Gals Will Dance For Gus' Sake Thanksgiving

Roast Turkey to Be Given As Main Prize at Senior Staff Spinster Party

Thanksgiving night, Nov. 28th, will be the date set aside for the Spinsters' Skip, held in the Physical Education building from 8 to 11 p. m.

These dances have been sponsored each year by Senior Staff and have always proved to be very popular. This year there will be an added feature attraction: a turkey dressed and roasted, ready for carving, will be given to the person whose ticket is drawn during the intermission.

Invitations are issued by the girls. In former years, it has been customary for the girls to call for the boys and even pay for the refreshments, afterwards, but this year it will be optional.

Jimmie Baccus and his orchestra will furnish the music. Committees are: Chaperons, Mary Clemens—Tickets and posters, Ellen Blair; and publicity, Catheryn Ray. Tickets may be purchased at Dean Dinan's office for fifty cents.

NSDC SOIL INSTRUCTOR GETS WASHINGTON POST

Kenneth Ableiter, instructor in soils at the North Dakota Agricultural College, has been named senior soil technologist in the Division of Soil Survey, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, Washington, D. C. Dr. C. E. Kellogg, chief of the Division of Soil Survey at Washington, was formerly in charge of soils work at the college. Ableiter has taught soils and directed soil survey work in North Dakota for the experiment station for several years.

Ableiter will head up land classification, a new project to determine the best uses for the land, at a salary of $4,600 per year.

Faculty Volleyball Is Well Underway

Faculty volleyball, under the management of C. E. Kaslow, is well under way. Six teams of six men each compete each week, two teams playing every evening at 5 p. m. on the stage of the physical education building, and each team engaging in two games a week.

At the end of every five or six weeks a general reorganization of personnel is effected throughout the league and competition is renewed. Occasional outside games with the city YMCA are arranged for during the season, which begins in mid-October and extends to the first of April. Considerable interest has been shown in the playing by all members who are actively engaged in it.

Besides C. E. Kaslow, there are two other officers: secretary, V. W. Kebker, of the social science department; and the committee on schedules, consisting of Albert Severson, assistant professor in animal husbandry, and Dr. H. H. Flor, associate pathologist.

Co-eds are auctioned off with lunch boxes at the annual women students' carnival-picnic at the University of Oregon.

VICTORY BALL WILL HONOR CONFERENCE TITLE WINNERS

In honor of the thundering Bison eleven, winners of the conference title, the Alumni association is sponsoring a Victory Ball which will be held in the Field House Sat., Dec. 7, from 9 to 12 p. m.

This dance will be open to all students and alumni and will be managed by G. M. Cook, president of the Alumni association. Leonard Dahl and his orchestra will furnish the music and favors will be distributed.

Lecturer Maintain Indians Peaceful

An illustrated lecture concerning the life of the natives in Ecuador and Colombia, South America, was presented by George Albert Felch, traveler, prospector, and lecturer, in convocation November 26.

Contrary to general opinion, Felch presented many facts to prove the natives of these equatorial countries were peaceful. The use of poisoned arrows is limited to hunting small prey by most of the tribes, but a few take the skulls of their victims in battle.

Illiteracy of more than 90% of the people accounts for the fact that "too often they elect their presidents with bullets instead of ballots" as Felch expressed it. Customs and illiteracy are the factors which are retarding progress, and according to Felch it will take many years to overcome their dominance.

NSDC Freshman Wins National Recognition

Arley Hovland, New England, freshman in the school of agriculture at North Dakota State college, was awarded the degree of American Farmer at the recent national convention of the Future Farmers of America held in Kansas City. This degree is the highest honor bestowed by the organization on its members and is in recognition of scholarship, outstanding supervised practice program.

Active in Future Farmer work for investigation in agriculture, and in the past four years, Hovland has twice been state champion Future Farmer public speaker, and served as state president of the organization last year.

Committees Are Named For First Formal Ball of Winter Season

250 Couples Attend Engineers' Ball

Two hundred and fifty couples danced to the music of Joe Billo and his Chicago orchestra at the twenty-fifth annual Engineers' Ball last Friday evening in the Physical Education building.

Ray Cruden and Elise Brophy led the grand march. Vic Nordlund and Genevieve Lind were second in line.

Decorations consisted of pieces of engineering apparatus and commercial models placed about the floor. Lighting decorations consisted of a pyramid translucent center piece, upon which were placed silhouettes of engineers in action.

Farm Clubbers Will Convene On Dec. 10 For Yearly Institute

More than 400 leading farm boys and girls are expected at the annual NDSC 4-H club institute which begins here on December 10, according to H. E. Rilling.

