Californians Debate NDSC On Relief Act

Discussion Is Included On Yearly Lyceum Course At College

Fresh from California, cradle of Townsend's old age pension plan, two University of California debaters opposed NDSC in a non-decision discussion of that topic last night before a lyceum audience which overflowed the main auditorium of the Little Country theater necessitating re-amplification of the talks to adjoining rooms in the LCT set-up. The event marked the first lyceum number provided on this term's program.

The formal topic was: Resolved, that the federal government should adopt the Townsend old age pension plan. California debated the affirmative, and NDSC the negative.

Upholding the NDSC cause in the contest were Howard Kilbourne and Alvin Nordlund. Kilbourne, a senior, is a veteran of several NDSC intercollegiate debates and is president of the Lincoln club, honorary NDSC debate group. Nordlund, a freshman, has competed in several interclass contests since his enrollment. Previous to that he was a member of the Fargo high team.

The Californians advanced the argument that the Townsend plan was necessary to prevent the collapse of the present form of capitalistic government in the United States in favor of Socialism or Fascism. The adoption of the measure would enable consumption to balance production and effect national recovery. To facilitate this recovery will be the compulsory spending in one month of the monthly $200 check for which all persons over 60 who are eligible under provisions of the act receive. This rapid monetary turnover would prevent the stagnation of money in the banks, which is now one of the nation's difficulties, contended the collegians from Berkeley, Calif.

On the other hand, the North Dakotans termed the Townsend plan a threat to the present form of government. Through the discouragement of savings brought on by this compulsory spending, industrial production, which is responsible for employment and dependent on savings for its financing, would be at a standstill, they said. In addition, the tremendous cost of financing the project would prove a stern barrier.

Preceding the debate, the NDSC men's glee club under the direction of Ernst Van Vlissingen sang "Hail to California" and the "Yellow and the Green." Horace Spaulding of the Lincoln club was chairman.

86 ENROLL TO SET NEW REGISTRATION RECORD

Registration records at NDSC were exceeded for the second time in as many terms this year when 86 new students registered for the winter term to make a total of 1305. Of this number 909 are men and 396 women. Forty are now registered in the college high school.

A. H. Parrott, registrar, also reports an addition of 36 freshmen, an all-time record. Other totals are: sophomores 313, juniors 216, seniors 235, graduate students 11, and special students 12.

Cigars were passed at the Sigma Chi house Monday night by Bob Keith and Don Howland.

Brevities Acts Are Finished

Annual Production Approved By Directors Includes Five Settings

Both the show itself and the music of the 1935 Bison Brevities have been completed during the holidays and have met with the approval of the director, John Hamlet. Judging from the way the show shapes up its five acts with the black outs in form of a melodrama, promise to be quite unique and highly varied.

This year's show will be composed of five acts with the black outs between the acts consisting of an old melodrama. Act one, the opening, will require a cast of 34 characters. Act two is entitled "Moderne" and will require a cast of 24 persons. Farm life will be depicted in act three and will need 11 characters. Negro life will be the theme of act four and requires 78 characters in its cast. Intermission will come between the fourth and fifth acts. A cast of 53 persons will be needed in the fifth act, which will be of a classical nature. The grand finale will conclude the show.

Two hundred students tried out originally for this year's production—the largest number ever to try out for the Bison Brevities. In the second tryouts 65 students were handled. Final tryouts for speaking parts will be held Monday afternoon and evening, January 14.

All students interested in singing and dancing parts will report to Festival hall Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. Those individuals who tried out for speaking parts and whose names are not included in the list on page 3 will be eligible for dancing and singing roles and are urged to try out as approximately 150 people are needed.

The production staff in addition to John Hamlet and Robert Parrott is composed of the following: stage designer and manager, Robert Land-

Beaux-Arts Ball Leaders

Heading the four-column line of Nottingham fair visitors tonight will be Robert Landbloom, manager, with his partner, Marjorie Arnold, and Ellen Blair, assistant manager with her escort, Lynn Fredrickson. Tonight's party is unique in that it is the only masked ball of the year as well as the only annual costume event.

Gay Costumes At Beaux-Arts Ball Tonight

Landbloom, Arnold to Lead At Nottingham Palace Carnival Dance

Once again, the gay carnival spirit will ride in full sway at Nottingham fair annual masked Beaux Arts ball, in festival hall from 9 to 1 o'clock, under the direction of Atelier Chat Noir, architects club, and the Art club.

With their gayly clad partners the nobility of Nottingham palace will sally forth at 9:30 to visit the town square. First, will be Robert Landbloom with Marjorie Arnold and Ellen Blair with Lynn Fredrickson, second, will be Robert Sundt with Garnet Howe and Helen Pease with Sam Dobervich, third, Kaare Rosenberg with Jessie Haines and Amy Glaser with George Toman.

