State College Has Part In MSTC Homecoming Program

NDSC Students Attend Game

Local Eleven Meets Moorhead Teachers' Grid Squad In Clash Tomorrow

NEMZEK PLANS SURPRISES

Registration Cards To Admit State College Students To Grid Contest

When Moorhead State Teachers' college celebrates its Homecoming tomorrow, North Dakota State college students will take a hand in it when they all gather at Memorial field in Moorhead to watch the MSTC Dragons fight it out with the Bison eleven at 2 p. m. All State college students will be admitted free upon presentation of their registration cards, according to C. C. Finnegan, athletic director.

The Bison will try to break their record of four ties in favor of a win when they clash with the Dragons. Coach "Sliv" Nenzek of the Teachers' college doesn't predict a win for his charges, but he is reputedly holding back several surprises which he plans to spring on the Bison. Students who saw the Dragons score with a flashy passing attack three years ago won't forget Nenzek's surprise on that occasion.

The Moorhead team has had as "in-and-out" a season as Coach Finnegan's players, administering a 28-0 thrashing to Wahpeton Science and holding Concordia to a scoreless tie, but losing to Bemidji Teachers last Saturday by a 2-0 score. The Dragons boast three freshmen, Lyle Glass, Milton Hollister, and Willard Burke, who can kick, pass and run, while Sheela and Serbin are sure to make trouble for the Bison forward wall with their plunges through the line.

The State college "jinx" popped up in the University game last weekend with an injury to George May, stellar quarterback and kicker. Leo Gerstel will replace him at calling signals, while Hanson, Schollander and Reiners will probably assume the other backfield positions.

Icelandic Program Presented Students

Entertaining North Dakota State college students at convocation last Monday was Gudmundur Kristjansson, famous Icelandic tenor. With him was Dean Richard Bek of the University of North Dakota, who gave a brief review of "Culture In Iceland" during an intermission of the program.

Kristjansson's program consisted of four parts: operatic selections, English compositions, German and Scandinavian folk songs, and Icelandic songs. The numbers were all well received.

In his talk, Dr. Bek stated that the most important product of any country is its people and the most important question in Iceland is whether its people have decayed mentally or spiritually.

Icelanders have made many contributions in the fields of music, art, sculpturing, literature, painting, and politics. They have one of the most efficient forms of democratic government in existence for a country of only 110,000 people. Dr. Bek maintains that "Iceland has justified its existence among nations."

RUDY HEHR ORGANIZES 7-PIECE DANCE BAND

A new seven-piece orchestra is playing on the campus now under the direction of Rudy Hehr. It has already provided music for several affairs including the Homecoming dance, cadet hop, and fraternity dances, and is open for more bookings.

Rudy Hehr, who does both booking and direction, has played for five years on campus orchestras and has circled the globe twice with orchestras on the Dollar Steamship line.

Course Of Events Presages Good Attendance At Engineers' Ball

FRESHMEN TO OPPOSE JUNIORS IN DEBATE

The freshmen will oppose the juniors in the semifinals of the interclass debates at 4:00 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, in the Little Country theater, with Frieda Panimon presiding. Gerald Stevens will act as chairman for the sophomore-senior debate, Thursday, Nov. 9. The winners of each contest will vie in the final debate at 8:00 p. m. Nov. 16, at which time Frederick Martin, president of the Lincoln Forensic society, will preside. Prof. P. E. Zerby will act as judge at the first contest.

Staff Of 1934 Bison Announced By Editor

Howard Kilbourne And Emanuel Smith Receive Associate Editor Positions

Final announcement of appointments to the editorial staff of the 1934 Bison staff was made this morning by Jane Nichols, editor-in-chief of the State college yearbook.

Heading the staff as associate editors are Howard Kilbourne and Emanuel Smith. Others named to positions are: Adeline Naftalin, administration editor; Ellen Blair, classes editor; Katherine Kilbourne, assistant classes editor; George Nichols, athletic editor; William Murphy, organizations editor; Betty Benton, assistant organizations editor; Sally Hunkins, activities editor; Kathryn Ray, assistant activities editor; Martha Ricker, features editor; Doris Nelson, assistant features editor; Vincent Case, artist; Mickey McGuire, assistant artist; and Gladys Stevenson, office secretary.

