With headquarters at the Hotel LaSalle, they will be guests of the DePaul university and the "De Paulia" at the World's Fair. The university publication will entertain them with a dance. A night football game between DePaul and Dayton universities is also scheduled for their entertainment, besides meetings of the Associated Collegiate Press and the College Annuals Associated.

Jack Spalding and Orville Goplen, associate editors of the Spectrum, are editing this week's paper.

SCABBARD AND BLADE SPONSORS CADET HOP

The second cadet hop of the term occurred yesterday afternoon in Festival hall, under the sponsorship of Scabbard and Blade and the chairmanship of Bob Parrott. The music was furnished by Don Fredrikson and his orchestra. The purpose of the weekly hops is to give the students an opportunity to become acquainted.

RAIN, REIGN, REIN, IS HOMECOMING THEME

RAIN, REIGN, or REIN will be the 1934 Homecoming theme, but a Spectrum reporter had to hold a second interview to learn the triple significance.

This is the way it is supposed to work out. North Dakota State college would like to REIGN over the University of North Dakota by winning the football game, headline event of the Homecoming festivities. Then we could say that NDSC holds the REINS and that NDU is all wet (RAINy weather).

This then, according to Earl Jennings, who is chairman of arrangements, will be the subject which NDSC organizations will use in the preparation of their floats. Cash prizes will be given for the prize-winning floats.

Compulsory Drill Eliminated From Minnesota Campus

The two-generation struggle which has prevailed in the University of Minnesota over compulsory military training has ended with the result that it is no longer required of the students.

At a meeting of the board of regents last June, the issue came to a head and was voted down by a six to five count. The board voted to discontinue the compulsory basic drill, although voluntary subjects such as artillery and signal corps projects are being offered.

The legality of the move has not yet been established, and will not be until the Supreme Court of the United States makes a decision on a similar case which arose in California.

The students' struggle at Minnesota against the drill had been long and bitter, including journalistic campaigns, strife between individual students and the faculty, and general discontent among those forced to attend the courses.

Now, from the campus the struggle moves to the United States Supreme court where the question of whether or not the Land Grant Act which instigated the system is constitutional will be decided. At present the Minnesota university stands to lose an appropriation of $300,000,000 a year, income from the lands assigned to the college by the act.

NEWMAN CLUB TO MEET SUNDAY AT K. C. HALL

The first meeting of the Newman club, an organization of the Catholic college students, will be held in the Knights of Columbus hall Sunday evening at 7:30.

The Rev. Lambert Weckwerth, O. S. B., pastor of St. Joseph's church, Moorhead, will be the guest speaker.

The YMCA cabinet held their first meeting of the year last Wednesday to map out plans for the coming year.

Frosh Debate Tourney Opens Local Season

Thirty-five Students Try For NDSC Forensic Squad Places

The largest debating squad in the history of the institution participated in tryouts held at the Little Country theatre early this week, according to Don Hay, NDSC speech instructor. First-year and veteran debaters who are competing for places on the various college teams number 35.

Opening the actual debating activities, the Lincoln club will sponsor a freshman tournament beginning next Tuesday to select the first-year representatives in the inter-class tournament which will get under way early next month.

Other members are: Lawrence Bue, Horace Spaulding, Gerald Stevens, Cathryn Ray. In addition to the Lincoln clubsters, all of whom will again debate this year, the following experienced college debaters return to the squad: Neil McCabe, Isadore Levine, and Calvin Olson.

Education Senior Wins Scholarship

Cleo Knapp, senior in education, has been awarded the one hundred dollar scholarship given annually by the Eastgate lodge, Masonic order, to a senior student majoring in mathematics and astronomy, who shows promise of leadership.

Miss Knapp is from Binford, and is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Last year she received the Senior Staff scholarship which is awarded on a basis of scholarship, character, and promise of ability in a chosen field.

The Eastgate scholarship was established in 1931 and was won that year by Lyle Phillips, now assistant instructor in physics at Buffalo university, Buffalo, New York. In 1932, it was awarded to Maurice Knutson, now connected with the state highway department. Last year Vivian Holland was the recipient.

"Such evidence of genuine interest in the work being accomplished by students is greatly appreciated by the faculty," said the committee in making the award.

