NBC Orchestra Signed To Play At Senior Prom

Many Innovations Promised For Last Formal Ball Of School Year

Last night Chet Perry, manager of the 1935 Senior Prom scheduled for the Field house May 17, from 9 to 12:30, pushed aside the veil of secrecy which has surrounded the Senior Prom and announced that his partner will be Thelma Liessman, senior in science and literature. An NBC 12-piece band, Paul Davis and his orchestra, will furnish the music and, unlike previous bands for the various proms, will feature a male soloist.

Second couple in line will be William Murphy, assistant ball manager, with his partner Cathryn Ray. Verne Kasson, in charge of ticket sales, with Vivian Telin will be the third couple in line, while the senior class president, Lawrence Bue, with Deloris Cook as his partner will be the fourth couple in the grand march.

An extensive indirect lighting system has been planned by Earl Jennings and Bob Sundt to carry out the spring theme. Here, too, a note of mystery creeps in, for Perry refused to give any more information about the decorations other than that they would be the "most elaborate of the year." As an added feature and as a gift from the senior class the entire faculty has been invited free of charge.

Honor guests will be Governor Walter Welford, President Shepperd, Registrar Parrott, and the deans of the various schools on the campus.

Tickets for the dance will cost $1.50 and may be purchased from representatives at the different fraternity houses and at the Bison office.

Eckstrom Praises NDSC Training

"I have found that my preparation at North Dakota State has been as thorough as any, and much better than some," writes Hartley Eckstrom, graduate student at the Iowa University.

Mr. Eckstrom was winner of the national Sparks Memorial award given by Phi Kappa Phi last year and is studying under the provisions of this scholarship.

Of his work he writes, "Besides my scientific work, I have been trying to master German, Italian, and French, all of which are most necessary in reading the scientific journals. It is very apparent in advance work that a 'bookman' does not get very far. Theories are changing; new work is being done; and it is necessary to keep on the modern trend in order to fill the positions vacant. There are positions in industry today for the man that can fill them; I have read letters from the leading industries as to what kind of men they want, and they make it well worth your time to put into your work that little extra fineness and finish they require."

MAY 21, DATE SCHEDULED FOR BISON, LILAC DAY

The 1936 Bison will be issued to the students May 21 instead of May 14, as previously announced. In the evening of May 21 the annual Lilac Day festival, under the direction of A. G. Arvold, will be put on by the members of the class in pageantry assisted by the band. Blue Key, Senior Staff, Women's Senate, and the Student Commission are considering the possibilities of having an all-college day the same day.

Howard Installs New Fraternity

John Howard, North Dakota university band head, was in charge of installing the local Gamma Sigma Beta chapter into the national band fraternity, Kappa Kappa Psi on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Gardner hotel. The NDU chapter was in charge of installation services.

Following the ritualistic work, both chapters joined in a banquet in the hotel dining-room, at which James Golseth presided. Phil Shering, president of the "U" chapter, Mr. Howard, and Dr. C. S. Putnam, gave short talks. Mr. Howard spoke about his trip to the National Federation of Music Clubs convention; Dr. Putnam told something of his Cincinnati trip to the American Bandmasters' Association convention; and Mr. Shering expressed remarks concerning Kappa Kappa Psi.

Organized several months ago, Gamma Sigma Beta has twenty members including Doc Putnam, who is honorary president. Other officers installed were: James Golseth, president; Dallas Rudrud, vice-president; Warren Covert, secretary; and Earl Turnblad, treasurer. At a meeting held Wednesday night, Dallas Rudrud was elected president; Manny Smith, vice-president; Robert Reineshe, secretary; and Max Thal, treasurer, for the ensuing year. This fraternity is only open to men in university and college bands. Membership is gained as in any fraternity, and through scholarship, musical ability, leadership, and moral character. The purpose is to increase interest in music, particularly band music, to give support to the director, and work and plan rebuilding of musical interest in general at the college.

