Varied Program To Be Offered By Lyceum

Theme Chosen; Homecoming Plans Complete

Football Game Scheduled For Saturday Night; Frosh Will Play in Afternoon

By KENT HELLAND

Among the important changes scheduled for this year's Homecoming, to be held October 11 and 12, is the time change of the football game between NDSC and South Dakota State, which will be played Saturday night instead of in the afternoon, as has been customary. Saturday afternoon will be taken up with the Bison-UND frosh game.

The main feature between halves of Saturday night's game will be the crowning of Jane Bristol as homecoming queen. The float which carries out the theme to the best satisfaction of the judges will be displayed at this time and Miss Cecilie Henry, winner of the theme contest, will be presented with her award from the student commission.

Committee in charge of events include: Walter McGrath, president of the student commission, who is in general charge; Jane Bristol, social events; Katherine Kilbourne, downtown window displays; Robert Hagen, decorations; Vern Johnson, trophies; Verne Kesson, floats; Beverly Hill, rallies and convocations; and Frieda Panimon, publicity.

Friday morning, the events will start with a pep rally, beginning at 10:00. If weather permits, the rally will be held outdoors, otherwise in Festival hall.

The homecoming dance will be held Friday night in the field house with Jimmy Baccus and his new campus orchestra playing.

Saturday morning, festivities begin at 10:00 with a parade of the ROTC unit and the Gold Star band, followed by floats representing fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations. The parade will proceed downtown along Broadway, and will return to the school via Thirteenth street.

At 3:00, the annual freshman homecoming game will be played between the Bison and the University of North Dakota freshmen.

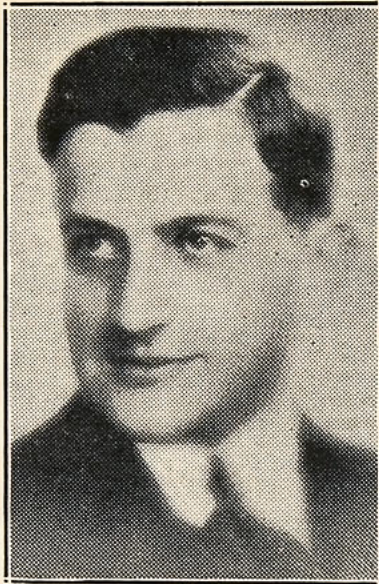

To climax the homecoming events, the Bison-South Dakota State game will begin at 8:00.

MILITARY STUDENTS' WOES BEGIN THIS MORNING

Early morning drill, starting at 7:30 and lasting through the regular period was held this morning and will be held next Friday, the 11th. This is being done in order to get the cadet corps in shape for the Homecoming parade. Much practice is needed, especially for the freshmen, very few of whom have ever had any sort of mass formation. To compensate for these two mornings of early drill no general assembly will be held October 18.

This year's corps numbers 632 men, organized into four companies of three platoons each.

Prof. Dennery of Paris, who will address the students at convocation next Thursday.

Prof. Dennery Talks Thursday

Professor Etienne Dennery of Paris will speak at convocation Thursday, October 10 at 9:40 in Festival Hall.

Professor Dennery is a graduate of the Ecole Normale Supérieure of Paris and received the University Agregation in 1926, which is the same as the Ph.D. degree in the United States. The University of Paris awarded Prof. Dennery a Kahn Traveling Fellowship known as "Autour du Monde" and he has therefore had wide opportunity to study and observe in all parts of the world.

Prof. Dennery was the economic expert of the Lytten Commission sent out by the League of Nations in 1932 to study the situation in Manchuria. He is a professor at the Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques and at the Institute des Hautes Etudes Internationales of Paris. He is particularly interested in international economics. This is the third trip of Professor Dennery to this country. He speaks English with fluency and distinctness.

French Public Opinion, Democracy, and Fascism will be Prof. Dennery's subjects. He will speak to Dr. Hunter's history class 224 at eleven o'clock in an informal discussion, in room 319. Thursday evening Prof. Dennery will speak in Little Country Theatre on the subject of France's Foreign Policy in Europe, sponsored by all the groups of Moorhead and Fargo interested in this subject.

