Trudi Schoop's Comic Ballet Here Thursday

Satire on Middle Classes
To Be Presented; Troupe
Highly Recommended

The internationally known danseuse, Trudi Schoop, will bring her comic ballet to Festival hall Thursday, Feb. 20, as the fourth number in this year's Silver Jubilee Lyceum series.

Advance press notices describe clumsy, cavorting Schoop as the Charlie Chaplin of dance. A first place winner in the International Dance Congress at Vienna, Schoop's ballet is widely acclaimed throughout Europe. During its premier in New York this winter, it was held over several weeks.

Schoop's program is divided into two parts. One section is entitled "Want Ads," telling of the human story behind the advertisements of a newspaper. The other section, "Fridolin," depicts the story of a sheltered young man who enters upon an unhappy marriage and then succumbs to the wiles of an "artiste". In the end, the boy flees back to the liberty he had formerly known. Throughout the entire performance, there runs a satire upon the petty foibles of the middle class. One set, a simple black velvet drop, is used during the show.

Dancing is a tradition in the Schoop family of Switzerland. Trudi's sister has also gained European recognition. It was she who first taught Trudi to dance. The comic ballet was first developed in the living room of the Schoop family. Although Trudi Schoop studied for other theatrical fields, she soon found she was best suited for the dance stage.

KAPPA DELTA, SIGMA PHI DELTA AWARDED CUPS

Sigma Phi Delta fraternity and Kappa Delta sorority won the Bison Brevities ticket selling contest which closed Tuesday. Winners were announced by Bill Akeley, director. A 10-inch silver cup will be awarded to each winner.

Kagawa To Speak In Bison Field House

The last session of Friday's visit of Toyhiko Kagawa, Japanese Christian cooperative leader, to Fargo will be in the NDSC physical education building, at 8 p. m., according to an announcement by the arrangements committee. Amplifiers will be utilized to carry the speaker's message to an audience which may reach 3,000.

Entrance to the meeting will be by ticket only. Tickets for the session may be obtained by interested NDSC students and faculty members in the lobby of Old Main on Tuesday from 3 to 5 p. m.

Reservations for the forenoon and afternoon sessions scheduled for Moorhead Army and The First Methodist church, respectively, have already been taken up, announced the committee. About fifty NDSC students, delegates from various classes and campus organizations, will attend the Moorhead sessions.

Business Leader

Hugh Anstett is the assistant business manager of the Bison Brevities to be given Feb. 24-25.

Constitution Poll Scheduled Tuesday

NDSC students will have an opportunity to voice their approval or disapproval of the revised constitution of the student commission in a general election to be held Tuesday, February 18 in Old Main. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The constitution which was revised by a committee of members of the student commission as a result of general dissatisfaction with the class elections held last fall, embodies several important changes in regard to elections. Included among these are: election by plurality, voting by printed ballots, and the polls to be open from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m.

At the voting Tuesday, students will vote on the constitution by articles.

U. Of Minn., NDSC Debate At Banquet

The Lincoln Debate club of NDSC held its annual banquet at noon, Feb. 12, in the Lincoln Log Cabin. Immediately following at 1:15 p. m., an affirmative team from the University of Minnesota, guests at the luncheon, met a State college team in a non-decision debate on the national Pi Kappa Delta question in the Little Country theater.

Kenneth N. Peterson and P. Kenneth Peterson were the Minnesotans; Arwin Hoge and Herschel Hutsin-piller represented North Dakota State. The question was, "Resolved: That Congress should have the power to override, by a two-thirds majority, decisions of the Supreme Court declaring the laws passed by Congress unconstitutional."

Miss Freida Panimon, president of the club, acted as toastmistress. Henry Swenson gave Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Other speakers were P. Kenneth Peterson, of the Minnesota team, Miss Vivian Luther, and Donald Hay. Musical selections by Miss Marjorie Arnold and Bob Hagen completed the program.

Decorations were in accordance with Lincoln's Day — on the table a bust of Lincoln surrounded by flags and larger flags placed throughout the room.

LCT Players Produce Drama By Shakespeare

'Taming of the Shrew' Has Three Day Stand at
NDSC Dramatic Center

Waves of laughter swept the Little Country theater last night as student players completed their three-day revival of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew."