Miss Nichols announced that the third associate editor post has been purposely left vacant, to be filled later in the year by the staff member proving most worthy of the position. The positions of assistant athletic editor and assistant administration editor which also are still open will be filled some time in the near future. Any student is eligible to apply for these.

A considerable amount of work has already been done on the 1934 Bison, including the art work and the page plans. This year the book will contain several new features, including a new page arrangement, a novel theme, and division pages printed in three different colors.

Lawritson President Of Professors' Group

Glenn Lawritson, instructor in education, was named president of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors at the first meeting of the group held recently. Prof. Waldo Smith was elected vice president and Miss Delaphine Rosa re-elected secretary.

The theme of the organization's program for the year will be based on the text, "Report of the Committee on College and University Teaching." Archie Higdon will give a resume of the book at the Nov. 18 meeting, which will be followed by a discussion led by Dr. Leon Metzinger.

DR. HUNSAKER SPEAKS AT SIGMA DELTA MEET

"The Controlled Dollar and its Relation to Inflation" was the subject of a talk by Dr. A. F. Hunsaker at the meeting of the Sigma Delta Discussion club held Sunday, Oct. 29. Sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace, this organization discusses questions of international interest.

Many Students Expected To Buy Tickets For Affair Held Friday, Nov. 17

"A hundred promises to buy tickets for the Engineer's ball have been received, although the tickets are not yet printed," says Idan Flaa, head of the sales committee. "This seems to presage a good attendance, and when the tickets arrive I hope the sales live up to the forecasts."

John Gabe, ball manager, and the various committees assisting him promise an affair that will be different. A welcome change is the reduction in admission charges to fifty cents a couple. "Nevertheless," Mr. Gabe reports, "we will be able to provide many attractive novelties in the way of decorations even with the smaller amount to be gained through ticket sales."

The music for this informal dance will be provided by the Red Jackets. Another feature that will please those who attend is the change of time from 8:30-11:30 to 9:00-12:00. The Engineer's ball will be held in Festival hall the evening of Friday, Nov. 17.

Dialect Perfection Play Cast Problem

"Bunty Pulls the Strings" Is Presented Nov. 15 By Edwin Booth Club

Perfection of Scotch dialect is the immediate problem of the cast rehearsing daily for the presentation of the Highland comedy, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," Wednesday, Nov. 15, in the Little Country theater.

In order that the local production might be as like the original play as possible, special stress is being placed on the use of the dialect. Settings typical of the environment of the characters are being arranged by Donald Hay and members of the cast. Costumes also will be in keeping with the Scotch background.

The story centers around the harshness of a severely Calvinistic father who isn't all that he might be and a daughter who decides to manage affairs at other times than on wash day. Bunty pulls the strings successfully. An exceptional play results according to critics. The New York Tribune states that "the whole thing is delightfully naive. Every character stands out as some unusual figure against the Scotch background. The humor and the philosophy of it are charming."

Former Student Does Work For Playwright

Charles Christensen, a sophomore at North Dakota State college last year, is rapidly making a name for himself in New York dramatics, according to word received here by friends.

Working under Sidney Howard, famous playwright who will have three productions on Broadway this year, "Swede" is erecting stage settings and stage scenery and making a first-hand study of Broadway shows.

FACULTY-ALUMNI ROOMS SCHEDULE IS ARRANGED

In order to avoid any conflicts in the use of the Faculty-Alumni rooms in Old Main, Pres. J. H. Shepperd has approved the plan of having these rooms scheduled by the chairman of the committee on social affairs.

Hereafter if any organization or group on the campus decides to use these rooms for committee or business meetings, it is suggested that they make application to Dean W. F. Sudro in Francis hall. The requests will be filed in the order of their application.

The faculty women's club will hold a tea and business meeting in the Ceres hall parlors on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 3:30 p. m.

DIRECTOR

This is Hall Johnson, famous Negro choir director who will lead his chorus in the opening Lyceum number at Festival hall, next Wednesday evening.

Classes Name Casts For One-Act Plays

Annual Dramatic Competition Scheduled For Nov. 21 In Country Theater

The plays and casts for the fourteenth annual one-act play contests to be held Nov. 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the Little Country theater have been chosen and work on the productions is already well under way, announces Miss Alice McConnell Bender of the public discussion department.

