Kreisler Recital Attracts Record Crowd Tuesday

Famous Violinist Renders Three Original Works As the Encores

Over 2500 people greeted Fritz Kreisler, world famous violinist, at the concert played in Festival Hall last Tuesday night.

Patrons filled the gun-room, ante-room, and many were seated on the stage. In addition, hundreds were turned away from the gate.

The program combined representative classic and modern transcriptions—Haendel, Bach, and Mendelssohn being familiar to all as standard works in the world's finest literature for the violin. In the modern school, Mr. Kreisler chose Korngold's Suite to "Much Ado" and the De Falla transcription. The third excerpt from "Much Ado", Garden Scene, was beautifully played. Kreisler's projection of the melody line in sustained legato passages is singularly impressive. If any technical difficulties exist for this artist, they are not apparent to the human ear. His precise intonation, double-stopping, and above all—his use of the bow, are things of wonder to his listeners. For many years, the professional school of violin has given Kreisler due credit for his ultimate skill in the technique of bowing. The exquisite phrasing, and all the variables in nuance find expression through the upper half of his stick which he controls with a maximum of effortless grace and precision.

The encores, "Londonderry Air," "Caprice Viennois," and "The Old Refrain," which were played in succession, are Mr. Kreisler's own arrangements.

If the enthusiasm of the audience was legitimate indication, it can be said now that the music Tuesday night was truly an individual, emotional experience to each one present.

Mr. Kreisler was accompanied by Carl Lamson.

Seniors Winners In Class Debates

George Toman and Lloyd Flem, who comprised the senior debate team, defeated Richard Ellis and Henry Swenson, sophomore debaters, in the finals of the inter-class tournament yesterday afternoon. The subject was: resolved, that the crop production features of the AAA should be made permanent.

In the semi-finals Wednesday afternoon, the sophomores defeated the freshman team, Merlin Johnson and Donald Erickson. The seniors went into the finals uncontested because the junior class did not put a team in the running.

Judges in the final contest were Cathryn Ray and Howard Kilbourne of the Lincoln club, sponsors of the inter-class contests.

Tryouts for participants in inter-collegiate and community debate will begin next week, according to Don Hay, debate coach.

All material, poetry, essays, and stories for the Collegian should be turned in to Cathryn Ray in the Bison office.

No Applications For Rhodes Award Received By Dean

No students from this school have filed applications for Rhodes Scholarships yet this year, according to Dean A. E. Minard who is in charge of arrangements on this campus. The deadline for application is November 17.

Students who win scholarships enter Oxford University in the fall of 1935. Rhodes Scholars are chosen in the following manner:

The United States is divided into eight districts, each composed of six states. In each state there is a committee of selection which nominates from the candidates applying to it, the two best to appear before the district committee. The district committee selects four men from the twelve candidates as Rhodes Scholars.

Holder of degrees from an approved college or university can obtain senior standing at Oxford which makes it possible to obtain the B. A., or research degree, in two years. Undergraduates who have not yet taken their degrees are not eligible for more than junior standing, which carries with it exemption from responsibilities. Moreover, no student can obtain junior standing whose college course has not included the study of two foreign languages, one of which must be Latin or Greek. Any student who is not thus qualified will not be appointed unless exceptionally qualified and able to satisfy the committee of selection that he is practically certain to pass an examination exempting him from responsibilities before taking up his scholarship. Students from this college offering the required languages will have this problem to contend with.

INITIATION CEREMONY HELD BY ALPHA ZETA

Ellis Thompson, junior in agriculture, was initiated into the active chapter of Alpha Zeta at the regular meeting. The members are Marline Cline, Don Scott, Laddie Kelley, Calvin Olson, William Johnson, who was initiated last spring, and Ellis Thompson. Don Scott was voted to represent Dacotah chapter at the national conclave to be held at the Stevens hotel in Chicago the last part of December.

Convocation Lecturer Discusses Growing Challenge To Democracy

"It is practically impossible today to plan your life in the terms of a career," thus spoke Dr. B. M. Cherrington, faculty member of the University of Denver before NDSC convocation yesterday forenoon. Dr. Cherrington, who was a special speaker at the N. D. E. A. convention here in Fargo, entitled his talk yesterday, "Democracy and Its Competitors."