Broad slap-stick humor was ably presented by Dayton Jones in his loud-mouthed verbal rantings. Harriet Ellsworth, the independent shrew, a match for any able-bodied man, finally succumbed to her masterful husband (only after starvation, insomnia, and being crushed under her "owner's" horse).

It is, however, unfair to mention any particular actors and commend their performance due to the uniform and high quality work presented.

Much was added to the artistic quality of the production by the clever and authentic costumes created by Corrine Ballard and Alice Bender, the coach.

The play was ably produced by the following: Dayton Jones, Petruccio; Harriet Ellsworth, Katherine, the shrew; Robert Nelson, Baptiste; Grethe Jones, Bianca; Robert Hagen, Vincentio; Wilfred Rommel, Lucentio; Robert Sanders, Gremio; Orville Sorvik, Hortensio; Robert Knauer, Tranio; Chester Holdman, Biondello; Virginia Smith, Grumio; Betty Kretschmar, Curtis; John Jenkins, Pedant; Laverne Gilbertson, widow; and Robert Pryor, tailor.

Ask UND Students To College Dance

University of North Dakota students will be honored guests at an all-college dance following the first Bison-Sioux cage contest Friday evening. Jane Bristol is in general charge.

It has been requested by Dean W. F. Sudro, social advisor, that all students present their registration cards before being admitted to the dance. A similar request has been extended to university guests.

The dance is to be held in Festival hall, 9:30-12:00, with Jim Baccus furnishing the music. Ellen Blair is in charge of ticket sales and Mary Clemens, chaperons.

All YMCA Meeting Held Thursday

The all-YWCA meeting of the winter term was held Thursday night at 7:30 in the 'Y' building.

June Sanstead was in charge of the program, securing Mrs. T. W. Johnson of the advisory board to speak. Mary Sherwood was in charge of refreshments which were served following the regular meeting.

Concluding 'Y' activities for the week, Phyllis Rowe of the cabinet has set Sunday afternoon aside for the annual vesper services. The service will begin at 5:00 p. m. with Phyllis Rowe conducting the meeting. Every member of the YWCA is invited to attend, the service being for YWCA members only.

Hell Week Abolished By Theta Chi, First Campus Fraternity Group To Replace Old System With Constructive Program

NOTICE

All those purchasing Bison cuts must have their pictures taken by the end of next week and must turn in an activity card with their name, town, course, classification, and activities to the Bison office in the basement of Science hall, before then. The office will be open Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons and on Tuesday and Thursday morning from 8:00 to 10:00 o'clock.

Dance Routines Show Feature

The dance routines for the 1936 Bison Brevities bid fair to surpass that of other years, according to Jimmie Baccus, productions manager. Ten girls, giving three separate routines, appear in the dancing chorus.

The first routine is a waltz number done with Gordon Brandes and Ruth Piper, playing leads, and singing the duet, "My Heart Is Yours." Another is a fox trot done to the music of "Your So Charming." The final dance number is the finale, "Be Yourself."

Don Putnam and Fern O'Daniels are featured in a special comedy dance.

Assisting Baccus in arranging the musical numbers are Wm. Walsh, Robert Hagen, Don Putnam and Ed-die Besseliere. Beverley Snyder is dancing director.

Theater Passes 31st Anniversary

Celebrating the thirty-first anniversary of the founding of the Little Country theater by A. G. Arvold, the class in public speaking broadcast a half-hour program Monday, Feb. 10, in the Lincoln Log Cabin, and held a banquet Monday evening in the cabin.

Sketches from the "Taming of the Shrew" and other plays that have been presented in the theater were broadcast over WDAY from 5:00 to 5:30 p. m., along with the reading of the life of Abraham Lincoln. Walt Jahnke gave a clarinet solo as an added feature.

Following the broadcast, a banquet was given by the speech class with Bernard Majors as master of ceremonies. Every member of the class contributed something on modern outstanding theatrical performances.

YMCA Leads Last Kagawa Discussion

The campus Kagawa study group ended their series of meetings Wednesday with a discussion on "Kagawa's Kingdom of God Movement." Elsie Gabe and Lois Presler of the YWCA led the discussion.