DRAMATIC CLUB TRYOUTS IN THEATER OCT. 7

Tryouts for the Edwin Booth dramatic club for fall term plays will be held in the Little Country theater Monday, Oct. 7, from 11:00 to 12:00 a. m., and from 1:30 to 6:00 p. m., according to an announcement made by Alice Bender of the Little Country theater staff.

The officers of the Edwin Booth club urge all students interested in dramatics to try out.

Associate Editors Approved By Board

To complete the Spectrum editorial staff, the board of publications Wednesday approved the appointments by the editor-in-chief of Walt McGrath and Robert Williams as sports editor and associate editor, respectively. The other associate editor is Orville Goplen, whose selection was confirmed by the board last spring.

McGrath, a senior in architecture, fills the post held by Maine Shafer, who resigned to take a business position downtown. During the editorship of Gale Monson and Maxine Rustad, McGrath served as sports editor of the Spectrum. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, Gamma Tau Sigma, Blue Key and is president of the student commission.

Williams, a junior in agriculture, was desk editor of the Spectrum last year. He is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, Gamma Tau Sigma, and the Saddle and Siroloin club.

Goplen, the holdover appointee from last year, is a junior in education. He was associate editor of the Spectrum last year and desk editor during his freshman year. His other campus activities are president of the YMCA and vice president of the Cosmopolitan club.

Applications Due Nov. 2 For Awards

Applications for Rhodes Scholarships must be in the hands of the state committee not later than November 2. Dean Minard is the institutional representative in this college and it is from him that information may be obtained.

State committees will meet December 12 or 14 and district committees December 16. In order to choose candidates the country is divided into eight districts of six states each. Each state committee can nominate two men to appear before the district committee. From these twelve hopefuls the district committee selects four men to represent their states at Oxford.

For eligibility a student must be between 19 and 25 years of age and have completed his sophomore year at college. Qualities which influence the selections are literary and scholastic ability, qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy, kindness, unselfishness, and fellowship.

A scholarship is worth 400 pounds sterling or about $2,000, and the scholarship is given for two years, although a third year may be awarded to a student with an outstanding record.

Five Outstanding Numbers To Celebrate Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Lyceum

By JACK SPALDING

This year will mark the 25th anniversary of the lyceum course at North Dakota State college and as is befitting such an event a lyceum course has been arranged for the silver jubilee season of 1935-36 which will surpass even those lyceums of past years which brought to this campus such attractions as John Drinkwater, Fritz Kreisler, Isaac F. Marcossou, the Ballet Russe, Carl Sandburg, and Knute Rockne.

A. G. Arvold, in charge of the lyceum course, has spared neither time nor effort to secure for the coming season a lyceum course which will appeal to every age and intellect. Music lovers will be afforded a rare opportunity to hear one of the leading symphonic ensembles of the country on October 30 when the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy, conductor, will stage a concert in Festival hall. This orchestra is affiliated with the University of Minnesota and is supported by nearly a half million Minneapolis residents. Eastern and southern newspapers were most extravagant in their praise of Ormandy and his orchestra when it toured the country in 1934.

On Nov. 6, Iceland's most distinguished statesman and orator, Asgeir Asgeirsson, will lecture in Festival hall. In 1930 Mr. Asgeirsson was president of the Icelandic Parliament, the oldest parliament in the world. Since then he has served as Minister of Finance, Minister of Education, and Premier of Iceland. He has been decorated with the Order of a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France and with the Order of the Crown of Italy. As Iceland's most distinguished representative, Mr. Asgeirsson will be one of the most important visitors to America during the 1935-36 lecture season.

If the serious side of this world becomes too much for you at times, you will find respite in the "Laughologues" of Bruce Bairnsfather, in-

CLASS ELECTIONS BILLED FOR MID-OCTOBER

Campus elections will be held during the first week after Homecoming to fill the positions of election commissioner on the student commission, two positions on the board of publications, and class officers. The ballot will pick successors for William Oftebro on the student commission; Muriel Nelson, sophomore on the board of publications; and Constance Heilman, senior on the board of publications.

