Annual Ball For Charity To Be Staged May 4th

Panhellenic Sponsors Dance In College Field House Next Friday

Coeds will be asking their boy friends to a formal party during the coming week, for the Charity ball, annual affair staged by the members of Panhellenic, is to be held next Friday, May 4, at the North Dakota State college field house.

As president of Panhellenic, Abbie Porter will lead the grand march with her escort, David Miller. Second in line as secretary of the group will be Thelma Liessman, with her partner, Harlan Black, while Luella Furcht, Panhellenic treasurer, and her escort, Julian Rostved, will march third in line.

Dancing will take place from 9:30 to 1:00 o'clock, with the grand march forming at 10:00. A twenty-minute waltz will feature the evening's program.

Because the proceeds of the ball will be given to charity, the decorations will be as economical as possible, according to Miss Porter. Music will be furnished by a nine-piece orchestra under the direction of Don Fredrikson.

Chaperons will be Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Hunter, Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Conny, and Capt. and Mrs. H. J. McChrysta.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of, in addition to the Panhellenic officers, Hermione Hanson, Margaret Olsen, Ruth Clemens, Betty Bickert, Virginia Garberg, Imogene Ward, Amy Glaser, Constance Martin, and Ruth Westergaard.

Quoting J. M. Buchan of the American Designers' division: "We wish to congratulate you on having achieved this distinction for while honorable mention may not be as thrilling compensation as a cash award, still you may well be proud of the fact that your sketch-design was selected because it stood out from the crowd. And when we say crowd we mean the thousands upon thousands of creditable entries that poured in to this contest from 254 colleges and universities all over the country."

Five students other than Miss Glaser entered the contest from NDSC.

MAYBE WE SHOULDN'T, BUT—

Perhaps it is not in the place of the editorial staff of a paper to say anything concerning the selection of next year's publications staff. The Board of Publications being the supreme factor in this connection, we are perhaps committing a cardinal wrong by using the sanctity of the editorial column for such remarks as follow.

The college Board of Publications has been a very far-seeing, right-thinking body this year, and it has accomplished much. Politics have not disturbed it as they have in years past. The possibilities of "dirty" politics are so great in such a Board that the very fact that they have not entered into the group this year is something for which it is to be most highly commended.

Some time during the next week, we imagine, petitions of those applying for the major positions of The Spectrum and The Bison will be opened and acted upon. The function of the Board in selecting the new office-holders is the most important the Board has during the year, and as such, the most careful discretion must be exercised. The whole success of next year's publications may depend on the Board's action.

We make a plea, perhaps helpless but nevertheless determined, that the Board be a hundred per cent honest in its selections. If there is but a shade of difference, make the selection of the one that has worked the hardest. There is no question but that ability and the amount of work done are the two principal factors that should determine who wins the coveted position.

We ask further, that the Board keep selections for the staff of the newspaper and the staff of the annual separate. According to rumors now floating about, there may be a shift of personnel from one to the other. As a matter of fairness, it is our opinion that one who has worked on The Spectrum should be appointed to a post on that publication, and one that has worked on The Bison should be appointed to a post on that publication. There should be no switching of people from one staff to the other after the two publications have run all year in the manner they have.

Again we ask that the Board pardon us for speaking in the manner we have, but the matter is one so acute that we feel that attention be focused upon it in this manner.

The Editorial Staff.

AFTER WINNING, WHAT THEN?

During the coming weeks a number of honors will be awarded to North Dakota State college students. Some of these are based upon scholarship, some on personality, ability to accept responsibility, interest, enthusiasm, and potential success, some on actual activities, and most on the combination of all these factors. A large percent of the men and women receiving recognition will have earned and deserved it. But is getting them enough?

Most organizations choose new members not only to distinguish them, but because they have something to give which in one way or another will promote the group. Therefore accepting an honor carries with it a certain amount of responsibility. Duty, loyalty, and cooperative service are required. Continued service increases the value of the results and pyramids the recognition for future students.

Honors are not the end but the beginning of real service.

