STATE COLLEGE, NORTH DAKOTA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1934.

NUMBER 1.

Freshmen Registration Begins Today

Student Help Given School From FERA

Through government aid in the form of FERA projects, one hundred and three boys and forty-four girls will be able to earn part of their expenses through North Dakota State college this year. This number is twelve percent of the total enrollment of the college.

Harry Hopkins, Bismarck, director of the State Relief Administration, announces that the original provisions of the act have been changed to stipulate that fifty percent of the number of students aided must be new students. Already fifty-one new students have been notified that their applications for aid have been accepted, and by the close of next week the remaining applications will have been passed upon. Two hundred and twenty-five applications were submitted by new students.

Students who apply for the positions must show financial need and character and ability to do college work. They shall not work for less than thirty cents an hour and more than thirty hours in any week. Positions are allocated between the sexes in proportion to the number of each enrolled in the particular school. The type of work to be done is defined as "work which is socially desirable."

The girls will be given projects on a slightly different basis than then forty-four other girls will work for two months at a time and the forty-four other girls will work for two months. This system will enable a greater number of girls to be aided than there would be otherwise.

The provisions of the relief act are in effect from Sept. 1, 1934 until June, 1935.

FIVE STUDENTS BEGIN THEIR PRACTICE WORK

Beginning their school year early, five home economics women will complete one week's practice teaching today.

Under the direction of Miss Lucille Horton, vocational courses in Moorhead high school and Sacred Heart Academy got under way on Friday of last week. Teaching foods and clothing to seventh graders in the Moorhead junior high school are Paula Verne and Vivian Peterson. Amy Glaser and Doris Hudson have started freshmen in foods courses at Sacred Heart Academy, where Maxine Rustad is teaching advanced clothing.

Jane Rush, Fargo, replaces Mrs. C. A. Teet as YWCA secretary for this campus. She attended Fargo high school and was graduated from Jamestown college in 1931. Since that time she has been an instructor at the high school in Ryder.

Miss Rush attended the YWCA region conference at Geneva, Wis., this summer. During the year she plans to take some work here at the college.

PRESIDENT SHEPPERD

Upperclass Women Assist Freshmen

The Campus Sisters, an organization sponsored by the YWCA, will greet all incoming freshmen women and conduct them through the various activities of orientation week, according to information received from Miss Ellen Blair, vice-president of the YWCA, who is chairman of the big sister movement.

Only freshmen men and women will be admitted to the annual college mixer on Saturday evening. Campus Sisters will assist. Freshmen girls will be guests at the annual breakfast sponsored by the YWCA, Sunday morning, and both the YMCA and YWCA will entertain at a supper for all freshmen students the same day. The college as a whole is sponsoring the dinner for freshmen at noon Sunday.

The advisory board of the YWCA will be hostesses at a tea Monday afternoon, with freshman parties taking place at both the YMCA building and Ceres hall Monday evening. The last events include open house entertainments given by the various Greek letter groups on Tuesday afternoon and an all-college dance on Tuesday evening.

The big sisters are: Marian Anderson, Harriet Berg, Mary Elise Bibow, Lucille Bolstad, Betty Bristoy, Mary Clemens, Alyce Connelly, Helen Engel, Winifred Ewald, Geraldine Erdahl, Mildred Frederick, Lennea Frisk, Amy Glaser, Josephine Hoffman, Mary Horner, Helen Hummel, Isabel Humphreys, Marjorie Laliberte, Jean Newton, Mildred Peterson, Leone Phillips, Lois Pressler, Cathryn Ray, Bernice Rhines, Jane Schulz, Helen Simmons, Lucille Smith, Faith Stockton, Phyllis Tiedemondson, Bergliot Thorson, Norma Young, Eleanor Isaac, Edna Kraft, Beverly Jensen, Betty Bickert, and Mary Hannaher.

Jane Rush, the new YWCA secretary, entertained the cabinet Thursday evening at a supper in her home. The meeting was held mainly for the purpose of discussing plans for the year and of introducing the cabinet to the secretary.

DR. J. H. SHEPPERD GREETES FRESHMEN

"I call this the friendly college" a young man said after spending the fall term studying at this institution. He had attended two other colleges before matriculating here and I fancy was comparing his experiences.

I trust that every new student will voice the same sentiment upon getting acquainted with our students and faculty.

We are all glad that you have come to study with us and want to help you to make the most of your opportunity while here. Students, both old and new, are pleased to see you do well in college.

In the business world competition is the rule, but in school your neighbor is not hampered by your success.

A happy, pleasant student gets on better than one who is glum and doubting.

We work hard and we play hard and I trust that our spirit of hard work and hard play will take possession of you and that you will make such progress that your parents, friends and former high school teachers will be proud of your success.

J. H. SHEPPERD, President.

Charles Acey Olson, playing his third season on the varsity at an end position, will lead the Bison when they step on the gridiron this fall. Acey was elected captain last year after he had been awarded a berth on the official all-conference team. Olson also extends his activities to basketball and landed a guard post on the mythical basketball quint.

Full House Seen For Dormitories

Ceres Hall and the Men's Residence hall are rapidly reaching their capacities this year after having been redecorated by FERA workers during the summer.

The Ceres hall accommodation limit of 80 is fast being reached. In addition to the Freshmen out-of-town students whose residence is required a number of upper-class girls have made reservations. Paint, varnish, and new furnishings have gone to give the hall the best going-over it has had in years, according to Mrs. Williams.

