1935 Bison Is Dedicated To 'Doc' Putnam

Veteran Director Of Gold Star Band Receives Recognition

The 1935 edition of The Bison, NDSC yearbook, will be dedicated to "Doc" C. S. Putnam, beloved and well-known director of the Gold Star band and head of the college department of music, it was announced today by Jane Nichols and Kenneth Hamry, editor and business manager of the book, respectively.

"As a man who has rendered North Dakota State college a distinct service, we feel that we have in Dr. Putnam an ideal figure for the dedication of the yearbook," Miss Nichols stated today. "We are glad to be able in this manner to make 'Doc' aware of the school's gratitude for what he has done."

Dr. Putnam has been on the campus for slightly more than thirty-one years, arriving on Jan. 11, 1903, as an instructor in arithmetic. Since then he has seen the college grow to its present status, and has been active in many phases of college activity.

As the leader of the Gold Star and ROTC bands and an inculcator of "pep," Dr. Putnam is remembered by hundreds of graduates and former students who feel that much color has been lent to the college through his presence. "Doc's" latest activity is the broadcasting of weekly radio programs by the Gold Star band.

Jack And Beanstalk Opera Celebration

"Fe, Fi, Fo, Fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman."

This immortal threat is only part of the lines of Charlie, the Giant, played by Carson Noecker, in "Jack and the Beanstalk," to be given in the Little Country theater Saturday, Feb. 10, at 10 o'clock, as the opening feature of the twentieth anniversary celebration of the theater.

Here is a play with strange sights and strange sounds. Sound effects will take on bovine dimensions when Slava Maley, taking the front part, and Raymond Fitjar, bringing up the rear, give their rendition of Buttercup, the cow.

Others taking part will be Ben Cave, Marjorie Roney, Jerome Reep, and Elizabeth Dewey. It is rumored Carson Noecker and Elizabeth Dewey, as the giant and giant's wife, will wear stunts to make them look more giantish.

All of these extravagant and fantastic affects are intended to add to the interest to children of the play. A fee of 15c for adults and 10c for children will be charged.

The second of the series of four Lettermen's dances will be held at Festival hall after the Morningside-NDSC game tonight.

BISON CUT DEADLINE EXTENDED BY HAMRY

Although actual competition in The Bison cut sales contest closed yesterday, time for handing in cuts has been extended to accommodate those who were unable to pay before the first of the month, states Kenneth Hamry, Bison business manager. Winners in the contest will be announced in the near future. According to the latest check the Kappa Sigma Chi fraternity and the Cosmopolitan club are in first place for the cup in the group contest, while Tommy King leads in the individual sales.

Hagan To Propose Act For Revenue For State College

S. W. Hagan, secretary of the North Dakota State college, has formulated a new measure he may introduce at the next session of the North Dakota State legislature to provide a greater revenue for the institutions of higher learning in the state.

The bill provides that all residents of the state who drive cars will be required to pass a driver's examination and procure a license, in order to be allowed to drive an automobile. Besides providing additional revenue for state institutions the law should reduce noticeably the number of deaths which occur in North Dakota every year by automobiles, says Mr. Hagan.

The revenue to be obtained from the purchasing of driver's licenses will be apportioned in the following manner: Ten per cent of all monies taken in will go to the support of the department created by the passage of the bill. (Mr. Hagan stated that the main point in this part of the measure is the fact that a definite amount is limited to the department, thereby doing away with the possibility of graft). 30 per cent is to pension all residents of North Dakota who are over 68 years of age and have lived in the state for over 20 years, and the remaining 60 per cent will be divided among the institutions of higher learning in the state, such revenue to be apportioned according to enrollment.

State Debate Team To Meet Concordia

Earl Turnblad and Ward McCabe, North Dakota State college debaters, will uphold the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, that the powers of the president of the United States should be substantially increased as a settled policy," when they meet representatives of Concordia college in a debate to be held at Hawley, Minn., on Monday evening, Feb. 5.