In addition to the YWCA, other groups cooperating in the presentation were the YMCA, the Farmers Union local, and Sigma Delta.

Dean of Men Lauds Group For "Progressive Movement" In Letter to President

By abolishing completely its traditional Hell Week practices, Phi chapter of Theta Chi fraternity has taken one of the most revolutionary steps not only in the history of the chapter but in the history of fraternal organizations on this campus.

This action was passed by a unanimous vote of the chapter at its meeting last Monday night after a trial class had been initiated following a "hell-less" Hell Week.

Already commendatory messages have been received by the fraternity in regard to this policy. The following letter from Dean I. W. Smith, dean of men, is printed in full.

"I am very much pleased to know that the Phi chapter of Theta Chi fraternity has recently abolished "Hell Week." It is certainly a progressive movement and worthy of the commendation of all those interested in fraternity life.

"I believe that the action of the fraternity will bring many good results, one of which will be a greater confidence on the part of parents whose sons may become pledges and initiates of the chapter.

"The action of the chapter, as you may know, is in harmony with the recommendations of the National Association of Deans of Men and the National Interfraternity Conference.

"With personal admiration for the decisive action of the fraternity, and best wishes for success, I beg to remain

Sincerely yours,
I. W. SMITH,
Dean of Men."

On the editorial page of this issue, in a comment by Ward Swanson, president of the local chapter of Theta Chi, will be found a statement of the ideals and policies of this new plan.

Frosh Discussion Groups Underway

Freshmen discussion groups of the YWCA are well getting under way. The "Y" cabinet has selected Jane Schulz to manage these groups. She has obtained three interested persons to have charge of three separate meetings so as to accommodate all freshmen girls.

These groups are primarily for freshmen girls but any girl who is interested may attend. Three times during the week freshmen girls may meet, with Miss Ruth Dyson, Tuesday evening at 7:00, or with Miss Guenivere Feckler, Wednesday afternoon at 4:00, or Mrs. Phillip Vogel, Thursday afternoon at 4:00, in the YMCA building. Problems that confront the college girl or anything that she wishes to contribute will be discussed.

Freshmen girls are urged to attend these meetings for their own benefit as well as for showing interest in the YWCA. The leaders of these groups are all well versed in "Y" affairs and girls who have signed up for a certain meeting time will show personal courtesy by appearing.

President Discusses Hell Week Abolition

Printed below is a statement by the president of the local chapter of Theta Chi on the abolition of Hell Week, one of the outstanding issues before college fraternities of today. As this new plan is a decided departure from the present type of Hell Week as practiced at this institution, The Spectrum feels that it is especially worthy of consideration by every fraternal organization on this campus.

"For several years now national fraternity leaders, inter-fraternity councils, and college officials have decried the continuance of the traditional pre-initiatory fraternity Hell Week. Various these critics have pointed out the absurd "adult infantilism" reflected in the many petty, degrading, sometimes physically harmful practices which yet survive in many of our Greek letter groups. The most recent denunciation has come out of the National Interfraternity Conference held in New York City, Nov. 29-30, at which time fraternity leaders and deans of men unequivocally declared, 'Hell Week must go!'

"Acting upon these recommendations and following the advice of our own national Grand Chapter, Phi Chapter of Theta Chi has this week formally abolished its traditional Hell Week. We realize that a strong body of tradition underlies the structure of any fraternal organization, but we feel that if a new, more constructive tradition may be substituted for an outmoded, worthless one, the fraternity must thereby acquire a more purposeful, dynamic life. Thus, we have prepared a program of constructive pre-initiatory training to supplant the discarded physical torment. In order to give the prospective fraternity member a sense of the dignity of the organization of which he is to become a member we have prepared a program stressing the following essential studies: a thorough study of the fraternity constitution and the by-laws of the local chapter, a study of fraternal organization and government, its history and traditions, a study of ways and means to improve chapter scholarship, a study of the rules of common etiquette, a study of inter-fraternity relationships and how they may be improved, a comparative study of fraternity publications, and any other constructive work that way prove practicable.

