Seniors Dance At Prom Tonight

All-College Day Is Replete With Entertainment

An afternoon of festivity and entertainment will be afforded NDSC students next Wednesday, May 23, when the traditional All-college day will take place.

Opening the program of events will be a free luncheon and entertainment at noon in Festival hall. Sandwiches and ice cream will be served to all students as they enter. The entertainment will consist of music by Don Fredrikson and his orchestra, and comedy sketches by various students, with Johnny Hamlet acting as master of ceremonies.

Following the noon program will be a series of inter-class contests, including kittenball, tug-of-war, a flag rush, and a projected peanut race in the new swimming pool. There is a possibility that there will be an open air concert by the Gold Star band.

A second principal feature of the day will be the staging of the "Lilac Days" pageant on the campus in front of Old Main at 7 o'clock by the pageantry class under the direction of Prof. A. G. Arvold. The pageant this year will carry out a medieval theme, with Phyllis Tritchler being crowned Lilac queen. The dedication of the newly-installed chimes in Old Main will take place at this time.

Closing All-college day will be a sports dance at the Field house from 8:30 to 11:30. Students will be admitted free.

Blue Key and Senior Staff, campus service organizations, are directing All-college day activities. Paul Deal and Frank Sanders are on the committee from Blue Key, while Senior Staff is represented by Virginia Garberg, Eryls Hill, and Olive Ringen.

Local Theta Chis Convention Hosts

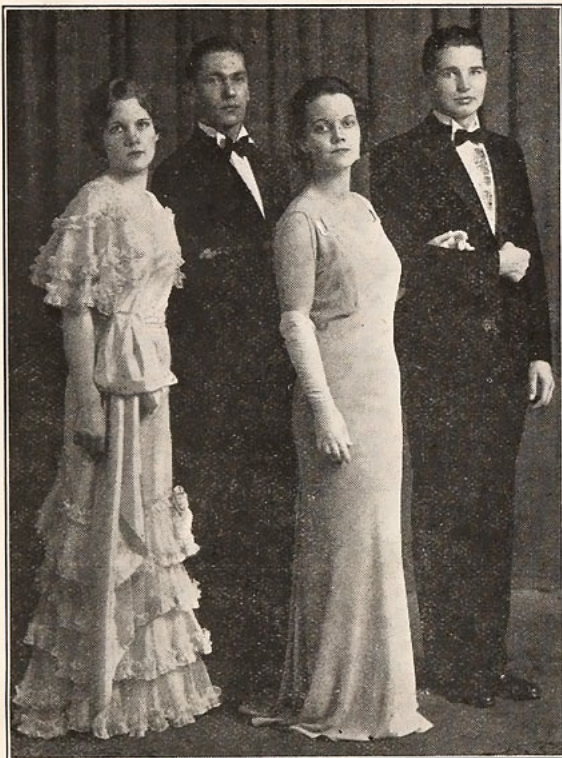

The first Northwest regional convention of Theta Chi fraternity to ever be held will take place on this campus tomorrow, May 19, when Phi chapter of Theta Chi fraternity will act as host to over a hundred representatives from Theta Chi chapters in the northwest.

The program Saturday will consist of a breakfast at 9 a. m. at the chapter house. Following this will be registration at 9:30 with the formal opening of the convention at 10:30 in the Little Country theater. At 12 o'clock a luncheon will be held in the Lincoln Log cabin. The fore part of the afternoon will be given over to a round table discussion for the officers.

Tolbert MacRae, head of the music department at Iowa State college and member of the national council of Theta Chi, will preside over all the sessions. Closing the day's activity will be the active and alumni banquet at 6:30 in the Chamber of Commerce building with an all-Theta Chi party at 9 o'clock. Music during the banquet and dance will be furnished by Cee Rodeberg and his band from Minneapolis. The house glee club under the direction of Donald Harris will furnish entertainment. Dr. Frank Darrow will act as toastmaster at the banquet.

In charge of arrangements is Hill Elwin.

First In Line-ers

Leading the grand march at the Senior Prom tonight will be Mr. Thomas King and his escort, Miss Evve Hammer, and Mr. Miles Formo and his guest, Miss Belvidere Olson.

Bison Will Be Distributed On Friday, May 25

Since dust storms in this area hindered printing activities, the 1935 Bison will not be distributed until May 25, according to Jane Nichols, editor-in-chief.

Dedicated to Dr. C. S. Putnam, the book is a photographic review of 1933-1934 college life. Complete pictures of the music department, Little Country theater, and social functions are presented in the volume. The open section will be in multi-color, with the division pages in two colors.

The advertising section will be the most unique feature of the book, picturing Fargo life, according to Kenneth Hamry, business manager. All the advertising will be done through pictures, an innovation in Bison yearbooks.

In the feature section of the book are fourteen pictures of buildings and departments on the campus, as well as of sorority and fraternity homes. Scenic night views and photos of the campus during the winter are also pictured.