STUDENTS TO SPONSOR PROGRAM AT GARDNER

Presenting a typical community program, students from North Dakota State college will go to Gardner, May 3, in exchange for a program to be given in the Little Country theater May 2 by the Community club of Gardner.

The program to be presented by the Gardner club will consist of old time music by Arthur Cleveland, Milton Madson, and Harold McDonald; a one-act play with Harland Cook, Minor Haworth; piano and jig number, Geraldine Conard and Preston Colwell. Mrs. Frank Larson will present a reading which will be followed by another one-act play with Willard Gowenlock, Minor Haworth, Ruth Hanson, Harland Cook, and Milton Madson as the actors. George Beardley will sing a solo, accompanied by Mrs. H. O. Friend.

Receipts of the National Intercollegiate swimming meet held recently at the Ohio State university were approximately $1,200.

More than 360 fellowship grants from the Julius Rosenwald fund were made between July 30, 1930, and December 31, 1933.

An investigation at the University of Iowa shows that one of eleven campus engagements result in marriage.

Today's Short, Short Story

A Pick-Up

by WILLIE

She was just out for a walk—a nice, leisurely, walk. The weather was nice, and she wasn't trying to get picked up. She was observing the wonderful little idiosyncrasies of spring. Itsy-bitsy green shoots were just barely poking out of the earth. I. W. Smith was just barely poking around his lawn trying to get ready for a bumper crop of dandelions. W. F. Sudro was poking his angleworms in the eye. And to top it all off the sun was warmer than it had been for weeks. She was quietly rejoicing that soon it would be nice enough to just lie out on the lawn and bask in the sun.

Her day-dreaming was abruptly interrupted as a big yellow roadster slowed down and sidled toward the curb. Her first impulse was to run. She had heard of college rowdism and of the contaminating influences of campuses but she really didn't know what the score was. She knew that it was always 0 to 0 before the game started but after that she was up a stump. That gave her an idea. She thought about climbing a tree, so acute was her bewilderment. To flee or not to flee. That tree still bothered her. And from the strength in her legs and the wiriness of her physique you could almost imagine her climbing up the most difficult of trees. Yes, she was just fresh from the farm. She knew all about hay-mows, meadows and cows, but she didn't know anything about hay-mows, meadows and college boys. Oh, she was frightfully green. The materialistic world with its hustle and bustle and muscle and tussle and jostle and guzzle, was so far removed from the long quiet strolls in country lanes under weeping willows. Her mind said, "Leave him in the lurch, climb a tree or call for help or something," but her dignity said, "Stand your ground. Everything will probably turn out all right." "Maybe he just wants companionship. He might be chivalrous," she thought. It was hard for her to decide.

Then he got out of his long, slinky car and approached her. His eyes were very observant. He took in every inch of her soft, curved body with a mischievous twinkle. He crooned, "She was just in the bloom of life's morning, She was happy, and free and fair—". His attention was frightening and yet nice. She wondered. She'd never been picked up before. Oh, he was so big, and strong. She was so small. That big N. D. on his sweater looked so powerful, so masculine. His features were blunt and powerful. Hers were leonine, dainty and fragile.

His physique was captivating her. Before she had quite made up her mind as to what action to take he had picked her up ever so romantically and lifted her into the tonneau. "Jeebers," she thought, "what if he should slit my throat and suck all the blood out, like they do in the movies." She scratched and squirmed—just a moment or two for effect, but down in her heart she liked the thrill of the escapade. The motor snorted, and they rode in silence for a moment. She lifted her eyelids coyly, and then dropped them on the cushions. They rode in silence. They drove out by the college grove and his hand strayed over and started to fuss with her neck. Her coat was slightly ruffled. He smoothed it out. Then his hand worked slowly up and down her spine. She relaxed even against her better judgment. After all, she had lain in more than one man's arms and allowed more than one hired man to pet her. So she just relaxed and snuggled up closer to this Prince Charming. That man was doing things to her. He was different.

