LCT Players Present Drama By Belasco

Constance Heilman To Star With Gerald Stevens In Mystery Play

David Belasco's stirring mystery play, "The Return of Peter Grimm," will be given by the Little Country theater players Tuesday, November 2. The production is directed by Alfred Arvold.

The drama stars Constance Heilman, junior, and Gerald Stevens, senior, as Katherine and Peter Grimm, respectively, and offers a unique plot in the death and return of the leading character. When Peter Grimm returns, the audience will witness a strange, singular situation. Its effect on his ward, Katherine, who is in love with James, but feels she must marry Frederick Grimm, because of a promise made to Peter Grimm, is intriguing. A sudden surprise offers an interesting consummation.

Robert Nelson will play the part of Frederick Grimm; Horace Spaulding, Doctor MacPhearson; Justin Brainerd, James Hartman; Howard Kilbourne, Rev. Bartholmy; Marjorie Huey, Martha; William, Alvin Nordlund; Colonel Lawton, Hudson Taylor.

The lighting effects are in charge of Walter Dunkelberger.

"Berkeley Square" Well Attended

Katherine Kilbourne

In a finished production given before a packed house that gave highly commendable comments, "Berkeley Square," John Baldenstone's three-act fantasy-drama was given last Tuesday evening in the Little Country theater. The drama, sponsored by the Edwin Booth Dramatic club, was under the direction of Alice Bender, LCT instructor.

The play centered about the affairs of Peter Standish, a modern young man interpreted well by Donald Dickinson, who believed past, present and future to be one time. In this belief, Standish changed places with one of his ancestors and lived among them at Berkeley Square in the eighteenth century, falling in love with a girl of that period, Helen Pettigrew, played by Iva Brevik. Other members of the cast who gave fine interpretations of their respective parts were Harriet Ellsworth, Frances Cooper, Margaret Hylden Aldeen Paris, Gwendolyn Stenehjem, Jane Nichols, Darrel Dahl, Maurice Benidt, Wilfred Rommel and Curt Remfrey. The play was exceptionally well-costumed in eighteenth century dress and unusual lighting effects added to their colorfulness. "Singing Strings", under the direction of Audrey Kenevan, NDSC violin instructor, played between scenes of the production.

Dr. A. D. Stoesz, botany instructor, returned last Wednesday evening from an emergency trip to Minneapolis. He left Sunday afternoon with his young son for whom a successful examination was conducted. While there he visited with members of the department of botany at the University of Minnesota.

Gayly Costumed Figures Parade Beneath Huge Wickets At Ball

In spite of the fact that Fritzie and Jimmie of walkathon fame, bellhops, peasants, and Raggedy Annes and Andies never drank pink tea at a Madhatters Ball, according to available data such unprecedented happenings made the scene of the YWCA "co-ed only" party of last evening more of a Wonderland than even fiction and fancy ever pictured it.

Bunnies lickety-skipped, be-piloted Tweedle Dees and Dums wobbled, cards shuffled, Humpty dumped, Cheshire cats slinked, and babies (that turned into pigs when food time came) didn't crawl in the madmarching led by one of the Alice in Wonderlands, Jane Nichols, and of the Madhatters, Amy Glaser, wound through and under the croquet wickets of the Queen's court. The rewarded, however, were Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, Jane Crowley and Vinnie Olson, whose first prizes were a compact and powder donated by the Wolds and Service drug store. Seconds were the King and Queen of Hearts, Beth Oliver and Doris Johnson, with prizes an ambrosia set from the Postal Pharmacy and a box of soap furnished by the Fargo drug. Lois Presler and Ellen Blair as Humpty Dumpties won powder from the Dakota drug store as third prizes. Honorable mentions, Fargo drug store combs, were awarded Lorraine Engle and Neomi Skarison, the bunnies.

"Alice in Blunderland," a skit in which Lois McNair was Alice, Virginia Smith, the sand man, Sally Minard, the cat, and two people with unrecognizable legs, the nightmare, was the main part of the program. Pink tea and apple tarts made up the repast, which proved bunnies, Cheshires, Alice, and guests in general neither herbivorous nor carnivorous.