North Dakota State college will also be represented by two teams in the debate tournament at Concordia college on Feb. 9 and 10. The personnel for the teams is Cathryn Ray and Frieda Panimon, and Clifford Maloney and Howard Kilbourne.

The Pi Gamma Mu meeting originally scheduled for Feb. 8 has been postponed to Feb. 15.

Little Country Theater Plans Are Complete

State College Institution To Mark Anniversary Of Founding

With plans practically complete, the stage is set for the twentieth anniversary celebration of the founding of the NDSC Little Country theater Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, Feb. 10, 11, and 12, it was announced today by A. G. Arvold, founder of the theater.

Invitations have been sent by Mr. Arvold to all corners of the United States. Many State college graduates and former students are expected to attend, as well as former faculty members and people interested in the Little Country theater movement, according to Mr. Arvold.

As the main feature of the celebration, the unveiling of the Peer Gynt stained glass window and the dedication of the Ibsen room will take place at midnight the first day of the celebration. Other highlights of the program will be a presentation of "A Russian Honeymoon," the first play to ever be presented in the Little Country theater; the Edwin Booth Dramatic club play, "The Servant in the House"; and a program presenting talent from all parts of North Dakota in the form of original plays, interpretative dances, cowboy ballads and Indian ceremonials.

'Swede' Christensen In Howard Drama

Charles "Swede" Christensen, State college student last year, has been cast in Sydney Howard's latest production which is opening in Philadelphia Saturday, according to word received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Christensen. Mr. Christensen is a professor of animal nutrition here on the campus.

The play, a dramatization of Sinclair Lewis' novel "Dodsworth" in which Walter Huston has the lead, is the work of Mr. Howard, under whose tutelage Charles has been studying since his arrival in New York last September.

Last year Mr. Howard visited Fargo in an effort to gain atmosphere of this locale which he wished to embody in his writings. It was then he became interested in Charles and offered him a tentative position in New York.

Christensen has a triple capacity in the play. Besides having two minor speaking parts in the production proper, he also has been appointed assistant stage manager.

Last year "Swede" was advertising manager of The Bison, publicity manager of the Bison Brevities, and a member of Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity, besides being active in Little Country theater work.

NOTICE

Students will not be admitted to games unless their fees are paid.

Casey Finnegan.

SECOND BELL AWARD LECTURE ON TUESDAY

"Observation and Aids to Observation" will be the subject of an address by Dean H. L. Walster before a group of prospective competitors for the Bell award Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 4 o'clock, in room 22 of the Engineering building, according to Dean R. M. Dolve, chairman of the committee in charge of this contest.

The talk is the second in a series arranged by the contest committee to help contestants prepare their essays. Students entering the competition for the $350 award must certify they have attended a majority of these lectures.

All-Varsity Stag Program Features Faculty Members

As the feature of the first "All-Varsity Stag" to be presented at the Field house next Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 7:30 p. m., a group of college faculty members will present a feature program, the details of which have not yet been revealed. Other portions of the entertainment will be furnished by students.

The Stag is to be a strictly no-women affair, with its object the promotion of greater acquaintance among men students at the college, Harry Hanson, president of the YMCA cabinet, group sponsoring the affair, said today. All men of the college, from seniors to freshmen, are cordially invited to attend.

Anything from a fan dance to nursery rhyme recitations are expected from the faculty entertainers, who have welcomed the opportunity to present themselves to the students in a manner other than their classroom one.

Versatile and stolid Chris Bjornson, as master of ceremonies, will present the old classic, "A Jewish Wedding." In addition, there will be boxing matches, fencing, trio and quartet vocal numbers, tap dances, and readings. As the closing feature of the evening, all those in attendance will render "Sweet Adeline." Smokes and refreshments will be furnished to guests.

Evening Concert Scheduled By Band

Dr. C. S. Putnam, Gold Star band director, announces a special evening concert to be played by the band on Feb. 15 in Festival hall. The admission receipts for this concert will be used to defer the expense of sending the band to the North Dakota university games on Feb. 24-25. Featured on the program will be soloists and the boys' and girls' glee clubs.