She picked her lids up off the cushions again and dropped them on the title of a book over in the corner. It read, "Life Begins." Hm, a medical student, eh? So he was going to experiment with her—take advantage of her innocence—ruin her for life. Yes, another cat was on her way to make the supreme scientific sacrifice for a cat anatomy course.

Student Opinion....

Dear Editor:

Personally, I think the long-neglected swimming pool in the local Field house should be completed and made available to the students. The benefits of such a pool are certainly obvious. The pool can be completed without tremendous cost.

The entire cost of completing the pool could be paid, I think, by the funds supplied by those who use the pool. Establish, for instance, a charge of five dollars per year per student who uses it and I predict it will be self-maintaining.

Dizzy Heights Of Melodrama Reached In "Uncle Tom's Cabin"

The dizziest heights of melodrama were attained one night last week when the Edwin Booth Dramatic club gave its conception of that well-known play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin; or, Life Among the Lowly," on the Festival hall stage.

Holding the audience's attention through the six acts and twenty scenes of this gigantic production were such characters as Frank Sanders (Uncle Tom), Carol Ladwig (Little Eva), Edwin Jessen (Simon Legree), Adeline Naftalin (Eliza), Wes Gilbertson (George Harris), and Howard Kilbourne (St. Clair), among whom were exemplified the opposing characteristics of purity and wickedness, while Hazel Swanson (Topsy), Ward McCabe (Phineas Fletcher), Alvin Krien (Gumption Cate), Elizabeth Dewey (Ophelia), and Forsythe Engebretson (Deacon Perry) supplied the comedy element.

Tears flowed as Eliza crossed the ice of the genuine article was present, as Little Eva departed this earth, as Uncle Tom was sold on the auction block, as Simon Legree swung his wicked blacksnake over Tom's poor old frame, as St. Clair was brought in hurt unto death, and as Uncle Tom's noble soul expired upon the appearance of his beloved former master, George Shelby. Gales of laughter rocked old Festival as gawky, "all-bad" Topsy alternately grimaced and smiled, as Phineas Fletcher announced himself as being "teetotally chawed up," as Gumption Cate conspired with himself concerning a new speculation, and as Deacon Perry and Miss Ophelia arranged their marriage to each other's satisfaction.

The quality of the cast's action, in which there were few flaws, atoned for the "plain chambers," "rude chambers," and "dark landscapes" that made up the scenery. Atmosphere was furnished between acts by members of the Girls' glee club, dressed up as old Southern mummies (the casting here was evidently very well done, also).

Others in the cast were Arnold Naftalin, George Shelby; Gerald Stevens, Mr. Shelby; Wilfred Rommel, Haley; Ben Cave, Wilson; Harold Sundfor, Tom Loker; Forrest Swisher, waiter; Frederick Martin, Marks; Kathryn Johnson, little Harry; Frances Probst, Cassy; Helen Solow, Emmeline; Sally Hunkins, Marie; Nita Oleson, Chloe; Carson Noecker, Quimbo; and Norin Johnson, Sambo. The play was directed by Alice McConnell Bender.

Giving the most perfect interpretations of their roles were Frank Sanders, Carol Ladwig, Hazel Swanson, Adeline Naftalin, Howard Kilbourne, Wilfred Rommel, Frederick Martin, and Forsythe Engebretson, each of whose individual characters blended easily into the roles they portrayed.—GWM

FERA Payroll Is Distributed Here

A payroll of $2,348.10 was distributed early this week through the secretary's office to NDSC students as remuneration for their work on FERA projects. Since the FERA is a federal relief measure, money was originally dispatched from Washington, D. C.

The payroll included payment for work accomplished in February and March and was distributed among the 122 students engaged in this work.

The local college was allowed the quota of 122 student workers on these projects as the part of a nationwide attempt to give work to deserving college students. Each student is permitted to labor 50 hours a week at 30 cents an hour. Employment will continue until June 1.

HOWARD KILBOURNE IS DELTA BETA SPEAKER

Delta Beta, the German society on this campus, met recently in the YMCA library.