Speaking in an easy conversational tone of voice, Dr. Cherrington conveyed sincerity and interest in his topic to his audience. He divided his speech into three general heads which pertained to the three great philosophies of the

Spaulding Is Meet Delegate

Company, 3rd regiment, the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, will send Horace Spaulding as its representative to the national convention at the University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio, November 15. Spaulding will leave November 12.

This is the thirtieth year of the organization and is the first time that a convention has been held in the early fall rather than in the spring. The change of date was decided upon at the St. Louis convention in 1932 in order to give the active members more benefit of the inspiration derived from these national meetings. Conventions are held every two years.

Scabbard and Blade is an honorary organization of advanced course ROTC students. Members are chosen for their proficiency and interest in military subjects, and their active participation in a sound program of national defense. The fraternity numbers seventy-eight companies, with an active membership of approximately 2,000, and a total membership of about 22,000.

The organization sponsors a pistol match and a rifle match between the various companies each year. A cup is awarded the winning company. In addition Scabbard and Blade supports a national publication, the Scabbard and Blade Journal, and coordinates the efforts of all companies with other organizations interested in the same objectives.

world. He compared the youth of the world as to philosophy and pierced the framework of his talk with humorous episodes encountered in various countries of the world.

Dr. Cherrington pointed out the value of democracy which finds its origin in the teachings of Jesus as compared to other prevalent philosophies of the world today. In conclusion, Dr. Cherrington said, "American students are soft—mentally and spiritually! If democracy is to be saved for the world, this condition must be altered. Fervor and enthusiasm must replace dull complacency or the other current philosophies of Marxism or Fascism will destroy democracy."

Scouters Club Installation Held By National APO Unit At Services Here Wednesday

Harry Hall Signed As Engineer's Ball Orchestra Nov. 16

One of the most popular dance bands in the northwest, Harry Hall and his orchestra, will be featured at the Engineers ball to be held in the Field house from 9 to 12 o'clock Friday, Nov. 16. Slow music as advocated by such leaders as Paul Whiteman and Rudy Vallee is the band's specialty.

Modern scenes in a colored setting will be the theme and will be carried out in the fashion that has gained for the Engineers ball the reputation of being the social highlight of the fall term. Former balls have always delighted the student body and this coming dance will be bigger and better than any previous affairs put on by the engineers, according to Al. Garvick, publicity director.

Tickets are fifty cents per couple and may be secured from representatives at the various fraternity houses and at the men's dormitory as well as at the entrance. Honor guests will be faculty members of the engineering department.

New Music Group Appear With Play

Making its public debut in connection with the presentation of Berkeley Square, three-act play, sponsored by the Edwin Booth dramatic club, will be Singing Strings, musical organization of twelve coeds under the direction of Audrey Kenevan.

Members of the group are Lorraine Weir, Ann Bolley, Joan Pote, Vivian Maloney, Leona Metzinger, Gertrude Anderson, Ione Noggle, Florence Gregerson, Helen Pease, Ruth Piper, Muriel Nelson, and Josephine Weinberger. Six violins, one viola, three cellos, one bass viol and a piano are the instruments played.

Three hours rehearsal daily are being accomplished by the cast of the play, made up of Gwendolyn Stenehjem, Maurice Benidt, Harriet Ellsworth, Margaret Hylden, Darrit Dahl, Ivah Brevik, Wesley Gilbertson, Aldeen Paris, Donald Dickinson, Jane Nichols, Curt Remfrey, Leone Phillips, Frances Cooper, and Wilfred Rømmel. Costuming and staging staffs are busy. The costumes are authentic copies of the period of 1784, many of them patterned after those used in the Washington Centennial Beaux Arts Ball.

FRATERNITY BURGLAR SENTENCED AT OREGON

A former college student who gave the name of John O. Erickson of Racine, Wis., was sentenced to five years in Oregon state penitentiary following his conviction as member of a ring of robbers who preyed on fraternity houses not only in Oregon but throughout the mid-west.

Form Alpha Lambda Chapter Of National Society At Banquet

The Scouters' club became Alpha Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary scouting fraternity, at installation services held Wednesday night at the Waldorf hotel. Installing officer was H. Roe Bartle, Kansas City, supreme grand master of Alpha Phi Omega.

A banquet at 6:45 p.m. preceded the ceremonies. Speakers of the evening, besides Bartle, were Dr. J. H. Shepperd, Dean I. W. Smith, Dr. A. D. Stoesz, the chapter's senior faculty adviser, and Rev. R. V. Conard, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church. Sidney Shannon was in charge of installation arrangements.

