Fairy Opera Will Feature Lyceum On Wednesday

"Hansel And Gretel" With Opera Cast To Conclude Lyceum Series

"Hansel and Gretel," Humperdinck's famous fairy opera, will be staged as the concluding program on the 23rd annual lyceum series, in Festival hall Wednesday afternoon and evening, April 11, at 3:45 and 8:15.

The opera, based on the well-known German fairy story, is conceded by critics to be one of the most popular classics of the lyric stage. It was produced in New York by the Metropolitan Opera company and broadcast over a national hook-up several weeks ago.

Under the personal direction of Willard Rhodes, conductor and chorus master of the American Opera company, the production will be presented by a group of outstanding opera stars under the name of the Hansel and Gretel Opera company.

The stage sets and costumes have been designed by Paul Bachelor, prominent scenic artist of the present day theater.

Included in the cast are Eunice Steen, soprano, who has appeared with the Cincinnati Opera company and the American Opera company; Maria Matyas, mezzo-soprano, also of the American Opera company; Constance Eberhart, contralto, of the Chicago Civic Opera company; and Charles Dobson, who has appeared with the Cincinnati Opera company.

University Editor Guest Next Week

As guest editor, Fred J. O'Neil, editor of The Dakota Student of North Dakota university, will direct next week's edition of The Spectrum. This is an annual practice between North Dakota's two major educational institutions.

On the following week, Gale Monson, editor of The Spectrum, goes to Grand Forks to edit an issue of The Student.

O'Neil is well represented in journalism circles at the university. During the past three years he has served as reporter, special writer, assistant sports editor, and assistant desk editor and last year was desk editor. He has reported for the Grand Forks Herald, is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, and is majoring in journalism. O'Neil is also prominent in other campus activities, especially in the dramatic field.

Senior Staff Party

The campus strong- hearts would do well to be on their best behavior during the coming week for co-eds are in the process of thumbs-up and thumbs-downing and pro and conning eligibles with an eye on the bestowment of invites to the Senior Staff Friday-the-thirteenth party to be held in Festival hall, Friday, April 13.

Brevities Manager

John Gabe, business manager of this year's Bison Brevities, has entire charge of the finances for the show.

Groves Presents Need For Changed Economic Concept

Stressing the need for a new economics, and tax reform, Harold M. Groves, professor of public finance in the department of economics at the University of Wisconsin, and vice president of the American Federation of Teachers, delivered three lectures before various groups on the North Dakota State campus last Tuesday.

Brought here by the local group of the American Federation of Teachers, Mr. Groves spoke first at convocation on "Overproduction." In this address he traced the cause for our present status of supply exceeding demand, a condition resulting from machine and technological development. We are facing a period of new economics, when free competition, the right of free enterprise, and self-reliance are passing. Competition has failed to govern the system so that wealth would not be concentrated, Mr. Groves believes.

He offered three ways of control in place of the old automatic government-competition: The government may tax the wealthy and spend the revenue; we may organize the economic interests of society, one vote going to each—industry, labor, the farmer, and the consumer; the government may own or control industry.

In his lecture before the Bell award contestants on "Clear Thinking in Taxation Problems," Mr. Groves presented two fallacies of reasoning. The first was that people tend to rationalize rather than to think. The second error, often made in thinking, is that persons are prone to use unreliable analogies. He advised contestants to treat of their local communities, in which they should be most interested and where they would be of most service.

The concluding of Mr. Groves' talks, delivered in the Little Country theater Tuesday evening, dealt with "Taxation and Recovery." In speaking of public expenditures, Mr. Groves said that the U. S. government spent twenty per cent more

Rev. Moynihan Is Convocation Speaker Today

St. Thomas College President Speaks On Influence Of Religion

"Religion and the Human Spirit" was the subject of the Very Rev. James Moynihan, Ph. D., D. D., president of St. Thomas college, in his address before students and faculty of NDSC at convocation this morning at Festival hall. This was the seventh annual assembly sponsored here by the Newman club, college Catholic organization.