Characterist To Entertain

Portrayal of characters from life and literature will be the theme of the entertainment given by Zellner, characterist from the University of Minnesota extension division, appearing at convocation Wednesday, Nov. 28. This theme will be developed through costumed representations of famous characters.

Costumed characterizations of Saul of Tarsus, the first Hebrew king, who lived a generation before 1000 B. C., with his brilliant array of nomad clothing and customs; Socrates, the ill clothed, ugly faced, gossip, who later became a Greek genius as a reformer and realist; Huckleberry Finn, the boy character created by Mark Twain; Ulysses Grant, a more recent general of American wars; and others including Faust, Mephistopheles, Judas Iscariot, and Abe Finklestein, another creation of literature, will be the main discussions of interest.

Advance press notices gives this feature program a high rating both as to educational and entertainment value.

1931 Grad Designs Aerial Camera

Lieut. Donald Haarman, '31 graduate in engineering now attending the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, made the first successful aerial attempt in photographing an illegal distillery near Cambridge, Mass., with a camera of his own design after attempts with other cameras had failed. The pictures have been sent to Washington, D. C., for a department of justice investigation. Mr. Haarman has received high praise from experts on his aerial camera.

Lieut. Haarman will receive his master degree in aeronautical engineering next spring. He is now taking the technical side of flying, having flown regularly in the U. S. Air Corps since graduation from college.

Robert Haarman, sophomore brother of the photography aviator, is enrolled in the school of engineering, also preparing for aeronautics.

To Whom It May Concern:

In answer to the article appearing in last week's Spectrum, I, as Commissioner of the Campus, would like to submit the following facts to the student body.

Inasmuch as I have obtained my office through student acclamation, let this fact be brought to mind: I am the servant of the student body, not the master. I can accept suggestions from my fellow students and see that they are enforced, but cannot order my fellow students around—the members of the student commission do not pretend to be dictators. The student commission has regular meetings and it would be greatly appreciated by this organization if all suggestions and grievances would be presented directly to them. After all, that is the purpose for which the student commission was created.

Signed:

LOUIS M. WHALEN,
Campus Commissioner.

Medical Test Date Set At Dec. 7

The test for admission to medical schools will be given here on December 7, according to Dean A. E. Minard. These tests are given by the Association of American Medical Colleges and are required by all schools.

Increasing numbers of medical colleges have adopted this system every year and now about 90 per cent of all colleges are using it.

Everyone who plans on entering a medical school next fall should take the exam as it will be given only once. Those interested see Dean Minard as soon as possible. The fee is one dollar.

BAND SCHEDULES SECOND WEEKLY BROADCAST

The Gold Star concert band will give its weekly broadcast over WDAY from Festival hall from 5 to 5:30 p. m. today. These broadcasts, under the baton of "Doc" Putnam, director of music, were started last year and the program this afternoon is the second in a series of concerts to be presented by the band this year.

"Will there be double cuts for missing the Friday after Thanksgiving day?" asked the reporter. "Double cuts? Yes, double and maybe triple!" exclaimed Registrar A. H. Parrott. And this answers the question of the day.

Fargoan Contributes Books, Magazines To NDSC Library

R. C. Lewis, owner of one of the finest libraries in Fargo, recently presented to the NDSC library a number of choice books and magazines. This is the second contribution Mr. Lewis has made to the college library.

Included in the recent acquisition are some folio size magazines dated 1851-1854. One of these is the "Carpetbag", a collection of scraps including many poems. The "Waverly Magazine," a literary repository devoted to original tales, poetry, music, and choice miscellaneous reading, is dedicated to family instruction and amusement. Of a similar nature are "The London Illustrated News," and Gleason's "Pictorial Drawing Room Companion."

"Orlando Furioso," a five volume set by Ludovico Ariosto, deals with the adventures of a knight in the land of fancy at the time of the war between the Saracens and the Christians. It is one of the longest epic poems written, containing forty-six cantos.

Miss Harriet Pearson, assistant librarian of the college library, says that gifts are appreciated, for every book adds to the value of the collection.

Beaux Arts Ball To Be Jan. 11

Reservations for 57 tickets to the Beaux-Arts costume ball, to be held January 11, have already been made, announced Helen Engel and William Akeley, ticket sales managers.