Dean I. W. Smith spoke on "Alpha Phi Omega on Our Campus." The idea that APO is not a regular fraternity but a service group was brought out. "Relationship of APO to the Boy Scout Movement," was Rev. R. V. Conard's topic. He stated that this organization was the missing link between the Boy Scouts of the secondary schools, and the adult Scout leaders. Dr. J. H. Shepperd presented the "Challenge to APO."

Newly installed officers of the chapter are: Warren Covert, grand master; Gordon Brandes, deputy grand master; Gordon Heggeness, grand scribe; Dayton Jones, grand treasurer.

For two years the Scouters' club has been active on the campus. College students who are Scouts or former Scouts are eligible to membership in the newly nationalized organization.

Present members are: Hugh Anstett, Newell Beckwith, Gordon Brandes, Dayton Jones, Warner Litten, William Akeley, Lynn Fredrikson, Sidney Shannon, Vincent Case, Douglas Sasse, John Seeba, Robert Froling, Richard Lynn, Robert Stegner, William Thompson, Grant Pratt, James Shigley, Warren Covert, Robert Bergseth, Gordon Heggeness, Kenneth Pringle, David Cavett, Sam Dobervich, and Vinton Plath.

Honorary members are H. B. Thompson, Arthur Knight, Lloyd Mack, Ed McArdle, Frederick Martin, Gordon Strong, Rev. R. V. Conard.

Dr. Stoesz, Dean Smith, and J. R. Dice are faculty advisers.

Scouting advisers are E. H. Bakken, executive of the Red River Valley Council, and A. Mattioli, executive of the superior council.

GAMMA TAU INITIATES

Gamma Tau Sigma, national honorary journalistic fraternity, initiated William Murphy, Warner Litten, and Morton Larsen yesterday at 5:30 p.m. in Ceres hall.

Robert Parrott, president of the group, conducted the initiation ceremonies. A banquet followed the formal rites.

Election And NDSC Future

North Dakota State college has been hard put during the past two years to maintain the standards for which this educational institution was founded. The immediate cause was occasioned when the Langer regime brot about drastic reduction in teachers' salaries and departmental appropriations. Contributing reasons were the deplorable financial plight of the farmer, the present system of general property taxation, and an unsympathetic administration. A faculty working at a wage which makes it hard for them to eke out an existence and a student body deprived of equipment for necessary research activities cannot fulfill highly-desired educational requirements.

During the past two days, faculty members, students, and supporters of North Dakota State college manifested a perceptible wave of enthusiasm when the electorate ousted the Langer faction from the state governorship. Their optimism was presumably prompted by the hopes of increased salaries for the instructors and enlarged departmental appropriations.

Of course, we realize that the problem is mainly an economic one, not one which should be solved from a political standpoint. Whether Tom Moodie or Lydia Langer is governor, the problem of raising money to sustain the educational institutions and other social services is a difficult one. However, a sympathetic administration striving to devise more efficient and equitable means of raising taxes could do much to alleviate the situation.

STUDENTS TAX CAMPUS FACE LIFTING

Evidently there are still many students who are ignorant of the fact that the campus is having its face lifted, so to speak. For some time a crew of men have been busy working under the FERA, digging up the campus and leveling it off so that it may assume a new and more delightful form next spring when the grass will grow up.

Every day new paths are made by thoughtless students endeavoring to get to the fraternity house to throw some of the well known "bull". If this keeps up the campus will soon appear like a giant waffle iron. In a country where every green thing needs encouragement in order to flourish, it is especially necessary that students stick to the sidewalks if we are to have a campus with a presentable appearance.

On every side are heard criticisms that the campus is not beautified enough, yet these same people that complain will themselves dash madly across the campus to "bum" a cigarette from some generous classmate. Surely we are old enough to realize that a beautiful campus can be obtained only through co-operation of the student body. Is it too much to ask of college students to observe a few rules which, if observed, will further their desires?

Carpe Diem

With the installation of the Alpha Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national honorary college fraternity devoted to the furthering of the Boy Scout activities in our American institutions of higher learning, comes national backing of an organization that has proved its worth on our campus. Because of the extensive and intensive work done in scouting not only in the Red River valley but also throughout the entire northwest, in which section most of our students reside, this service fraternity for younger students has a very definite place in our school.