Students who assisted through the year in the production of the book are Cathryn Ray, Vincent Case, and Emanuel Smith, associate editors, and George Nichols, Virginia Schonberg, Katherine Kilbourne, Ralph Anderson, Martha Ricker, William Murphy, Doris Nelson, Robert McCracken, Warner Litten, Charlotte Thingstad, and Ellen Blair, staff assistants. Business assistants are Chester Perry, James Golseth, and Walt Ward.

Cosmopolitan Club Elects Olson Head

The Cosmopolitan club, campus organization of independent student, elected Calvin Olson, junior, president for the ensuing year at a meeting of the organization Monday night. Olson and his fellow officers will be installed next week.

Other newly-elected officers include: Helen Foster, first vice-president; Stephen Crum, second vice-president; Mary Fae Wenger, secretary; Chester Olson, treasurer; and Magnus Isaacson, sergeant-at-arms.

Outgoing officers are: William Oftebro, president; Emma Dietz, vice-president; Florence Palmerlee, secretary; Elmer Ewing, treasurer; and Alvin Johnson, sergeant-at-arms.

Monson, Parrott Are Through

Today's issue of The Spectrum is the last to be printed under the direction of Gale Monson as editor-in-chief, and Robert B. Parrott as business manager. The two have directed the North Dakota State college newspaper for the past school year.

Monson and Parrott were responsible for a number of changes affecting The Spectrum during the past year. Primary among these has been the switch from the large, six-column size to the present tabloid, five-column size. The style and make-up of the paper has been different from that of previous years, presenting to the students a far more interesting and snappy newspaper. Another innovation has been the distribution of a rotogravure section with the paper.

Officers Review Local ROTC Unit

With Colonel R. H. McMasters of Omaha, Nebr., and Major R. F. Arnold of Fargo as the visiting examiners, the annual inspection of the North Dakota State college's ROTC corps commenced yesterday morning and was completed today.

Yesterday, tests in practical and theoretical work in the regular classes was conducted by Major Arnold. This morning the review of the entire corps took place at 8:30 with Colonel McMasters presiding, and was followed by a personal examination of each platoon by the inspecting officers. Company, platoon, and squad drill was then exhibited, and one company was inspected in physical training. The final movement was the execution of a combat problem with a war strength company consisting of six platoons.

Rustad Announces Spectrum's Staff For Coming Year

Ralph Anderson, Jack Spalding, and Orville Goplen have been selected as associate editors for the 1934-1935 Spectrum according to the report made by Maxine Rustad, editor, today.

The editorial staff which will cooperate to produce the college weekly for the rest of this year and through the next is completed until next fall when additions will be made. Besides the associate editors, the staff includes Walter McGrath, sports editor; Morton Larson, assistant sports editor; Adeline Naftalin, Robert Williams, and Marjorie Laliberte, desk editors; Lennea Frisk, society editor; and Genevieve Lind, features editor.

The reportorial staff will include Robert Gwyther, Betty Benton, William Clark, Mary Spratt, Marjorie Arnold, and Lila Maxson.

The Spectrum has been printed every Friday of the school year thus far, save for an issue during the week of final exams in the winter term. In addition to the regular issues, a prospective student issue was printed during the summer vacation.

A third annual editorial exchange between the editors of The Spectrum and The Dakota Student, the latter the University of North Dakota student publication, was consummated.

Those students whose names appear on the masthead at the present time have been primary assistants to both the editorial and business staffs during the past year.

Maxine Rustad and James Golseth, new heads of The Spectrum, will take over their duties with next Friday's issue.

Carrying out a tradition of future years the Senior class tonight will stage its annual Prom, with Mr. Thomas King, manager, and his guest, Miss Evve Hammer, and Mr. Miles Formo, assistant manager, and his guest, Miss Belvidere Olson, the first and second couples in line when the grand march forms.

As class athlete and class president, respectively, Mr. Roman Meyers with his escort, Miss Paula Verne, and Mr. Idan Flaa, with his partner, Miss Helen Lee, will march third and fourth in line.

To be held in the Crystal ballroom in Fargo, the affair will be in full swing from 9 to 1 o'clock, with the line for the grand march forming at 9:30 o'clock. George Hardy and his Aristocrats of Rhythm from Minneapolis Minn., will furnish the music. Features will be provided by an eleven-girl floor show traveling with the band, and by the La-Von trio, local tap dance professionals.

Guests will be presented with combination programs and favors, the nature of which will not be revealed until this evening. Lilacs will be featured in the decorative scheme. Spring formal attire will be proper wear. Tickets are one dollar a couple, and will be available at the door.

Chaperoning will be Dr. and Mrs. D. S. Dedrick and Prof. and Mrs. Rudolf Otterson.

Committee heads assisting Mr. King and Mr. Formo have been Vincent Buck, tickets; Merton Bottemiller, music; Marion Powers, invitations; Elizabeth Lowell, programs; Vernon Cross, features; Ruth Clausen, refreshments; Robert Deering, decorations; Gale Monson, publicity; and Clifford Maloney, floor manager.