Howard Kilbourne, president of the club, gave a short talk on the purpose of the society. German songs were sung, and German games played. Plans were made for a play to be given at the next meeting, May 10.

Delegates Sent To State Y Meet At Minot College

Harry Hanson, president of the state YMCA conference; Walter Ward, Kenneth Washburn, Orville Goplen, Erling Thorson, and Professor Rudolf Otterson will represent NDSC at the 1934 YM-YWCA joint conferences at Minot, April 25, 26, and 27. From the local YWCA will be Thelma Liessman, recently elected president, and Ruth Clausen, ex-president. Elizabeth White, Minot State Teachers college, is president of the state YWCA group.

"The Student Christian in a Changing World," with special emphasis on analysis from a sociological viewpoint, will be the theme of the 1934 meeting. Dr. Rudolf Schloerb of Chicago, principal speaker of the conference, will deliver a series of addresses on this subject. Following each main address, Dr. Roy E. Brown, professor of social science at the University of North Dakota; Dr. C. E. Witercraft, Minot, and Dr. Thomas Stine, Jamestown college faculty member, will act as discussion leaders on topics regarding eminent issues facing students of today.

An informal mixer opened the three-day session Thursday evening. Today, new state officers will be elected. The meeting will close Saturday evening with the traditional Geneva banquet.

Schools included in the conference are NDSC, University of North Dakota, Mayville State Teachers' college, Valley City State Teachers' college, Jamestown college, Minot State Teachers' college, and Ellendale Normal and Industrial school.

Included in the girls' dancing chorus will be Helen Solow, Mavis McCain, Courtney Cannon, Jane and Betty Bristol, Helen Hummel, Margaret Moser, Frances Wheeler, Adella McGillivray, Charlotte Harris, Marcelle Anderson, and Luella Furcht. Rudy Hehr, John Olson, Chris Bjornson, and George Sullivan will appear in the pit orchestra.

Rewrite men on newspapers may lose their jobs when the teletypewriter system is perfected, predicted W. C. Roberts, former editor of the Minneapolis Star.

College Forensic Squads Conclude 1933-34 Season

Participating in thirty-seven debates and covering 2,464 miles, the NDSC debate squad of seventeen members, under the tutelage of Donald Hay, director of forensics, has just concluded its 1933-34 season.

The inter-collegiate debates in which the State college took part include meets with Montana State college, Concordia college, University of North Dakota, Moorhead State Teachers' college, South Dakota State college, and the University of Minnesota. The question for the intercollegiate debates, with the exception of the Minnesota debate, was: Resolved, "That the powers of the president of the United States should be increased as a settled policy." In the Minnesota debate the topic discussed was the adoption of the Lytton treaty as a basis for future policy in the Orient.

One of the feature events of the debate program for this year was the community debate tour arranged cooperatively with the University of North Dakota in which debates were presented in Bismarck, Rugby, Minot, Devils Lake, and Michigan. Other community debate trips include: Cotter's Station, Durbin, Chaffee, Dilworth, and Hawley.

MALONEY RECIPIENT OF SHELVIN FELLOWSHIP

Clifford Maloney, senior in the school of science and literature has been awarded the $500 Shelvin Fellowship to the University of Minnesota school of arts and science.

This scholarship was one of five such awards offered by the Minnesota university to graduate students. The award also waives tuition charges. Mr. Maloney will enroll in a full time course in mathematics.

Formal Season Is Opened By Juniors

A silhouette of a boy and a girl in a spring garden scene and gayly-colored lanterns embraced the decorations of the annual NDSC junior prom held at the Field house last Friday night. The ball ushered in the college spring formal season.

Hill Elwin, prom manager, and his partner, Ruth Foote, led the grand march. Lynn Carlson, assistant prom manager, and Sylvia Anderson were second in line. Bob Parrott, class president, and Betty Bristol followed.

Individual dances and violin solos by members of the Old Madrid Band, who played for the affair, were featured at intervals during the evening. The eighth dance was the customary twenty-minute waltz.