"We feel that such a program of worthwhile activity has distinct advantages in helping to create in prospective fraternity members such necessary qualities of fraternal understanding, human dignity, and unselfish loyalty, as must make for a richer fraternity life. We should appreciate the suggestions and comments of faculty members and college students not only as to the wisdom of our own plan for pre-initiatory training but as to the possibilities for its further development among other campus organizations."

Ward H. Swanson, President,
Phi Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity.

BISON BRIEFS

ANY FRESHMAN PLEDGE—They are trying to make a man out of me, I'm hunting a female sparrow and a red brick out near the round house I wonder if that will make a man out of me maybe I'm a man already I worked all summer on the section, my hands are calloused Bill drove a Packard all summer his hands are calloused too he is only 21 years of age, I am 24, yet he swings the paddle my posterior is calloused too I sit here on a mustard plaster am I too yellow to get up and fight maybe I am but still I loose my respect for the pledge next to me that throws his pin and leaves perhaps I enjoy this in one sense I hate the torture but at the same time I hate the person who can't take it I wonder if he is a man still Joe was never a fraternity man he didn't go through this no one will doubt that he is a man but he suffered the loss of one leg in an accident maybe that made a man out of him I sit at pledge meeting and listen to the ritual the pledge officer teaches me ideals and fellowship is he the only one interested in me or the fraternity the actives are bull sessioning in the next room discussing last week's bender morals ideals fellowship phooey couldn't I get fellowship in a YMCA or what is the difference are they trying to bring me up to their standards or are they helping me to profit by their mistakes paddling mustard plasters pushing pennies hunting bricks men fraternity men ideals fellowship am I crazy or who is riding brooms to school walking on all fours dignified gentlemanly idealistic silly stupid assinine what does it all mean when I first came here they all ran to shake my hand I thought I was a man then and a good fellow they even told me I was but now they are making a man out of me the actives smoke tell stories gripe about their dates gripe about the school and all the departments and instructors play politics come late swing paddles call us scums is that what they are trying to make out of me maybe it doesn't pay to be a man I have to sleep in a telephone booth while one active sits up and watches if he enjoys it so much why don't the rest of the actives stay up if I had never joined a fraternity would I never become a man what sort of punishment did all the non-fraternity men suffer they are just as gentlemanly as others maybe their knocks came from someplace besides paddles I have suffered hard knocks but still they paddle me I wonder what value it is and still I would not like it if they had never asked me to join but why should I pay for all of this when I have the same chance outside they ran me for president of the freshman class I thought then that they liked me but when we have a fraternity dance they won't appear on my program what is the difference some of the boys are conceited is that because they have a large trophy case or because they are becoming in their roommate's coat they call me a scum my father is a banker and Jim's is a street cleaner I joined this group because I had money and because they asked me to was I a sucker or were they they must be the sucker the way they are treating me I'm beginning to think I'm a lemon right here I am 23 years old and they have to make a man out of me and discipline me men fraternities gentlemen fools thieves I have found out that I can take it and so have they but what does it prove maybe it was their purpose but I am beginning to wonder if this pledge riding isn't just a matter of routine where they take out on me what they suffered last year even if I am not a better man I am a fraternity man and I'm not quitting now because revenge is going to be sweet just wait till the freshmen next year come in Boy am I going to lay on the wood maybe their attempts were to make me love and not to hate I was paddled for leaving snow on the sidewalk now I walk around with a paddle in one hand making someone else shovel maybe my initiation was a benefit to the fraternity in fact I know it was when I pay next months bills the house will be nearly paid for maybe my initiation was a benefit to the fraternity but was it to me I wonder if I wasn't just as good a man before I was initiated as now I say again how and who are they to judge we have a better fraternity but we were before we got here we learned to love our fraternity not for its benefits to us but for its benefits to the fraternity in fact a few years ago we had so many actives that swung so many paddles that made so many men that we went national I still wonder what the ultimate goal is but now that I'm a fraternity man I won't admit that there isn't any except that the sidewalk needs shoveling.