A new advantage offered by the dormitory is that of having a resident nurse, Miss Wendland. Also a special committee of the upper-class girls will act as hostesses to the new girls during orientation week. The Ceres Hall club will be organized as usual this year and sponsor the hall parties.

The reservations made at the Men's Residence hall at present exceed last year's peak point of 160. Five bachelor kitchens are now ready for use by eight boys each, and two more are being completed. Arrangements are being made to provide for an isolation ward in connection with the clinic which is being newly equipped and is in charge of a full time nurse. This year's boast of the hall is a telephone on each floor and a total of five in the building. "And we have the only green grass on the campus," says P. Otterson, house manager.

Parrott Forecasts Large Enrollment

Pre-registration evidence suggests a greater enrollment this year than last, according to Registrar A. H. Parrott, who reports that applications for dormitory accommodation are twice as numerous as last year at this time.

Mr. Parrott also announces a change in registration procedure. New students who sent in their credits soon enough were returned a slip that they present directly to their advisor, on registration. Formerly it was necessary for the new student to apply to a clerk for this certification slip. The modification is intended to reduce congestion and confusion.

First step in registration thus is presentation of the slip to the advisor. Then student and advisor work out the desired program. After the program has been signed by his dean, the student makes out a class card for each of his courses. Class cards and registration certificate are exchanged in the registrar's office for a fee statement. The student submits this statement, accompanied by fees, at the secretary's office. There he is given a receipt, which he transfers at the registrar's office for his registration card. Then registration is complete.

Lucille Bolstad, president of Phi Omega Pi, has returned to her home after a visit with Miss Elaine Gorder, former NDSC student now attending the University of Minnesota.

Registration This Morning Opens Program

All new students should attend each event in the orientation program, designed to acquaint them with the college, the city, and classmates, according to the administration.

An explanation of the registration process at 9:00 o'clock this morning opened the program which will continue for five days. Registration proper began at 9:30 a.m. and will continue until 4:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Social events will begin with a mixer at which freshmen will be the guests of the college in Festival hall Saturday evening. Identification as a freshman is the only requirement for admission.

Sunday is a day of free feasting for freshmen. At 9:00, college Christian associations provide a breakfast for girls at Ceres hall, for boys at the college Y. M. C. A. Following the breakfasts, freshmen will be furnished transportation to their respective churches.

A ticket issued at time of registration admits all new students to a dinner at 1:15 o'clock in Ceres hall. At 3 o'clock, girls meet with Miss Pearl Dinan, dean of women, in the Little Country Theater. At the same hour, boys assemble in the College "Y" to be addressed by Mr. I. W. Smith, dean of men.

Tours about the city begin at 4:00. The college Christian associations again the donors, a freshman supper will be served at 5:30 in the College "Y".

Doc Putnam leads a freshman rally at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning in Festival hall. Freshmen are instructed to bring their handbooks. At 9:30, Registrar Parrott will continue the program, discussing important college regulations.

All freshmen are required to take a placement test in English. The time is 10:00 Monday morning, the place rooms 5 and 25, Chemistry building.

Freshmen women will be entertained by the YWCA advisory board. Between 8:00 and 10:00 that evening, boys will have a party at the "Y" and girls at Ceres hall.

Tuesday's events complete the orientation program. At 9:00 in the morning at Festival hall, Mr. W. F. Sudro describes the social program and regulations. Registrar Parrott conducts a quiz on the handbook at 9:30. At 10:00, Dr. C. I. Nelson speaks about the student health program. Following him, Coach C. C. Finnegan outlines the physical education system.

From 2:30 to 5:00, fraternities and sororities will hold open house.

Sponsored by the student commission in order that freshmen may meet upper-classmen, an all-college hop will begin at 8:30 Tuesday night in the field house.

On Wednesday at 8:00, class work begins.

FOR THE CLASS OF 1938

It is with extreme pleasure that we accept the opportunity our editorship affords us to extend greetings to the incoming class of students. Believe that they are offered in a spirit of wholehearted sincerity, a spirit free from the cheap cynicism that has come to pervade the minds of some students who, elevated to positions of prominence by their fellow students, are inclined to feel could have been secured and was secured entirely through their own efforts, without the support of their fellows, and who, desirous of enhancing their own positions in their own eyes, look upon the student body only as so many suckers who are their legitimate prey.

Our belief in the intelligence and common sense of the average high school graduate of today, who after sensing even but vaguely during these last years the tremendous changes that are being wrought in our social system, enters college feeling that only in that way and through the means of a college education can he fit and prepare himself to understand and appreciate such changes and their significance to him in the everyday life that will envelope him immediately following his graduation, is greatly increased when we look upon the number of such graduates who are enrolling here today. Surely those students must feel and must entertain an idea of the stability of that system, mutable though it may be, in seeming details, else why should they spend four years of their life doing something that will gain them naught, either materially or spiritually. It is this influx of new blood, taking place year after year even though we may not be here to experience and revel in it, that heartens us at a time when, close to graduation ourselves and closer still to those who have but recently ended their preparatory careers, we are only too prone to question the value of something so near to us we cannot gain the clear sight of objectivity in judging. And so, if for no other reason than this apparently selfish one—that it renews our faith in the world—we again assure the class of 1938 of a hearty welcome from the Spectrum.