Dr. Moynihan showed the influence of religion on arts and sciences since the time of Greek civilization until the present day. He also pointed out the inspiration which cultural leaders in different ages drew from the religion of their own times.

At a luncheon this noon, Dr. Moynihan will be a guest of the Newman club in the Lincoln Log cabin of the Little Country theater. Roman Meyers, president of the Newman club, will be master of ceremonies.

Dr. Moynihan has been associated with St. Thomas since 1907, previous to which he had studied abroad for several years. He taught English and the classics until 1928, when he became dean of the English department. In 1933 he was raised to the presidency.

A brother of today's speaker, the Rt. Rev. Humphrey Moynihan, Ph. D., then president of the St. Paul Seminary, spoke at the first Newman convocation in 1928.

Columbia Accepts NDSC Credentials

Undergraduate work at the State college has been accorded full recognition by the Teachers' College of Columbia university according to a letter received late yesterday by Registrar A. H. Parrott from Walter S. Hager, assistant secretary of that institution.

This recognition is of great importance in that numerous State college students entering Columbia have been penalized from four to 16 hours credits, those academic retractions often forcing the student to attend an extra term of school.

Mr. Hager closed his letter to Mr. Parrott with the following remark: "I am glad to report this action to you. I feel that it should have been taken some time ago."

Cosmopolitan Club Gives Play Tuesday

The Cosmopolitan club will present "The Laughing Cure," a two-act comedy by Edith Panton, at Festival hall, Tuesday, April 10.

Included in the cast are Larry Bue, Chester Olson, Elmer Ewing, Irene Gast, Lillian Stotlar, Helen Foster, Oline Ordahl, and Emma Dietz. Mrs. Pysche Gooden, who is in charge of student employment on the campus, directs the production.

Directs "Good News"

First Evening's Show Is Greeted By Full House

"Good News" Produced As Sixth Annual All-College Musical Show

Following a successful performance before a packed house last evening, the 1934 Bison Brevities will be produced again this evening, completing the sixth campus presentation of this annual all-student production under the sponsorship of Blue Key, national service fraternity.

With 79 1/4 students in the cast, the show moved along smoothly, the comedy parts as well as the lyrics especially appealing to the audience. "Good News," musical comedy on which this year's Brevities is based, depicts a romance involving the captain of Tait college football team and his astronomy tutress. Lyrics, both those included in the original script of the show and those written by State college students, contributed outstandingly to the production.

Leading the cast were Erllys Hill as Constance Lane, the tutress, and Marmion Houghlum as Tom Marlowe, captain of the football team. Comedy parts were taken by John Hamlet as Bobby Randall, Robert Deering as Beef Saunders, Lucille Iverson as Babe O'Day, Jack Knight as the freshman, and James Baccus as 'Pooch' Kearney, the trainer. Others in the principal cast were Jack Spalding, Robert Fick, Marion Brainerd, Bill Sheffield, Bill Akeley, Virginia Land-bloom, Frances Plaggmeier, Lois Rudrud, Frank Sanders, George Nichols, Gordon Brandes, and Walter Ekeren.

Franks Sanders is director, and John Gabe, business manager, of the 1934 Brevities. Immediately assisting him are Ben Boyden, Horace Spaulding, Maxine Rustad, Hansel Guloiien, James Golseth and Chet Comeau.

Features Planned For Negro Drama

Unusual lighting effects and choral arrangements of negro spirituals are being perfected as one of the features of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club's presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a four-act drama to be presented in Festival hall Tuesday, April 24. Co-operating with the public discussion department in the production of the play will be the men's and women's glee clubs.

With a cast of twenty-four students, the play will depict several colorful and dramatic scenes, including the sale of Uncle Tom on the auction block, the escape of Eliza across the ice, and the tragic death of Uncle Tom.

Cast in the title role is Frank Sanders with Carol Ladwig as Eva, Hazel Swanson as Topsy, Adeline Naftalin as Liza, and Edwin Jessen as Simon Legree.

Schulz, home economics, 87.7; Frances Baxter, home economics, 87.5; Janice Leathart, science and literature, 87.5; Mary E. Ricker, home economics, 87.5.