The honor which is bestowed on this institution by the coming of the national group is certainly deeply appreciated. It brings to mind again very forcibly the ever-present opportunity for service to one's school and fellow-students. It revives latent energies and forces for helpfulness which are too apt to become inactive and even inoperative through degeneracy during a period of individual strain aggravated by national and international conditions.

Willing and magnanimous service to one's fellowmen is the highest form of usefulness. In our busy day let us pause for a moment, reflect, consider, appreciate. Then will we fully realize the bountifulness of our own lives and receive inspiration and desire to assist others in their problems.

Each student should manifest actively his interest in the welfare of his alma mater-to-be through direct participation in and intense further-

Mr. Norman Christianson, Editor, The 1935 Dacotah. Dear Sir:

I am glad to hear that you and the dummy are getting along so well. My work in the past election has kept me so busy that it has been impossible for me to do any work on the Bison. I hope that you noticed that Moodie carried a large majority in Cass county. (I'm president of the Young Democrats club in Cass county.) (Jim (Farley) told me that I'm doing some wonderful work in this district. I expect to branch out and work a bigger territory in the next election. I shall soon be in the legislature, and I want you to know that any bill that you want rail-roaded through I'll take charge of and guarantee you that it'll have a good chance of becoming a law. Dr. Hunsaker thinks I'll do fine at log-rolling, lobbying, and pork-barreling. My platform: Down with Langer; (give the Democrats a chance to make some money) I stand for $1.00 wheat; $.05 beer; bonus to farmers who do not raise a crop; hard liquor for the state of North Dakota; and more federal relief. Your vote solicited, Katie Ray for the state legislature, lived 20 years in the state, no experience, but Jim Farley thinks I am O.K.

I shall write you again concerning the book.

Dancing Parties Planned By Five Groups This Week

Four Greek letter organizations, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, and Phi Mu sororities and Sigma Phi Delta fraternity, will entertain at dancing parties this weekend.

Kappa Kappa Gamma's blue and blue will be the featured decorations when the active chapter entertains their pledges in the college "Y" Friday evening, November 9, from 9 to 11:30 o'clock. A song trio made up of Jean and Marjorie Dadey and Genevieve Hawkinson, will present musical numbers. Don Fredrikson's band with Marjorie Arnold will furnish the music.

A "jail" theme with traditional picks and shovels, rock piles, and rogues' gallery, will be the setting in Festival hall Saturday, November 10, when the pledges of Gamma Phi Beta are entertained by the active chapter. Music will be furnished by Scott's orchestra.

Phi Mu sorority will hold their fall party in the "Y" Saturday evening from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. A nautical theme will be carried out in the decorations. Following the dance, a buffet lunch will be served at the Fine Arts club. Betty Russell is in general charge.

Sigma Phi Delta's party will be held in Stone's Hall instead of Festival hall as previously planned because the NDEA are holding a meeting there Friday, November 9, from 9 to 11:30 p. m. The fraternity's black and red and indirect lighting effects will decorate the hall.

KD'S HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Kappa Delta's will hold open house Tuesday from 2 to 6 p. m. in their new rooms in the YMCA building. All faculty members and the students are invited.

Gigantic Figures Will Dwarf Guests At Costume Ball

Huge toadstools, out of proportion flowers, enlarged small animals, and gigantic insects will feature the decorations at the Beaux Arts ball, to be held Jan 11, under the joint production of the Art Club and the Architects Club. These decorations will give the individual the feeling of being a gnome or fairy in "The Valley of The Gnomes", announced Ellen Blair and Robert Landbloom, joint managers of the ball.

The theme was chosen at the meeting Wednesday evening of the decorations committees from the competitive sketch problems the architects completed last week, and from material presented by members of the Art Club.

Members of the decoration committees judged the sketches, assisted by Prof. Homer Huntoon and George Carter. The sketches were judged on the merits of originality, color, and presentation. Robert Sundt won first prize, Jerome Stevenson, second, and Bernon Kohl, third. Honorable mention were, Dallas Rudrud, Omar Korshus, and Robert Whitehead.

Education Reform Group Organized

The average student makes little progress from the time he becomes a freshman until he graduates, according to the surveys of the Pennsylvania Study, an organization formed for the revision of the American educational system. John R. Tunis, the author of "Human Waste in the Colleges," published in Scribner's, emphasizes the inadequacy of the present American college.