"Although student clamor has necessitated an early ticket sales campaign, only 150 tickets will be sold." Tickets, one dollar a couple, may be purchased in the art department or in the architectural department.

"Those desiring helpful suggestions or constructive ideas regarding their costumes may apply at our bureaus," announced Rudrud and Case, "and we will do our utmost to help them."

Students Tutored For End Of Term

That the end of the term is fast approaching is apparent from the number of freshmen enrolled in various tutoring classes.

The Senior Staff is sponsoring tutorial classes in elementary chemistry for those who are interested. These classes meet in small groups with Florence Beaudine on Mondays and Thursdays from 4 to 5, and from 5 to 6 on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Two graduates of this college, James Konen and Haven Kaslow, are offering tutoring in organic and inorganic chemistry for a charge of 25 cents an hour.

Hamlet, Parrott Make Plans For Bison Brevities

Tryouts For All Parts Are Week Following Xmas Recess

Once more the Bison Brevities office in the old barracks is humming with activity. John Hamlet, manager, and Robert Parrott, business manager, are hard at it, putting the finishing touches to the plans for the 1935 show, tryouts for which will be held the week after Christmas vacation. Rehearsals will commence immediately after tryouts.

Differing from productions of the last few years this show will not be musical comedy, but will be a musical revue of semi-classical nature. An innovation of the coming revue will be an old-fashioned, farcical melodrama which will constitute the black outs between acts. There will be no one or two important leads; instead, each act will have its own leads. According to Parrott, this system will provide a larger outlet for talent, give students more opportunity, afford greater representation to the student body than in the past, and allow greater concentration on each act so as to insure a more polished production. The adoption of this plan will not require as many rehearsals as former productions have demanded and because of this it is hoped that a greater interest will be shown by the student body. About 175 characters will be necessary for the 1935 Brevities.

Because of the wide variety of acts any type of talent can be used. Three or four girls' trios and boys' quartets are needed. Hamlet has corresponded with Fred Waring, Paul Whiteman, Busby Berkeley, arranger and designer of sets for "42nd Street" and "Dames", Bing Crosby, and Eddie Cantor, all of whom have evinced interest in the plans for the coming Brevities.

Sigma Tau Admit Ten Last Sunday

Ten new members were admitted into Sigma Delta, college discussion fraternity, at their meeting in the dining room of the college YMCA Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The program consisted of a debate by four NDSC community debaters on the munitions question. Following the debate, an open forum discussion for the entire group was held. At their last meeting they discussed the Townsend old age pension act.

MULLIGAN

Traffic is resumed on 13th Ave. since the sickle and pitchfork boys have hung up the pigskin for the winter. That is, until they decide to flood the street and play hockey on it.

We hail the discovery of another Rip Van Winkle. Somebody sent in a contribution to "Rowdy Remarks", a column which breathed its last some three years ago.

Orville (Casanova) Goplin has not yet recovered from his anything-but-platonic experience last Saturday night. Nightingales' liquid notes, soft moonlight and slow waltz time all day for him, even in this frozen bleakness.

Someone should send Bergquam a collar button-keeper-on-the-dressing-table, seeing as how he was still looking for his when the last notes of the Engineers Ball died out.

We understand that Chester Perry is being held pending inquiry concerning the stolen sugar bowl which was found in his coat. Apparently he had found the Dugout pretty good diggings.

The Young (younger than we thought) Democrats had "so much fun" at their meeting Wednesday night. Golseth recited nursery rhymes. Katie Ray giggled bubbles in her coffee, and then they all went home when the curfew blew.

What we consider the height of composure, collectedness, etc., was reached by Betty Benton when she said, in answer to Jacobson's plea to be her lord and master, "Have you considered this thoroughly?"

Imagine the fright Rosine Dahlen, '34 grad, received when confronted by Don Fredrikson in Hinsdale, Mont. Don was scaring all the children in town with his week's growth of beard and goggles.

Hanson Acts As Mediator In Community Strike Dispute

Of the sincere gratitude which citizens extended to Governor Ole Olson and the board of mediators for the part they played in averting a strike here last week, a large share comes to Dr. H. C. Hanson, head of the botany department of the North Dakota State College.