Work On Chimes Project Signifies Campaign Success

Concrete debris and fallen bricks, resulting from the holes in the tower of Old Main, is visual proof that Gamma Tau Sigma, journalism fraternity, has succeeded in its campaign to install chimes in the clock tower and that the bells will operate for the first time on All-college day, next Wednesday.

Already installed are the trumpets, sound boxes, excitors, transformers, and chimes, the only additional supply needed being the amplifiers. Haile Chisholm, instructor in forging, is completing an extensive bit of grill work which, when completed, will be used to cover the openings below the clocks.

Donations for the project are still coming in, states Robert Parrott, newly-elected president of the organization. Although the ticket sale ended several weeks ago, various downtown concerns and campus societies have signified their desire to donate to the cause. A list of the firms and clubs that aided in the drive will be printed next week.

Numerous interested individuals and clubs have written notes of appreciation to Gamma Tau Sigma thanking them for adopting the project, a long-needed unit in the tower of Old Main.

THE END

As the old saying goes, there's an end to everything. This time it's the end of the terms of office held by the present editor and business manager of The Spectrum. Before their last issue goes to press, they'd like to have their final say:

It's been an enjoyable year. The experiences, contacts, and friendships gained have far outbalanced the disappointments. They completely compensate for any sacrifices we may have made.

We have little or no appreciation to extend toward the faculty, or to the student body as a whole. But to the members of our staff, who have worked under us during the year, we want to express our greatest thanks. Their spirit and their attitude has been the finest, we are sincerely convinced, that any previous staff has ever evidenced. Next year's Spectrum heads will be extremely fortunate to have the cooperation and the assistance that has been given by the present staff. If we have contributed nothing more to this newspaper during the year than this staff, we are wholly satisfied with what has been done.

We want to express our gratefulness, too, to the business men of Fargo and Moorhead who have enabled The Spectrum to be a success financially. There is not a single instance in which they have failed to back the publication. Certainly, this college owes a lot to them.

For next year's editor and business manager, we wish a most successful year in office. If it is necessary, we'd like to remind them that to be able to edit and manage a creditable publication, that publication's heads must be conscientious enough to continually make the paper Number One consideration in all that they do. It is essential that there be the utmost cooperation between editor and business manager.

And so, regretful that it is impossible for us to work another year on The Spectrum, we want to express our thanks for the opportunity of having been able to head the State college student publication during the past year—a privilege that is by far and large the best, and has proven to be so, of the campus student offices.

Gale Monson,
Robert B. Parrott.

WE ASK—

As far back as we know of, the publications of this college have been supervised by a Board of Publications. This board, comprised of three faculty members and six student members, has in its hands the complete control of anything pertaining to The Spectrum or The Bison.

There is no question but that this year's Board has attempted to do its business in an impartial and perfectly honest manner. Its every act while hardly unquestionable, has been above board and carefully considered before being consummated. However, we would like to leave a few thoughts with the Board that have been evoked by close contact with it.

In the first place, we believe that Board members should take a more active interest in the publications. They should make it a point to become acquainted with the people on the two staffs, and to drop in at the publications' offices frequently. In this way they will be much better equipped to discuss the board's business. Further, they will be better able to judge as to who should follow who in office. This is not to be regarded as "snooping".

It also seems that the editors and business managers of the two publications should be permitted to be present at meetings of the Board. The Board is a student organization, not a secret society. Its actions are open to the scrutiny of the student body at any time. To avoid making mistakes, it is certainly necessary to have the publications' heads present at meetings. This is a very important point, one not to be overlooked.

One of the most assiduous workers on The Spectrum, one who has no chance for promotion and who has an entire page to be responsible for, is the sports editor. If at all possible, it will be desirable to remunerate him for his services, just as the associate editors are remunerated.

We hope that the Board will take all these suggestions to heart, as they affect very vitally the welfare of the student publications. After a year's contact with the Board, this year's editor of The Spectrum has been pleased with its attitude toward the publications, and has found its criticism and supervision valuable—but he still is of the very firm opinion that the steps mentioned above should be taken. Possibilities for friction between an editor and a governing board are many, and the fact that there has been little such friction this year is an indication that one of the two sides has not been doing its part, or that all has been satisfactory. We leave this last point to be thought over.—G. W. M.

They're Through

A Communication....

From a Has-been to a To-be

Dear Miss Rustad:

I have crossed the Rubicon, have met the enemy and the die has been cast every Thursday for approximately nine months. I sit on my swirling swivel chair, and various and sundry thoughts swirl around in my brain. A tear slithers down. My handkerchieflet comes out. Memories troop in. (Tender part of letter omitted for obvious reasons.) You know, Maxine, editors always write like this at the end of the school year. It invariably oozes out of them. They've got to shoot off their mouths. Either that or edit a Bull Bison. That old ego comes to the fore—the ego that makes the president and the kid-naper twin brothers. It's time for personal reminiscing. Having gone through the well-known vicissitudes of a tempestuous term of editorship it is time to throw off the encumbrances of the mossy past and wipe the dirty printers ink off the tips of my fingers.