Sophomore's "All-College Mixer" Draws Large Crowd To Crystal

Last night's Sophomore Frolic might better have been called the melting pot since it was the night when all classes became sophomores. Everyone was there. The Scabbard and Blade members gave a dinner dance and did their dancing to the tune of the sophomores' employees. Graduating athletes grinned over gals who weren't in their second year. Junior politicians cut a wide swath as they swung into line with long, deep steps. Freshmen giggled and looked romantic. And the press was represented.

Everything from long, fluttery formal dresses to sweaters and skirts were seen, and white shoes were there in abundance. Democracy was the keynote of the party

Students Honored During Services Recognition Day

Scholarship Awards Given; Honoraries Announce New Members

Recognition Day, sponsored by Blue Key and Senior Staff, honored several NDSC students at Festival hall during the regular convocation period on Monday.

The band under the direction of Dr. C. S. Putnam opened the program by playing the North Dakota Hymn. Robert Parrott, acting as spokesman, announced a second selection by the band, "Swinging Down the Line."

President J. H. Shepperd gave a short talk congratulating the people to be honored. Hermoine Hanson, president of Senior Staff, presented the Senior Staff scholarship, named the new members of Senior Staff, and explained its activities. Activities sponsored by the group during the past year included the crowning of the homecoming queen; giving a luncheon in the queen's honor, a supper for the transfer students, three Spinster skips, the Sunday afternoon musical tea; and assisting with all-callers day.

Miss Hanson presented Elsie Gabe with a ten dollar reward for having had the highest scholastic average in the freshman class for the first two terms. Emma Jordre received a scholarship from the Women's club for high scholastic average in her first five terms of work. The staff presented Daisy Gessner with a scholarship for her junior year, basing its choice on high standard of scholarship, and leadership. Ellen Blair, Jane Bristol, Betty Bristol, Mary Clemens, Constance Heilman, Josephine Hoffman, Frieda Panimon, and Cathryn Rae were announced as the members of Senior Staff by Miss Hanson.

Howard Kilbourne, president of Blue Key, talked briefly on the history of the organization, which, he said, was founded in 1924 at the University of Florida. Established on this campus in 1921, it has grown to a fraternity in 74 chapters on campus throughout the country. The chief duty of Blue Key on this

Textile Designs To Be On Display

A display of textiles of modern designers is featured at the balcony exhibit of the art department in Festival hall during the May Festival. The public is invited to attend.

Among the designers whose woks will be represented in the exhibit is Ruth Reeves, an American who has recently returned from Guatemala, where she searched out motifs in the dress, utensils, and household articles of the natives of Guatemala and adopted to textiles used in modern decoration. Some of the textiles designed by Valley Wies-thier, an Australian artist, who is noted for the use of large floral motifs in bright and varied colors, will also be on display. Textiles by Duffy (Raoul), a French designer, outstanding because of his bold patterns against a brighter background, are to be exhibited. Many other designs which are examples of the trend in modern textile designing will be featured in the display.

Future Enrollment Depends Upon Our Welcome

This week-end North Dakota State college is host to hundreds of high school students, the best in their chosen field be it oratory, stock judging, athletics, or home economics, representing high schools in North Dakota and Minnesota. Not only is a festival of this sort instructive and entertaining to many, but it also furnishes the visiting students with knowledge of North Dakota State college. It is up to us to take advantage of this powerful means of advertising our school to the 1200 boys and girls, many of whom are potential students of this institution. The enrollment of future years will depend largely upon the impression which we leave with these students. Good impressions are lasting ones and it is up to us to further the advancement of our institution.

To our visitors we extend the hand of welcome and hope you will enjoy your stay here. The campus and the buildings are yours. Look about you, ask questions, and then resolve to take advantage of these educational means which lie within your grasp.

University Is Defined To Include College

Not long ago the editor of the Spectrum was criticized for applying a general statement including the word "university" to North Dakota State college. The critic pointed out that the state constitution provided for a state agricultural college to be located in Fargo, not a high and mighty institution like a university.

Webster's dictionary defines a university as an institution including a college and at least one or more graduate or professional schools. Since the campus incorporates four separate schools as well as both graduate and professional schools, it is entitled to be classed as a university regardless of official appellation just as an individual is entitled to be classed as a mammal in spite of his John Henry.