Strength Of New Factions Will Be Displayed Monday In Vote Casting Encounter

Livestock Judges To Compete Dec. 1

For the first time since 1931, NDSC will be represented at the National inter-collegiate livestock judging contest in connection with the International Livestock Show in Chicago, December 1. Victor Sander, who is coaching the team, will choose five members and an alternate with tentative plans to leave November 20, and they will spend several days practice judging enroute.

Members of the squad from which the team will be picked are: Ralph Dietrich, Bill Keup, Flora Elliot, Maynard Sholtz, Oscar Erickson, James Long, Bud Kasson, Cliff Altermatt, Grant Pratt, Louis Rector, Alton Erickstad, and Roderick Olson. Three rings of each class of livestock excepting dairy are judged with reasons given on two, with about twenty teams competing.

Enroute the team plans to visit and practice judging at the University of Minnesota; Boulder Bridge Farm, Minneapolis; Holbert Horse Importing Co., Greeley, Iowa; Iowa State college, University of Nebraska, and the University of Illinois.

Scouter Club To Charter National

The NDSC Scouters club will be installed as a chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national scouters fraternity, November 7. A banquet, at which national officers from Chicago will be present, will be the installation feature.

At the regular meeting Wednesday evening, the Scouters club elected the following officers: Warren Covert, grand master; Gordon Brandes, deputy grand master; Gordon Heggeness, scribe; and Dayton Jones, treasurer.

New members of the Scouters club, who will become charter members of Alpha Phi Omega, will be taken in at the regular meeting next Wednesday.

STATE COLLEGE GRAD GETS NEW JERSEY JOB

Elsmere Chamberlin, graduate of North Dakota State college, has accepted a position with a company interested in research in resin products at Edgewater, New Jersey.

Mr. Chamberlin received his Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry in 1931 and his Master's degree in 1932. While attending the State college, he was a member of the Alpha Sigma Tau, Phi Kappa Phi, and Alpha Phi Omega fraternities.

His immediate superior in his new position is Lawrence Debing, State college graduate in chemical engineering in 1929.

Reorganized Voting Forces Battle For Offices At Elections

Existing political line-ups were smashed when Greek letter and independent organizations cut directly across the lines of former years by forming two new frames which will oppose each other for the first time in the October 15th elections. The name of one of the new organizations is the Progressive party; the other being as yet unnamed.

In the Progressive party are Theta Chi, Sigma Phi Delta, Kappa Psi, Alpha Gamma Rho, and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Omega sororities, and the Cosmopolitan club. The rival organization includes Sigma Chi, Alpha Sigma Tau, Kappa Sigma Chi, and Delta Tau Epsilon fraternities, and Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Phi Mu sororities.

Nominees of the Progressive party are the following: for commissioner of elections, Leon Jacobson; for commissioner of judiciary, Murlin Haugen; for president of the senior class, Lawrence Bue; for vice-president, George Sullivan; for secretary, Louis Whalen; for treasurer, Helen Foster; for president of the junior class, Harold McCannel; for vice-president, Elizabeth Bristol; for secretary, Clifford Altermatt; for treasurer, Victor Nordlund; for president of the sophomore class, Charles Brady; for vice-president, Robert Saunders; for secretary, Howard Hegbar; for treasurer, Martha Wolf; for president of the freshman class, Mary Sherwood; for vice-president, Lucille Clark; for secretary, Charles Hazelrigg; for treasurer, Edward Greyerbiehl.

Frame Withholds Nominee Names
Candidates of the contending frame are the following: for commissioner of elections, Paula Verne; for commissioner of judiciary, Cathryn Ray. Other nominees were not divulged last night by leaders of the Progressive opponents. Balloting will occur during convocation period next Monday, October 15. Freshmen will vote in Festival hall; sophomores in room 207, Chemistry building; juniors in room 107, Chemistry building; seniors in the Little Country theatre.

Freshmen may vote only for class officers. The three upper classes may vote, in addition, for commissioner of elections and commissioner of judiciary.

When a person is nominated in the electoral meetings, the nominator must have in readiness a certification of his nominee's eligibility.

83 COSMOPOLITANS

The largest number of independent students—83—ever to be organized on the NDSC campus now makes the Cosmopolitan club the largest campus organization.

HOMECOMING TRADITIONS

The freshman class has apparently not, despite the orientation week speeches, made itself acquainted with traditions existent on the campus of the college.

These traditions, unimportant as they may seem to the incoming freshmen, mean much to the upperclassmen and graduates because they participated in them when underclassmen, and they have come to identify themselves with their memories of college life. The freshman class, when it graduates, will come to have much the same feeling and regard for the time-worn traditions which are so much a part of campus life.

