Theta Chis Hold Regional Meeting

The Northwest regional convention of Theta Chi fraternity was held on this campus last Saturday, when Phi chapter of Theta Chi was host to representatives from the various chapters in the northwest.

High-points of the convention were the breakfast Saturday morning at the chapter house, luncheon in the Lincoln Log cabin, the afternoon round table discussions, and the banquet and dance in the Chamber of Commerce building, closing the day's activities. The national marshal of Theta Chi fraternity, Tolbert MacRae, head of the music department at Iowa State college, presided over the sessions. C. A. Williams acted as toastmaster during the banquet and the house glee club, under the direction of Donald Harris, furnished entertainment. Hill Elwin was in general charge of arrangements.

Those chapters which sent representatives to the conference were Alpha Pi at the University of Minnesota, Alpha Mu at Iowa State college, and Beta Gamma at the University of North Dakota.

Fairyland Scenes Constitute Theme Of 1935 Yearbook

Alice in Wonderland has been temporarily dethroned from her legendary niche; for, in celebration of Lewis Carroll's centennial anniversary, the Bison yearbook of North Dakota State college has adopted for its theme the popularized fiction and cinema figure, and has so cleverly executed the innovation that its exact application is difficult to describe. The book, headed by Jane Nichols, editor, and Kenneth Hamry, business manager, will be distributed at Festival hall at three-thirty this afternoon.

The division pages divide the annual publication into six chapters, each section page being of a different color, elaborately decorated with the story book characters. The art work has been executed by Vincent Case.

The outstanding seniors have been honored by full page pictures in the Representative Senior section. This list includes Erlys Hill, Jeanette McComb, Abbie Porter, Sally Hunkins, Olive Ringen, John Gabe, Maitland Wyard, Don Fredrickson, Roman Meyers, and Hartley Eckstrom.

Iverson Elected To Head Society

Dale Iverson was elected president of Delta Theta Pi, honorary zoological fraternity, at the final meeting of the year, when twelve students interested in zoology and medicine were pledged and the officers for the coming year were elected.

Officiating in the organization besides Iverson will be Eugene Wiege, vice president; Norman Sandberg, secretary; Thelma Liessman, treasurer; and Frieda Panimon, program chairman.

If the new students pledged show their interest in the work of the organization and attend at least two meetings of the group in the fall term of next year, they will be made active members at the first meeting of the winter term, according to the decision of the club. Pledges are Leon Jacobson, Donald Buchanan, Harry Arneson, Mavis McCain, Robert Fick, Hazel Hewitt, Jerome Erickson, Kathleen Litten, and Betty Baillie.

Summarizing their research work during the past year, Dr. A. D. Whedon, Dr. F. J. Brinley, and Dr. W. N. Keck addressed the old members of the group.

Tryota club held a weiner roast Wednesday night.

New Spectrum Heads

Rustad and Golseth Assume Duties

With this issue of The Spectrum, Maxine Rustad and James Golseth officially take over the duties of their newly acquired positions, that of editor and business manager, respectively, replacing Gale Monson and Robert Parrott, who served for the past year.

Assisting Miss Rustad are her newly selected associate editors: Orville, Goplen, Jack Spalding, and Ralph Anderson, and a changed staff.

Maxine Rustad has had experience as reporter, desk editor, and associate editor of The Spectrum during the last three years. She has been associated with the Bison Brevities, Student Commission, and various honor societies on the campus.

James Golseth was the advertising manager of the Bison Yearbook being distributed today and has been active in music and the Brevities.

Golseth has not yet announced his staff for the coming year. The new business manager was recently inducted into Gamma Tau Sigma, honorary journalistic fraternity.

Another and the year's final edition of The Spectrum will be the Senior edition to be issued Monday, June 4, by the new staff. They will again take office in September.

Change In School Set-Up Effective For Fall Session

The reorganization of the administrative divisions of the North Dakota State college, as adopted by the Board of Administration last November, will go into effect July 1, 1934. Since its original decision, no action affecting organization has been taken by the Board except to appoint H. L. Walster Director of Extension on December 5th to fill the vacancy left by Director Monroe's withdrawal from the institution.

The readjustment provides for a single head of the school of agriculture and the experiment station. The department will be headed by Dr. H. L. Walster, present dean of the school of agriculture, with P. J. Olson as assistant dean. L. M. Roderick will become chairman of the department of Animal Hygiene and Pathology.