Patricia Ellis and Larry Crabbe play in "Hold 'em Yale," showing at the State theatre today and tomorrow. William Powell and Luise Rainer play in "Escapade" Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. Myrna Loy, Cary Grant, and Hobart Cavanaugh are cast in "Wings In The Dark" coming to the same theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

Student Opinion

Here I sit with a pen — wondering. A very bad situation, as you'll probably agree by the time you read this — if you do. Should I make you angry, I have achieved the ultimate — I have made you think. If this strikes you passively, I apologize. If you agree . . . well, let's skip that. All set for my ramblings.

What could be a more extraordinary good method for popularizing an outworn, impractical machine than a ball, a Military Ball with uniforms, gayety, and Joe Billo. Coeds refuse to sign petitions for the Nye-Kvale Amendment, for fear of endangering their chances of going to the annual Military "Bore". Pardon me, but I didn't like the more common usage, "Brawl". Maybe some day these same Coeds will have the uncertain pleasure of bringing up sons, that men's war machines may have something to practice on. Wouldn't it be terrible if those man-made killers operated by those poor devils, victims of a false patriotism, should run out of material which they might blow to bits? Which reminds me of that statement made by militarists supposed to end all pacifistic comebacks, "You'd be willing to fight, all right, if your country were invaded, and your home, wife, and children were in danger". Such 19th century reasoning has not kept pace with the horrible progress made in "art" of killing each other on a large scale. Suppose a man owned a home, which, I suspect, is a rarity especially in North Dakota, would he be doing his loved ones a noble honor by taking Bob Taylor's ironical burlesque of the slogan, "Join the Army And See the World" to "Join the Army and See the Next World"? I'm asking you.

Rather paradoxical, is it not, that when a man kills another for making love to his wife, or double-crossing him in business, we condemn him and send him up for life or execute him, but when a man becomes a puppet in a war, and goes out to kill other puppets of the "enemy" with whom he has positively no personal grievance, he is a hero. And this is civilization?

—Roald Peterson.

A. C. GRAD ACCEPTS NEW JOB

Louis Brandes of Fargo, mechanical engineering graduate of 1935, passed through Fargo recently on his way to Saint Monica, California, where he has accepted a position with the Douglas aircraft corporation. His work will be on drafting and stress-analysis. Previous to his acceptance of the new position Mr. Brandes worked in the W. P. A. auditing office in Washington, D. C.

ABOLITION OF AAA MAY AID NORTH DAKOTANS

That the wiping out of the Agricultural Adjustment Act might help North Dakota farmers, was the opinion expressed by President J. H. Shepperd of North State in an address Wednesday before Grand Forks service clubs.

This Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
There was something gaspy, of course, about that case of the Southwestern University students and the nude young girl who danced for them on the athletic field the other night.

And there was something delightful about the stern comment of the dean after the investigation began. The dean issued a pontifical statement to the effect that the incident was closed "until further facts were laid bare."

Death of Decorum at the University of Texas:

Down there, old Henry Harper, dean of the graduate school, for years has preserved his vigorous independence of thought and dress, despite the standardizing influence of the campus, which universally tends to make professors dress with decorum, behave quietly, write few letters-to-the-editor.

The dean has always worn a blood-red bow tie, which lies across his throat like a scarlet butterfly alight upon a cactus.

Recently the dean and his ties received national recognition when the dean sent one of them as a Christmas present to O. O. McIntyre, the New York columnist whose own sartorial aberrations are well known.

The color of the tie, said Odd, "is based on the oxyhemoglobin of the red blood cells in human arterial blood."

Students have many stories about the dean and his tie. Some say he began wearing them in memory of a beautiful lady in red who flitted across his horizon some years ago. The dean, however, says he wears them just because he likes them.

East to West:

A columnist in the student paper at Brown university devotes several paragraphs to the "coyaotes" who roam the western plains, and "menace the lumberjacks."

("Kiyutes" would not be so bad, but "coyaotes"—Good Lord!)

And then we notice in the Princeton paper that a correspondent declares, "out west when they see a man driving recklessly, they toot their horn at him three times."

He feels ashamed and toots back three times, and goes on with everyone feeling he has been sufficiently punished."

Does it mean the decay of culture—the resurgence of Babbitry—or just a feeling of economic insecurity?

Anyway, Northwestern university students, according to a study there, are choosing courses of study which will be of definite, monetary value to them after they get out of school.