Each class votes for its own officers, and the board of publications member. Class officers are president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

Homecoming Theme Honors Doc Putnam

Selected from over 125 contestants, Cecilie Henry won the Homecoming theme contest sponsored by the student commission, her suggestion being "Gold Star Homecoming."

In giving the reason for her choice, Miss Henry states, "In my opinion, Homecoming should be directly connected with some outstanding event or person. Events have been used year after year until they have become hackneyed and the public has lost interest. Consequently, I have in mind the name of a man whom every student knows and loves. Without him college life would be dull. In him seems to be centered the pep and spirit of the whole college. To 'Doc' Putnam I think everyone would be more than glad to pay homage"

Dr. C. S. Putnam has been director of the Gold Star band since graduates could be numbered in one handful and has carried on faithfully and cheerfully since.

"Yes, We Can Grow Fruit In North Dakota," Say Yeager, Lundeen

"Thipin' thider thru a thraw"—there were no straws and "thipin'" isn't quite the word to describe the gorging of cider and pretzels indulged in during the past two days at the first NDSC horticulture show, directed by A. F. Yeager, head of the horticulture department, who is assisted by Victor Lundeen, extension horticulturist, and Donald Scott, student in Ag.

In spite of the excellence of fruit and vegetable displays there was a noticeable congestion in the area of the cider barrel. The depression not being over yet, the cider-fest was the excuse for more than one date. Those attending seemed to be rendered illiterate despite the youth of the only available and popular beverage. At any rate the multiplicity of signs which spelled out "Hands Off" did not prevent the shrinkage of apple piles. Among the overheard was "Sure, gimme the worm" and "Aw, gowan, the worm turned."

Victor Lundeen, upon interview, remarked, 'dolgo, osterkoff anoka, hyslop datt waukow okobena goldo ivan and martha,' that is all he had to say. I presume he was talking about the apples grown on the plots—at least his head was turned in that general direction. "The purpose of the exhibit is to show people what to say when people say that you can't raise fruit in North Dakota."

Miss Berrigan, assistant in home economic research, had an exhibit on the various delicacies with the use of buttercup squash, canned fruits and preserves as ingredients.

The show will continue through today but the cider is slowly leaking away into that mass of humanity that has attended so far.

Congrats to the new pledges of sororities and fraternities! May they forever be sisters in the bond. The Gamma Phi's ha! ha! the rest of the sororities, while the ATO'S with their quantity are having to divide the pledge class into two groups in order to get them all together for one meeting. People come and people go, but contrary to "nothing ever happens", things will happen in this Grand Hotel. Handshaking seems to be further in order, for even though this was the time for pinning on pledge pins, Thompson hung an active pin Sunday night on Kappa Cooper. According to Frannie, it was the opportune time for both pledging and "action". Our gallant man didn't waste any time in sending the customary box of candy to the Kappas, but two other guys had the same idea, so new Kappa actives had sweets Monday night. . . . Ann Bolley and Ellen Tillotson brought forth boxes from Chuck Brady and Sigma Chi Nichols. (There's nothin' like being exclusive) . . . Tra-la-lala! hey! hey! BOOM! and another redskin bit the dust . . . er, pawdon, that leader among men, "student commish McGrath" just walked into the room. The unsoundable fanfare may be heard if you just happen around when Walt enters the room . . . the Sigs all "Stand up and Cheer" for their "prexy". Kattie Ray put a poor innocent (we hope), freshman girl up to it and "I'm not so conceited that I think I could ever hate a date with him", says Virginia, a new POP pledge . . . How are the stockings wearing, fellas, after all the rushings? If they need darning, bring them to Dave's "itsy bitsy" Helen and she'll be glad to fix'em up for you. Or if you get hungry, wander into the study hall of Science and your hunger will be appeased, for Helen has converted the place into a sewing and tea room combined, and she never turns anyone away . . . Our last warning is to be ware of ATO Jahnke. He's a second Sherlock Holmes with his little camera . . . just because a couple of Theta Chi's were on the campus Sunday when they shouldn't have been . . . on account of rushing . . . Walt rushes home and gets his camera to take their pictures to prove that they were there—just in case something came up . . . Here comes McGrath so this yare column will have to go begging . . . gotta rise when that leader among men comes in, so goodbye.