A NEW STUDENT'S DUTY

It is a matter of pride with President Shepperd and various members of the faculty and student body that this institution is sometimes designated as the friendly school. Congeniality and democracy are predominant characteristics during the larger part of the year. Last spring, even political parties were split because members are not willing to foster the undemocratic and unsocial methods required by the organizations. It has become a tradition that all classmates recognize one another and that fellowship be promulgated by every individual. New students in the institution are expected to carry on and develop this spirit so that in future years it can be as much a symbol of the alma mater as is Old Main.

In spite of orientation programs and rush weeks, some people find it hard to make acquaintances. The initial step seems clumsy and there is the constant fear of appearing silly in the eyes of the man or woman addressed. We are afraid of one another. We know ourselves too well, and believe the next man to be superior. He, too, knows himself too well and the silence relationship becomes reciprocal.

There are approximately twelve hundred opportunities for developed friendships with students and faculty members on the campus. Even the janitors will be your friend if you'll give them a chance. It is your first duty to keep this a "friendly" institution.

LEST WE FORGET

Sometimes it is exceedingly easy during the summer to forget those people who took care of the financial burden of the Spectrum the previous year.

On behalf of this year's Spectrum business staff, I want to express our sincere appreciation to the business staff of last year for the many fine friends they have made for us among the advertisers.

I want to personally thank Robert Parrott, last year's business manager, for his splendid help and interest with this first issue. I trust our year will be as successful and that we can leave the business staff of next year the same impression of us as we have of those who preceded us.

—J.G.

Imaginary Interviews With Campus Personalities

BILL STEWART
With Casey Finnegan,
N. D. S. C. Football Coach.

Reporter: What do you think of the squad as a whole, Casey?

Casey: Well, I've got a whole team and a horse to spare, as the saying goes. You've seen Sturgeon, haven't you?

Reporter: Sturgeon? Sounds fishy to me. I saw about 200 pounds of him sticking out of the line of scrimmage one day, but that's all. He must be quite a boy at that. By the way, how does the grit and determination of your kiddies stack up with that of the kiddies in the Dilworth Walkathon?

Casey: Well, Bulleveyoume, howdehew and stuff, little Fritz Hanson has been out there pounding that old turf day in and day out, and he looks like he's good for quite a few hours yet. They're all fine boys. Every one of these kiddies on that old gridiron is clean-cut. They're all working, fighting, pounding that old turf for that old prize of fame and fortune which goes to the last eleven strongest kiddies remaining out there.

Reporter: And how long do you think these kids can keep up the gruelling, nerve-wracking, body-wearing pace that you're setting?

Casey: Well, now, anything can happen out there.

Reporter: You said it, you said it, kid!

Casey: In the wee small hours of the afternoon just after they have eaten at the Ceres Hall Cafeteria, when their resistance is at its lowest ebb, anything can happen, and I don't mean perhaps. Anytime one of those youngsters may take a fall on the back side of his lap, bulleveyoume! There's little Wendy Scholander out there. He's already had one fall, but he's a game little kiddie. And now, just look at him. He's folded up like an accordion. His chubby little knees are almost touching the ground now. What a thrill! Of course, he's built kind of close to the soil anyhow, so any minute now something may happen. But Erling Schranz, his little fraternity partner, is doing all in his power to keep Wendy on his feet and in that old contest. And by the way, they's a mighty fine little couple for some of those college girls to sponsor. As yet they are without sponsors. And remember, sponsoring a couple like this means a lot of good cheap advertisement.

Ah, there goes Shifty Gove. They just broke his leg. What fun! Did you see that? He'll be given seven minutes in medical quarters, and if he can't come back and play with his leg in a cast, he'll be out of the contest. Nobody knows what's next. I might mention the sponsors of some of those kiddies as long as we're on the subject. There's Leo Gerteis, sponsored by Gert Powers, a mighty fine little sponsor. She gives him a ride out to practice every day and is doing all in her power to make things pleasant for him. And there's Acey Olson, sponsored by Anheuser-Barberry-Busch, and Let Dohn, handled by Christiansen's Drug. Wilbur Marquardt is sponsored by the Moorhead Golf Course, and then there's old Snuzzle Reiners, the pride of his home town, sponsored by the La-Crosse Pretzel Co.

Reporter: Well, er, about finances. Do you except big crowds ou to the games this year?

Casey: Bulleveyoume! Well, I should say! Look at all the comfortable cozy seats we've got. And if we can't get them out any other way, we'll have amateur night. I'll put in the reserves. And furthermore, we'll bring the kiddies out here in their fifteen minute rest period between halves. And I'll broadcast my fight talk over the loud speakers. You'll see just how those kiddies respond, how they fight to get out of the arms of Mor-pheus, after my fight talk has been finished. You'll see just how they react when they're in their subconscious minds. And that isn't all; we'll chain all the kiddies together in the last quarter against Concordia, and if the Cobbers can't beat them then we're gonna make the rules tougher. When I say "we" I mean Bob Lowe and I. There's Bob over there now. I can see him, but he can't see me. As I say, we're going to get tough. We'll send those kiddies up against Minnesota and try to kill them all off. That'll be one real game. But if you can't go down to the cities, don't forget that our big afternoon show is when we play the kiddies from the Forks, sponsored by Jack West. What a time that will be! There'll be amateur contests of all kinds. Bathing Beauty prizes, prizes for the most inebriated pair of old grads, and there will be four yell leaders on hand to entertain you at all times. There'll be Bob Yirchott, the Fargo idol, Jack Knight, the matinee maniac and a host of others, not to say anything about my fight talk, bulleveyoume, howdohow! And it's all included with the regular gate ticket! Well, I'm sorry but my time is about up. Doc Putnam is rehearsing his Team Song in the music hall. How long will it last? Don't forget to call me up for additional information, if you have any favorite kiddies you want to know about. And I'll see you all at the Concordia game, Bulleveyoume!