LIBRARY HOURS

The college library is the backbone of a student's education. Without a library no college can truly exist. It is through books and references in the library that a true knowledge of a subject studied is gained. By comparing the ideas of various authors whose articles and books appear in the library, college people get a well-rounded knowledge of the subjects they are studying.

Because the college library is such a vital part of every institution of higher learning it is necessary that it be available to all students at all times. Due to present economic conditions the appropriation for the State college library has been cut to such an extent that it has been necessary to set the closing hours ahead and consequently deprive many of the reference reading which would be done if the library were open.

A large per cent of students at the North Dakota State college are earning all or part of their school expenses, and it is necessary for them to work Friday afternoons and Saturdays. Most of the definite outside reference work in courses of study is assigned over the weekend. Because the library isn't open on Friday or Saturday nights or Sunday afternoons it necessitates the students completing these assignments the first part of the week.

With the federal aid which is being given to the school, the library, it seems, would be one of most logical places to receive a good share of that aid. Not only would it be helping a few students financially but would be helping the entire student body.

STUDENT OPINIONS

We have asked in the editorial columns of The Spectrum, at various times for an increased number of student opinions. There has been little or no reaction to these requests; but of late it seems that students have been aroused to think about certain matters, and have been turning in occasional opinions.

As a servitor of the student body, The Spectrum stands ready and obliged at all times to print opinions that come in. In the same capacity again, it should serve as the logical outlet for student thought, and in such a way can be made to students concerning their newspaper. However, we do object to printing opinions without knowledge of the writer of the article. We are making an exception to it in serve the student body in a far better manner than it now is serving it.

A student opinion is being printed in this issue that concerns The Spectrum more or less directly. We are glad to get opinions of this type, as it helps us to realize our mistakes, and to get the reaction of the this case, but in the future students should not expect an article signed by initials only to appear in print. The editor will withhold the name if it is desired, but he must himself know the author of the opinion.

And while we are on the subject, we don't mind receiving mysterious threats and tirades in the mail, but we do think that people who write such things should tell us who they are. This applies especially to those reaching the office written in red ink. We're not touchy or anything—just human, like everyone else.

In the March 2 issue of The Spectrum, an editorial statement was published in which it seems that the wording was slightly indiscreet. For the benefit of the party in question, we would like to publicly retract that statement and make full apology for its appearance.

NDSC, Minnesota U Meet In Debate

Howard Kilbourne and Gerald Stevens, State college debaters, will be the only debate team from North Dakota to meet Big Ten competition this year when they engage the University of Minnesota debaters at Minneapolis today, debating the question, Resolved, that Japan should accept the recommendations of the Lytton commission as a basis of future policy in the far east.

Negotiations are under way to bring a Minnesota debate team here early in April for a return debate, according to Donald Hay, North Dakota State college debate coach.

Student Opinion....

BISON BRIEFS

It is thought by many that BISON BRIEFS should be a humorous reflection on life on the campus, whereas too often at present the column is only a medium for the expression of a writer's personal jealousies: refer to items in Laughing Matters and Things We Could Do Without, for instance, in the last issue.

Perhaps it would be more representative of State college opinion if such writings could be passed upon by a board of censors chosen for good judgment in journalistic matters, a sense of HUMOR, a sense of PROPRIETY, and most of all, for a sense of responsibility for the impression that such a column makes upon readers on the campus—and off.—R. L. S.

Minneapolis Band To Play At Junior Prom On April 20

A new band, "The Old Madrid," from a Minneapolis night club, together with two entertainers from the same club, will furnish the music and entertainment for this year's Junior prom, to be held in the Field house Friday, April 20, from 9 to 1 a. m.

This band has proved exceedingly popular in Minneapolis, having played at numerous formal affairs at the University of Minnesota and at last year's junior prom at St. Thomas college. Lighting effects of the latest design will make this Junior prom one of the novel and unusual formal affairs of the year.

Manager of this year's prom is H. E. Elwin who has selected Lynn Carlson as assistant manager. Chairmen of the various committees are: Thelma Liessman, programs; Evve Hammer, entertainment; Jane Nichols, invitations; Alyce Connolly, music; Omer Korshus, decorations; Harold Naegeli, tickets; Larry Bue, publicity; and Earl Jennings, floor manager.