You will find copies of our 1934 tabloids under the dust in the corner. You will find cigarette butts in the ash tray and pictures of Clara Bow, Miriam Hopkins, and Ethel Waters on the wall. Do as you wish. Put up Geo. Raft and Gary Cooper.

With your kind permission I will conduct a short NDSC autopsy:

There has been grief and joy. I have failed some—some have failed me. I have read between the lines of the society columns and seen hypocrisy. I have learned that unlike the old proverb, by their social affiliations you shall know them. I have wondered if it is knowledge that is power or if it is just belonging to the right social set. Oh, it's interesting to observe the lallygagers, the tough guys, the loud and the demure people that make up our Bison. You'll see the 90 student plagiarizer. You'll see the triumph of matter over mind and consequent expulsion from school. You'll see the country lad of no importance be clothed with an office which will cause him to lift his head. You'll see the high school big-shot flop at college. He'll wonder why and feel that the world has given him a raw deal. You'll see nonentities get into office through political backing. You'll see the engineers shove through a lot of prom leaders. Cries a foot long will pass before you on your way to final exams. You'll notice that a little flunking now and then will happen to the best of men. You'll see new cars skyrocket certain individuals to new popularity heights. You'll see the "big shot" athletes dissipating on successive week-ends while those with less talent will train diligently and go unsung. You'll see fellows indulging in puppy love in the springtime of their freshman year and then go to the dogs about three years out. You'll see Arvold making the significant out of the insignificant and you'll marvel where they get the crust to put some of that mediocre stuff before the public.

And then, I have observed paradoxes aplenty. You'll hear instructors comment favorably on passionate love scenes in shows and then in the capacity of chaperons they'll frown on petty necking in the Festival hall balcony. You will see the Holier-Than-Thous Hog-it-all, and those same defeated Hog-it-alls come back telling the world about it through a loud-speaker. A student will be heard one night playing low-down rhythm in a Moorhead beer joint and next day playing sacred hymns on the chimes. Students will gripe and say that the only thing they read in The Spectrum is the Bison Briefs and yet they'll swear because it's five minutes late coming out of a Friday morn, and be peeved because a name has been misspelled in the society column. You'll see men out in the college-fields pulling weeds from the sides of the road and yet the tennis courts will be overgrown with weeds. Oh, it's all very confusing, like a cyclone or algebra or something. Fraternity pins will be hung and slung.

Yes, sometimes you will wonder. Many is the lad who flips a coin to decide whether he'll commit suicide, run an oil station, go back and farm the "lower forty" or stick it out with the intelligentsia and sneer at the world. Yes, I came to this here institution, fresh from the farm, by crackidy, a thinker of fine thoughts. But some of those thoughts have tumbled from their towering throne. But I'm done, so what's the difference. I pat myself on the back and say, "ha, ha", or words to that effect. There will be trying times ahead. The rose red reflection in your perfect cupid's bow of flaming youth will become pale, at times. Your dainty fingers will lose their softness of velvet and become hard, clumsy and capable only of carrying about slugs of type. You'll hear flippant sneers and wicked sarcasm.

Now, I hope you will take all the foregoing in a friendly spirit. May the college chimes ring out loudly to spur you on in your hour of need, and may you help to reform campus politics and instill a spirit in the team that will beat Minnesota and make the NDSC a real place. Put some hair on the chest of some of the faculty; take out some of the institution's sedateness and make this a great big spirited educational country club, known and respected as more than just a cow college. I turn on my heel when I go. What a time! What a mess! Am I flummoxed! But I'll probably send my children to college, because it's been a great experience.

"So he folded his tent like the Arab And as silently stole away."

—Ye Editor.

Now thoroughly a Kappa Sigma Chi is Laddie Kelly initiated Monday.

Student Opinion

A senior now looks back over a college career and surveys the graduates as he has known them through their school. Two lists of them there are—one with a college degree and a bunch of honors and fraternity and organization pins a-dangling on their watch chains; the other with only a college degree.

The first group has had all the praise; most of its members has had untold advantages. The second group contains a hardy group, which has struggled against all odds to maintain itself in school. That group has worked, placing every moment of its spare time in work to net it a bare living, with few of the pleasures of dances, parties, and participation in extra-curricular activities. Against it all these graduates have had a complex to fight, seeing the advantages, not theirs to receive, of other students.

To this latter group should go an honor, and not having received it here, they will receive it after graduation if their stamina and tenacity endure and if they maintain that confidence in themselves which has marked their four years' work here. To them, the best of luck, and power, and nerve, to success.—A senior.

Reading selections from a group of her original poems, Grace South entertained members of the Fort-nightly club, a discussion group of Fargo women, Monday afternoon at 3 p. m.