Reporter: Thanks Casey. Be seeing you at Dilworth tonight!

With I. W. Smith, Dean of Men.

Reporter: Hyah Butch. What's new? How's tricks? Know any good stories?

Dean Smith: Well, two people were walking down the street. One was a student. The other one had also applied for FERA work. Aw gwan, I'm busy finding jobs for all these mugs.

Miss Lilian Lindsay, graduate of the home economics department of the NDSC, has accepted a position as buyer in the lingerie department of Chester's Mercantile Co. at Beloit, Wisconsin.

Arvold Arranges Next NDSC Lyceum

Unusual and varied entertainment rivaling last year's brilliant program will feature the twenty-fourth NDSC lyceum series, according to Professor A. G. Arvold, public discussion head who is again arranging this feature.

Headlining the 1933 lyceum was the artistic entertainment of the Hall Johnson choir, which sang to an entranced audience on Nov. 8. These 18 colored singers, who gained national recognition through their appearances in the play, "Green Pastures," and over the national broadcasting chains, presented a program of spirituals and work-songs from the levees that drew instantaneous and continuous applause of the audience for its harmonic wizardry and startling variations of rhythm.

During February, Dr. Luther S. H. Gable, lone survivor of the six chemical engineers who refined the first radium in America, gave an interesting narration of the technicalities of radium and cosmic rays. On March 21, John A. Lomax, who has collected American cowboy songs that have been popular on the ranges from Texas to Montana, gave a lecture on these folk ballads.

The final feature of last year's lyceum course was Hansel and Gretel, Humperdinck's fairy opera that was rendered by a distinguished cast of American operatic stars.

NDSC GRADUATES MAKE PLANT ECOLOGY STUDY

Traveling in pioneer fashion—on horseback and camping out nights—Gale Monson and Algot Swanson, June NDSC botany graduates, are employed by the State of Arizona making an intensive plant ecology survey of that entire commonwealth. They are headquartered at the Sells Indian Agency in Arizona.

Both had been appointed by local college authorities to assistantships in the NDSC botany department, but were released when the above positions were offered them.

Monson was editor-in-chief of last year's Spectrum, a member of Blue Key, Kappa Sigma Chi, YMCA cabinet, and Gamma Tau Sigma. Swanson was active in botanical studies.

Rushing Affairs Begin Next Week

Formal rushing for both men and women this year will be limited to one week beginning Sept. 24 and ending with pledging on Oct. 1, according to Mr. A. H. Parrott, president of Interfraternity Council, and Miss Betty Bickert, president of Panhellenic Council. Pledging for both sororities and fraternities will be by the preferential bidding system.

Women's rushing activities will get under way with a series of luncheons beginning at noon, Sept. 24. Kappa Delta will entertain on Monday, Kappa Kappa Gamma on Tuesday, Gamma Phi Beta on Wednesday, Alpha Gamma Delta on Thursday, Phi Mu on Friday, and Phi Omega Pi on Saturday. Kappa Delta's afternoon party will be from 4 to 6 on Wednesday with their evening party to be held on Friday between the hours of 7 and 10:30 p. m. Kappa Kappa Gamma will be hostesses on Thursday afternoon and Saturday evening, Gamma Phi Beta on Friday afternoon and Monday evening, Alpha Gamma Delta on Saturday afternoon and Tuesday evening, Phi Mu on Monday afternoon and Wednesday evening, and Phi Omega Pi on Tuesday afternoon and Thursday evening. The formal teas, held by all groups on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 30, will mark the close of fall term rushing. An innovation this year are the informal invitation teas to be given on Sept. 19, 20, and 21. Two sororities will entertain each day.

Silence shall be maintained at all times except when a rushee is a guest at one of the sorority parties. On Sept. 26 each sorority will have an informal invitation tea from 4 till 6 o'clock. A rushee shall accept invitations to only four of these teas.

Beginning with Friday, Sept. 21, men's Greek letter groups will observe silence from 1 a. m. until 1 p. m. Silence will be lifted in the afternoon till eight o'clock in the evening. Time after eight o'clock each evening will be devoted to entertainment of rushees.

Kathrine Elizabeth Healy, former North Dakota State college student, was married Monday to Adolph Larson in Minneapolis. Mrs. Larson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Healy, Ansonia apartments, Fargo, and Mr. Larson is the son of Dr. and Mrs. O. O. Larson, Detroit Lakes, Minn.

Mrs. Larson completed her freshman year at the NDSC last spring. Mr. Larson, a former student at the University of Southern California, is attending Luther college.

Visiting Alpha chapter of Phi Omega Pi at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln are Carol Ladwig and Carol Cooper of the local group. They left Fargo Monday and will return next Tuesday.