Alpha Gamma Rho—Leo Toussaint '30, of Fargo, and William Toussaint '26, of Lisbon, visited the house Monday night . . . Prior to initiation, six fellows are going through "hell week."

Phi Omega Pi—Maxine Rustad, former editor of the Spectrum, now teaching at Alexandria, Minn., spent the week-end at the home of Hermoine Hanson and the chapter house . . . Veronta Weppeler of Bismarck was a visitor at the house over the week-end . . . The sorority will honor Miss Louise Munshaw, the new house-mother, with a formal reception Sunday, Oct. 6, from 5 to 7 o'clock at the house. Mrs. H. S. Thorgrimson, chairman of the social committee, has Mrs. H. I. Kiland, Mrs. H. J. Grothe, Mrs. Carl Lowen, and Mrs. Chester Comeau helping her with the arrangements. Mrs. Elsie Sorlien, president of the alumnae, and Miss Munshaw will be in the receiving line. Miss Marion Addison, Mrs. C. A. Williams, and Mrs. Oscar Jordheim will serve. Musical numbers will be given during the time of the reception. Invitations have been sent to the faculty, fraternities, sororities, and the Mothers' clubs.

Kappa Delta—To honor Ruth Moore '35, who will visit her sister in Monmouth, Ill., the remainder of the winter, a surprise party was given at the home of Dorothy Thompson Tuesday evening. Pauline Reynolds, chapter alumnae, was in charge of the entertainment.

INTER-CLASS DEBATERS TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Students interested in inter-class debates meet Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Seminar room of Old Main. Debates will be held to determine the representatives of each class. During the week of October 28 the finale are to be held. Names of the winners will be engraved on the Lincoln debate club trophy. All debaters will be eligible for community and inter-collegiate debates during the year.

Those unable to attend the meeting Tuesday are asked to leave names at the Little Country Theater.

Afternoon Dance Draws Large Crowd

The first "cadet hop" of the season was held yesterday at Festival hall under the auspices of the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary fraternity for advanced military students.

Leonard Dahl's orchestra furnished the music for the informal dancing from four to six p. m.

Four facts may prove of interest to many students; namely, no uniforms are required; every student on the campus is invited; the admission is 25 cents for men and 10 cents for women; and the custom is to come without a "date". Incidentally, also, the name, "cadet hop", merely reverts to the organization sponsoring the dances and implies no restriction.

The committee in charge: Walt McGrath, Paul Boleyn, and Art Christianson, express the hope of seeing everyone out for following "hops"; for continued attendance is necessary for their success.

ATELIER CHAT NOIR NAME RUSTAD SECRETARY

Atelier Chat Noir, NDSC architects' club, met Tuesday to discuss plans for a Homecoming float. In addition, they elected Arnold Rustad secretary-treasurer for the group.

By WALT McGRATH

Now that the Bison-Maroon game has rolled around again we'd like to give a word of warning to the football officials in this vicinity. Last year the encounter was dulled by the death of the referee who passed out cold in the third period, never recovering consciousness, and finally died several hours later. Examination of the body showed that the cause of death was heart failure.

Whether or not the heart failure was caused by excitement has never been determined, but when a man dies of heart failure after seeing two football elevens pushing each other all over the gridiron, a return match should be worth the price of admission.

Minnesota's vaunted powerhouse couldn't get up quite enough pressure to force their way through the forward wall the Bison presented down at the Twin Cities last week. Contrary to the expectation that the Gophers would be able to gain almost at will through their running plays they finally had to take to the aerial route to pile up anywhere near the score the rabid fans had demanded.

If it hadn't been for the classy passing of George Roscoe and the uncanny ability of a colored sophomore end, the final advantage of the mammoth Minneapolis eleven would not have been over seven points.

In the past few years it has constantly been our complaint that the weakest portion of the Bison football teams has been their inability to summon up anywhere near a strong pass defense. Time and again the only margin of victory has been the aerial heaves that the opposing team has hurled and the laxness on the part of the Bison defenders that has enabled the heaves to be completed.