Since, technically, the state college falls into the university class, the definition of a university and the purposes outlined by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, apply to this institution as well as to any other. "A university is a community of scholars. It is not a kindergarten; it is not a club; it is not a reform school; it is not a political party; it is not an agency of propaganda. A university is a community of scholars," according to the Chicago university head.

He distinguishes a great university as that one who has the greatest proportion of scholars who are most competent in their chosen fields. Not only scholars, but also freedom of inquiry, freedom of discussion, and freedom of teaching are necessary to a university. "Without these a university becomes a political party or an agency of propaganda. The university exists only to find and to communicate the truth. If it cannot do that it is no longer a university." He further states that it is the purpose of a university to "teach students to think, so far as it is possible, and to think always for themselves." Since democratic government rests on the notion that the citizens can think for themselves, "it is of the highest importance that there should be some place where they learn to do it."

Bison Briefs

As soon as we get rid of Chet Perry, the self-styled publicity man of the Senior prom, we'll get into the real swirl on scandal avenue.

Someone sent a letter asking for a repeat on the senior's who's who with the special request that something be done to expose the campus' most efficient commissioner, son of A. Haitch Parrott, and young man outstanding. The commish has thrown out the anchor with the Moorhead gal and has progressed to the Sunday dinner stage.

Another object of our affection is the dulcet Hermione Hanson from whom one sly glance brings out the feeling that spring is here.

After the week's elections the SAEs won't have to spend so much time bribing the Social Climber for their weekly publicity. There's nothing like boosting your own stock no matter what its nature.

Lewis Rector, too long omitted in this section of the weekly noose, has the steely glint for the accomplishment girl—JaYne Nichols. Your reporter in his weekly filching finds that there is a triangle—aha, Mr. Dangerfield.

Just to insert a little seriousness in this column we can boost along the progress of several worthwhile organizations. The recent band nationalization brings recognition to one of the most industrious organizations on the campus.

In the blue book of social sinners we can't overlook demure Betty Bickert, whose turnover in fraternity pins would be an inspiration to the troubled New Dealers. Elusive Elizabeth came to school with a pin, harvested another, and with a final splurge has come to rest with True Blue Earl.

Special vengeance goes to Helen Foster, the tight-lipped stenog who yesses to the approval of Mrs. Psyche Gooden. For her refusal to divulge the FERA secrets to your reporter she wins the hemp-tied scallions.

And so we get to the Kappa Sigma Chis. They are probably the only virtuous politicians left on the campus. Jennings gets the official OK for being both a swell fellow and a pretty good looking ball leader.

And we're in this up to our whiskers now—so a few bouquets to the instructors, Zerby, Wells, Hunter, and all like them that have made the seniors' last year anything but the usual Simon Legree Little Tom relations. We go out of here friends—and not merely as instructors and students.

The best crack of the week comes from the office freshie, Kent Helland, who says that a skeleton is a sack of bones with the people scraped off.

And right in line with the last Astronomy test we heard the following remark: "Say, Chet, how far were you from the answer to the fourth question? —"about two seats," came the retort.

"John Deere" Perry spent four valuable hour in the office yesterday afternoon attempting to persuade the new editor that the manager should get more publicity, but we all took it as just another layer of plant nutrient supply and all but forgot to mention the solo ball leader.

Just how long it will take for all of the pillow feathers to settle in the lower floor of the physical education building when the college guests leave is a matter to be left to the United States survey of geese and dust storms. At the same time military department will wait patiently (at least silently) until the machine guns can be uncovered from the avalanche of mattresses that will undoubtedly cover the night watchman on the last night of his supervision.

Student Opinion

"No midterm reports until Thursday. How many times do I have to tell you people? Can't you read?" She glares at me shouting at the top of her voice and pointing to a sign on her desk, very much underlined. I fairly quake within, having just come into the office and very sweetly asking about midterm grades. She yells at me, when my father pays her salary, working himself to death trying to keep his taxes paid. She yells at me when she is supposed to be serving me. Fine servants of the people! She yells at me, I should yell at her. Why not? The least one can expect from a public servant is courtesy. A few people on this campus might remember that our parents are keeping this school going under very adverse conditions. They might remember that if it weren't for us they wouldn't be working.