In the village square the picturesque people will frolic and barter at such well known shops as the butchers, the candlestick maker's, the tanner's, the baker's, and the tinker's.

"Ye ole Blue Boar Tavern" with its stone walls, its rough floor, and rustic benches and tables will provide a gathering place for those who wish to rest and refresh themselves after their merry fun in the square.

Villagers will invite the frolicking visitors into their humble thatched-roof cottages to celebrate the gala occasion.

Robin Hood and his merry men will refrain from robbing the nobility during the occasion, and the Sheriff of Nottingham will join the festive gathering.

Archers will show their skill, knights will perform for their lady's favor, and monks will pray for the salvation of the country.

Theta Chi Award Given To Meyers

At the national convention of Theta Chi fraternity held in Miami, Florida, during vacation, Roman Meyers, a graduate of this school last spring, was voted to receive the Reginald Colley memorial, presented each year to the outstanding Theta Chi.

The Reginald Colley memorial is presented by F. W. LaDue, in honor of a former member of Phi chapter and a graduate of NDSC, Reginald Colley, who was the first Theta Chi killed in action during the World war. This is one of the greatest awards given by the fraternity.

While a student at NDSC, Roman Meyers was captain of the football team, Associated Press honorable mention for All-American, president of the local chapter of the fraternity, president of Blue Key, president of the Letterman's club, president of the Newman club, a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Student Commission, Black Scholarship Award, Board of Publications, Athletic Board of Control, Representative Senior, president of the Freshman class, All-Conference football award for two years, and Interfraternity Council.

Norval Bergquam, Alex Keyes, Harold Riggs, and Hill Elwin attended the convention from Phi chapter, which received a thousand per cent rating from the grand chapter for the third consecutive time.

Ag Enthusiast Mastering Manicuring and Marcelling

Painted fingernails and marcells are not usually accredited to the students in the school of agriculture, but 100 hard working enthusiasts will apply this science to as many livestock entries in the annual "formal", better known as the little international livestock show. This exposition, copied after the International Show at Chicago, a climax to the varied program of the Saddle and Sirloin club, will take place Thursday evening in the livestock pavilion.

Eighteen baby beeves will step forth from their boudoir curled to the last tuft of hair; twenty lambs blocked to resemble frost-covered ice cubes; ten hogs flaming red and powder puff white, eight colts with tails and manes coiffured until even Mae West would turn green with envy; thirteen calves, pampered aristocrats of the dairy world; six cockerels weathervaning in dignity, will strut into the competition, with now and then a sorority girl or a Fargo service club member for additional entertainment. And between shows sorority girls will twist horns, pull tails, look for faucets, and pail cows until Helen Keol's record of one year ago will stand or fall.

Staple fanged police dogs, wooly terriers, and stove-pipe dachshunds, will follow the hand of college misses also in a re-enactment of the time-worn but spectacular coed dog show. Interspersed also will be the breath-taking contests between Fargo service club members in new and different attractions. Arrangements have been made to seat everyone that attends—if they can remain in their seats through two hours of excitement.

The North Dakota Breeders' association and the Saddle and Sirloin club will hold their annual joint banquet in Ceres hall at 5:30, Thursday evening. At this time John Dawson, 70-year-old Aberdeen Angus breeder in the vicinity of Mandan, farm bureau worker, and educator, will be honored by having his portrait unveiled in the Saddle and Sirloin club "Hall of Fame." Efforts are also being made to include the North Dakota Poultry Breeders' association in the annual banquet.

Judges for the livestock events will be: E. J. Thompson, Charles Henderson, horses; Al Severson, Leo McLaren, hogs; J. R. Dice, Jacob Haine, dairy; Hilton Briggs, Howard Alberts, sheep; Victor Sander, Joe Martin, beef; George Goodearl, H. Botham, poultry. T. W. Johnson will assist in the feature events.

Possible $50 Increase Seen For NDSC Salaries

An increase of seventeen thousand dollars in salary appropriations for NDSC has been recommended by the board of administration to the legislature. Sounds pretty good—seventeen thousand dollars, three zeros, five if you count the cent marks. Divided evenly between the employees of the college including faculty, administration officers, office help, and extension and experiment station men and women, it will net each person an increase of approximately $26 a year. If divided equally between employees of the educational division alone, the appropriation will result in an increase of $50.00 per year per person.

Standards of living among the $1350 a year professors will jump appreciably if the legislature decides to grant the appropriation uncut and if it is divided evenly between the employees of the college proper.

However, the board of administration made no specifications as to which of the college's three branches this appropriation should benefit nor how it was to be divided. This responsibility falls to Pres. Shepperd, who is to decide whether years of service, educational qualifications, value to the institution, ranking of position, present salary standard, opportunities drawing men to other schools, etc., shall be the basis of disbursement if additional money is provided.