A new division of engineering will include the departments of physics, chemical engineering, and the school of chemistry, as well as the regular engineering courses. R. M. Dolve, present dean of the school of engineering, will be the new head, with L. L. Carrick, present dean of the school of chemistry, as associate dean.

The present schools of science and literature, education, and pharmacy will be combined into one school. A. E. Minard will be the new dean, with A. D. Weeks and W. F. Sudro as associate deans.

Degrees Will Be Presented To 240 College Students

At commencement exercises Monday, June 4 at 10:30 a. m. in Festival hall more than 240 NDSC students will receive masters, professional, or bachelor degrees as a culmination of four years college work.

Commencement activities, which began with the presentation of the class play, "Her Husband's Wife", on May 8, will be resumed Friday, June 2. At 10 p. m. the annual pipe of peace ceremony will take place.

"Keeping Great Securities Intact", will be the topic of the baccalaureate sermon, to be delivered by Rev. W. P. Gerberding of the St. Mark's English Lutheran church, Sunday, June 3.

Following baccalaureate service the class day exercises and alumni ceremonial will be held in Festival hall. The program includes music by Mildred Thorstad; class president's address, Idan Flaa; class history, Abbie Porter and Olive Ringen; presentation of the hatchet by the senior class president and acceptance by Robert Parrott, junior class president; class poem, Grace South; and class prophecy, Frederick Martin and Donald Fredrickson.

Sunday evening, June 3, an alumni supper will take place at 6:00 o'clock in Ceres hall, followed by the commencement concert in Festival hall at 8:15.

Charity Lunch, Campus Talent Are Features

Popularity Contest Held At Matinee Dance In Festival

A bread-line cabaret will be the initial feature of the second annual All-College day opening today in Festival hall where a lunch will be served gratis at noon and collegians will gather to munch hot dogs to the rhythm of Don Fredrickson's orchestra.

Songs and dances will be punctuated with old and new wit at the entertainment furnished by campus talent during the lunch session at which John Hamlet will be master of ceremonies.

Following the fun fest until three o'clock, sophomores and freshmen will battle for honors in flag rush and tug-of-war. All four of the classes will be represented in the kittenball tournament in the stadium.

At three-thirty the yearbooks will be distributed at Festival hall, according to Jane Nichols and Kenneth Hamry, yearbook publication heads.

A popularity contest to determine the most popular boy and girl on the campus will be a feature attraction at the dance from four until six o'clock in Festival hall, at which Don Fredrickson's orchestra will furnish the music. Each person, upon entering the door, will have an opportunity to cast a ballot, the results to be announced before the close of the dance.

The innovation of establishing an All-College day was initiated into the State college calendar last year. Prior to that time the students had enjoyed a similar holiday under the Gay Cat regime, a festive order which had remained dormant for a few years.

Among the directors of today's festivities are Paul Deal and Frank Sanders of Blue Key, and Virginia Garberg, Erlys Hill, and Olive Ringen of Senior Staff.

New Commission Is Installed Tuesday

The installation of the Student Commission for the coming year took place Tuesday evening at a banquet held at the Waldorf hotel. Short speeches were given by each of the retiring members, charging the new with the responsibilities of their offices. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sackett were guests of the evening.

The newly initiated members are: Earl Jennings, president; Carol Ladwig, commissioner of judiciary; Marion Bristol, commissioner of elections; Erling Schranz, commissioner of athletics; Horace Spaulding, commissioner of public speaking; Alyce Connolly, commissioner of finance; Virginia Landbloom, commissioner of social affairs; and Louis Whalen, commissioner of campus. They will take over the duties of their offices at once.

Retiring members are: Carmen Hunt, Grace South, Maxine Rustad, Luella Furcht, Clifford Maloney, Roman Meyers, Thelma Liessman, Erlys Hill, and George Toman.

Publishers of 1935 Bison

With the distribution of the 1935 Bison this afternoon, Jane Nichols and Kenneth Hamry present their contribution to NDSU yearbook history.

Bison Briefs

Among the outstanding questions of the week-end:

Where does Carmen Hunt spend his evenings since he does most of his sleeping in class?

Reports from Grand Forks state that Bill "Noisy" Murphy has his picture in all of the prominent sorority houses at the "U".

