YOUR YEARBOOK

Toward the close of each year students at the North Dakota State college are presented with an attractive and illustrated history of the school year in the form of The Bison, the school's yearbook.

The co-operation of each student on the campus is required in order to make The Bison the truly representative yearbook that it is meant to be. They can help by turning in snapshots for the student life section, by being on time for the picture schedules, and by signing up for a picture in the classes section. The Bison staff members will appreciate any such consideration shown them. The sooner the various material is turned in at the office, the better the staff will be able to assimilate it into an interesting, timely, and attractive book.

The Bison is a part of your undergraduate work, students! Give it a boost by getting your picture for the classes section taken at the first opportunity

NAMES

The North Dakota State college is decidedly lacking in the possession of pleasing names for buildings on the campus. It has a physical education building, an agricultural building, a chemistry building, a "the" library, and a men's dorm. Such designations are without agreeable or associative meanings. Names such as Old Main, The Barracks, Ceres hall, Festival hall, and Francis hall on the other hand have pleasurable connotations, and delight the ear.

In the specific case of the physical education building, which bears a long and unwieldy title, we would suggest that a shorter and more usable name be adopted, as "field house," a term generally used in this country for an athletic building. Giving the men's dorm or the library the name of someone who has played a prominent part in the history of the college, such as Ladd dormitory or Coulter library would add definitely to the color and glamor of the campus.

We suggest that some responsible campus group, such as the student commission, institute action concerning this matter.

ETIQUETTE

"Etiquette" is defined as the "observance of proprieties of rank and occasion."

State college students evidently do not know that word or any of its synonyms. I speak of their conduct at convocations. Have they no respect for the speakers, singers, or other performers, or for those who do come to Festival hall to be entertained?

At two distinct appearances of celebrities the students there assembled have disrespectfully arose to leave without the performer having finished his program. Are they in such a hurry that they forget that they will be properly dismissed when the time is up? Such a zeal to get back to class has been notably wanting at other times.

The balconies at convocations furnish a lot of distraction at these meetings. There students gather to do lessons, whisper and laligag, very disconcerting to the purpose for which convocations are held. Chairs creak, feet shuffle, voices whisper (or sing). These improprieties exist even over the entire hall. Why not shut off the balconies for the convocations unless the main floor is filled to eliminate some of the noise?

And for gosh sakes, students, remember the "proprieties of rank and occasion."

Pages From a Diary We Picked Up:

Friday: Spectrum, that little two sheet, out today—my face red. Looked for a Rowdy Remarkish tank team—evidently all the old amateurs have turned pro, and there are too many amateurs now. Things are humming in Shepperdland—deans are singing "I'll Be Faithful." They doused da glims at Engineers' Ball tonight—"Stygian darkness." Good clean fun though with Engberg floor mgr. That 8th waltz—music, moonlight, my dream lover. What delirious ecstasy! More people—like the last round-up. Wonder if he'll call again. Worried because he said, "Did you have to call in a neighbor to help tie the corset strings?" But cheezt, what damsel isn't slow? I'm hungry for that man's kisses. Read today: "unkissed lips will be the most queenly gift you can offer your king at the marriage altar." Can't wait that long. This boy and girl problem is driving me nuts. What does it all mean?

Saturday: He still haunts me. Missed Kappa Sig Chi party, but am laying for Sigma Phi Delt—they are getting les-Gallagher today. He said, "H'lo kiddo, campus ginches. Met that crazy Bill Gallagher today. He said, 'H'lo kiddo, going to choir practice—been readin' the comics and havin' much fun lately' all before I so much as burped. So to bed.

Sunday: Studied student directory all day—checked all eligible males. Fraternities (frat to you, dear diary) are marking gals in directory by star system: 4 stars, hot stuff; 3, good party gal; 2, maybe; 1, you might try. Saw good name in directory for my next underworld thriller—Helen Fagin. Name reminds me of Moonshine Maggie, Machine-gun Rosie, Casey at the gat, etc.

Monday: Fellow named Tony Boleyn in my first class—what ties! What shirts! what-a-man! Going to have him as gangster in my original one-act. Am afraid studies are encroaching on my extra-curricular. Doc Wheeler told about baby oysters today—made noise like oyster too. At times could take that microscopist by esophagus and crack him on the Sarah bellum. Soon will study Pitacantrop (skip it) Erectus—guess I'm old enough to hear the facts of life.

Tuesday: Snow flurries. Ceres pretty, all lit up. Saw a student all lit up—not so inspiring. Plays tonight—Va. "fieldflower" Landbloom knows her p's and cues. Paddles sure thwacked at frats last p. m.—guess rookies aren't house-broken yet. Those gorillas just beat the scums to a mummy; then they say, "Thank you, sir." Guess Minnie's been kickin' the gong around at Ceres—will have to investigate. "O Mor-pheus, clothe me with thy veils."

