some motivating plot for the show. It would or should also do away with politics as it now effects the production.

I suppose Senior Staff has as much right to make money as any other campus organization, but it is rather against custom for the group to sponsor a Spinsters' Skip where the boys do the dating and on top of that pay for admission. From some reports the party was about as quiet as any this winter. The boys made a howling success of other escapades that night and a growling celebration both nights of the basketball series.

Michigan's collector of internal revenue has tied up the University of Michigan's football funds because he says they haven't paid $22,000 in taxes on general admissions.

usual positions. Bettschen and Saunders turned in fine exhibitions in holding down the stellar forwards of the Nodak aggregation, Finnegan and Birk, while Anderson led members of both teams in total scoring. Reiners and Anderson counted more times from the field than did either Finnegan or Birk.

There is a slight probability that Captain Gordy Aamothe of the Sioux will be fit for the remainder of the series, which would be rather disastrous to Bison hopes as Aamothe is recognized as one of the best guards in the loop. Lemaire, who paired with Ed Rorvig, is reputed to be the most improved man on the team and if he can continue his performance of the first game the loss of Aamothe will not seriously impair the efficiency of the University scoring machine.

New Brunswick, N. J.—(ACP)—The check-and-balance system of government received a thorough "going over" at the sessions of the "model senate" held here on the New Jersey College for Women campus.

Senators impersonated by students from many eastern campuses debated long and loud on the proposed constitutional amendment which would give Congress power to override decisions of the Supreme Court. They voted 46 to 43 to defeat the measure.

Yale U Publishes Oldest Magazine

New Haven, Conn.—(ACP)—The oldest magazine in America, the Yale Literary Magazine, last Saturday (Feb. 22) celebrated the 100th anniversary of its birth.

The guardian of Yale traditions during the century since its founding in 1836, the "Lit" has seen many rival publications on the campus rise to glory and quickly fall into oblivion. During its entire existence, the magazine has not changed its form, except in 1932 when its cover was switched from brown to blue, a change that called forth such a storm of protest that the original color was readopted the following year.

The anniversary issue of the Lit contains articles by former editors and contributors who have since become famous, including Sinclair Lewis, Stephen Vincent Binet, Philip Barry, Thornton Wilder, and William Lyon Phelps.

Rogers Deering, farm machinery fortune heir, has bequeathed $7,000,000 to Northwestern university.

Columbia's Prof. Colin G. Fink believes universities should have less "blackboard scientists," more practical laboratory workers.

Students Make Pep Rallies a Farce

Less than two years ago the Spectrum acted on behalf of numerous complaints of members of the student body because they felt the faculty was not cooperating with them to the extent of giving them convocation hours for pep rallies. The faculty responded by giving a regular convocation hour previous to important athletic events such as the university games. The sore spot in the whole outcome is this: The very students (now juniors and seniors) that griped under the old set-up now rush to the dugout or college lunch for coffee and a general bull-session while Doc Putnam, the band, and yell leaders, and a few freshmen and sophomores forced to convocation by fraternity rulings, try to carry on a pep rally. And still they gripe about cooperation. After the rally is all over and classes are about to commence the genuine rally begins.

Just what motive the leaders of these rallies have besides one of absolute rowdiness is a question. No wonder we can't get cooperation when perfectly good attempts are squelched by a handful of rowdies that feel they have an excuse for tearing down doors, excusing classes, mocking and booing professors, and causing a general uproar. Freshmen are the first to fall for this rioting, which is perhaps only natural. But there is room for a bit of constructive reasoning on the part of these students and cultivation of a feeling of cooperation and sympathy with the faculty's attempts to accommodate our wants.

Quotable Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"The educated man has proved a constructive force and at the same time a conservative force in the state, a bulwark against shallow counsels and vain proposals." Statesman Bainbridge Colby calls upon college men for straight thinking and steady influence.

"Today men are not employed because they hold a college degree, and society has been forced to look for spiritual values in the character of educated men. Many colleges have been reduced to a loafer's paradise, with the students looking only for good positions and social standing from their education." Clemens M. Grankson, president of Augustana college (Sioux Falls, S. D.), believes importance of college degree has decreased because colleges fail in spiritual and moral training.

"I am in hearty accord with you when you say we should encourage youth to express itself on matters of education, business and government. I have observed that youth's lack of practical experience is frequently compensated by idealism and sense of justice. Today, more than ever, we need the stimulus of a youthful approach to the serious problems that confront our country." President Roosevelt approves a youth essay contest.