This article was housed not by one special occasion but by several when people working in offices throughout the college have been extremely discourteous at times when it was entirely uncalled for.

The Social Climber

Here's to the managers and decorator of the Junior for such a nice Prom. At least the weather didn't make the party a "wet" one this time. We were afraid for awhile that we weren't going to have a grand march, but the third-in-liners finally arrived after running away from the arms of the law. Lee and Barbara, the gal from sunny Cal, were left to try and talk their way to the Prom by glibness of tongue . . . These French chorus girls, who complain about the discourteous American males, evidently don't know Maine Shafer, because Audrey received a bouquet of roses following the party . . . In keeping with the modernistic decorations, Audrey was very much stream-lined . . . Earl Johnson provided excitement after the Prom by getting a good work out on his fist . . . it was pretty tough after the practicing he does on the walls . . . his hitting average should be pretty high by now . . . Marj. Danielson just couldn't take it . . . who'd a thunk it?

Our suave bachelors and . . . would you believe it . . . song-writer Golseth, didn't prove to be so discreet Saturday night after about a dozen of them had made the rounds, were seen in the early hours of the morning, returning to their respective domiciles . . . So the POP-SAE challenge dinner came out 50-50 . . . they tell us so because each had their faults what with dropping trays, glasses of water, and utensils . . . We hear the boys and girls had a good time at the POP house playing hide'n seek. These SAE's that are supposed to have girls, were doing OK with their hostesses, and vice versa. Look at what the library Romeo's Juliet did when she and Willie Whistle were running . . . she fell down and went boom . . . These Greek groups started something, because Gamma Phi's and Theta Chi's are dining together now . . . can you imagine? The Gamma Phi and Theta Chi pledges entertained all through dinner . . . "It was very cute," quotation from Kitty Litten . . . Let's all get in the swim and get ourselves invited out for dinner, or even breakfast . . . we aren't fussy . . . We seem to be giving the SAE's a lot of publicity, but they wanted us to put in an ad for them . . . so we're going to ask you to send any homeless fish over to the sunken rock garden, and join the "Share-Your-Fish" plan run by Kneeland, Toman, and Litten. Of course, you may go over and see your fish any time . . . if you want to go riding with Sigma Chi Shafer and Lee Johnson, just promenade down the streets about midnight and the fella's 'll come along and pick you up . . . All these girls that are knitting say it's very fascinating . . . Since Johnny has gone away, Ma Kibbee has taken it up, but we don't see how knitting can be substituted for Pa . . . If anyone happens to feel in the mood for matching pennies, we want to warn you to keep away from Freida Panimon . . . she sure took the zoologists in when she won all their money . . . Doesn't Arney Bernard look natural on crutches? Please note Mr. Kleunder, we didn't mention your name this time.

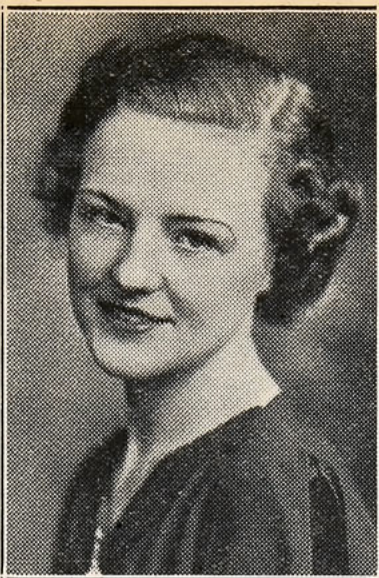

Kappa Sigma Chi—Arlie Oman, Bismarck, visited the house Monday night . . . The annual spring party will be held tonight at the Island Park Pavillion, with Sergeant and Mrs. R. D. White and Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Brinley as chaperones.

Sigma Phi Delta—Harold Naegeli spent the week-end in Fergus Falls, Minn. . . . Al Ruemmele, Robert Baer, Leonard Moffitt, and Jack Pahl, visited last week-end in Bismarck . . . Abner Ingerbretson, an employee of the Northern States Power Company of Minneapolis, visited the house Sunday . . . Earl Hartung, Kenneth Brandby, and Ed Booth, who are employed in FERA work at Milnor, were house guests Monday.