Chaperons were Captain and Mrs. H. J. McChrystal, Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Brinley, and Prof. and Mrs. R. Otterson.

Heading the various committees were: Thelma Liessman, Jane Madriols, Alyce Connolly, Evve Hammer, H. J. McChrystal, Dr. and Mrs. F. Omar Korshus, Harold Naegeli, Larry Bue, and Earl Jennings.

Ruth Clausen, Genevieve Skinner, Dorothy Rutherford, and Isabelle Humphreys entertained the YWCA cabinet members, new officers of the cabinet, and freshman commission members at a buffet supper Wednesday, April 18, at 5:30 p. m. in the home of Genevieve Skinner, 1134 Eleventh st N.

Following the supper the group went to an "All Y" meeting.

The Pharmacy club party which was to have been held this Saturday has been cancelled.

Commissioner Of Finances Reports Year's Expenses

Seven and one fourth cents out of every activity fee goes to the student commission for expenditures during the year, totalling approximately $250, according to the report of the commissioner of finance, Thelma Liesmann, who prepared a report for publication upon the action of the governing body requiring printing of a financial statement.

"We believe that the students should know just how their money is spent," was the statement of Carmen Hunt, president. "They also should know that a very competent and careful auditing committee checks the books of all the organizations on the campus."

Out of the activities fee, the athletic department gets $2.00; Bison annual, $1.22; class dues, 14 cents; lecture courses, 43 1/4 cents; board of public speaking control, 25 cents; sick fund, 30 cents; Spectrum, 48 cents; Women's Senate, 4 cents, and the band, 6 cents.

Commission expenditures are divided as follows: a total of four parties, $165.86; Homecoming expenses, $19.60; campus improvements including contribution toward Festival hall lighting system, $26.10; and miscellaneous, $19.85.

TEN ENTER MANUSCRIPTS IN BELL COMPETITION

Ten manuscripts have been received in competition for the Bell award, according to Dean R. M. Dolve, who is in charge of the Bell award lectures on this campus.

The Bell award carries a cash prize of $350.00 and will be awarded to the student who submits the most constructive idea. Last Monday was deadline for the manuscripts.

Due to the fact that the manuscripts must be inclosed in a sealed envelope it is impossible to disclose the identity of the entrants or the nature of their constructive ideas, says Dean Dolve.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED TO GABE AND SANDERS

Scholarships to the National Recreation school in New York city have been awarded to Frank Sanders and John Gabe, students at North Dakota State college.

Forty students were chosen this year from the United States to receive the scholarships. Sanders, a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, Blue Key, and general manager of this year's Bison Brevities, plans to specialize in dramatics and music. John Gabe is a member of Sigma Phi Delta fraternity, Blue Key, and was business manager of the Bison Brevities this year, and plans to take up dramatic and recreation work. The term begins September 21.

SPECTRUM SPORT SPECULATIONS

by MAINE SHAFER

An enthusiastic reply to Casey's golf petition for interested players has been received. Judging from the student turn-out at the links between and during classes we can't believe that there is a shortage of interest for the game. Attractive awards for the proposed tournament will be withheld if the entries are too scarce—and that won't do!

Looking forward to the Dakota Relays at Sioux Falls, S. D., next week, we look for point-winners in Arneson, entered in the pole-vault; Striker, high jump; Reiners, shot-put; and Newman at the 440 or discus throw. This quartet is likely to comprise the S. C. squad to be present at the contests May 5.

Complete development of the dash and distance men should be reached in time to permit a stronger entry in the Conference Relays, May 25 and 26, according to Pete Gergen, track tutor.

In anticipating the outcome of the Bison-Minn. U game next fall we are encouraged by: a prospective line averaging 195 pounds per man—thanks to Tackle Sturgeon, who himself accounts for 256 lbs.; a pleasing showing of the squad members up from the freshman ranks; and the memory of the last Bison-Gopher affair which terminated 13-7 for a strong Minnesota team only after a strenuous afternoon of hard football.