Inasmuch as 4-H club membership in the state has increased more than 40 percent in the last year and now totals more than 8,500, the 400 or so chosen to attend the institute are among the most active in each county. Selection of institute delegates in each county, Rilling explained, is recognized as a distinct honor to the person selected, and to be so favored, the club member is required to have an outstanding record of club activity.

Annual awards are made by Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and Phi Upsilon Omicron home economics sorority to the outstanding boy in agricultural projects and the leading girl in home economics work.

Most of the meetings during the three day stay will be held in the Little Country Theater, Mary Jane Phelps of Minto, president of the state 4-H club, will preside.

"Be Yourself" Is Brevities' Title

"Be Yourself" has been chosen as the name of the 1936 Bison Brevities, according to James Baccus, who is writing and directing this year's show.

A description of the show reveals a story combining riotous comedy and dramatic suspense. Baccus has spent the last six months in composing the script and music for the production, with the thought of striking a happy medium between purely farce and true dramatic spirit.

In providing the music for the Brevities, available talent has been considered, and all possible opportunity will be given those who have tried the best positions for displaying their individual work.

BACCUS PLAYS AT CERES

Jimmie Baccus and members of his dance band are now playing at Ceres hall during noon-time.

Plans For New School of Religion Building Are Formulated At Banquet; Some Gifts Received

Engineers' Magazine Published Tuesday

The North Dakota State Engineer, bi-monthly published in the North Dakota State college engineering laboratories building, by the students of the division of engineering, was distributed Tuesday afternoon. This is three weeks earlier than it has ever been published previously.

The feature article is by Frank C. Foley, acting state geologist. Other articles by students in engineering on this campus have also been printed.

Robert Froling is the present editor and Harold Spitzer, business manager. R. M. Dolve, dean of engineering, is the faculty advisor. The magazine is a member of the Engineering College Magazine associated.

MAJOR ENNIS PROVES TO BE POPULAR TALKER ON ETHIOPIA

Major R. B. Ennis, assistant professor of military science and tactics, will talk at Casselton at a program to be conducted by the Fargo Kiwanis club on Nov. 30. His succeeding appearances will be at a reserve officers corps meeting Dec. 3, and before a Kiwanis club meeting Dec. 10 in Fargo.

The topics of his speeches will be Ethiopia and Italy (politics, race, religion, etc.), military preparedness. Previously he has addressed the college groups of the Episcopal and Methodist churches, the Lions club, Commons club, Rotarians, and the NDSC Engineers' club.

Two Classes Choose Casts For Plays

Plays have been selected, directors appointed, and casts chosen for the annual presentation of class plays which will be given this year on Tuesday evening, December 3 in the Little Country theater. The project is under the direction of the college speech department.

Herchel Hutsiniller, assisted by Constance Taylor, will direct the freshman play, "The Luck Piece", a one-act fantasy by Percival Wilde. The cast includes Jack Thompson, Betty Johnson, Herschel Hutsiniller, Maurice Tarplee, Albert Hinkel, and James Critchfield.

Sophomores will present "Cinderella Married" by Racheal Field, directed by Lorraine Weir. "The Chest of Pity" by George Middleton will be presented by the juniors under the direction of Wilfred Rommel. Gertrude Powers will direct the seniors in presenting "The Ace Is Trumped" by H. H. Stinson. As yet the casts have not been completely chosen.

Judges for the presentation of the plays will be picked from the community around the college. Judging will be on the interpretation of the play, the stage presence and acting ability shown by the actors.

Theta Chi's Donate Sum To Aid in Construction of New School of Religion

At a banquet held in Ceres Hall Walter L. Stockwell, president of the board of trustees of the Fargo School of Religious Education, announced the plan for the erection of a new building at the site of the present school opposite Ceres Hall. The plans for this building are under the supervision of Dr. Walter Lee Airheart.

The financing of this building program calls for the raising of $15,000. Some large gifts have already been pledged and others of substantial amounts will be forthcoming in due time, but a considerable portion must be secured in smaller amounts. In order to raise this sum, the people who attended the banquet were formed into a committee of one hundred. The job of this committee is to interest the people of Fargo and the students of the college in this project. One fraternity on the campus, Theta Chi, has already shown its interest by sending two of its members to the banquet and by donating a sizeable amount of money.

The present school consists of a small frame structure heated by a stove in one corner, ventilated by a small electric fan, and poorly lighted. The proposed building is to be an attractive one story brick building which will provide ample room for many years to come, and make possible the addition of another unit later without any suggestion of incompleteness now.