The greatest part of the blame lies in the credit system in our colleges, and not entirely with the students, teachers, or the administration. The author states that the credit system gives the student just enough initiative to complete his different courses and receive a grade; after that, the course is forgotten. The attitude of the individual student also has affect on the success of educational systems, and that attitude of the average present day student is indifference. Young people should not waste their money attending college when they are absolute misfits, and a misfit, the author says, is anyone whose interest goes no deeper than the football field or the final grade.

"Experiment and change are in the air," says Mr. Tunis. Already the honors plan, or divisional idea has been accepted in colleges throughout the country, Princeton, Harvard, Swarthmore, in the east; Chicago and Minnesota in the middle west; one or two on the Pacific coast. Many new systems are being originated, and it is the expectation that the future colleges of the United States will produce for the coming generations, educated men and women, instead of sad excuses for such.

If your best friend bites the coin you give him in payment of that weekend loan, don't break up your friendship by thinking that he doubts your integrity. He probably has been one of those stung by the counterfeiter who has made his presence felt at several of the college institutions.

The College Cafe and the Bookstore have found in their day's receipts dimes, quarters, and fifty-cent pieces which refused to give out any sound but a dull thud when thrown on the counter.

As yet the culprit has not been discovered.

It was rather a blue weekend for the Bison backers after the boys were nicked by those Moorhead upstarts on Friday. But there it was—a week after homecoming. All the power concentrated against the Sioux was evidently sapped from the supply set in store for the Dragons. It is unfortunate that football teams are not more mechanical and immune to slumps.

It is not particularly complimentary to the Teachers to say that the Bison were off color. We know now that they have a real ball club. Their outfit is as good as any we have seen in this territory for several seasons—and a posie to Mr. Vincent Yatchak who was undoubtedly the one point difference that gave the Peds the victory.

We are almost tempted to revive the fun with the university by saying that there is a school in Moorhead that will give them another sixty minutes of trouble. At any rate we can tell them a day in advance that the "U" will not be the conference champs. The Bison, crippled though they are, have been so stimulated by the tonic that Moorhead treated them to last week that they are very definitely on their way to the seat of honor.

Casey knows that he has to carry his Bison past a crack South Dakota State team before he can take home the banner; but he can add to that the comfortable feeling that his gang is willing to get down to work and really bang someone around. The Bison have no intention of giving up their right to the conference crown to an outfit that they have beaten (emphasis on all five letters).

The ND "U" Sioux stand to step in with the blue ribbon should the Bison fall to SDS. Can you see the Aggies giving in to such a situation if they can possibly stop it? Thanks, you've answered it for us.

The Sioux have had their chance to cop any prize that might have been coming to them. Any disposition of the pennant other than by a direct scrap always means a letdown in the satisfaction of winning—even though we're sure the "U" are hoping us their worst. It all leads to the one fact—that the Bison are not going to fool away their chances to come home a winner and, incidentally, to beat "U" twice.

Brookings Game To Decide NCC Title

Bison, Bunnies Face Crucial Test Tomorrow

By WALT McGRATH
When Finnegan, Lowe and company travel to Brookings, South Dakota, this weekend it will be to decide whether the Herd or the Sioux from Grand Forks will annex the title of champs for the North Central Conference.

A victory for the Aggies would assure them the crown, while a win for the Bunnies would cause the banner to travel to Grand Forks. The Nodaks completed their loop schedule with three wins and one defeat, but the Bison have been held to a deadlock and the loss of this final contest would necessarily throw the gonfalon to the eager Westmen.

If the Herd can produce the type of ball they have shown against North Dakota university, they stand at least a fair chance of trouncing the Bunnies even though Bob Lowe, who scouted the Rabbits in their last game, claims they are stronger than the university at Grand Forks. However, if they insist upon exhibiting the caliber of football which they showed when they met Moorhead State Teachers, the NCC title has a very fine prospect of settling in the lap of Coach Jack West and his colleagues.

Heavy work has been dished out to the local boys this week and they should be in the proper physical and mental frame of mind to whip the fast-stepping South Dakotans. Their chief task will be to put a stop to the tendencies of one Paul Miller from Platte, who desires to scamper across opposing goal lines every time he is called upon to carry the pigskin. This young man is conceded by many of the "brain trusts" to be one of the most difficult backs in the conference to persuade to halt once he has that leath-

1934 Rifle Team To Organize Today

There will be nineteen members of last year's rifle squad returning to make up the nucleus of this year's squad, including William Oftembro, captain of the 1934 team and manager of the 1935 team, and Gordon Baird, captain of the 1935 team.