Panhellenic Awards Are Announced At Scholarship Dinner

Berenice Rhines, junior in home economics, was awarded the college Panhellenic association scholarship at the sixth annual scholarship dinner of the group, held last Wednesday evening at the Waldorf hotel in Fargo. The award carries with it a year's tuition at the college, and is awarded on a basis of scholarship and promise in the student's chosen line of work.

Lucile Smith, junior in home economics is the recipient of the Fargo-Moorhead Panhellenic award, which also carries with it a tuition award. Helen Foster, home economics junior, won the Irene Leimbacher award of fifty dollars, while Josephine Hoffman, sophomore in home economics, and Marjorie Baker, junior in home economics, were announced recipients of scholarships given by Senior Staff and the Women's Senate, respectively.

Gamma Phi Beta was recognized as the sorority maintaining the highest average during the year. The member of each sorority maintaining the highest average was announced as follows: Genevieve Skinner, Alpha Gamma Delta; LaVernis Hidde, Kappa Delta; Mary Clemens, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Ellen Blair, Gamma Phi Beta; Cathryn Ray, Phi Mu; Margaret Hanson, Phi Omega Pi.

Marian Addison, of Phi Omega Pi, presided at the dinner.

Group Studies Plant Life At Itasca State Park In Minnesota

Forty NDSC students and instructors left yesterday afternoon for Itasca State Park in Minnesota on the third annual pilgrimage to this place sponsored by Phytois, honorary plant science club. The contingent, which will return Sunday, May 20, included those interested in botany, agronomy, forestry, soils, and horticulture.

The NDSC group will be quartered at the University of Minnesota school of forestry at the Park, from where they will make field trip studies. The facilities of the Minnesota institution are made available to the local group by special arrangement.

Instructors heading the group included: Prof. C. B. Waldron, Prof. H. L. Bolley, Prof. O. A. Stevens, Prof. A. F. Yeager, Dr. A. D. Stoesz, Kenneth Ableiter, H. L. Barnett, and Delaphine Rosa.

Other members of the delegation are: Rosemary Allen Marion Anderson, Russell Anderson, Gordon Brandes, Ruth Clausen, Marlin Cline, Laurence Dykstra, Evelyn Engebretson, Gordon Heggeness, Alvin Johnson, Laddie Kelly, Addie Larson, Ben Matzek, Clinton Mogen, Carl Freeman, John Murray, Betty Nelson, Clifford Orvedahl, Lester Rendahl, Art Skurdall, Mrs. A. D. Stoesz, Marion Striker, Alice Swanson, Ellis Thompson, Miss Alice Tibert, Walter Wa., Mrs. H. L. Bolley, and Reginald DeNio.

Chairmen of committees were: Marlin Cline, general arrangements; Marion Striker, program; Ruth Clausen, food; and Gordon Heggeness, transportation.

FORMER INSTRUCTORS GET ADVANCED POSTS

Two former NDSC students, F. Harold McCutcheon and Archie M. Solberg, have received advanced positions at Duke and Columbia universities, respectively.

McCutcheon, former assistant in the zoology department here and who also received his master's degree here, was placed a year ago with four other men in the zoology department of Duke university, Durham, N. C. Of the four men placed at that time he is one of two who have been reappointed for next term.

Solberg, former assistant in the biology department here, was appointed part-time assistant last spring in the zoology department at Columbia university. He has now been made full-time assistant with an increase in salary and free tuition. This year he has been teaching in the extension department, besides his other work. Solberg's appointment was one of the first two made.

Journalists Elect McGrath, Golseth

Alpha chapter of Gamma Tau Sigma is preparing induction services for its two newly elected members, James Golseth and Walt McGrath.

These two students were pledged to the honorary journalistic fraternity Tuesday noon. Golseth has acted as advertising manager of the Bison yearbook for the past year and is business manager-elect of The Spectrum. McGrath's work has been strictly confined to the weekly paper in which capacity he has been working as sports editor.

Grace South, Ruth Moore To Work At Yellowstone Park

Grace South and Ruth Moore, State college students, will speed to Yellowstone park, June 15, on the Yellowstone Special to take positions at lodges in the park.

They will be employed until the latter part of September, Grace South at Lake Lodge on Yellowstone lake, and Ruth Moore at Mammoth Lodge, where she also worked last year.

They will serve guests at the lodges and act as entertaining hostesses. There were 2,000 candidates for the 400 positions which were given to students from all over the United States.

Grace South, a senior, and Ruth Moore, a junior, both in education, are members of Kappa Delta sorority.

Congressional investigators probably aren't aware of the fact, but they are just a group of "scopotropists", according to Dean Henry Wigmore, dean emeritus of the Northwestern Law School. Dean Wigmore defines the word as the incurable mania for investigating.

Parrott, Hamlet To Head Brevities

Succeeding John Gabe and Frank Sanders, business manager and director, respectively, of the Bison Brevities, are Robert Parrott and John Hamlet, who were elected by Blue Key, sponsors of the annual all-student show last Tuesday.