Active traditions are a sign of a healthy, normal, college life. Without them, much of the spirit of college is lost, and the student, though he attains high marks in all his classes, will have, when he graduates, missed much of the spirit of collegiate life. Besides that, tradition acts as a cohesive uniting force which brings the students together by giving them things in common. It is a part of college life which should not be overlooked; which no student can afford to miss.

Two weeks from now is Homecoming—a time when grads come back to visit the campus and relive their college life. Besides this, Homecoming is important to the undergraduate as it brings to life one of the oldest of State College traditions: that of the Homecoming rally bonfire.

The rally and bonfire form one of the most interesting and picturesque of college customs. There, the students and graduates get together and in the light of a mammoth fire, sing State College songs and with yells and speeches by members of the student body, exhort the team to prove victorious over the traditional enemy, the State University. This is one activity at which the students forget all other affiliations but that with North Dakota State college. They make a massed demonstration of their school loyalty and are welded together in a spectacle that is purely Bison.

This affair could not possibly be accomplished without the fire. The fire, more than any other one thing, serves to bring the students together. It gives the onlookers a feeling of intimacy and comradeship with one another; makes them feel that they are, above all, fellow members in a worthwhile and active institution. Without it, the spirit of the activity would be lost; the rally would be devoid of meaning.

It is a part of the State College tradition connected with the rally that all freshmen participate in the collecting of the wood for the fire. Unless each freshman does his part in this function the fire will be an impossibility and the rally can never be accomplished. It is up to every member of the freshman class to make his contribution to the wood pile. Start now to collect the bonfire; keep tradition alive and a part of your college life; make this a Homecoming that every grad will remember and feel proud of. Show the grads that we have not forgotten old State College customs, but have remembered and improved upon them.

CAMPUS DRIVERS

What the cause is of the reckless driving prevalent on the State College campus is hard to say. It might be due to the increased enrollment or to bettered business conditions which make the driving of cars possible for more students. Whatever the cause, it must be stopped.

On all roads on the college grounds, the driver or pedestrian is in constant danger from speeding cars driven by persons either out for a thrill or in an awful hurry. It is a condition highly undesirable and unbefitting a group supposedly of higher than average intellect.

The driver of a motor vehicle must be more than usually cautious when driving on the campus as there is a greater percentage of pedestrians there than on the city streets, and the streets are, on the whole, considerably narrower.

The Student Commission has published a pamphlet containing the driving regulations and parking rules for the college. This is not an important, arbitrary set of rules. They can be enforced with punishment fitted to the transgression, but, rather than make this necessary, it would be more convenient and desirable for all concerned if the rules were enforced intelligently and with due respect for the rights of the other man.

Staff Increased

A recent addition to the NDSC library staff is Ruby DeOtte. She replaces Dorothy Ford, who is studying at the University of Minnesota this year.

Free dancing lessons were offered to Loyola University (Chicago) freshmen so that none of the newcomers would have an excuse for staying away from student social functions.

MULLIGAN

A. R. L.

Mulligan, as the more adventurous people who order it know, is composed of everything and anything; one can expect to find anything in it from last week's hash to the rubbers dad lost last spring. Some of it, no doubt, will taste bad, but we hope that in this column there will appear some that is enjoyable—more of the well-flavored hash and less of the rubbers.

The world's series had some good points aside from giving the punters the word "Cards" to work on. A raggedly clothed, unshaven individual was seen with a roll of bills that would do credit to a Packard owner. When asked about it, he told us his formula for betting on the series games. "Never bet," he said, "till the last game. Then pick the underdog and lay all the dough you can beg, borrow, or steal on them. I haven't missed in ten years."

A CCC worker was heard to remark: "Yah, the campus sure looks good, now." And it does. But what troubles us is: what are the grads going to do at Homecoming? Some dandelions should have been left to make them feel at home.

The campus cannot be appreciated till after the afternoon classes have been dismissed and the sun lowers on the horizon. Then, kind shadows cover the sharp corners and jutting angles and mold the buildings together with a unity impossible in daylight. Then, all the stored and collected knowledge that has gone into the building and maintaining of the school becomes apparent. Hidden in the dusk of the deserted buildings is the compiled knowledge man has collected since the Renaissance. Overhead a gull halts in its soaring and poises motionless in the air; for an instant becoming a part of the scene below; giving it completeness.