A guest in the Spectrum office this week was Harry Graves of Cavalier, a reporter on last year's staff. He will enroll in the school of veterinary science at Iowa State college this fall.

Miss Rhoda Marr, home economics graduate of NDSC, has accepted a position as head dietitian in the Berwyn Hospital at Berwyn, Illinois.

Active and alumni members of Kappa Delta met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Franklin Van Osdel, 219 12th St. So., to conduct the first business meeting of the year. The group discussed preliminary rushing plans.

KAPPA GAMMAS INDUCT PLEDGES AND ALUMNAE

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority held initiation for two Gamma Tau chapter pledges and two Delta Phi Beta alumnae. The pledges were Harriet Berg and Elizabeth Dewey of Fargo. Mrs. Louis Rusch Hale of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Gladys Guthrie Lough of Fort Benning, Ga., were the alumnae.

Preceding the initiation, which took place at the Mathew Murphy residence Aug 22, pledging was held for the two Delta Phi Beta alumnae. A luncheon was given for eighteen alumnae and the two new initiates at the Country club. Following the luncheon, a model sorority meeting was held in the parlors of the Country clubhouse. Virginia Schonberg, sorority president, officiated at the initiation.

Waldron, Yaeger Get New Duties

Prof. Claire B. Waldron, pioneer NDSC faculty man, has been appointed to a new faculty position, professor of landscape gardening and forestry. Prof. A. F. Yeager, who has been connected with the horticulture department for fifteen years, will fill Professor Waldron's former capacity, horticulture department head.

Unusual statewide interest in tree planting and other landscape gardening activities prompted school authorities to designate Professor Waldron to devote his full time to this work. The federal shelterbelt project and similar improvement schemes particularly require the full-time assistance and direction of such an official.

Professor Waldron came to this institution as its first faculty employee in 1890, when the present NDSC campus was a raw prairie. He has directed all tree planting and landscaping on this campus since that time. In addition, he has landscaped the grounds of several other state institutions, state parks, and Fargo parks. He is credited with being responsible for more tree planting in North Dakota than any other man.

During his fifteen year affiliation with this school, Professor Yeager has performed extensive fruit and vegetable plant breeding. Many fruit and vegetable varieties of Professor Yeager's production have been widely adopted by growers throughout the state and nation.

THELMA LIESSMAN, YW HEAD, NAMES CABINET

Thelma Liessman, YWCA president, has named her cabinet for this year. Amy Glaser is social chairman; Alice Larson, hostess; Jean Newton, membership; Lennea Frisk, publicity; Leone Phillips, program; Imogene Ward, historian; Marjorie Baker, service; Lucille Bolstad, world fellowship; Cathryn Ray, conference; Lois Pressler, charm school; and Mary Horner, freshman commission member.

Other officers are Ellen Blair, vice-president; Elaine Gorder, secretary; and Isabelle Humphreys, treasurer.

Members of the active and pledge group of the Phi Mu sorority met at a business meeting held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Teet Monday, with Faith Stockton, vice president, presiding in the absence of the president, Alyce Connolly. Plans were made to move into their new chapter rooms at 1430 Fourteenth st S.

Alumni members of the sorority will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. C. A. Teet, president of the group, to discuss plans for the alumni yearbook, of which Mrs. J. W. Pierce has charge.

NDSC Graduates Married Wednesday

Miss Margaret Jane Olsen, Fargo, became the bride of Mr. Archie N. Solberg, Lakota, Wednesday, at their wedding held in the bride's home at 3 p. m., with Dr. Walter Lee Airheart of the NDSC, officiating.

Mildred Fredrick of Riverton, Neb., a sorority sister of the bride, was her only attendant and Grant Solberg, a brother of the groom was his only attendant. Mrs. Robert Danstrom, formerly Miss Elizabeth Olsen, cousin of the bride, Fargo, and Miss Mildred Thorstad, Hillsboro, N. D., also a sorority sister, presented the nuptial music. Miss Thorstad sang "O Promise Me" and "Because", accompanied by Mrs. Danstrom.

After the ceremony, to which 80 friends and relatives were invited, an informal reception was held in the Olsen home. Misses Virginia Davis, Charlotte Tighe, Emma Nelson, Jane Barton, Marian Powers, Frances Kingsbury, and Lucille McGrath, a group of the bride's school friends, assisted in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Solberg are taking an extended wedding trip to New York city, where they will make their home. Mr. Solberg is a member of the Columbia university staff.

Mrs. Solberg, who was graduated from NDSC in June, is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Phi Kappa Phi, Senior staff, Panhellenic council, and the Art club. Mr. Solberg is affiliated with the Theta Chi social fraternity, Blue Key, Scabbard and Blade, and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary fraternity.

Two new members were added to the YWCA advisory board Monday evening, at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Edna Rush. Mrs. J. H. Shepperd and Mrs. C. A. Teet, former secretary of the campus YWCA, are the new members.

ALL-COLLEGE FROLIC SCHEDULED SEPT. 18

Beginning the all-college dance calendar at the local institution, the student commission will sponsor a party for all college students at the field house Tuesday evening, Sept. 18. The affair will afford new and old students an opportunity to begin and renew college acquaintances.

Dancing, which will be to the tunes of Don Frederickson's orchestra, will continue from 8:00 until 11:00 o'clock. The event, which is the first in the line of student commission-sponsored social events, is in charge of Virginia Landbloom, social commissioner.