Spring formal attire will be proper for this affair. The price of admission has been reduced to $1.50 and tickets may be secured from various campus salesmen.

College Debate Series Planned

With arrangements for the community debate series between North Dakota university and North Dakota State college nearly complete, a tentative schedule has been arranged for April 12 to 14 with two teams from each institution taking part.

One group, consisting of Cathryn Ray and Frieda Panimon, State college debaters, and William Holland and Farnham Dudgeon, University debaters, and Donald Holland, University orator, will begin their series of meetings at Mandan.

The tentative schedule for this group is: Thursday afternoon: Mandan high school; Thursday evening, public debate in the Bismarck auditorium; Friday morning, Mandan Training school; Friday afternoon, Carrington high school; Friday evening, Harvey; Saturday afternoon, Cooperstown; and Saturday evening, Aneta.

The second group consists of Robert Buttz and Odin Ramsland, University debaters, and Robert Hagen, Frederick Martin and Lawrence Bue, debaters from North Dakota State college. Mr. Bue will present a chart lecture on the Missouri River Diversion project. The probable schedule to be followed by this group is Thursday afternoon, Michigan; Thursday evening, Inkster; Friday afternoon, York; Friday evening, Leeds; and Saturday evening Binford.

SPECTRUM SPORT SPECULATIONS

With intramural basketball on the wane—a tossup between the YMCA and the Theta Chis all that's left—it's time to start looking forward to spring baseball for intramural amusement.

According to C. C. Finnegan, the games will be played off in a manner similar to the high school state tournament, that is, in bracket form with about eight teams participating.

You can always tell it's spring when the old ball starts flying through the air in front of the various fraternity houses.

Personally, I would like to see a revival of that old baseball feud which was dominant several years ago. There's nothing like a good ol' game of league ball to set up a feeling of fight in the boys.

Although the season for baseball is short, which accounts for the bracket form rather than a round-robin tournament, the fellows can make it "short and sweet" if they get out and whack away at the pill for dear old alma mater or whatever it be.

Maybe it would be nice to garner up some of our promising golfers and give them a chance to show their wares once more in a school tournament. And how about tennis? Seems to me once upon a time there was a NDSC tennis team.

This column sounds like Old Home Week for some of the minor sports but after all they've been gettin' pretty well stepped on for some time and a comeback wouldn't hurt anyone. Who knows but it might even reveal some potent stars?

Intramural Play Reaching Climax

Intramural basketball—NDSC winter sports activity drawing the most individual participants—is reaching a climax and the completion of the season's play. Between ninety and one hundred men have competed on ten campus cage quints throughout the prolonged season's struggle.

The YMCA has completed play in its bracket and will be one of the finalists in the three-game series which will decide the campus championship. A victory for the Theta Chis in their game next Tuesday with the Delta Sigs would earn for them the right to enter the title series. The championship games are tentatively scheduled for April 11, 12 and 13, according to Beryl Newman, who has directed intramural basketball this season.

In a game Wednesday night, the Theta Chis eliminated the ATOs from title consideration by 23-14 count in a fast game. The Theta Chi attack was led by a speedy little guard, Lawrence Chloupek, who sank five field goals and two free throws beside playing a brilliant floor game. Fritz Hanson and William Brady, midget forwards, also contributed materially to the scoring column. In a practice game the powerful YMCA five turned in a 36-10 conquest over the Delta Sigs.

Local Quintet Is Victor Over Traveling Five

In what was probably the finest exhibition of basketball seen here in recent years, a truly great team of Fargo-Moorhead cagers took the measure of the Harlem Globe Trotters, 38-34, last Wednesday night in the North Dakota State college Field house.

The largest throng to witness a basketball games in these parts in recent years watched the All-Stars pile up a twelve point lead at half time only to have it dwindle alarmingly and the gun stave off a final desperate colored rally.