Robert Parrott has received his business experience as retiring head of the business staff of The Spectrum, while John Hamlet was in charge of the dancing solos of the Brevities this year, in addition to having Brevities roles for the past three years.

A member of the faculty will receive the degree of Doctor of Service next Wednesday evening when the Blue Key holds its annual banquet in the Lincoln Log cabin at 5:30 o'clock.

by MAINE SHAFER

Well, the May Festival meet is over. For it, the high school speedsters, jumpers, throwers, and so forth, have a new record and a satisfactory meet from all angles of competition. Let's hope the contests will be as well repeated next year.

One of the biggest aids to the meet's success was none other than "Cut-up" Arneson, red-haired Bison pole vault hero, who between the acts helped as an official. "Abe", alias Arneson, plans a new pole vault record at Grand Forks this week—here's our good luck.

Did you see "Mighty" Miller bar three coaches of visiting high school teams from the official track where drawings were being made? Coach McLeod of Bismarck was overheard to remark, "I've five minutes left to get by that fellow—you decoy him while I enter my team." Perhaps it was a private meet, Miller.

But we are really interested in the "adult" (other word for collegiate) meet at Grand Forks this week-end. You bet your way and we'll string along. Although there are no blue ribbons expected by the S. C. squad for high team honors, we can lay safe odds that the score sheet will be well-punctuated with NDSC point-winners.

For the rest of us, rather overlooked in these track affairs, there are some snappy kittenball games. Come over and watch the intramural teams in action. They aren't bad. If a good baseball game is worth 40 cents (and it is), you'll be money ahead to review the bunch here on the campus at cost, which is nothing at all.

Among the high spots in the tourney are Isensee's throw-in; Schollander's monotone in right field; Acey Olson's curve ball; "Pete" Chloupek; the Gamma Rho infield; antics by Edinburg's Myrdal; and H. Sorenson's fly-nabbing.

Here's something about our own Wendy Schollander that we never knew before. Since his debut as a sophomore backfield star, every game that he has played in has terminated in a victory or a tie for the Herd. And besides this Wendy always manages to play his best game against the University. Two years ago Wendell sewed up the game for the Bison when he snagged a fumble and trotted over for the deciding counter. And again last season his play was one of the factors which earned the home team a 7-7 deadlock with the Sioux.

We note, incidentally, the departure of another of those editors. Beg pardon, but we wonder what the new one will have to say about sports? Anyway, we wish them both good luck.

—and of course, there still are those campus tennis courts.

A wind velocity of 231 miles per hour, the highest ever recorded, has been charted at the Mount Washington, N. H., observatory. It was three times as fast as the average hurricane.

Fargo Preps Win Festival Meet

Second Place Is Taken By Bismarck High

Featured by exceptionally close competition, the annual May Festival track meet held at Dacotah field last Friday and Saturday was won by Central High school of Fargo, who aggregated 64½ points to take first place.

Bismarck high school placed second in the meet with 21 points, 11 of those being garnered by Lawrence Schneider; Grafton, third with 14; Nome next with 10½; then Valley City, 9½; and following in order, Wahpeton Indians and Sharon with 4 each, Thief River Falls, Minn., 2½, and Wahpeton, 1.

Floyd Clements, co-captain of the Fargo track squad, walked off with the individual high-point honors, accumulating an even dozen points. He counted in four events, namely, a first in the broad jump, tie for top position in the pole vault, raced in fourth in the low hurdles, and third in the 100-yard dash.

The only record to be broken during the meet was the javelin throw, Orville Fisher of Fargo tossing the spear for 169 feet 11 inches to displace the old mark held by his brother of 158 feet 6 inches, set in 1931. Floyd Stromme of Coopers-town also shattered the old record, but Fisher's final trial brought him the victory.

Out of thirteen events Fargo counted in 11, with six firsts. Besides Clements' first in the broad jump and his tie with Wayne Fisher, also of Fargo, in the pole vault, Ward Thorne gathered a double victory by leading the 880-yard run and the quarter mile. Orville Fisher brought in the javelin contest, and Joe Cruden was victorious in the high jump.

Some of the outstanding events included a dead heat between Neil Beylund of Bismarck and Bill Codding of Valley City in the low hurdles. Schneider of Bismarck also ran a strong race in the 220-yard dash. Thorne was a surprise victor over Joe LaFontaine of the Wahpeton Indians in the quarter mile and over his teammate, Emil Mattson, in the half mile.

As an added attraction to the Festival meet Fritz Hanson, Bison sprint star, raced Jim McClearie of MSTC in the century and 220-yard dashes. Hanson hit the tape at 10.1 in the 100-yard dash to beat McClearie in the first event and repeated his victory by flashing over the 220-yard in 22.6 seconds.

The half-mile relay event was won by Bismarck's quartet composed of George Shafer, Junior Neff, Lawrence Schneider, and Billy Owens, with the time clocked at one minute, 39.2 seconds.