Wednesday: Cathryn Ray snickered right smack in my face today. Wonder why—were some buttons undid or somethin'? Coed prom tonight—hilarious time, they all said; wonder why they dance only two hours if they really like it—I like a little sex-appeal with my dancing. Wyard and Vantine, campus cops, caught a guy singing "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" Guess he's going before the Comm. of Judiciary—they're plenty tough on guys like that too. They say Harold Miller pulled that old B. Brevities one on the two-inch line down South—you know, he says, "Who's captain of your outfit?" The captain raises his hand. H. M. up and says, "Howdy Cap!" O me, O my. Overheard Ralph Anderson telling that one about the awkward Scotchman today who painted the horse red. It seems that the Scot took his girl out and—(here the diary seems to have been torn off).

AT THE THEATERS

Fargo

Maurice Chevalier and Ann Dyrack appear today and Monday in "The Way To Love," a Parisian romance and a typical Chevalier story. Showing on Tuesday and Wednesday is "Berkeley Square" with Leslie Howard and Heather Angel, while the musical comedy extravagant, "Footlight Parade" opens Thanksgiving day. "Penthouse," with Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy has its last showing today.

Higdon Gives Report To Professors' Group

At the last meeting of the local group of the American Association of University professors, members of the North Dakota State college faculty met to hear a report given by Archie Higdon of the committee on college and university teaching.

After the report Dr. Leon Metzinger acted as chairman of the group in a discussion based on a summary of Higdon's talk.

The American Association of University professors is a voluntary discussion club composed of faculty members who have had to their credit three years of college teaching.

Goldbugs Administer 19-0 Defeat To Bison Under Oklahoma Sun

Southerners Avenge 27-7 Defeat Received Here Year Ago From State Squad

Last Saturday afternoon's warm Oklahoma sun saw the North Dakota State college Bison go down to a 19 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Oklahoma City university Goldbugs, a sharp contrast to the 27-7 victory accomplished by the Bison last year.

The flashy Bison towhead, Fritz Hanson, accounted for the only grave worryment on the part of the southerners. Twice in the first quarter he almost broke loose for touchdowns, stumbling once, and without a hand being laid on him twisting his way through the entire Goldbug team into the open, being halted only by the Goldbug safety.

Reiners, Gerteis Injured

The first quarter was uneventful and it wasn't until the beginning of the second quarter when Sweet and Pickens were sent in for the Goldbugs that the Bison stumbled into difficulties. It was during this quarter that the first touchdown was made by their effective passing play. Neville (Pretz) Reiners was forced out of the game at this critical point when he suffered a cracked rib. A little later Leo Gerteis also was taken from action because of an injured foot. As Windy Schollander had been left in Fargo with a broken ankle bone, Fritz Hanson remained as the only regular backfield man in action. Acey Olson was shifted from end to play left-half and Erling Schranz played alongside. Lack of experience was noticeable in the backfield, however, from the second period to the end of the game.

Again in the third quarter the teams went scoreless but in the last period the Goldbugs battled across the Bison line for two touchdowns. The first of these came as a result of two plays. On his own 21-yard line, Holt, Oklahoma fullback, raced through the Bison center to be finally dragged down on the Bison's 14-yard line. Hall took the ball over on the next play. After intercepting a pass in midfield the Oklahoma team advanced through a series of passes across the Bison goal for the last touchdown.

Captain Roman Meyers of the Bison played only as Meyers can. He was down the field on punts almost as quickly as the ball and was the main bulwark in the line. Leonard House and Herb Peschel also showed up exceptionally well in the line. Sweet, 220 pound fullback, Pickens, Peppers, Halt, and Casey were outstanding in the Goldbug lineup.

North Dakota State made 12 first downs to the Goldbugs' 11 while in scrimmage the Bison gained 161 yards and lost 37 compared to 192 yards gained and 5 lost by Oklahoma.

Carleton May Enter North Central Loop

Rumors that Carleton college at Northfield, Minn., may become a member of the North Central conference are not without some foundation, states Casey Finnegan, State college athletic director. Definite information as to whether or not this is true is not yet available, however.

It would be a distinct advantage if Carleton were to join this loop, both from a competitive and financial viewpoint. Over a series of years the Carls have put out fine athletic representatives, especially in basketball. Last season Carleton whipped the University of Minnesota's Big Ten quint, which is an indication of the caliber of basketball teams they develop. In football they have not been so strong for the last two years, dropping games to the University of South Dakota.

When the five schools in the North Central conference convene in Chicago during the next month a final decision will probably be rendered. At the present Carleton is a member of the Midwest conference.

Selection of next year's football captain will be made by the team some time during the coming week, is the announcement made by Bob Lowe, assistant football coach.

Bison Begin Practice For Pre-Conference Basketball Schedule

Lowe Forced To Use Reserves, Promising Second Year Men For Quint

With only one regular returning, basketball practice was officially opened last Tuesday, according to Bob Lowe, new Bison mentor. He put his squad of fifteen men through a brisk workout before sending them to the showers.