The freshman class has chosen for its dramatic selection "Caleb Stones' Death Watch" by Martin Flavin. Included in this cast are Wilfred Rommel, Gladys Stevenson, Elizabeth Dewey, Evelyn Myrdahl, Delmar Boulgar, Virginia Smith, Gordon Brandes, Douglas Marchard, and Alvin Krein.

The competitive entry of the sophomore class is "The Ghost of Jerry Bundler" by W. W. Jacobs and Charles Rock. Members of this cast are Ben Cave, Kenneth Hanson, Jack Spalding, Edward Ballard, Warner Litten, Robert Fick and Wallace Widdifield.

Juniors will vie for honors in the contest with Mark O'Dea's "Song of Solorgon." Students taking part in the play are Franklin Anders, Virginia Landbloom, Helen Solow, Mary Baker, and Gerald Stevens.

The senior class, present holders of the class play title, will give "Danger" by Robert Hughes. The three members of the cast are Hazel Swanson, William Murphy, and Frederick Martin.

State Debaters Stage Intercommunity Meet

Presenting the first intercommunity debate of the year, a group of State college students will journey to Coters' station, Saturday evening, Nov. 4.

Delmar Boulgar and Robert Hagan will debate the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that North Dakota counties should be consolidated," and Virginia Garberg and Clifford Maloney will uphold the negative. Adeline Naftalin will give a reading, "Flaming Youth," and Lawrence Bue will render a trumpet solo. Donald Hay, coach, will accompany the team.

Because the freshman tryouts are not as yet completed, the announcement of the personnel of all teams will not be made until next week, according to Frieda Panimon, who is in charge of the interclass debate series.

Prof. Homer Brown Huntoon, head of the State college department of architecture, wishes to announce that there will be on display in the rooms of the architecture department today until 5 p. m. an exhibit of etchings of the Hoover dam by a California architect-etcher, William Woollett, jr. All students are invited to see this exhibit.

Richard Jordahl, Lake Park, Minn., stopped at the Kappa Sigma Chi house Monday en route to Dunseith.

Hall Johnson Negro Choir Sings Before Students Nov. 8

SKIP, SISTER, SKIP

A hop, skip, and a jump. A hop? Yes. A skip? Yes. And if some girl should jump on you and ask you to the Senior Staff Bargain Skip, the answer is "Yes" again, for these little coeds are sponsoring the "hop" Friday, Nov. 10, in Festival hall.

Now, that is not all, for one can't go skip-skip-skip without missing or skipping something. In fact, Erlys Hill and Jeanette McComb are all "hopped" up to sing a few ditties between skips. And did you know that there is to be some dancing at this skip? You'll jump at the chance to see Audrey Houghton and Lois Rudrud tap to Don Fredrikson's tune teasers.

A hop, skip, and a jump, if you wish, and you may receive a bargain lunch at the Golden Maid, "by special persuasion."

Girls, the tickets are fifty cents a couple or eighty cents for two couples.

Twenty-Third Annual Series Is Opened With Musical Program By Group

STUDENTS ADMITTED FREE

Spirituals, Ballads, And Blues Presented Audiences By Colored Troupe

The Hall Johnson Negro choir will open the twenty-third annual lyceum series on the North Dakota State college campus next Wednesday when the group presents a musical program in Festival hall at 8:15.

This Negro choir, comprising ten men and eight women, will sing the familiar spirituals of their people, the work-songs of the levee and cotton fields and, to inject a modern note into the program, several examples of the musical idiom popularly known as blues.

Hall Johnson, the tall angular leader of the unique organization, knows all the secrets of varied rhythm with which his race has dowered American music and it is the knowledge of this item that made him so popular to musical audiences both on the stage and radio.

This troupe will produce some fine choral effects in their soul-moving ballads, their joyous spirituals, and their irresistible rhythmic blues. Newspaper excerpts praise their brilliance, harmonic wizardry and startling variations of rhythm.

Included in the repertoire of the choir, which is led by Hall Johnson, is "Who Built De Ark?" "Deep River," "St. Louis Blues," and "Go Down Moses," besides various others of equal popularity.

Tickets for this entertainment went on sale yesterday at the Little Country theater. The general admission is fifty cents while reserved seats are priced at seventy-five. As in former years, State college students will be admitted upon presentation of their registration cards.