Dr. Airheart hopes to be able to start work on the new building next summer. He says, "We sincerely think and hope that we will be able to start construction by the first of next summer. If we find this to be impossible, however, we will keep right on working until our goal is reached."

The history of the school dates back to its establishment in 1921 by Wesley College. At the end of 1932 Wesley College was no longer able to finance the work and it was given over to the Fargo School of Religious Education. Since that date the entire support of the school has come from interested friends in Fargo.

DR. EDWARD TYNER JOINS NSDC AGRONOMY STAFF

Dr. Edward H. Tyner of Kearney, Nebraska took over his duties as professor of soils in the department of agronomy in the Division of Agriculture and research assistant in soils in the experiment station last week. Dr. Tyner has been engaged in land classification work with the Bureau of Chemistry and soils and was assigned to the Great Plains shelter belt project in Nebraska. In 1930 he was soil survey assistant in Crawford county, Wisconsin.

Dr. Tyner received his B. S. in agriculture from the University of Nebraska in 1930 and his Ph. D. in soils from the University of Wisconsin in 1934.

Flora Elliott was appointed chairman of the N. D. Livestock Assn. banquet held in connection with Farm and Home week.

BISON BRIEFS

By BOB TAYLOR

As I sat vigorously chewing the end of my pencil and thinking evil thoughts about the editor, it suddenly came to me that the time was ripe for another contest.

Imagine Kittie without a tongue,
Or Chuck without his Bolley;
Then you'll know the reason why
I instigate this folly.

Stretch your imagination, kiddies, and mail the imaginative nothings to the post-office, from where they will be promptly returned in five days. And may the best dope win.

I understand Jim Baccus and some of his lads are to do the musical honors in Mrs. Gilbert's sanctum from now on. The lyric loving Jim and his faithful and versatile ivory-tickler, Bob Hagen, promise Ceres cafeteria habitues they will sing or play any and all requests, regardless, so come on girls, see if they can do it.

How to live a short and merry life: Hail a passing street car and when it stops and lets down the step, put your foot on it and tie your shoe lace—write the Bison Briefs—admit that you believe in something, or that you don't believe in anything—thumb your nose at a taxi when you're crossing the street—become president of something—go hunting or riding with a woman—be a millionaire.

The brevities publicity campaign gets under way ahead of schedule with Don Putnam cavorting blithely and chalking up two show stops in as many nights on the State boards. Nice work by the New Rockford trio and Kappa Kappa Psi ensemble, too.

Weekend side-lights: Showman Joe Billo selling out in style at the boots-and-britches shin-dig—S A E Jones and Eleanor Oman winning the Y hobo costume fun-fest and Jones making a prize booby speech—Ellis and Edmunds, Redmond and Bjornson celebrating the anniversary of something with a hectic weekend—Henning finding his blonde at the Crystal Saturday night—Russ Anderson becoming hilarious and upsetting the Kappa Sig house by trying to shave off Kinsey Plummer's mustache.

I have always wondered why each instructor considered his classes superior to other classes. Therefore, a wandering reporter was sent to interview several of them and brought back these answers. I am sure all you kiddies will agree as to their soundness.

Reporter: "Dr. Airhard, you teach theology I believe. Perhaps you will tell me why you believe a student should take this course."

Dr. Airhard: Certainly, my good man. My class is a perfect place for relaxation and affords the student a place to catch up on his sleep. I have a well-modulated voice that doesn't irritate the nerves, and I believe that the chairs in my classes are more comfortable than those in many of the classes.

Reporter: You present a convincing argument, Dr. Airhard. And now for you, Mr. Holderhouse. You tell students about mathematics and the stars, if I am not mistaken.

Holderhouse: Yes, any students interested in moonlight walks should certainly take my course in astronomy—and as for mathematics, it teaches them how to figure up their income taxes and keeps them from being short-changed. Also, I don't object to students snoring in my classes if they have musical ability."

Reporter: Thanks a lot. Maybe I'll take the course. Let's see, Mr. Wings, you're a chemistry instructor. What have you to say for your classes?

Wings: Well, for one thing, I make a lot of funny cracks and keep the students in good humor. I try to keep from boring them by avoiding the subject as much as possible—and best of all, I am planning on furnishing the classrooms with lounges and overstuffed chairs to insure solid comfort.

Theater Reviews

They are supported by Herbert Marshall, Janet Beecher, and John Halliday. "Harmony Lane" will come to the Fargo Saturday and Sunday with a stage revue, "Rancho Grande Revue." "Dark Angel" will show Monday through Friday.