Student Opinion

THE RULE OF THUMB

The slow march and muffled drums are being played over the Hog-It-All and Holier-Than-Thou political frames. The change which has taken pace in the electoral set-up will completely revolutionize the manner and results of the class elections. The new frame, consisting of the most powerful in numbers and voting strength of our campus organizations, will be able to put any officer it wants in office, regardless of his personal ability.

The elections which formerly were held in Festival hall will be held behind closed doors of the conference chambers. At these meetings men will be chosen who will not take their offices with the thought of the good they can do the college as a whole, but who will best serve the needs of the organizations comprising the frame. The whole affair reflects anything but the democratic spirit which has formerly prevailed in the college.

For the past three or four years, the two most prominent frames have been about evenly matched, and at elections the split ticket was often used, thereby giving those most worthy of the office at least a fair chance. Not so now. The exalted ones of the Greek letter organizations and the organized independent party will be able to plug in officers like telephone central plugs in switches, controlling the management of the entire school with what effect they will.

So from now on, we can expect a decided change in the policies of the college. That the college will profit by these changes will be questionable; but that the organizations in the new frame will profit by them goes without saying.

The Theaters

STATE THEATER

"You Belong to Me," starring Lee Tracy, Helen Mack and Helen Morgan, plays at the State today and tomorrow. Tracy has the role of a drunken, broken-down vaudeville cartoonist who undergoes a regeneration to prevent the disillusionment of a young stage child, six-year-old David Holt.

Loretta Young and Cary Grant have the leads in "Born to Be Bad," showing next Monday and Tuesday. The film is based on the story of an unscrupulous girl in the cloak and suit trade who makes a sacrifice and breaks away from a sordid life.

"Ready for Love" is an exciting picture of a girl who became involved in a national scandal. It comes to the State next Wednesday and Thursday and stars Richard Arlen and Ida Lupino.

ROXY THEATRE

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey supply the laughs in "Hips, Hips, Hooray," showing this Friday and Saturday. This comedy is in the typical Wheeler and Woolsey fashion and portrays their antics while engaged in the cosmetic business.

"Blood Money," featuring George Bancroft and Frances Dee, is the main attraction next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

FARGO THEATER

Filmdom's latest sensation, Shirley Temple, is starred with Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard in "Now and Forever," showing tomorrow and Monday and Tuesday of next week. It is the story of the tall, handsome Prince Charming and his attempts to make good to please his tiny daughter whom he had never seen till she was six years old.

In "Hide Out" that popular young star, Robert Montgomery, plays the part of a city slicker who is forced to take a vacation in the country, and due to the captivating manner of Maureen O'Sullivan, desires to prolong his stay. Next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday are the dates for this production.

DIRGE OF THE COMMONER

With their noses elevated
The much celebrated
Kappas walk down the street.

From their lofty position
They scorn to perdition
The lowlier persons they meet.

They delight in their mockery
Of the non-sophisticocracy
And nothing to them is so sweet.

As to glance down their noses
At runs in girls' hose(s)
And to heh-heh them off the street.

We don't want to be caustic,
Ironic, sarcastic,
But a Kappa we'd like to greet

Who'd he half-way civil;
We hate like the devil
To feel that we're dirt 'neath their feet.

U.C.L.A. Graduate Starts AC Course

Five years at the University of California with a German major and now "back home", enrolled a freshman at NDSC in the school of agriculture, is the unique college record of Miss Guinivere Feckler. Born in Fargo, and at the age of nine moving to California, Miss Feckler now returns to the site of her property—four farms in North Dakota, one in Minnesota, and one in Michigan. "I feel that I need instruction along agricultural lines in order to manage my farms properly," she states, "and I think that NDSC is as good a place as any for that purpose." "I think the people in North Dakota are pessimistic," continued Miss Feckler during a brief interview, "but as far as NDSC is concerned, I love it." She is not interested in sororities but likes to ride, swim, and all sports, and also is a pianist. Also, she has the distinction of being the only girl, in her knowledge, to climb Mr. Whitney from Pine Ridge in a single day. This feat was accomplished on the sixth of September last year with a boy companion.