Kappa Delta—Sally Moore, Lyons, and Shirley Johnson, '33, graduates, attended the chapter meeting Monday night . . . Marjorie Ogilvie spent the week-end at her home in Edmore.

Legislator Talks To Farmers Union

"People place too much faith in political action as a solution for their economic ills", said Harvey Solberg, youthful North Dakota legislator in a talk before the NDSC Farmers Union local Wednesday evening.

"As long as political issues are decided with huge campaign funds the farmers and laborers must expect to be legislated against," continued Solberg. "The solution is the universal organization of consumers' and producers' cooperatives", he said.

Solberg, who has for two sessions represented Williams county in the lower house of the state legislature, is active in Farmers Union organization work in his home county.

Senator C. W. Fine of Benson county also spoke to the group.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM THE

To every male student of the N. D. S. C.

DEAR FRIEND:

I saw a Flower yesterday, and so I knew that Spring is here, which made me think of you. I thought that you might need some.

NEW

OR

How about some new Hose.

Maybe something in Men's Toiletries, Razor Blades, Shaving Cream, etc., or some of our new French Shorts.

But most of all I want to tell you we just got in a large shipment of Every Collar TRUBENIZED, which means that the collar will retain its neat appearance for the life of the Shirt (without using any starch in laundering). This collar has been—

Treated by a new scientific, fool-proof process which makes it look starched, without stiffening the fabric. Perspiration will not wilt it—it will not crush, wrinkle, or curl. And the collars are cool, soft, and comfortable. All this, because it is not necessary to use any starch in the laundering of this Shirt. Drop in and give these Shirts the "once-over." I'm pretty sure you'll like them—Especially when they cost no more than good ordinary shirts—$1.65 and $1.95.

U. S. Department Of Agriculture
Assists In Landscaping Project

Campus beauty is being taken into consideration with the planting of trees and shrubs. The theory of good planting which is being followed is to blend the buildings with the landscape, to enhance the natural beauty of turns in the walks, and to obstruct with shrubs any places where students might cut across the campus.

The history of landscaping at North Dakota State begins back in 1891 when the board of administration employed an architect from Minneapolis to plan for buildings to be built in the future. This architect arranged for the "main drag" to curve as it does, by Old Main and around to the barns. Buildings were to be placed on the north and east side of this drive. The plan could not be followed very extensively because more buildings were needed than were arranged for. Since then, building has continued without plan. In 1919, another architect from Minneapolis revised the landscape arrangements. His plan was too radical to be used because it called for the destruction of several buildings.

From Washington, the United States Department of Agriculture has sent trees and shrubs which were set in the arbory until they could be planted in a permanent spot. Until last summer, the janitors have done all the landscaping since former President Ladd decided that the janitors had more time than the horticultural department. Now with transient aid, the trees and shrubs from the Department of Agriculture in Washington are being planted.

Group Dramatizes
Munitions Hearing

That the U. S. navy acted the role of salesman for private munitions manufacturers in their dealings with foreign countries, that representatives of the munitions makers helped wreck disarmament conferences, and that the munitions men succeeded in fomenting arms race between nations, were some of the startling admissions made by munitions makers witnesses in the dramatization of the Nye senate investigating committee staged by Sigma Delta, local discussion club, Tuesday night.

The repeat hearing was based on actual testimony given in the original senate hearing. The event was held in the seminar room of the Little Country theater.

The roles of Senators Nye and Vandenburg, the Duponts, and other principals in the Washington hearing were interpreted by NDSC students and downtown representatives.

Participants included Reuben Arneson, Harry Hanosn, Rev. W. A. Ratz, Rev. C. E. Parr, Dr. Wm. Henning, James Long, Wilfred Rommel, Dayton Jones, Howard Kilbourne, Don Erickson, Vardi Thorwardson, Tony Dahl, Prof. C. E. Sevrinson, Hill Elwin, Leon Jacobson, Gerald Stevens, Lawrence Anderson, James Baccus, and Orville Goplen.