Libby Lowell, sophistication in the raw, can again be seen promenading the campus with her lost boy friend. What is it, spring fever or that new car appeal?

Don Buchanan and Lovey Met-singer seem to be laboring under quite a case of "Puppy Love".

The Theta Chis are said to have drank a very successful convention.

A tip to the more gullible of the male lounge lizards,—if Helen Fredrickson says she's sorry she has a headache, you can be sure she is expecting another caller.

Our dignified song and dance man, Ed "Crystal" Jessen, entertained quite an audience after the Senior Ball with a few solos, among which was "Just a Gigolo".

And by the way, did anybody notice Paul Whyte push his "heavy" date around at the Phi Mu party. Lots of luck, Paul, but you ought to keep yourself confined to the Missouri Slope—Baa! Baa!

At the present date Bob Deering can be quoted as saying, "We have no definite plans."

The retiring Spectrum staff seems to have been hit rather badly with Monson wearing Cathryn Ray's heart chained to his wrist and Parrott noticeably wearing no heart on his sleeve.

Someone would like to know how many scores the Gamma Phi, Sigma Tau baseball team tallied on their six quarts of ginger ale and two quarts of lime rickey Sunday night.

Last line: Which of the coffee scoffers writes the briefs?

"Lilac Days" Fete Heralds Blossoms

Heralding the blossoming of North Dakota's fragrant spring flowers, the pageant "Lilac Days," produced under the supervision of A. G. Arvold, was staged last Wednesday evening on the campus green. Incorporated into the pageant was the crowning of the Lilac day queen, Phyllis Tritchler, and the dedication of the tower chimers.

The fantasy of spring formed the general theme of the pageant as it was interpreted by various dances, accompanied by the Gold Star Concert band. A boy and girl, afraid of the queen, were finally presented to her. To grant their wishes the queen waved a magic wand.

A May-pole dance requested by the girl was presented by a group of girls dressed in soft, pastel costumes. At the wish of the little boy, horses and riders appeared. Following were dances by groups of children, antics by the court jesters, and the retiring of the queen, with her attendants and prince charming.

A TYPICAL COLLEGE DAY IF ONE WERE TO BELIEVE THE MOVIES

MONDAY—Awoke with a bird-cage taste in mouth. Sure some party last night. Missed my eight o'clock, and spent the last part of the hour playing pool over in the campus cave. Bing Crosby was guest professor in our economics class this morning. What a pipe! Sang blues all period. Bing sure knows how to run a class. During convocation we played nine holes of golf on campus course. Greens are perfect. That new Isotta-Fraschini we've got is a wow. Pennants and hotcha signs all over it sure are keen. Row de dow. Darn near ran over a frosh this morning. Hullu mackerel, but they're dumb—no sense at all. They just stand around with green caps on, over their goofy haircuts and pull boners all day long. Just doesn't seem plausible, being that dumb. Boy, our history teacher is ancient. He's old, wears glasses with a ribbon on them, has high-water pants, stiff collars, atrocious ties, and speaks with a Harvard accent. Over at the college lunch everybody sang, and several swell tap-dancers were unearthed. Drank a lot of sodies and yelled a lot. That little girl who wasn't a sorority member, didn't have clothes and was the underdog, etc., sure came through. All the campus hot shots like the way she smiles and dances. Funny, her talents didn't come out before. This afternoon was watching football practice with my girl. Sat in her big, long, yellow car. I'm afraid she likes that All-American. But then, the coach looked my legs over today, and advised me to come out tomorrow. He saw me drop-kick a 65-yard field goal, when I was fooling around. Maybe I'll still rate with her. Went out on the old Ox road tonight and parked for a while after attending a little private party over at the fraternity house. After a couple of little shots down at the Venetian Garden, home, and ready for bed. Hope my girl has my astronomy ready for tomorrow

EXAM SCHEDULE

Examinations for the spring term are scheduled for May 29, 31, and June 1, according to A. H. Parrott, registrar.

The schedule is as follows:

May 29—
8:00—Regular 8 o'clock classes.
1:15—Regular 11 o'clock classes.
May 31—
8:00—Regular 9 o'clock classes.
1:15—Regular 1:15 o'clock classes.

June 1—
8:00—Regular 10 o'clock classes.
1:15—Regular 2:10 and 3:05 o'clock classes.