The dispute arose when local employees of creameries demanded recognition of the union they had organized in accordance with Section 7a of the NIRA to represent them in collective bargaining, and for a decrease in hours and an increase in wages.

Earlier this year, Dr. Hanson was recognized by his associates, when he was elected secretary of the Fargo Trades and Labor assembly, and was again honored when the employees involved in the recent dispute chose him as one of the three mediators of the board of mediators who should represent them in their negotiations with the employers. The choosing of a man to fill this post was a serious matter, as broad-minded, capable leadership was necessary to give both sides equal satisfaction in the final decision.

It was this work in a position of trust with other representatives of labor, employers and the public, without hope of gain and at considerable personal sacrifice, that one of our faculty members rendered the service for which the community now thanks them.

'Thumbs Down' To Lazy Officers

Perhaps the excitement attendant to homecoming proved too much for our student commission. Perhaps it has not had time to recover from its unaccustomed activity. Most probably it has resumed "the placid stupor of contemplative indifference" which has characterized not only this commission, but also the commissions of the last three years. Can the planning of a successful homecoming and also the sponsoring of a few dances constitute the only duty of this body? Is the title "Commissioner of _____" only another activity to place after one's name in the year book?

Certainly there is no lack of problems with which the commission might cope. Two of the most apparent are:

1. Flagrant disobedience of traffic rules on this campus.
2. Students' disregard for the appearance of the campus.

If the commission is going to ignore the transgressions of the student body, why bother to have a commission? If, on the other hand, the students evince enough interest, to bother casting a vote for their choice, surely it should behoove the commission to look out for the welfare of their constituency inasmuch as the student body does not have the intelligence to look out for its own good.

If the desire to do something which may benefit the student body does not exist in the members of the commission, surely there should be a personal conceit which would take exception to the brazen flouting by the student body of all campus regulations. Is the commission going to allow the students to disregard the campus regulations and by so doing practically insult the commission?

Student Opinion

Another honorary fraternity has crashed into the headlines. The scouts have seen fit to further clutter up our social landscape with officers, badges and what have you. This is not meant to single them out, but merely to point out the mire of organizations in which our comparatively small campus is wallowing. A glance through the late issue of the College Directory will convince one that we are indeed specialists—specialists along many lines. Versatility is very fine. It is nice to be able to do many things. But we are not "jacks of all trades". We are merely ten spots—just peddlers. If the number of organizations and sub-organizations on the campus should be divided by the number of students enrolled, the quotient would be surprisingly small. It is apparent that we are becoming too club-conscious. There are too many overlapping groups whose actions and ends are practically similar. Can it be possible that honoraries

The Social Climber

The scribe pouted her cherry-red lips and said: O dear, dear me, O dear, What has become of the march leaders? For they didn't show up, not till the ball was over . . . They probably knew that they would get blisters on their toes from trying to get a grip on the too-waxed floor . . . But it was a good party, engineers . . . , Saturday night the Alpha Gamma's had a party, very quiet . . . Prosperity has not returned. The blue Monday teas have cut down to one cookie. I'll bet there's a small turnout next week; and is Lucille Iverson distressed! . . . At the reception after Berkeley Square, pronounced Barkley, heh, Dickinson, quite the lion over the coffee and doughnuts, soothed with gracious smiles the uttering feminine hearts, while the less fortunate males glowered from their corners . . . Last Monday night the Kappa's discussed, between lanches of Jacobson's candy, the probable source of the next box of these calculating females! . . . The sharp ears of some of the campuses will probably raise havoc with the decorations at the POP's blue bubble ball, or the POP's popping party . . . The same evening, Friday next, the Kappa Psi's are contemplating a party. So far the decorations are still in the contemplative stage . . . Some of the boys are going to 'come up and see' the D's Saturday night. They'd ought to feel right at home, too, as the theme's to be a Bowery, with cider 'everything' . . . The Sigma Tau's pledges must be coming thru with the parlor dues, with two parties this term, or maybe they get the orchestra wholesale from the leader . . . Bottom of the paper, folks, so 've gotta quit. Are times tough!