SPORT
SPECULATIONS

By MAINE SHAFER

Last week Bob Williams, the crimson capped fountain of verbal pyrotechnics set himself to work on this column and exercised marvelous restraint in his choice of speculations.

We're going to take it over ourselves again and be sure these kids coming in for the May Festival get their deserved plugging. There'll be over one hundred entered in the athletic festivities. The May Festival is taking its place right alongside the University field meet in importance and size. It draws from Williston in far western North Dakota to schools in central Minnesota.

Although the season for track in the northwest area is filled with snow storms, rain, and dust, you'll find that these high school boys have shaken loose the rough edges and can really perform in polished style.

They'll probably jump the gun a few times or get the buck at the start, but for pure, unadulterated, sport-loving amateurs the prep contests will find no equal. There's no tint of sophistication in the high school ranks. Every team member is a hard worker at his own event and win or lose that's worth a medal right there.

The contests open this afternoon on the Dacotah field with the preliminaries in every event scheduled.

Johnny Mach, former NDSC student, brings a band of cinder artists from Williston. This healthy relation between the alums and the school is exactly the thing that makes the May Festival what it is. There are others, unknown to us, that are just as deserving of mention but the idea isn't to pile up the roses. It's enough to say that the May Festival track events are building a friendly foundation with the visiting high schools.

And to get back to titian topped serial scribe. Williams has the athletic department in spasms of disgust through his entertaining sniping at the "unholy three." He's managed to give the track season a front page rating at least and maybe that's just what Casey has been hoping for.

With H. M. Fitch, international star in quarter mile and 600 meter runs, and Vic Sander, former sprint luminary in the Big Six competition, recruited to coach the Bison tracksters, the local stock in the field trade is gaining a little value.

The rest of the comment has been saved for "lucky" Whalen, who stopped the Sigma Chis in a no-hit no-run softball contest. His up-shooting speedball should carry his outfit to the top of the bracket.

The oldest school of architecture in the world is the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (Boston, Mass.).

Strong Field Gathers For Track Events

May Festival Draws Entries In Wide Area

Grafton, Fargo, Grand Forks,
And Wahpeton Enter
Potent Teams

By MAINE SHAFER

Entries of the best in the north-west track leagues will file past the judges stand to try their specialty starting this afternoon at 1:30. Schools representing nearly every area in North Dakota and north-west Minnesota have entered their hopefuls in this major track event held in connection with the twenty eighth annual May Festival.

The meet, won last year by Fargo High school, brings together the strong entries of Wahpeton, Grand Forks, Grafton, and Fargo. Each has plenty of power and is strongly pointing to the grand prize that is awarded to the team that amasses the highest total.