It seems almost farcical to offer this small increase in salary to men who have served the state willingly and faithfully in spite of adverse working conditions, particularly since it is conceded even outside the state that the institution's continued existence is dependent upon the action of this year's legislation. However, people at North Dakota State are conscious of the economic conditions in the state which prevent large additional appropriations and are only demanding a more equal distribution of funds with reduced expenditures for mere political horse play.

Politicians Play Politics

To the cost of $2,000.00 a day the legislators are playing politics in an attempt to gain a governor's seat for a member of their party selected by North Dakotans to fill the relatively unimportant position of lieutenant governor. That responsibilities toward constituents and duties as legislators seem to count for nothing in comparison with political power almost proves that political power, if acquired, will not be used for the benefit of the state's people.

One governor of the majority party was disqualified and removed from office after being convicted of felony by the federal government. Succeeding him was Governor Olson, who held office until this week when the newly-elected governor was seated in spite of the deposed governor's attempts to disqualify him on a constitutional technicality. Now, enough of the party members to maintain a majority continue to adjourn from day to day, neglecting the state's business while they refuse to leave the court's business to the court.

Through the whole mess a few men of both parties have shown their true patriotism, or the less sentimental but more practical concern, for the state in their efforts to get the house of representatives underway and the two years' business completed. These few genuine public servants, unwilling to put the mandates of the party money grabbers above state needs, are the only men who stand between North Dakota and a Langer regime as dictatorial as Huey Long's control in Louisiana.

Local Fraternity Makes Good

With the granting of a Sigma Alpha Epsilon charter to the local fraternity, Alpha Sigma Tau, the fifth local organization went national in as many years, reflecting honor on the institution and on the students who have made their organizations warrant national standing.

Congratulations are due the Sigma Tau's who have established themselves leaders in many fields of college activities during the past nine years of preparation for SAE and who finally earned the right of membership in one of the country's oldest and largest fraternities.

BISON BRIEFS

By BILL

Many governors have come and gone since I last extended my cynical fingers over the keyboard of a Spectrum typewriter. Now the rat in me comes out again, prompting me to gnaw at your jangled nerves with more cheesy comments and observations about everything in general and nothing in particular—effervescence—a bubbling over. After the Bison were twice subdued by the Gophers, last year's columnist decided that the U. of M. would make a very lovely Alma Mater. Therefore, I am a pinchhitter. Maybe this will become a permanent feature. Maybe not. I may have exhausted my resources in the Briefs of a yesterday. Contributions and suggestions from students are welcomed and will be duly accredited if so desired. We would like to make this more than just a scandal space, recording the actions of students in the various jernts. After all, a complete account of the rounders would demand too much space, anyhow.

Last fall there was a reference to NDSC as "the friendly school", in a Spectrum editorial, by President Shepperd. It sounded beautiful. I knelt, and was glad that I could say, "The president is my Shepperd; I shall not want." 'Twas the "friendly school". The day before the opening of the winter term a group of students stood outside the registrar's office and watched that "friendliness" in operation. Boy after girl after boy appeared at the window, saw an additional buck lopped from an already depleted bank roll as a late registration fee. "Well, you c'n gripe if ya want to, but we've got signs up around the campus. Keep your eyes open. Rules are rules."

Maybe there are reasons. But there are a lot of students that would like that department to come right out with it. Quit mumbling in your beards! Many students, as investors, would like to know what happens to those extra dollars. Just how many late fees were taken in, and where did they go? Our teachers have taught us to be inquisitive. Oh, we can guess that you paid the extra help with it, or have a logical use for it, but let us in on the secret. After all, a "friend" is someone that knows all about you and loves you just the same. Maybe we'll be your friends despite the fact that that last buck hurts—at least the principle of the thing hurts. Anyhow, we don't like the aloof retort, "Huh, whydoutcha read the signs?" You'll find us very anxious for enlightenment, if given the facts which may enable us to "see the light." More later, unless—

Glancing through the college catalogue while registering:—Taken from a statement by Harlow Leslie Walster, in the Ag section—"Agriculture, the world's greatest business, man's first and still his happiest occupation." Well, more power to the farmers, if they can be happy thawing out a flock of frozen teets by hand, at 6 o'clock in the morning. . . . Ice Cream 35. Mammy! Sounds like a snap course. . . . Brooding 303. Gosh, I took that for two years without credit. Didn't know they offered it. Why, I used to sit and ponder and probe into my nostrils for hours on end.

Suggested ad for Dean Minard (in the manner of the Grand Theatre): Enroll now in the School of Science and Literature, and meet, in person, the most peculiar group of pedagogues in captivity. They're different. The ties they wear are different. You'll like our collection of old fossils. Be sure to visit the Men's Powder Puff Room. And don't forget to get a shot in the eye at our magic fountain. Abraham Lincoln once said that you can't fool all the people all the time, but that was before our clock and bell system was inaugurated. It will fool you. Give us a try!