PLEDGES ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

The Phi Omega Pi pledge group entertained the Mother's club at the regular Monday night meeting. The program consisted of a song by the pledges, an original short story by Lucille Spicer, a piano solo by Mary Sherwood, a song by a trio composed of Dorothy Thull, Mildred Koettcher, Mary Clark; a short one-act play, "Pif-Pif", with Frances Courtlotte, Ione Carpenter, and Helen Edmunds.

Harold Albrecht, Otto Walhowe, and James Baccus, who have been working on a government surveying project at Minto, spent the weekend at the Delta Tau Epsilon house on their way to Bismarck to report before being assigned to a new project.

Seminar topics will be presented by the chemistry students working on their masters, in room 205 chemistry building, in the near future. James Konen, on November 21, will talk on "Yellowing of Courmaron." November 28, Harven Kaslow will talk on "Linolenic acid of linseed oil."

Evve Hammer, senior in Education, was pledged Phi Omega Pi sorority on Monday, November 19.

Four Groups Plan Informal Parties For The Weekend

Continuing the annual series of informal parties, four fraternal groups will be hosts at dances this week-end. Various themes will be carried out in decorating Festival hall and the college "Y" when Phi Omega Pi sorority and Kappa Psi fraternity entertain tonight. Kappa Delta sorority and Sigma Tau fraternity will have their parties tomorrow night.

Walter Ekern is in charge of the Kappa Psi party to be given at the "Y" Friday evening from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Music will be furnished by Abbie Andrews' Red Jackets. Chaperoning are Dean and Mrs. W. F. Sudro, Professor and Mrs. Matys Jongeward, and Professor and Mrs. Kenneth Hanson.

Kappa Delta will entertain their pledges in Festival hall Saturday from 9 to 11:30 with Johnny Driscoll's orchestra playing. A "bowery" theme will be carried out.

Active and alumnae chapters are to be hostesses at a Founders' day tea Sunday afternoon at the home of Dr. Elizabeth Rindlaub. Mrs. Rehder and mothers of the pledges and actives will be honored guests. Mary Hannaher is in general charge. Senior Staff entertained Mrs. Rehder at a luncheon in the Alpha Gamma Delta rooms Thursday noon.

GAMMA PHI BETA IS HOST TO PROVINCE DIRECTOR

Mrs. T. Rehder, director of the fourth province of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, will be entertained this week-end by the local chapter.

A tea, sponsored by the pledge and active chapters, will be given in her honor Saturday afternoon at the sorority apartment. Representatives of sororities and fraternities and faculty members will be guests. Mary Elise Bibow is general chairman and will be assisted by the committee heads: Elise Brophy, re-

Clinton Mogen, Gordon Johnson, and Marion Striker, of the class of '34, have returned from their work in Billings county where they have been employed on the U. S. Soil survey. They will continue their work by compiling the data found during the summer.

Thursday dinner guests at the Sigma Chi house were Major Easton, Captain Conny, Captain Ennis, Captain McChrystal, and Dr. Putnam.

Charles Waldron, '34, who has been working in the Yellowstone Park the past summer, has returned to his home in Fargo. He expects to continue his school work.

Emil Nelson, his mother, and two sisters were dinner guests of Alpha Gamma Rho, Sunday. Nelson, whose home is Edgeley, is a freshman in agriculture.

Herman Peschken, formerly of Gamma chapter in Pennsylvania but now of Lambda in Minnesota, was a visitor of AGR Monday. Donald Groom, '34, was also a visitor.

Members of Phi Mu sorority entertained rushees at a luncheon Saturday at Le Chateau cafe. Mary Mae Hall was in charge.

Erling Nord and Ruggles Clay, Kappa Psis, were deer hunting this weekend in Green Bush, Minn.

Monday afternoon the Sigma Chi's Mother's club held a tea at the A. H. Parrott residence, in honor of the new pledge mothers.

Plans Formulated For YMCA Groups' Annual Functions

Having started their new plans for the year, the college YWCA is now in full swing.

Favorite poems were read by members of the poetry and music group, which meets Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Fireside room of the college YMCA with Lois Presler in charge. With the discussion of the appreciation of music and poetry in foreign countries, the group is carrying out their November theme, world fellowship. The girls plan on making scrap books of their favorite poems. All girls are welcome to these informal meetings.