In the fifth weekly broadcast of the second term the band will present the following program: "The Banner," Von Blon; Rhapsodic dance, "Bamboula," Coleridge-Taylor; "Cocanut Dance," A. Hermann; "March Minnesota," Sousa; Marceau "Esponola," Jungmann; "Spirit of Peace," Goldman.

There will be a junior class meeting next Tuesday, Feb. 6, in Room 314 Science hall to elect the Junior Prom leader.

State College Is Unbeaten In Conference

Bob Lowe's Basketeers Turn In Three Victories On Weekend Trip

Still defending the North Central conference basketball crown, the NDSC Bison will meet the Morningside college Maroons of Sioux City Iowa, in the Field house tonight at 8 o'clock. The Bison defeated the Maroons at Sioux City last Saturday evening.

As the result of their trip into the south end of the conference last weekend the Bison and the University of North Dakota Sioux now share first-place honors in the conference standings, each with four games won and no games lost.

Bob Lowe and his men met the stiffest competition in the first game of the trip when they were hard-pressed by the South Dakota university Coyotes but came out on the long end of a 43-38 count. In their next contest they easily romped off with a 43-23 win over Morningside. Monday they demonstrated their superiority over South Dakota State by trouncing them in a great defensive battle, 29-17.

The consistent playing of Bud Marquardt and Russ Anderson in the forward line and Acey Olson and Pretz Reiners at the guard posts was a deciding factor throughout the trip. Bernard, flashy sophomore forward, out of the game for the game for the past three weeks because of an ankle injury, was able to play to some extent on the trip. Lowe made frequent use of his reserve material and discovered that they will prove important to the Bison before the season's playing is over.

Ten Students Vie For Declam Medal

A gold medal will be presented to the winning individual of the ten contestants competing in the 39th annual declamatory contest, scheduled to take place at the Little Country theater at 4 p. m. today.

The contestants and their selections are: Wesley Gilbertson, "Going of the White Swan"; Parker, Ellen Browders, "Captain January"; Richards; Dayton Jones, cutting from "A Modern War Play"; Maxine Rustad, cutting from "Cyrano," Rostand; Grace South, "The Ballad of the Harpweaver," Edna St. Vincent Millay; Isadore Levine, "The Speech of Vindication," Emert; Le Roy Kalenze, "The Door to Success is Labeled Push," McMahon; Arwin Hoge, "Lincoln, the Man of the People," Markham; and Adeline Naftalin, "Our Guide in Genoa," Mark Twain.

The contest judges are Mrs. C. A. Williams, Mrs. H. L. Walster, and Mr. T. W. Blair. Clifford Maloney will act as chairman.

Miss Bender will give a tea in honor of the contestants and judges in the Lincoln Log cabin at 3:30 o'clock.

Active members of Guidon will hold a meeting this noon in the Y room.

THE JUNIOR PROM ELECTION

The campus political system will meet another test Wednesday, when the junior class convenes to elect its prom manager. Will the two frames constituting the political organization of the campus hold together or will they break wide open?

It seems that the only practical way left to rid the campus, to some extent at least, of politics, is for the student to vote for the person he believes deserves the job, even though he must desert his frame to do so. One of the most foolish as well as the most despicable things for one to do is to vote a straight frame ticket when his feelings are otherwise. If frames were disregarded in each case the deserving individual would win the office and the political system would die a natural death.

The question may arise, if the frame system is done away with, what method will be used to select candidates? We think that the frame method of selection is as good as any that can be found. There are always bound to be one or two principal competitors in any election, and, representing a large share of the students on the campus as they do, the frames are in as good a position as any to pick candidates. But it isn't the method of candidate selection that's objectionable, it's the method of voting.

Why should we be raising so much fuss about this? Why should a college publication concern itself with politics? Because, in a short while, the spring elections for the student commission and the board of publications will be held, as well as the election of the senior prom manager; and if the frames are to be successfully broken in these elections, it'll be because the students realized the situation in time.