Responsive Audiences Witness 1936 All-College Production

By BOB TAYLOR

Playing before a responsive audience in Festival Hall, Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 21 and 22, the cast of "Be Yourself" the 1936 edition of the NDSC Bison Brevities demonstrated efficiently their ability to handle a task worthy of professionals. Combining melodrama, humor and music into a well-rounded bit of entertainment, the show progressed leisurely and smoothly, minus the jerky and hurried air that so often characterizes the amateur production.

Written and directed by Baccus

All connected with the show are to be complimented on their work, and one in particular, James Baccus, who wrote the entire script for the play, composed the majority of the musical numbers, and directed the production, deserves much credit. Baccus, a junior in the school of Arts & Sciences, participated in the 1934 and 1935 Brevities gaining sufficient experience to enable him to direct the play "Be Yourself", which he wrote last summer.

Keynote of show, Comedy

In spite of the fact that the story was essentially a mystery melodrama, humor abounded throughout the play. That capricious youth, Don Putnam, ably assisted by Virginia Smith, kept the audience chuckling, and at times threatened to steal the show. A very commendable performance was also turned in by Frances Tourtlotte, playing a comedy role as a maid. An added bit of humor was the dance by Don Putnam and Fern O'Daniels.

The romantic angle was given by Ruth Piper and Gordon Brandes. Playing the part of an actress with a motion picture group, Miss Piper demonstrated that she is able to act as well as sing. Gordon Brandes played the part of a silk hosiery salesman, who becomes involved in a murder when he is taken by Miss Piper and members of the movie troupe, for a detective.

Aside from the humor and drama, the show offered a host of original song and dance routines. Jane Chaney deserves credit, not only for her acting, but for her decided ability to put her songs across. She was assisted in her numbers by the boys' quartet, composed of Wayne Krogfoss, Walt Ekeren, Robert Will, and Roy Carr. Other musical numbers were presented by the girl's trio composed of Dorothy Hawkinson, Genevieve Hawkinson, and Ruth Piper, by Frances Tourtlotte, Leon Heur, Gordon Brandes and the Men's chorus.

Other praiseworthy performances were given by LaVerne Gilbertson and Joey Burgum, cast as the owners of the inn where the movie troupe stops; Robert Pryor cast in the difficult role of a chinese cameraman; Leon Heur, as a constable; George Putz, director of the movie troupe; and Mike Kneeland and Dwight

Blue Key Sponsors Eighth Brevities

Another Bison Brevities has become history. This show has for some time been associated with NDSC. Following is a history of the show since its inception.

For eight years Blue Key has been sponsoring the Bison Brevities. Prior to 1928, a show that now corresponds to the Bison Brevities was held each Gay Cat Day in the Bison Armory. In 1928 the show was also held in the Armory, but at Everett Wallum's suggestion the show was dubbed "The Bison Brevities".

In 1929 Blue Key took over the sponsorship of an all-college musical show in which sororities and fraternities competed against each other for a prize. M. Foss Narum was general manager and Elmer Hanson general director of that year's production which was held in the Orpheum theater. Alpha Kappa Phi, which is now Alpha Tau Omega, was the winner in the men's competition, while Kappa Kappa Gamma was the winner in the women's.

Everett J. Wallum was manager of the 1930 edition and Homer B. Huntoon, director. This show, like the former ones, was competitive, the first two winners retaining their prize. As a deviation from the first edition, the show was united and a grand finale was introduced into the production.

The 1931 show had a further innovation in an introduction. It was unified still further and retained its competitive character. Alpha Kappa Phi again carried off the prize in the fraternity contest while Gamma Phi Beta won sorority honors. Kappa Delta won the curtain act competition. Henry Presler was manager and Homer B. Huntoon director.

In 1932 Homer B. Huntoon was again chosen director for the third consecutive year. James Konen, manager, in conjunction with Huntoon worked out a non-competitive show. Although the competition was eliminated, the show still functioned as an all-college show.

In 1933 for the first time since its inception, the show was written, directed, and staged entirely by students. Henry and Morris Olson, now playing and arranging for George Olson's band, wrote the music and script. James Konen was director and manager and was assisted by Richard Randlett, as dramatic director, and Raymond Greenwood as business manager.

The Broadway success, "Good News" was the vehicle for the 1934 show. Frank Sanders and John Gabe had charge of this production.

A musical revue, featuring an old-fashioned melodrama, written by Burke Peterson and John Hamlet, constituted the 1935 edition. John Hamlet was manager and Robert Parrott business manager.