New Members Appointed to NDSC Faculty

A changed and increased faculty greets students as they return to college this fall, seven new instructors having been elected to join the institution.

Two new instructors have been added to the personnel of the music department, while vacancies in the military department, and in the schools of home economics, science and literature, and engineering have been filled.

Major John D. Easton will head the military department as professor of military science and tactics, replacing Major Lathrop, who has been transferred to California. Major Easton received his military training in Hawaii and comes to Fargo from Fort Warren, Wyoming, where he was on duty in the first infantry regiment. His assistant will be Captain A. B. Ennis from Fort Houston, Texas, who replaces Major Schlaepfer.

Substituting for Glenn Lawritson, who is studying at the University of Chicago, is Dr. Donald E. Tope. He received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Iowa, where he has been teaching.

In the home economics department, the vacancies left by Helen Ewing and Dorothy Hatch are being filled by Ann Brown of Fargo and Edna Meshke of Minneapolis. Miss Brown will head the art department. Since her graduation from NDSC in 1930 she received her master's degree from Columbia and acted as art supervising critic at the University of Ohio in Athens. Miss Meshke, who has her master's degree from Columbia University, will teach freshmen clothing and all courses in textiles.

Albert Anderson takes over classes in mechanical engineering in the engineering school. He was graduated from the institution in 1929 and has been employed with the General Electric company.

Music department additions are Audrey Kenevan, instructor in string instruments, and Ernest van Vlissingen, specialist in chorus direction.

Former Students Win Fellowship

Among former NDSC students who have recently won fellowships are Lois Minard and Kathryn Engebretson, both of Fargo. A graduate of the home economics department, Miss Minard received a year's fellowship from Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa, where she will take an advanced course in experimental cookery. Miss Engebretson, also a home economics graduate, has left for Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., where she was awarded an assistantship.

Clifford Maloney, Fargo, this year's Bell award winner, has accepted a fellowship in mathematics and philosophy at the University of Minnesota. Hartley Eckstrom, Fargo, has chosen the University of Iowa for further study in chemistry and mathematics. Last May he won one of three $500 fellowships offered annually in the United States by Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary society.

For the second successive year, David Minard, Fargo, has secured a medical scholarship at the University of Chicago. Horace Barnett, Indianapolis, Ind., has gained a fellowship at Michigan State college.

Texas A. and M. college has awarded an assistantship to Russell B. Hagen of Fargo, June engineering graduate. Roy W. Simonson, June graduate from agriculture, has accepted one of the alumni research fellowships given by the University of Wisconsin to outstanding students of science the country over. He will study soils.

Administration Is Reorganizing To Permit Greater Research And Teaching Activities Among Faculty

ALBA BALES

A. E. MINARD

With the coordination of executive capacities under four deans instead of the former seven, local college administration functioned at the beginning of another school year in a revised manner. The change was effected by the Board of Administration to reduce the number of faculty members engaged in executive duties so that they might devote additional time to research and teaching activities.

The four division heads are: Dr. H. L. Walster, dean of agriculture; R. M. Dolve, dean of engineering and technology; A. E. Minard, dean of science and literature; and Alba Bales, dean of home economics.

In the agricultural division, under the readjustment, Dr. Walster heads the school of agriculture and directs the experiment station; Dr. P. F. Trowbridge, former experiment station director, is now a special research worker here. P. J. Olson, former assistant agronomist, will become assistant to Dean Walster, while Dr. L. M. Roderick, last year professor of veterinary science, is chairman of the department of pathology and hygiene.

R. M. Dolve is the dean of the engineering division which now includes, in addition to the regular school of engineering, the departments of physics, chemical engineering, and chemistry. Dr. L. L. Carrick, who was formerly dean of the school of chemistry, is assistant dean of this new division.

The schools of science and literature, education, and pharmacy have been combined under one school with Prof. Minard as dean. Under the new plan, A. D. Weeks and W. F. Sudro, former heads of the schools of education and pharmacy, respectively, become assistant deans. No changes have been effected in the school of home economics with Miss Bales continuing as dean.

Constance Leebby Teaches Cookery To Male Epicures

Campus women who have depended on the road to the stomach as the way to a man's heart will have to change their tactics now that the men are getting the low-down on cooking from Miss Constance Leebby, who has arranged a course in bachelor cookery in which she will reveal all little tricks of the trade.

It won't be long now until students will see some of the campus huskies measuring out eighth teaspoons of salt or pinches of paprika. Maybe they'll even gather in out of the way corners and "bull sesh" on the texture and the crumb of that last batch of biscuits. Whatever results depends upon the boys who enroll for the course, since Miss Leebby promises that it shall be very practical and shall be guided by the boys' demands.

Baking griddle cakes and other variations of the hot breads, preparing the less expensive cuts of meat, cooking vegetables properly, and making simple desserts are parts of the course as now outlined. This, it is felt, will best meet the needs of the many boys who board themselves in the dormitory and in approved private homes.

Four co-operative kitchens were equipped in the men's residence hall last year and more are being furnished this year. Eight men organize to form each bachelors paradise. A list of approved private homes where men may do their own cooking has been compiled by the school for the "chefs" who do not live in the dormitory.