A COMMENDATION

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation of the fine showing the basketball team made last week in successfully turning back the three conference foes they met. Everything they did on that trip was certainly one hundred per cent O. K. with State college students, we are sure.

If there ever was a chance for a North Dakota State college basketball team to lay down and quit, it was this year. With a slow start at the beginning of the season; with only one regular returning; with a change in coaches effected; with an antagonistic student body and local press, the team had every reason for becoming the failure that was predicted for it.

But the squad overcame every obstacle in a manner that merits the attention and the praise of everyone. Its slow start proved it was inexperienced, but it removed this difficulty by working harder each succeeding week and showing a continual improvement, until now it stands at the top of the conference, equals with North Dakota university.

It just all goes to show that you can't keep a good bunch down. So all you that have scoffed and refused to display any confidence in the Bison hitherto, let us see you like true sportsmen give them your support and appreciation and help them beat the U!

The Low-Down... By A Reporter

To set a lot of students straight on just what is to come off next Tuesday at the election of the junior class prom manager, a reporter was assigned by the powers that be to dig up what he could concerning the question. Here's what he unearthed:

The Holier-Than-Thous apparently have not yet come to any definite conclusion concerning their candidate. They met last Sunday with the ultimate discovery that they haven't any really logical man to put up for office, although two names were considered, those of a Theta Chi, and another, understood to be a Delta Sig darkhorse. The group will convene again this Sunday to make a final decision.

The Hog-It-Alls, on the other hand, have apparently reached a decision without having held a meeting as yet. Their choice for the candidacy seems to be a certain ATO. It wouldn't be hard to find out. We await the determination of his competitor. Of course, this may be all wet; but it's the latest "dope," and we are pleased to give it to you. Take it or leave it!

Silhouettes Of War Scenes Featured At Military Ball

Silhouettes of battleships, air-planes, submarines, and machine guns, depicting wartime activities, covering the windows through which powerful lights were shining, featured decorations for the 19th annual Military ball, sponsored by the local chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military organization, in the Field house last Friday evening. Jack Mills' 14-piece orchestra was seated in a replica of a bombed French cottage, and an arrangement of national flags throughout the building completed the military aspect of the party.

The raising of the United States flag followed by the firing of a cannon officially opened the affair, after which the traditional grand march led by Col. Hartley Eckstrom and his partner, Miss Cecil Olson, began. Second in line were Maj. Vincent J. Buck and Miss Alyce

Connolly. Following were Lieut. Col. James W. Coleman and Miss Martha Wolf and Cadet Capt. Boniface Horgan and Miss Beverly Jensen.

Presentation of the honorary commissions of colonel and lieutenant colonel, an annual feature of the Military ball, took place immediately following the grand march.

Cadet corps officers formed the sabre arch through which Pres. J. H. Shepperd, and Mrs. Shepperd, and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. E. A. Lathrop passed and took places at the front of the hall to confer the commissions. Following them came the two young women to be honored, Misses Cecil Olson and Martha Wolf, and their escorts. Miss Olson was given the ranking of honorary colonel and Miss Wolf, honorary lieutenant-colonel.

Mary Eileen McKeane and Elsie Ryan, students at the Marie Early school of dancing, presented novelty song and dance skits as special entertainment features.

SPECTRUM SPORT SPECULATIONS

Maybe this little owl won't get his face slapped after all--remember? Last week yours truly quoted that the Bison were on the road to bring home the conference bacon for the third consecutive year. Well, after a weekend of athletic glory like the Bison dug out for good old N. D. State, I'm just about ready to jump on the "noggin" of anyone who dares to lay any odds on N. D. U.

Considering all the obstacles he has overcome, Coach R. Lowe should certainly be given one big hand for his part in the development of this hard driving "Herd."

Just so the boys' heads don't swell--you know, a word to the wise should suffice and things or sumphin'.