"I Was a Spy" will show Friday and Saturday at the Roxy theater. The cast is made up of Herbert Marshall, Conrad Veidt, and Madeleine Carroll. Starting Sunday and continuing for four days Ronald Colman and Loretta Young will play in "Clive of India." Jack Holt and Florence Rice are to appear in the "Awakening of Jim Burk," Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

Petty Thievery Draws Fire

The regularity with which students are being divested of wearing apparel and personal belongings is becoming irritating to the student body. The fact that the articles are not being returned to their original owners lends one to infer that the disappearances are not purely accidental. That college students do stoop to such levels that they will practice petty thievery is a sad plight and one which will eventually arouse general resentment, if it continues, on the part of the entire student body.

Witness the notice posted in all NDSC buildings yesterday by college authorities saying, "Several overcoats have been taken from the college buildings recently, by mistake or otherwise. All students are requested to give special attention to the safety of overcoats and other wearing apparel left in the halls of the buildings at any time." The notice is mildly enough stated, but the authorities have promised drastic punishment to individuals found guilty of the stealing.

If there are kleptomaniacs on the campus, we favor their immediate apprehension and prosecution. The general run of the student body respects the rights of every individual and desires a college community in which their property will be safe without constant picketing to discover wrong-doing. The practice will be stopped regardless of any steps which must be taken by the authorities.

Regulations Still Too Strict

We are informed that regulations for residents of Ceres Hall have recently been changed. However, as we look at it, the changes that have been made are not lenient enough for college students. We recommend further extension of hours.

Student Opinion

I would like to state my opinion upon the question brought up in an editorial in the last Spectrum. You will find that most of the Ceres girls agree with this.

Later hours would be heartily welcomed. The present hours are made so as to reserve time for study. It is perfectly obvious that we do no studying after the hours upon week-end nights. We can do just as much before the deadline as we can after it. Why, then, have these hours on week-end nights.

As far as week nights go, we certainly can not study as receptively when we are forced to stay in our rooms as when we study of our own free will. We can not even listen to the radio in the lounge after nine. We are no longer babies. Why must we be treated as such? We realize our responsibilities.

Several of the girls have suggested that we have no hours, but ask for time as we desire it.

I certainly support your point of view and sincerely hope some change will be made.
DELILAH SAILOR.

The Social Climber...

Meow, you all. Come on out of your back yards and get the dirt up our alley. Purr over: the near misprint of last week's cat c'lumb—"leg-rolling" for "log-rolling"; the cuteness of Dotty Hawkinson and Johnny Joenke at the Engineers; Pretty Boy Swanson's expecting girls to hold out until Friday for his bid to the Engineers—so he didn't go; the three day and out-ness of the Johnson-LaMarre affair; Heart-palpator Bett-schen's going home for Thanksgiving; Tom Donovan's wish that the sidewalks were built over the hot-water pipe lines "so we could keep our feet warm"; the geography teacher's interest in the library; the good fortune of Higg's being so good-looking that he can call her at 7 and walk her besides—and to the Engineers; the prize-winning (only there wasn't any) hoboing of Dayton Jones and Eleanor Oman at the YM masquerade; Mary Horner's getting by with sending her sister to classes in her stead, the awful time had at the Engineers by two Sig Chi pledges' part-time girl friends 'cause it wasn't their turn; Mike Dober-vich's predicament when he was asked to "a party" by "a girl", Miss Duffy warning Robert Pryor to keep off the streets after 9 since the drive against child vagrants has begun; the two ATO's who think they are too young to go steady and want some fun first; the reason Mickey is mad at Wendy; promise of Iverson and Smith to wear their brothers' pants and borrowed football sweaters to the Skip if Stewart and Bernard'll wear dresses (ask for 58's fellas); the hint of rumors connected with the football trip—but enough of this, a cat's only got nine lives.

Six Bison On Spectrum All-Star Team

Four Teams Are Given Positions

Now that practically every one else has chosen their all-conference team we're going to display our unlimited amount of knowledge concerning the North Central conference gridders and choose an aggregation that will undoubtedly be the greatest in the history of the school.

Because of the facts that we have obtained from newspaper stories, we don't feel that we are in any position to pick more than one team as the only players that we have an opportunity to hear about are the headliners and there are not enough of these to warrant choosing a second team.

Westgate

With the Bison undoubtedly the strongest outfit in the loop, we feel that the lion's share of the honors should rightfully go to them. In some cases, namely in that of Schranz, about the only real reason he isn't named is because the Bison backfield is so well balanced that practically every man in it is a star and to choose three backs from one team out of five would give a greater indication of strength than the Herd really has. All these men will be chosen from the original North Central conference because there has not been any opportunity to get the real lowdown on the new members.