By MARJORIE LALIBERTE

Queries of "What makes you madder than anything else in the world?" brought forth the following vents of dislike. At first protesting that he was not mad-makeable, Don Bettschen finally admitted that which most irked him was "Johnnie Jahnke's smirk" and to make the answering of questions when asked a family tradition, Lorraine Wier, admitted that her's was the basketball team going out of town and then getting snow bound to boot. Interrupted in what she called study Ruth Piper appeared to be sincere when said that people heckling her when she studied was the worst. Bill Stewart has a particular and timely reason for especially hating to be called drippingly from a wet shower to answer an anonymous phone call telling him to listen to the request program. F. D., very much an exponent of freedom of speech, has "So-and-So at the library" as a pet peeve. Certain members of the English 102 class didn't hesitate in stating that "Getting up and coming to 8 o'clock English class at 36 below and then to have the teacher absent". Virginia Smith "jest" hates puns on her name and Beatrice Rosetti simply can not bring herself to love an alarm clock. The college beauties will never forgive the Lettermen for giving up their beauty contest plans. Certain of the Ceres hall girls have it against the sororities for not having houses in which to entertain University guests—especially since Ceres closed up.

Appreciation

I want to take this opportunity to extend my sincere thanks to the members of the cast of the 1936 Bison Brevities, for their interest and cooperation, without which the presentation of "Be Yourself" would have been impossible. That a successful Brevities was presented was due entirely to your sacrifice and hard work, during the many weeks of inclement weather. I want to commend most highly the work of the girls' dancing chorus, and the efforts of Beverly Snyder, dance director, and Jane Shultz, seamstress. The work of Bill Walsh, in scoring the music for the show was more than satisfactory. Thank you all and my congratulations.

James Baccus.

By DON BUCHANAN

Few are aware of the fact, but the NDSC had a winning team last week. The Bison varsity cagers bowed to the yowling Sioux twice, the frosh took a severe drubbing from the U yearlings, but one team of six men "Beat the U," and did it as it should be done. They did it without a cheering section or newspaper build-ups. They were the rifle team who administered a decisive victory over the U marksmen. For the uninformed it might be stated that this fair institution has had one of the finest shooting organizations in the nation. To prove this fact they have on exhibit in the field house lobby a collection of trophies that would do any team proud.

Last week followers of this column read the stuff of Bob Kunkel, sports editor of "The Dakota Student," U publication. This is a continuance of a custom started by the sports editors of the two publications last year, in which copy was exchanged during the annual cage/classic. This week Walt McGrath of this paper mailed a column northward to appear in "The Student" where it can be read and thoroughly enjoyed by all of those lucky people that make it through the snowdrifts.

After watching the performance of a week ago, it takes little argument to convince one that the visiting cagers displaying their wares here are one of the smoothest working outfits ever to show in the field house. The clever shooting that Emmett Birk and Bob Finnegan demonstrated combined with their bullet passing and fast breaks was pleasing to witness even from the wrong side of the scoreboard

However, all back slaps are not due to the Nodak basketeers. When a guard can hold a clever forward echelon man like Birk to two buckets in forty minutes he has the makings of a real guard. Therefore Don Bettschen is a real guard.

Tennis Stars In Fine Exhibition

A small handful of hardy tennis fans braved the wintry blasts to trek out to the field house Wednesday and witness the excellent exhibition presented by the troupe of famous stars. This exhibition was sponsored by the athletic department.

In the opening encounter George Lott of Chicago split a two set fracas with Berkeley Bell of Texas in a setto that was marked by the craftiness of Lott pitted against the fiery tactics of Bell. The feature match of the evening in the singles events found Ellsworth Vines, United States professional singles champion, battling to a three set decision over the powerful play of Lester Stofen, young tennis giant from California. Stofen displayed the service which has earned for him the reputation of being one of the hardest hitting players in either the amateur or pro game, while Vines came through with a consistent performance that found him on the long end of a 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 final count.

The world's champion doubles team of Stofen and Vines split up in the doubles exhibit, Vines pairing with Bell and Stofen combining

BISON BOW TO NODAKS IN DOUBLE START

Anderson Leads With 27 Count

Bettschen Shines Defensively, While Birk, Finnegan, Reiners Score

In the annual revival of that ancient feud, the "Howling Sioux" scalped the "Thundering Herd" twice in a double start last week-end at NDSC. The tally for the initial encounter of the first half of the four game series was 40-24, while the second count stood at 45-35 when the final gun barked.