A student can take examinations in two minors that regularly meet at the same hour but on different days, because the examinations for those minor courses which do not meet on Monday nor through the first part of the week will be held during the latter half of the period.

The men of St. Louis University have revolted: They are griping because they have to shave too often. Reason: The co-eds demand it.

Minnesota Daily, student publication of the University of Minnesota, was censored by the faculty for "partisan" writeups concerning anti-military demonstrations.

WE HOPE ---

Believing that this is essentially the student's institution and that The Spectrum is essentially the student's publication, we as an editing staff are resolved to make the weekly in our regime as representative of students activities, interests, and opinions, as is within our power. Therefore we resolve:

To print all the important news without discrimination between personalities, organizations, or departments.

To be accurate, precise, and yet colorful.

To support all student ventures backed by the majority of the enrollment.

To take the initiative in making such improvements as we believe to be constructive.

To publish all student opinions which are based on dependable information and which have a purpose other than avenging a grievance.

To accept criticism.

Ambitions for a coming school year of papers are many. Timeliness and importance shall distinguish our news stories. Interesting presentation, and brevity shall be their characteristics. Our editorials in the future shall be divided between discussions of conditions on our own campus and the subjects interesting to students in the colleges of the country. Originality and cleverness shall distinguish our features. All in all, we hope to set a new standard of college journalism.

THEY CREATE ---

All tradition is broken in the 1935 yearbook. Originality has been the god of the creators with the result that the students will either like it very much or not like it at all. Appealing to the sense of sight and to the spirit of the unusual, the book is in a class by itself.

Outstanding in achievement are the pictures throughout the volume. Night scenes of Old Main, the Field House, and other buildings, modern shadowed pictures of representative seniors, movement snapshots of college students at play are combined to produce striking results.

A tickling of humor demonstrates itself from the beginning of the book to the end, from the Cheshire cat introducing the sorority section to the tin-pan soldier with his wooden sword initiating the military men.

Color is the predominating note of

Seniors Complete Social Activities

George Hardy and his Aristocrats of Rhythm from Minneapolis, Minn., furnished the music. Entertainment was provided by a floor show traveling with the band, and the La Von trio, local tap dance professionals.

Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Dedrick and Prof. and Mrs. Rudolf Otterson chaperoned the party.

Mr. King and Mr. Formo were assisted by the following committee heads: Vincent Buck, tickets; Merton Bottemiller, music; Marion Powers, invitations; Elizabeth Lowell, programs; Vernon Cross, features; Ruth Clausen, refreshments; Robert Deering, decorations; Gale Monson, publicity; and Clifford Maloney, floor manager.

University of Georgia candidates for degrees in Education will be given intensive psychological tests in an endeavor to compare them with similar students in other states and to determine the feasibility of instituting policies for excluding inferior candidates. This practice has been adopted elsewhere in the country with excellent results, according to J. C. Meadows, Dean of the College of Education.

Students Of Plant Sciences Explore Itasca State Park

Trail blazing in untrodden woods, adventures with porcupines, and odd experiences of individuals were among the interesting side-lights experienced by the forty-odd NDSC instructors and students of plant sciences, who spent the week-end at Itasca State Park in Minnesota. Whether it was watching Dick Armstrong recover his cap from the porcupine's back, seeing Reggie De Nio in a quandry because of losing his automobile keys, observing Dr. Stoesz steering clear of plants causing skin poisoning, or being lost in the forest, the expeditioners met with many incidents not pre-arranged.

However, the above are merely incidents on a trip packed with field trip studies in the various phases throughout this nature reserve. The expedition, the third annual one sponsored by Phytois, plant science group, was a three-day trip extending from Friday through Sunday. During their stay at the Park, the group was quartered at the cabins owned by the Minnesota school of forestry.

Itinerary of the field trips included: Friday, an all-day study in systematic botany with specific observation among the virgin growths of Norway and white pines along the Bohall trail; Saturday morning, studies by both the mycology and ecology groups in the vicinity of Green monument; Saturday afternoon, an expedition and study of vegetation in the former Elk pastures; Sunday, a visit to various beaver dams along the LaSalle creek within the reserve. Dr. A. D. Stoesz, Prof. O. A. Stevens, and Mr. H. L. Barnett directed these field voyages.