After the Trotters had scored first, Russ Anderson sank a pretty shot to tie the score with two minutes of play gone. A minute later Anderson dropped in another counter and from this point on, with the exception of once in the first period when the score was knotted at ten all, the All-Stars were never headed.

Louie Benson, coach of the local quintet, substituted frequently but the changes seemed to strengthen rather than impair the effectiveness of the All-Stars. The Globe Trotters on the other hand played the entire game with the same five men yet had enough in reserve to stage a dangerous last minute rally. In the first three quarters the Trotters had difficulty finding the range of the basket but their exceptional ball handling and fine floor play kept them within striking distance of Benson's outfit. The locals on the other hand seemed to have no trouble hitting the net and many of their shots were the kind one hears about but doesn't very often see.

In the lineup for the Fargo-Moorhead quint every man performed in the manner that had earned him a position on the All-Star quint and there was little to choose between them. Joe Blakeslee, all state guard on the independent team, played a bang-up game at the guard position and besides showing to advantage on the defense he went down the floor often enough to count nine points and lead his mates in scoring. Russ Anderson, NDSC center, made his presence felt while he was in the fray by his height and offensive strength. He counted four times from the floor and was an important factor in the locals' passing attack. Pat Hilde, outstanding forward from Concordia and generally conceded to be one of the best players in Minnesota basketball circles, was not up to his usual form but managed to contribute five points. Hilde, who was at a disadvantage because of an injured ankle, showed up well in the ball handling department but was unable to find the basket with his usual deadly accuracy. Acey Olson, star guard in the North Central conference, played a fine game on the defense besides contributing six points to the cause. The remaining men on the squad all saw action and did creditable work.

For the colored quint it was the work of Robert Frazier, Gus Finsey and Harry Rusan that kept the Trotters in the game. The man power of the All-Stars coupled with a fast breaking offense tired the visitors and did much to win the game for the locals.

The profits of the game are to be donated to the fund for the aid of crippled children.

GEORGE MAY'S PREPS FINISH COURT SEASON

Completion of this year's basketball schedule of the NDSC preps, coached by George May, finds them with nine victories and five losses out of fourteen games. Among the teams opposed were the Fargo high Ponies, the Fargo high Mules, Oak Grove seminary, Glyndon high school, Moorhead high school reserves, Moorhead State Teachers' high school, Sacred Heart academy, and Lidgerwood high school.

Eight letters have been awarded to members of this year's squad, with three lettermen returning for service next year. The members are John Beaton, captain, Leo Gromish, Clifford Forkert, Wilfred Moore, George Fuller, Lawrence Meyers and Wallace Beaton.

Twenty Coeds Form Girls' Rifle Team

Twenty North Dakota State college co-eds have been named members of the 1934 girls' rifle team, it is announced by Lt. Col. E. A. Lathrop, military department head.

Rhoda Clausen, Dorothy Armstrong, and Mary Elise Bibow, all of Fargo, head the list with the highest possible score—100. Following them are Thelma Liessman and Helen Lierboe, 98; Gertrude Backrande, 97; Mary McNair, Orpheus High, Esther Erickson, 96; Rocella Rud, Betty Baillie, Elizabeth Mortenson, 95; Norma Renden, Marjorie Smith, 94; Geraldine Erdahl, Gerda Christianson, Sara Minard, 93; Vivian Telan, 92; Margaret Moser, 91; and Ruth Cooley, 89.

Spring Football Starts Next Week

A football squad of forty players which will appear on the NDSC gridiron within the next week or two, has prospects of being one of the best spring football teams in several years, according to Coaches C. C. Finnegan and Robert Lowe.

Assisting the coaches during the spring drill will be Roman Meyers, Harold Miller and James Thompson, seniors who will graduate.

Positions calling for particular attention are those of guard and tackle. Newman has been named as a possibility to be shifted from end to guard. Although Dobervich and Peschel will be hard to displace as regular tackles, Sturgeon, promising freshman, will be given a thorough tryout.

Lettermen to be called out for practice are: Earl Thomas, Leonard House, Harvey Erlenmeyer, Sam Dobervich, Herbert Peschel, Wilbur Marquardt, Charles Olson, Don Bettschen, Beryl Newman, Leo Gersteis, Wendell Schollander, George May, Neville Reiners, Stanley Maynard, Erling Schranz, Gregory Sloan.