The scoring for the first tilt was opened early by the U club and this lead was held throughout the entire contest. After the start the closest that the Lowe men came to an even count occurred three minutes before the intermission, when they crept up within a single bucket to make the score stand at 13-11. Another counter before the half boosted the standing to 15-11 for the first period total.

In the second period the Nodak five gradually piled up a margin which added up to 38-16 halfway through the final phase of the game. This two to one margin continued until the last minute of play when the tally stood at 40-20.

A final splurge by the Bison netted a couple of baskets before the fracas ended at 40-24.

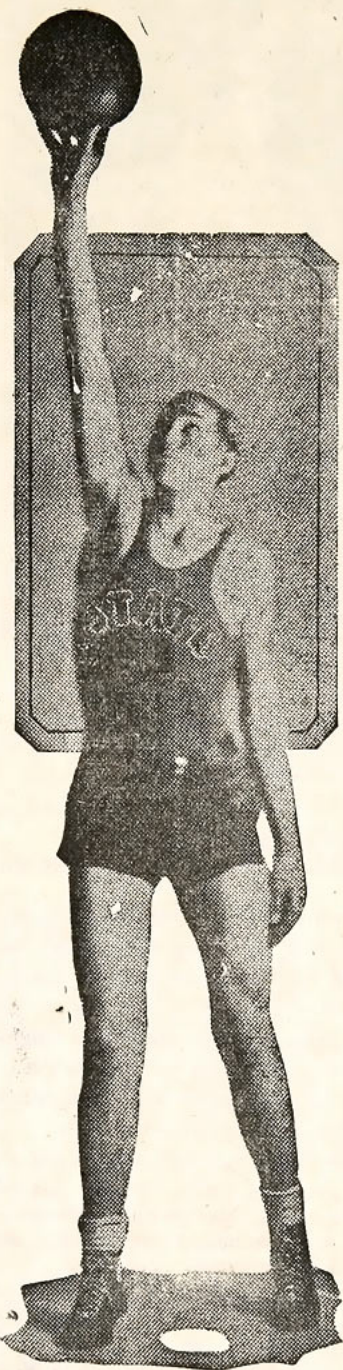

The outstanding man on either team was the guard from Arthur, Don Bettschen. Don held Emmett Birk, one of the outstanding forwards in the conference to two buckets, one of which he could not have prevented. Besides this he counted twice himself. The best appearing forward on the floor was the shifty Bob Finnegan, who seemed to be equally adept with either hand on one arm shots from the corner, and who scored five loops from the floor. Anderson was high man for the State quint dropping in twelve points. Reiners found the opening four times for eight points.

In the second set-to Reiners opened the scoring with a long shot. Anderson then tipped in a missed free throw which, when added to a couple single pointers on foul shots placed the count at 6-0. The uproar that came from the crowd at this phase was probably the greatest ovation that the field house has ever experienced. However the hopes of the spectators tumbled in the next five minutes when the Sioux tied the score at six all. From then on the Nodak outfit never relinquished their lead. The score at the half was 23-17.

The second half of the contest proved to be much harder fought than the one of the previous evening. It was not until the last half minute, when defeat seemed inevitable, that there was any let-down. However the U quint worked too smooth for the Bison club and the game ended with a ten point margin.

Outstanding for the State team were Russ Anderson and Pretz Reiners, Russ counting fifteen points while Neville made eleven. Birk was the high scorer for the Nodaks sinking five buckets from the floor and three free throws. In the guard position Bettschen and Saunders both played excellent games. Ed Rorvig of the Nodaks also turned in a praiseworthy performance.

RUSS ANDERSON

The elongated Bison center led members of both teams in scoring when he piled up 27 points in two games.

U Yearlings Down Bison Frosh 47-26

Playing under the same jinx which menaced the varsity, the State college freshmen basketball team was defeated by the University freshmen in a one-sided game last Saturday afternoon at the field house. The University yearlings had the advantage from the opening minute of the game and continued to pile up the score of 47 to 26 until the whistle halted their smooth working attack.

The Bison freshmen were clearly off form, the only men showing their usual finesse were Lloyd Olson, guard, and Bob Frankosky, reserve center. Bill McCosh, U center, was the outstanding player of the day, counting six times from the floor and twice from the free throw line. He was well supported by Cox and Art Hovde at the forward positions and Don Pepke and Orris Hovde in the rear courts.

Johnny Smith's lads seemed unable to get their offense clicking and were unable to stop the fast breaking game of the Sioux club. During the week the Bison have shown promise of making it more interesting for the Sioux when the two freshman quints clash tomorrow.