Results of the National Intercollegiate ROTC rifle matches, in which the North Dakota State college rifle team participated, have not yet been received from national headquarters, announces Capt. J. B. Conmy, rifle team coach.

Fargo, Valley City Tie In Girls' Track Meet At Festival

Valley City and Fargo high schools tied with four firsts each in track and dancing for the May Festival in the girls' division, which this year was sponsored by members of the Women's Athletic association and Delta Psi Kappa sorority. Ruth Clemens was in general charge.

The track events were held Friday afternoon, with the dancing contests in the evening. The tennis matches were Saturday morning. Winners of first, second and third places, respectively, were as follows: Discus: Doris Kinzer, Valley City; Vernice Thysell, MSTC high school; Geraldine Schulz, Carrington.

Javelin: Doris Kinzer, Valley City; Janet Otto, Valley City; Geraldine Schulz, Carrington.

Baseball Throw: Jean Hopeman, Moorhead high school; Ellen O'Day, MSTC high school; Sylvia Finsand, Fargo, and Janet Otto, Valley City.

Baseball Distance: Lila Johnson, MSTC high school; Barbara Brua, Fargo; Doris Kinzer, Valley City. Fifty-yard dash: Viola Bauer, Carrington; Wanda Schur, Arthur; Dorothy Bentley, Fargo.

Seventy-five yard dash: Eleanor Olson, Fargo; Marie Moore, NDSC high school; Betty Taylor, Fargo.

Sixty-yard hurdles: Frances Isensee, Valley City; Edith Rinke, Valley City; Cora Shelly, Carrington.

The 200-yard relay was won by Fargo high school. Tennis singles were won by Winnifred Schleiss, Jamestown, who defeated Pauline Eddy, Fargo, 6-1, 6-1.

Pauline Eddy and Jean Betty Aamoth, Fargo, defeated Winnifred Schleiss and Margaret Lutz, Jamestown, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, to win the doubles tournament.

Julie Ann Reynolds, Fargo, won the solo dancing contest, and Valley City won the group dancing.

Fraternity Nines Contest Tuesday

Competition in the campus baseball league will begin Tuesday at 4:30, when Kappa Sigma Chi is scheduled to meet the Delta Tau Epsilon nine, according to Stan Maynard, director of intramural athletics this spring. Play is expected to be nearly completed next week.

Since the erection of a backstop has been completed, C. C. Finnegan, athletic director, has ordered that baseball begin at once. While the athletic field was being prepared, campus athletic enthusiasts have played kittenball.

Pairings for the first round in one bracket include: Dormitory-YMCA, Tuesday, 6:30; Cosmopolitan club, bye; Alpha Sigma Tau-Alpha Tau Omega, Thursday, 4:30. In the other frame, games scheduled include: Sigma Phi Delta-Alpha Gamma Rho, Thursday, 6:30; Sigma Chi, bye; Kappa Psi-Theta Chi, Friday, 4:30.

ROTC MILITARY HONORS AWARDED NEXT FRIDAY

ROTC cadets who have attained scholarship, participated on the rifle team or won letters in a sport, will be honored at a general assembly on Friday morning, May 25, according to Lt.-Col. E. A. Lathrop, military department head.

White, gray, and red ribbons will designate the honored students. Promotions for the local unit that will be effective next fall will also be announced at that time.

Bison, Nodaks To Compete In Track

Eight representatives of the Bison track team will journey to Grand Forks this week-end where they will participate in an invitational track meet sponsored by North Dakota university. This competition is to be held simultaneously with the state high school track meet.

The Herd will have men entered in eleven events. Fritz Hanson, blond speedster, is entered in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, where he will renew his athletic rivalry with Ralph Pierce, Sioux star. Harry Arneson, Bison pole-vaulter, and Marion Striker, up and coming high jumper, are slated for their specialties and should prove valuable point getters. Neville Reiners has extended his athletic activities to sailing the discus and putting the 16-pound shot and hopes to maintain his high school record where he was a consistent winner in these events.

Beryl Newman in the 440-yard run, Burt Anderson in the high and low hurdles, Floyd Storms in the mile run, and Bud Horner in the half-mile, complete the squad to make the trip.

ATO's Play In Kittenball Finals

Alpha Tau Omega entered the finals of the campus intramural kittenball tournament by virtue of a 7-5 win over the Theta Chi ten last night. Their opponents will be either the Cosmopolitan club or the Kappa Psi, who will meet in a semi-final tilt at 4:30 this afternoon. The championship game is billed for tomorrow forenoon.

The exciting ATO-Theta Chi semi-final game was the feature of intramural competition thus far this season. After a 1-1 tie gained in the first inning, the ATO batsmen got to Pretz Reiners, Theta Chi pitcher, for four runs in the third through an assortment of hits and walks, and chased him from the mound in the fifth with three more runs. Pete Chloupek, who relieved Reiners, held the ATO's scoreless for the remainder of the game. Acey Olson was on the mound for the victors and was accorded fine support. Chloupek started a Theta Chi batting rally in the fourth with a three-bagger, scoring two. The Theta Chi hitters added two runs in the seventh.