- Ends—Falgren, NDU and Westgate, NDS.
- Tackles—Dobervich, NDS and Chumich, NDU.
- Guards—Bettschen, NDS and Dow, SDU.
- Center—Maynard, NDS.
- Quarterback—Reiners, NDS.
- Halfbacks—Miller, SDS and Charbonneau, NDU.
- Fullback—Erickson, NDS.

The only team that isn't represented on this aggregation is Morning-side and with the comparatively weak eleven they presented this season it is impossible to choose their men over gridders from a much stronger team where they have had an opportunity to show to much better advantage.

In our opinion, there are only about three places where there should be very much of a dispute over the choices. Millar, regular Bison guard, is one of the finest in the loop, but Bettschen with the added weight and size he has overshadows him, while Dow is a regular powerhouse on defense besides being a dynamic blocker. Schranz has proved himself not only one of the finest running backs in the conference but also stands out in the passing department. Miller is without doubt the best running back in the loop while Charbonneau is the backbone of the strong university

Herd Finishes Campaign With 14-0 Victory

The Bison wound up their 1935 grid campaign with a 14 to 0 victory over the Wheat Shockers of the University of Wichita last Friday.

Led by Bombing Bob Erickson, who played what coach Casey Finnegan characterized as the best game of his career, the Herd scored in each of the first two periods with an attack to which unusually good balance was lent by a team which produced no exceptional outstanding individual.

The strong Bison line yielded only 131 yards from scrimmage, forcing the Shockers to resort to an aerial attack in futile attempts to score. So harassed by the Bison defense were the Wichita passers that they were unable to connect even once in 17 attempts.

The Bison ball toters tore through the Shocker line for a total of 226 yards, scoring their touchdowns on drives through the center of the line from 18 and 19 yards, respectively. The Bison registered 13 first downs to 7 for the Shockers. In punting the Bison were far superior to the Shockers. Emil May averaging 39 yards, while Brill of Wichita averaged only 24.

The Bison scored the first counter near the close of the first period, it came as a result of an intercepted pass by Emil May who was downed on the Shockers 18 yard line, from where Erickson crashed over on the attack and packs terrific drive and speed coupled with his undenied passing ability. At the pivot post, Maynard was given the call on the recommendation of those who have actually followed the games and have seen him in action throughout the year, while we are limited to the occasions when he has appeared on his home field. He is an accurate passer and is a tower of strength on pass defense and a constant threat to punt returners, being down on the safety man practically as soon as the ends. One other man who deserves a lot of credit and is really all-conference calibre is Beryl Newman, who can step into the shoes of any man in the forward wall at any time with the exception of the center, and do as good a job, if not better than they can. When he did get in a game he earned for himself the name of being one of the toughest men on the field and it was just the breaks of the game that have kept him from being one of the leading players in the loop.

ADLIBOGRAMS

By MARJORIE LALIBERTE

Not to be outdone by the editor's editorial of last week advocating more lenient hours for residents of Ceres hall, the inquiring reporter, author of this column of Adlibograms, did some searching of her own to find out the consensus of opinion among the students on the question: "Do you favor more lenient hours for residents of Ceres hall?"

Grace Grutle is responsible for the statement: "Well, we sure need them."

One dissenting answer was obtained from Bob Nichols, who was not in favor because "if your date happens to be a crumbly one, it's more than o.k. and if she's good you'll appreciate her all the more for it doesn't give you time to get tired of her so you'll date her again."

Walter Dunkelberger, now married and thus an authority, maintained: "Give the girls a chance to keep up with the Joneses."

Jubilant was the reply of Shirley McCain: "Oh, oh, the later the better!"

Brief was Cliff Maloney's answer: "Great idea!"

Helen Bonde advocated equality for all and turned out to be a champion of the Ceres hall girls by saying: "It's unfair competition. Girls not in the dorm have the edge."

next play. The second counter was also started by May. He took a punt to the Shockers 30 yard line where on the next two plays he gained 12 and 9 yards, respectively. Erling Schranz went the remaining 9 yards on the next play to end the scoring for the day. The Herd made another scoring gesture early in the third period when Sam Westgate recovered a fumbled punt on the Wichita 22. A short pass and a line play placed the ball on the 8 yard line, but on the next two plays May was smeared for 8 and 9 yard losses, he then fumbled when attempting to pass and the Shockers kicked the ball out of danger.

The Shockers had two chances to score. One in the first period when a pass was dropped on the goal line and again in the third period when the Shockers recovered a fumbled punt on the Bison 16.

The fourth period was see-saw battle in mid-field, both teams waiting for breaks. The game ended with Wichita in possession of the ball on their own 46 yard line.