The call to arms with glove and bat will be sounded in the Intramural Baseball league sometime next week.

Finnegan And Lowe Register Optimism Over Grid Charges

Coaches Are Gratified With Showing Made by Frosh Footballers

With the first half of the twenty spring football sessions completed, Coaches C. C. Finnegan and Bob Lowe haven't lost a bit of their unusual optimism concerning the 1934 Bison eleven. On the contrary, these hopes seem to be bolstered.

Especially gratifying has been the manner in which members of the last year's freshman squad have lived up to the highest expectations of the Bison mentors. "One of the shiftest runners I've ever seen," is Casey's opinion of Lester Dohn, stellar halfback from the yearling squad. Possibilities that Dohn may develop into a passer will increase his usefulness and give Windy Schollander, regular left half, plenty of competition. Another big factor which has shown up considerably is Lyle Sturgeon's remarkable punting improvement. Sturgeon is showing plenty of aptitude in this department, and if he continues to improve may take over the kicking duties permanently.

Bob Miller, frosh fullback, is being converted into a guard and indications show that he will keep the regular guards fighting hard to keep their berths. Bob Erickson, hard driving lad from Larimore, is being groomed as a fullback and so far has shown plenty of stuff. Greg Sloan, best defensive back on last year's varsity squad, has been drilling in blocking and may add "expert blocker" to his category of titles.

"There are five frosh on the squad who look good enough to make the first string," remarked Finnegan, and then refused to divulge their names. However, guessing isn't barred so we'll name Dohn, Sturgeon, Miller, Erickson, and Forrest Stevens.

GOLF TOURNAMENT WILL START NEXT WEDNESDAY

Because of the interest shown in the proposed golf tournament, plans are being definitely laid by the athletic department to sponsor this event. The tourney will be held on the Municipal golf course and will consist of thirty-six holes of medal play, the winner to be awarded some school recognition. Maine Shafer, in charge of arrangements, intends to begin play by next Wednesday with about eighteen golfers participating.

Bison Enters Four In Dakota Relays

Four athletes from NDSC will participate in their first track meet of the season at the Dakota Relays deen, S. D., according to Peter Gergen, track coach.

Those who will take part in the events include Bud Marquardt, high hurdles; Fritz Hanson, 100 and 220-yard dashes; Marion Striker, high jump; and Harry Arneson, pole vault.

Several aspirants for the track team have been coming out for practice daily during the past several weeks. With the North Central conference meet in mind an attempt is being made to round them into condition as soon as possible.

Intramural Baseball Will Commence Soon

Active competition in the campus intramural baseball league will commence when warm weather sets in for earnest, according to C. C. Finnegan, athletic director. Some individual teams, however, have begun rounding their men into shape.

Instead of the long round-robin schedule, which has been the practice of former years, a shortened method of play will be used this year. Each team will be paired at the beginning of play with the victors progressing until the championship nine is named. Losers in the first and subsequent rounds are eliminated upon their first loss.

Pairings and the time for the opening of play will be decided at a meeting of representatives from each team who wishes to enter the loop, according to Finnegan.

Drew university in Madison, N. J., has been willed more than $4,548,000.

RIFLE TEAM MEMBERS TO HOLD BANQUET MAY 3

Banqueting next Thursday evening, May 3, at the Waldorf hotel, will be the members of the NDSC rifle team, when they get together for the last time during the current school year.

Special guests will be Capt. J. B. Conmy, the team's coach; Lt. Col. E. A. Lathrop; Maj. R. Schlaepfer; Capt. H. J. McChrystal; Capt. C. C. Finnegan; Sgt. Richard D. White; and Sgt. Leonard Wyatt. Arrangements are in charge of Gordon Baird, newly-elected team captain.

Three Colleges Plan Conference On U. S. International Policy

As one of the outstanding events of the school year Concordia and Moorhead State Teachers college are cooperating with North Dakota State college in fctering a May conference on the campus next Thursday at the instigation of the Intercollegiate Council on International Cooperation.