Men who received experience last fall include Richard Van Hook, James Creighton, Art Skurdahl, Art Stege, Ralph Isensee, Beverly Hill, William Breitenbach, and Lawrence Chloupek.

Promising freshmen who will be candidates are William Carr, Frank Welch, Lawrence Barry, Fredolph Johnson, Lyle Sturgeon, Tom Smith, Forrest Stevens, James O'Loughlin, Edward Severson, Wendell Kieley, Ralph Hamm, Robert Millar, Lester Dohn, Wayne Springer, Don Lindeman, Bernard McCarthy, and Robert Erickson.

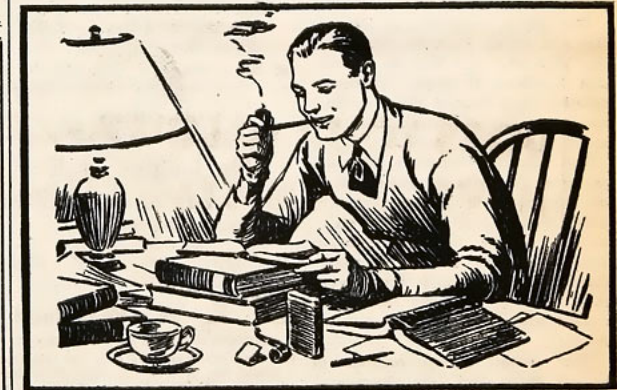

NOTICE

All men interested in track report at Physical Education building, Monday at 4:00 p. m. Football men coming out for spring practice draw their suits as soon as possible. Practice will begin as soon as weather permits.

Noble Sanders Is Student Livestock Judging Winner

Noble Sanders, freshman, with a total of 699 points outclassed 31 other contestants Thursday to win the 39th annual student stock judging contest sponsored by the Saddle and Sirkoin club.

Second place went to George Lee, senior, with 690 points, followed by Maynard Sholtz, Frank Sorenson, Roderick Olson, Harry Graves, W. Klussman, Flora Elliott, Louis Rector, and Robert Williams.

In the individual classes, the placings were: horses, William Klussman, first, Noble Sanders, second, and Harry Graves, third; sheep, George Lee, first, Noble Sanders, second, Louis Rector, third; beef cattle, George Lee, first, Frank Sorenson, second, Flora Elliott, third; dairy, Louis Rector, first, Flora Elliott, second, Calvin Olson, third; hogs, Flora Elliott, first, Maynard Sholtz, second, and Louis Rector, third.

Judging began at 8:00 a. m. with Prof. Victor Sander, Carl Freeman and Harold Wales in charge. The contestants were divided into sections, each student placing ten rings of livestock, and giving reasons for placing on five rings.

Judges who placed the rings were E. J. Thompson, State college, horses; W. W. Brown, Amenia, beef; A. H. Meyer, Fargo, dairy; F. Rector, Fargo, hogs; William Guy, Amenia, sheep.

Hope Tweet was pledged into Phi Omega Pi.

H. M. GROVES ADDRESSES STUDENT CONVOCATIONS

between 1917 and 1921 than in the previous 126 years of the nation's existence.

A new economic solidarity will be substituted for the old rugged individualism. The victims of the depression will be carried by the beneficiaries under the New Deal. The unemployed must be rehabilitated, farmers taken care of, and education supported. There are new responsibilities of the national government.

Of the three ways of getting revenue—borrowing, inflation, and taxation—the latter is the best, according to Mr. Groves. It should be direct rather than indirect and based largely on income, inheritance, and gift taxes. He praised the British taxation and said the loopholes in the U. S. income tax must be plugged.

Mr. Groves discussed merits and weaknesses of the North Dakota system of public finance, and commended the British sportsman-like attitude in paying taxes.

Following his talk, Mr. Groves held open forum, after which the audience was introduced to him at a social in the Lincoln Log cabin. —A. C.