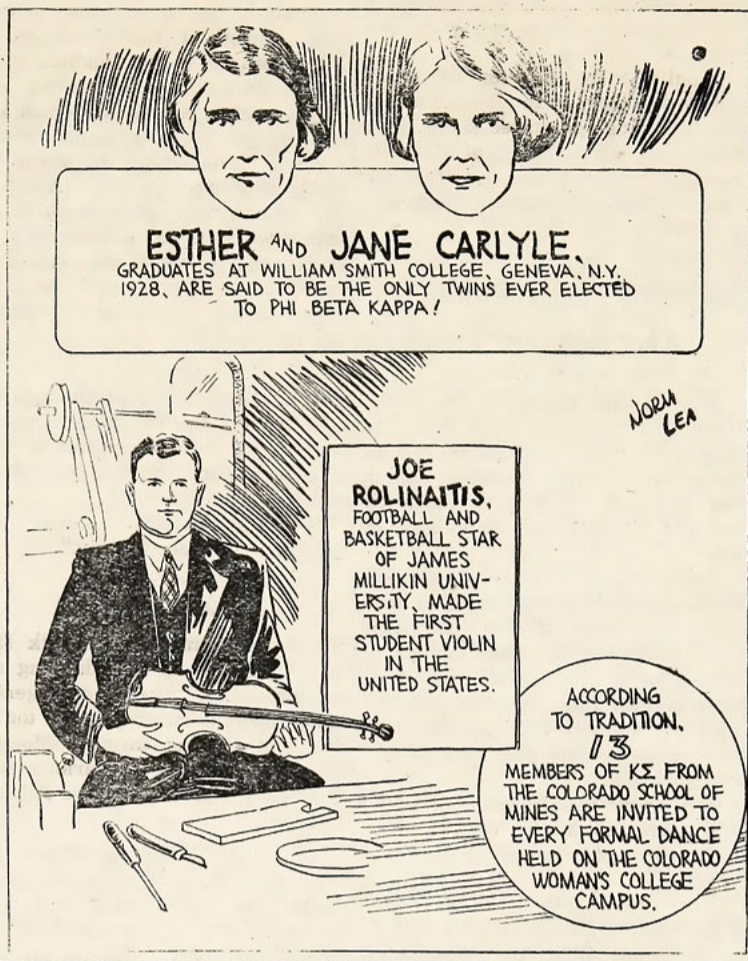

Especially rigid competition is expected from the Park Rapids, Minnesota team that has already placed eight candidates on the registration list. From Mohall comes a one man track team in the person of Paris. Other outstanding entries are Johnson, Maxwell, and Whalen, of Grafton. All three were members of the Grafton State Championship basketball team this year and hold a high reputation in the cinder circles. From Crosby comes the duo of Gerke and Arnold.

One of the feature races of the meet will be the 100 yard stretch. With Morrell Sexton, Fargo's biggest hope, and Samson of Gilby, furnishing the pressure, the race is certain to be a high point of the day. In the Grand Forks county meet at Larimore last week Samson clicked the century in 10.2 seconds, an equal of the present May Festival record for that distance.

The teams registered Thursday included; Fargo, Wahpeton, Grand Forks, Grafton, Mohall, Monango, Gilby, Egelund, Sanborn, Park Rapids, Anamoose, Ray, and Crosby. Officials for the meet are Casey Finnegan, manager; C.H. Kimball, starter; H. M. Fitch, Judge; F.C. Householder, Judge; G.P. Goodearl, judge; Bob Lowe, Head Timer; and Maine Shafer, clerk of course. Dietz, Riechers, Dohn and Arneson will act as field judges.

At the close of every event, Dr. O. O. Churchill, president of the athletic board, will present place winners with individual medals. A trophy for the highest total will be awarded both to the highest individual scorer and the winning team. Medals will be presented to the members of the winning relay team.

Golf Tournament To Start May 17 At Edgewood Links

The 1935 golf champs of the campus will be chosen in playoffs slated for May 17 and 18. The two-day tourney will determine the outstanding individual golfer and find a home for the team trophy to be offered to the successful two-man team.

Several entries have been received by Maine Shafer, tourney manager, and before the starting date all campus organizations are expected to have their teams in the contest. The individual honors will go to the lowest score played over the eighteen hole route. All official rounds must be designated as such before the start of play with Del Owen, professional at the Edgewood course over which all matches will be played.

The two-man teams entered are to be chosen by the group they will represent. The teams will draw for position in a regular flight bracket and battle it out in an elimination process.

The innovation of organization matches has added the extra enthusiasm in this event that former tournaments have lacked. Plans are

Net Competition Begins Next Week

The long awaited tennis tourney will get under way next week barring all acts of God which, in this country, amount to dust storms and mud puddles. With Gamma Tau Sigma, honorary journalistic fraternity, furnishing the impetus by shaping the courts and Casey Finnegan square behind the tournament, the contests are well in hand.

The arrangements call for an elimination contest in singles and doubles. First pairings will be made Monday afternoon. All interested parties must have their entry in by Wednesday noon. Registrations may be made with Casey Finnegan, Manny Smith, or Maine Shafer.

under way to select a four-man team to represent the college in matches with Concordia and Moorhead State Teachers.

Two Shutouts Played In Week

The softball honors for the week go to Ted Whalen, Sigma Phi Delta, and Art Skurdahl, Alpha Gamma Rho, who turned in brilliant performances with their hurling duties as they held their opponents scoreless and hitless. The perfect games were chalked up at the expense of the slugging Sigs, the hitless wonders of the league, who bowed to Whalen and the Sigma Phi Delt's 8-0, and the Cosmopolitan club, Skurdahl's 12-0 victim.