Vermont University Post Given Graduate

Virgil Weiser, graduate of North Dakota State college in 1931, has received an appointment to the faculty of the University of Vermont, where he received his M. S. in soils last June.

He has recently published a research bulletin entitled "Fixation and Penetration of Phosphates in Vermont Soils." As Vermont is essentially a dairy state, with most of its pastures unplowable, this was of special interest to farmers of the state. It is necessary in pasture fertilization to spread the fertilizer on the surface of the soil, which brings up the question of how to apply the phosphates so they will penetrate to the roots. Due to Mr. Weiser's training in soil genesis, he has been able to develop some new ideas regarding the solution of this problem.

Because of the excellence of this research work, the University of Vermont has given him this full-time position on its staff.

CHANGE CONTEMPLATED IN RUSHING ACTIVITIES

Approval of the fraternities in council is all that is required to make a change in the rushing and pledging activities on the North Dakota State college campus, according to A. H. Parrott, president of the college interfraternity council.

Taking special note of a major weakness which allows pledging on the second week after the beginning of school in the fall term, a committee of three has been named to investigate other systems. The committee composed of Max Hughes, Theta Chi; Charles Waldron, Alpha Gamma Rho; and Idan Flaa, Sigma Phi Delta, has entered into correspondence with several other schools where the deferred rushing plan has been named a success and will soon present its report to the council.

Council Membership Given Phi Omega Pi

National Panhellenic Council Grants Admittance To Social Sorority

Phi Omega Pi, national social sorority, was admitted to full membership in the National Panhellenic council at their convention held the first of October, according to information received by Zeta chapter located at the North Dakota State college.

Due to former restrictions on their membership, Phi Omega Pi was unable to become a member of the intersorority council. This restriction was lifted three and one-half years ago, since which time the sorority has been an associate member of Panhellenic. The normal time of associate membership is five years but because the group more than met the requirements of full membership in all respects, it was admitted to the association this year.

Word was also received of the admittance of several new chapters, formerly known as Sigma Phi Beta, into full membership in Phi Omega Pi. Chapters located on the same campuses as Phi Omega Pi groups were dissolved into them.

Plant Science Club Makes Meeting Plans

The Phytois club, plant science organization, will have at their meetings this year speakers from the professional class on the college campus, who will review experimental work conducted here in the field of botany.

The first of these meetings was held last week when Dr. C. B. Waldron discussed the American elm before the student and faculty members.

Completed plans for this series of addresses will be worked out at the next Phytois meeting, scheduled for the evening of Thursday, Nov. 9.

CONVENTION REPORT GIVEN BY ENGINEER

At a business meeting of the Engineer's club held last Thursday evening, E. H. Elwin, associate editor of the North Dakota State Engineer, gave an account of his experiences at the Engineering Colleges Magazine Associated convention in Milwaukee, Wisc. and Chicago, Ill., and of the acceptance of the State Engineer into the association.

It was decided that the electrical engineers should sponsor and provide the program for the next meeting. Francis E. Nenzek was appointed publicity manager of the Engineer's club.

THE LIBRARY

We feel constrained this week to make a few remarks concerning our college library.

It is our feeling, and we believe it is justifiable, that library hours on this campus should be better arranged to fit the students' needs.

As matters now stand, the library closes every evening at 9:30. It closes during the dinner hour. It closes at 5 o'clock on Saturdays. It never opens Sundays or holidays. It does not open until almost 8 o'clock in the morning.

With the competent and sizeable staff that the library now possesses, it seems to us that something can be done about arranging matters so that students can at least make use of the library a little later in the evening which is the only time at which the majority of the student body has a chance to make use of the library. Many of us are frequently occupied with meetings of some nature or other until 8:30, 9, or 10 o'clock. As a result, library privileges are denied us entirely.

We would like to have the staff of the library realize that we are not trying to bring undue pressure to bear upon them in any way; but we cannot help thinking that the situation described above can be remedied without a great deal of trouble. Please, try to do something about it, for really it is a serious question.

STUDENT OPINIONS

This is a call for more student opinions.