Even if the Bison haven't got a Witasek or Meinhover we've still got a Marquardt (my gracious, did that dear old chappie ever throw that bally old pill into the bucket over the weekend). On top of that throw in an Anderson and a Bernard and it should spell just one hot contest with the "U."

Undoubtedly, the S. D. U. was the hardest game of the two and they offer the most opposition in their return game here next Friday. Lowe feels the boys put up their best exhibition against S. D. U. whom they trounced quite decisively in contrast with the previous over-time contest.

Gosh, won't that Field house be a packed joint on Feb. 16?

A chance to see the wares of the Baby Bison will be given in a preliminary game against the Armour's, team tonight. Several former N. D. S. athletic stars play on this latter team, including Walter Olson and Joseph Blakeslee.

And that last repartee: I'll be Siouxin' you!

Four Home Games Included In 1934 Football Schedule

With the announcement of the game, against Texas Tech, the 1934 Bison football schedule is complete, according to Casey Finnegan, athletic director, who has contracted for ten games next season, four of which will be played at home.

The Herd will have a chance to face probably the strongest team the Big Ten offers when they clash with the U. of Minnesota on Sept. 29. Two other outstanding teams are scheduled for the Bison when they swing south for the contest with Oklahoma City university at Oklahoma City; then continue in the next weekend to Lubbock, Tex. where they meet the Texas Techs.

The outstanding conference game, the Bison versus their traditional foe, the North Dakota university Sioux, will be played at Fargo this season.

The complete schedule:

- Sept. 21—Concordia at Fargo
- Sept. 29—Minnesota at Minneapolis
- Oct. 5—St. Thomas at Fargo
- Oct. 12—South Dakota at Fargo
- Oct. 20—Morningside at Sioux City
- Oct. 27—North Dakota at Fargo
- Nov. 3—Moorhead Teachers at Moorhead
- Nov. 10—South Dakota State at Brookings
- Nov. 16—Oklahoma City U. at Oklahoma City
- Nov. 23—Texas Tech. at Lubbock

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL RESULTS

- Delta Kappa Sigma 20, Theta Chi 17
- Kappa Sigma Chi 22, Alpha Gamma Rho 15
- YMCA 32, Dormitory club 8
- Alpha Sigma Tau 22, Sigma Phi Delta 9
- Alpha Tau Omega 25; Cosmopolitan club 14
- Delta Tau Epsilon 24; Kappa Psi 8

William Maroney, graduate of the NDSC school of chemistry in 1929, has successfully completed his examination for a degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of California, at Berkeley, according to word received here. After graduation from State college, Maroney was employed for a year as chemist for the Commercial Solvents corporation. For the last three years he has been a graduate student at the University of California.

Dean A. E. Minard will be the main speaker for the program of the League for Industrial Democracy meeting, Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p. m., in the YMCA Fireplace room.

BISON BOXERS TAKE PART IN TOURNAMENT

Three NDSC boxers will participate in the Golden Gloves tournament at the University of North Dakota, Feb. 15 and 16. The "mitt slingers" are: Walter McKee, freshman middleweight; Damion McCarter, junior middleweight; and Richard Hamilton, freshman lightweight.

Rifle Team Opens Postal Schedule

The NDSC rifle team is shooting the first of a series of postal matches, in which each team mails its scores to the other schools competing.

This week the team is matching against New York university, Western Maryland college, Alabama Polytechnic institute, Natronna County school, Casper, Wyo., Oklahoma A. and M., Depauw university, and Montana State college.

The team is also firing the first stage of the Corps Area Intercollegiate match, the contest determining the entrant in National competition from this Corps area.

"Windblown"

The famous designer, Schiaparelli, is responsible for the nonchalant "windblown" air of these Boucle Knits. You'll notice it in the jaunty neck and shoulder treatments—the crisp little taffeta bows—the new low pleats.

Knockabout Knits

Classy for Campus

You'll adore the jaunty shirtwaist styles and the peppy "windblown" colors: Aqua, Lannin Green, Beige, Chinese Red, Dusky Rose. Best of all, you'll adore their price!