Most of those interviewed seemed to be taking economics and such things as "business letter writing," etc. But one young realist said he probably should be studying about the Navy, since such a course would be of more real value "the way the world is now."

Another young man when questioned, said he was taking business writing, "because, ah, er, it developed writing ability, and ah, ah—there wasn't any final exam!"

Washington university (St. Louis) has one of the finest coin collections in the country. It numbers 13,000 pieces.

Indianapolis, Ind.—(ACP)—Establishment of a course in sex hygiene has been asked of Butler university officials by the school's student council. Frank Demmerly, council president, said the organization is recommending a recognized authority be obtained to teach the class and that men and women be grouped for free discussion.

"If college students are given proper instruction in sex matters by recognized authorities," Demmerly said, "we feel that such information may make as great a contribution to a happy and healthful life as any other offering now found in the curriculum."

The National Student Federation of America at its national convention at Kansas City during the Christmas holidays recommended that all colleges consider seriously the need for sex education.

THEN AND NOW

In days of old
When knights were bold
And women were very fragile,
The man who won
Was the son-of-a-gun
With the horse that was most agile.

These men were brave;
With faces grave . . .
So forth to war they'd sally;
To save the life
Of a Brother's wife
Was something up their alley.

With armor bright
All flower bedight,
They were such mighty fighters
That all the dragons
(Without any braggin's)
Seem'd only silly blighters.

But now the lads
And all their dads
For acts that are chivalric,
Devise instead
In dizzy head
The acts that make them all sick.

They drink and smoke;
And pet and poke;
They think they've been a-helling.
Then comes the morn
With thoughts forlorn
Their evening spirits quelling.

But who am I?
A foolish guy
Who has no power to temper
The acts of fools
Who go to schools
With thoughts that are sic semper.

Cold weather is still in full sway and it looks as if the fracas between Morningside and the fast-traveling Thundering herd will have to wait a while till the sun comes out and chases away all this nasty snow. What we mean to say is that there won't be any game this week-end because of inclement weather. Regardless of the fact however the University of North Dakota games scheduled for the 21 and 22 will be played here unless a good old fashioned blizzard comes up the night before the crucial series.

As usual the basketball race has narrowed down to the two North Dakota schools, each of them boasting nine wins and no black marks chalked up against them. If you're a firm believer in the Bison and look for them to cop the NCC crown then just give yourself a headache by comparing the scores the two teams have made against the same opponents. Then to further distress your over worked system pick up a newspaper and learn how one Emmet Birk counted 29 points against South Dakota State in their last meeting.

There comes a time when all men feel the need of doing some reforming (the common name for this is just plain griping) and now we hear that there are those who feel that the two North Dakota schools have too much monopoly on the athletic endeavors of the seven schools in the North Central loop. "No fun play-in' when you always lose" is the attitude these people adopt for the still unwhimpering other five schools. Maybe some arrangements could be made to kidnap the coaches at one of these two leading institutions or better still send letters threatening lives should the team win over their quota of games.

This week was to have seen a renewal of the feud started at the Golden Gloves tourney in Minneapolis between the top notchers of the Bison boxing squad and the first raters at the University. What with the snow and all, next week has been tentatively set as the time for this duel and it's just our personal opinion that these fights will draw almost the same gate as the much more publicized basketball contests. Coach Al Zech was highly pleased with the showing his inexperienced charges made in the Twin Cities and feels that with a few more fights under their respective belts they should be able to give a good account of themselves.

To us one of the surprises of the Golden Gloves was the performance given by Blanchette in comparison to the one staged by his running mate Gainor. It was always our understanding that in the heavy-weight class at the University Blanchette was Number 1 man while Gainor was but a struggling youngster. But reports from the matches indicate otherwise as it was Gainor who made the impression while Blanchette relegated himself to the ranks of the mediocre.

The sad event of the week is the sickness of Captain Sam Dobervich who came home full of the old pep and vinegar ready to train for the coming match with Gainor only to catch a cold and spend his days and nights in bed dreaming of swinging fists and glass jaws.