Spring Football Ends With Hopes For Championship

With spring football practice completed, Coaches Casey Finnegan and Bob Lowe have managed to retain that optimistic feeling about their chances of copping the conference title next fall.

While these sessions didn't give the coaches much of a line on some of their last year's letter men, several promising freshmen were uncovered. Perhaps the two outstanding "finds" are Lester Dohn and Bob Erickson. Dohn has shown enough class as a runner and as an accurate passer to be given lots of grooming for a backfield post in the fall. However, he'll have to be awfully good to beat out Wendy Scholander, one of the most valuable players in the conference. Erickson has given notice that he is quite capable of holding down a regular fullback job for the Bison next fall. The Larimore fellow is a terrific line plunger and has the fire and ability to land him among the starting eleven.

In the line there are three more frosh who threaten to upset the dope bucket and displace some of last year's lettermen. Lyle Sturgeon, 256 pounds of tackle, is not only tough to handle on the defense, but is showing plenty of stuff in the punting department. Bob Millar and Forrest Stevens are other possibilities worth watching when next fall arrives.

The coaches were handicapped by having some of their prospects training for track but the practices as a whole proved quite satisfactory.

Singers Convene In Field House On June 21-23

The NDSC field house will be the scene of two grand concerts by the Norwegian Singers association of America when this international group convenes for its biennial convention at Fargo, June 21, 22, 23. Approximately 1000 singers are expected to unite in these grand concerts which will occur at 8 o'clock in the evening on the last two days of the convention, according to Professor P. J. Iverson of the NDSC educational department, who is president of the group.

At noon, June 23, the chorus will broadcast over the NBC network over a nation wide hookup. This program will be rebroadcast over a short wave system from Schenectady, New York, to foreign listeners in Norway, Sweden, England, and other countries. Following the broadcast, a matinee at 2 o'clock of an educational nature will feature demonstrative singing by the best voices and choruses.

A former North Dakota girl, Nora Fouchald, who studied in Europe and in the United States and worked five years with Sousa's band will be the leading soloist. H. Norbom, Sioux City, baritone will also assist the chorus in the grand concerts.

The ladies will be entertained at breakfast in the Lincoln Log Cabin and a program in the Little Country Theater. A two day social program will be conducted by active organizations of Fargo. The convention here, sponsored by the Orpheus, men's Norwegian chorus of Fargo, has been made possible by the cooperation of the Fargo officials, Chamber of Commerce, business men, and interested citizens.

MILDRED PETERSON IS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

At the annual alumnae-active picnic of the Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economic professional group, Mildred Peterson was awarded the Phi Upsilon Omicron scholarship given to a junior girl in home economics who has a good scholastic average and shows promise of success in her chosen field.

The picnic, held in the tourist park, was in charge of the following groups: refreshments, Alyce Connolly, Lucille Smith, Marjorie Baker; transportation, Amy Glaser, Hermione Hanson; and invitations, Cecil Olson, Mildred Peterson, Isabelle Humphreys.

Graduates from the College of Commerce, University of Kentucky, publish a pamphlet called "Bargains in Brains", in which the picture of each graduate, his age, height, weight, chief interest and experience, are listed. This plan was followed last year with the result that all but two graduates were placed, and out of the 41 obtaining positions, only two proved unsatisfactory.

SPECULATIONS

by WALT McGRATH

Of course you've all heard about Billy Sheffield, Little Giant of the sandlots and the pride and joy of the ATO kittenball team. It was the last inning of the championship game, when Shifty Sheffield was inserted as a pinch-hitter. And what does our hero do but smack the old apple for a clean double, thereby scoring the tying run for dear old Alpha Tau Omega.

After that clout his chest expanded so much he was willing to wager that he had the edge on Wee Willie Wright, heretofore the outstanding example of the "Mold A Mighty Chest" correspondence school.

"In my five years as coach here at NDSC I've never had a really outstanding quarterback," laments Coach Finnegan. Why not try "Pretz" Reiners back there chirping out directions, Casey? He understands the intricacies of Calculus and that ought to make him eligible for almost any master-minding position.

Seems to our unpracticed eye that Jim McClearie, sprint star and backbone of the MSTC track squad, is one of the best, or worst, examples of overtraining seen around here in recent years. In his special race with Melvin (no foolin' that's his real name) Hanson at the May Festival, he was outsped in the century and then nearly collapsed from exhaustion when he attempted to come back in the furlong. McClearie had already run two races that day and it seems to us that it was not only unfair to make him race again, but that he might suffer some bad physical results from the over-exertion.