I've noticed that if you come out here, a haughty freshman, and expect-to-rate, it's liable to blow right back in your face.

With Apologies to Dickinson and that there "Collegian":
A human life is like a button. We get it all polished up, then somebody invents zippers, and we have to start at the bottom and work up.

Manny Ladwig has the measles. Guess we'll have to call him "Old Faithful." He's always erupting at the mouth or on the face. Let that be a lesson, Manny. Stay away from those grade-school girls when they've got the measles.

No, the Bison Brevities is not the 12th Platoon. It promises to be a very scintillating musical revue, though the versatile Johnny Hamlet says little. He merely grunts, "Kibbee or not Kibbee, that is the question," then taps his way over to the piano, and pounds out another tune that reeks of Lennox avenue. It probably will sound like the piano looks—real black with big white teeth—if you get what I mean. . . . It is interesting to watch the tryouts. Students who have never given any indications of modesty, suddenly melt and seem to assume a humble estimate of their prowess, and vice versa.

She sits on the davenport and talks of inflation.
It's just a stall—for self-preservation.

"How are you boys getting along in economics?"
"Oh, just like two cigarettes—in the dark."

Last Lines:

Goodbye then, that was very copacetic, ogakazagis—and stuff."

The Social Climber

Once more the social climber takes root in the dirt on this here campus and now branches forth to digress on the social events which will afflict us in the future.

Our latest dreams have been filled with visions of Robin Hood, Friar Tuck, Lady Marian, Little John, and the Sheriff of Nottingham gaily caparisoned dancing at the Barkitects Ozark Brawl. What for a costume constituted our nightmare. . . . We wager there will be plenty of tights . . . in case you've snickered, we meant Robin Hood, pants . . . Lady Arnold, accompanied by Huntsman Landbloom, will lead the grand march, providing she doesn't acquire the measles (we hear that Brandes has been confined at the Sigma Tau house because of the malady) . . . By the way, Dr. Tope will escort to the ball the very lovely Miss Faith Kuter, who is here inspecting the KD's. You've probably noticed that the girls have been on their good behavior the last few days . . . Tizzy Lish, who has not been invited, in a fit of jealousy gave vent to her feelings in the following words, "In my opinion it will be called the Nottingham Fair because 'notting' but hams will be there" (please note: the Spectrum not liable because this is a quotation) . . . we hasten to add that by all signs this promises to be one of the most unique balls of the year . . . Latest estimates have it that the ATO's, Theta Chi's, and Sig Chi's shared the honors evenly in directing the orchestra at the New Year's Eve debacle held at the Chamber of Commerce bldg. . . . However, "Lem Hawkins" Swanson met defeat at the Theta Chi Christmas party, due to the fact that music was via radio and phonograph. . . . Cheer up, Ward, there's still the Military ball, which is not till the 25th, so you should be in fine fettle . . . Among the Christmas presents Santa Claus left Dick Warner was a spouse, the former Miss Helen Ewing . . . Congrats, Dick. . . . And with this last bit, the weary social climber becomes silent until it breaks forth with this "measley" column next week.

Fraternity Council Interprets Ruling

At a regular meeting of the interfraternity council Thursday afternoon, delegates of the nine fraternities met to interpret the ruling on the pledging and initiation of upperclassmen and transfer students. As a result of their meeting it was informally agreed that the interfraternity council will allow the initiation of any upperclassman without any term of pledgeship, providing he attended this institution at least two terms and has maintained the necessary 77 average. Any transfer student having spent one term at another school will be eligible for initiation after one term's residence at the NDSC and compliance to the remaining pledge rulings. These suggestions are subject to ratification of each chapter.

Whitman Has 96.3 Average

Warren Whitman, senior in science and literature, heads the fall term honor roll with an average of 96.3 in contrast to the general college average of 80.2. High ranking among schools goes to education with 81.5 while the senior class took honors among classes with a showing of 84.4 per cent.

The nine students following Whitman in scholarship standing are: Frieda Panimon, 96; Donald Scott, 95; Robert Froling, 94.6; Lyle B. Ramsey, 94.6; Warren Dundon, 94.4; Lawrence Fine, 94.3; and Stephen Crum, 94.3.

The school of education is followed by that of chemistry rating an 81.1 average; home economics, 81; pharmacy, 80.8; engineering, 80; agriculture, 79.8; and science and literature, 79.5.

With an 82.6 rating the junior class placed second among classes, sophomores following with 81, and freshmen with 77.1 per cent.

One and three-tenths per cent distinguish the female from the male element of the campus, women scoring an average of 81.2 over the men's 79.9.