The Spectrum is the official newspaper of the student body at North Dakota State college. As such, it means that each of you students is entitled to express your thoughts by means of its columns. Thus far, interest in student opinions has been very lax. The staff has received but three or four to date. What is the matter? Is there no such thing as actual student opinion on the campus?

Let's have letters from some of you. The staff can't promise to run them all, due to lack of space; but it can run at least one each week. It'll do its best to select representative ones.

Tests have proven that student opinions are read by a larger proportion of the student body than are any other features of the paper. Many a reform movement has been begun by just such writing. They consist of the one method through which students can make use of the power of the printed word. Come on, let's have those opinions!

STUDENT DIRECTORY IS DISTRIBUTED BY NOV. 15

The student directory, an alphabetical listing of the students, their addresses and telephone numbers, will be off the press by Nov. 15, according to information received from the registrar's office.

A notice will be posted on the bulletin board in front of Old Main advising the students where to get their directories.

DUTCH IMPORTER PAYS FACULTY MEMBER VISIT

Kees Matthes, Brenkelin, Holland, a member of the largest firm of importers of American honey in the Netherlands, who is touring the United States observing American beekeeping, visited the North Dakota State college campus last week to see Prof. J. A. Munro, entomology department head.

The honey importing concern, which Mr. Matthes' father owns, was started thirty years ago and supplies 1400 dealers directly in as many cities, who redistribute it to stores in these cities. Holland imports upwards of 10,000,000 pounds of honey per year.

Student Opinion....

For Bull Bison Readers

We never like to see anything that is one-sided. For some time now, a certain person who is the power behind such publications as "The Bull Bison" and "The Green Harpoon" has been dishing out dirt without regard to anyone's feelings. Now I'd like to present some dirt concerning this excuse for a journalist. Here are but a few of the items that will throw some light on his much-spattered character:

1. Being fired for dishonesty from a typewriter company for whom he was working.
2. Running up a Bull Bison printing bill and then leaving town without paying it.
3. Borrowing a considerable amount of money from the college student loan fund and failing to repay it.
4. Padding a college paper of which he was the editor with dead advertising material, when the school was paying for the space used up by this dead advertising.
5. Attempting to bulldoze the interfraternity council on a certain occasion.
6. Playing politics within his fraternity to his own personal gain.
7. Having such a reputation that it is impossible for him to obtain favorable references from State college faculty members.
8. Attempting to win a Rhodes scholarship two years in a row because he thought he was good enough to get one.
9. Blackmailing the University of North Dakota by using its name in connection with a publication having nothing whatsoever to do with the institution.
10. Roping in unsuspecting people in the work of publishing The Bull Bison and The Green Harpoon.

And that isn't all, either. I've left out some of the choicest items, just in case someone might want to dish out more dirt about this person in the future.

—A certain North Dakota State college student.

Six members of The Bison and The Spectrum staffs entertained Art Siegel of the Bureau of Engraving, Minneapolis, Minn., at a dinner in the Golden Maid on Monday.

Gale Monson, editor of The Spectrum, and Robert Parrott, business manager, spent the last weekend in Grand Forks as the guests of the University's chapters of Sigma Nu and Sigma Chi fraternities, respectively.

C. B. Waldron, college faculty member and honorary member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, was a dinner guest at the local chapter house last Sunday.

Phi Omega Pi sorority announces the formal pledging of Helen Anderson, Kindred, at the chapter house last Monday evening.

Bison Briefs

By BILL

I'd Send My Son To N. D. State (with apologies to the "University" mag.)

Well, about that little boy of mine; he's going to N. D. S. C., located in the world's biggest little city (although we're skeptical about that). Why? Well, Fargo has its points: 1. A good park system to insure full benefits of coeducation. 2. Canoe trips or mud baths in the Red River, which doesn't flow according to Hoyle. 3. A good airport for the air-minded, and Front street for the broad minded. 4. A "Festival Hall," converted from an old Indian trading post, in which convocations are held; I'd want him to hear lectures on "Cutworms In Upper Silesia" and the like. Then I'd want Dean Smith to take him in hand, and tell him about the bees and the pollen and how the stork brings the little elephants. Of course I would expect him to enroll under Dr. Hunter to improve his mind, and incidentally have the Dr. burn off some of my lad's crust with his scorching sarcasm. And I would expect my boy to make at least one visit to Ceres Hall where all the girls must be supplied with a pair of bedroom slippers and a warm bathrobe. Above all, I'd expect my son to throw water in the boys dorm, and tell certain instructors to go South, and try to beat the co-operative bookstore if he possibly could. If he didn't do these things, I'd send him right straight home.