"The best man on the field" was the way sports writers spoke of Reiners last Saturday. Some commendation with the best in the Big Ten out there, too!

A new Doctor of Philosophy degree in the "History of Science and Learning" has been created by Harvard university, Cambridge, Mass.

Bison Open Conference Game Tonight

Morningside Tests Aggies In Loop Tilt

Opening the conference schedule for 1935, the hard-driving squad of Bison will clash with the Maroons from Morningside at Dacotah field tonight at 8 p.m. Both teams are in fine condition and a stiff battle is predicted.

Casey Finnegan plans on basing his hopes for victory on the same men, with one exception, that he has used in the past two games. The one exception is Emil May, snakehipped halfback who has been giving the fans a thrill by his exceptional ball carrying. May injured his shoulder in the Minnesota fracas and will not be able to take his starting position in the lineup. Replacing him will be Bill Olson, hard driving halfback who has shown up well in practice and also made quite a hit down in Minneapolis.

The rest of the team sounds about like this unless some last minute changes are made: Westgate, Sturgeon, Betts, Maynard, Millar, Dobervich, and Sloan in the forward wall. The backs will consist of Neville Reiners, signal caller, Bill Olson and Erling Schranz at the halves, with Bombing Bob Erickson holding down the fullback assignment with his usual dash and abandon.

The Maroons have long been considered the weak sisters in the original North Central Conference, but this season, after the better showing they made the past year, hopes are running high that the boys from Sioux City, Iowa, will be able to hit the top spot in the loop scramble. Last year's tilt between the Bison and the Maroons ended in a 12-12 deadlock, and as a result the Herd mentors are taking no chances of being caught unprepared for the avalanche that Morningside is sure to launch. While Finnegan and Lowe make no predictions as to the outcome, their general attitude is that the present bearers of the Yellow and Green standard should not have too much trouble in making up for the tie inflicted upon them last year.

Possibility That Boxing Be Resumed

Boxing may again become a minor sport, according to the latest reports from Casey Finnegan, athletic director.

The rejuvenation of this phase of sport will undoubtedly cause lots of interest among college he-men, who emulate Dempsey, Louis, etc. Not since '32 has there been any boxing bouts held, but in that year financial difficulties forced them to be discontinued regardless of the fact that they were popular with the students. As yet an instructor has not been chosen, but if plans work out, his name will be announced within a short time.

Intra-mural basketball will again be in vogue this season and should prove as popular as it was last year.

Bierman Team Uses Power To Down Herd 26-6

With the praises of the fans and sports writers still ringing in their ears, the Bison returned from Minnesota Sunday after giving last year's national champions the greatest surprise they have had in many a moon. An inspired North Dakota team held the Gopher juggernaut to a bare 7 to 6 lead for three quarters only to succumb to a last period aerial attack and go down with the count 26-6, in the Minneapolis stadium last Saturday.

During the entire first three periods the Bison presented an aggregation that asked no quarter from the powerhouse Minnesota mustered and it was only in the final fifteen minutes of play that manpower began to take its toll and the Bierman eleven was able to count three times, twice by the overhead route. Fans from the surrounding territory were unanimous in their opinion that Finnegan and Lowe paraded one of the scrappiest, hard playing outfits they have seen in years.

Neville Reiners caught the fancy of the crowd with his vicious tackling and his adroit handling of signal calling detail. Number 35 brought the crowd to its feet time and again and in particular when he pulled a quarter back sneak that caught the Gopher forwards flat-footed and he nearly eluded the se-

ITALO-ETHIOPIAN CRISIS FORUM LED BY SEVRINSON

An open forum discussion on the Italo-Ethiopian situation led by C. A. Sevrinson of the NDSC history comprised the program at the weekly meeting of the Cosmopolitan club, local independent organization, held Monday.

Sevrinson, in his opening talk, maintained that Ethiopia should be given opportunity to develop its civilization in its own African way. He condemned Mussolini's policy of forcing war as a barrier to this end. Robert Hagen, president of the Cosmopolitan club, was chairman of the meeting.