Hurst Orchestra Picked For Ball

The 19th annual Military ball, the first formal of the school year, will be held January 25, under the direction of the Scabbard and Blade. The ball is managed by Albert Ruemmele, who will be first in line.

Cecil Hurst and his orchestra have been selected to furnish the music. The orchestra comes very highly recommended and carries ten pieces.

Leading with Albert Ruemmele will be Jane Bristol, second will be Earl Jennings and Betty Bickert, third Horace Spaulding and Betty Bristol, and fourth, Laurence Anderson and Leone Phillips.

Tickets are on sale at $1.50, by all members of Scabbard and Blade and representatives at the fraternities.

Basic military uniforms are appropriate for this ball, according to Captain Conny.

DECLAMATION CONTEST SET FOR FEBRUARY 1

The annual college-wide declamatory contest under the direction of Alice Bender of the speech department, is scheduled for February 1. The Edwin Booth club award, won by Dayton Jones last year, will be given the winner.

Students who plan to enter should register at the Little Country theater immediately, according to Miss Bender.

"BERKELEY SQUARE" TO PLAY AT DETROIT

"Berkeley Square," dramatic production presented last term under the sponsorship of the Edwin Booth dramatic club, will be given Monday, January 14, at Detroit Lakes, Minn. The production will be under the auspices of the Detroit Lakes high school debate club.

Gordon Horner and Willard Still, Alpha Sigma Tau, are back in school after being absent the past term.

Scabbard and Blade held pledging services Wednesday, January 9, at 8:00, in the field house for Bill Murphy, George Toman, Lynn Carlson, Leonard Moffet, Lawrence Bue, and Roy Smilie.

NOTICE

Tryouts for roles in the winter term Edwin Booth club play will be held in the Little Country theater Friday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock and Sunday forenoon from 9 to 12 o'clock. Those who tried out last term do not have to come.

Local Fraternity Will Go National

Another national fraternity will be added to those on this campus when the Alpha Sigma Tau will be installed into one of the country's oldest fraternities, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The charter was granted at the national convention held during vacation in Washington, D. C. Four members of the local fraternity, Laurence Hall, William Akeley, George Toman, and Ed Crewe attended. This culminated nine years of effort on the part of this chapter to become members of SAE.

Chapters of SAE in this vicinity are located at the universities of North Dakota, Minnesota, and South Dakota. This chapter will be the 110th chapter in the national fraternity and the 13th in the province bureau which incorporates North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

Student Opinion

A movement is now on foot among students who witnessed the slaughter of basketball science exhibited at the field house Saturday night to recommend that the charge for athletic contests as included in the student activity fee be abolished during the winter term. It is felt that this money could be used to better advantage in the purchase of ping-pong balls or ice pucks. At any rate something less boring or humiliating is proposed.

It is also reported that since Wahpeton high school has challenged Fargo high school to its right to enter the state class A tournament, the prep school now plans a city championship engagement with the Bison. Indications are that Bob Lowe has been forewarned, however, and will engage the services of little Stanislaus Kafappe of Roosevelt grade school, widely recognized as North Dakota's far-sighted champion. Here is a warning to Fargo high—if you have another game scheduled for February 29 don't be disappointed, just send over the reserves, although Bob Lowe might have an upset in store.

Meanwhile, the Oxford Club, across the river in the city of many beer parlors, is planning a big celebration for the players, especially for those who played Saturday night. And so, Bob Lowe and his "promising" basketweavers rally to the cause of NDSC fans and hold the hapless Jimmies to an overtime game. The Jimmies could not lower themselves to the brand of ball coached and played here and so another small school humiliates us. And so the sports editors assign such stories to rookies, and the rookies being less able to express themselves (without using profanity) resort to the student opinion columns. And feeling at least a few backers applauding, he shyly attaches his name.

BOB WILLIAMS.

On the 25th of January the Military ball will present one of the most spectacular and colorful social events of the year. It represents the highlight and the pinnacle of the winter social gaiety on the campus. Prominent in the success of the affair has been the eagerness of all to attend this premier formal ball.