The same thing happened down at the U when Jim's legs collapsed on him and he was forced to drop out of the contest altogether. We may be wrong, but it seems to this hyar department that McClearie ought to take a rest from competition for a while.

Bison Compete In Conference Meet

Athletes Seek Track Honors At Brookings

The North Dakota State college track and field team will compete tomorrow in the annual North Central conference meet at South Dakota State college in Brookings. The squad, composed of eight men, is coached by Pete Gergen.

North Dakota university, 1933 loop titlists, and South Dakota State are the outstanding contenders for the conference title. The Bison have several potential first place winners and will make a strong bid in several of the events.

Fritz Hanson, sprint star, will compete in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump. Harry Arneson and Marion Striker are sure point-gatherers in the pole vault and high jump. Other members of the squad are: Beryl Newman, 440 runner; Burt Anderson, hurdler; Neville Reiners, weight man; Gordon Horner, half miler; and Albert Elliott, relay man.

Features of track meet will be a renewal of Hanson's series of sprint duels with Ralph Pierce, ace dash man from NDU. Hanson beat Pierce in the 220 at the Grand Forks invitational meet, while he was a loser in the 100. NDU is expected to count heavily in the field events, being conceded by dopesters winners of at least five firsts. However, the South Dakota State balanced team is expected to score heavily in seconds and thirds, with a strong chance of taking the meet on this team strength alone.

Members of the conference are: North Dakota State college, North Dakota university, South Dakota State, South Dakota university, and Morningside university.

Bison Track Team Wins Third Place In Contest At NDU

Placing men in six events, Bison track and field representatives annexed nineteen points to place third in an intercollegiate track meet held at Grand Forks last Friday and Saturday. North Dakota University captured high scoring honors when they piled up a total of 50½ points to completely outdistance the rest of the field.

Fritz Hanson was the only double winner for the Herd breezing the 220-yard dash in 23.3 seconds for a first in this event and then went out to take first in the broad jump. Harry Arneson, carrot-topped vaulter from Fargo, continued first place in the running broad jump. Harry Arneson, carrot-topped vaulter from Fargo, continued to exhibit championship form when he cleared the bar at 12 feet 1 inch, to easily outdo his nearest competitor and chalk up five counters for the Fargo squad. Marion Striker, another red-headed member of the Bison tracksters, came through with three points by leaping nearly six feet, but this was only good for second honor. Schwartz of Mayville cleared the bar at six feet ¼ inch.

Other members of the Fargo squad who placed were: Newman, third in the 440-yard dash; Burt Anderson, fourth in the 220-yard hurdles; and Neville Reiners, fourth in the shot put.

Jamestown college nosed out the Bison for second place when they counted heavily in the field events to pile up a total of 21 points. Other teams that counted were: Valley City Teachers, Minot Teachers, Dickinson Teachers, Mayville Teachers, Moorhead Teachers, and Wahpeton Science.

ATO Softballers Win Campus Title

Fighting an uphill game, the ATO's came from behind in the last inning to eke out a 5-4 win over the Kappa Psi ten to annex the campus kittenball title last Monday night. Billy Sheffield, pinch-hitting for Bud Marquardt in the last frame, provided the needed scoring punch for the victors by driving in Burt Anderson with a rousing double to knot the count and score the winning run on Walt Jahnke's sacrifice fly.

The Kappa Psi team scored four times in the first inning on 3 hits, 2 errors, and 2 walks. The victors counted twice in the third inning, and were a constant scoring threat from then on.

Erling Nord, Kappa Psi third sacker, was the outstanding fielder of the game, making only one error while accomplishing 7 assists and 3 putouts. Bill Gallagher and Bob Erickson turned some nice bits of fielding for the victors. Walt Ekeren and Acey Olson, opposing mounds-men, turned in some steady pitching performances.

In the semi-finals of the tournament, the Kappa Psis overwhelmed the Cosmopolitan club to gain the finals, while the ATO's squeezed out a 7-8 victory over the Theta Chi to enter the championship round.

Stan Maynard directed the Kittenball competition throughout the first season of its existence.