The conference is based on the pamphlet, "America Must Choose," written by Secretary of Agriculture Henry E. Wallace, and sets forth the three policies which are open for America in world economics and diplomacy—those of extreme nationalism, extreme internationalism, and a middle course.

Outside speakers who are experts in their fields are being contacted for the session to talk on the three courses. Following the talks, the assemblies will break up into discussion groups, which will debate different phases of the three courses in round table fashion.

School may be dismissed at two o'clock, pending college sanction, when the first phase, internationalism, will be presented. Following it, four round tables will respectively deal with American participation in the League of Nations; Russia, Japan, and the Far East; economic internationalism; Hitlerism, Fascism, and Communism.

For the second assembly, at 3:30, nationalism will be presented. The round tables following the lecture will take up the four phases: the administration in relation to economic nationalism and to European policies; The New Deal in relation to industry and labor; militarism, pacifism, and imperialism — Nye's investigation of munitions companies; state plans for decentralizing industry.

The third assembly will be addressed on the planned middle course in the evening, at 8:20, to be followed by an open forum.

To culminate and summarize the whole situation the entire group will listen to the radio address by Secretary Wallace.

Julian Underwood, Carleton college, who is a member of the Intercollegiate Council, will attend the conference.

KUHN WILL TEACH AT NDU SUMMER SCHOOL

Prof. Kenneth Kuhn, head of the English department, has accepted a teaching position at the University of North Dakota for the summer session which begins June 18, states Dean J. V. Breitwieser, summer school director at the up-state institution.

Professor Kuhn was recommended by A. E. Minard, dean of the school of science and literature. He will teach an advanced course in analysis of American literature, a general course, and one other study not yet arranged.

ENGINEERS PLAN OPEN HOUSE FOR FESTIVAL

Plans are being formulated for the open house to be held in the engineering building during the May Festival, sponsored by the local chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

James Coleman was named general manager, Paul Deal, manager of mechanical engineering department; Hill Elwin, chairman of civil engineering displays; Kaare Rosenberg, chairman of the Atelier Chat Noir exhibits; Albert Ruemmele, David MacDonald, and Wesley Gilbertson, lighting.

New officers of the local chapter of the A. S. M. E. include Ernest Hall, chairman; Norval Bergquam, vice chairman; and Charles Martin, secretary-treasurer.

Dorothy Pray Named Barn Dance Queen

Dorothy Pray, senior, was crowned queen at the all-college barn dance given in Festival hall last Saturday night by the Saddle and Sirloin club. Other candidates who vied for the votes of the ticket-holders at the party were Ruth Schulz, sophomore, and Katherine Kilbourne, freshman.

Oil lanterns, milk stools, harnesses, chickens, pitchforks, and hay were the vehicles employed to give the affair a distinctly ruralistic atmosphere. Aprons and overalls were the informal attire of the collegians.

The sponsors, because of the enthusiastic reception of the initial affair, plan to make it an annual event.

The geology department of the University of Indiana has presented a collection of fossils which compose Indiana limestone to Rockefeller center in New York city.

Complete modernization of all elevators in residence halls at Columbia university will be undertaken soon at a cost of $23,500.

Marlin Cline New Phytois President

To head the Phytois club, honorary plant science group, for the coming year is Marlin Cline, elected president at a recent meeting of the group. Marion Striker was named vice-president, and Marion Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

The club is again sponsoring a week-end field trip to Itasca State park in Minnesota, this being the third year that the project has been undertaken.

Contest For Book Reviews Announced

Entered in the book review contest sponsored by the National council of teachers of English are over 300 students enrolled in freshman English and advanced composition classes at the North Dakota State college, states Prof. Kenneth Kuhn, head of the English department.

The reviews, which must be from 50 to 150 words in length, may be submitted before May 15 by any undergraduate student on the campus. Books for reviewing are to be chosen from the Students' Guide to Good Reading. Each student entering the contest must submit a list of personally owned books with short comments concerning each book.

Prizes offered are certificates, or credit memos, which may be exchanged for books.