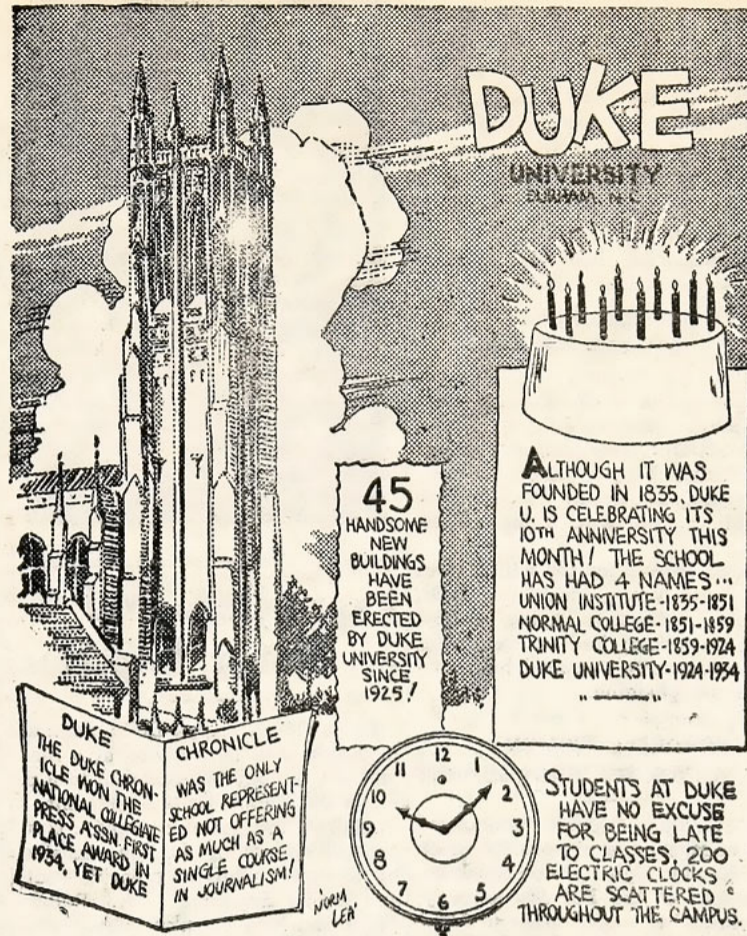

All military students have been invited to attend in their military uniforms, as well as "tuxes"; whether their status is basic or not. This fact is repeated for the benefit of the new students who may not be acquainted with the military ball etiquette. The basic student may and should take advantage of this invitation. There is nothing more fitting at this party than to look the part—your basic uniforms will help make the picture complete.

Minnesota Debaters At LCT Wednesday

Continuing their opposition of debating teams from the larger colleges of the nation, two NDSC debaters will oppose the University of Minnesota forensic team Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Little Country theater. The topic is: "Resolved, that the principles of the present agricultural adjustment administration program be made the basis for a permanent policy for agriculture."

Minnesota's team will be two veterans, Jerome Kaufman and Arnold Baron. Kaufman has been a member of both the freshman and sophomore teams and was one of the debaters that tied Northwestern for first place in the western conference debate league tournament last March.

Lawrence Bue, senior, and Henry Swenson, freshman, will be the NDSC debaters in the Minnesota affair. Bue is a member of the Lincoln debate club and last year toured the state on the NDSC-University trip. Swenson was a member of the freshman class team and has participated in several community contests.

The debate is an added feature of the Farmers and Homemakers week and will be broadcast over WDAY.

SIGMA DELTA MEETS

"Challenges to Democracy" with Reuben Arneson discussion leader, will be the topic studied by members of Sigma Delta, honorary discussion club, at their meeting in the YMCA Sunday night.

Bison Engage First NCC Foe Tomorrow

Maroons Offer Opposition For Injured Herd

Opening the conference banner chase against the basketeers from Morningside, Bob Lowe and his Bison will attempt to start off the season with a victory when they clash with the Maroons in the NDSC field house tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

After a rather disastrous loop race last year the Iowans have shown great signs of developing and with nearly the entire '34 squad available they are given a fine chance to lift themselves into the first division. With two sophomore prospects who are bombarding the basket in great style, according to reports received from the southern end of the loop, and Dean and Rosenberger, two great forwards and all-conference football performers, the Maroons should present a formidable outfit.

With both Denenny and Marquardt still on the convalescing list from colds and flu contracted during Christmas vacation, Lowe is confronted with the task of building up a practically new forward line. Acey Olson, regular guard, has been shifted to a forward post the last few practices and if Captain Marquardt is not in condition to play, either Bob Saunders, flashy guard, or Olson may get the starting call in the forward echelon. Stan Maynard, high-powered, fast-stepping forward, and Don Bettschen and Lyle Stinson, reserve guards, will probably get an opportunity to show their wares.

So far the Iowans boast a win over the strong team from Nebraska Wesleyan. On Friday preceding the Bison contest, Morningside clashes with the high scoring powerhouse from the upstate university. This will give the travelers on their northern swing the advantage of having one game under their belt and they have a fair chance to upset the injury riddled Herd.

Girls' Contests Begin Next Week

For the past week the feminine basketball players on this campus have been practicing in Ceres hall in preparation for the interclass tournament which will begin next week. Games will be played each afternoon.

Sloan Officiates Intramural League

Intramural basketball for the 1935 season got under way last Wednesday night under management of Greg Sloan, the official rules boy. Twelve teams will offer competition including nine fraternities, the YM-CA, men's dormitory, and the Cosmopolitan club.