The YWCA cabinet members led an open forum last Tuesday in the "Y" room at 12 a.m. Jane Rush reported on the YWCA conference at Geneva, Wis., last summer. A discussion of the "Y" movement in general followed. These open cabinet meetings will be held every third Tuesday of the month with discussions on "The Superb Adventure of Living." This is intended to help the girls find a workable philosophy of life. "Living Creatively" by Kirby Page will be studied on the first Tuesday of each month.

The freshman commission, a group of sophomore girls, meets the first Wednesday of every month at noon in the YWCA. A business meeting is held which is followed by a discussion on the problems of a college girl.

For the past three weeks the YWCA has been carrying on a membership drive with Jean Newton in charge. At the end of the drive there are 187 members. Mary Elise Bibow was in charge of a scavenger and party given for Mary Horner's team, the winner, by the losers.

By MAINE SHAFER

Hi Doty, Oklahoma publicity manager, writes: "Please do something about Fritz Hanson. Drown him, choke him, decapitate him, it doesn't matter what, but please make sure that he won't be visiting us again. That hula-hipped little devil lost me five dollars last Friday night and, I am positive, shortened my life by at least ten years. Ninety seven yards- Whew!"

There is no use trying to keep peace with the North Dakota University Student reporter who insists on leaving the Bison in the shade when it comes to picking an all-conference team. His selections are certainly admirable except in one instance. Whether it is an earnest mistake or a continuance of the rivalry between the two schools that prompts him to leave Hanson from the honored eleven, we don't know.

It will be remembered that it was Hanson that provided the margin of victory over the Sioux and, furthermore, that he was not stopped during the entire sixty minutes that he played against the "U". There we have measure of evidence that our friend has inconsistently overlooked.

It may be that the upstate scribe was more enthusiastically impressed by those whom he favored. We feel that he has every right to exert such a boldness as this omission of Hanson in the face of the Bison trouncing at the hands of SDS. But all-conference mention is not a team recognition—selection is not entirely regulated by a formula whereby the titlist takes so many—and so on down.

As though in demonstration, Hanson led the Bison back into the winning column with an uncanny bit of running against the Oklahoma City university.

Just about the time we can look back at the Bison game with Minnesota and treasure those twelve points, we remember that along about December 15, Bob Lowe takes his cagers to meet the Gopher five at Minneapolis.

Texas Tech Closes Bison Season Today

ND Stalwarts In Fine Shape For Matadors

Olson To Play Center As Maynard Is Out With Injury

Having successfully negotiated the first step on their southern tour, Casey Finnegan and his Thundering Herd from the North Dakota plains will attempt to completely subdue their Dixie land opponents when they encounter the first rate team of gridders from Texas Tech this afternoon.

The Bison have been away from the home camps for ten days now and will return to the Aggie stronghold this Sunday. Since last Sunday the Texans have played host at Lubbock, headquarters for Texas Tech, where the Fargoans are working out daily. This fracas marks the final stand of the fast-traveling Finneganmen this season, who so far have won five, tied one, and dropped three decisions.

Reports from the south indicate that the Bison will be in tip-top condition when game time rolls around. The only serious casualty is that of Stan Maynard, center. Because of the injury to Earl Thomas which caused the Herd coach to leave this regular at home, it is quite probable that Captain Acey Olson may get the assignment at the pivot post. In case this happens, Forrest Stevens or Beryl Newman will be given the call at a flank position. Hanson, who put the Oklahoma contest on ice when he whirled through the entire Goldbug eleven and raced 96 yards for the winning counter, is in the proverbial pink. Bob Erickson, 200 pounds of TNT who operates from the fullback position, is in fine fettle and should afford the Matadors some fine entertainment for a Friday afternoon.

The Texans boast a fine record for their football elevens and are rated on the same par as Rice, the leading team in the southwest. In comparison with the 13-7 victory which the Bison beat out over the Oklahoma Bugs, the Matadors trounced the same team and ended on the long end of a 20-0 score.