College History

(First in a series of the same name)

It seems that there were in one college institutions called fraternities. They were housed in sumptuous dwellings which were built on credit and which were never paid for. The bills were handed down to the actives (fraternity name for member) by the alums (which in the jargon meant former members). When an alum who had made a success of himself in the world of taxes and inflation died he would leave to the fraternity a sum of money called an endowment, which was used to pay off the interest on the building debt and to put one through school who had proved in competitive contests that he was superior to the herd in breaking the bones of other students. The more members the fraternity had the greater chance it stood of coming into an endowment, so each year the fraternities would engage in concerted drives for membership. This drive was called "rushing". When freshmen were being rushed they would be given free cigarettes and dinners. They were clapped on the back and called "good fellows", and their feeblest puns (the prevalent type of humor of those days) were hailed with gales of laughter. Moving pictures were shown them, and rides in sporty roadsters were given unasked. Then, one night after girls had danced for them, they were given the "rush talk", in which were pointed out how many more rooms the particular fraternity house had than others, and how many more skilled bone breakers on the football team.

After hours of gruelling argument the freshman usually succumbed, and in due time was made an active, and allowed to live with and call "brother", persons he had never seen before. After four years of this life he was graduated, and left school with the sincere wishes of the actives that he might make good in life, for they were desirous of getting an endowment from him in years to come, as their house was not yet paid for, and they were impatient to get the debt paid, as they wanted another house, finer and larger.

BISON WILL START CONFERENCE TESTS TONIGHT

SDU Opposes Herd In First Home Struggle

Opening their conference series tonight at 8 p.m., the Bison will shoot the works against the University of South Dakota. The game, which is to be played on the Bison field, has the advance appearances of being a headliner and, disregarding reports of weakness through ineligibility, the Bison board of strategy plans to meet the Coyotes with the best available.

As an interested spectator last week, Casey Finnegan, Bison mentor, watched a strong University of North Dakota eleven fell the Coyotes 21-0 at Vermillion. The South Dakotans were out for revenge against the Sioux in memory of a 52-6 defeat two years ago, and also for being on the short end of a 41-0 score last year. Considering that the Sioux are conceded to be much stronger this year gives the Coyotes a better outlook in last week's affray.

That scourge of gridders, Old Man Ineligibility, nabbed two Coyotes last week and definitely marked them for a choice seat on the sidelines. Chappie O'Connor, veteran triple-threat ace whose punting has kept lots of his opponents in scalding liquid, and Bertie Haag, iron man guard, were his latest victims, and left Coach Gamage with a dozen more gray hairs.

Casey Finnegan was pleasantly surprised at the excellent showing the Herd made against the Tommies last week, especially by the reserves. Two backfield men, Ralph Isensee and Lester Dohn, showed up as being definitely worthy for first string material.

EARLY MORNING DRILL TO COMMENCE MONDAY

Early morning drill for ROTC cadets begins Monday, October 15, and continues for a two weeks' period, according to instructions given by the military department early this week. The drill practice for the cadets is held from 7:45 to 8:10 every morning from Monday until Friday.

With the beginning of these early morning military classes, a general revision of the forenoon class schedule is necessary. The morning class schedule includes classes at 8:15, 9:10, 10:05, and 11:00.

The purpose of drill periods is to improve the marching ability of the basic cadets for the Homecoming parade.

NOTICE

The Cosmopolitan club will hold a special meeting Sunday afternoon, October 14, at 3 o'clock. It is very important that all members or prospective members be present.

Sport Speculations

Well, fellow sport fans, how about getting our heads together and attempting to figure out the low-down on this year's North Central conference champions—to-be. Certainly, all things point to one of the hottest conference races in some time.

Consider the South Dakota State team. A recent visitor from that vicinity is so certain of victory for them that he is all for packing away the cup right now. Although their 14-0 conquest of Creighton does smack of some pretty cagey football tactics, I am sure that the Bison are deep-hearted Missourians who will have to be shown what's what before they have any comment to make, especially after their trip-up at the hands of Morningside the past week-end.

And then up at the U—the dear old University of North Dakota—our beloved rivals. They, too, seem to be stepping right up amongst them. It is understood from reliable sources that their backfield is no slouch. That 14-0 conquest of Omaha and the 21-0 victory of the Univer-

Reserve Strength Factor In 27-0 Victory For Herd

Led by the powerful plunging of "Bomba" Isensee, hard driving back from Pine River, Minn., the NDSC Bison unleashed its promised drive—in making easy practice of the St. Thomas sophomores by a score of 27-0.