BISON COUNT THREE WINS IN TRIP SOUTH

Morningside, Omaha, Iowa, Bow To Herd

Coach Lowe's Quintet Extends String of Victories to Nine Games

Sweeping the south in a series of three conference tilts, the Bison chalked up their seventh, eighth, and ninth consecutive NCI wins. The Herd downed the Morningside quint Friday, by a count of 38-28; trounced Omaha Monday by the same tally; and defeated Iowa Teachers 35-25 on Wednesday.

Defeat Maroons

The initial tilt with the Maroons opened on a see-saw, the count standing at 14 to 12 at the intermission. The Bison were handicapped early in the second half by the loss of Reiners and Saunders, crack forward and guard, through personal fouls. They were replaced by Howard Fraser and Carl Rorvig.

Kielty proved to be the scoring ace of the evening, bagging a total of 12 points.

Cardinals Victims

The encounter with Omaha Cardinals on Monday turned to be a cleaner sweep than the contest played with them earlier in the season, the Herd leading by ten points as contrasted with a one bucket edge in the previous fracas.

The Bison opened the scoring, running five points before the Cardinals found themselves, hitting the hoop twice. Saunders, Reiners, and Anderson then ran the count to 15-4, Bob and Pretz each counting twice. The half ended with the tally standing at 20-8.

In the second period Fraser and Bernard took the place of Bettschen and Kielty for the first ten minutes. The score stood at 32-21 with five minutes to go.

Reiners was the high man with 18 counters and Jahnk bagged 10 points.

Iowa Teachers Tough Foe

The first half of the Wednesday tilt showed itself to be a nip and tuck struggle, however the NDSC turned up on top of a 18-16 count at the intermission.

Five minutes before the final signal the score stood at 22-22, but the snaky center, Russ Anderson, sank five baskets from the floor and one gift shot to make the total 35-25.

Anderson played the outstanding offensive game, sinking a total of 18 points to tie Reiners' record of Monday night. Keith McCabe at the guard position was outstanding, holding Reiners to three points.

GIRLS RIFLE TEAM LOSES TO RIPON COLLEGE

The girls rifle team of Ripon college, Ripon, Wisconsin, defeated the NDSC female sharpshooters by a close margin of 10 points. The scores were 489 and 479 points, respectively, out of a possible 500. Each team is composed of ten girls, the five highest scores in each team count. Sally Minard is the NDSC manager.

Non-Sorority Team Wins Girl's Title

In the annual spirited and highly contested inter-sorority basketball tournament sponsored by Delta Psi Kappa, national honorary physical education sorority, the non-sorority team was declared the winner when they defeated Kappa Delta 18 to 11. Members of the winning team include: Luella Grutle, Captain, Ethel Olson, Delilah Sailor, Verda Van Vorst, Ruth Backwoldt, Grace Crutle, Marion Moffitt, Cloyce Hocking, Margie Smith, Mildred Tarplee, Olive Murchie, and Wilma Hildre.

The non-sorority team will be guests of honor at a banquet given by Delta Psi Kappa while Kappa Delta, runner-up and winner of the sorority award, will be presented a medal by the same organization. Members of the Kappa Delta team are: Betty Kretschmar, captain, Lorraine Dixon, Helen Boettcher, Shirley Parizek, Pauline Huntley, and Eloise Pfeffer.

In the consolation play-off Kappa Kappa Gamma defeated Phi Omega Pi by the close score of 10-8.

Five Fraternities Enter Hockey Race

Interested fraternities consisting of five in all, met last week and drew up a schedule of games to be played before the completion of the winter term. As yet none of the scheduled contests have been staged because of inclement weather, but if conditions at all permit the opening game will be played this Saturday.

The schedule as drawn up at present will consist of a round robin affair with each team meeting every other one in two contests. The five fraternities that are entering teams are Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Delta, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

An award of a trophy will be made to the winning sextet by Rudy Cole, an alumnus of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

State Boxers Give Fine Exhibitions At Golden Gloves

Notwithstanding their inexperience inside the roped arena, six members of the North Dakota State boxing team journeyed to Minneapolis, where they presented a fine showing in the annual Golden Gloves amateur boxing contest.