In the lower bracket the Theta Chis continued their winning streak behind the effective pitching of Palmer Kreutz. With only an outside chance of being stopped by the Delta Tau Epsilon team the Theta Chis are the favorites to win the bracket championship and a chance to play for the league title. In the upper bracket the Sigma Phi Delt's hold the ranking position to finish on top.

All postponed and protested games will be played next Wednesday at 6:15 p.m. The games scheduled for tonight and Saturday are called off in preference to the May Festival. The games and scores of the week: ATO 10, Delta Tau 15; Theta Chi 10, Kappa Psi 2; YMCA 1, Kappa Sigma Chi 4; Sigma Chi 0, Sigma Phi Delta 8; ATO 1, Gamma Rho 4; Theta Chi 1, Cosmopolitan Club 0 (forfeit); Sigma Phi Delta 7, SAE 1; Kappa Sigma Chi 10, Dorm 6; Cosmopolitan Club 0, Delta Tau 1 (forfeit).

Professors Plan; "Fluek" Own Test

More proof that professors actually do sit up nights thinking up unanswerable exam questions was shown at Princeton University last week when twenty-five professors devised a general test and then became the first twenty-five to flunk it. It was just for the amusement of it that the twenty-five teachers who flunked their own examination compiled a list of forty-one statements to be answered "true or false." Every department of the university was represented.

Some examples of the questions asked and perhaps seemingly as difficult as some final exam questions were as follows:

1. Naevius originated the fabulae praetextatae.
2. Kant said that space is empirical and not a priori.
3. If the rear wheels of an automobile are jacked up and the engine is in low gear, then the action of the differential is such that if you turn by hand the left wheel at 10 r.p.m. forward the right wheel will turn backward at 10 r.p.m.
4. In addition to his better known work we have a number of sonnets by Chaucer.

The answers were as follows: 1. true; 2. false; 3. true, and 4. false. The professor who made the highest mark answered 19 questions correctly. It just goes to show ya.

TONY SARG SCHEDULED FOR PERFORMANCE HERE

Tony Sarg and his famous marionettes will appear in Festival hall, Wednesday, May 22, at a matinee and evening performance.

Past performances on this campus have always drawn a large crowd and no one has ever gone away disappointed at the performance put on by Tony Sarg and his marionettes.

The last time this world famous organization appeared here it put on "Sinbad the Sailor" before a large crowd; this proved to be one of the high spots of the year as regards entertainment and gained many friends for the troupe who will hasten to avail themselves of the privilege of again viewing Tony Sarg and his marionettes.

Crystal Ballroom Orchestra Leaves

The Crystal Ballroom Orchestra, under the direction of William C. Albrandt, which has played for so many of the campus parties during the last year, is playing Saturday evening for the last time here in town.

According to Doc Chin, Crystal Ballroom manager, this band has been most satisfactory during the past year. Considering the number of engagements at which they must play, and the range of types of music they are requested to present, this sixteen piece band has been unusually pleasing.

The program Saturday evening will be a combination of the popularly termed "sweet" and "hot" music.

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD by COLLEGIATE DIGEST and Associated Collegiate Press

A study conducted over a two-year period at the University of Minnesota, at the instigation of the prexy, shows some interesting facts about student social life which lead the experts there to conclude that a small "aristocracy" dominates the social and activities life. About 50 per cent of the girls enrolled are excluded from extra-curricular activities and about 40 per cent of the men. Fraternities and sororities take most of the blame for hogging the fun.

The college editor on the intellectual firing line—We hereby reprint a sentence from an editorial from a college paper that rated "Pacemaker" recently.

"The psychologist knows that emotions are here to stay."

FARGO THEATER

Kay Francis, George Brent, and Warren William star in the semi-tragic story of a rich boy gone wrong in spite of his friends' efforts to set him right. "Living on Velvet", opening Tuesday and closing Thursday, is distinctly drama.