We have chosen this line-up with little attention to the schools at which the men played, but have had one object in view, namely, to pick the strongest possible team from among the grid-ders in the North Central conference. There was little to choose between the first quartet and Johnson and Erickson of the second string. Preference was shown to the first four because all of these can either carry the ball better than any others in the loop or because of their versatility. While both Erickson, and Johnson play the same position, they are luminaries at their posts yet can not be placed before Miller, who was the stand-out ball carrier with the possible exception of Hanson. Johnson, rather than Erickson, was shifted to a halfback because of his passing and kicking ability.

Bison Cagers' Roster Boast Several Veteran Performers

Varsity basketball as far as NDSC is concerned, should prove to be equally as interesting as the cage games witnessed last year, according to Coach Bob Lowe. Those students who recall the thrilling encounters between the Bison and Sioux in their quartet of games will be looking forward to the coming season with a great deal of interest.

Only one varsity regular has been lost through graduation, namely, Arnold Mickelson, but "Andy" Anderson, clever Bison center, will be absent as he is attending Colorado State this year. To offset these losses a number of potential aspirants have climbed up from last year's freshman team. The return of the remaining regulars and reserves plus the new men boosts the Bison stock well up to come home with the old North Central conference title. It is to be remembered that last year with the championship at stake the Sioux came back at Grand Forks to trounce the Bison in the final two games.

Among the members of last year's squad to return are Captain Bud Marquardt, "Acey" Olson, Neville Reiners, Curt Denny, Arnold Bernard, Lyle Stinson, Stanley Maynard, and Don Bettschen. The sophomore candidates include Forrest Stevens, Wendell Kielty, Robert Saunders, Robert Erickson, Ernest Percy, and Lester Dohn.

123 Men Report At First Practice

More than 125 men reported for the first practice of the rifle team last week in the physical education building. This is the largest turnout in the history of the team, according to Capt. J. B. Conmy, who coaches the team.

The candidates for the team who have not been out before are required to go through a preliminary training. They must first shoot in the prone position. After they have become proficient in this position they will be advanced to the sitting position, then to the kneeling position, and finally they will be allowed to shoot from the standing position. ### Van Zandt Pleads For Veterans In Address Monday

That the veterans of foreign wars have been discriminated against in federal legislation passed during the past few years in favor of federal employees was the plea of James E. Van Zandt, militant commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in an address before a convention of that group held in Festival hall Monday night. Van Zandt outlined a seven-point program of the organization, pointing out their objectives which include four for the good of the nation and three for the war veterans.

Opening the program was a band concert by Doc Putnam's Gold Star unit. Selections included two wartime medleys with which everyone present was familiar.

Van Zandt expressed confidence that during the coming session of congress legislation favorable to the veterans would be passed. The gigantic government-spending plans merits, in his estimation, a pay-off especially of the soldiers' bonus.

The seven-point legislative program of his organization outlined by Van Zandt include:

1. Establishment of equality of pensions. Veterans of all wars to be placed on an equal basis.
2. Uniform pensions for mothers, widows, and orphans.
3. Immediate cash payment of the bonus.
4. Americanism program: "The immediate conscription of wealth the same as man power in event of future war, to take the profit out of war."
5. Government should own and operate munitions plants.

This practice will continue until about ten days after the Christmas recess, after which the annual College Sweepstakes will be held. Two trophies will be awarded. Men who have never been out for the team before are the only ones that will be able to compete for the first of these trophies.

Competition for the second is open to anybody, novice or veteran. The results of the College Sweepstakes will determine the regular team, which will then enter its regular inter-collegiate competition.

Forensic Teams Go To Prosper, Amenia

The Little Country theater community debaters coached by Don Hay, speech instructor, will give two debates in rural centers this week-end. Amenia and Prosper are the towns to be visited by NDSC forensic groups.

At both places the question: resolved, that the essential features of the AAA should be made permanent. The group discussion style of argumentation will be followed at both meetings. Before the neighborhood club of Amenia in their newly-constructed community hall, Frieda Panimon, Henry Swenson, Sigurd Melstad, and Lawrence Bue will discuss this question Saturday night. Lawrence Bue will give a trumpet solo. In another NDSC community debate Tuesday night, Prosper will be the discussion-point of Mike Benidt, Orville McLaughlin, Howard Wolcow, and Calvin Olson.