Theta Chi advanced to the semi-finals at the expense of the Kappa Sigma Chi, 10-1; the ATOs defeated the Sigma Phi Deltas 21-5 to gain the semi-finals. In the other bracket, the Kappa Psi beat Alpha Gamma Rho, 3-2, while the Cosmopolitan club licked the Sigma Chi, 4-2. The following is the result of first round games: YMCA forfeit to Theta Chi; Kappa Sigma Chi 17, Delta Tau Epsilon 16; Sigma Phi Deltas 8, Alpha Sigma Tau 7; Alpha Tau Omega 9, Dormitory 7; Alpha Gamma Rho, Kappa Psi, Cosmopolitan, and Sigma Chi drew byes.

Walsh County Agricultural School Takes Sweepstakes In Annual Judging Contests

Announcement Made Of May Festival Awards

For the second consecutive year, the Walsh County Agricultural school of Park River won the sweepstakes prize in the livestock and grain judging events held in connection with the May Festival, May 10, 11 and 12.

Larimore high school and the Walsh County high school tied for the grand prize in the home economics contests, becoming joint holders of a NDSC trophy. Placing second was Jamestown, with Casselton, Beach, and New Rockford tying for third. Egeland high school was second in the agricultural events with New Salem in third place.

Placing high in the livestock judging contest, Williston high school will represent North Dakota in the national judging event at Kansas City, Mo., next fall. Harold Carpenter of Williston was high individual of the contest, winning the traveling Bison trophy. Walsh county and New Salem were second and third, respectively, in the livestock division.

High school students from North Dakota and Minnesota competing in the vocational division of the Festival numbered over 400, and while here were guests of the college at departmental open houses, banquets, and parties. The senior girls in home economics and the Saddle and Sirloin club, organization of college agricultural students, directed the various divisions of the vocational department.

In the home economics department judging was divided into freshman and sophomore divisions. The winnings were as follows: Foods 1—Mohall, first; Casselton, second; and Beach, third; Foods 2—Mandan, first; Jamestown, second; and Page, third; Clothing 1—Kenmare, first; New Rockford, second; and Grafton, third; Clothing 2—Sheldon, first; Larimore, second; and New Rockford, third; Child training—Park River and Velva tied for first; Edgeley, second; and Casselton, third; Home management—Larimore, first; Beach, second; and Park River, third.

In the clothing exhibits Jamestown placed first in the large town exhibit, and Central high, Fargo, and Agassiz Junior high, Fargo, won second and third, respectively. In the small town exhibit Carrington was first; Page, second; and Velva, third.

Sixteen Graduates, Former Students On Highway Work

Sixteen graduates and former students of the North Dakota State college school of engineering are employed throughout the state under the National Recovery Relief program being directed in North Dakota by the state highway department.

The men and their positions are: M. S. Knudson, county engineer, Burke county; Allen Anderson, assistant county engineer, Burke county; J. G. Lund, county engineer, Dickey county; Fred Loy, county engineer, McIntosh county; Don Tarbox, instrument man, Morton county; H. G. Schmidt, county engineer, Mountrail county; Orville Stalt, assistant county engineer, Renville county; Arthur Swanson, county engineer, Richland county; Paul Legler, county engineer, Stutsman county; N. W. Clark, county engineer, Towner county; Stanley Raymond, county engineer, Walsh and Pembina counties; George Coffey, county engineer, McHenry county; Rae Kneeshaw, assistant county engineer, Ward county; Art Johnson, transit man, Ward county; Roger L. Deyar, division office in Grand Forks; and John L. McCormick, county engineer, Hettinger county.

Under this program, federal money is being used in the state to build county feeder roads to the State highway system. In this "Farm to Market" road-building project, 1200 miles of highway are being erected in 43 counties. The engineering is all carried on by college-trained men, many of which are these former NDSC students.

The University of Missouri will forego all interscholastic tennis competition this year because of lack of funds for the sport.

Members of the faculty of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., have offered to contribute their services to the university for the summer session to avoid all further salary cuts.

Seventeen Receive Club Membership

Seventeen members were initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary and professional social science fraternity, at the annual banquet, May 10, in the Waldorf hotel. Membership is based upon scholarship, leadership, and completed hours of social science courses.

The theme of the meeting, "Recreation and use of leisure time," was introduced by Genevieve Skinner, chairman. Short talks were given by members. Dr. A. F. Hunsaker will serve as chairman of the program committee for the coming year.

Students initiated include: Rosemary Allen, Marion Anderson, Raymond Anderson, Marjorie Baker, Denise Burke, Warren Covert, LaVernis Hidde, James Golseth, Carol Ladwig, Virginia Landblom, Lois Millar, Maxine Rustad, Gerald Stevens, and Frederick Martin. Honorary initiates were: Dr. A. D. Stoesz, Lucille Horton, and Constance Leeb.