Lawrence Bapp went to the semi-finals in his division, where he lost a close decision to the representative of the St. Paul Athletic club who then went on to win the championship. Art Schultz displayed lots of class in the featherweight division, winning three consecutive matches before he was eliminated in a semi-final match. Norm Olson, outstanding freshman who made a name for himself on the frosh grid team, won

Riflemen Complete First Two Stages

Fifteen members of the North Dakota State rifle team shot the first two stages of the corps area rifle match last week and have yet to complete the two final stages in what appears to be one of the most interesting of these postal matches during the season.

The first consists of shooting two targets of ten shots each, one from the prone position and one from the kneeling position. In the second stage each man shoots one target prone and one kneeling. The stages yet to be completed are composed of one target standing and one prone in the third stage, while in the final or fourth stage both targets are shot from the prone position.

In these corps area matches fifteen men are allowed to enter and the highest ten scores from each competing group are counted for the final score.

Brevities Bits

By BOB TAYLOR

First of all Baccus, a firm believer in the value of pictures, wishes to thank the staff for the unexpected publicity received in that most famous of all Spectrums. A finer looking bunch of pictures couldn't be found outside of a rogue's gallery.

All kidding aside, the brevities for this year show all the earmarks of a classy production. Not only is there an abundance of talent, but also an originality in the dance routines and songs uncommon to college shows. After hearing the music from the show, I'm satisfied that the original student work can be just as effective as anything turned out in the musical comedy line today. An example of this was the great popularity of the songs from the Princeton Triangle show.

To bring up some of the tunes from the brevities, there is "You're so Charming" written by Jim Baccus and Don Putnam. Contrary to the usual rule, this tune doesn't remind you of a half-dozen other tunes you have heard over the radio. It really has originality. The comedy song "Rhythm and Swing" was done completely by Don Putnam, and will be featured by him and Virginia Smith. Eddie Besselièvre wrote the music to the waltz "My Heart is Yours" with Baccus pounding out the lyrics. A second waltz number "I Want To Be A Movie Star" was furnished by Jim, also. Bob Hagen, the versatile ivory tickler had a hand or finger in the music to several of the tunes.

The theme tune, a catchy number entitled "Be Yourself" will star Jane Froman, pardon the error, I mean Chaney, assisted by the quartet, and will be repeated throughout the show. Maybe Jane's performance inspired the slip.

Several new ideas in dancing routine are being worked out by Beverly Snyder. A set balcony, the width of the stage, and stairs will be used by the dancers for part of their routine in the waltz "My Heart is Yours", sung by Ruth Piper. This should be the artistic climax of the evening. There will also be plenty of individual and duo dancing. Don Putnam and Fern O'Daniels are working out a comedy routine that should roll 'em in the aisles.

A big bouquet of orchids to Bill Walsh for the novelness and smoothness of his music arranging. He was in part responsible for the smooth-

NDSC Debaters Win High Ranking

The two NDSC debating teams entered in the Red River Valley tournament at Concordia college turned in one of the best records among the competing teams. Each team won five out of seven debates they engaged in.

Cathryn Ray and Freida Panimon included in their victories a win over the ultimate tourney winner, Luther college. Arwin Hoge and Neil McCabe comprised the second team. Vivian Luther coached both teams.

MATHEMATICS MAJORS GUESTS AT TEA

NDSC women students majoring in mathematics were honored by a tea Wednesday afternoon at which Miss Mathilda Thompson and Miss Ruby Grimes acted as hostesses.

Assisting were Misses Beatrice Rosatti and Mary Clemmens of Fargo, Eunice Arneson of Wynward, Canada, Lily Simonson of Agate, and Pauline Huntley of Kindred.

Miss Rosatti spoke on "The Relationship of Mathematics to Art." Prints of murals showing the history of mathematics and great mathematicians were shown.

Sam Dobervich, captain of the title holding Bison football team of 1935, won his opening fight in the first round with a clean knockout punch, but dropped his second match to Gainer of the University of North Dakota. Dobervich received some of the finest press notices of any of the fighters participating, the Tribune proclaiming him as one of the most promising heavyweights entered. Delmar Skow, frosh lightweight prospect, came through his first two fights with a perfect record, but suffered a knockout in his third match. Dick Hamilton, running partner of Skow and also in the lightweight class, dropped his opening fight but was highly praised by the fans for his gameness.