Three games conducted in a round robin method will be played each night of the schedule. This arrangement allows each team to play every opponent twice.

On last Wednesday's program the Delta Tau Epsilon five tripped the defending champion Theta Chi quintet by a score of 34-24. Lindeman and Rasmussen provided the scoring punch for the winners. Completing the opening night bill, the Kappa Psi outlasted the Alpha Gamma Rho outfit in a 17-14 win and the Cosmopolitan club downed the Alpha Sigma Tau group 20-8.

The league, bracketed in two groups of six teams each, was drawn in this lineup:

Upper Bracket — Alpha Gamma Rho, Kappa Psi, Alpha Sigma Tau, Cosmopolitan club, Theta Chi, and Delta Tau Epsilon.

Lower Bracket — Kappa Sigma Chi, Dormitory club, Sigma Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, YMCA, and Sigma Phi Delta.

Firing For Roles On Riflery Squad Begins Next Week

As a climax to two months of practice, 65 men are participating in the annual college sweepstakes for the purpose of selecting the twenty men who will comprise the college rifle team. The sweepstakes, which began last Tuesday and will continue through the 19th of this month, and is for the purpose of selecting the twenty men who will fire in the seventh corps area matches and in the Hearst trophy matches.

First, second, and third high point men of the sweepstakes will be awarded gold, silver, and bronze medals respectively. Like medals will be awarded to the three high point men who have not been on the team previously. The contestants will fire on five targets—one each in prone, kneeling, and sitting, and two in standing positions with a possible score of 100 on each. Twenty rounds will be fired on each record target.

Golf Instruction Offered This Week

Over 50 men and women students have enrolled for the series of golf lessons offered by the athletic department. This is a large increase over the enrollment of the past three years, according to C. C. Finnegan, athletic director.

Golf classes for women meet Tuesdays at 3 and 4 o'clock, and Wednesdays at 2 and 3; the men's class meets Wednesdays at 4 o'clock. These classes are instructed by Art Hanson, golf pro at Devils Lake and member of the National Professional Golfers association.

Students may still enroll for the course, for which equipment is furnished, at the meetings of the classes next week.

LATE SPORTS

Thursday night the Sigma Chi five squeezed out a narrow victory over their ancient stumbling blocks, the ATO's, by a score of 14-12. The game was marked by the usual early season roughness but showed flashes of real play early in both halves. The game, looked upon as the feature of the Thursday schedule, started with an ATO spurt by Schranz and Peschel. At halftime the score stood 8-5 for the ATO's. A closing rally gave the Sigs the lead and the game. Ken Nelson was the game's high scorer with six points.

In the YMCA-Sigma Phi Delta game the "Y" team won in a handy manner by the decisive score of 24-5. Nessett was the top scorer with five field counters to his credit.

The Dormitory quintet gained their first victory in a close tilt with the Kappa Sigma Chi's which ended 18-16. The two teams played clean, conservative ball and were never separated by more than four points. Wilhelm was the "Dorm" standout, while Berdahl provided the spark for the Kappa Sig's.

Cagers Sweep Court Series During Recess

Assuring the traveling Herd a Happy New Year, the Lowe-coached quint from North Dakota State college made a clean sweep of its annual Christmas basketball trip by copping three victories in as many games.

The Bison cagers played their toughest game the first night out when they pounded out a 29-24 win over the fine basketeers from St. Mary's college at Winona, Minn. Coached by Ed Krause, former All-American in both football and basketball, the St. Mary quint put up a stubborn battle but succumbed to the hard driving Fargoans in the last few minutes of play. LaCrosse Teachers college was the next victim of the Herd and fell to the tune of a 29-21 count.

In the closest and most thrilling contest of the trip, Lowe's men tripped up the fast stepping five from Superior, Wis., by the small margin of two points, 23-26. The Superior Peds produced fine spurts of real skill but the consistent Herd outplayed them throughout the fracas to come out on the long end of the score.

Jimmies Upset Herd Hopes In Overtime Game

By WALT McGRATH

In a game that was an upset to the fireside players, but which was not so unexpected to those who knew the inside dope of the Bison squad, the speedy quint from Jamestown uncorked a barrage of shots to beat out the Herd in an overtime game 24-29 last Saturday night in the NDSC field house.

Bob Lowe's players were unable to stand the pace set by the Jimmies chiefly because of poor condition. Both Denenny, who is usually the most most consistent man on the squad, and Captain Marquardt, pace setting forward, were weakened by touches of the flu, playing only because they insisted they were in fit condition. The rest of the team was consequently slowed up and it was Bob Saunders, sophomore star, that kept the Fargoans in the running with his fine brand of play.