Averaging 4½ yards per thrust, the lunging fullback proved to be the spark that snapped the Bison from their lethargy. In a game which marked the finest cooperation displayed by the Herd this year, Leo Gerteis, alert quarterback, Let Dohn, and Fritz Hanson, also flashed in spectacular form to put Coaches Finnegan and Lowe at ease for the evening.

In daring fashion, Hanson twisted and scampered over the field to pave the way for the first pair of the NDSC scores. Often when he was seemingly trapped, the fleet half showed he had other plans—and, minus any interference, promptly launched his course in the opposite direction. Although delayed momentarily at times, his run-off trail brought him over the Tommie 38-yard line to the 6-yard stripe—covering in between an actual running distance of nearly 70 yards.

Using a strong west wind to advantage, the St. Thomas team backed the Bison against their own goal and stood ground the first quarter with no resulting score. Thereafter the Bison set about the more serious business of piling up four touchdowns, scoring in each of the three remaining periods. Utilizing Hanson's thrilling dash to the 6-yard line, the Bison plowed the last stretch to tally their first touchdown.

On the succeeding kickoff, Erickson found his way to the opposition's 42-yard stripe. A pass, Gersity of South Dakota speak for themselves.

Morningside grabbed the limelight last week when it beat South Dakota State for their first conference victory of the season. This week-end Associated Press reports have named them favorites over the University of North Dakota.

It seems that the freshmen passing combination of Bud Westby and Bob Ingstad has been somewhat devastating in scrimmages versus the varsity.

Baby Bison Squad Battles Wahpeton

Opening their season with an ancient rival, the frosh edition of the Thundering Herd will journey to Wahpeton, where they will encounter the fighting team from the Wahpeton School of Science tonight on Wahpeton's home field.

Coaches Gergen and Anderson of the freshman staff have been drilling the yearlings for three weeks and are sure to present a team well trained in the fundamentals of the game. A squad of thirty or more men have been reporting to practice regularly and because many of these have not had previous training, much time has been spent on teaching them the rudiments.

A good potential set of backs may be the factor which will keep the wins and losses on the right side of the ledger. The line has its strong points, but as a whole it does not rate up to the standard set by the secondary. The leading candidates for backfield berths are Bud Westby, Carl Rorvig, Emil May, Bill Olson, Wes Phillips, and Ken Nelson.

FREE AND EASY

Oh, come over—All you big and little Bison, here's your chance to cash in on tonite's game. Subsidation? No—but to all the lads who play on the winning Bison team tonite (aye, it must be a winner or the deal's off)—to all these lucky young fellas goes a choice of one beautiful cravat from the stock of Ray's Tie Shop, donated by Ray himself. A new tie, eh! Thomas, Sammy, Windy, you can replace Dapper Daniel in no time.

All of these boys have had previous experience and should keep the enemy defense on its respective toes with their shifty running and smashing line plunges. In the line, Paul Sorkness, Bob Ingstad, and Chuck Pollock have been doing stellar work, but there are a lot of loopholes before it may be considered the finished product.

The Wops are expected to have their usual scrappy outfit and should afford the Baby Bison plenty of worries.

Bison Lick Tommies Fraternities Add 38 To Pledge List

teis to Stevens, was blocked into the safe arm of "Big Sam" Dobervich, who fell on the Tommie 9-yard line. A fumble ended this threat, but the Bison went right back at it when Hanson lugged Higgins' punt to the 35-yard marker. Successive rushes by May, Hanson, and May again brought the ball to the 6-yard limit, where Erickson blasted over in two plays. May added the point.

Then came Casey's "reserves". Displaying new enthusiasm and brilliant effectiveness, the new Bison took up the scoring duties midway in the third period. Dohn returned a Tommie punt 20 yards to their 25-yard area. Stretching high for Gerteis' pass, Dohn landed on the 4-yard stripe. Gerteis pushed it over. Sturgeon made the kick good. The final touchdown was contributed by reliable "Bud" Marquardt, who escaped untouched across St. Thomas' line on a pass from Gerteis.

Airtight defensiveness cheered the Bison backers although the Bison outfit were guilty of no less than five fumbles, two of which cost them excellent opportunities to score.

Higgins was outstanding in the St. Thomas backfield, while McGuire kept the Bison worried in the line.

Thirty-eight new members were added to the 1934 fraternity pledge list after the first week of informal pledging concluded at their meetings last Monday.