SOCIETY

In charge of the "All Y" meeting of the YWCA to be held April 18 is Ellen Blair.

The meeting will be entirely social, with musical numbers, readings, and special entertainment being planned.

Assisting Miss Blair is Jean Newton, with Alice Larson, Helen Hummel, Marjorie Arnold, programs; Norma Young, Alice Westergaard, refreshments; and Mary E. Ricker, Marjory Rooney, properties.

New term servers now in office for Theta Chi are Norval Bergquam, president; Leon Jacobson, vice president; Victor Nordlund, secretary; H. E. Elwin, treasurer; and Fred Lepert, marshal. They are to be installed on Tuesday, April 10, Theta Chi founders' day, at the banquet in the chapter house.

Taking office for the Kappa Deltas are Vernetta Hidde, president; Mildred Frederick, vice president; Imogene Ward, secretary; La Vernis Hidde, treasurer; and Marjorie Ogilvie, editor.

The YWCA freshman commission met yesterday at 5:30 p. m. at the home of Genevieve Lind. Mrs. C. A. Teet, YWCA secretary, and Ruth Clausen, president, were guests. Grace Cole and Martha Wolf assisted with the supper, which was served at 6 p. m.

WENDELL SCHOLLANDER

Something new and something different—such will be the Alpha Tau Omega Dutch ball to be given in Festival hall on Saturday, April 14.

Wendell Schollander is chairman in charge and assisting him are Bill Thompson, invitations; Horace Spaulding, music; Bob Horton, finance; Dallas Rudrud and Ben Cave, decorations; Willard Barrett, entertainment; and Kenneth Hanson, program.

Jimmy Golseth's German band will be featured between the regular numbers. A Dutch supper will be served in the chapter house after the party.

Monday elections at the Phi Omega Pi house have made Lucille Bolstad, president; Frances Wheeler, vice president and social chairman; Carol Ladwig, secretary; Mildred Peterson, treasurer; Hermione Hanson, rushing captain; and Kathryn Marcks, editor.

The Art club will follow tradition and dine a la Bohemian at their annual dinner to be given in the Art studio Thursday, April 12, at 5:30 p. m.

Amy Glaser, social chairman, appointed committees as follows: Ellen Blair, Mildred Frederick and Josephine Hoffman, refreshments; Rosine Dahlen, Lois Rudrud and Betty Bristol, decorations; Helen Pease and Vernis Fraser, invitations; Elaine Gorder, Marian Wagness and Virginia Schonberg, clean-up; Jane Bristol, and Courtney Cannon, programs; Betty Russel, Helen Engle, and Helen Simmons, favors.

There'll be no excuse for the Phi Omega Pis in the near future, for they were presented with the beginnings of a sorority library by the alumni chapter as a gift on the local chapter's founders' day. Twelve books, subscriptions to three magazines, and a bookcase made up the gift.

Making full houses this weekend were: Mr. Reep of Williston visiting his son Jerome, and Clifford Brooks, alumnus, Alpha Tau Omega; Carl Roberts, George Kafton, and Howard McLeod, alumni, Alpha Gamma Rho; Edgar Johnson and Willard Messner, Delta Tau Epsilon; Lois Minard, Glenora Sommers, Ellen Kodkmadkern, Antoinette Birch, and Grace Harriet Hagen, Gamma Phi Beta; and Stafford Ordahl, Morris Erickson, John Robney, Norman Dahl, John Bond, and Ernest Gates, Theta Chi.

Dale Iverson was, last week, elected president of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity for the ensuing year to succeed Frank Sanders.

Kappa Kappa Gamma seniors will be entertained by Elizabeth Lowell at a breakfast at her home Saturday morning, April 7.

This foundation isn't meant to "transform" your figure. It's to help you keep the figure you already have. You're young and slim, and you don't crave being boned or laced. But you know that your hips and tummy needs to be kept in place. And if there's anything you hate it's ugly bulges under a sleek silk dress.

"SOFTIES" ARE ALL THE RAGE!

So easy to step into—so flexible that you scarcely know you have one on—as easily laundered as your silk stockings almost—and so inexpensive that you can afford several.