Music Department Staff Is Increased

"The outlook for a large attendance in the music department was never brighter than the present year," says Doc Putnam, head of the music department, who has announced an increased staff including Miss Audrey V. Kenevan, and Ernest van Vlissingen, besides several student assistants and the faculty of former years.

Giving private lessons and directing the various string groups, Miss Audrey V. Kenevan will also be concert mistress of the orchestra. Ernest van Vlissingen will direct the men's glee club. Miss Adda Blakeslee continues as head of the voice department and will again organize a girls' glee club. Mrs. W. P. Tarbell will head the piano department as usual, and Miss Ruth Beard will continue her theoretical work, teaching two sections of music appreciation and possibly three classes in harmony.

Earl Turnblad, John Hafstrom, and Donald Putnam will assist Doc Putnam, who will organize and direct the three sections of the band and will conduct two classes in directing. He will also give private lessons on all wind and percussion instruments. Again serving as secretary to the department, Mildred Thorstad will return to the institution this fall.

Although badly depleted by graduation, the concert band promises to be as large and proficient as usual, says "Doc". The vacancies have been nearly all replaced by new material. New music has been purchased and a number of the old instruments have been reconditioned.

Out for the opening game, September 21, the band will make its first appearance of the school year. According to present plans, they will travel with the team to Minneapolis on the 29th to be on hand for the Bison-Gopher game.

Genevieve Lind, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident about four weeks ago, is improving at her home in Moorhead.

Alyce Connolly and James Coleman, also NDSC students, were also injured but will be able to return to school.

Sigma Alpha Iota: honorary music fraternity, to further interest in music.

North Dakota Pharmacy Club: composed of students of pharmacy.

Sigma Delta: discussion society.

Delta Beta: honorary German society.

Ruth Moore and Grace South, who have been working at Yellowstone Park, are expected home the latter part of this month.

Grace South was employed as an entertaining hostess at Lake Lodge and Ruth Moore at Mammoth Lodge. Both girls are members of the Kappa Delta sorority.

Frederick Martin, graduate of the school of education at NDSC, has left for Nielsville, Minn., where he will be an instructor in the high school there.

Bison, Concordia Battle Sept. 21

Opening the annual season for both schools, the North Dakota State college Bison and Concordia's Cobbers will clash Friday, September 21, under the floodlights at Dacotah field at 8:00 p.m. Both teams have been practising intensively for the last two weeks and the contest promises to be a thriller.

Although Frank Cleve, Concordia coach, reaches for the crying towel every time great things are predicted for his team, close followers of the Cobbers insist that he will have one of the fastest and strongest outfits in years. Cleve bases his weepings on the fact that he has only six lettermen available while the rest of the schools boast all the way from ten to seventeen. But the beer parlor quarterbacks come right back with the undeniable contention that he also has the best bunch of freshmen that he ever had.

"Cleve is bound to have one of the greatest teams in Cobber history," is what Casey Finnegan, gray thatched Bison mentor, says of the situation.

If the Cobbers can produce anything near the caliber of what they had last year, the Bison are sure to have a very full evening. The best the Bison could do then was a 0-0 deadlock.

Finnegan, while just a little more ready to admit that he hopes to win a game or two, refuses to become jubilant and still sticks to grumbling about such things as injuries and ineligibility.

This is not without foundation, however, as Let Dohn, flashy half-back from Bismarck who has shown lots of passing and running ability in the last two weeks, is out for some time with torn cartilages in his shoulder. Casey and Bob Lowe have some seventeen lettermen to fall back on though and, except for a few minor bruises, the rest of the squad seems to be in fine fettle.

All in all the outcome seems to be uncertain with the Herd given a slight edge.

J. Fred Payne, jr., graduate in physics at the NCSU in 1932 and an advanced student at the University of Florida at Gainesville for the past two years, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Payne, at 1126 Eleventh st N.

Carrying an advanced course of study and a teaching fellowship, Mr. Payne was awarded his master of science degree in physics at the Florida institution at the end of the recent summer session. He will leave for the University of Wisconsin at Madison Sept. 19 where he has a teaching fellowship for the coming year. Mr. Payne plans on doing advanced work toward his Ph.D. in physics at Madison. His major will be in physics with a minor in radio engineering and a second minor in mathematics.

TEN BIG GAMES SCHEDULED FOR FALL

Friday, Sept. 21 Marks First Game On Grid Schedule

With a stiff schedule of ten games, one of them against the strongest outfit in Big Ten circles, the North Dakota State Bison face ahead of them the most grueling program in recent years.

The season opens with one of those always dangerous "warm-up" games when Concordia attempts to cross the goal line more times than the already highly touted Herd. Frank Cleve, Concordia mentor, has six lettermen and a host of capable reserves and promises Moorhead fans a bigger and faster outfit than last year's successful representatives.

Finnegan and his men will journey to Minneapolis to take the field against Minnesota's Gophers—the team to beat for the Big Ten title this fall. Boasting two All-American players and fifteen other lettermen from last year's squad, the Gophers are prime favorites to down the fighting Bison.

The home schedule is reopened on October 5, when St. Thomas treks to Fargo to play under the floodlights at Dacotah field. A week later the Aggies open their conference battle when they have another night contest at home, this time against South Dakota University, and continue the quest of that elusive North Central Conference title, when they line up against Morningside at Sioux City, Iowa, on October 20.