Secondary also. Sleepy Sam Westgate snapped out of his lethargy long enough to turn in a fine demonstration of how an end should handle interference and bring down the ball-carrier at the same time. Bombing Bob Erickson lived up to his name when he blasted the Minnesota line for substantial gains.

The Bison tackle duo composed of Captain Sam Dobervich, Lyle Sturgeon maintained the high standard of play they have set in NCC combats with Sturgeon doing a fine job of handling the punting duties.

The weakest portion of the Aggie defense was their inability to stop any aerial attack. With three heaves in the final quarter the Gopher eleven counted two touchdowns which apparently was the only method by which they could counter as the Bison forward wall still kept their running attack bottled up.

Graduates Receive Government Jobs

Clarence F. Kelly of Lawton, N. D., a graduate from the North Dakota State college in 1931 with a master of science degree in agricultural engineering from the same institution in 1933, has accepted a position as junior engineer in the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering, U. S. A. He reported to Washington, D. C., Oct. 1. Altho not certain where he will be located it is possible Wisconsin might be his territory. He will do research work on farm buildings.

Recently connected with the Burlington, N. D. rehabilitation project, Kelly acted as manager of the undertaking. He has had two years experience as soil erosion engineer in Illinois. While at the NDSC, Kelly studied agricultural engineering under Prof. H. F. McColly.

Clifford Orvedal of Tunbridge, graduate in agriculture at the North Dakota State college in 1934, has been named a junior soil surveyor in the division of soil survey of the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils of the United States Department of Agriculture, according to word just received by Dr. H. L. Walster, dean and director of agriculture at the NDSC.

Practical experience gained by Orvedal since his graduation from the NDSC, where he majored in soils, including several months with the Mississippi agricultural experiment station soil survey staff and two seasons on the soil survey and land classification of Morton County, North Dakota. Since last spring he has been stationed at Iuka, Miss., about 25 miles from the Pickwick dam which is being built by the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Orvedal's position with the U. S. D. A. will include mainly soil survey and land classification work.

Another student, Arlee C. Hanson of Garrison, graduate in agriculture at North Dakota State in 1934, has been appointed technical foreman in agriculture with the Soil Conservation Service at Carrolton, Ill., according to word just received by Dr. H. L. Walster.

While attending the NDSC, Hanson majored in agricultural engineering under Prof. H. F. McColly.

Miss Audrey Houglum, former student at the college from 1930-1932, as drum major of the American Legion band, parade with the band at the game on Saturday. The band was on its way back from St. Louis, where it again won honors.

Miss Margaret Fleming '33, head of the women's physical education department at Bethany college, Bethany, W. Va., visited her parents over the week-end on her way to Minot, where she has accepted a similar position at the Minot State Teachers college.

PUTNAM'S BAND PLAYS AT SCHOOLWIDE PEPFEST

The entire Gold Star band made its first appearance this morning at the opening pep rally of the year. Casey Finnegan, Bison coach, explained new rules which open up the game and make way for more passing.

Although new cheer leaders were tried out during the rally, Doc Putnam has more openings and asks those interested in trying out for cheer leading to see him in the near future.

His present work with the United States Department of Agriculture is to supervise soil conservation being carried on in the territory about Carrolton.

Floor Proves Hard Place To Sit On

Be ye hereby forewarned, all ye presumptuous youths and maids given to sloth and avoidance of physical stress, of a direful course of instruction included in the English curriculum!

And now, let's change the style. That other is too tough. We'll go into the subject exhaustively, because it is exhaustive in itself, and we'll probably exhaust you anyway in the telling.

In the first place, the class room was made for smaller classes, and yet it is no hole in the wall. So, there are not enough substantial seats. (Woe! Woe!) Naturally, the chivalrous sex makes way and resigns itself to standing. Muscles soon tire. A shift into leaning power is next. Muscles soon tire, also. A slump precipitates the standing army to the cushioned floor. (What? no cushions!) New muscles soon tire, again also. Oh, well! Class is almost over; the roll is just about finished! The bell; huzzah! Aching bones creak out cheerfully, but tired minds cannot visualize the same experience to come again two days later.