NDSC Rifle Team Wins By 33 Points

After poking out a decisive win over the Nodak gunmen here Saturday, the A. C. marksmen will journey to the Forks tomorrow to attempt a repetition of last week's meet. The same six men that opposed the U team in the match of the previous week-end will make the trip.

In last week's contest the Bison sharpshooters punctured the target for a team total of 907 out of a possible 1000, while the Sioux came through with 33 points less for a total of 873.

The high point man for the match, however, was Don McGregor of the University team, but the consistent shooting that the State boys did pulled the team tally far above that of the northern invaders.

The match consisted of each man firing four targets of five record shots each, one in each of the four positions; standing, kneeling, sitting, and prone. Six men fired from each team, the five high totals counting for the team tally.

The individual members' scores were:

Zech Mittmen To Vie With Nodak Ringsters Wed.

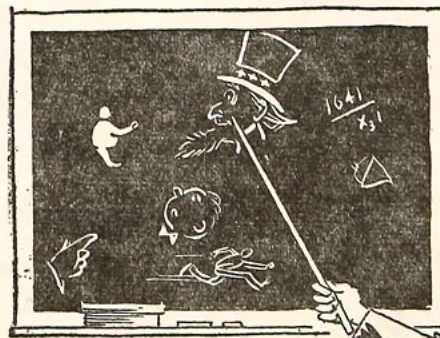

Members of the North Dakota State boxing team will journey to Wahpeton today where they encounter the fighters from Wahpeton Science school in preparation for the invasion of the Sioux boxers next week.

Nine men will make the trip and the pairings made are as follows: Lawrence Bapp, State, versus Lyle Glass; Maurice McCormick of the Bison fights Howard McDermott; Joe Feist, Science, battles Dick Hamilton; Arthur Schultz will meet Jess Tomey of Wahpeton; Norman Olson will face Roland Smith of Science; Delmar Skow opposes Kenneth Lee of Wahpeton Science. As yet the foes for Iverson, Carr, and either Crane or Ward have not been announced.

The feature boxing card of the entire season will be presented here Wednesday night when the strong team from the University of North Dakota treks down here to display their wares against the more inexperienced fighters from State. The Nodaks have an enviable reputation so far this season and this week-end enter into a crucial set of matches when they meet the aggregation from Wisconsin. If the Sioux come through this match on the long end of the score there is more than a likelihood that they will be given national recognition in boxing circles.

Coach Albert Zech of the Bison realizes that the team he is sending against the university is inexperienced as compared to the high ranking Sioux. However, his attitude indicates that he feels the opponents are going to receive some surprises when they square off against some of his better boys.

October 1, 1926:

"The paving of Twelfth avenue and Thirteenth street beyond the college, as well as the installation of better sewage and water facilities on the college grounds will doubtlessly eliminate the annual spring deluge campus residents have experienced in former years."

December 14, 1926:

"Claudie Miller, captain and half-back of this year's Bison grid team, was named on the all-western honor roll chosen by Billy Evans, nationally known baseball arbiter and sports writer."

December, 1904 (this one proved to be a veritable storehouse of juicy bits):

"The hydrant near the Mechanical building has been encased in a large wooden box, filled with manure, which will make it very accessible (?) in case of fire. Would it not be well to cast an iron hood around it also?"

"It is rumored that Professor Minard will say goodbye to his bachelorhood during Christmas."

"It is said that Dolve is the only man that succeeded in making a mash on the school ma'ams."

"Miss S. says one box of fudge is enough for a professor, but Professor Householder insists on two."

"While digging a ditch for a steam pipe leading to the new power plant, there was found a bottle containing a paper upon which was written a long list of names and an excuse for a class history. The discovery was promptly referred to the proper authorities, the seniors, who, upon further investigation, found it to be the selfsame bottle which the present Junior class put under their class tree which so mysteriously died. We mention this particularly because it was this fruitless attempt of the class of '06 which first gave Professor Bolley the idea of administering a nursing bottle to sick trees."

"Professor Parrott has moved the registrar's office to the secretary's office in the main building. This facilitates the process of matriculation, and is, therefore, a very desirable change."

EXCERPTS

The honor system in the ROTC will be enforced in the future by the cadets through a "court martial" board of five appointed by the cadet colonel and the head of the university military department. Punishments will range from reprimands to recommendations for expulsion from the university and will be meted out according to the gravity and number of the offenses.