The Jamestown boys exhibited a fine, fast breaking offense, at the same time throwing up a defense that forced the Bison to shoot from far out and hurried them into making poor shots and passes.

At the end of the regular playing time the count was knotted at 24 points apiece after the Jimmies had led most of the way. In the five minutes extension of time allotted, the Herd was unable to count while their opponents went ahead to count twice from the floor and sink one gift shot.

It was the play of Thunem, stellar Jimmy guard, which kept them out in front most of the time, although Hall, elongated center, and Agre, fast stepping miniature forward, were also a constant thorn in the side of the Herd representatives. The home town boys outscored the visitors from the floor, 11 field goals to nine, but at the same time failed to watch their defensive tactics, thus awarding the Jimmies 16 chances from the free throw line.

SPECTRUM

SPECULATIONS

By MAINE SHAFER

There was a time that athletic directors could mind their own business and settle down to the task of producing teams that were the best representatives that the coaching talent and material could possibly assemble. Without that lament "for the good old days" this department would like to throw a few spanners into the machinery as we have it now.

Down at Harvard, where finding a coach is an annual job, the student papers had to go as far back as 1915 to find a tangible handle to hang their dirty cracks on. The trouble came about in the selection of Bill Harlow as the future goat of the consistently unsuccessful grid-iron welfare at Harvard. They didn't have much to say and this writer feels that it was just another attempt to pin their "uppitty" protests to a non-alumni coach in the records.

The point is, however, that the present crop of athletic mentors need to be diplomats, orators, party men, apple polishers, baby kissers, and on the side have a working information of the football and basketball racket. When they have to put up with the alumni and the erratic student bodies and the welves that are always ready to snap at their jobs, they can only smile back and say "I can take it." This criticism doesn't come so much in sympathy with the coaches' troubles, but rather as an indictment against the student brain storms that cause the unfounded fusses over coaches, poor seasons, etc. The bands of writers that have adopted the motto, "down with practically everything" stir the unpleasant fear in us as to what might happen should a little knowledge be added to their misplaced authority.

The policy of this column is to criticize when it is HONESTLY felt that it is justified. It has been brought to our attention that our own student body is quick to criticize and can't show reason for it. There are no super teams in our conference and each school demands its share of victories from its coaching staff. Fortunately the Bison have a record that stands right at the top when that share was distributed.

Bob Lowe and Casey Finnegan have done an exceptional job in keeping the local interests in the top row. Lowe headed his first attempts at NCC basketball right into the runner-up position after twice cleaning the "greatest team that ever tossed the ball for the Grand Forks Indians." In the last five years the Bison have placed in first, second, or third position in the five team loop in both basketball and football. The coaching staff that keeps them up there is O. K.

Hockey Game Set

Because there was no official varsity hockey team, interested hockey players have organized themselves into two outfits and have entered the independent hockey league or organized in Fargo and Moorhead. Frosh puck enthusiasts also have banded together and with a squad of fifteen men promise to be one of the most formidable sextets in the loop. Other teams entered are the Falcons, the Braves, and the Fargo high school Midgets.

Engineering Club Learns About Dam

The construction of Boulder dam, gigantic federal building project in Arizona, was explained and illustrated in a lecture before members of the NDESC Engineering club by A. J. Leighton. To give graphical construction pictures of the project, Leighton used a slide camera.

The building of this huge dam was termed by Leighton the largest single hydraulic undertaking since the construction of the Panama canal and will create the largest artificial reservoir in the world, extending 115 miles in length and reaching an eight-mile width in places.

The dam was built, according to Leighton, to control water during flood times and thereby protect the lives of the 75 million inhabitants of the Imperial Valley, to provide electrical power, and to store water for irrigation.

Dick Rupp and Ted Whalen were dinner guests at the Kappa Psi house last Sunday.

Marcella Anderson, Phi Mu, spent the week-end visiting friends in Thief River Falls, Minn.

Guidon will have a pot-luck supper Sunday evening at 5:30 p. m. at the Phi Mu house.

Club To Sponsor Art Competition

An art contest, open to all girls on the campus who are taking or have taken art, will be sponsored by the Art club. Girls must register in the art studio before Friday, January 18, if they wish to participate in this contest which will close Monday, March 4. While there is no limit as to the number of entries one person may have, the articles must come under the heading of either modeling, painting, or crafts.

For the convenience of the contestants the art studio will be open every Thursday evening and the use of tools and clay for modeling is to be permitted, but none of the other materials belonging to the department will be available.

All work must be original and must be of local interest. Judging of entries will occur on March 6 and the winner will be given an award at the meeting to the Art club on March 7.

Homemakers Meet On Campus Jan. 17

Thursday, January 17, members of the college faculty will address farm women gathered here for the annual Farmers and Homemakers week in room A. Ceres hall. The program will consist of instructional and recreational advice.