Because of only one returning veteran in the person of Bud Marquardt, Lowe will be forced to rely upon last year's reserves and a group of sparkling sophomore material. Second string men of last year who are expected to make strong bids for regular positions include Acey Olson, Arnold Mickelson, Curt Denney, Lyle Stinson, Howard Kraft, and William Christenson. Coming up from a brilliant frosh squad of last year are such potential stars as Russell Anderson, Carson Noecker, Arnold Bernard, Don Bettchen, and Neville Reiners.

Two men on the squad are suffering from ailments and have not been out for practice as yet. These are Denney, who is sick and will not report for at least ten days, and Reiners, who sustained a broken rib and will not be available for about two weeks.

A pre-conference schedule has been arranged and includes a game with Nebraska university on Dec. 30 at Fargo. Other teams to be played before the loop competition opens are Dickinson State Teachers, Jamestown college, Valley City Teachers, Moorhead State Teachers, Concordia and Superior Normal.

MARCY'S TEAM SCORES TWO VOLLEYBALL WINS

By winning two more games during the past week, the faculty volleyball team captained by L. F. Marcy has forged further ahead. With 363 points to its credit, the team stands 33 points above the nearest competitor, team B, according to scores posted after Tuesday's game.

The games are played in the gym each evening and Saturday by the men of the faculty. The series of games will end Dec. 14.

The six teams and their captains are: A—Marcy, B—P. E. Zerby, C—Knute Henning, D—Lloyd West, E—Eugene Pettie, F—Archie Higdon.

CAMPUS SOCIETY

Four Greek letter groups on the campus will entertain at informal dancing parties over the weekend and next week. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Omega Pi sororities will entertain this evening, while Phi Mu sorority and Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity will hold their affairs on Saturday evening. Delta Tau Epsilon fraternity will hold its dance next Wednesday evening, Nov. 29.

Featuring a Blue Bubble Ball the Phi Omega Pi sorority will entertain at their annual fall term party this evening in the YMCA building from 8:30 to 11:30. Hermione Hanson is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Kathryn Marcks, frappe, Luella Ulness, music, Mildred Peterson, decorations, and Carol Ladwig, invitations.

Ruth Baker is in charge of the Kappa Kappa Gamma affair, which will take place in Festival hall. The sorority trio consisting of Erlays Hill, Marion Brainerd and Frances Plaggmeir, and the octet will present feature numbers. Chaperons are Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth Kuhn and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sackett.

A Thanksgiving theme will be carried out in the programs and decorations for the Phi Mu party, which will be held in the YMCA building. Faith Stockton, social chairman, is in charge. Chaperons will be Dean and Mrs. I. W. Smith and Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Conny.

Pledges of Alpha Sigma Tau fraternity will entertain active members in Festival hall. An outdoor winter scene will be carried out in the decorations. Capt. and Mrs. J. B. Conny, Judge and Mrs. Leigh Monson, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sackett will chaperon.

Delta Tau Epsilon fraternity will feature "Snowland" in decorations and appointments for their dance which will be held in Festival hall. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wenger and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sackett will chaperon. The committee in charge includes Norin Johnson, Felix Farrar and Glenn Vantine.

Hours for all the affairs will be from 8:30 to 11:30.

An historical skit written by Mrs. W. G. Curtis, president of the alumnae chapter of Gamma Phi Beta, featured the local Gamma Phi Beta observance of the 59th anniversary of the founding of the sorority. Mrs. Theodore Rehder, Iowa City, Iowa, province director for Gamma Phi Beta sorority, in Fargo on her annual visit of inspection to the N. D. S. C. chapter of the organization, was the honored guest.

Depicted were the four founders, Frances E. Haven by Mrs. Russel A. Sand; Helen M. Dodge, Mrs. F. K. Spaulding; Mary A. Bingham, Mrs. W. R. Haggart, and E. Adeline Curtis, Mrs. Joseph M. Powers.

The affair was held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Dr. Elizabeth Rindlaub, Fargo, with the guests, alumnae and active members and pledges attending in old-fashioned costumes. Pledges were especially honored. Assisting in perfecting plans were Mmes. Cyril Arnold, Paul Person and Albert Birch. Refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Established in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1874 the sorority now has over 45 chapters.

Delta Kappa Sigma actives and alumni and Sigma Chi alumni entertained Frank McDonough, a graduate of Dartmouth college and grand trustee of Sigma Chi, at several occasions this week. Mr. McDonough was the honored guest at a tea last Tuesday afternoon in the home of Dr. Elizabeth Rindlaub. Dinners were given in his honor on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Murphy and the Delta Kappa Sigma fraternity house, respectively.

Mr. McDonough left late Wednesday for his home in Denver.

Phi Mu sorority will entertain forty guests at a formal dinner Monday eve-