A real old-fashioned Homecoming is assured on October 27, the Bison meeting their oldest and strongest rivals—the University of North Dakota—in an afternoon game. The last conference game of the season for the Herd will be played at Brookings, where the Bunnies from South Dakota State will defend their laurels of last season when they copped the conference crown.

Donald Spencer, graduate in electrical engineering at the North Dakota State college in June, 1931, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Herman, at 212 Eleventh st N, Moorhead, Minn. He has been with the Universal High Power Telephone company of Seattle, Wash., since graduating from the NDSC. His present position is research engineer with the western concern.

Sam Dobervich, hard driving tackle from Crosby-Ironton, who promises to be one of the toughest defensive men in the conference this season. Sam is a junior.

Grid Prospects Bright For 1934

Although the sideline quarterbacks insist that the Bison have the best prospects in recent years, take it from Casey Finnegan that, while seventeen lettermen are going to afford the Herd plenty of material to work with, the other four teams in the conference have a lot to say about where that conference crown is going to rest. "And," adds Casey, "don't forget that injury jinx we had last year!"

The greatest loss sustained by graduation was that of Roman Meyers, captain and elected all-conference tackle and also given honorable mention on the All-American team. Harold Miller, guard, and Buff Thompson, center, were the only other monogram winners graduated.

Chief of the problems that cause Finnegan and Lowe to wax pessimistic is the guard problem. This conundrum is partially solved by the shifting of Herb Peschel, regular tackle of last season to a guard post and also giving Beryl Newman and Don Bettschen, reserve ends of last season, a chance at this position. Bob Miller and Mac McCarthy, men playing their first year of varsity competition, are expected to give all the boys a race for a starting assignment at guard. The center job seems to be capably filled by Earl Thomas, regular last year, with Stan Maynard and Frank Welsh understudies at the pivot post.

With Peschel shifted to guard no regular is available for duty at tackle. However, both Finnegan and Lowe are much impressed with the showing of Sam Dobervich, "Iron Man from the Iron Range," who played lots of football when he was inserted in the games as a reserve. Lyle Sturgeon, behemoth from Moorhead, will probably hold sway at the other tackle with Beverly Hill and Fredolph Johnson doing relief work.

At end will be Acey Olson, captain and all-conference selection last fall with Bud Marquardt, most probably, as his running mate. Greg Sloan, converted fullback, and one of the best tacklers on the squad, is showing up well at the flank post and may earn a permanent position, while String Stevens, last year's freshman, is also doing well.

When it comes to selecting a starting backfield, Coach Finnegan may have to draw straws or use such method to determine the favored four. At fullback, Bob Erickson, Shifty Gove, and Bomba Isensee are sure to wage an interesting battle with Gove having an edge because of his previous experience. Both Erickson and Isensee are hard driving plungers and are likely to see a lot of action.

For halfbacks we can name such able performers as Fritz Hanson, Windy Schollander, Lester Dohn, Earl Schranz, George May, Art Stege, and Art Skurdahl. Neville Reiners, shifted from guard to fullback last season, will make another move, this time to the signal calling position. Leo Gerteis, who saw a lot of action last year, is also avail-

Playing his last year for the Bison, Leo Gerteis gives every evidence of continuing the stellar work that gave him the name of being one of the canniest signal callers in this section.

Complete Program For Year's Service Prepared By YMCA

Taking a leading role in freshman orientation, the YMCA, college service organization for men, has already begun projecting its characteristic elaborate program of service for students on the campus. Under the directorship of Erling Thorson, full-time executive secretary, and George Sullivan, student YMCA president, the "Y" is once again utilizing its large building located on the campus, and its non-political, service-bent membership in an attempt to provide for the convenience and comfort of all undergraduates.

A breakfast will be served free to all freshman boys at 8:00 Sunday by this organization. At that time announcements of services of the various churches in Fargo will be distributed and cars will be provided to take new students to the church of their choice. At 3 o'clock the same day, the YMCA lobby will be the meeting-place for a conference of all first-year boys with I. W. Smith, dean of men. That evening the YMCA and YWCA will be hosts at a joint super for boys and girls. Commencing at 8 o'clock Monday evening, this organization will give a stag party for the freshman boys.

In the basement of the YMCA building, the student-operated "Y" Dugout, popular college hangout, opened for business today. With booths, soda fountain, and a game room for men, the place is equipped to fill the lunch and recreational wants of both men and women, according to Mr. Thorson. The establishment provides part-time employment for several college students, but is under the management of the YMCA board, faculty advisory group.

To enable the students to more easily exchange their second-hand textbooks, the YMCA has provided the "Y" Book Exchange, which is located in the main lobby of the building. Students may bring their used textbooks there and the exchange will sell them to other students, charging the owners merely a service charge. The exchange will open Monday with Orville Goplen in charge.

Throughout the entire year the YMCA seeks to provide for the social and recreational wants of the collegians. Stag parties, mixers, an all-college dance, and a kiddies Christmas party are among the high lights of the group's social program. The building itself provides facilities for organization meetings and parties, a reading room, and club houses for various sororities. Information ranging from advice as to church events in Fargo to recommendations as to private boarding and rooming houses is available at the office of the executive secretary. Mr. Thorson extends this invitation to all college students, "When in need of any advice or help, the YMCA is always glad to help you."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heine, former students, are now making their home at Crookston, Minn. Mrs. Heine was formerly Miss Kathryn Marcks of Fargo.