Bison: Say, how come you fellows have such a snooty shanty?

Nodak: I tell ya, this is the fraternity house that Jack built; it's nearly paid for now. See that fellow over in the corner reading the "Student" Well, that's the farmer that sowed the corn which brought the jack which supports the rats who kill the malt that lies in the house that jack built.

Sanders' Last Line: So you're not going out for the Brevities, huh? Well, you, nasty, dirty, lazy, low-down, snaggle-toothed gob of fat you.

Once Overs On Personalities and Things Collegiate Through The Specs of The Spectrum Spectator

THE APPEARANCE OF A SCANDAL sheet at the University last weekend has been the topic of conversation among State college students the past few days. Discussions pro and con have featured fraternity bull sessions. Speculation is great. Rumors have drifted down from the upstate school to add still more to the stir on the campus. All we can say is, what will come of it all?

CANDIDITIES... "Sarazen of the Grapes," said T. Worden Johnson the other day to his class when he meant to refer to a well-known athletic character... One cadet lieutenant-colonel was greatly irked by the appearance of a little item in a recently issued "dirt" magazine... There was an extremely embarrassing moment in last Monday's convocation period; perhaps you noticed it... we want to give our personal thanks to Student Editor O'Neill at the U for his hospitality... also to a Sigma Chi named Marks... Our staff was made more cosmopolitan this week by the addition of a reporter who hails from New York city... To a certain well-known student: "Hello there, Gopher!"... Companions in making life miserable for a girl: Stewart and Fraser... We know of a campus musician who is slated for a place in the dance orchestra big time...

The rapid rise in defensive and offensive power of the Bison crew of football players so aptly demonstrated at Grand Forks last Saturday, bodes no end of trouble for the 1934 conference rivals.

For with the brown leaves on the trees and the green freshmen at the college, the entire backfield and nearly the whole of the outstanding line are going to be back next fall.

Last spring, without the services of two acclaimed stars, Ralph Pierce of the backfield and Ted Meinhover on the line, the Sioux bested the inexperienced Bison by several touchdowns.

And last Saturday's game saw the Bison with a few games experience, unquestionably outclass the identical Sioux team plus the two senior stars mentioned above.

We predict a bright future for the 1934 Bison, which future is brightened by the expected return of smashing "Shifty" Gove, outstanding fullback.

1934 will see the loss of Captain Roman Meyers, the first Bison ever accorded All-American recognition and one of the most consistently brilliant linemen in conference history.

Coming up as a promising successor to Meyers, however, is a 240 pound freshman tackle, "Tiger" Sturgeon, who besides plugging a mighty big hole in the line, occasionally kicks off 70 yards in the air.

Other seniors to be lost next year are Harold Miller, regular guard, and James Thompson, who has been sharing center duties with Earl Thomas, a junior.

A 195 pound freshman guard, Tom Smith, indicates that he is a serious candidate for the varsity line at Miller's old post. If the going is especially tough, Neville Reiners, powerful sophomore fullback, can always shift back to his old time position at guard and perform on a par with any lineman in the North Central loop.

Indications point that the Bison will get plenty of experience in their last game this year, Nov. 18, with Oklahoma City university.

Coed Athletics Are Supervised By WAA

At the first meeting of the Women's Athletic association it was announced that athletics under the supervision of girls who have majored in physical education will continue this year. The co-operation of all girls including the freshman class will be necessary for the success of the W. A. A. program.

Evve Hammer is the chairman of the committee in charge of this program and she is assisted by Ruth Clemens and Ruth Moore. Girls interested in basketball, deck tennis, volleyball, tap-dancing, tumbling, and keeping the waist-line slim should report at 5 o'clock next Tuesday in the Ceres hall gym. The classes in tap-dancing and tumbling are especially recommended to girls interested in the Bison Brevities.

All points toward W. A. A. membership should be in within the next two weeks.