All undergraduate men students carrying a minimum of twelve hours are eligible for the team, according to Captain Conmy. Previous rifle shooting experience is not necessary, but will prove to be valuable.

Men desiring to try out for the team are requested to report to room 203 in the Physical Education building, Friday, Nov. 9, at 4:15 p. m.

Tentative schedule provides for instruction and practice firing from November 12 until Christmas recess. Ten more days of instruction and practise will follow this recess. From January 24 to 26 the candidates will fire in the annual college sweepstakes, the results of which will determine the 1935 squad. The team will then enter its regular intercollegiate season, which usually terminates about April 10.

er neatly tucked under his arm.

Be that as it may, the Bison board of strategy has one or three fellows who have the traveling urge and with twenty-two men on the field all with definite ideas of what should be allowed and the physical necessities with which to back them up, more than one marcel is sure to be spoiled before the referee finally says "time to quit and go home now."

Dragons Upset Favored Bison In 13-12 Win

One of the most unexpected turns of the football season took place last Friday afternoon when Moorhead State Teachers college grabbed the spotlight by downing the Bison on the former's home field. An extra point after touchdown slipped the Dragons into a 13-12 lead at the final sound of the whistle.

Just what happened to the Bison is something left to the discretion of the football fans. It is true that the Dragons got all of the possible breaks of the game, but their outstanding individual playing and a fine offensive were the real factors for the final decision. The lack of conference competition or the strenuous performance given by the Bison for its homecoming may partially be held accountable for the outcome.

Yatchak, a freshman fullback for the Dragons, gave the greatest individual contribution of either team through his defensive play. Were it not for his stellar work in backing up the line the Bison may have gone for two or three touchdowns more.

Strong Bison Cagers Favorites For Titles

We realize that the football arguments of the autumn season must be settled before the basketball scramble starts again, but we thought we'd just give you a little advance dope on what's to be expected when the time for the hardwood game rolls around.

Last year the inexperienced Herd took on a new coach and set out to show the conference that they really could and would play some good ball if given the proper encouragement. Evidently they got the necessary backing because by the end of the season the teams in the loop were willing to admit that Bob Lowe and his "greenies" were not doing so bad. In fact they were right in line for a shot at the title. When they whipped the "greatest" Sioux five times in a row they were hailed as wonders and even though they dropped the next two in the series and with them the crown, everybody agreed they had done a mighty fine job.

This time it's going to be different. Losing only three men from the squad, the Bison will be quoted as favorites to overthrow the reigning Nodaks and hang the gonfalon in Fargo. Lowe, who has the true coach's fear of being classed as the team to beat, has hopes, however, of putting out a club that will keep the opponents fighting every minute to gain a decision. Some fine sophomore material is coming up and though we realize that all the rest of the schools in this part of the country will be lying in the weeds and will be set to attempt to hang a defeat on the Aggies, even this early we'll place our shekels on the promising Fargoans.

duties performed by Bob Erickson, sophomore fullback, was the highlight. Crashing the Dragon line repeatedly, he led the Bison charges twice to the opposing goal line.

The first touchdown came in the second period when on a wobbly pass by Fritz Hanson, Gerteis snatched it and crossed the end zone. During the third period the Dragons took advantage of a series of fumbles, the last one occurring on the Bison five-yard line. Edlund slipped through on the second down while Yatchak pulled a smoothie and slipped around the end for the extra point.

Herb Peschel, one of the staunchest Bison tackles, rushed Yatchak during the fourth period, blocking an attempted punt and scooping it up to race 16 yards for the second Bison score. Hollister, a former Bison reserve, passed a few lemons when he slipped through a hole over his own guard to put the Dragons in the lead. Last minute attempts by the Bison were in vain.

Luverne Furcht, Mary Mickelson, and Adeline Hoge will be hostesses at the next Blue Monday tea.

REV. LINDLEY TO SPEAK TO STUDENTS WEDNESDAY

Rev. Glenn Lindley, president of the Fargo Ministerial association, will address the student body at convocation Wednesday, November 14th.

At this time Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, will award a cup to the student in agriculture who attained the highest average as a freshman last year, according to Don Scott, president of the group. Ellis Thompson was the last to receive this award.