Bison Show Power In Fight With University Sioux

University Warriors Fail To Daunt State College Grid Eleven

State Football Rivals Finish Annual Homecoming Clash In 7 To 7 Deadlock

For the first time since 1905, the North Dakota State college Bison and the North Dakota university Sioux fought to a tie in their annual game, when the two teams battled to a 7-7 deadlock at Memorial stadium, Grand Forks, last Saturday as the highlight of the University homecoming program.

Playing on a slippery, snowy field, the Bison shocked Sioux partisans with a great show of offensive and defensive power, outplaying their opponents in every phase of the game but scoring. The 7-7 score leaves the teams sharing the state collegiate football title and in a likely tie for second place in the North Central conference.

The Bison touchdown came in the second quarter as the result of one of Fritz Hanson's famed pass snatches and touchdown runs, during which he eluded two university players to cross the goal. The Sioux touchdown came early in the first period as the result of a third drive by the University players from within the Bison 20-yard line in the first few minutes of play, due to the inability of the Bison to punt against a high gale to their front. Nuenschwander scored from the 8-yard line where the wind had returned a poor Bison punt sent from behind the goal line.

Fans saw plenty of good football on the part of both teams during the third and fourth quarters. The Bison came very close to scoring—within three inches, that being the margin by which Bud Marquardt missed the pass thrown to him. The Sioux made no serious scoring threats, save at the very last of the game, when several dazzling passing plays centered around Jack Charbonneau and Ralph Pierce nearly gained a touchdown.

Practically every man on the Green and Yellow squad played a bang-up game. Their playing left no doubt in the minds of those in the stadium as to which team was the better. Save for the hole in which they found themselves in the first quarter, due to the

BABY BISON—U FROSH MAY PLAY NOVEMBER 8

As yet no definite date has been established for the football game between the freshman teams of the University of North Dakota and North Dakota State college, but in all probability the game will be held next Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 8, in Memorial stadium at Grand Forks. According to Pete Gergen, freshman football coach, no lineup for the Bison yearlings will be available until after their game with Mayville State Teachers tomorrow.

wind's blowing back their punts, there was not a moment when the Bison did not have the edge on their opponents. Even when their two regular backfield men, Hanson and George May, were forced to leave the game because of injuries, there was no letup in their drive and spirit.

Of the Bison backfield men, perhaps Neville Reiners, converted sophomore fullback, proved the most effective. His line drives were always good for yardage, and he never lost an inch of ground. Windy Schollander, returning to the lineup, gave one of his best college performances with his passing, kicking, and running play. Fritz Hanson proved to be the most spectacular player, reeling off two long runs, although hampered by the rough field. Had he not been forced to leave the game midway in the third quarter, Fritz may have turned in another touchdown.

Leo Gerteis, sophomore backfield man, hitherto having seen but little service, showed Saturday that he has the makings of a star. His performance at signal calling was the smoothest turned in this year. His blocking and defensive work were commendable.

In the line, Roman Meyers, senior left tackle, was the outstanding player. He was in almost every play, and made decisive tackles when the Bison were in danger. Bud Marquardt, end, also played well, effectively replacing George May as punter for his team, particularly in the last quarter when, surrounded by several Sioux, he got off one of the longest spirals of the contest. Herb Peschel was outstanding at tackle, while Leonard House gave another brilliant performance at guard.

Captain Conmy Issues Call For Rifle Team Tryouts On Monday

Prospective Members Requested To Meet In Physical Ed Building Nov. 6

All those interested in trying out for the North Dakota State college rifle team are requested to meet with Capt. J. B. Conmy, coach, next Monday afternoon at 4:30 in room 203 of the physical education building. Any male student is eligible, regardless of class or physique.

Prospects for the 1933-34 rifle team are good. Former team members who are in school besides William Oftebro, team captain, are the following: Gordon Baird, Edward Ballard, George Friese, Oscar Gilbertson, Martell Haugen, Harry Heine, Leonard Moffitt, Roy Peterson, Hubert Smith, Ellis Thompson, Anton Walker, and Arthur Christenson.

This year the team will be equipped with the latest type gallery rifles, including new and improved sights, which should permit North Dakota State to maintain its high position in national competition. The record of having qualified for the National Inter-collegiate match each year for the past twelve years, winning twice, and never finishing below eighth place, will be difficult to hold, states Captain Conmy, and necessitates a great deal of co-operation.
